

Bresnahan Suggests Buying Air Space

By WILLIAM SCHREIBER
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Orange County Airport Director Robert Bresnahan said today he would rather the county buy air easements over jet noise impacted Santa Ana Heights homes than condemn them outright.

He told an audience at a Citizens Harbor Area Research Team (CHART) meeting in Costa Mesa he will complete a "land conversion plan" for the area in about two months and the easement concept will be prominently suggested.

The airport director was ordered last month by the county Board of Supervisors to proceed with land conversion preparations in an effort to fulfill state-mandated noise variance requirements.

During the 90-minute meeting this morning, Bresnahan was challenged by residents of homes on the western shore of Upper Newport Bay over his contention that commercial jets are flying over bay waters, not residential areas.

The Santa Ana Heights problem dominated the meeting, particularly when Bresnahan explained "land conversion" doesn't necessarily mean condemnation and displacement of residents.

"The board of supervisors didn't say to go out and condemn houses," Bresnahan said. "They told me to prepare a plan for land conversion and they will be the ones who must make the decision."

"I am totally opposed to acquiring someone's property

when we don't need it," Bresnahan said. "I would much rather see noise easements over the homes purchased where we would pay people who want to stay in their homes for the right to make the noise."

Bresnahan told the audience that because of a series of unforeseen circumstances, Orange County Airport was required to seek a noise variance from the state that requires compliance with 1985 noise standards within this decade.

He said that unless the impact area is steadily reduced each year, the variance can be revoked and the airport closed.

"We should not be forced to take drastic action and should have until 1985 like all other airports," Bresnahan said. (See HOMES, Page A2)

County Package Refused

Negotiations of a 1975-76 wage-fringe benefit package for Orange County's 11,000 employees broke off Wednesday without a settlement being reached.

County negotiators today said their offer of the package that would cost taxpayers about $11 million was their final offer.

Simultaneously, spokesmen for the Orange County Employees Association said the county's proposal was not acceptable.

They said the association's 9,700 members will be polled to determine the employees next move.

For now, negotiations are at an end and there is no plan to resume them, according to Bert Scott, the county's personnel director.

Scott said the offer made to the association included pay raises ranging from 2 1/4 percent to five percent.

He also said the county as part of the fringe benefit package offered to pick up a higher portion of the employees' group insurance cost and to contribute more to their retirement fund.

The personnel director also noted that the county agreed to accept either a multi-year or single year contract, earlier a point of sharp disagreement between the negotiators.

Scott claimed the county's final offer has the effect of putting more take home pay into the employees' pockets than is indicated by the salary hikes because of the county's willingness to participate more deeply in fringe benefit costs.

However, OCEA's Executive Director John Sawyer said employee representatives who met Wednesday night were "indignant with the county's offer and found no part of it acceptable."

Scott and OCEA's negotiators are holding out for an 11 1/4 percent combined increase in wages and fringe benefits.

What the OCEA negotiators are proposing is a 7 1/4 percent average salary hike and a 4 1/2 percent increase in benefits.

Therefore, what separates the two is a 2.9 percent overall package increase, or roughly $3.5 million.

At the close of the meeting, the representatives agreed to informally poll OCEA members, possibly by a written ballot.

Sawyer said the alternatives offered to the employees would include the resumption of negotiations and possibly a strike.

The association's executive director said he believes it is unlikely that the employees would decide to strike. But, he added, there are some members who definitely favor a walkout.

State Fund Squeeze Undermines Bridge

Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr.'s declaration Wednesday that all California highway spending has to end has apparently dealt a stinging blow to Newport Beach's proposals to build a new Coast Highway bridge.

City Manager Robert Wynn reported today that officials of the California Department of Transportation phoned Newport city hall Wednesday to report that the governor's spending freeze "may very well affect the funding of the new bridge."

No one yet is completely certain about the effects of the new order, but the initial call seemed pessimistic, Wynn said.

Burglar Hits Home

A burglar, who managed to reach through a pet door and gain entry, stole sound equipment, a rifle and two television sets, all worth about $1,000, from the home of Paul Anthony Hale, 4818 River Ave., the owner told Newport Beach police late Wednesday.

Non-city Crimes Cited

By GARY GRANVILLE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Despite protests from District Attorney Cecil Hicks, Orange County supervisors transferred 22 district attorney's investigators to the sheriff's department today.

The board's action represented an indication of support for Sheriff Brad Gates in his move to bring the investigation of crimes in unincorporated areas into his department.

Gates argued that the sheriff's office should not prosecute cases it investigates and the district attorney should not investigate cases he prosecutes.

Hicks argued the investigators taken from his staff are needed by him to carry out his mandate to investigate certain kinds of crime in both incorporated and unincorporated areas.

Specifically, he noted, a mandate to combat organized crime and fraud wherever it exists.

He also said the services of his office were needed by city police in the investigation of homicides and certain narcotic cases that cross city boundaries.

He pointed out to the supervisors that their move, which came during a budget hearing, did not involve the spending of money but rather simply the transfer of personnel from one department to another.

His words, however, fell on deaf ears as the board voted unanimously to transfer the 22 investigators, an adequate clerical staff and necessary vehicles from the district attorney's office to the sheriff's office.

Supervisor Robert Battin who made the motion for the transfer, said his judgment was based on the continuing effort to consolidate departmental functions as well as philosophical issues.

"I don't believe justice is served when investigators direct their work at proving a case against a defendant rather than (See TRANSFER, Page A2)

Patty Hearst Plan Recalled

LOS ANGELES (AP) — One-time underworld figure Mickey Cohen says he worked out a plan to return Patricia Hearst to her parents some months ago but it fell through because of fears for her safety.

"I had Patty Hearst ready to be delivered to her parents and to Jim McGinnis, who is the attorney for the Hearst family," Cohen told a news conference Wednesday.

Fuming DA To File Suit

District Attorney Cecil Hicks said today he will file a lawsuit to halt the transfer of 22 of his investigators to the sheriff's department and call for a Grand Jury investigation into the Board of Supervisors action.

A FEW MINUTES before Hicks made his announcement, supervisors voted unanimously to transfer the 22 investigators and their clerical staff to the sheriff's department.

Hicks charged the move was prompted by a shadow government that controls the Board of Supervisors.

The only person he named as part of the so-called shadow government was prominent political figure Dr. Louis Cella. He refused to identify any other purported members but hinted that Supervisor Robert Battin is part of the secret clique.

THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY said that he has refused to use his office to play into the hands of the power structure that "seeks to emasculate the district attorney's office and its ability to dig out fraud and political corruption."

He went on to vow to continue to investigate and prosecute so-called political cronies who violate the law.

Hicks also said that he had been told that at a recent political fund raising cocktail party, Cella had boasted of the pending move to reduce the district attorney's investigative staff.

2 Hard-core Films Set for Pussycat

"Deep Throat" and "The Devil in Miss Jones," two of the best known sexy movies in recent years, are scheduled to open Friday at the Balboa Pussycat Theater.

Pussycat officials are currently embroiled in a tug of war with Newport Beach police vice officers over the adult films shown at the theater, at 709 East Balboa Blvd.

Eight reels of sexy movies already have been confiscated

during raids and the number may increase to ten on Friday when the new bill opens.

Police Chief James Glavas said today that the new films will be treated no differently by police officers than the movies that preceded them.

"We'll review the movies and then confiscate them if we judge them obscene," Glavas said.

The chief said that Newport officers would not base their decisions on the past history of "Deep Throat," which is currently at issue in a Supreme Court decision expected soon.

Glavas said that just because a film has the same title as the original, it may not have the same contents and therefore has to be viewed each time it is shown again.

"It may be similar only in title. That's why we have to tire out our officers by having them view the film and submit affidavits stating what is in each film," Glavas added.

Mesa Council Okays Plans For Housing

Costa Mesa has taken two more steps toward implementing a leased housing program, one financed by federal funds.

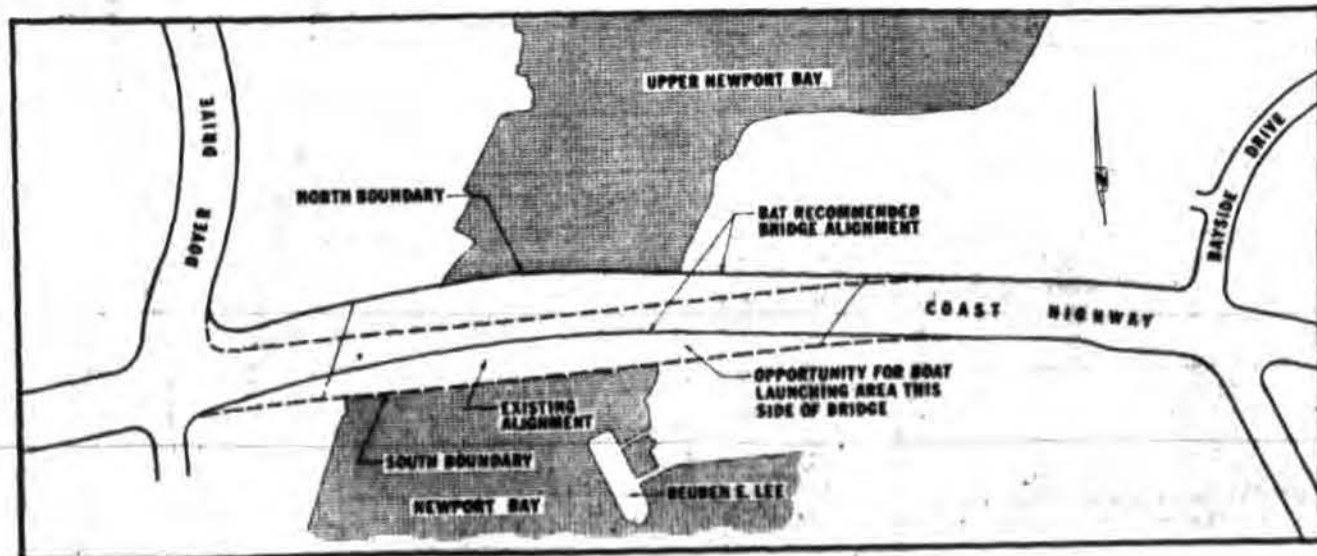

The city council has approved an agreement authorizing the Orange County Housing Authority to administer the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) program in the city.

The council earlier in the year joined the housing agency, but did not set up a formal agreement on implementation of the program, made possible by the Housing and Community Development Act.

In approving the agreement, the council also wrote in a 30-day cancellation clause. This will allow the city to withdraw from the housing authority and join or create a new one with the city assuming the liabilities.

In a related action, the council also approved a job description for a housing coordinator. He will be paid $1,328 a month.

City Manager Fred Sorsabal said that the coordinator will be hired on a one-year contract basis while the program is evaluated and will not be on the city payroll because he will be paid with federal funds.

OC Gets 850-job Funding

By WILLIAM SCHREIBER
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Orange Coast cities and communities will get enough special federal summer youth program money to hire more than 850 young people in public service jobs starting this week.

County Manpower Commission Executive Director Robert Nelson said the entire county is entitled to $1.82 million to provide jobs for about 3,000 teenagers.

Nelson said applications for the jobs, which include such things as recreation counselors, are already being taken and most will be filled on a first-come, first-served basis, primarily by disadvantaged youngsters.

All but two Orange Coast communities will conduct hiring through county government's personnel department. The number each area will be able to hire is based on a complex mathematical formula that will be applied during the hiring process.

The county will administer hiring for the cities of Fountain Valley, Irvine, Costa Mesa, Newport Beach, Laguna Beach, San Juan Capistrano and San Clemente and for the entire unincorporated area.

Prospective applicants for jobs in those communities should call Luis Caudillo in the county human services division at 834-2835 for information.

In Huntington Beach, which will hire its own summer employees with a $108,000 share of the federal money, applicants can call the city manpower office at 535-0252 and talk to either Bob Cunningham or Russ Guarnieri.

Roughly 147 jobs will open in Huntington Beach under the program, Nelson said.

Seal Beach will also conduct its own hiring of 16 youngsters with a $20,600 share of the money. Applicants can contact Bill Little at (213) 431-2527.

The total county government share of the job money is about $525,000, which will cover about 688 summer jobs, Nelson said, noting about 600 would go to coastal communities.

The job program was made possible when President Gerald Ford this week signed an $800 million appropriations bill.

Blast Rocks Las Vegas High Risers

PAHUTE MESA, Nev. (UPI) — A hydrogen warhead of the megaton class was exploded 3,000 feet underground at the nuclear test site at 6 a.m. today, rocking high rise buildings in Las Vegas 120 miles to the south.

Shock waves from the blast, believed the most powerful such explosion in at least two years and one of a planned series before they are banned by an agreement with Russia, took less than 30 seconds to reach the gambling spa.

An observer on the ground floor of a building where the shock waves are normally less perceptible, said there was a rolling motion felt for about 30 seconds.

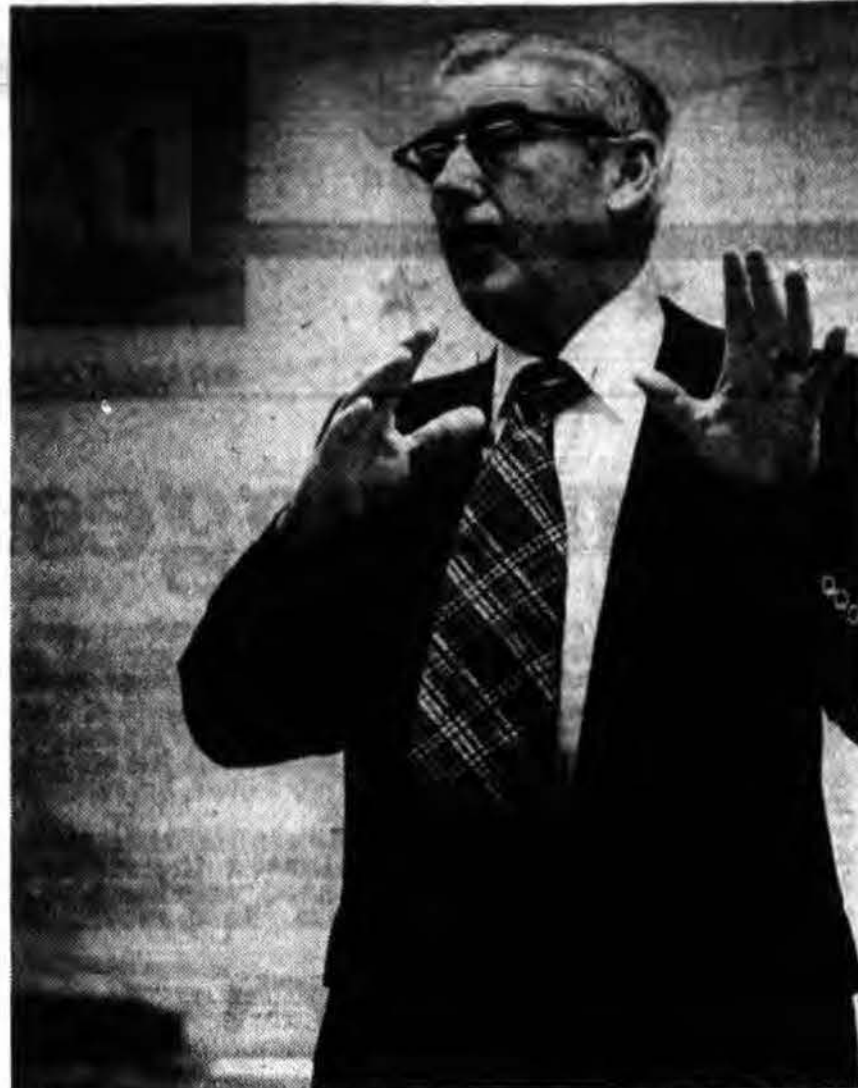

The building swayed back and forth like a gentle rocking chair, the observer said. Light fixtures suspended from the ceiling swayed for a distance of about six inches.

Scientists at the Caltech Seismographic Laboratory in Pasadena said the blast measured less than 3.2 on the Richter Scale, since the monitoring device is triggered at that point and it did not turn on.

Either persons or monitoring devices were placed in more than 40 high rise buildings in Las Vegas to record the shock wave effects.

Clemente Split Seas Proposal Wipes Out

A new attempt to divide San Clemente's T Street surfing beach between board surfers and swimmers was wiped out Wednesday by the city council.

Councilman Thomas O'Keefe proposed that lifeguards be instructed to encourage joint use of the popular surfing beach by board and body surfers and that the swimmers be moved from the area if it appeared things were becoming hazardous.

O'Keefe previously had pushed through a "split seas" plan which was rescinded two weeks ago by the council.

The first plan called for board surfers to remain on one side of an imaginary line running from a buoy beyond the surfline to a flag on the beach. Swimmers and body surfers were to stay on the opposite side.

O'Keefe's new plan was defeated by a 3-2 vote with Mayor Anthony DiGiovanni and O'Keefe backing it and Councilmen Pat Lane, Charles Fox and Art Holmes against it.

In its place, the council approved unanimously a policy statement calling for the lifeguards to exercise discretion when enforcing the current law which requires board surfers to move if swimmers outnumber them.

The policy states that maximum benefit is to be made of the beach for all persons.

It is expected that the Board of Supervisors will incorporate what Scott termed the county's final offer into the pending 1975-76 budget.

While Scott refused to call the county's proposal an ultimatum, he did say that as far as he is concerned there is more room for bargaining.

Body Identified

WINDSOR, Vt. (AP) — A body found in Mexico has been positively identified as Vermont State Prison escapee Alfred G. Price, Vermont state police have reported.

It's Back To 'Officer'

After almost a year of sporadic debate about what to call Irvine policemen, the traditional title of "officer" has proved its durability.

An earlier decision to call policemen "agents" as a public relations effort was reversed after rank and file protest.

Said one ex-agent, "With the investigations into the CIA and everything, agent didn't seem like such a good name after all."

HOMES...

By then, he noted, technological changes in aircraft engines could make the noise problem minimal.

The condemnation specter arose when supervisors for the third time this year rejected a state-approved alternative to cutting noise by an acceptable amount to live up to this year's variance.

The option was a "preferential runway" system that would require jets departing in the early morning hours to take off to the north over the Irvine Industrial Complex and the cities of Tustin and Santa Ana.

Supervisor Ralph Clark, whose district includes most of that area, led the opposition.

"Therein lies much of the problem," Bresnahan said. "It is up to the board of supervisors to take any action and they can change their minds on anything."

Bresnahan also tried to defend recent shifts in the takeoff pattern over the Upper Bay against contentions by several audience members that, in reality, most big jets fly over heavily populated areas.

He said the shift, which moved the centerline of the pattern 500 feet closer to the western shore, was the fifth change in recent years.

The change was designed to correct for the drifting of flights over the Eastbluff area, Bresnahan said, noting the pilots of big jets must take off on instruments because the takeoff angle is too steep to allow them to see the ground.

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Williams, who live on the west shore of the bay, said the jets have never flown down the center of the bay. They contended the planes consistently fly over populated areas.

Two Quakes Cause Panic In Italy

NAPLES, Italy (UPI) — Two earthquake shocks at midday today caused panic in cities and towns from Naples to the heel of the Italian boot.

No injuries or serious damage was reported but authorities said the shocks cracked walls in houses and public buildings, including Naples' new hospital and the baroque chapels of Troia's 18th-century Romanesque Basilica.

The worst scenes of panic were in hospitals and in schools, where final examinations were halted. At Avellino, 40 inmates of the local jail interrupted a court hearing with their screams.

Residents of Naples, Bari and smaller communities rushed into the streets by the hundreds after the first shock. Fire departments were flooded with telephone calls from people wanting to know if it was safe to return to their apartments. Brief electrical outages were reported in Caserta and parts of Puglia.

seeking objective information," Battin said.

"I believe the citizens of Orange County will receive more even-handed justice if there is a proper division of power," he added.

A second part of the board's unanimous action was to direct county Administrative Officer Robert Thomas to study the feasibility of consolidating the investigative functions of the sheriff, district attorney and public defender into a single unit.

Federal Aid Used to Plug Budget Holes

Orange County supervisors continued to hammer away at record county spending Wednesday by directing more federal revenue sharing funds to projects that would otherwise be paid for from county property tax funds.

Following a pattern they established Tuesday when $3.9 million worth of revenue sharing funds were diverted to pay for capital projects, the board threw in another $3 million to lighten county taxpayers' burden by a total of $6.9 million.

At the same time the supervisors kept the spending lid on by invoking a hiring freeze they instituted last March.

So far, according to county Personnel Director Bert Scott, the hiring freeze has saved $2 million.

No sooner had he spoken those words than the board decided unanimously to keep the hiring reins in its hands.

That means county department heads wanting to fill vacancies will continue to have to ask the supervisors before the vacancies can be filled.

As the supervisors continued their budget hearings, the pending county property tax rate dropped to $1.66 per $100 worth of assessed value, a five-cent increase over the current rate.

But not yet applied to the budget are pending salary and fringe benefit increases for Orange County's 11,000 employees, a package that could add as much as 20 cents to the tax rate.

The supervisors also set their own office budgets for the coming fiscal year. Those budgets range from Supervisor Ralph Clark's $117,000 low to Supervisor Laurence Schmit's $131,754 high.

Coast Man Found Dead In Cabin

San Bernardino County Coroner's deputies today are trying to determine a cause in the mystery death of Newport Beach insurance company chief Patrick Koenigsburger, found dead Tuesday in a rented Lake Arrowhead cabin.

The owner of King Insurance Company, 4600 Campus Drive, was discovered by the cabin's landlord, who finally went to check after he failed to return the key on schedule Sunday.

A coroner's deputy said Mr. Koenigsburger apparently died in his sleep Saturday night, but so far there is absolutely no clue to what killed him.

Toxicological tests are being conducted on the remains of the 54-year-old insurance executive, but it will be three to six weeks before results will be known.

No signs of foul play nor evidence of possible suicide were found and investigators said they have uncovered no indication of any serious illness in the past or present.

Investigators said Mr. Koenigsburger rented the cabin for the weekend.

Remains were taken to Groves Mortuary in San Bernardino where a spokesman said Mr. Koenigsburger's children made arrangements Wednesday morning with a stipulation of no funeral.

Survivors of the victim, who lived at 1600 Campus Drive, Newport Beach, include a son, Patrick of San Diego; daughters, Mrs. Sally Jess of Los Angeles and Mrs. Linda Broderick of Sebastopol, and a brother, Charles of Coronado.

Bunnies Stage Chicago Rally

CHICAGO (AP) — Eleven women from Chicago's Playboy Club staged a rally seeking greater freedom for bunnies at the club.

Playboy owner Hugh Hefner "claims to be in the forefront of sexual liberation, but he doesn't even give us our personal freedom," said one of the bunnies, Donna Greenwood, 24.

Miss Greenwood said most of the 80 bunnies in the Chicago club wanted fewer rules governing their social lives. She added that one rule that should be changed is the restriction against bunnies dating Playboy keyholders.

Officer Sues Police Chief

OAKLAND (UPI) — A police sergeant accused of embezzlement has sued the chief of police and five members of the city council for $6 million in damages.

James H. Bonds, 29, said in his suit filed Wednesday in Alameda County Superior Court, that he was falsely accused of a felony and was suspended "without a thorough and fair hearing." The suit charged the defendants with conspiracy.

Coast Inspector Charged in Bribe

A former inspector with the Huntington Beach Public Works Department was indicted Wednesday by the Orange County Grand Jury on bribery charges filed after he allegedly accepted a $510 payoff from a contractor whose work he was inspecting.

Superior Court Judge Everett W. Dickey ordered John Frank Biondi, 32, of 1040 13th St., Huntington Beach, to face trial Sept. 8 on the allegations.

Biondi was arrested after investigation by Huntington Beach police and district attorney's investigators into allegations that he accepted the illegal payment on June 11, 1974, from a contractor engaged on a Sunset Heights sewer project.

Rights Limited

DEAR PAT: Are students who live in campus dormitories protected under the Fourth Amendment from unreasonable searches?

T.R., Newport Beach

Many students upon entering a dormitory must sign away their constitutional guarantee of privacy and the right to be free from unreasonable searches. Any reasonable inspection of a room for purposes of health, safety and enforcement of campus rules and regulations is permitted without obtaining a search warrant. Legislation now has been introduced that would prohibit personnel of educational institutions from searching student dormitory rooms unless they first have obtained a search warrant. Students living in a dormitory currently receive only limited protection. Although there are many school administrations that recognize the student's right to privacy, there have been many instances of unreasonable searches and seizures.

REPLICA OF RICHARD HENRY DANA'S 'PILGRIM' DUE FRIDAY
Remembrance of 'Two Years Before the Mast' in Dana Point

History Re-enacted

'Pilgrim' to Visit Dana Point Friday

By ALMON LOCKABEY
Daily Pilot Boating Editor

A replica of the famed "hide brig" Pilgrim, featured in the great American story, "Two Years Before the Mast," by Richard Henry Dana, will reenact the storied "hide tossing" off the cliffs at Dana Point Friday at 5 p.m.

Long boats from the Pilgrim will row in through the surf and pick up the cargo before entering the harbor and anchoring for the night.

The stop at Dana Point and the re-enactment of the hide tossing will be one of several stops along the Southland coast after a year's voyage from Europe manned by Capt. Ray Wallace and a 20-man crew of young Southern California sailors.

Final destination of the Pilgrim is San Pedro where it will be installed at Ports of Call Village as a permanent museum. After leaving Dana Point Saturday the Pilgrim will call at the Catalina Isthmus before setting sail for San Pedro.

The Pilgrim replica was created by Wallace, widely known Southland yachtsman who as a youngster served as crew, along with a number of other Newport youngsters, aboard the famed schooner Stranger.

Wallace now resides in Rolling Hills and is a recognized expert on old sailing ships, several of which he has recreated as museums along the West Coast. He is also the designer and naval architect of the ships at Disneyland, including the full scale replica of Columbia.

He is known throughout the world for his salvage and restoration of historic ships such as the popular Princess Louise restaurant ship at San Pedro and Redondo Beach among others.

One of the first Southland groups to greet the Pilgrim will be a fleet of wooden vessels of the Wooden Hull Owners Association (WHOA) headed by Clark Sweet of Newport Beach. The WHOA group will rendezvous with the Pilgrim off Laguna Beach Friday afternoon and present the Pilgrim crew with a WHOA burgee.

Pilgrim will then come about and head for Dana Point to reenact the hide tossing before entering Dana Point Harbor where she will be greeted by some of the Sea Scouts of 1934-41 who crewed with Wallace aboard the Stranger.

The Pilgrim which will visit Dana Point was not always the "snow brig" she appears today. Wallace acquired the hull, a three-masted Danish Baltic schooner named Joal and converted her to the replica of the famed brig which was engaged in the hide and tallow trade on the West Coast in 1835. The hides were shipped back to Boston where they were made into clothing, harness and other gear for pioneers heading west across the continent.

The Pilgrim is a full-rigged ship, 94 feet on deck and 137 feet overall from bowsprit to boomkin. She is 83 feet six inches on the waterline with a beam of 28 feet three inches, displacing 165 gross tons. Her height is 112 feet from waterline to main truck. She carries 8,632 square feet of sail.

After restoration at a Portugal shipyard Wallace and a 20-man crew of young Southland sailors set sail across the Atlantic. They arrived in Miami in August, 1974, where Wallace turned the vessel over to Capt. Howard "Bud" Fowler who with a complement of five officers and 17 crewmen brought the ship through the Caribbean, the Panama Canal and up the coast to San Diego.

On arrival at Dana Point Capt. Fowler's crew will be garbed in uniforms of the 1835 Dana period consisting of short jackets with brass buttons, white trousers with brass-buckled belts and a sheath knife, and black brimmed hats that are heavily tarred and varnished.

Dana Would Smile If He Saw Replica

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The Brigantine Pilgrim came chugging up to the dock under diesel power, sails furled. If the sight could be seen in whatever heaven there may be for literary old salts, the shade of Richard Henry Dana gave a rueful smile.

Could Dana, author of the classic "Two Years Before the Mast," have made literary and maritime history with "Several Months Before the Diesels"?

The replica of the tiny ship in which Dana sailed from Boston around The Horn to faroff California in 1835 arrived Wednesday, headed for San Pedro where it will become a maritime museum, recalling the days of wooden ships and iron men that inspired Dana's writing.

"We did it the way they did it, with the same ship and the same gear, so we had to work like Dana," said the captain, Harold Fowler.

Well, not quite.

For one thing, Dana would be surprised by female crew members, much less diesel engines.

Dana, from a comfortable Eastern family, dropped out of Harvard in 1834 to sign on the crew of the original Pilgrim. His book, a milestone in U.S. literary history, became a best seller in its day. Its tales of hardship and cruelty at sea, the flogging of crew members under harsh discipline, the daily dangers, shocked landlubbers and led to enactment of regulations to protect sailors.

"It's a lot easier than when Dana did it," said Sharon McDonald, 17, of Shreveport, La. "Now we've got real bunks and we don't get flogged."

She and Patricia Hess, 21, of Philadelphia, signed on in Jamaica.

Canned food replaced the maggot-infested hard tack and salt pork of Dana's day. The original Pilgrim put into port only once in the two year journey.

Coast Man Runs 70 Miles a Week

By ALAN DIRKIN
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Norm Lumian began running at the age of 12. Running was the last stage in his recovery from polio, which struck him at 7.

Earlier treatment involved passive exercise in a whirlpool and tubs. Today, at the age of 47 and after running thousands of miles, Lumian has only two residual symptoms from polio. They affect his hamstrings and his neck muscles.

"When I get very tired my feet duck out, and my head drops to the side," he said.

For Lumian, who likes to run 70-75 miles a week, that kind of tiredness comes only toward the end of long, exhausting races. It's not likely to happen on the kind of runs he takes daily, around the Upper Newport Bay, by Costa Mesa Golf and Country Club, or in the open spaces of Irvine.

That's because his body has been built up beyond the need to recover from polio. The man who teaches history and political science at Orange Coast College is no longer running for his life; running is an expression of his life.

"There are two aspects to why I run," he said. "There's a closeness between me and God and nature, and it is also a source of personal satisfaction that I am able to be in control of my physical being."

Lumian elaborated on the theme of running as a religious experience.

"Last Sunday I ran a 15-mile around the Upper Bay and the bombardment of my senses was unbelievable. It was early in the morning and I wasn't wearing a shirt and I could feel the June mist on my body. Then I was running along some of the trails, in the weeds and in the wildflowers, and the wind was making them sway. Rabbits were scurrying. I could see wild fowl. I could feel the humid air in my lungs. The ground was undulating. It was as if it was moving me. My legs felt full of power, even though I had run a hard race the day before. I felt I could speed up or slow down. Then, corny as it sounds, I started to smile and realize I was thanking God."

Such experiences are not rare, he said. The most memorable occurred when he went out running early one morning while on vacation with his family in Ireland. "It was about 5:30 a.m.," he recalled. "There was hardly any light and right away I could see why the Irish believe in the little people. White-painted rocks and posts marked the side of the road. The trees arched over the road and their branches interwove. The white stones loomed up at me from the side of the road as I ran down. There was a gentle breeze at my back and I felt I was running into eternity. I'll never forget it."

Lumian stops short of criticizing other sports, but comparisons become inevitable.

"People who gain satisfaction from sports usually require elaborate equipment or a playground, or another person or even a team to play with," he said. "When I run, nobody cares. Only rough-water swimming is comparable to running in that respect."

Lumian, who stands six feet tall, weighs only 155 pounds. He watches his weight like anyone else, but only to keep it from dropping too low. He lives in Newport Beach with his wife and two sons, and enjoys Shakespeare and gardening. He has friends, but confesses that his philosophy emphasizes the individual, and therefore he does not rely on friends for self-esteem.

"I am not a social being," he said. "I am not antisocial; I am asocial. I don't dislike people, but I can do just as well without them. When I'm running I'll move a board with a nail in it so someone won't get a flat tire. I don't break society's laws—except for jaywalking which I am notorious for—but I just don't need a vast number of people around jollying me up. I can enjoy talking with someone—I learn about gardening by watching and talking to gardeners—but forcing small talk at a party has no appeal to me."

The value of individual performance is why Lumian likes to compete in road races. "I compete primarily against myself—is my time better, is my conditioning better, can I take the hills, am I in command of the situation?"

"There are so few situations today in which one can take command. I mean the government, your employer, the whole 'Future Shock' thing, the Madison Avenue mind control. If I'm in good condition there is a surge of power in me and I know I put it there by training hard and consistently."

"In competition you also become someone else. Occupations are of no consequence. We leave our other lives behind us and we become just a band of nitwits; if you will, running around in our underwear. But compare that to drugs, drinking, or the fellow who has to beat his wife to gain satisfaction."

When you run 70 miles a week, apparently, you don't feel comfortable over short distances. Lumian doesn't like to race less than six miles, runs two 26-mile marathons a year, but his favorite distance is 20 kilometers races, about 12½ miles.

His most satisfying achievement was running the marathon in under three hours: he clocked two hours, 59 minutes and four seconds in a race in San Diego in 1969, a shade under seven minutes a mile.

But he believes he can beat that and is confident his age is no deterrent. "I have got better as I got older. Here's also a fellow in Los Angeles who is 20 years older than me and can beat me. I want to be running like him in 20 years."

Lisbon Demonstration Quelled

Reds Jeer 600 Catholics

LISBON (UPI) — Armed troops evacuated 600 Roman Catholics today from a religious residence besieged by jeering Communists who denounced the Catholics as "Fascists" and pelted them with garbage.

Other troops, supported by armored cars, held Socialist crowds at bay outside the Newspaper Republica as Communist workers slipped through the back door and occupied the offices of the former Socialist-oriented paper for a second day.

ON THE POLITICAL front, the military government's powerful Revolutionary Council announced it had rejected proposals by leftists for establishing a Marxist "dictatorship of the proletariat" in Portugal.

Thousands of Communist-led demonstrators spent the night outside the residence of Portugal's Catholic patriarch, preventing the Catholics from leaving. Troops escorted 400 out in the morning and another 200 in the afternoon.

A company of soldiers held at bay 300 screaming demonstrators. The crowd threw a few rocks, but it did not appear that anyone was hit. They threw garbage at the Catholics, including women and children, and shouted "out with the Fascists."

THE AFTERNOON EVACUEES were mostly women and children and included 12 nuns. They were ushered into covered military trucks and driven to safety. Soldiers riding in the back of the trucks leveled their rifles to discourage any action by the demonstrators as the vehicles left the patriarch's residence.

The Catholics had sought refuge there Wednesday after Communists pelted them with stones during a demonstration. More than 15 persons were injured in the melee.

The Communists, held back by a cordon of troops, threw garbage and other filth as the Catholics boarded waiting trucks.

The Revolutionary Council issued a pre-dawn communique saying it had decided against setting up a "dictatorship of the proletariat." It did not mention the future of political parties in the country.

THE COUNCIL, WHICH has been holding crisis meetings for the past week, also said it was opposed to the creation of armed civilian militia units.

"The MFA (Ruling Armed Forces Movement) has repudiated this route because it is not in the framework of the pluralistic road that is now defined for the Portuguese revolution," the communique said.

Oldster Survived Posse's Massacre

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP) — "It's all so unreal!" Mary Jo Estep said after learning she is one of the last known survivors of a massacre of Indians in the United States.

The year was 1911 when her mother, her father, her grandfather and seven other members of a fleeing Shoshone Indian band were massacred by a posse of whites in desolate sagebrush country of northern Nevada.

NOW A RETIRED school teacher, Miss Estep, 75, said she grew up with a white family and never asked about the massacre.

Her place in Indian history was recently discovered by Dayton O. Hyde, an author who spent 15 years researching a novel, "The Last Free Man."

This is his account of the massacre:

Miss Estep's grandfather, Shoshone Mike, and a small Indian band that included her family, lived in a canyon near Twin Falls, Idaho.

In 1910, Mike was charged with horse stealing, so he and his band fled. Believing they were being pursued, the Indians made their way to California, then across the Sierra Nevada into Nevada. They holed up in a canyon and were soon confronted with the worst winter in Nevada history.

THE INDIANS lived on butchered beef until they were discovered by ranchers. Fighting erupted and the ranchers were killed.

The Indians fled, chased for more than 300 miles through Nevada Territory by a large posse.

The end came near Winnemucca, Nev., when the posse attacked while Mike and his band were asleep. Only four children survived, Miss Estep, two sisters and a brother.

The children were taken to the Carson, Nev. Indian School where they remained a short time.

Earl of Lucan Termed Killer By Jurors

LONDON (UPI) — A coroner's jury today named the missing playboy Earl of Lucan as the murderer of Sandra Rivett, his children's nursemaid, in the "Upstairs, Downstairs" murder case.

Lucan vanished from view Nov. 7 after the 29-year-old nurse was beaten to death with a piece of lead pipe in the home of his estranged wife, Veronica Lady Lucan.

During the three-day inquest, Lady Lucan told the jury that her husband also tried to strangle her and gouge her eyes out.

The jury of six men and three women at Westminster Coroner's Court deliberated for 31 minutes before delivering their verdict.

Ford Says Mideast Near War

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — The Mideast "drift" is toward war, President Ford is quoted as saying in an exclusive interview with the Minneapolis Tribune.

UNLESS THE "drift" is halted, the conflict that will ensue will be more dangerous than any before it and will include a paralyzing oil embargo, Ford is quoted as saying in a story by Richard Wilson, former chief of the Tribune's Washington bureau.

The interview was also carried in today's editions of the Des Moines Register, another Cowles publication.

Wilson said Ford's emphasis on the "drift" in the Mideast came somewhat as a surprise after his discussions with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat earlier this month in Salzburg, Austria, and more recent discussions in Washington with Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin.

"It is a potentially very volatile situation that could erupt into a real tough conflict any time, and the longer we drift with no prospect of action, the more potential the igniting becomes," Ford was quoted as saying.

"WE ARE working with the whole Arab complex because another war out there would be worse than the Yom Kippur war of 1973. It would be bloodier. It would be more costly and inevitably lead to an oil embargo."

Jackie in Nudie Mag

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Hustler magazine, a national men's publication, is publishing five nude color photos of Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis in its August issue.

The pictures, four of them full-page, were selected from a total of 48 photos which Larry Flynt, editor and publisher of the magazine, said were purchased from an Italian photographer.

They are the same ones taken three years ago with a telescopic lens from a fishing boat off the island of Skorpios, a private Greek retreat, while Mrs. Onassis was sunbathing.

hurricane force and stranded hundreds of motorists Wednesday along highways in the desert today, and highways were reopened even though strong winds continued to blow. Low clouds and fog covered the coastal sections and valleys again this morning, but sunny skies prevailed in most sections in the afternoon. Weather officials said temperatures should be a bit warmer in most areas on Friday. Los Angeles had its share of the low clouds, but by the afternoon skies were sunny and temperatures remained warm. Friday should be even sunnier and slightly warmer, with the

Motorists Digging Out of Sand Dunes

By The Associated Press

Motorists in two Southern California areas were digging out of mounds of sand today as the most severe winds in decades appeared to be subsiding.

Dust storms generated by violent winds were blamed for at least one traffic death and a dozen injuries Wednesday in the Bakersfield area, and scores of motorists were trapped in giant sand dunes that buried highways in the desert regions east of San Bernardino. (Photo Page A8)

Roads connecting the Los Angeles area with Las Vegas and Phoenix were reopened late Wednesday in the Banning-Palm Springs area as the winds funneling through San Geronimo Pass began to subside.

BUT OFFICIALS said travelers who ventured out on highways still had to brave clouds of dust generated by near hurricane force winds that whipped through the region.

"The sand storms are still pretty intense," said a spokesman for the California Highway Patrol in Indio late Wednesday night. He warned that motorists are "going to lose some glass and paint."

Interstate 10, a major link between Los Angeles and Arizona, was closed for several hours. Cars trapped by instant, five-foot sand dunes looked as if they had been sandblasted.

Few accidents were reported in the desert areas, but some of about 50 vehicles trapped for up to 12 hours had windshields and chrome pitted and paint jobs "ground clear down to the bare metal," a CHP official said.

An armada of tow trucks dragged abandoned vehicles from the sand drifts.

The traffic fatality near Bakersfield occurred when Bob by Joe Sisco, 35, of Hollywood was trapped inside a car caught in a pileup when swirling sands reduced the visibility to near zero.

SOME ELDERLY persons in Desert Hot Springs and Palm Desert called for medical aid because the dust storms made breathing difficult.

"This looks like a blizzard, but it's a sand one, not snow," said Ruth Hoskins, assistant manager of a Palm Springs restaurant.

That desert resort, however, shielded by the surrounding mountains, escaped with only minor damage to parked cars.

Damage in the thousands of dollars was reported to the wheat crop in the Imperial Valley with lesser damage to cotton, hay, melons, tomatoes and rye grass.

Half of the estimated 152,000-acre wheat crop had been harvested, and much of the remainder was knocked to the ground.

Fencing Denied By Coast Board

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The California Coastal Commission, citing a potential threat to the environment, has denied a controversial request to terminate a $1 million, 24-mile nylon fence in the Pacific Ocean north of San Francisco.

The commission voted 9-3 Wednesday to refuse a permit that would have allowed Bulgarian-born artist Christo Javacheff to end the fence on the coast at Dillon Beach after twisting its way through the rolling hills from Petaluma.

Budget Stalled

GOP Support Sought

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Assembly Speaker Leo McCarthy hopes he can pick up enough Republican support to get the state's $11.56-billion budget past maverick Democrats to the governor's desk.

"I will have to seek Republican votes," McCarthy said Wednesday after being told by reporters a fellow San Francisco Democrat, Willie Brown, had vowed not to support the present budget.

"I guess I have to devise a way to allow some people to declare victory," added McCarthy. Brown and four other Democrats joined Republicans Tuesday to block passage of the Senate-passed budget. It fell five votes short of the two-thirds majority needed to send it to the desk of Gov. Edmund Brown Jr.

Democrats have 54 members in the lower house, enough to pass the budget if they all vote for it.

The Republicans and dissenting Democrats cited uncertainty about Gov. Brown's vetoes and disagreement with some decisions of a conference committee, which reconciled the Senate and Assembly versions of the budget.

So far, Gov. Brown has refused to say if he intends to make heavy cuts once the budget gets to him.

Michael Feldmiller, 44, a bank employee who was one of the hostages, was cut by flying glass when police gunfire shattered a window of the getaway car. Policeman Dean Karp, 28, was shot in the arm by one of the robbers.

Police said the three escapees from the Jackson, Mich., State Prison — Percy L. Smith, 27, John R. Butts, 27, and Frank C. Newson, 28 — entered the Republic Bank here Wednesday morning, threatened a teller and were given a bag containing $5,913 in cash.

builder, must stop taking bids for highway construction July 1 because it is pinched between inflation and dwindling revenue.

Some layoffs also are planned in an effort to keep the Golden State's freeway fund out of the red, transportation chief Howard C. Ulrich announced Wednesday.

Ulrich, director of the Department of Transportation, said it was unlikely any new contracts would be put out for bids for at least a year.

"Contracts worth hundreds of millions of dollars," will be at least delayed, said Gene Berthelsen, department spokesman.

"We have accelerated our construction program before July 1 to make the best possible use of the recent federal release of $2 billion of highway funds," said Ulrich.

"In order to continue to pay the contractors already working on going construction, we have to cut out new starts, at least for now."

Berthelsen said two factors, rising construction costs and a drop in revenue because of less gasoline consumption in the state, have the state in a bind.

Quiet Humanitarians

Strangers in a strange land, that is how one South Vietnamese refugee characterizes himself and others among the 18,000 dispossessed persons currently housed at Camp Pendleton.

For some, the wait to truly start becoming assimilated into American culture may be as long as a year, by current estimates.

By now, a large, but relatively quiet contingent of Orange Coast volunteers who may or may not have personally supported America's activities in Vietnam over the years has steadily and energetically joined the newest U.S. campaign.

Many Orange Coast citizens are pitching in to help the newest American arrivals with gifts of clothing, blankets, toilet articles and other necessities, as well as help with English lessons, recreation programs for the youngsters and similar intangibles to speed the refugees' adjustment.

These people, numbering in hundreds, are not merely paying lip service to this nation's traditional invitation to the world's refugees fleeing oppression of one kind or another and the heartbreaking and spirit-breaking wars on faraway shores.

They are true humanitarians and the Orange Coast can truly be proud of them.

Empire Building

The local government employee paid with federal grant money is appearing in ever-increasing numbers as more and more local-level bureaucrats discover new and more extensive sources of aid money.

Orange County government is no different, having hired hundreds of its 11,000 employees under one grant program or another. Theoretically, employees of this type know their jobs are limited in term and that is what the tax paying public is told.

One worthy premise of the federally funded programs was that normal governmental growth and employee turnover should eventually enable some of the temporary employees to move into regular permanent positions when the extra, federally funded programs were phased out. And this has been the case.

But the other side of the coin is that department heads make every possible effort to keep the growing empires intact. So when the federal money runs out, presumably temporary, grant-funded positions don't all phase out. They tend to become extra county-funded positions, with rather thin need justification.

CHP Program Helped

Officers of the California Highway Patrol, who went through a bad period during the on-again-off-again NOx smog device mixup, may not be too distressed by plans to phase out all roadside vehicle inspections by Oct. 1.

The immediate reason is a shortage of funds for the program in Gov. Brown's 1975-76 budget. The financial bind already has deactivated 47 of the 71 inspection teams involved in the program.

Another factor is revision of federal highway safety standards for auto brakes and tires which will require a much more intensive inspection than the cursory check given in the CHP road stops.

Compliance with these standards by the 1976 deadline probably will require setting up a program of inspections through service stations.

Although the CHP program has reached only about 15 percent of the cars on the road, it has had the beneficial effect of making drivers more concerned about the mechanical condition of their vehicles.

But there obviously is little point in continuing this type of inspection if more complete safety checks are to be mandated for all cars.

'I don't think they've evolved enough to handle that, yet.'

Mr. Puffe. Gentlemen, all these new cigarettes designed for special groups are hurting our sales. First it was Virginia Slims for liberated women. Then it was the new longer Dawns for the new longer women. And now it's Tramps for...

Mr. Hacke: Tramps?

Mr. Puffe: ...Charlie Chaplin lovers. We need new cigarettes for new special groups. What about it, Morb? You're our market research director.

Morb: Don't worry, Chief. We've created a well-rounded sales program. Now we start with these 50-millimeter sugar-frosted Nikopops with the cherry-flavored filter.

Mr. Puffe (frowning): Who'd smoke a tiny, little cigaret like that?

Morb: Three-to-five-year-olds, sir. Not to mention midgets. "A man's smoke designed to fit you!" is our slogan. Then we hit the teenage market with this one, Puff, The Magic Drag.

Mr. Hacke (suspiciously): They sound illegal.

Morb: Not at all. They're made of glue. "The sniff that satisfies," we say. "Enjoy the glow of pot without the hassles of pot!"

Mr. Hacke (grudgingly): Not bad. But what about the adult market?

Morb: Oh, we've got lots of new ones. There's Vitabutts, which we advertise as "Composed of 100 percent organic tobacco!"

Mr. Puffe: Who'll that appeal to?

Dear Gloomy Gus

From somewhere, somebody came up with a figure of $16,000 of taxpayers' money allegedly improperly expended during the Hinshaw election campaign... so the Board of Supervisors is spending another $50,000 of the taxpayers' money for a special audit to find a "fall guy."

KOHI

Gloomy Gus comments are submitted by readers and do not necessarily reflect the views of the newspaper. Send your pet peeve to Gloomy Gus, Daily Pilot.

Morb: Health nuts. Then for those with inferiority complexes—and that's a big market in this business—we've got these new 1000-millimeter Jolly Green Giants. We'll sell them by the yard. "Oh, you think you had disadvantages with your old longer cigaret!"

Mr. Puffe: You got anything to compete with Tramps?

Morb: Hoboes. They're butts that come in packs of one. Then for the Israeli market, we're trying out Tanks, with the slogan: "Meet the Arab." But here's a real seller, high-nicotine Sweets. They're guaranteed to stop bad breath.

Mr. Hacke: How?

Morb: In five years, the smoker doesn't have any. The only place we failed was in the under-3-year-old market. We tried out Pacifiers with the pitch, "You've come a long way, baby!" But there was too much consumer resistance. Never fear, though, we'll hit an ever-growing market with our new high-nicotine, high-tar Bygones.

Mr. Puffe: Bygones? What ever-growing market are they aimed at?

Morb (triumphantly): Cancer patients. Our slogan is, "Let Bygones Be Bygones!"

No Domino Role for S. Korea

EVANS-NOVAK

SEOUL — President Chung Hee Park, vowing to fight for the last inch of land even if U.S. forces leave Korea, told South Korea could and would develop its own nuclear weapons if the U.S. nuclear umbrella is withdrawn. In one of his rare interviews, the Korean strong man also declared he would not relax tough internal security measures while the military threat from North Korea lasts.

Recognizing that restoration of full civil liberties would help him in the U.S. Congress, he insisted such relaxation could make Korea another Vietnam and, therefore, gave no hope for major change.

THUS, Gen. Park is set apart from other East Asian leaders traumatized by the Indochina debacle and looking for accommodation with the rising Communist tide. Facing the gun barrels of the North Korean garrison state, Park relies heavily on his U.S. alliance. But he will not appease American critics by actions he says would weaken security and is prepared to go it alone if necessary.

Park gave responsive, often blunt answers for nearly two hours in his office at the Blue House — his first meeting with a foreign reporter in eight months. Small to the point of frailty, the 57-year-old professional soldier in his 15th year of rule seemed in excellent health and supremely confident the course he follows is correct.

While declaring his own faith in official U.S. reaffirmations of support for South Korea, Park told us "there were and still are quite a number of Koreans doubting the commitment of the United States" since the fall of Vietnam. What if those doubts are well founded? "Even without assistance, our people are determined to fight to the last man and not to concede an inch of our territory."

HE NEXT confirmed for the first time that South Korea, if abandoned by the U.S., would go nuclear. "We have the capability," the President said, but are not developing it and are honoring the nuclear non-proliferation treaty. Then he bluntly added: "If the U.S. nuclear umbrella were to be removed, we have to start developing our nuclear capability to save ourselves."

The nuclear umbrella and airpower comprise the major U.S. deterrent to a Communist attack, but Park also argued the U.S. 2nd Infantry Division here plays "an essential role in deterring attack." If American ground troops were removed, "the enemy will be inclined to make a miscalculation" and "American word would carry far less credibility." Chuckling, Park said the U.S. soldiers play the role of fullback in soccer football as a last line of defense. In other words, the 2nd Division would not be in the heart of ground combat.

As for his May 13 decree banning internal dissent, the President said that otherwise "we might become another Vietnam." Is there hope for relaxation? "It depends on the actions of the North Koreans. If the threat from the North Koreans is reduced, we should be able to relax security measures. If it is heightened, we would have to take tighter restrictions. There is no other way."

PARK seemed to fully appreciate the difficulty his crackdown causes him in Washington, calling it "one of my biggest headaches." Many Americans would say "very nice" (Park, speaking in Korean, used the English words "very nice") if students were permitted to demonstrate. But, he added, that would undermine security and make the nation vulnerable to Communist attack. Park cited three examples of democracies curtailing civil liberties under extraordinary conditions: Canada's crackdown on Quebec separatists, Gen. de Gaulle's authoritarian measures during the Algerian crisis and U.S. internment (in "concentration camps," said Park) of Nisei Japanese during World War II. Granting that human rights are abridged in South Korea, said the President, Americans should note there is "no trace of human rights" in North Korea.

CHUNG HEE PARK is clearly not inclined toward new arrangements in handling his menacing northern neighbor. His insistence on harsh internal security measures, his appeal for continued U.S. military presence here and his determination to survive—even to the point of going nuclear—if the Americans leave are all linked to an iron resolve that Korea shall not become a domino. That resolve, rare in nervous East Asia after Vietnam, may more than compensate for the aggravation caused U.S. officials by Park's inflexibility.

Deactivating a President

transition money:

—He shelled out $14,466.46 for office furnishings—chairs, the GAO suggested happily, "can be recovered when they are no longer needed." Not counted were five color TV sets, which the White House Communications Agency declared surplus and left to Nixon.

—AN ASTONISHING $52,815.95 was spent for stationery. This bought "over 460,000 sheets, 260,000 envelopes and 20,000 each of three kinds of acknowledgement cards with envelopes." Apparently, Nixon was stocking up for the future, since most of the stationery is still unused. Another $12,000 went for postage.

—Nixon spent $75, according to the audit, to change his safe combinations. He also paid $896 for picture-mounting supplies. These miscellaneous expenses were listed, curiously, as part of a $9,430.37 expenditure for "record preservation and copying work."

—Another $6,505.30 went to pay for news service teletypes, telephone service and connection charges. Nixon wasn't billed, however, for the three courier flights that brought him security briefings, although "some passengers and some of Nixon's personal belongings were also on these flights."

—And $4,748.57 was paid out in "personal service costs." This category included detailed employees from various agencies and three people who were hired to assist them.

A SEPARATE, confidential report, prepared for House Government Operations Chairman Jack Brooks, D-Tex., discloses that it cost the taxpayers $118,076.93 to "deactivate" the Nixon compound at Key Biscayne, Fla.

This didn't include $1,780 spent to improve Nixon's heating system, $738.95 for wiring improvements, $1,520 for sod and $2,000 to prevent beach erosion. Nixon was also bequeathed, courtesy of the taxpayers, storm shutters worth $1,081.20, a $390.18 privacy screen and a $119.75 Sears washing machine.

An additional $124,041.36 was spent for the "disposal by demolition" of a security building that Nixon no longer wanted on his Florida property.

As part of the deactivation, the government spent $10,800 to remove bulletproof glass and replace it with plate glass windows, $6,604.57 to remove a screening hedge and $15,950 to restore the walls around the compound.

The General Services Administration got Nixon's famous $621.50 icemaker, which produced square cubes "because the President doesn't like ice cubes with holes in them."

Unisex: Symptom of Decline

The learned lady libbers of New York are up to their pretty elbows, again. This time it's over a book.

The book is something of a sleeper. It was published by an obscure publishing firm, is the work of a learned French historian, and was discovered by Lord knows whom, without all the pre-publication hoo-hah that usually precedes the publication of an important book.

The title is "Sex and Power in History" by Amaury de Reincourt, who has written books about Tibet, China, India and the United States. It is concerned with a touchy subject, the odd androgyny of our time, the blurring of sexual distinctions between men and women. This androgyny, the author states, is a sign of a dying culture. His thesis is briefly stated:

"The contemporary women's liberation drive toward a decrease in sexual differentiation, to the extent that it is leading toward androgyny and unisex values, implies a social and cultural death wish and the end of the civilization that endorses it."

CHARLES

"THE SCIENTIFIC and historical records show that all the way from unicellular organisms to human beings, progress in evolution has been stimulated by an increase in sexual differentiation."

With prodigious erudition, M. de Reincourt exposes his thesis to virtually every culture in the world. The Greeks, with elevation of the masculine idea threw out the balance between male and female which had existed in Chinese and Indian civilizations. The result was a legacy from which the West is still suffering. It is no coincidence, he says, that the first feminist revolt took place in Greece.

This thesis fits in very tidily with the notions of the male pigs, who think that Male and Female created He them, and that things go awry in a big way when this is forgotten.

My primary objections to the extreme lady libbers has been their attempt to disprove, in a few brief and frantic years, what the instinctive wisdom of both soul and body have insisted on for hundreds of centuries. That is: That men and women are different, and profoundly so, and were intended to be so by God, or nature, or whatever.

M. DE REINCOURT is not the first man to predict the decline and fall of Western civilization, nor will he be the last. But the logic of his thesis is compelling to me. It feels right. If we allow ourselves to be turned into a people hermaphroditic both sexually and culturally, we must be prepared to face the lessons of history.

Rome was destroyed by the decline into androgynous ways long before the barbarians sacked it from without. A lowered birth rate had more to do with the fall of Rome than the nomadic Huns who overrode the fading Empire. The women's liberation movement may be a terrible symptom.

'Like Flea Market'

Divorcee Evicted; Belongings Taken

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — "It was like an instant flea market," police said.

Wanda Mae Howard, 46, was evicted from her apartment complex because she owed $195 rent, police said. Left outside the building were an estimated $7,000 worth of furniture, appliances, dishes and clothing, and passers-by immediately swooped on the unguarded belongings.

At one minute past the time a court ruled she was to have vacated the premises Tuesday, sheriff's deputies helped Mrs. Howard's landlord move her belongings onto city land bordering a busy thoroughfare, a sheriff's spokesman said.

WHEN MRS. HOWARD, who had found another place to live, found her possessions piled along the roadside, she left to borrow a camera from a neighbor so she could photograph the evidence. She returned to find passing motorists carting it all away.

Mrs. Howard, a divorcee, had no insurance on her belongings.

"People stopped their cars and in less than an hour carried away anything they could get into their cars," said police officer Steven Maroney. They cleaned her out. They took a bedroom set, a color console television, all her dishes and clothes and a three-piece sectional living room set.

Police said large household appliances are often dumped on curbs for garbage pickup, and residents often help themselves.

Two Devices To Measure Ozone Eyed

FULLERTON (AP) — Two devices to measure the ozone in the upper atmosphere by satellite are under development by a Southern California manufacturer of precision instruments.

The ozone layer, 10 to 35 miles above the earth, is under study because of a theory that it is being destroyed by gases used in aerosol sprays.

Ozone in the upper atmosphere is considered essential because it absorbs the greater part of the ultra violet light rays emitted by the sun. These rays, if unchecked, would destroy life on earth.

Some scientists say that even relatively minor impairment of the ozone layer would affect life, by example, increase the incidence of skin cancer.

Beckman Instruments Inc. has been asked by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to modify a spectrometer originally designed for the satellite Nimbus 4, launched in 1970.

Motorists to Face Gas Problems Soon — Expert

CHICAGO (UPI) — Gasoline prices will jump at least 3 cents a gallon by the July 4th weekend and the nation's motorists will be hit by real supply problems in August, a petroleum industry expert says.

By year's end, regular will be selling for 70 cents to 75 cents a gallon, Herbert Hugo, senior editor of Platt's Oilgram, a daily publication on the petroleum industry, predicted.

Hugo said the price hike on gasoline could be as high as 5 cents a gallon by the Independence Day weekend and he also cautioned that there could be a fuel oil shortage by this fall.

In an interview with UPI, Hugo said: "The latest import tax plus increased operating costs will be passed along to motorists' within 10 days."

"But the most critical period will come in August, which looks like the time we're likely to have real problems with gasoline," he said.

Supplies in the East and West were off about 6 percent compared with 1974 figures, Hugo said. He predicted further declines would appear in a weekly supply report scheduled for release later this week by the American Petroleum Institute in Washington.

NY Inspector Aides Charged

NEW YORK (UPI) — More than half of the building department's construction inspectors have been indicted on charges of bribery and misconduct.

District Attorney Robert M. Morgenthau said 95 of a total of 100 persons named by a county grand jury have been indicted.

The charges resulted from a three-year investigation by the city's department of investigations.

"I think that half the (construction) inspectors in Manhattan were arrested," Morgenthau said.

Among those arrested were 38 employees of the city department of buildings and two employees of the city department of highways, Morgenthau said.

Criminal Behavior Controllable?

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — A sociologist says that medical manipulation could be used to make the United States virtually crime free by the year 2000. But he says he's worried about the "big brother" implications of the system.

"We are so effective in manipulative medical and technological techniques that criminal behavior can be controlled," said Dr. Richard Moran. Moran, an expert of crime and crime control who is an assistant professor at Mount Holyoke College in Massachusetts, spoke at the 22nd National Institute on Crime and Delinquency.

MORAN SAID hospitals and prisons could blur into one institution where the physically and criminally ill would be medically treated. He said society would have to allow medical intervention to treat a criminal, who would not be judged from a moral or guilt viewpoint but as someone "who is defective and needs treatment."

But he warned that when crime becomes no different from other illnesses and is treated medically, "without vexing moral judgment," it would be easy for coercive government to impose treatment for those who didn't cooperate.

Moran noted that crime is increasingly being listed as an illness anyway and said criminals will be regarded by society as a threat in much the same way a person now is who refuses to follow mandatory public health rules to get vaccinated against a contagious disease.

HE PREDICTED an early warning screening system to weed out potential criminals, much like public health screenings of persons with undetected disease. Those persons found to be crime prone would theoretically be treated by implanting electronic devices in the brain which could be used to monitor his movements.

He said such electronic monitoring from a central security center would guarantee total compliance of persons on probation or in community corrections programs.

He said many cities already have "big brother" watching in the form of television surveillance of high-crime business districts. Mount Vernon, N.Y., Hoboken, N.J., Tampa, Fla., and Baltimore, he said, are among cities where citizens have surrendered their right to privacy to ensure their safety against criminals by TV surveillance of their streets.

He cited antihijacking airport screening devices as another example of people giving up their right to privacy in favor of safety.

3 Solons Collect Pension

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Three members of the California Congressional Delegation and former Gov. Ronald Reagan are among a group of elected officials receiving state pensions, the state controller's office reports.

Among those receiving pensions are Sen. Alan Cranston, and Reps. John E. Moss, (D-Sacramento), and George E. Danielson, (D-Los Angeles).

Legislators and constitutional officers are eligible for pensions at age 60 if they have served four years or more in office, regardless of whether they hold other jobs at the time they become eligible.

CRANSTON, STATE controller from 1959 to 1967, became eligible Jan. 1 for an annual state pension of $14,208. He also would become eligible for a federal pension for his duty in the U.S. Senate.

Moss began drawing $2,209 annually on April 13 for serving in the Assembly 1949-1953. Danielson became eligible Feb. 20 for a yearly pension of $3,000 because he served four years in the State Senate.

Cranston, Moss and Danielson all receive annual salaries of $42,500 as members of Congress.

Politeness Stressed In Course

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — The 54 state highway patrolmen accused of being rude to motorists during the past year are going back to school for lessons in politeness.

"Most of the motorist complained about a patrolman's tone of voice," Patrol Major Chester Hayt said.

The courses in human relations, for which $16,000 was authorized by the State Controlling Board, will help the troopers learn how to "win friends and influence people," Hayt said.

Keeping the Old Team Up

Brothers Rudy Holmes (left), cornerback for the Suns, and Andre Holmes, tailback for Cal Poly Pomona, now are football stars but they remember when they tossed the pigskin for the Saddleback College Gauchos. Both are active in the promotion of a golf tournament scheduled June 30 to benefit the college's athletic fund. Reservations for the 18-hole tourney at the Mission Viejo Country Club can be made by calling 830-3122.

Boy Going to Hawaii As Eyesight Dwindles

GRANITE CITY, Ill. (UPI) — Eleven-year-old John Young, his vision deteriorating from a rare eye disease, leaves Friday to visit the Hawaiian Islands he has seen only in books.

"He knows quite a bit about the islands," said his father, Albert Young, a Granite City policeman. "He's read every book he could find at school and the library. In the past couple of years his eyes have gotten worse. He told me, 'Dad, I'd really like to go there.'"

Unless doctors find a cure for his disease, retinitis pigmentosa, John will go blind.

"IT COULD BE at any time or it could linger on," said Young. "The doctors told me about one man who had it. He was fixing his roof when everything went black on him."

Young said the disease first became apparent when the boy was 5. "He was at camp and began bumping into trees after dark."

"Now he's got what they call tunnel vision," the father explained. "Put your hands in a circle to your eye and close them a bit — that's what he sees."

He said his son was virtually blind in the dark until the Army loaned the boy a night-vision pocket scope. The scope, developed to allow soldiers to watch enemy movements at night, looks like half of a small pair of binoculars. It amplifies light waves through an infra-red technique.

"IT'S TERRIFIC," Young said of the invention. "He can get around after dark by himself."

Young said offers of help have come since his son's disease received publicity. Two police departments sent money. Your Man Tours, a travel agency, gave John a free trip to Hawaii, and a prisoner offered to donate an eye.

"That's Glenn Totten," Young said of the prisoner at Federal Penitentiary at Marion, Ill. "He offered to donate one of his eyes but you can't transplant a whole eye, only a cornea. John's become very close to Glen. He gets letters, and Glen sent a beautiful leather billfold he made in prison. It's got John's initials carved on it."

Sentry Just Scared

LA SPEZIA, Italy off because he was (AP) — A navy sentry scared of the dark, accused of quitting his Salvatore Chiappa, 21, guard post at an armory was sentenced to five months in the brig.

County Solon Helps Block Budget

By O. C. HUSTINGS
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Richard Robinson of Santa Ana was one of the five recalcitrant Democrats who, with Assembly Republicans, held up the Legislature's $11.57 billion state budget earlier this week.

The five Democrats, in a surprise move led by Assemblyman Willie Brown of San Francisco, refused to vote on the proposed budget. This, coupled with an almost united GOP front against the budget, kept Assembly Speaker Leo McCarthy from mustering enough votes for passage. The delay came Tuesday about six hours after the Senate approved the budget on a 32-5 bipartisan vote.

The recalcitrant Brown, it will be recalled, lost a bitterly fought battle for the speakership to McCarthy last year.

Santa Ana's Robinson and the four other Democrats said there was no assurance that a full $85.2 million cost of living increase for the elderly, blind and disabled would be spent by the governor. They also complained about reductions in college economic opportunity programs.

STATE SENATOR James Whetmore (R-Buena Park) is making his future political plans abundantly clear.

"It has been my intention, it is now my intention and will be my intention when declarations of candidacy are filed in February to declare my candidacy for, to run in and to continue to represent the people of my 35th Senatorial District," Whetmore said this week in a prepared statement.

Assemblyman John Briggs (R-Fullerton) has declared an interest in Whetmore's seat and a GOP primary battle is shaping up.

CONGRESSMAN Mark Hannaford, the Long Beach Democrat who represents much of western Orange County, has introduced legislation calling for the federal government to reimburse states that spend money for the education of Vietnamese refugees.

According to Hannaford, Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Caspar Weinberger has said HEW does not plan to reimburse states for educational services provided to the refugees. Hannaford said he was shocked by Weinberger's statement and his bill resulted.

"The problem of the Vietnamese refugees is a national one," said the congressman, "and California taxpayers should not be expected to bear the considerable financial burden involved in integrating the refugees into the mainstream of our society."

LEGISLATION requiring the local polling place precinct board to mark off the names of the people who have voted until 6 p.m., instead of 4 p.m., has been signed into law by Governor Brown. Assemblyman Robert H. Burke (R-Huntington Beach) author of the measure (AB 754) said, "Passage of this legislation will be a definite help to those who work in the precincts in determining who has and hasn't voted."

"The existing law which provides for the posting of the names of those who haven't cast their ballot by 4 p.m. just isn't working," he explained.

"By extending the time to 6 p.m. it will help those attempting to get out the vote to inform the people, who had failed to cast their ballot by that time, that there is still time to do so."

Wallace Declares He'll Be 'Involved'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama says he would be "involved" in the 1976 campaign to represent "the great gutsy middle class," but he stopped short of declaring he would seek the Democratic presidential nomination.

"My intention at this time is that I am going to be involved in 1976, because I believe the great issue of the survival of the middle class is going to need someone to forcefully express that viewpoint," said Wallace, standing before nearly 1,000 delegates to the convention of the National Federation of Independent Business.

"I DO INTEND to make a more formal announcement later," Wallace said.

Although the Wallace statement was some distance from an official declaration of his candidacy, it moved him away from his previous insistence that he had not yet decided whether to make his fourth presidential effort since 1964.

Asked after the speech why he did not make a formal announcement of his candidacy, Wallace replied, "That was good enough for today."

Asked if he had a time set for formal announcement, he added: "I have other problems. It will come."

THE PARTIALLY PARALYZED governor stood for nearly 45 minutes speaking to the delegates and gave them a complete run-through of his positions on law and order, government regulation and foreign policy.

His voice was strong and he lashed out at those who questioned his health, saying: "Too many folks are talking about things they don't know anything about."

College Sets Big Trip for Mountaineers

Hardy people interested in exploring the High Sierra and earning three units of college credit as well as invited to participate in a seven-day trip sponsored by Saddleback College.

The class will give participants a good look at the geologic makeup of California's High Sierra and Mother Lode regions.

It is being offered under the course title of Biology 17 and is scheduled for July 21-27.

STUDENTS WILL EXPLORE the flora and fauna of the Sierra region and study astronomy at night.

The trip is recommended only for those in good physical condition, according to Dr. Phil Littell, a Saddleback biology instructor who will act as adviser and guide.

The trip will begin at Rock Creek and cover a 56-mile trek along a portion of the John Muir Trail and end at Pike Creek. The group will traverse steep trails up to 2,000 feet.

MULES WILL CARRY all supplies and wranglers will be on hand to accompany hikers and prepare meals. Still, Dr. Littell says the hike will be strenuous at times.

Cost of the trip is $101.50 and registration is open to all residents who have lived in the Saddleback Community College District for one year.

Those interested in joining the tour should register as soon as possible at the college's Division of Natural Science.

An orientation meeting will be conducted for all participants at 7 p.m. June 23 in Room 313 of the math-science building.

Traveling Gospel

Evangelists Pitch Tent in Costa Mesa

Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Three years ago Michael Maddox, then 21, was living on a 38-acre farm in Decatur, Ill., with his wife, Deborah. They had a car, he had a steady job as a social worker, and he was pushing dope.

"We were well off but it was a hypocritical life and I hated that," Maddox recalled. "There I was working to save families during the day and at night I was peddling dope to break up families."

It all changed when an evangelical team of Christian nomads pitched their huge circus tent in Decatur. Maddox and his wife were "saved," they sold their belongings, joined the Christian community, and have been with it ever since.

THIS MONTH the community — Christ Is the Answer — is gathered in about 60 trailers, trucks, and campers on the Orange County Fairgrounds in Costa Mesa.

Their crusade involves about 100 Bible-carrying members a day taking to the streets to preach their faith. Nightly revival meetings are held in the big Gospel tent.

Christ Is the Answer Crusades, Inc., was formed in 1969 by director William Lowery, 33, following training at Central Bible College, Springfield, Mo. It has two traveling ministries, one of about 140 people in Europe, and one of 180 now in Costa Mesa, headquarters in Weldon, Ill., where its monthly newspaper New Manna is published, and another team of about 30 evangelists in Washington, D.C.

"Few people can believe in today's world that we are just trying to help without ulterior motives," Lowery said on a walking tour of the community on the fairgrounds. "But that's all we are doing. We are just trying to build a quality Christian."

THE MEMBERS of the crusade lead ascetic lives. They give up everything when they join and turn it over to the community.

The women wear long dresses to curtail sexual temptations. "Sometimes they need to wear blue jeans, but if they do they wear long baggy tops to cover the hips," Maddox said.

A newcomer to the community is on probation for six weeks. The ministry policy underlines that there must be no fellowship with the opposite sex during that time. If they have a musical instrument they must not play that or engage in any other hobby during the probation, but "seek a place of humility, meekness, and submission."

'Sometimes the women need to wear blue jeans, but if they do, they wear long baggy tops to cover the hips'

ANY COMMUNITY member who becomes involved in "slandering backbiting, open rebellion, sex sins, drugs, alcohol and tobacco" risks expulsion, the ministry policy warns.

The day starts at 6:30 a.m. After that there are prayer meetings and group meetings at which the day's activities are planned. Most then take to the streets carrying a sandwich and Bible tracts, while others stay behind patching the tents, repairing vehicles or clearing the grounds.

The community has a tent for single men—all belongings must fit in a foot locker—and another for women. There are many families, and they live in campers.

A SCHOOL, accredited in Texas, is run out of two mobile homes. Its principal is Frank Crabtree, who gave up a business career earlier this year to join the community with his wife,

Mollie, and their children.

Mrs. Crabtree teaches biology at the school. How does she feel just a few months after her switch from a suburban life to a nomadic existence? "I never cared much for camping," she admits. "But you can't always do what you want when the Lord calls you."

How long will the family remain with the crusade? "Until Jesus comes."

THE CRUSADE has been on the fairgrounds since the beginning of June and will remain until July 6. Their dealings with city officials and the Orange County Fair Board have been smooth; they are renting 33 acres from the fair board at $500 a week.

But their dealings with established churches in the area, and the attendance at the revival meetings, from 200 to 300 a night in a tent capable of holding 4,000, have been less than satisfactory.

All pastors in the area were contacted on their arrival, but only about eight have actively cooperated with the evangelists, holding congregational meetings in the big tent, and preaching to the traveling Christians.

"The other churches say they recognize us as Christian brothers, but they feel no responsibility toward us," said Lowery, admitting that the offering the previous night was only $40.

"WE HAVE EXPENSES of $200 a day," Lowery said.

Calvary Chapel has the largest established church membership in the area. Pastor Ron Wiseman summed up the church's attitude to the crusade by saying, "We don't understand why they came here."

The pastor indicated that other crusades come only with the backing of the area ministries. "We are praying for them," the pastor added. "We will be grateful if they can reach someone, because we know we can't reach everyone."

Pen Squeals Blows Whistle on Forger

MENLO PARK (UPI) — An electronic ballpoint pen which can blow a whistle when a forger uses it has been developed by the Stanford Research Institute.

The pen, wired to a computer, detects the pressure and motion of the writer as well as the lines of the signature. These pressures and angles of writing would be practically impossible for a forger to duplicate.

"It clearly separated the 'good guys' from the 'forgers' in a test of a dozen engineers at the SRI Laboratory," said Dr. Hewitt Crane, who invented the pen.

The device resembles an ordinary ballpoint and can be used in a variety of ways.

"It is potentially useful in any situation requiring signature verification: credit card purchases, travelers checks, stock exchange transactions, money orders, registered mail, voting and access to security areas," the institute said.

Most in County

Coast Senior Citizens Using Free Bus Service

SANTA ANA — Southern Orange County and Harbor Area citizens are the heaviest users of the county transit district's free bus ride service, a report shows.

The report by the district's advanced planning staff shows that 45 percent of the senior citizen riders recorded during April came from the region bounded in general by the Santa Ana River on the west and the Garden Grove Freeway to the north.

The high-ridership area contains most of Costa Mesa, Newport Beach, Irvine, the Saddleback Valley, Laguna Beach, San Juan Capistrano, San Clemente, Tustin and part of east Santa Ana.

PLANNERS TOLD transit directors the figures were predictable since the same area contains about 50 percent of the 116,700 senior citizens in the county.

The senior citizen bus program was initiated last year when the County Board of Supervisors approved a grant of revenue sharing money that covers the 25-cent fares.

In April, the latest recording period, more than 118,500 free senior citizen rides were noted by drivers.

THE SOUTH county's statistics were twice as high as any other areas. The northwestern and central portion of the county had about 21 percent of the elderly riders in April.

Third was the west part of the county, including Huntington Beach, Fountain Valley, Seal Beach, Westminster and part of Santa Ana.

In last position with about 15 percent of the senior riders was the northeastern part of the county, including Orange, Villa Park, Placentia and Yorba Linda.

DISTRICT ANALYSTS said the results of their survey show there is a good correlation between levels of service and the residence areas of most senior citizens in the county.

The staff analysis also showed the one route with by far the greatest usage by senior citizens is number 57, which runs from central Santa Ana to Laguna Hills Mall via Newport Beach and Laguna Beach.

Statistics showed nearly 17 percent of the seniors who rode during April used that line.

Yorbas' Cemetery To Be Restored

YORBA LINDA — The ancestral burial ground of Orange County's pioneer Yorba family will be restored as part of a new north county park under terms of a $108,000 contract approved Tuesday by the board of supervisors.

The old cemetery in Santa Ana Canyon was acquired by the county in the early 1960s to protect it against recurring vandalism. Since then, it has been surrounded by a high chain link fence.

A housing tract was built recently around the cemetery and a piece of property that was dedicated to the county to become Yorba Regional Park.

The park project, a $2 million effort, is due to start soon and the cemetery restoration will be part of it, supervisors were told.

The old Catholic cemetery was the burial site of Don Bernardo Yorba and many of his relatives who have died over the past 150 years. The Catholic archdiocese owned the plot until title was given to the county.

Manpower Board Cites Hiring Plan

SANTA ANA — The Orange County Manpower Commission, a consortium of county government and its largest cities, has released its first annual report, saying it has developed a $20.2 million hiring program for more than 10,800 people.

The commission was established just over a year ago in an effort to pool federal emergency job funds coming to the county and its cities and administer them under a single board of directors.

Until the panel was formed, county government and the cities of Anaheim, Garden Grove, Santa Ana and Huntington Beach were entitled to separate manpower fund allocations.

The county was designated to administer funds for the unincorporated areas and the 22 smaller cities.

One of 200 Kids a Genius

Argument continues over the origin of the word "bonfire." Our Language man would like to settle that. It was Samuel Johnson who in 1755 took it upon himself to announce that the "bon" in "bonfire" derived from the French word for good. He erred. Until about then, the word had been spelled "bone-fire," and it had been meant to describe a funeral pyre for burning bodies of plague victims.

MISTER, IF you want to make sure that one of your offspring is a genius, father at least 200 of same. Statistically, there's at least one genius among that many youngsters, the researchers contend.

COCO

Q. "Remember the late Coco Chanel, the fancy French lady of perfume fame? How much money did she make?"

A. About $13,500 a week. Or so report the estimators. Incidentally, she never did own controlling interest in that perfume company. But she made a deal to collect two percent royalty on every bottle of perfume called Chanel whatever. Did you know that during her entire 65 years as a Paris designer she never once used the color green?

NO LATIN should forget that South America was the first to be named "America." North America was so called later as an afterthought.

COWS

When a dairyman budgets to build a new barn, he has to take into account the probability that his herd's milk production will fall off sharply when those cows get pushed into unfamiliar surroundings. It's also true that they tend to give less milk when a stranger milks them. That's why a dairyman who can't keep his hired hands on a permanent basis is liable to get into trouble, I'm told.

TV Potential: Humanize Image

Actresses, writers and directors piled statistics upon statistics to prove that there is yet little time for women on television.

"We're concerned with what the statistics mean," explained Dorothy Fontana of the Writers Guild of America.

"Television speaks to us and what it says shapes how we think."

She charged, "The television image of women is behind by at least a decade."

Kathleen Nolan, actress and first vice president of the Screen Actors Guild, believes this medium has the potential for being a "humanizing link."

But, instead, she labeled it "an outstanding denigrator of females" during the commission hearings.

However, officials of ABC and NBC (CBS and Universal Studios refused the commission's invitation to speak) contended they are giving qualified women jobs and they are portraying women in realistic roles.

During the next season, they said, women will appear as a news producer, attorneys, investigative reporter, political activist, head of a black family, recent divorcee and police officers.

Objectionable stereotypes, they said, will be caught by the networks' programming and broadcast standards departments.

PUBLIC JUDGES

And, they said, it is the viewing public, "the biggest jury in the world," which determines the success or failure of a program.

But, Miss Nolan said, "the image of women on television cannot really be separated from the quantity of women on television."

She said an analysis of the shows scheduled for the fall indicate there will be 44 programs which are male oriented or have men in the lead roles compared with nine for women.

Although there are several programs with women's names, she objected that the supporting cast is generally male.

Miss Fontana presented a list of the numbers of men versus women writers on shows which ran between October 1973 and September 1974. The scores ran heavily in favor of the men.

Of 106 production companies, she said, 61 posted no credits for women.

Yet, she noted, four of the six Emmys for writing went to women.

Women do not occupy "that power seat, the director's chair," either, according to Barbara Searles, of the Directors Guild of America.

Of 2,632 members, she said, only 55 are women.

SAME SITUATION

The situation is much the same on stage, according to Jomarie Ward, chairwoman of the Actors Equity Commission Regarding Women.

In most plays, she said, 80 percent of the roles are for men. The percentage of women is better in musicals because the choruses are more equal.

Even talk shows, "soaps" and game shows, which are typically considered interesting to women, lack women, according to Alice Backes, chairwoman of the AFTRA National Women's Committee.

Thirteen hours of programming are devoted to game shows, she said, and there are "no women hosts or co-hosts on any of these tributes to materialism."

Although more women appear on daytime shows than prime-time programs, she said, roles are increasing for men and decreasing for women.

She also objected that during the first three months of the year, 200 murders were seen on prime time shows. And the role for women on these "action dramas" usually is the victim.

"No more laws are needed," she said. "Affirmative action is."

"Only when you, the viewing and listening public, demand the changes we seek will you find the changes being made."

MINORITIES NONEXISTENT

And Yolanda Nava, past president of La Comision Femenil Mexicana National Organization, testified the situation is even worse for minority women.

"You see, on television, we're practically nonexistent."

"Some of you up there or out there, I'm sure, don't recognize me," said Carmen Zapata. "Why is that? I'm a well-known, recognized, established actress."

The reason, she explained, is because in her roles she has her hair in a bun, wears dark, heavy makeup and talks with a thick Mexican accent.

"That's right. I'm playing a stereotype."

"I did it because if I didn't, they would give it to an Anglo woman... an Anglo woman would be taking the bread off my table."

But she told the commission that when she was young, "I denied my name, my people and my culture." She would tell people that her name really was Marion Saunders, that she was adopted and that those terrible people made her use the other name.

She said she did it because the only images, mostly of maids and prostitutes, of her people were "demeaning."

"Is that all we are?" she asked. "With some few exceptions, that's all we get to play if we want to work."

Those images, she said, must be changed, "now, not manana," so today's children don't suffer the same guilt.

QUESTION OF FAIRNESS

"It boils down to a question of fairness," explained Dennis Weaver, president of the Screen Actors Guild.

"If people do not feel they have a fair chance to gain their fair share, then we are truly living a lie in this country."

Janice Bernstein, a branch director of the YWCA of Los Angeles, testified that the young women she works with are being affected by the "fantasy images" they see on television.

"This is a power force and we've been too little aware of the pervasive power it has," she said.

Ruth White, a producer, advised parents to monitor television programs and set a viewing schedule for their children.

Virginia Carter, a representative for Women's Lobby Inc. who works at Tandem Productions, said the public can have a voice in the guidelines which will evolve for the new required family viewing time.

She said they should study the whole issue of television programs to pinpoint specific objections, urge enforcement of equal opportunities and publicize the fact that the air waves are the property of the public.

"Without an external force," she said, "nothing is going to happen."

COMMERCIALS

According to testimony heard during another segment of the hearing, commercials and advertisements also can be affected by people from outside the industry.

Although women are being misrepresented, there is hope for the future in this medium, according to Joan Levine, president of Women in Communications, Inc. She said some better representation of women can be found among the new commercials.

But she objected that still, too often, women are shown in advertisements as housewives and mothers. Recognizing that not all women want to be secretaries or scientists, she said, "the point is women want a choice."

Yet she noted that the biggest advertisers in the country are the manufacturers of home products, accounting for so many commercials being focused on the home.

The cumulative impression has been the source of much of the criticism, she said.

Another problem is the fact that 30 seconds is the prevailing unit of time for advertisements. And it is an "increasingly difficult task" to sell a product without characterizing somebody.

Still, she objected to the "demeaning" portrayal of women as snoopers into other people's homes, overly dirty from cleaning an oven or allowing children to tear a house apart.

And, while showing advertisements for men's shirts, whiskey and mattresses, she said women are still portrayed as sex objects.

When dealing with the man-woman relationship in ads, she continued, "the problem we're talking about is not women's lib but human kindness." Her examples showed women as dumb and dependent.

The essence of it, she explained, is not to put people into molds from which they cannot escape.

She advised the commissioners and the audience to write to the presidents of companies which advertise and tell them what they like and dislike.

Advice to Media: Take Women Seriously

The combination of women in politics and women in the media is "crucial to the advancement of our society, let alone women," according to Pat Russell, member of the Los Angeles City Council.

Yet she and others testified before the commission that not all is so well for women behind the news media's typewriters and cameras.

And, they contended, this results in the portrayal of women as either invisible or novelties of the day's news.

"Women are not taken seriously by the media," said Mrs. Russell, founding president of California Elected Women's Association for Education and Research.

"We (political office holders and seekers) are told we don't fit on the women's pages because we're political and we don't fit on the political pages because we're women."

She objected that reporters still comment on women's looks rather than their areas of expertise and contended this will continue "as long as media women permit glamor to be more important than substance."

But while the coverage of political women is improving, she said, "the position of women in the media, I think, lags terribly."

"I watch women in the media and they are put down all the time."

Agreement with Mrs. Russell came from several people working within the media.

MEN'S CLUB

Tichi Wilkerson Miles, editor and publisher of the Hollywood Reporter, said advancement of women has been a token gesture because the news business has been "a private men's club."

A woman journalist working in Los Angeles was allowed to submit her testimony anonymously because of the "potential fallout."

She objected that male colleagues don't take their female associates seriously and expect a lower standard of writing from them.

Although it is difficult to compare salaries, she said, 17 guilds (reporters' unions) in the country sanctioned lower pay scales for women in 1974.

She also pointed out that in 1972, the National Organization for Women and the Los Angeles Women Journalists Association filed a complaint against the Los Angeles Times.

Although after the complaint 107 additional women were hired, she said, the case is still open.

But three Times staff writers and a reporter who co-founded Sacramento Women in the Media testified that they are organizing to make changes on their newspapers.

At the Times, The Women's Editorial Caucus was formed as a result of their concern for equal pay, promotion and hiring practices as well as the way women were portrayed in the paper.

ICEBERG

Although they reported some progress, they said, "We feel as if we're in our formative stages."

Replied Commissioner Betty Stephens, "I think your organization is chipping away at an iceberg."

Women wishing to break into television news may be told they're the wrong color but Dolores Handy, a reporter with KQED-TV, said, "Don't buy that. Black people are not getting the jobs."

At all stations, she said, progress is being made in visible positions "where you can see us." But most editors, producers and technicians are still white males.

Chicanas in the news business are even fewer than women and blacks, complained Mary Helen Barro, a representative of the Chicano Coalition in the Media who works for KWKW radio.

The few opportunities given them have been in the community relations field, she said. And, while the person considers this as a stepping stone into the industry, the decision makers consider this all they are capable of doing.

She also objected that the decision makers presuppose that minority groups are male oriented so they select a man when they hire a minority.

"It's like a double whammy against the minority community," she said.

DISTORTED IMAGE

The treatment of women in the news was also found objectionable by several speakers.

A slide presentation by Women in Communications, Inc. illustrated "blatant examples" of how women are distorted, overlooked and belittled in newspapers.

Their conclusion was that an undistorted, complete picture of women is not all there in black and white.

One way of changing this, a

Women in politics are told they don't fit on women's pages because they are political, and they don't fit on political pages because they are women.

WICI representative said, would be to have more women among the decision makers in newsrooms.

Another means suggested was to encourage a change in the Associated Press Stylebook, a guide which most newspapers follow and is currently being revised, so that all newsmakers are treated the same regardless of sex or marital status.

But the objectionable portrayal of women, according to Sigrid Bathen, a Sacramento reporter, "will continue so long as media and community women, by tacit approval of inaction, allow it to continue."

Although newspapers are private businesses, Michele Grumet, of the Los Angeles Women's Coalition for Better

Broadcasting, noted that "theoretically, the air waves are public trust."

She explained that the FCC requires stations to survey community needs, meet those needs and provide equal opportunities for employment before they can receive their licenses which are renewed every three years.

Her group studied Los Angeles stations' efforts in these areas and found most of them lacking. While they negotiated and reached an agreement with two stations, they filed against four stations' renewal applications.

Although she recognized that citizen groups are handicapped by lack of money, she urged that they work toward making the broadcasting industry "our servant."

New Term Starts

At Wits End About Time

By ERMA BOMBECK

I heard of a couple the other day who, in their latter years, enjoy financial independence they never dreamed possible. However, due to maladies, their respective diets are limited to baby foods. Is that a kick in the head? It's the old saw — when you need it, you can't afford it... when you can afford, you can't enjoy it. We used to drive around on Sundays and look at houses built to accommodate a growing family. The only ones who could afford them were couples whose children had grown. The idea of all those empty bedrooms used to keep me awake at night. (I had a nail outside of ours with a card reading, "This number being served.") It's cruel to even bring it up, but these are just a few of the observations that are probably in your future and mine. When you no longer have to read a menu from the dollars and cents column, you'll have to read the parenthesis (20-minute wait may be too long). When your husband can afford to have his hair styled, he may have nothing left to rearrange. When you can afford to have your hair frosted, your teenagers may have streaked it for you. When you can afford to have a cleaning lady take the fingerprints off the walls, you may not have any fingerprints living at home. When your trees are big enough to hang a swing from, there will be no one young enough to use the swings. When you can afford sexy clothes, you'll have forgotten why you are wearing them. When you have time to get a tan, researchers will have discovered it makes you look older and is unhealthy. When you can afford to "get away from it all," it will take more effort to go than to stay. When you have more than a $5 balance in your checking account, you'll have an accountant to manage your affairs. When you have a complete set of matching glasses for eight, you'll only need two to set the table each night. When someone gets around to baking you a birthday cake, the candles will be a fire hazard. My big fear is that by the time I have time to explore who I really am and find my true identity, I'll discover I'm average. Better to live with baby food than that.

Ann Landers

Joys vs. Woes

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Will you please settle an argument? It's between three couples — all married. We were having a discussion the other night about the joys of marriage versus the woes. One man was telling about his bachelor brother — what a great life he is leading and how he envies the guy. (I felt sorry for the fellow's wife.) I think he convinced a few people that marriage was fine for women but not so good for men. Is bachelorhood all that terrific? What are the statistics? Perhaps with your medical connections and your friends at the Menninger Clinic you can provide some answers. Does staying single mean never having to say you're sorry? — UN-CONVINCED

DEAR UN: According to my medical friends and the experts in the field of mental health, married men fare much better than bachelors. Bachelors have more physical illnesses and more emotional breakdowns. They drink more and have a shorter life span. They are seven times more likely to commit crimes and 22 times more likely to be in prison or jail. Every happiness poll I have ever read indicates that single men are the unhappiest lot in the world.

DEAR ANN: My story is true and my life is just beginning. I only hope that my letter will encourage others to seek help and help themselves — as I did.

Three years ago I attempted suicide. I was terribly depressed and life had no meaning. I didn't love my husband to whom I had been married for several years. He was cruel and domineering. I was terrified of him because he slapped me and pushed me around.

Today I am divorced and becoming a real person. I have a good job, keep my home beautifully and have learned that I can do almost anything if I put my mind to it.

Counseling has been my backbone. I see a psychiatrist every week and have been in therapy for over a year. Progress comes an inch at a time because we must work very hard to change ourselves.

Counseling need not be expensive. Some counseling is free. United Fund agencies, Recovery, Inc., Catholic Family Services, Community Mental Health Centers and many others are available and eager to help.

If you suffer from nervousness, depression and mental anguish, please call your doctor, pastor, rabbi or priest, school principal, AA, Al-Anon, The Salvation Army, Community Mental Health Center or the United Fund. If they have no answers, ask them to recommend someone. The first step is the hardest. It takes courage.

I wake up each morning and smile in my mirror. Then I look out the window and smile at the world. It's so good to feel well and counseling has made the difference. I have a long way to go but at least I've begun. — YOU'LL KNOW ME BY MY SMILE

DEAR SMILE: Thanks for repeating something I've been saying for years.

MUSICAL THEATER GUILD OF NEWPORT BEACH: Mrs. Betty Moss is president. Assisting on her board are the Mmes. Joan Jordan, vice president; Janice W. Jones, secretary, and June Gleason, treasurer.

NIGUEL ART ASSOCIATION: New officers are Joan Schell, president; Joan Steppat, Kitty Coleman, Jody Bucknam and Mary Lou Briggs, vice presidents; Jack Franks, treasurer, and Minnie Carey and Jean Conn, secretaries.

JUNIORETTES: The teenage group of Huntington Beach Junior Woman's Club will be led by Ginnie Laursen, with Debbie Peterson, Kim Marsh, Suzanne Williams, Joyce Tate, Julie Mercurio, Debbie Gulley, Sheri Gurze and Cindy Wilson assisting on her board.

TIARA DE NINOS: Mrs. James Creath is president of the Huntington Beach Auxiliary of Children's Home Society. Serving on her board are the Mmes. F. C. Andrews, Gordon Vanderslice and Don Ellison, vice presidents; Edward Harris and Warren Christell, secretaries, and Ronald Miller, treasurer.

ENTERTAINMENT

Patriotic Movie Set By Huston

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — And now, from the man who brought you Humphrey Bogart and Katharine Hepburn in "The African Queen" and Marilyn Monroe and Clark Gable in "The Misfits," comes... George Washington and Benjamin Franklin in "Independence."
John Huston, who has written, directed, and acted in some of the best known movies of the past 30 years, has caught the Bicentennial spirit. The man who made movies with seven-figure budgets is making a 28-minute film about the birth of the nation here for a rock-bottom $380,000. And he, like the actors, isn't being paid.

'Moses' Hits TV

Lancaster Series Debuts Saturday

By JAY SHARBUTT
NEW YORK (AP) — Nearly two years and one war after filming began, the first hour of a six-hour Biblical epic called "Moses — the Lawgiver" finally airs on CBS-TV this Saturday night. It's worth watching.
It stars Burt Lancaster in the title role, although he's only seen in the opening and closing moments of the first installment, which deals with Moses' early years. Lancaster's son, William, plays young Moses.

NOW I confess most biblical epics give me a pain in the neck. Either they're too gaudy and filled with pomp and pageantry, or they're dull exercises in muttering the Old Testament through a new beard.

But judging from an advance look at the first two "Moses" segments, this effort may prove an exception, if only because of Marcello Gatti's brilliant photography and Gianfranco DeBasio's generally fine direction.

Neither episode escapes moments of stock pageantry, but even at that the stock is superior. At least attempts at authenticity are made, minus the blaring trumpets, harp-rumpling palace lackies and frenzied crowds of extras rushed in whenever Hollywood discovers the Bible.

THIS ITALIAN English production filmed in Rome and Israel — shooting in the latter locale was interrupted by the Yom Kippur war — is decidedly low key and matter of fact as it sets out to retell the familiar story of Moses, the people of Israel and the origin of the Ten Commandments.

Saturday's show, coauthored by Anthony Burgess and Vittorio Bonicelli, starts with quick glimpses of Moses' life, then proceeds directly to the arrival of the tribes of Israel in Egypt after famine in their native land.

Scenes of their enslavement, the Pharaoh's order that all male Israeli babies shall be put to death, and Moses' birth and survival are shown in relatively short sketches linked by quotations from the Book of Exodus, spoken off-screen by actor Richard Johnson.

Tonight's TV Highlights

KHJ (9) 7:30 — "The Reformer and the Redhead." Dick Powell and June Allyson star in this comedy from 1950 with David Wayne.

CBS (2) 9:00 — "One is a Lonely Number." A woman tries to make a new life after her divorce in this 1972 movie drama with Trish van Devere, Monte Markham, Janet Leigh and Malvyn Douglas.

NBC (4) 9:00 — "Cotton Comes to Harlem." Godfrey Cambridge and Raymond St. Jacques play a pair of Harlem police detectives in this 1970 comedy with Judy Pace, Redd Foxx and J.D. Cannon.

New Theater Forming

In the five years that have elapsed since the demise of the Rancho Community Players, there has been a complete absence of community theater in the El Toro-Mission Viejo area.

That gap is about to be filled by the Saddleback Valley Community Theater, a brand new group still in its formative stage which hopes to reintroduce amateur theater to this rapidly growing community.

An organizational meeting to sound out those who would respond to a sniff of greasepaint was held Monday evening, drawing about 15 people. A second session is scheduled for Friday, June 27, at 8 p.m. in the community room of People's Federal Savings and Loan in the Saddleback Valley Plaza on El Toro Road.

SPEARHEADING the return of community theater to the Saddleback Valley is Norma Cavallo, a transplanted New Jerseyite who majored in drama at New York University, worked in community theater on the East Coast and later studied theater at Saddleback College upon moving to the area three years ago.

"Our first meeting produced a lot of women but, unfortunately, not too many men," Mrs. Cavallo reported. "We're going to try to recruit more men for the second meeting."

The fledgling group hopes to inaugurate its first season with a production of Neil Simon's "Plaza Suite" in September on a stage yet to be obtained. Organizers of the theater currently are combing the schools in the area, hoping to find at least a temporary home.

THE LACK of a permanent facility was one of the things that toppled the Rancho Players in 1970 after only three seasons. The last year of that group saw three plays presented at as many different locations — and it's difficult for audiences to hit a moving target.

"This community has grown immensely since that time," Mrs. Cavallo points out, "and I think it's ready to support a community theater again."

Intermission
Tom Titus

Those in the Saddleback Valley who agree, and would like to become involved in community theater, can add their support by showing up next Friday at the second meeting of the Saddleback Valley Community Theater. Or they can obtain more information from Norma Cavallo at 586-7634.

BACKSTAGE — The Irvine Community Theater has canceled its scheduled closing performance Sunday for the comedy "Three Bags Full" . . . final performances will be given Friday and Saturday at 8:30 in the Golden West College Actor's Playbox Theater.

'Hero' Outmoded; It's 'Peace Hell'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sign of the times? Filmmaker-actor Fred Williamson has completed a movie about public apathy toward Vietnam War veterans, originally titled "The Hero." Williamson says that market research indicated the title lacked audience appeal, the public being turned off by war heroes.

The new title borrows from General Sherman: "Peace Is Hell."

PSA Given 6.5% Fare Hike Okay

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Pacific Southwest Airlines today was granted a 6.5 percent interim fare increase by the state Public Utilities Commission instead of the 16 percent PSA requested.

In a decision sharply critical of the airline's parent company, PSA, Inc., the PUC said its action will allow the airline a return of 10.1 percent, compared with the 2.1 percent on current fares.

The new fares, which will produce an additional $7 million a year more, will go into effect after five days notice to the public.

The Los Angeles-San Francisco fare will go from $20.75 to $22.10, San Diego-San Francisco from $29 to $30.90 and Los Angeles-Sacramento from $22.80 to $24.60.

IT TAKES KNOWLEDGE TO TREAT THE SICK

By TERRY GRANT, R.Ph.

Despite great advances in medical knowledge, there are still some people who depend on old fashioned self-treatments. Some let persons with no drug or medical training advise them what medicines to take.

When door-to-door peddlers or mail-order opportunists presume to tell you what to take when you are sick—be wise. In order to treat sickness a diagnosis of the cause is needed. No one but a physician has this knowledge.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.

Ryan May Be Out For Week

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Nolan Ryan likely is on the shelf and seldom-used Tony Solaita is on cloud nine.

Ryan, the ace of the California Angels, yielded four runs in the first inning Wednesday night in a 13-0 loss to the Kansas City Royals and had to leave in the third because of a groin injury.

The defeat was the third in a row for Ryan, who has tossed four no-hitters in his career, including one in his start just before the three-game losing streak started.

Solaita, who said he played "about my third game at first base this year," broke a Royals club record for runs scored in one game with five. He also hit two home runs, his sixth and seventh of the season, and a single and drove in four runs.

Ryan said he felt the injury to his right groin after throwing three pitches to Hal McRae starting the Royals' third. He may miss a pitching turn but won't know until Friday.

Ryan said of his defeat and the four-run uprising, started by George Brett with a one-out single:

"I've had trouble with my rhythm and control all year. Yeah, I guess it's been worse the last three games. I was having trouble getting my fast ball over the first inning. The four hits in the first were on three curves and a change.

"Right now, there is a burning sensation in my leg," said Ryan, who has lost three consecutive games. "I sort of know what to expect with this injury since I had one before.

"My leg hurts every time I try to put weight on it or turn. An infielder can come back from a groin muscle pull faster than a pitcher because of the way a pitcher has to pivot."

A spokesman for the Angels said the injury would be treated with ice and that the club should know by Friday whether Ryan will miss a turn in the pitching rotation or not.

Hooton May Use Sunglasses Next

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Burt Hooton says he just might wear sunglasses the next time he pitches. Dark ones.

The Los Angeles Dodgers right-hander Wednesday night pitched a three-hit, 4-0 victory over the Houston Astros for his sixth win without a loss at night.

But in day games — and his next start is scheduled Sunday afternoon in San Diego — he is 0-3.

"I don't care," said manager

The triumph, which enabled Los Angeles to conclude a 5-5 homestand, kept the Dodgers 2½ games behind first place Cincinnati in the National League West as they begin an 11-game trip tonight in San Diego.

The Dodgers' Doug Rau, 5-6, will attempt to snap a personal five-game losing streak when he faces ex-Brea High and Chapman College star Randy Jones, 9-3.

The Padres are the only club in the Western Division to hold an advantage on the Dodgers. San Diego has won three of the first five meetings with Los Angeles after winning only two of 18 last year.

Sports in Brief

Ex-SC Star Lynn Sizzles at Plate

DETROIT — Bleacherites threw golf balls at Fred Lynn the last time the Red Sox were in Tiger Stadium.

Monday night they threw green smoke bombs at the rookie Boston center fielder.

Wednesday night it was a little different.

Those beer-drinking, fun-loving hordes gave him a boisterous ovation, the kind rarely heard for the opposition in the historic old park. The cheering came when he took the field in the ninth inning.

Lynn, a former USC standout, had just hit a three-run homer to conclude one of the finest baseball performances ever in Detroit and in Red Sox history. He went 5-for-6, driving in 10 runs with three homers and a triple to lead the Sox to a 15-1 clubbing of the Tigers.

No Boston player had ever driven in more runs and only one American Leaguer — Tony Lazzeri of the New York Yankees with 11 on May 24, 1936 — ever knocked in more. The National League mark is 12 by James Bottomley of St. Louis, set Sept. 16, 1924.

Lynn's fantastic night thrust him into the league lead in runs-batted-in with 50, in slugging percentage with .640, and in total bases with 129.

Carnahan Ousted

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. — Scott Carnahan of UC Irvine was eliminated from the NCAA tennis championships Wednesday with a 4-6, 2-6 loss to Fred DeJesus of Michigan.

Nachand Advances

KALAMAZOO, Mich. — Jean Nachand is the lone survivor of the UC Irvine women's tennis team after advancing to the quarterfinals of the AIAW tournament here Wednesday.

Nachand defeated Terry Salgince of the University of Miami, 6-0, 6-2. Sue Ince, UC Irvine, lost to Elizabeth Pande of Stanford, 6-4, 1-6, 6-4.

In doubles play, the team of Ince and Lee Ann Fischer from UCI, dropped a match to Cathy Morton and Sylvia Vorrov of La Mar University, 6-3, 6-3, and were eliminated.

UCI is in eighth place in team standings with 11 points with Trinity College leading with 18.

Hole-in-one

MEDINAH, Ill. — Pat Fitzsimons, a golf pro from Salem, Ore. whose tour winnings last year were only $10,000, scored a hole-in-one on the 187-yard second hole and was four-under-par through seven holes as the 75th U.S. Open started today.

Although the rugged No. 3 course at Medinah Country Club still was soaked from four inches of rain since last weekend, the early starters in the field of 150 were not having much difficulty attacking par.

Goolagong Married

CANTERBURY, England — Australian tennis star Evonne Goolagong, 23, was married to English metal broker Roger Cawley at a registry office ceremony here today.

The ceremony came as a surprise. The couple had been reported planning to wed in Australia in January.

Furniss Breaks World Record; Babashoff 2nd

LONG BEACH — America's teenaged swimmers served quick notice to foreign athletes that they'll be tough in world competition and 18-year-old Bruce Furniss spelled it out with an international record.

In addition, Kathy Heddy, 17, lowered her American record in the women's 200-meter individual medley to 2:20.86.

Furniss, who graduated from Foothill High last week, won the men's 200-meter free in 1:50.89 Wednesday evening.

In the morning at this Belmont Plaza 50-meter pool, he had bettered the record with 1:51.41 as the five day AAU World Swimming Trials opened.

Tim Shaw of Long Beach, who will graduate from high school later this month, had held the record at 1:51.66 and equalled that mark in finishing second to Furniss.

"I could see Tim and I just went hard that final lap," Furniss said of his teammate. "I held back early because I didn't want to fade. I just had to go with myself and swim my own race."

Both Furniss and Shaw are listed today for the 400-meter freestyle with the men's 400 individual medley and 200-meter butterfly on their programs. The women compete in the 200 freestyle and 100 backstroke.

In an opening night surprise, Rick Colella of Seattle, a veteran at 23, won the men's 100 breaststroke, beating American and world record holder John Hencken of Santa Clara. Colella swam 1:05.86 with Hencken second and qualifying for the team at 1:06.10. The record holder went the distance in 1:03.88 last year.

Two also qualified in the men's 100 backstroke — John Murphy and Mel Nash. From the Gatorade Swim Club of Bloomington, Ind., the two are University of Indiana teammates. Murphy swam 57.83 and Nash 58.52. Bob Tierney of Dallas was a finger-length behind at 58.53.

Heddy held the American record at 2:21.05, until she broke the mark in the finals as she beat Fountain Valley's Shirley Babashoff, who also bested the previous record with 2:20.93. Babashoff swims for the Mission Viejo Nadadores.

Babashoff is America's best in the freestyle but also entered both medley events in these trials for the international competition at Cali, Colombia, July 18-27.

Tonight, Babashoff swims in the 200 free, Mission Viejo's Valerie Lee goes in the 200 fly and Brian Goodell, also of Mission Viejo, competes in the 400 free.

Marcia Morey, 19, of the Decatur, Ill. Swim club won the women's 100 breaststroke in 1:14.25 indicating in this event the U.S. has a long way to go. Cathy Carr set the American record of 1:13.58 in the Olympic Games of 1972 and Renate Vogel of East Germany holds the world mark at 1:12.28.

Kim Dunson of the Dallas Swim Club finished second and qualified for the team with a 1:15.50 clocking.

Two Huntington Beach swimmers fared well. Mike McIntyre was fourth in the 100-meter backstroke in 59.06 while former Golden West College standout Kevin Williams placed fifth in the 100-meter breaststroke in 1:07.49.

Women's 200-meter individual medley (two heats for U.S. team) — 1. Heddy, Central Jersey Aquatic, 2:20.86. 2. Babashoff, Mission Viejo, 2:20.93. 3. Franks, Wilmington, Del. Aquatics, 2:21.08. 4. Symons, Chico, Aqua-Jets, 2:22.10. 5. Teeters, Jacksonville, Fla., 2:23.68. 6. Brown, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., 2:24.60.

Men's 200-meter free (top three qualify) — 1. B. Furniss, Santa Ana, 1:50.89 (better world record 1:51.41). 2. Shaw, 1974, and 1:51.41. 3. Shaw, Long Beach, 1:51.66. 4. Backhaus, Marin Aquatic Club, 1:53.02. 5. Montgomery, Madison, Wis., 1:53.46. 6. McDonnell, Ladera Oaks, Calif., 1:53.47. 7. Hickox, Bloomington, Ind., 1:54.08.

Meyers' Dad Was Star

La Habran Started for Marquette in 40s

By ED BURGART
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Dave may be the richest of the Meyers to play basketball in Milwaukee, but he won't be the first.

His father, Robert Meyers—manager of a department store in Covina—was a starter for Marquette during the 1940s and prepped at Pulaski High in Milwaukee.

Of course, Robert didn't command the attention that Dave did at UCLA the past three years, and wasn't offered a reported $1.5 million for five years of pro ball by the Milwaukee Bucks.

Nevertheless, Robert—a resident of La Habra—had his share of thrills.

"Marquette was 13th in the nation my senior year," Meyers said Tuesday. "and Ken Wisner, the national high jump champion then, was our center."

And another player on that team was Tex Winter, who coached at Houston in the NBA and at Washington State.

At 6-0, 155 pounds, Meyers played guard and was not a star like his son, Dave, who was an All-American at UCLA this past year.

"I wasn't much of a scorer," he recalls. "My assignment was primarily defense. I would take the top scorer, and my coach, Bill Chandler, would say, 'if you can hold a guy averaging 20 points to 10, that's like 10 points you've scored.'"

Because of his offensive inability, Robert wasn't actively recruited when he graduated from Marquette with a bachelor's degree in history in 1946.

ROBERT MEYERS

But he did play for an AAU team the following year in San Diego, where he spent his honeymoon with Patricia.

And he continued to play pick-up games until he was 44.

"There was a YMCA across the street from a Sears I worked at in Chicago," says Meyers, "and instead of eating at lunchtime, I would play basketball. It was strictly pick-up, but the games were quite physical. I really enjoyed them."

He still enjoys basketball, although he sees a big difference in the game today.

"There were no seven-foot players when I played," Robert says. "The size, agility and ability of players have improved so much."

And the 55-year-old Meyers foresees a major change in professional basketball by the time Dave is hopefully in his sixth or seventh year.

"I have an interesting theory," he says. "I think if the players get bigger, the dimensions of the court will have to be changed. I honestly think that in eight years, the guards are going to be 6-8."

While he has a downstairs office at Sears, you would think you were in a sports library, since pictures of David cover his paneled walls.

And David Meyers is very much a part of Robert Meyers' vocabulary, particularly Dave's future in pro ball.

Dave and Robert spent many days together negotiating Dave's contract, which the senior Meyers calls a good one.

"And no, I don't think players are overpaid today," he says. "I just don't think the average layman understands contracts. Many are longterm and include such items as insurance clauses. There are a lot of ramifications."

Robert was a territorial merchandise manager for six years and didn't go into the negotiations completely blind.

"We had a dozen meetings and we talked to some guys twice," Robert says. "We talked to eight negotiators between June 2 and 12th."

Practically all of Meyers' 11 children are athletically inclined, which is no big surprise.

"The family has been interested in sports because of us," Robert says. "My wife played basketball in college too. I have a philosophy that if kids have a healthy interest in athletics, then their minds and bodies will be in condition to prepare them for life."

A carnival of golf will be staged at Shorecliffs Golf Club in San Clemente on Friday, June 27 with all proceeds going to the South Coast Area Boys Club for its building program.

The carnival is being staged by the San Clemente Dons as a community service project.

The unique format of the tournament has been arranged to make it possible for all golfers to compete—men and women, juniors and seniors with or without SCGA handicaps.

Competition will be a scramble where all four players in each foursome hit from the same spot, selecting their best shot of the four and continuing from that point.

Scoring will be on a team basis only with additional fun activities and special competition arranged on each hole by community service organizations.

Listed among the various competitions are longest drives, most accurate drives, closest to the pin shots, birdies, eagles and other unique and surprise events.

Entry blanks and further information are available at the Chamber of Commerce or at any of the six area pro shops. For further information, call 492-1131.

Charlie Brumfield of San Diego will be favored in this weekend's second annual national outdoor three-wall racquetball championships at Orange Coast College.

Competition will be held in seven divisions with action beginning Friday morning and concluding Sunday afternoon.

Admission is $2 per day with three-day passes available for $5. Proceeds from the tourney will be used to install outdoor lighting on the OCC racquetball courts.

Brumfield, who won the OCC tourney last year, recently captured the U.S. men's pro singles crown. Brumfield, a lawyer, defeated San Diego's Steve Serot in the St. Louis four-wall tourney. Serot was also on the losing end at OCC last summer.

Brumfield and Dr. Bud Muehleisen are defending champions in the open doubles division, defeating Orange Coast College's Barry Wallace and Bob Wetzel in the finals last year. Wallace is the tourney originator and director.

Tim Wallach of University High, Dave Schmidt of Mission Viejo and Don Fowler of Dana Hills have been named to the CIF 2-A baseball second team, it was announced today.

A third baseman, Wallach hit .413 for University to lead the South Coast League in batting.

Schmidt, a catcher who was signed last week by the Boston Red Sox, helped pace Mission Viejo to the South Coast title with a .373 average. He is also considered a good fielder.

Fowler used his good fast ball and effective slider to record a 9-4 record for Dana Hills. He signed a contract last week with the Philadelphia Phillies.

The three Orange Coast area athletes, along with the rest of the first and second team players, will be honored July 6 at Dodger Stadium before the game between the Dodgers and the San Francisco Giants.

Bob Cochran, a senior pitcher from Royal Oak, was selected 2-A player of the year. He had a 10-3 record and paced his team to the 2-A championship.

Fountain Valley scored 21 runs in the first inning, and its lineup erupted to hit six doubles and seven triples. Outfielder Vince Bienek had one double, one triple and drove in six runs while going four-for-five.

Albacore Hitting in Area

Albacore fishing has taken over at all three Orange Coast area landings with daily boats making the long haul to the 60-mile bank off the east end of San Clemente Island.

"The biggest news right now is albacore," a spokesman for Art's Landing out of Newport Beach reports. "We've been going out for several days and have been averaging from 30 to 40 fish daily."

The Channel Isle leaves at 10 p.m. and returns around 8 the following night, a trip of between 65 to 100 miles taking 22 hours. Cost per passenger, including bunks, is $28.

The Channel Isle is licensed for 50 passengers but landing spokesmen say it will take no more than 25 for the albacore runs. Reservations are available by calling 675-0550.

Davey's Locker out of the Balboa Pavilion will send its first boat to the albacore territory on Saturday night and is hoping for 40 passengers.

The boat will leave at midnight and return between 5 and 7 Sunday evening. Cost is $28 and bunks are included. For reservations, call 673-1434.

Dana Wharf sent out an albacore boat Tuesday and picked up 21 fish for 12 passengers. Regular runs begin tonight at 11 on the Sea Horse with a maximum of 48 passengers at $28 each.

The fish brought in Tuesday evening were between eight and 12 pounds. The boat returns between 6 and 8 each evening. For reservations, call 831-1850.

Don Hansen, landing manager at Dana Wharf, says indications are for an outstanding albacore season this year.

"Water temperatures locally are 60 degrees, low for this time of year, but excellent to attract longfins. There is also plenty of bait, anchovies, a few miles out."

Local fishing remains about the same with small rock cod, bass, sheepshead, sculpin and other bottom fish being taken. Bonito and barracuda are expected with warming water temperatures.

Barber Returns $6,000

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—"There was no question about keeping the money," said barber Lambros D. Almond after he gave authorities $6,000 he found along a road here.

Almond said he and his wife were driving in nearby Lansing when he spotted a canvas moneybag at the side of the road and decided to stop.

He opened the bag and discovered $1,800 in cash and $4,200 in checks made out to a Holiday Inn. He reported the find to state police and turned over the money.

George Kurz, the manager of the local Holiday Inn, said he had placed the bag atop his auto momentarily just before going out to deposit the funds at a bank, then left without retrieving the bag.

He said that when he realized he had left the bag on the top of the car, he retraced his route. He reported the loss to authorities when he could not find the bag.

"I could have used it but it wasn't mine to keep," said Almond. "Everything I get I work for."

Dentists Said Suicide Prone

LAS VEGAS (UPI)—Dentists are driven to kill themselves because their patients hate and fear them, giving dentists the highest suicide rate of any profession, a psychologist told a convention of dentists.

"Dentists are trained basically to be technicians and work with tools," said Dr. Ken Olsson.

"When they graduate, they find out those teeth are connected with people's emotions," he said. "Dentists go to work to find out people hate dentists, and as a result dentists have the highest suicide rate among any profession."

Modern advances, such as pain-killing drugs and high-speed drills, are helping decrease fear of the dentist's chair, he said, and thus ease the psychiatric burdens of the tooth menders.

Olsson, of Scottsdale, Ariz., addressed the convention of the American Society for Preventive Dentistry.

Newspaper Says

Russ Monitor U.S. Phones

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—Soviet officials are believed to be using space satellites or antennas atop the Russian Embassy in Washington to monitor thousands of long-distance telephone calls in the United States each year, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch reports.

In a story written by its Washington correspondent, James Deakin, the Post quoted what it called government sources as saying the monitoring is similar to what is being done by American intelligence agencies in the Soviet Union.

However, the newspaper said, the American effort has not been as successful as the Soviet monitoring because the Russian telephone system is less sophisticated than the U.S. system.

THE NEWSPAPER said it learned of the telephone surveillance after release of the Rockefeller Commission report on activities of the Central Intelligence Agency. The newspaper said the Senate Committee investigating the CIA plans to investigate whether the reported telephone monitoring is a threat to U.S. security.

The newspaper quoted the commission report as saying, "Americans have a right to be uneasy if not seriously disturbed at the real possibility that their personal and business activities which they discuss freely over the telephone could be recorded and analyzed by agents of foreign powers."

THE POST REPORT added that Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller was believed to have written that statement personally. The newspaper said that although the commission report referred to telephone surveillance by "communist countries," it was understood that Russia was the only Communist nation with the technological ability to monitor U.S. telephone calls.

Government sources told the Post Russian agents could intercept long distance calls with a dish antenna on the roof of the Soviet Embassy in Washington. The newspaper also said the Russians have been trying to build a new embassy on the site of the old Mount Alto Veterans' Hospital, one of the highest elevations in the District of Columbia.

Point Reyes Area in Bill

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rep. John Burton (D-Calif.), has introduced legislation designating the 64,900-acre Point Reyes National Seashore as a natural area and portions of it as wilderness areas. Nearly 60 percent or 38,700 acres would be called wilderness land and the seashore would be classified as a natural rather than recreation area of the national parks system.

Burton said Wednesday the classifications may mean the difference between preserving the natural scenic values of the area, or permitting it to be opened up to an invasion of additional highways, bulldozers and commercial development.

Hospital Staff

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Doctors at Martin Luther King Hospital, who staged a walkout last month over patient care conditions, are apparently satisfied with the new plan for a bigger staff.

County supervisors approved by a 4-1 vote Wednesday a $5.5 million program that will create 1,082 new positions at three county hospitals, including the King facility.

Sterilized Women

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Doctors and nurses at County-USC Medical Center have tricked and pressured Mexican-American women into being sterilized, 10 women say in a class action suit.

The suit filed Wednesday in U.S. District Court seeks to force state and federal authorities to make hospitals explain sterilization fairly and in the language the woman speaks.

Embezzle Charge

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A parimutuel employes union leader, arrested in Florida by the FBI, is to be arraigned here on charges of embezzling $268,000 in union funds.

Authorities said Wednesday Peter Walter Dowling, formerly of Thousand Oaks, allegedly embezzled the money from Parimutuel Employes Guild of California, Local 280, AFL-CIO.

Collective Bargaining

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A sponsor of Gov. Edmund Brown Jr.'s collective bargaining plan for 1.3 million public employes predicts approval by the legislature — but not until August.

Senate hearings on the 52-page proposal got off to a slow and argumentative start Wednesday with two hours of debate over technical amendments limited to bargaining units on university and college campuses.

Bank Rates

Statistician Backs 'Leak'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Carl Mintz says he felt he did nothing wrong in leaking a list of bank interest rates to a consumer magazine. But the FBI was hot on his trail, so he negotiated a deal with the Justice Department and resigned.

Mintz, who used to work as a statistician for the Federal Reserve Board, told his story Wednesday to Sen. Edward Kennedy (D-Mass.), at a hearing on Kennedy's bill to prohibit reprisals against government workers who "disclose information which is required by law to be disclosed by agencies."

In February, Mintz provided Consumer Reports with a list showing how much interest banks in 11 cities charge on auto, consumer and personal loans. He said he felt he had done nothing wrong since anyone could walk into the banks and get the same information.

Social Security

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two former Social Security officials are proposing that Social Security taxes be sharply increased within 18 months to keep the system on a sound financial footing.

But Robert M. Ball, commissioner of Social Security from 1962 to 1973, and Robert Myers, chief actuary for the system for many years, disagree over what type of increase is called for.

Democrats Meet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dissident freshmen Democrats reports they have reached an "understanding" with the House leadership and are ready to unite behind speaker Carl Albert and fight a "veto-prone" President Ford.

About 35 of the 75 freshmen met for two hours Wednesday with Albert and the rest of the leadership, and the two factions emerged announcing harmony.

Rail Strike Seen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A strike by about 131,000 railroad workers could come Monday unless an impasse in contract negotiations is resolved, says the president of the Brotherhood of Railway, Airline and Steamship clerks.

C. L. Dennis said Wednesday talks with the National Railway Labor Conference representing the rail companies were stalled, and he has ordered preparations for a strike at 12:01 a.m. Monday.

Food Ransom

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — A big, international grain company advertised today that it is distributing $1.2 million worth of goods to the poor on behalf of two kidnapped executives, but police intercepted a large part of the apparent ransom.

The ads by the Bunge and Born company said 36 million pesos worth of goods were being distributed "for the benefit of Jorge and Juan Born," who were kidnapped Sept. 19 by the left-wing Montanero guerrillas.

County Employee Pay Talks Break Off

By GARY GRANVILLE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Negotiations of a 1975-76 wage-fringe benefit package for Orange County's 11,000 employees broke off Wednesday without a settlement being reached.

County negotiators today said their offer of the package that would cost taxpayers about $11 million was their final offer.

Simultaneously, spokesmen for the Orange County Employees Association said the county's proposal was not acceptable.

They said the association's 9,700 members will be polled to determine the employees next move.

For now, negotiations are at an end and there is no plan to resume them, according to Bert Scott, the county's personnel director.

Scott said the offer made to the association included pay raises ranging from 2 1/4 percent to five percent.

He also said the county as part of the fringe benefit package offered to pick up a higher portion of the employees' group insurance cost and to contribute more to their retirement fund.

The personnel director also noted that the county agreed to accept either a multi-year or single year contract, earlier a point of sharp disagreement between the negotiators.

Scott claimed the county's final offer has the effect of putting more take home pay into the employees' pockets than is indicated by the salary hikes because of the county's willingness to participate more deeply in fringe benefit costs.

However, OCEA's Executive Director John Sawyer said employee representatives who met Wednesday night were "indignant with the county's offer and found no part of it acceptable."

Scott and OCEA's negotiators are holding out for an 11 1/4 percent combined increase in wages and fringe benefits.

What the OCEA negotiators are proposing is a 7 1/4 percent average salary hike and a 4 1/2 percent increase in benefits.

Therefore, what separates the two is a 2.9 percent overall package increase, or roughly $3.5 million.

At the close of the meeting, the representatives agreed to informally poll OCEA members, possibly by a written ballot.

Water Rate Hike Ordered

A 22 percent increase in water rates and an end to quantity discounts for users of large amounts of water have been ordered by directors of the Laguna Beach County Water District.

Directors took the actions during approval of a $792,300 operating budget for fiscal 1976. The rate and billing changes become effective July 1.

The actions mean that all water district customers will pay 28 cents for each 100 cubic feet (750 gallons) of water used.

Residential customers this year paid 23 cents for each 100 cubic feet. Bulk consumers, such as the school district and hotels and motels, paid even less.

The average residential water bill is expected to rise to $14.21 bimonthly. It currently is $11.68.

Elimination of the quantity discount is expected to bring an additional $12,000 in revenue to the district during fiscal 1976, said Joseph R. Sweany, general manager.

Sweany said the trend of utilities today is to charge a single rate for all consumers. He noted that the federal Environmental Protection Agency soon will mandate a single rate structure for water districts.

The nickel-increase in water rates, he said, was recommended because of increased operating costs. The district's wholesale rate for water from the Metropolitan Water District will

22 DA Investigators In Sheriff's Domain

Nudity Banned In City

With barely a shred of disagreement, nudism was banned by an urgency ordinance of the San Clemente City Council Wednesday.

By doing so, San Clemente has followed the lead of Laguna Beach and Orange County which previously have banned buff bathers from their beaches.

Laguna and County beaches have at times been subjected to nudists, but, San Clemente has not had a serious problem, city officials said.

The new city law makes it illegal for persons to appear nude on beaches, parks and places open to public view. It does not apply to children 10 years of age and younger.

As an urgency law, the measure becomes effective immediately rather than going into effect 30 days after enactment as with regular city legislation.

Councilman Pat Lane voted no and indicated since no problem existed currently, the council could wait to pass the nudist ban if it ever did become a problem.

The state legislature had changed the penal code section dealing with offensive conduct, and courts have decreed that lewd conduct statutes may not be used against persons who are merely nude. Coastal areas found themselves without ways of legally requiring nudists to cover up.

Many cities found they had laws to prevent toplessness, bottomlessness and total nudity in taverns and entertainment spots, but nothing to cover nudity on the beaches.

The city law now bans it there too.

Fuming DA To File Suit

District Attorney Cecil Hicks today said he will file a lawsuit to halt the transfer of 22 of his investigators to the sheriff's department and call for a Grand Jury investigation into the Board of Supervisors' action.

A FEW MINUTES before Hicks made his announcement, supervisors voted unanimously to transfer the 22 investigators and their clerical staff to the sheriff's department.

Hicks charged the move was prompted by a shadow government that controls the Board of Supervisors.

The only person he named as part of the so-called shadow government was prominent political figure Dr. Louis Cella. He refused to identify any other purported members but hinted that Supervisor Robert Battin is part of the secret clique.

THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY said that he has refused to use his office to play into the hands of the power structure that "seeks to emasculate the district attorney's office and its ability to dig out fraud and political corruption."

He went on to vow to continue to investigate and prosecute so-called political cronies who violate the law.

Hicks also said that he had been told that at a recent political fund raising cocktail party, Cella had boasted of the pending move to reduce the district attorney's investigative staff.

To Probe Non-city Crimes

Despite protests from District Attorney Cecil Hicks, Orange County supervisors transferred 22 district attorney's investigators to the sheriff's department today.

The board's action represented an indication of support for Sheriff Brad Gates in his move to bring the investigation of crimes in unincorporated areas into his department.

Gates argued that the sheriff's office should not prosecute cases it investigates and the district attorney should not investigate cases he prosecutes.

Hicks argued the investigators taken from his staff are needed by him to carry out his mandate to investigate certain kinds of crime in both incorporated and unincorporated areas.

Specifically, he noted, a mandate to combat organized crime and fraud wherever it exists.

He also said the services of his office were needed by city police in the investigation of homicides and certain narcotic cases that cross city boundaries.

He pointed out to the supervisors that their move, which came during a budget hearing, did not involve the spending of money but rather simply the transfer of personnel from one department to another.

His words, however, fell on deaf ears as the board voted unanimously to transfer the 22 investigators, an adequate clerical staff and necessary vehicles from the district attorney's office to the sheriff's office.

Supervisor Robert Battin who made the motion for the transfer, said his judgment was based on the continuing effort to consolidate departmental functions as well as philosophical issues.

"I don't believe justice is served when investigators direct their work at proving a case against a defendant rather than seeking objective information," Battin said.

"I believe the citizens of Orange County will receive more even-handed justice if there is a proper division of power," he added.

A second part of the board's unanimous action was to direct

Residential development on 213 acres of ridgetop, hillside and canyon land in South Laguna was approved in slimmed-down form Wednesday by Orange County supervisors.

More than 500 condominium units can now be built on the property but supervisors slashed out a five-acre part of James Baldwin's "Sea Village" project that was proposed for construction of 15 single family homes in the $200,000 price range.

Opponents of the development plans, mostly the South Laguna Civic Association and the Laguna Greenbelt, objected to the single-family portion because it would be on a ridge overlooking scenic Aliso Creek Canyon.

The board action culminates nearly two years of meetings and public hearings on the development plans for the hills, deemed ecologically sensitive by environmental groups.

Baldwin's original plans called for a far more extensive development that would have left only about a third of the land in natural open space.

By the time Sea Village received the board's nod Wednesday, more than 135 acres of the

'To Go' Restaurant Litter Tax Rejected

A proposed ordinance to require owners of take-out restaurants to pay an anti-litter tax was thrown out Wednesday night by the Laguna Beach City Council.

At the same time, council members said litter on the Art Colony landscape is a serious problem and ordered short and long-term solutions to it.

The proposed ordinance would have affected 33 businesses, primarily take-out food stands, within the city. It would have required owners to pay $7 per $1,000 of take-out trade income. That take-out income was defined as 60 percent of gross income.

Mayor Roy Holm said the proposed ordinance was fraught with inequities.

It would not, for example, tax supermarkets which generate a lot of litter, Holm said.

"We need a positive incentive," said Councilman Charlton Boyd. "If given a negative incentive, they (businessmen) will respond negatively."

Boyd recommended the council turn the matter over to the city Economic Committee for long-term solutions.

Councilwoman Phyllis Sweeney suggested that take-out restaurant owners and other businessmen examine the litter problem to draw up short-term solutions. She nominated Harry Moon, owner of the Cottage Restaurant to head up the committee.

The full council accepted both recommendations.

Moon today said the first meeting of the ad hoc group will be held next week. He said owners of take out restaurants, liquor stores, bakeries and grocery stores will be invited to attend.

The discussion was highlighted with various views of the litter problem from council watchers.

Bruce Hopping renewed a suggestion made many months ago that the city hold a litter lottery. Persons would receive a lottery ticket in exchange for trash they collected.

Harry Howard, colorful downtown landowner, said more trash cans weren't the answer. "Trash cans are as ugly as the trash. Why not hire kids to go around with sacks and pick up trash?" Howard asked.

Moon said there weren't enough trash cans on the beach. He said the city should put large dumpster bins at various locations to absorb the large amount of litter created by beachgoers.

"It's a subject that no one knows anything about, but everyone's an expert," Mayor Holm concluded.

Six Escape Home Blaze

Six people escaped unharmed early today when faulty electrical wiring touched off a blaze which resulted in $10,000 damage to a Capistrano Beach home.

Elizabeth Hillstrom was studying in the 34801 Camino Capistrano residence just after midnight when the smell of smoke roused her from her books. She rushed to alert other members of the family, some of whom were asleep in their beds.

Firemen were summoned from San Juan, Doheny and Laguna Niguel fire stations. In the 11 minutes needed to put out the flames, the blaze had been confined to a workshop and den attached to the home.

San Clementean's Home Burglarized

A burglar who slipped into the home of Clarke H. Wales, 211 Via Ballena, San Clemente, made off with a $250 sterling watch, $32 in quarters and half dollar coins and a $35 pair of new boat shoes, in a crime reported Wednesday.

Police believe the thief entered through a laundry room window while the home was unoccupied Tuesday evening.

OC Gets 850-job Funding

Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Orange Coast cities and communities will get enough special federal summer youth program money to hire more than 850 young people in public service jobs starting this week.

County Manpower Commission Executive Director Robert Nelson said the entire county is entitled to $1.82 million to provide jobs for about 3,000 teenagers.

Nelson said applications for the jobs, which include such things as recreation counselors, are already being taken and most will be filled on a first-come, first-served basis, primarily by disadvantaged youngsters.

All but two Orange Coast communities will conduct hiring through county government's personnel department. The number each area will be able to hire is based on a complex mathematical formula that will be applied during the hiring process.

The county will administer hiring for the cities of Fountain Valley, Irvine, Costa Mesa, Newport Beach, Laguna Beach, San Juan Capistrano and San Clemente and for the entire unincorporated area.

Prospective applicants for jobs in those communities should call Luis Caudillo in the county human services division at 834-2835 for information.

In Huntington Beach, which will hire its own summer employees with a $108,000 share of the federal money, applicants can call the city manpower office at 535-0252 and talk to either Bob Cunningham or Russ Guarneri.

Roughly 147 jobs will open in Huntington Beach under the program, Nelson said.

Seal Beach will also conduct its own hiring of 16 youngsters with a $20,600 share of the money. Applicants can contact Bill Little at (213) 431-2527.

The total county government share of the job money is about $525,000, which will cover about 688 summer jobs, Nelson said, noting about 600 would go to coastal communities.

The job program was made possible when President Gerald Ford this week signed an $800 million appropriations bill.

parcel had been placed into open space that will be permanently dedicated to the county.

The only construction that will be permitted is on the southeastern portion of the land, generally adjacent to Pacific Island Village in Laguna Niguel.

Elimination of the single-family home tract of the project was strongly favored by residents and environmentalists, who said the ridge it was to occupy provided a natural link between Aliso Creek's greenbelt and the open space around Sea Village.

Though they had already heard 90 minutes of public testimony on Baldwin's plans two weeks ago, supervisors heard another hour of commentary from the audience.

Landscape architect Fred Lang and South Laguna resident Dick Clark urged the board to delay for at least a year any approval of development on the property.

They said it would be possible to get foundation money to buy all or most of the land to preserve as permanent open space.

Federal Aid Used to Plug Budget Holes

Orange County supervisors continued to hammer away at record county spending Wednesday by directing more federal revenue sharing funds to projects that would otherwise be paid for from county property tax funds.

Following a pattern they established Tuesday when $3.9 million worth of revenue sharing funds were diverted to pay for capital projects, the board threw in another $3 million to lighten county taxpayers' burden by a total of $6.9 million.

At the same time the supervisors kept the spending lid on by continuing a hiring freeze they invoked last March.

So far, according to county Personnel Director Bert Scott, the hiring freeze has saved $2 million.

No sooner had he spoken those words than the board decided unanimously to keep the hiring reins in its hands.

That means county department heads wanting to fill vacancies will continue to have to ask the supervisors before the vacancies can be filled.

As the supervisors continued their budget hearings, the pending county property tax rate dropped to $1.66 per $100 worth of assessed value, a five-cent increase over the current rate.

But not yet applied to the budget are pending salary and fringe benefit increases for Orange County's 11,000 employees, a package that could add as much as 20 cents to the tax rate.

The supervisors also set their own office budgets for the coming fiscal year. Those budgets range from Supervisor Ralph Clark's $117,000 low to Supervisor Laurence Schmit's $131,754 high.

developers for each home constructed to insure that warranty work would actually be carried out.

Attorney Roger Grable argued that developers don't have that much money to tie up for such a long period of time and that bonding companies do not make bonds available for such purposes.

"It would put us out of business," he said.

Grable further suggested that homebuyers already have "implied warranty" as established by California court cases and that this warranty is broader than that being proposed in the San Juan ordinance.

However, Councilman Yvon Heckscher stressed the need for more than just the developer's assurance that faulty workmanship and materials would be corrected.

He said the bond assures some kind of payment if the developer fails to honor the warranty's terms. Under the present system dissatisfied homeowners would have to go to court but when faced with the prospect of costly litigation, they "simply give up."

Construction industry officials also pointed out that San Juan may be pre-empted by the state in its legislative effort and that a national program of homebuyer warranty would soon be available in California.

"But we want it now," exclaimed Councilman John Sweeney who said participation in a voluntary program won't come unless "there is some prodding" of the building industry.

Sweeney, who spearheaded the drive to adopt the warranty pro-

Although Sweeney enjoyed the support of Heckscher, Mayor James K. Weathers and Councilman Doug Nash in launching some kind of homebuyer protection legislation, Councilman Roy Byrnes expressed reservations.

Dr. Byrnes said before the city imposes a mandatory program, it should be proven that private industry had failed to provide it voluntarily. Mystery Death Probed

San Bernardino County Coroner's deputies today are trying to determine a cause in the mystery death of Newport Beach insurance company chief Patrick Koenigsburger, found dead Tuesday in a rented Lake Arrowhead cabin.

The owner of King Insurance Company, 4600 Campus Drive, was discovered by the cabin's landlord, who finally went to check after he failed to return the key on schedule Sunday.

A coroner's deputy said Mr. Koenigsburger apparently died in his sleep Saturday night, but so far there is absolutely no clue to what killed him.

Toxicological tests are being conducted on the remains of the 54-year-old insurance executive, but it will be three to six weeks before results will be known.

No signs of foul play nor evidence of possible suicide were found and investigators said they have uncovered no indication of any serious illness in the past or present.

Investigators said Mr. Koenigsburger rented the cabin for the weekend.

Remains were taken to Groves Mortuary in San Bernardino where a spokesman said Mr. Koenigsburger's children made arrangements Wednesday morning with a stipulation of no funeral.

Survivors of the victim, who lived at 1600 Campus Drive, Newport Beach, include a son, Patrick of San Diego; daughters, Mrs. Sally Jess of Los Angeles and Mrs. Linda Broderick of Sebastopol, and a brother, Charles of Coronado.

jump to $67 from $63 an acre-foot. An acre-foot is the equivalent of water a foot deep over an acre of land.

Material costs are up 15 to 25 percent; labor, up 7.5 percent, and electricity to drive water pumps, 60 percent, Sweeney said.

There will be no increase in the district's rate of 40 cents per $100 assessed valuation, although taxpayers are likely to pay more because of increases in assessed valuation.

In addition to the operating budget, directors approved a $352,000 capital improvements budget, including $182,000 toward construction of the Laguna-Pacific water main under Pacific Coast Highway. Cost of the project is being shared by the Laguna water district and the South Coast County Water District in South Laguna.

The overall budget also includes $460,000 in various reserves — $200,000 for emergencies and catastrophes, $110,000 salted away against future water rate hikes and a $150,000 capital improvements reserve.

Quake Panic Italians Flee Buildings

NAPLES, Italy (UPI) — Two earthquake shocks at midday today caused panic in cities and towns from Naples to the heel of the Italian boot.

No injuries or serious damage was reported but authorities said the shocks cracked walls in houses and public buildings, including Naples' new hospital and the baroque chapels of Troia's 18th-century Romanesque Basilica.

The worst scenes of panic were in hospitals and in schools, where final examinations were halted. At Avellino, 40 inmates of the local jail interrupted a court hearing with their screams.

Residents of Naples, Bari and smaller communities rushed into the streets by the hundreds after the first shock. Fire departments were flooded with telephone calls from people wanting to know if it was safe to return to their apartments. Brief electrical outages were reported in Caserta and parts of Puglia.

The Prato Seismological Observatory reported the shocks, part of a single undulating tremor, measured 6 to 7 on the 12-grade Mercalli scale at their epicenter around the Gargano peninsula.

The Vesuviano Observatory said the intensity was 4 to 5 on the open-ended Richter Scale in Naples.

CIA Plans New Try For Russian Sub

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Central Intelligence Agency plans to make a new attempt to raise the entire Russian submarine sunk in the Pacific, Business Week Magazine reports today.

In California, speculation about activity by the spy ship increased when it recently went on a training exercise off Catalina Island.

Lawn Bowlers Exempt From Meter Hikes

Heisler Park lawn bowlers and shuffleboarders Wednesday night won a reprieve from 10-cent per hour parking meter rate increases along Cliff Drive in Laguna Beach.

City council members approved a trial plan to sell members of the two organizations colored parking tokens at 50 percent of par value.

Thus, the sportsmen will be able to park in metered stalls near the park for the old rate of 10 cents per hour while all others must pay the new fee of 20 cents.

The city's lawn bowling greens and shuffleboard courts are located in the oceanfront park.

The council's main concern was that the tokens may appear in other meters around town.

But James R. Cavitt, a member of the Laguna Beach Lawn Bowling Club, promised that his group would reimburse the city two to one for any colored tokens found where they weren't supposed to be.

"You must have sterling members," observed Councilman Jon Brand.

Lawn bowling and shuffleboard club spokesmen warned that the rate increase, if applied, would be a financial hardship on many players. All are senior citizens.

They also objected to a 20-cent per hour rate along Cliff Drive while meter rates at several other locations in town are only 10 cents per hour.

"Any day now the Glomar Explorer, the mysterious salvage ship that raised only part of a Russian submarine sunk in the Pacific, will leave its berth at Pier E in Long Beach, for another try," the magazine reported in its current issue.

The magazine said the ship is not owned by Howard Hughes' Summa Corp., which supposedly built it for deep sea mining.

"It was built and outfitted by the Sun Shipbuilding & Dry Dock Co., of Chester, Pa., for the government at a cost of about $125 million, and it is still federal property," the article said.

Business Week said there were two full crews working on the salvage ship to ready it for the job. Members are reported to have signed secrecy agreements, one with Glomar Marine Inc., which operates the vessel and does the salvage work, and the other with the CIA.

Business Week said CIA officials "have privately confirmed to some members of Congress that the government owns the ship and that Summa has always acted as a cover for the operation."

"The old man (Hughes) was aware of it and gave his blessing," Business Week quotes a former Summa employee as saying. "It was a gorgeous cover."

The association's executive director said he believes it is unlikely that the employees would decide to strike. But, he added, there are some members who definitely favor a walkout.

It is expected that the Board of Supervisors will incorporate what Scott termed the county's final offer into the pending 1975-76 budget.

While Scott refused to call the county's proposal an ultimatum, he did say that as far as he is concerned there is more room for bargaining.

12,000 Deaths Annually Flame-proofing Fabrics a Must

By SYLVIA PORTER

Q: What ordinary, round-the-house product to which all of us are exposed every day, no matter what we do, takes more lives yearly than polio before development of the Salk vaccine?

A: Flammable fabrics. While most of us do not fully appreciate it, virtually all fabrics that surround us—in clothing, bedding, household furnishings—will burn readily. Untreated clothing often ignites fully in 20 to 30 seconds! The extent of the injuries and deaths from burning fabrics is finally emerging as a result of studies by the Consumer Product Safety Commission's National Electronic Injury Surveillance System and its U.S. Household Fire Experience survey.

—OF AN ESTIMATED 5.5 million fires each year, flammable fabrics are involved in 628,000. Although clothing fires represent only about a quarter of all fabric incidents, they often are fatal (up to 12,000 deaths annually) because they cannot easily be escaped. The economic toll is enormous. Burn injuries require long hospitalization, care and repeated plastic surgery. Total medical and hospital costs of well over $10,000 are not uncommon.

—The new official accident data actually understate the problem's severity because the facts are gathered from a network of hospital emergency rooms and many severe burn victims go directly to special burn centers; minor burn victims are treated by physicians in their offices, the fatality injured may go directly to morgues.

—Despite modern medicine, human suffering and disfigurement is terrible, says Dr. Abraham B. Bergman, director of Outpatient Services at Children's Orthopedic Hospital and Medical Center in Seattle, Wash.

—The treatment of burns remains completely unsatisfactory. . . The best plastic surgery still leaves terrible scars. . . If we want to do anything about burns, prevention is the only answer.

Q: WHAT, THEN, ARE we doing about prevention?

A: Much too little, much too slowly. The Federal Flammable Fabrics Act of 1953 set standards so lenient that 99 percent of all fabrics—even some writing papers—could meet them. The Flammable Fabrics amendments of 1967 tightened the standards and extended them from the most explosively flammable clothing fabrics ("torch sweaters") to include gloves, hats, baby blankets, etc. The amended act has been enforced by the Consumer Product Safety Commission since May 1973. The CPSC can set standards, stop shipments, order recalls, seize goods, order merchandise to be brought up to standard or to be destroyed.

Standards for carpets and rugs became effective in '71; mattress flammability standards, in '73; sleepwear for infants and small children standards did not become mandatory until July 29, 1973, six years after passage of the '67 amendments calling for them.

ONLY THIS PAST May 1, 1975, did regulations covering sleepwear for children aged six through 12 (proposed in March '73) become effective. Late as it is, though, the new "Standard of Children's Sleepwear" is a big step forward. From now on, all children's new sleepwear up to size 14 and all new fabrics likely to be made into such sleepwear on home sewing machines must be flame retardant.

But sleepwear and fabrics manufactured or imported before May 1 can still be sold legally—and they may be on the shelves for years to come. SO:

- (1) To protect your child, look for the required label, "Flame Resistant. U.S. Standard FF-74."
- (2) Look for and follow carefully the special washing instruction label to maintain the flame retardant treatment.
- (3) Be on guard against the few stores which might try to deceive you in their efforts to unload old merchandise.
- (4) If you are confused or need information or want to complain about misleading tactics, call the CPSC's tollfree Hotline (800/429239) in Maryland, and 800/638-2666 in the rest of the U.S. The Hotline is available for safety problems or questions concerning any consumer product.

(5) ALSO ARRANGE VIA the Hotline to get fact sheets on the problem of flammable fabrics generally, and on the special dangers of flammable fabrics to the elderly, who suffer many more injuries and deaths from them than the rest of us.

Collector Crisis Getting Consumers To Pay Up 'Tough'

LOS ANGELES (AP)

Even bill collectors are singing the blues in these recession times.

Despite predictions of an economic upturn and some signs that business in general is improving, bill collectors say more people than ever are down and out—and it is tough to collect.

"Sure, we're getting more accounts, but they're not collectable," says Jean Hayfer, who runs a downtown agency with her husband, Ben.

"THE PEOPLE haven't got it. They're out of business or they're unemployed, whatever. They simply can't afford to pay their bills."

Max Ferber, spokesman for the California Association of Collectors, said in an interview that agencies are averaging about 15 percent more accounts than five years ago. But Ferber says the agencies can collect from only 30 percent of the accounts, down from 35 percent five years ago.

And since 1970, adds Ferber, the costs of operating an agency have risen sharply, and the result is that the collection business is less profitable.

This business has changed since he started more than 40 years ago, Ferber says.

"Now all collection agencies are licensed by the state, and there is legislation on what you can and cannot do," he explains. "Also, more and more people resent being dunned. . . they blame it on the retailers, or feel it's the fault of society in general.

"THE ADVERTISING shouldn't be so persuasive," they'll say."

Walter Lampell, a bill collector since 1941 and publisher of a trade magazine for agencies the last 22 years, says collectors don't like their "bad-guy" image.

"In the '30s, an agency would have a big red wagon drawn by a horse and on the side they'd paint, 'Bill Jones owes me $50, signed John Doe.' Then the agency would send the wagon up and down the streets in Bill Jones' neighborhood," he recalls.

"Now," he says, "we feel we are professionals and want to be treated that way."

Lampell and Ferber agree that a good collector can do quite well for himself, making as much as $2,000 a month. What makes a good bill collector?

"Efficient use of psychology," says Ferber. "We've gone way beyond the point where it's creating intense fear, pounding on the desk or anything like that."

"NOW, IT'S psychology, persuading the delinquent debtor to pay off his balance using whatever resources and effort he can bring to bear."

"Although a collection agency is forbidden by law from making any threats, there is always the fear of legal action being taken even though it's not expressed."

PSA Given 6.5% Fare Hike Okay

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Pacific Southwest Airlines today was granted a 6.5 percent interim fare increase by the state Public Utilities Commission instead of the 16 percent PSA requested.

In a decision sharply critical of the airline's parent company, PSA, Inc., the PUC said its action will allow the airline a return of 10.1 percent, compared with the 2.1 percent on current fares.

The new fares, which will produce an additional $7 million a year more, will go into effect after five days notice to the public.

The Los Angeles-San Francisco fare will go from $20.75 to $22.10, San Diego-San Francisco from $29 to $30.90 and Los Angeles-Sacramento from $22.80 to $24.60.

IT TAKES KNOWLEDGE TO TREAT THE SICK

By TERRY GRANT, R.Ph.

Despite great advances in medical knowledge, there are still some people who depend on old-fashioned self-treatments. Some let persons with no drug or medical training advise them what medicines to take.

When door-to-door peddlers or mail order opportunists presume to tell you what to take when you are sick—be wise. In order to treat sickness a diagnosis of the cause is needed. No one but a physician has this knowledge.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.

County Employee Pay Talks Break Off

Negotiations of a 1975-76 wage-fringe benefit package for Orange County's 11,000 employees broke off Wednesday without a settlement being reached.

County negotiators today said their offer of the package that would cost taxpayers about $11 million was their final offer.

Simultaneously, spokesmen for the Orange County Employees Association said the county's proposal was not acceptable.

They said the association's 9,700 members will be polled to determine the employees' next move.

For now, negotiations are at an end and there is no plan to resume them, according to Bert Scott, the county's personnel director.

Scott said the offer made to the association included pay raises ranging from 2 1/4 percent to five percent.

He also said the county as part of the fringe benefit package offered to pick up a higher portion of the employees' group insurance cost and to contribute more to their retirement fund.

The personnel director also noted that the county agreed to accept either a multi-year or single year contract, earlier a point of sharp disagreement between the negotiators.

Scott claimed the county's final offer has the effect of putting more take home pay into the employees' pockets than is indicated by the salary hikes because of the county's willingness to participate more deeply in fringe benefit costs.

However, OCEA's Executive Director John Sawyer said employee representatives who met Wednesday night were "indignant with the county's offer and found no part of it acceptable."

Scott and OCEA's negotiators are holding out for an 11 3/4 percent combined increase in wages and fringe benefits.

What the OCEA negotiators are proposing is a 7 1/4 percent average salary hike and a 4 1/2 percent increase in benefits.

Therefore, what separates the two is a 2.9 percent overall package increase, or roughly $3.5 million.

At the close of the meeting, the representatives agreed to informally poll OCEA members, possibly by a written ballot.

CIA Set To Pull Up Sub

NEW YORK (UPI) —The Central Intelligence Agency plans to make a new attempt to raise the entire Russian submarine sunk in the Pacific, Business Week Magazine reports today.

In California, speculation about activity by the spy ship increased when it recently went on a training exercise off Catalina Island.

"Any day now the Glomar Explorer, the mysterious salvage ship that raised only part of a Russian submarine sunk in the Pacific, will leave its berth at Pier E in Long Beach, for another try," the magazine reported in its current issue.

The magazine said the ship is not owned by Howard Hughes' Summa Corp., which supposedly built it for deep sea mining.

"It was built and outfitted by the Sun Shipbuilding & Dry Dock Co., of Chester, Pa., for the government at a cost of about $125 million, and it is still federal property," the article said.

Business Week said there were two full crews working on the salvage ship to ready it for the job. Members are reported to have signed secrecy agreements, one with Glomar Marine Inc., which operates the vessel and does the salvage work, and the other with the CIA.

Business Week said CIA officials "have privately confirmed to some members of Congress that the government owns the ship and that Summa has always acted as a cover for the operation."

"The old man (Hughes) was aware of it and gave his blessing," Business Week quotes a former Summa employee as saying. "It was a gorgeous cover."

Beaten Girl Returns Home

LEAVENWORTH, Kan. (UPI) —Tammy Perrin, the 6-year-old girl abducted from her home, raped, beaten and left for dead, is back home today, but her mother says she will require more surgery.

Tammy was abducted from her front yard, beaten and left for dead by a kidnaper June 5.

The child underwent plastic surgery at the University of Kansas Medical Center in Kansas City to repair facial wounds inflicted by the kidnaper. She was released Tuesday.

"Despite the stitches, she looks more beautiful than ever to me," her mother, Billie G. Smitson, said Wednesday.

Recreational Aide Posts Open in Viejo

Applications for six new positions as Mission Viejo recreation aides are available starting today at the Mission Viejo Municipal Advisory Council office.

The job will be for at least 10 weeks and involves helping run the summer program of County Service Area Nine.

MAC Councilman Cal Neve said applicants 17 or under would qualify for the job if their family was at a poverty-level income.

Applicants 18 or over would be considered based on their own income, he said.

The MAC office, 26129-D La Paz Road, La Paz Plaza, is open from 10:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Quakes Shake Italy

NAPLES, Italy (UPI) —Two earthquake shocks at midday today caused panic in cities and towns from Naples to the heel of the Italian boot.

No injuries or serious damage was reported but authorities said the shocks cracked walls in houses and public buildings, including Naples' new hospital and the baroque chapels of Troia's 18th-century Romanesque Basilica.

The worst scenes of panic were in hospitals and in schools, where final examinations were halted. At Avellino, 40 inmates of the local jail interrupted a court hearing with their screams.

Residents of Naples, Bari and smaller communities rushed into the streets by the hundreds after the first shock. Fire departments were flooded with telephone calls from people wanting to know if it was safe to return to their apartments. Brief electrical outages were reported in Caserta and parts of Puglia.

The Prato Seismological Observatory reported the shocks, part of a single undulating tremor, measured 6 to 7 on the 12-grade Mercalli scale at their epicenter around the Gargano peninsula.

'Deep Throat,' 'Devil' Due For Balboa

"Deep Throat" and "The Devil in Miss Jones," two of the best known sexy movies in recent years, are scheduled to open Friday at the Balboa Pussycat Theater.

Pussycat officials are currently embroiled in a tug of war with Newport Beach police vice officers over the adult films shown at the theater, at 709 East Balboa Blvd.

Eight reels of sexy movies already have been confiscated during raids and the number may increase to ten on Friday when the new bill opens.

GETS INVESTIGATORS
County Sheriff Gates

PROTESTS TO NO AVAIL
District Attorney Hicks

Fuming DA To File Suit

District Attorney Cecil Hicks said today he will file a lawsuit to halt the transfer of 22 of his investigators to the sheriff's department and call for a Grand Jury investigation into the Board of Supervisors' action.

A FEW MINUTES before Hicks made his announcement, supervisors voted unanimously to transfer the 22 investigators and their clerical staff to the sheriff's department.

Hicks charged the move was prompted by a shadow government that controls the Board of Supervisors.

The only person he named as part of the so-called shadow government was prominent political figure Dr. Louis Cella. He refused to identify any other purported members but hinted that Supervisor Robert Battin is part of the secret clique.

THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY said that he has refused to use his office to play into the hands of the power structure that "seeks to emasculate the district attorney's office and its ability to dig out fraud and political corruption."

He went on to vow to continue to investigate and prosecute so-called political cronies who violate the law.

Hicks also said that he had been told that at a recent political fund raising cocktail party, Cella had boasted of the pending move to reduce the district attorney's investigative staff.

To Probe Non-city Crimes

By GARY GRANVILLE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Despite protests from District Attorney Cecil Hicks, Orange County supervisors transferred 22 district attorney's investigators to the sheriff's department today.

The board's action represented an indication of support for Sheriff Brad Gates in his move to bring the investigation of crimes in unincorporated areas into his department.

Gates argued that the sheriff's office should not prosecute cases it investigates and the district attorney should not investigate cases he prosecutes.

Hicks argued the investigators taken from his staff are needed by him to carry out his mandate to investigate certain kinds of crime in both incorporated and unincorporated areas.

Specifically, he noted, a mandate to combat organized crime and fraud wherever it exists.

He also said the services of his office were needed by city police in the investigation of homicides and certain narcotic cases that cross city boundaries.

He pointed out to the supervisors that their move, which came during a budget hearing, did not involve the spending of money but rather simply the transfer of personnel from one department to another.

His words, however, fell on deaf ears as the board voted unanimously to transfer the 22 investigators, an adequate clerical staff and necessary vehicles from the district attorney's office to the sheriff's office.

Supervisor Robert Battin who made the motion for the transfer, said his judgment was based on the continuing effort to consolidate departmental functions as well as philosophical issues.

Coast to Get Federal Funds For Teen Jobs

Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Orange Coast cities and communities will get enough special federal summer youth program money to hire more than 850 young people in public service jobs starting this week.

County Manpower Commission Executive Director Robert Nelson said the entire county is entitled to $1.82 million to provide jobs for about 3,000 teenagers.

Nelson said applications for the jobs, which include such things as recreation counselors, are already being taken and most will be filled on a first-come, first-served basis, primarily by disadvantaged youngsters.

Assessor Still On Job

Vallerga: Work Will Be Done Before Trial

By JAN WORTH
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Despite the turmoil that surrounded its operation this year, the Orange County Assessors Office still had to levy valuations on 550,000 pieces of property ranging from doghouses to Disneyland to oil derricks.

That includes 340,000 single family homes, 30,000 boats, 71,000 apartments, 25,000 townhouses, 30,000 commercial and 97,000 business units, and 11,000 miscellaneous properties including tax-exempt churches and hospitals.

To do the job, the office has a $5 million annual budget and almost 300 employees.

County Assessor Jack Vallerga

promised Wednesday night that despite indictments of 11 employees for alleged illegalities stemming from the campaign of U.S. Rep. Andrew Hinshaw, former assessor, the assessment rolls will be out on time July 1.

Six days later Vallerga, a Mission Viejo resident, goes on trial himself on charges of grand theft, embezzlement and violation of government codes — all stemming from the Hinshaw campaign.

Speaking to the Saddleback Area Coordinating Council in El Toro, Vallerga said he is not permitted by his attorney to talk about the case.

"I am very confident," he said. "I feel the judicial system will do justice and I expect to run for assessor four years from now."

And he added when he gets a chance to talk "I'll have a lot to say."

Vallerga predicted a 10 percent jump in the county's assessed valuation this year — including a five percent jump in homeowners assessments and a 30 percent jump in the commercial and manufacturing sector.

The tax bill will be higher as well, even though he characterized county officials as exerting "a real effort to control spending."

"We have an odd situation: there is a slump, no question (See VALLERGA, Page A2)

Mystery Death Probed

San Bernardino County Coroner's deputies today are trying to determine a cause in the mystery death of Newport Beach insurance company chief Patrick Koenigsburger, found dead Tuesday in a rented Lake Arrowhead cabin.

The owner of King Insurance Company, 4600 Campus Drive, was discovered by the cabin's landlord, who finally went to check after he failed to return the key on schedule Sunday.

A coroner's deputy said Mr. Koenigsburger apparently died in his sleep Saturday night, but so far there is absolutely no clue to what killed him.

Toxicological tests are being conducted on the remains of the 54-year-old insurance executive, but it will be three to six weeks before results will be known.

No signs of foul play nor evidence of possible suicide were found and investigators said they have uncovered no indication of any serious illness in the past or present.

Investigators said Mr. Koenigsburger rented the cabin for the weekend.

Remains were taken to Groves Mortuary in San Bernardino where a spokesman said Mr. Koenigsburger's children made arrangements Wednesday morning with a stipulation of no funeral.

Survivors of the victim, who lived at 1600 Campus Drive, Newport Beach, include a son, Patrick of San Diego; daughters, Mrs. Sally Jess of Los Angeles and Mrs. Linda Broderick of Sebastopol, and a brother, Charles of Coronado.

Saddleback Ready To Graduate 470

Saddleback College will confer associate in arts degrees to 470 students at commencement exercises at 6 p.m. Friday at the athletic field of the Mission Viejo campus.

Following tradition, this year's valedictorian will not be announced until the ceremony.

Featured speakers will be Marcia McCormack, a nursing student, and Rebecca Jones, a business accounting major. Mrs. McCormack's topic is "Survival — A Real Challenge." Mrs. Jones will address "The Real Shortage of the 70s."

There also will be short addresses by Robert Bartholomew, president of the college board of trustees and Dr. Robert Lombardi, superintendent.

A special presentation, "Elegy For a Young American" will be made in honor of Beverly Gross, a Saddleback College music student killed in an automobile accident in October.

Invocation and benediction will be offered by Dr. James Marshall, a college trustee. Musical accompaniment will be provided by the Concert Band under director Monte LaBonte.

This year's graduating class is the largest in the seven-year history of the college.

Mission Viejo Summer Rec Program Set

The Mission Viejo summer recreation program will begin July 1 and conclude Aug. 22, Director Mike Chilver announced today.

The program will be held at four schools: Montevideo, Linda Vista, and Glen Yermo Elementary Schools and La Paz Intermediate School.

Elementary schools will be open Monday through Friday 1 to 5 p.m. and at La Paz, the site for a summer teen center, hours will be 6 to 10 p.m. Monday through Friday and 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Activities offered include arts and crafts classes, special events and outings. Programs are designed for kindergarten through 12th grade students.

More information is available by calling Chilver at 830-1720.

It's Back To 'Officer'

After almost a year of sporadic debate about what to call Irvine policemen, the traditional title of "officer" has proved its durability.

An earlier decision to call policemen "agents" as a public relations effort was reversed after rank and file protest.

Said one ex-agent, "With the investigations into the CIA and everything, agent didn't seem like such a good name after all."

VALLERGA

about it. There is a decrease in home sales compared to other years. But in other parts of the U.S., if they had as many sales they'd consider it a boom.

"Sales are reflecting higher prices," he said. "Sales prices haven't dropped, but the number of sales have dropped."

Vallerga explained that the three factors used to value a property are:

- The replacement cost.
- The sales price or market value.
- The income flow — as in apartment and commercial units.

The assessor's office uses a "mass appraisal" approach, which means that all properties are appraised each year. This differs from the system used in Los Angeles County, Vallerga said, where a fourth of the county's properties are assessed each year.

"I thoroughly disagree with the approach used in Los Angeles," he said. "Under that system you are never current."

The Orange County office uses computers to assist its assessors in marking as many as 150 valuations a day.

But Vallerga would like to see the process even more computerized.

"My ideal would be to use the computer for the clerical functions and to store sales, do updates, and be the data bank for property characteristics and so on."

Epilepsy Program Pushed

By TOM BARLEY
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Epilepsy costs the United States at least $5 billion a year and a national program that would alleviate its ravages and aid its victims is long overdue, former Congressman Peter Kyros told a meeting of the Orange County Epilepsy Society Wednesday in Santa Ana.

"Far too few people realize that the vast majority of epileptics are easily helped sufferers who can work and live normally with the right help and appropriate medication," Kyros said.

At least half of the 32,000 Orange County residents who are victims of the disease can control their seizures with medication, he said. Another 30 percent can exercise partial control in attack situations, he pointed out.

"What we need is a national commission and program on the lines of those available to sufferers from heart, cancer, cerebral palsy and multiple sclerosis conditions," the Maine lawyer said.

Kyros' 1974 bill creating national standards for the control and cure of epilepsy was vetoed by President Ford after being approved by Congress, he recalled.

Kyros is now touring the nation seeking support for what he described as an identical measure drafted by Sen. Edward Kennedy and Rep. Paul Rogers after he was ousted from office last November.

Kyros warned that many epileptics are being denied participation in employment and social pursuits because of the stigma that they believe is attached to manifestations of the disease.

"This is where local organizations like yours can play a major role," he said. "More than 160 chapters of the Epilepsy Foundation of America are involved in educational programs that are fast removing this fancied stigma."

Kyros strongly recommended educational programs on epilepsy and assistance to victims of the disease "to those young people seeking a cause worthy of their time and talents."

"They could play no better role in today's society," he said.

'Y' Dance Set At Los Alisos

Saddleback Valley YMCA will sponsor a dance for seventh and eighth graders Friday from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. in the Los Alisos Intermediate School in Mission Viejo.

The Lobo Woods band will play music for dancing in the multipurpose room of the school, according to Steve Young, Y program director. Dress will be informal.

Tickets are $1.25 and will be sold at the door. Additional information is available at the Y, 830-9622.

'Livesaving' Raffle Fete Set in Viejo

"Operation Lifesaver," a project to raise money for emergency equipment for the Orange County Fire Department, has been undertaken as a joint venture of the Mission Viejo Jaycees and the Rancho Viejo Junior Women's Club.

The project, a raffle, was kicked off last week during the fire department's annual pancake breakfast.

The grand prize, a Datsun 210, will be given away at a drawing July 26 at Thriftmart shopping center, La Paz Road and Marguerite Parkway, Mission Viejo.

Equipment earmarked for purchase includes hydraulic rescue equipment, an "arrhythmia resuscitator and baby," traction splints, air splints and genee splints.

Project chairmen are Fred Low and Judy Eggert.

Bicentennial Planning Meet In El Toro

A planning meeting of the Saddleback Valley Bicentennial Assembly will be held at 7:30 p.m. June 26 in the community room of Peoples Federal Savings and Loan, Saddleback Valley Plaza, El Toro.

The group, composed of volunteers interested in organizing bicentennial activities, already has calendared a 50-state reunion and Fourth of July picnic, a Cavalcade of Bands performance, a fiesta coffee and bicentennial sales booth.

Also in the works are a 200th anniversary slogan contest, and restoration of two historical landmarks earmarked to be moved to Serrano Creek Park in Lake Forest.

More information is available by calling 837-3635.

Art Workshop Set in Viejo

A five-week painting workshop for intermediate and advanced art students will begin June 26 at Linda Vista Elementary School, Mission Viejo.

The series, sponsored by the Mission Viejo Association of Artists and craftsmen, will be taught by B.J. Wilson.

It will run from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. on five consecutive Thursdays at the school, 25222 Pericia Drive.

Miss Wilson has shown her work throughout the U.S. and Europe and is showing at Hoffman Hall at USC. She is a member of women painters of the West and is an instructor at Santa Monica College.

Coast Inspector Charged in Bribe

A former inspector with the Huntington Beach Public Works Department was indicted Wednesday by the Orange County Grand Jury on bribery charges filed after he allegedly accepted a $510 payoff from a contractor whose work he was inspecting.

Superior Court Judge Everett W. Dickey ordered John Frank Biondi, 32, of 1040 13th St., Huntington Beach, to face trial Sept. 8 on the allegations.

Biondi was arrested after investigation by Huntington Beach police and district attorney's investigators into allegations the he accepted the illegal payment on June 11, 1974, from a contractor engaged on a Sunset Heights sewer project.

Bresnahan Favors Buying Air Space

Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Orange County Airport Director Robert Bresnahan said today he would rather the county buy air easements over jet noise impacted Santa Ana Heights homes than condemn them outright.

He told an audience at a Citizens Harbor Area Research Team (CHART) meeting in Costa Mesa he will complete a "land conversion plan" for the area in about two months and the easement concept will be prominently suggested.

The airport director was ordered last month by the county Board of Supervisors to proceed with land conversion preparations in an effort to fulfill state-mandated noise variance requirements.

During the 90-minute meeting this morning, Bresnahan was challenged by residents of homes on the western shore of Upper Newport Bay over his contention that commercial jets are flying over bay waters, not residential areas.

The Santa Ana Heights problem dominated the meeting, particularly when Bresnahan explained "land conversion" doesn't necessarily mean condemnation and displacement of residents.

"The board of supervisors didn't say to go out and condemn houses," Bresnahan said. "They told me to prepare a plan for land conversion and they will be the ones who must make the decision."

"I am totally opposed to acquiring someone's property when we don't need it," Bresnahan said. "I would much rather see noise easements over the homes purchased where we would pay people who want to stay in their homes for the right to make the noise."

Bresnahan told the audience that because of a series of unforeseen circumstances, Orange County Airport was required to seek a noise variance from the state that requires compliance with 1986 noise standards within this decade.

JOBS . . .

All but two Orange Coast communities will conduct hiring through county government's personnel department. The number each area will be able to hire is based on a complex mathematical formula that will be applied during the hiring process.

The county will administer hiring for the cities of Fountain Valley, Irvine, Costa Mesa, Newport Beach, Laguna Beach, San Juan Capistrano and San Clemente and for the entire unincorporated area.

Prospective applicants for jobs in those communities should call Luis Caudillo in the county human services division at 834-2835 for information.

In Huntington Beach, which will hire its own summer employees with a $108,000 share of the federal money, applicants can call the city manpower office at 535-0252 and talk to either Bob Cunningham or Russ Guarneri.

Roughly 147 jobs will open in Huntington Beach under the program, Nelson said.

Seal Beach will also conduct its own hiring of 16 youngsters with a $20,600 share of the money. Applicants can contact Bill Little at (213) 431-2527.

The total county government share of the job money is about $525,000, which will cover about 688 summer jobs, Nelson said, noting about 600 would go to coastal communities.

The job program was made possible when President Gerald Ford this week signed an $800 million appropriations bill.

Wage-fringe Benefits

County Wage Talks Halted

Negotiations of a 1975-76 wage-fringe benefit package for Orange County's 11,000 employees broke off Wednesday without a settlement being reached.

County negotiators today said their offer of the package that would cost taxpayers about $11 million was their final offer.

Simultaneously, spokesmen for the Orange County Employees Association said the county's proposal was not acceptable.

They said the association's 9,700 members will be polled to determine the employees next move.

For now, negotiations are at an end and there is no plan to resume them, according to Bert Scott, the county's personnel director.

Scott said the offer made to the association included pay raises ranging from 2 1/4 percent to five percent.

He also said the county as part of the fringe benefit package offered to pick up a higher portion of the employees' group insurance cost and to contribute more to their retirement fund.

The personnel director also noted that the county agreed to accept either a multi-year or single year contract, earlier a point of sharp disagreement between the negotiators.

Scott claimed the county's final offer has the effect of putting more take home pay into the employees' pockets than is indicated by the salary hikes because of the county's willingness to participate more deeply in fringe benefit costs.

However, OCEA's Executive Director John Sawyer said employee representatives who met Wednesday night were "indignant with the county's offer and found no part of it acceptable."

Scott and OCEA's negotiators are holding out for an 11 3/4 percent combined increase in wages and fringe benefits.

What the OCEA negotiators are proposing is a 7 1/4 percent average salary hike and a 4 1/2 percent increase in benefits.

Therefore, what separates the two is a 2.9 percent overall package increase, or roughly $3.5 million.

At the close of the meeting, the representatives agreed to informally poll OCEA members, possibly by a written ballot.

Sawyer said the alternatives

It's Back To 'Officer'

After almost a year of sporadic debate about what to call Irvine policemen, the traditional title of "officer" has proved its durability.

An earlier decision to call policemen "agents" as a public relations effort was reversed after rank and file protest.

Said one ex-agent, "With the investigations into the CIA and everything, agent didn't seem like such a good name after all."

Coast to Get Federal Funds For Teen Jobs

Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Orange Coast cities and communities will get enough special federal summer youth program money to hire more than 850 young people in public service jobs starting this week.

County Manpower Commission Executive Director Robert Nelson said the entire county is entitled to $1.82 million to provide jobs for about 3,000 teenagers.

Nelson said applications for the jobs, which include such things as recreation counselors, are already being taken and most will be filled on a first-come, first-served basis.

Park Policies Approved

Commission Sends Plans to Irvine Council

A series of policies aimed at governing Irvine's planned city views on the naming of parks, hours of operation, age limits of patrons, who may use and sent on to the City Council.

The policies outline proposed city views on the naming of parks, hours of operation, age limits of patrons, who may use the facilities, what fees will be charged and a statement of the purpose of providing recreation programs.

Parks, according to the proposed policy, will not be named after individuals. Rather, they are to be named for their location or after historical places or events.

Central Irvine High School Community Park, for example, is a cumbersome name and already suggestions have been made to change the name to Heritage Park in honor of the bicentennial year in which the facility will open.

Turtle Rock Gets A Jolt on Friday

The Turtle Rock area of Irvine may be rocking Friday as Irvine Company construction crews detonate "moderate quantities" of dynamite in a nearby site clearing operation.

The underground charges in Turtle Rock Hills will be used to break up subsurface rock too difficult to grade with heavy equipment.

Joe Strucker, project manager, said about six charges will be set off about a half mile east of University High School and about 600 feet north of Campus Drive.

The work will help clear the way for roads, utilities and the first residential area in the 1,000-acre development.

Strucker said "every precaution is being taken to get the job done safely and quickly."

Noise from the detonations, he said, probably will be heard within a two-mile radius of the site between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Friday.

Strucker said the city and Turtle Rock community associations have been notified of the blasts and permits have been obtained from the Orange County Fire Department.

Biggies Due

Sex Flicks May Spark Raid

"Deep Throat" and "The Devil in Miss Jones," two of the best known sexy movies in recent years, are scheduled to open Friday at the Balboa Pussycat Theater.

Pussycat officials are currently embroiled in a tug of war with Newport Beach police vice officers over the adult films shown at the theater, at 709 East Balboa Blvd.

Eight reels of sexy movies already have been confiscated during raids and the number may increase to ten on Friday when the new bill opens.

Police Chief James Glavas said today that the new films will be treated no differently by police officers than the movies that preceded them.

"We'll review the movies and then confiscate them if we judge them obscene," Glavas said.

The chief said that Newport officers would not base their decisions on the past history of "Deep Throat," which is currently at issue in a Supreme Court decision expected soon.

Glavas said that just because a film has the same title as the original, it may not have the same contents and therefore has to be viewed each time it is shown again.

"It may be similar only in title. That's why we have to tire out our officers by having them view the film and submit affidavits stating what is in each film," Glavas added.

Non-city Crimes Cited

By GARY GRANVILLE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Despite protests from District Attorney Cecil Hicks, Orange County supervisors transferred 22 district attorney's investigators to the sheriff's department today.

The board's action represented an indication of support for Sheriff Brad Gates in his move to bring the investigation of crimes in unincorporated areas into his department.

Gates argued that the sheriff's office should not prosecute cases it investigates and the district attorney should not investigate cases he prosecutes.

Hicks argued the investigators taken from his staff are needed by him to carry out his mandate to investigate certain kinds of crime in both incorporated and unincorporated areas.

Specifically, he noted, a mandate to combat organized crime and fraud wherever it exists.

He also said the services of his office were needed by city police in the investigation of homicides and certain narcotic cases that cross city boundaries.

He pointed out to the supervisors that their move, which came during a budget hearing, did not involve the spending of money but rather simply the transfer of personnel from one department to another.

His words, however, fell on deaf ears as the board voted unanimously to transfer the 22 investigators, an adequate clerical staff and necessary vehicles from the district attorney's office to the sheriff's office.

Supervisor Robert Battin who made the motion for the transfer, said his judgment was based on the continuing effort to consolidate departmental functions as well as philosophical issues.

"I don't believe justice is served when investigators direct their work at proving a case against a defendant rather than seeking objective information," Battin said.

"I believe the citizens of

Fuming DA To File Suit

District Attorney Cecil Hicks said today he will file a lawsuit to halt the transfer of 22 of his investigators to the sheriff's department and call for a Grand Jury investigation into the Board of Supervisors action.

A FEW MINUTES before Hicks made his announcement, supervisors voted unanimously to transfer the 22 investigators and their clerical staff to the sheriff's department.

Hicks charged the move was prompted by a shadow government that controls the Board of Supervisors.

The only person he named as part of the so-called shadow government was prominent political figure Dr. Louis Cella. He refused to identify any other purported members but hinted that Supervisor Robert Battin is part of the secret clique.

THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY said that he has refused to use his office to play into the hands of the power structure that "seeks to emasculate the district attorney's office and its ability to dig out fraud and political corruption."

He went on to vow to continue to investigate and prosecute so-called political cronies who violate the law.

Hicks also said that he had been told that at a recent political fund raising cocktail party, Cella had boasted of the pending move to reduce the district attorney's investigative staff.

Gas Station Okayed

The Irvine Planning Commission has approved a conditional use permit allowing construction of a Mobil Oil gas station in the Parkview Shopping Center on University Drive in University Park.

From Page A1 HOMES . . .

By then, he noted, technological changes in aircraft engines could make the noise problem minimal.

The condemnation speaker arose when supervisors for the third time this year rejected a state-approved alternative to cutting noise by an acceptable amount to live up to this year's variance.

The option was a "preferential runway" system that would require jets departing in the early morning hours to take off to the north over the Irvine Industrial Complex and the cities of Tustin and Santa Ana.

Supervisor Ralph Clark, whose district includes most of that area, led the opposition.

"Therein lies much of the problem," Bresnahan said. "It is up to the board of supervisors to take any action and they can change their minds on anything."

Bresnahan also tried to defend recent shifts in the takeoff pattern over the Upper Bay against contentions by several audience members that, in reality, most big jets fly over heavily-populated areas.

He said the shift, which moved the centerline of the pattern 500 feet closer to the western shore, was the fifth change in recent years.

The change was designed to correct for the drifting of flights over the Eastbluff area, Bresnahan said, noting the pilots of big jets must take off on instruments because the takeoff angle is too steep to allow them to see the ground.

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Williams, who live on the west shore of the bay, said the jets have never flown down the center of the bay. They contended the planes consistently fly over populated areas.

Distaff Pilot Unhurt in Plane Mishap

A young female student pilot escaped with shaken nerves but no injuries Wednesday when her rented plane's nosewheel collapsed on landing at Orange County Airport, sending it skidding 50 feet off into a field.

Melissa Miller, of 10400 MacArthur Blvd., Santa Ana, may have had trouble with a brisk crosswind as she set down about 11 a.m. at the north end of the runway, investigators said.

The blue-and-white Cessna 150 Commuter sustained moderate damage, including the collapsed nose gear, a bent propeller and dented cowling.

Orange County Fire Department crews from the airport station raced to the scene but there was no fire and the aircraft was righted and rolled off the busy runway in minutes.

Santa Ana Youth Killed by Auto

An 11-year-old Santa Ana boy, Alex Montecon, 1329 W. McFadden Ave., died in Mercy General Hospital Wednesday night 24 hours after being struck by a car.

Santa Ana police said the youngster was fatally injured when hit by the car as he crossed McFadden Avenue near Grand Lane in an unmarked area. The car's driver was not held.

Featured speakers will be Marcia McCormack, a nursing student, and Rebecca Jones, a business accounting major. Mrs. McCormack's topic is "Survival—A Real Challenge." Mrs. Jones will address "The Real Shortage of the 70s."

There also will be short addresses by Robert Bartholomew, president of the college board of trustees and Dr. Robert Lombardi, superintendent.

A special presentation, "Elegy For a Young American" will be made in honor of Beverly Gross, a Saddleback College music student killed in an automobile accident in October.

Invocation and benediction will be offered by Dr. James Marshall, a college trustee. Musical accompaniment will be provided by the Concert Band under director Monte LaBonte.

This year's graduating class is the largest in the seven-year history of the college.

Classes Set For Adults

Irvine schools will offer summer high school classes for adults for the first time this year in sessions beginning June 23 and continuing to July 31.

Tuition is $1 for classes meeting weekly and $2 for those meeting twice a week. Registration will be held on the first night of classes. Classes will be conducted at University High School and Rancho San Joaquin Intermediate School.

Classes offered include typing, shorthand, stenograph, Spanish, speed reading, woodworking, sewing, cooking, crafts, ceramics, oil painting and physical fitness.

Additional information on the adult summer school program may be obtained by calling the school district offices at 556-4900.

Mystery Death Probed

San Bernardino County Coroner's deputies today are trying to determine a cause in the mystery death of Newport Beach insurance company chief Patrick Koenigsburger, found dead Tuesday in a rented Lake Arrowhead cabin.

The owner of King Insurance Company, 4600 Campus Drive, was discovered by the cabin's landlord, who finally went to check after he failed to return the key on schedule Sunday.

A coroner's deputy said Mr. Koenigsburger apparently died in his sleep Saturday night, but so far there is absolutely no clue to what killed him.

Toxicological tests are being conducted on the remains of the 54-year-old insurance executive, but it will be three to six weeks before results will be known.

No signs of foul play nor evidence of possible suicide were found and investigators said they have uncovered no indication of any serious illness in the past or present.

Investigators said Mr. Koenigsburger rented the cabin for the weekend.

Remains were taken to Groves Mortuary in San Bernardino where a spokesman said Mr. Koenigsburger's children made arrangements Wednesday morning with a stipulation of no funeral.

Survivors of the victim, who lived at 1600 Campus Drive, Newport Beach, include a son, Patrick of San Diego; daughters, Mrs. Sally Jess of Los Angeles and Mrs. Linda Broderick of Sebastopol, and a brother, Charles of Coronado.

Jet Training Stepped Up Until July 14

Training flights at El Toro Marine Corps Air Station were increased Wednesday. The stepped up jet activity means more noise in the Irvine and Saddleback Valley area through July 14.

The carrier landing practice flights were to end at 5 p.m. today, with none scheduled through the weekend.

On June 24 through June 26, evening practice will be conducted from 8 to 9:30 p.m. The same evening flight schedule will be followed June 29 through July 3 and July 7 through July 11. Hours have not been determined for flights July 12 through July 14, according to a Marine spokesman.

Irvine, Laguna Hills, Laguna Niguel, El Toro and other south county areas will be affected.

Coast Inspector Charged in Bribe

A former inspector with the Huntington Beach Public Works Department was indicted Wednesday by the Orange County Grand Jury on bribery charges filed after he allegedly accepted a $510 payoff from a contractor whose work he was inspecting.

Superior Court Judge Everett W. Dickey ordered John Frank Biondi, 32, of 1040 13th St., Huntington Beach, to face trial Sept. 8 on the allegations.

Biondi was arrested after investigation by Huntington Beach police and district attorney's investigators into allegations he accepted the illegal payment on June 11, 1974, from a contractor engaged on a Sunset Heights sewer project.

The policies emphasize that public facilities should not be considered day care centers and "city staff will not be baby sitters."

All children under age 6 must be accompanied by a responsible adult under the policy.

The policy for use of the facilities prohibits drinking alcoholic beverages or meetings "held for the purpose of advancing any doctrine of theory subversive under the Constitution of the United States." Profit-making enterprises also are barred.

A fee of $6 an hour may be charged for the use of the facilities. Non-residents will be charged $6 an hour plus a $10 use fee. Additionally, a $25 cleanup fee may be required.

According to the policy, recreation courses are designed to provide introduction into some craft activities. Programs are not to compete with private enterprise.

Additionally, it says, "No person shall be denied participation because of lack of funds nor lack of ability."

Although the city has few facilities now, said Community Services Director Paul Brady, when the community parks and public buildings to be financed under a $16 million city bond program open next year, the city will be deluged with requests.

Despite the lack of facilities, he said, the city already has a constant stream of requests to use the few it has.

Youth Falls To His Death In Yosemite

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK (AP) — A Fremont youth has fallen to his death in the third mountain-climbing fatality here in as many days, rangers reported.

James P. Welcome, 18, lost his footing and tumbled 75 feet while climbing a gully between Upper Cathedral Spire and Lower Cathedral Park Wednesday, a spokesman said.

His partner, John A. Trevino of Fremont, notified rangers who recovered Welcome's body.

On Tuesday, James M. Ottinger, 30, of Eugene, Ore., fell 60 feet to his death when his rope anchor failed to hold.

And a day earlier, Peter Barton, 25, who lived at Yosemite, was killed in a fall from El Capitan. A Navy helicopter trying to retrieve his body crashed and burned, injuring two occupants.

Five climbers have been killed in falls this spring at Yosemite, including two youths last month, officials said.

Early Childhood Program Lauded

Culverdale Elementary School in Irvine has been commended for its early childhood education program in a pamphlet called "Promising Practices for Early Childhood Education" prepared by the State Department of Education.

The Culverdale program was commended for its classroom organization and management, keeping of student records, the reading program, and the methods used to determine the learning needs of 5-year-olds.

The publication, compiled by the state early education evaluation team, was based on visits to early childhood education programs at schools throughout California.

The Irvine district initiated the program at Turtle Rock School in 1973. The evaluation team placed the Turtle Rock, program 15th among 205 participating districts that year. The evaluation this year put Culverdale 54th out of 371 participating districts.

Record Summer Seen

A record-breaking summer of city sponsored activities is predicted by Irvine Recreation Superintendent Froome Gayle.

Aquatics and tennis program registrations are set for June 21 at city hall, 4201 Campus Drive.

So far, says Gayle, 846 residents have signed up for summer programs.

Indian Talk Slated

Mr. and Mrs. D.C. Hinson will deliver talk on their work with Hopi and Navajo Indians at the next meeting of the Irvine chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons June 26.

Huntington Squelches $2 Trash Fee

By KATHY CLANCY
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

The Huntington Beach City Council canned a proposed $2-a-month trash collection fee Wednesday night trimming next year's city budget instead of imposing the new fee.

They will meet at 7 p.m. Monday to formally adopt the $34 million budget.

Council members did agree to raise water rates by 22 percent and increase weekend beach parking to $2 a day.

In August, after more exact assessed valuation and other income figures are available, they may revamp the spending program, adding some city programs or imposing the trash fee and an extra two-cents-a-barrel oil drilling tax.

The council also decided 5-2

Wednesday to charge $24 instead of $45 per student for the popular junior lifeguard program, with Harriett Wieder and Al Coen opposed.

"I am almost ready to not go for any tax increase at all," said Mrs. Wieder at the start of Wednesday's session.

It was she, who during Tuesday night's marathon seven-hour budget meeting, made a motion to impose the trash fee, oil barrel tax and the $2 weekend beach parking fee.

But Wednesday night she called the council's budget action "irresponsible," saying members have restored two-thirds of suggested budget cuts.

Councilman Jerry Matney argued: "This isn't a simple thing — just to think there is a million dollars in fat laying around somewhere."

He suggested trimming out the city's $280,000 shamel ash trees replacement program for east central Huntington Beach, and the $285,000 Warner fire station.

They can be reconsidered later, along with the possibility of imposing the trash fee and oil tax, he said.

Despite council actions Wednesday, homeowners still will pay more for city services — about $1.75 more on their water bill every two months.

City Water Superintendent Eric Lovejoy said today the "typical" homeowner with a family of five uses about 300 gallons of water each day. His two-month water bill would rise from $6.36 to $8.10 under the new rate structure built into next

County Package Refused

Negotiations of a 1975-76 wage-fringe benefit package for Orange County's 11,000 employees broke off Wednesday without a settlement being reached.

County negotiators today said their offer of the package that would cost taxpayers about $11 million was their final offer.

Simultaneously, spokesmen for the Orange County Employees Association said the county's proposal was not acceptable.

They said the association's 9,700 members will be polled to determine the employees' next move.

For now, negotiations are at an end and there is no plan to resume them, according to Bert Scott, the county's personnel director.

Scott said the offer made to the association included pay raises ranging from 2 1/4 percent to five percent.

He also said the county as part of the fringe benefit package offered to pick up a higher portion of the employees' group insurance cost and to contribute more to their retirement fund.

The personnel director also noted that the county agreed to accept either a multi-year or single year contract, earlier a point of sharp disagreement between the negotiators.

Scott claimed the county's final offer has the effect of putting more take home pay into the employees' pockets than is indicated by the salary hikes because of the county's willingness to participate more deeply in fringe benefit costs.

However, OCEA's Executive Director John Sawyer said employee representatives who met Wednesday night were "indignant with the county's offer and found no part of it acceptable."

Scott and OCEA's negotiators are holding out for an 11 1/4 percent combined increase in wages and fringe benefits.

What the OCEA negotiators are proposing is a 7 1/4 percent average salary hike and a 4 1/2 percent increase in benefits.

Therefore, what separates the two is a 2.9 percent overall package increase, or roughly $3.5 million.

At the close of the meeting, the representatives agreed to informally poll OCEA members, possibly by a written ballot.

Sawyer said the alternatives offered to the employees would include the resumption of negotiations and possibly a strike.

The association's executive director said he believes it is unlikely.

It's Back To 'Officer'

After almost a year of sporadic debate about what to call Irvine policemen, the traditional title of "officer" has proved its durability.

An earlier decision to call policemen "agents" as a public relations effort was reversed after rank and file protest.

Said one ex-agent, "With the investigations into the CIA and everything, agent didn't seem like such a good name after all."

County Gets Job Funding for 850

Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Orange Coast cities and communities will get enough special federal summer youth program money to hire more than 850 young people in public service jobs starting this week.

County Manpower Commission Executive Director Robert Nelson said the entire county is entitled to $1.82 million to provide jobs for about 3,000 teenagers.

Nelson said applications for the jobs, which include such things as recreation counselors, are already being taken and most will be filled on a first-come, first-served basis, primarily by disadvantaged youngsters.

All but two Orange Coast communities will conduct hiring through county government's personnel department. The number each area will be able to hire is based on a complex mathematical formula that will be applied during the hiring process.

The county will administer hiring for the cities of Fountain Valley, Irvine, Costa Mesa, Newport Beach, Laguna Beach, San Juan Capistrano and San Clemente and for the entire unit.

Two Quakes Cause Panic In Italy

NAPLES, Italy (UPI) — Two earthquake shocks at midday today caused panic in cities and towns from Naples to the heel of the Italian boot.

No injuries or serious damage was reported but authorities said the shocks cracked walls in houses and public buildings, including Naples' new hospital and the baroque chapels of Troia's 18th-century Romanesque Basilica.

The worst scenes of panic were in hospitals and in schools, where final examinations were halted. At Avellino, 40 inmates of the local jail interrupted a court hearing with their screams.

Residents of Naples, Bari and smaller communities rushed into the streets by the hundreds after the first shock. Fire departments were flooded with telephone calls from people wanting to know if it was safe to return to their apartments. Brief electrical outages were reported in Caserta and parts of Puglia.

The Prato Seismological Observatory reported the shocks, part of a single undulating tremor, measured 6 to 7 on the 12-grade Mercalli scale at their epicenter around the Gargano peninsula.

Non-city Crimes Cited

By GARY GRANVILLE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Despite protests from District Attorney Cecil Hicks, Orange County supervisors transferred 22 district attorney's investigators to the sheriff's department today.

The board's action represented an indication of support for Sheriff Brad Gates in his move to bring the investigation of crimes in unincorporated areas into his department.

Gates argued that the sheriff's office should not prosecute cases it investigates and the district attorney should not investigate cases he prosecutes.

Hicks argued the investigators taken from his staff are needed by him to carry out his mandate to investigate certain kinds of crime in both incorporated and unincorporated areas.

Specifically, he noted, a mandate to combat organized crime and fraud wherever it exists.

He also said the services of his office were needed by city police in the investigation of homicides and certain narcotic cases that cross city boundaries.

He pointed out to the supervisors that their move, which came during a budget hearing, did not involve the spending of money but rather simply the transfer of personnel from one department to another.

His words, however, fell on deaf ears as the board voted unanimously to transfer the 22 investigators, an adequate clerical staff and necessary vehicles from the district attorney's office to the sheriff's office.

Supervisor Robert Battin who made the motion for the transfer, said his judgment was based on the continuing effort to consolidate departmental functions as well as philosophical issues.

"I don't believe justice is served when investigators direct their work at proving a case against a defendant rather than seeking objective information," Battin said.

"I believe the citizens of Orange County will receive more even-handed justice if there is a proper division of power," he added.

A second part of the board's unanimous action was to direct county Administrative Officer Robert Thomas to study the feasibility of consolidating the investigative functions of the sheriff, district attorney and public defender into a single unit.

Coast Inspector Charged in Bribe

A former inspector with the Huntington Beach Public Works Department was indicted Wednesday by the Orange County Grand Jury on bribery charges filed after he allegedly accepted a $510 payoff from a contractor whose work he was inspecting.

Superior Court Judge Everett W. Dickey ordered John Frank Biondi, 32, of 1040 13th St., Huntington Beach, to face trial Sept. 8 on the allegations.

Biondi was arrested after investigation by Huntington Beach police and district attorney's investigators into allegations the he accepted the illegal payment on June 11, 1974, from a contractor engaged on a Sunset Heights sewer project.

Fuming DA To File Suit

District Attorney Cecil Hicks said today he will file a lawsuit to halt the transfer of 22 of his investigators to the sheriff's department and call for a Grand Jury investigation into the Board of Supervisors action.

A FEW MINUTES before Hicks made his announcement, supervisors voted unanimously to transfer the 22 investigators and their clerical staff to the sheriff's department.

Hicks charged the move was prompted by a shadow government that controls the Board of Supervisors.

The only person he named as part of the so-called shadow government was prominent political figure Dr. Louis Cella. He refused to identify any other purported members but hinted that Supervisor Robert Battin is part of the secret clique.

THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY said that he has refused to use his office to play into the hands of the power structure that "seeks to emasculate the district attorney's office and its ability to dig out fraud and political corruption."

He went on to vow to continue to investigate and prosecute so-called political cronies who violate the law.

Hicks also said that he had been told that at a recent political fund raising cocktail party, Cella had boasted of the pending move to reduce the district attorney's investigative staff.

2 Hard-core Films Set for Pussycat

"Deep Throat" and "The Devil in Miss Jones," two of the best known sexy movies in recent years, are scheduled to open Friday at the Balboa Pussycat Theater.

Pussycat officials are currently embroiled in a tug of war with Newport Beach police vice officers over the adult films shown at the theater, at 709 East Balboa Blvd.

Eight reels of sexy movies already have been confiscated

during raids and the number may increase to ten on Friday when the new bill opens.

Police Chief James Glavas said today that the new films will be treated no differently by police officers than the movies that preceded them.

"We'll review the movies and then confiscate them if we judge them obscene," Glavas said.

The chief said that Newport officers would not base their decisions on the past history of "Deep Throat," which is currently at issue in a Supreme Court decision expected soon.

Glavas said that just because a film has the same title as the original, it may not have the same contents and therefore has to be viewed each time it is shown again.

"It may be similar only in title. That's why we have to tire out our officers by having them view the film and submit affidavits stating what is in each film," Glavas added.

Unifying Program Slated

City, county and school officials are expected to discuss the impact of Fountain Valley's proposed school unification at a public forum Monday night.

The 7:30 p.m. meeting will be held in Fountain Valley City Council Chambers, 10200 Slater Ave.

Zeta Wessa, leader of a new organization, TIME (Taxpayers Interested in Municipal Economy), will moderate, and each of the eight panel members will have five minutes to speak.

Written questions also will be taken from the audience. The League of Women Voters will screen them.

The panel will include Bob Read, superintendent of the Fountain Valley (elementary) School District; Glenn Dysinger, assistant superintendent of the Huntington Beach Union High School District.

Also, Dale Coogan, superintendent of the Ocean View (elementary) School District; Rod McClain, assistant to the superintendent of the Garden Grove Unified School District; Fountain Valley City Councilman Al Hollinden.

And Bruce Johnson, president of the Huntington Beach Union High School District Educators Association; Hal Mason, secretary to the Orange County Committee on School District Organization, and a staff member from the Orange County Administrative Office.

Federal Aid Used to Plug Budget Holes

Orange County supervisors continued to hammer away at record county spending Wednesday by directing more federal revenue sharing funds to projects that would otherwise be paid for from county property tax funds.

Following a pattern they established Tuesday when $3.9 million worth of revenue sharing funds were diverted to pay for capital projects, the board threw in another $3 million to lighten county taxpayers' burden by a total of $6.9 million.

At the same time the supervisors kept the spending lid on by continuing a hiring freeze they invoked last March.

So far, according to county Personnel Director Bert Scott, the hiring freeze has saved $2 million.

No sooner had he spoken those words than the board decided unanimously to keep the hiring reins in its hands.

That means county department heads wanting to fill vacancies will continue to have to ask the supervisors before the vacancies can be filled.

As the supervisors continued their budget hearings, the pending county property tax rate dropped to $1.66 per $100 worth of assessed value, a five-cent increase over the current rate.

But not yet applied to the budget are pending salary and fringe benefit increases for Orange County's 11,000 employees, a package that could add as much as 20 cents to the tax rate.

The supervisors also set their own office budgets for the coming fiscal year. Those budgets range from Supervisor Ralph Clark's $117,000 low to Supervisor Laurence Schmit's $131,754 high.

Soft Touch Burglars Fall for Tears

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — Two would-be burglars fell for a phony sob story and ended up giving $20 to the owner of the house they planned to burglarize.

Mrs. Joseph McCabe told Jackson County sheriff's deputies that she surprised the pair while they were removing a table and some articles from the unoccupied house.

She said she told them her husband was in the hospital, that she had just lost her job and could not pay the hospital bill. She also told them she would give them water but the pump was broken and she lacked the money to get it fixed.

One of the burglars apologized and the pair then moved all the articles back into the house and left. Mrs. McCabe said she later found a $20 bill placed on a table.

Female Role Eyed In World Meeting

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — It was billed as the world's largest consciousness-raising session — an international who's who of women in search of a greater female role in global affairs.

Hundreds of women from around the world — Israelis and Arabs, Communists and capitalists, government officials and wives of leaders — converged on Mexico City today for the start of the two-week conference.

A Soviet cosmonaut, a French cabinet minister and a Chinese legislator were among the women attending the United Nations International Women's Year Conference in the Mexican capital.

But planners said about 20 percent of the 1,000 delegates from more than 100 countries at the multi-million dollar conference were men.

Helvi Sipilä of Finland, the U.N. secretary general for International Women's Year, said she hoped the conference would set a precedent, encouraging women to participate more actively in world affairs.

"This is the first time in any inter-governmental conference that so many women have represented their governments," she said. "Women are so inferior still in their own attitudes, they don't recognize their own power."

The conference, called the "world's largest consciousness raising session" by planners, was aimed at launching a 10-year program to end discrimination against women and increase female participation in world affairs.

A non-governmental conference — known as the tribune — will be held simultaneously in another part of the city.

Some 2,500 delegates were expected to attend the tribune, including feminists Gloria Steinem and Betty Friedan, actress Jane Fonda and political activist Angela Davis.

The tribune, which is not empowered to make official recommendations, will discuss education, family structure, law and the status of women, and political participation.

Sipilä, a 60-year-old lawyer, said she hoped conference delegates would pay special attention to political decision-making, educational and economic opportunities, legal status and maternity problems.

Valley Slates Baton Clases

The Fountain Valley Recreation Department is looking for young baton twirlers age 5 through 12.

Classes for beginning and advanced students will begin Monday at Cox School, Fountain Valley School and the city's new Recreation and Cultural Center in Mile Square Park.

The fee is $10 for 10 lessons. Advanced students also may join the Baton Teams, Spinners and Sunbursts at a $10 monthly fee.

Pre-registration is required at the civic center, 10200 Slater Ave., from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays.

Summer Class Openings Told

There are still openings in many of the Huntington Beach Recreation Department's summer classes.

They include children's gymnastics, golf, theater, hunter safety, teen charm and camping, among others. Open adult classes include Hawaiian and Tahitian dance, karate, needlepoint and coed fitness.

Those interested should call the Edison Community Center, 536-9381 or the Murdy Community Center, 842-4431.

RABIES CLINIC CORRECTION

A rabies clinic at Huntington Beach's Murdy Park is scheduled for Thursday night, July 18, not tonight as erroneously printed in Tuesday's newspaper.

The California Animal Control-sponsored inoculation program will be followed by another, also from 7 to 9 p.m., on Thursday, June 26 at the Golden West College parking lot off Golden West Street.

Epilepsy Program Pushed

By TOM BARLEY
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Epilepsy costs the United States at least $5 billion a year and a national program that would alleviate its ravages and aid its victims is long overdue, former Congressman Peter Kyros told a meeting of the Orange County Epilepsy Society Wednesday in Santa Ana.

"Far too few people realize that the vast majority of epileptics are easily helped sufferers who can work and live normally with the right help and appropriate medication," Kyros said.

At least half of the 32,000 Orange County residents who are victims of the disease can control their seizures with medication, he said. Another 30 percent can exercise partial control in attack situations, he pointed out.

"What we need is a national commission and program on the lines of those available to sufferers from heart, cancer, cerebral palsy and multiple sclerosis conditions," the Maine lawyer said.

Kyros' 1974 bill creating national standards for the control and cure of epilepsy was vetoed by President Ford after being approved by Congress, he recalled.

Kyros is now touring the nation seeking support for what he described as an identical measure drafted by Sen. Edward Kennedy and Rep. Paul Rogers after he was ousted from office last November.

Kyros warned that many epileptics are being denied participation in employment and social pursuits because of the stigma that they believe is attached to manifestations of the disease.

"This is where local organizations like yours can play a major role," he said. "More than 160 chapters of the Epilepsy Foundation of America are involved in educational programs that are fast removing this fancied stigma."

Kyros strongly recommended educational programs on epilepsy and assistance to victims of the disease "to those young people seeking a cause worthy of their time and talents."

"They could play no better role in today's society," he said.

likely that the employees would decide to strike. But, he added, there are some members who definitely favor a walkout.

It is expected that the Board of Supervisors will incorporate what Scott termed the county's final offer into the pending 1975-76 budget.

While Scott refused to call the county's proposal an ultimatum, he did say that as far as he is concerned there is more room for bargaining.

Despite Trial Assessments 'Out on Time'

By JAN WORTH
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Despite the turmoil that surrounded its operation this year, the Orange County Assessors' Office still had to levy valuations on 550,000 pieces of property ranging from doghouses to Disneyland to oil derricks.

That includes 340,000 single family homes, 30,000 boats, 71,000 apartments, 25,000 townhouses, 30,000 commercial and 97,000 business units, and 11,000 miscellaneous properties including tax-exempt churches and hospitals.

To do the job, the office has a $5 million annual budget and almost 300 employees.

County Assessor Jack Valleria promised Wednesday night that despite indictments of 11 employees for alleged illegalities stemming from the campaign of U.S. Rep. Andrew Hinshaw, former assessor, the assessment rolls will be out on time July 1.

Six days later Valleria, a Mission Viejo resident, goes on trial himself on charges of grand theft, embezzlement and violation of government codes — all stemming from the Hinshaw campaign.

Speaking to the Saddleback Area Coordinating Council in El Toro, Valleria said he is not permitted by his attorney to talk about the case.

"I am very confident," he said. "I feel the judicial system will do justice and I expect to run for assessor four years from now."

And he added when he gets a chance to talk "I'll have a lot to say."

Valleria predicted a 10 percent jump in the county's assessed valuation this year — including a five percent jump in homeowners assessments and a 30 percent jump in the commercial and manufacturing sector.

Ocean View's Board Backs Unify Voting

Trustees in the Ocean View School District in Huntington Beach have unanimously endorsed a special bill aimed at allowing their constituents to vote on Fountain Valley's proposed unification plan.

Under the bill, authored by Assemblyman Paul Carpenter (D-Garden Grove), all residents of the Huntington Beach Union High and Garden Grove Unified School Districts could vote on the matter Nov. 4.

Ocean View is in the Huntington Beach high school district and stands to lose Vista View School to the proposed Fountain Valley unified district.

The state Board of Education earlier ruled that only residents of Fountain Valley and the Fountain Valley (elementary) School District would vote.

The tax bill will be higher as well, even though he characterized county officials as exerting "a real effort to control spending."

"We have an odd situation: there is a slump, no question about it. There is a decrease in home sales compared to other years. But in other parts of the U.S., if they had as many sales they'd consider it a boom."

"Sales are reflecting higher prices," he said. "Sales prices haven't dropped, but the number of sales have dropped."

Valleria explained that the three factors used to value a property are:

—The replacement cost.
—The sales price or market value.

—The income flow — as in apartment and commercial units.

The assessor's office uses a "mass appraisal" approach, which means that all properties are appraised each year. This differs from the system used in Los Angeles County, Valleria said, where a fourth of the county's properties are assessed each year.

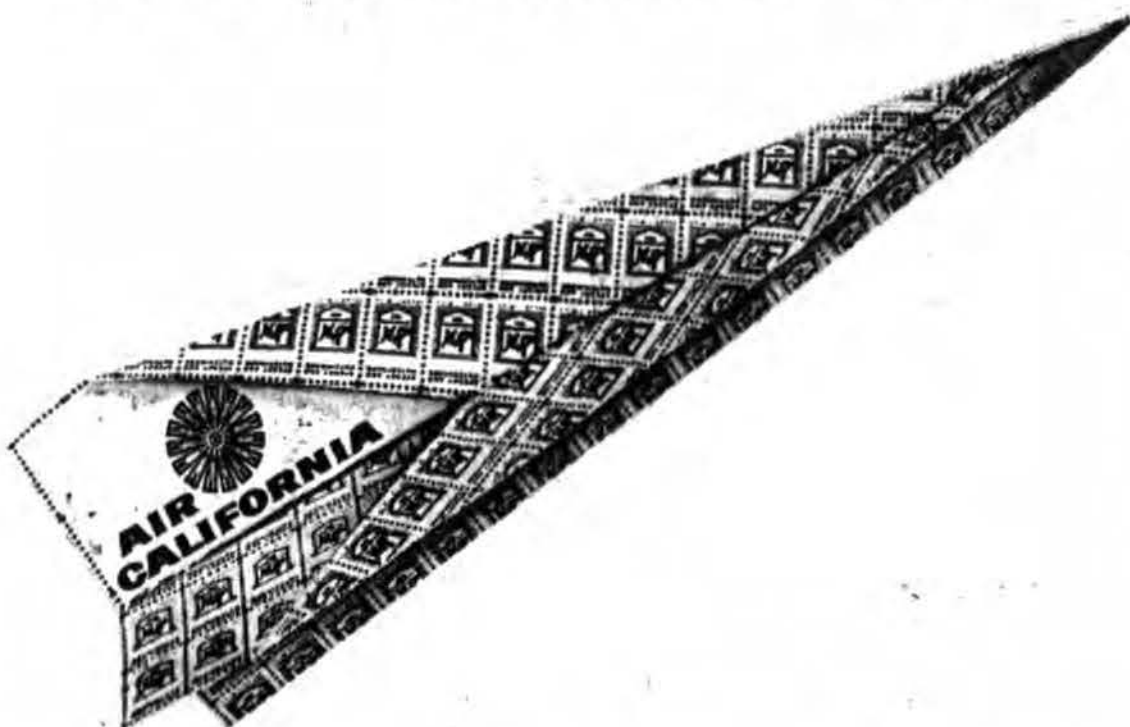

"I thoroughly disagree with the approach used in Los Angeles," he said. "Under that system you are never current."

County Solon Helps Block Budget

By O. C. HUSTINGS
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Richard Robinson of Santa Ana was one of the five recalcitrant Democrats who, with Assembly Republicans, held up the Legislature's $11.57 billion state budget earlier this week.

The five Democrats, in a surprise move led by Assemblyman Willie Brown of San Francisco, refused to vote on the proposed budget. This, coupled with an almost united GOP front against the budget, kept Assembly Speaker Leo McCarthy from mustering enough votes for passage. The delay came Tuesday about six hours after the Senate approved the budget on a 32-5 bipartisan vote.

The recalcitrant Brown, it will be recalled, lost a bitterly fought battle for the speakership to McCarthy last year.

Santa Ana's Robinson and the four other Democrats said there was no assurance that a full $65.2 million cost of living increase for the elderly, blind and disabled would be spent by the governor. They also complained about reductions in college economic opportunity programs.

STATE SENATOR James Whetmore (R-Buena Park) is making his future political plans abundantly clear.

"It has been my intention, it is now my intention and will be my intention when declarations of candidacy are filed in February to declare my candidacy for, to run in and to continue to represent the people of my 35th Senatorial District," Whetmore said this week in a prepared statement.

Assemblyman John Briggs (R-Fullerton) has declared an interest in Whetmore's seat and a GOP primary battle is shaping up.

CONGRESSMAN Mark Hannaford, the Long Beach Democrat who represents much of western Orange County, has introduced legislation calling for the federal government to reimburse states that spend money for the education of Vietnamese refugees.

According to Hannaford, Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Caspar Weinberger has said HEW does not plan to reimburse states for educational services provided to the refugees.

Hannaford said he was shocked by Weinberger's statement and his bill resulted.

"The problem of the Vietnamese refugees is a national one," said the congressman, "and California taxpayers should not be expected to bear the considerable financial burden involved in integrating the refugees into the mainstream of our society."

LEGISLATION requiring the local polling place precinct board to mark off the names of the people who have voted until 6 p.m., instead of 4 p.m., has been signed into law by Governor Brown.

Assemblyman Robert H. Burke (R-Huntington Beach) author of the measure (AB 754) said, "Passage of this legislation will be a definite help to those who work in the precincts in determining who has and hasn't voted."

"The existing law which provides for the posting of the names of those who haven't cast their ballot by 4 p.m. just isn't working," he explained.

"By extending the time to 6 p.m. it will help those attempting to get out the vote to inform the people, who had failed to cast their ballot by that time, that there is still time to do so."

Orange County Airport Director Robert Bresnahan said today he would rather the county buy air easements over jet noise impacted Santa Ana Heights homes than condemn them outright.

He told an audience at a Citizens Harbor Area Research Team (CHART) meeting in Costa Mesa he will complete a "land conversion plan" for the area in about two months and the easement concept will be prominently suggested.

The airport director was ordered last month by the county Board of Supervisors to proceed with land conversion preparations in an effort to fulfill state-mandated noise variance requirements.

During the 90-minute meeting this morning, Bresnahan was challenged by residents of homes on the western shore of Upper Newport Bay over his contention that commercial jets are flying over bay waters, not residential areas.

The Santa Ana Heights problem dominated the meeting, particularly when Bresnahan explained "land conversion" doesn't necessarily mean condemnation and displacement of residents.

"The board of supervisors didn't say to go out and condemn houses," Bresnahan said. "They told me to prepare a plan for land conversion and they will be the ones who must make the decision."

"I am totally opposed to acquiring someone's property

when we don't need it," Bresnahan said. "I would much rather see noise easements over the homes purchased where we would pay people who want to stay in their homes for the right to make the noise."

Bresnahan told the audience that because of a series of unforeseen circumstances, Orange County Airport was required to seek a noise variance from the state that requires compliance with 1985 noise standards within this decade.

He said that unless the impact area is steadily reduced each year, the variance can be revoked and the airport closed.

"We should not be forced to take drastic action and should have until 1985 like all other airports," Bresnahan said. (See HOMES, Page A2)

County Package Refused

Negotiations of a 1975-76 wage-fringe benefit package for Orange County's 11,000 employees broke off Wednesday without a settlement being reached.

County negotiators today said their offer of the package that would cost taxpayers about $11 million was their final offer.

Simultaneously, spokesmen for the Orange County Employees Association said the county's proposal was not acceptable.

They said the association's 9,700 members will be polled to determine the employees next move.

For now, negotiations are at an end and there is no plan to resume them, according to Bert Scott, the county's personnel director.

Scott said the offer made to the association included pay raises ranging from 2 1/4 percent to five percent.

He also said the county as part of the fringe benefit package offered to pick up a higher portion of the employees' group insurance cost and to contribute more to their retirement fund.

The personnel director also noted that the county agreed to accept either a multi-year or single year contract, earlier a point of sharp disagreement between the negotiators.

Scott claimed the county's final offer has the effect of putting more take home pay into the employees' pockets than is indicated by the salary hikes because of the county's willingness to participate more deeply in fringe benefit costs.

However, OCEA's Executive Director John Sawyer said employee representatives who met Wednesday night were "indignant with the county's offer and found no part of it acceptable."

Scott and OCEA's negotiators are holding out for an 11 1/4 percent combined increase in wages and fringe benefits.

What the OCEA negotiators are proposing is a 7 1/4 percent average salary hike and a 4 1/2 percent increase in benefits.

Therefore, what separates the two is a 2.9 percent overall package increase, or roughly $3.5 million.

At the close of the meeting, the representatives agreed to informally poll OCEA members, possibly by a written ballot.

Sawyer said the alternatives offered to the employees would include the resumption of negotiations and possibly a strike.

The association's executive director said he believes it is unlikely that the employees would decide to strike. But, he added, there are some members who definitely favor a walkout.

State Fund Squeeze Undermines Bridge

Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr.'s declaration Wednesday that all California highway spending has to end has apparently dealt a stinging blow to Newport Beach's proposals to build a new Coast Highway bridge.

City Manager Robert Wynn reported today that officials of the California Department of Transportation phoned Newport city hall Wednesday to report that the governor's spending freeze "may very well affect the funding of the new bridge."

No one yet is completely certain about the effects of the new order, but the initial call seemed pessimistic, Wynn said.

Burglar Hits Home

A burglar, who managed to reach through a pet door and gain entry, stole sound equipment, a rifle and two television sets, all worth about $1,000, from the home of Paul Anthony Hale, 4818 River Ave., the owner told Newport Beach police late Wednesday.

More than $2 million would be needed from state highway coffers to pay for a new, six-lane, 20-foot-high span to replace the bridge serving the highway since the 1930's.

Wynn stressed that the predictions of financial problems have not altered the local fervor for winning state and federal approvals necessary for the new span.

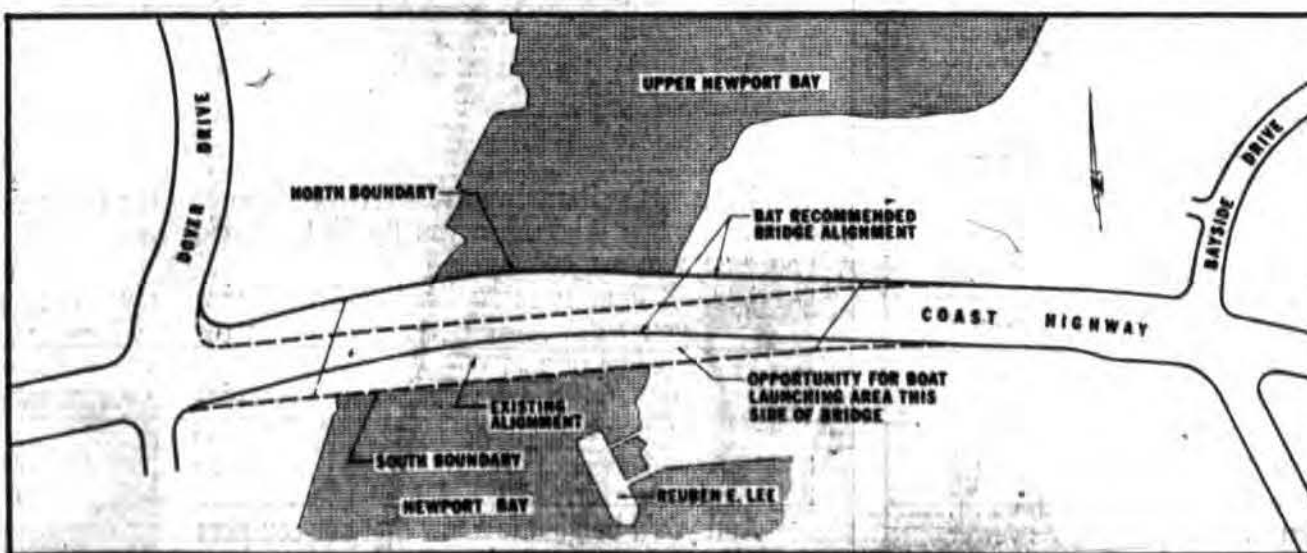

A special committee led by yachtsman and architect William Ficker has worked for several months to win community consensus on a design.

And preparations are still continuing for a major show of support when the state highway Commission meets July 25 in Sacramento.

City councilmen Monday afternoon will view a recently built model of the new span prepared by Ficker's Bridge Action Team.

We also hope to have a clearer picture of the impact of the governor's latest order," Wynn said.

"Right now we're operating as if nothing has really changed. It's the only way we can do it," Wynn said.

Despite protests from District Attorney Cecil Hicks, Orange County supervisors transferred 22 district attorney's investigators to the sheriff's department today.

The board's action represented an indication of support for Sheriff Brad Gates in his move to bring the investigation of crimes in unincorporated areas into his department.

Gates argued that the sheriff's office should not prosecute cases it investigates and the district attorney should not investigate cases he prosecutes.

Hicks argued the investigators taken from his staff are needed by him to carry out his mandate to investigate certain kinds of crime in both incorporated and unincorporated areas.

Specifically, he noted, a mandate to combat organized crime and fraud wherever it exists.

He also said the services of his office were needed by city police in the investigation of homicides and certain narcotic cases that cross city boundaries.

He pointed out to the supervisors that their move, which came during a budget hearing, did not involve the spending of money but rather simply the transfer of personnel from one department to another.

His words, however, fell on deaf ears as the board voted unanimously to transfer the 22 investigators, an adequate clerical staff and necessary vehicles from the district attorney's office to the sheriff's office.

Supervisor Robert Battin who made the motion for the transfer, said his judgment was based on the continuing effort to consolidate departmental functions as well as philosophical issues.

"I don't believe justice is served when investigators direct their work at proving a case against a defendant rather than

Patty Hearst Plan Recalled

LOS ANGELES (AP) — One-time underworld figure Mickey Cohen says he worked out a plan to return Patricia Hearst to her parents some months ago but it fell through because of fears for her safety.

"I had Patty Hearst ready to be delivered to her parents and to Jim McGinnis, who is the attorney for the Hearst family," Cohen told a news conference Wednesday.

Fuming DA To File Suit

District Attorney Cecil Hicks said today he will file a lawsuit to halt the transfer of 22 of his investigators to the sheriff's department and call for a Grand Jury investigation into the Board of Supervisors action.

A FEW MINUTES before Hicks made his announcement, supervisors voted unanimously to transfer the 22 investigators and their clerical staff to the sheriff's department.

Hicks charged the move was prompted by a shadow government that controls the Board of Supervisors.

The only person he named as part of the so-called shadow government was prominent political figure Dr. Louis Cella. He refused to identify any other purported members but hinted that Supervisor Robert Battin is part of the secret clique.

THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY said that he has refused to use his office to play into the hands of the power structure that "seeks to emasculate the district attorney's office and its ability to dig out fraud and political corruption."

He went on to vow to continue to investigate and prosecute so-called political cronies who violate the law.

Hicks also said that he had been told that at a recent political fund raising cocktail party, Cella had boasted of the pending move to reduce the district attorney's investigative staff.

2 Hard-core Films Set for Pussycat

"Deep Throat" and "The Devil in Miss Jones," two of the best known sexy movies in recent years, are scheduled to open Friday at the Balboa Pussycat Theater.

Pussycat officials are currently embroiled in a tug of war with Newport Beach police vice officers over the adult films shown at the theater, at 709 East Balboa Blvd.

Eight reels of sexy movies already have been confiscated

during raids and the number may increase to ten on Friday when the new bill opens.

Police Chief James Glavas said today that the new films will be treated no differently by police officers than the movies that preceded them.

"We'll review the movies and then confiscate them if we judge them obscene," Glavas said.

The chief said that Newport officers would not base their decisions on the past history of "Deep Throat," which is currently at issue in a Supreme Court decision expected soon.

Glavas said that just because a film has the same title as the original, it may not have the same contents and therefore has to be viewed each time it is shown again.

"It may be similar only in title. That's why we have to tire out our officers by having them view the film and submit affidavits stating what is in each film," Glavas added.

Mesa Council Okays Plans For Housing

Costa Mesa has taken two more steps toward implementing a leased housing program, one financed by federal funds.

The city council has approved an agreement authorizing the Orange County Housing Authority to administer the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) program in the city.

The council earlier in the year joined the housing agency, but did not set up a formal agreement on implementation of the program, made possible by the Housing and Community Development Act.

In approving the agreement, the council also wrote in a 30-day cancellation clause. This will allow the city to withdraw from the housing authority and join or create a new one with the city assuming the liabilities.

In a related action, the council also approved a job description for a housing coordinator. He will be paid $1,328 a month.

City Manager Fred Sorsabal said that the coordinator will be hired on a one-year contract basis while the program is evaluated and will not be on the city payroll because he will be paid with federal funds.

OC Gets 850-job Funding

By WILLIAM SCHREIBER
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Orange Coast cities and communities will get enough special federal summer youth program money to hire more than 850 young people in public service jobs starting this week.

County Manpower Commission Executive Director Robert Nelson said the entire county is entitled to $1.82 million to provide jobs for about 3,000 teenagers.

Nelson said applications for the jobs, which include such things as recreation counselors, are already being taken and most will be filled on a first-come, first-served basis, primarily by disadvantaged youngsters.

All but two Orange Coast communities will conduct hiring through county government's personnel department. The number each area will be able to hire is based on a complex mathematical formula that will be applied during the hiring process.

The county will administer hiring for the cities of Fountain Valley, Irvine, Costa Mesa, Newport Beach, Laguna Beach, San Juan Capistrano and San Clemente and for the entire unincorporated area.

Prospective applicants for jobs in those communities should call Luis Caudillo in the county human services division at 834-2835 for information.

In Huntington Beach, which will hire its own summer employees with a $108,000 share of the federal money, applicants can call the city manpower office at 535-0252 and talk to either Bob Cunningham or Russ Guarnieri.

Roughly 147 jobs will open in Huntington Beach under the program, Nelson said. Seal Beach will also conduct its own hiring of 16 youngsters with a $20,600 share of the money. Applicants can contact Bill Little at (213) 431-2527.

The total county government share of the job money is about $525,000, which will cover about 688 summer jobs, Nelson said, noting about 600 would go to coastal communities.

The job program was made possible when President Gerald Ford this week signed an $800 million appropriations bill.

Blast Rocks Las Vegas High Risers

PAHUTE MESA, Nev. (UPI) — A hydrogen warhead of the megaton class was exploded 3,000 feet underground at the nuclear test site at 6 a.m. today, rocking high rise buildings in Las Vegas 120 miles to the south.

Shock waves from the blast, believed the most powerful such explosion in at least two years and one of a planned series before they are banned by an agreement with Russia, took less than 30 seconds to reach the gambling spa.

An observer on the ground floor of a building where the shock waves are normally less perceptible, said there was a rolling motion felt for about 30 seconds.

The building swayed back and forth like a gentle rocking chair, the observer said. Light fixtures suspended from the ceiling swayed for a distance of about six inches.

Scientists at the Caltech Seismographic Laboratory in Pasadena said the blast measured less than 3.2 on the Richter Scale, since the monitoring device is triggered at that point and it did not turn on.

Either persons or monitoring devices were placed in more than 40 high rise buildings in Las Vegas to record the shock wave effects.

BARSTOW (AP) — A toxic chemical leaked through a mine storage tank and posed a threat to this desert community's water supply, authorities said.

Coast Man Found Dead In Cabin

San Bernardino County Coroner's deputies today are trying to determine a cause in the mystery death of Newport Beach insurance company chief Patrick Koenigsburger, found dead Tuesday in a rented Lake Arrowhead cabin.

The owner of King Insurance Company, 4600 Campus Drive, was discovered by the cabin's landlord, who finally went to check after he failed to return the key on schedule Sunday.

A coroner's deputy said Mr. Koenigsburger apparently died in his sleep Saturday night, but so far there is absolutely no clue to what killed him.

Toxicological tests are being conducted on the remains of the 54-year-old insurance executive, but it will be three to six weeks before results will be known.

No signs of foul play nor evidence of possible suicide were found and investigators said they have uncovered no indication of any serious illness in the past or present.

Investigators said Mr. Koenigsburger rented the cabin for the weekend.

Remains were taken to Groves Mortuary in San Bernardino where a spokesman said Mr. Koenigsburger's children made arrangements Wednesday morning with a stipulation of no funeral.

Survivors of the victim, who lived at 1600 Campus Drive, Newport Beach, include a son, Patrick of San Diego; daughters, Mrs. Sally Jess of Los Angeles and Mrs. Linda Broderick of Sebastopol, and a brother, Charles of Coronado.

Bunnies Stage Chicago Rally

CHICAGO (AP) — Eleven women from Chicago's Playboy Club staged a rally seeking greater freedom for bunnies at the club.

Playboy owner Hugh Hefner "claims to be in the forefront of sexual liberation, but he doesn't even give us our personal freedom," said one of the bunnies, Donna Greenwood, 24.

Miss Greenwood said most of the 80 bunnies in the Chicago club wanted fewer rules governing their social lives. She added that one rule that should be changed is the restriction against bunnies dating Playboy keyholders.

Officer Sues Police Chief

OAKLAND (UPI) — A police sergeant accused of embezzlement has sued the chief of police and five members of the city council for $6 million in damages.

James H. Bonds, 29, said in his suit filed Wednesday in Alameda County Superior Court, that he was falsely accused of a felony and was suspended "without a thorough and fair hearing." The suit charged the defendants with conspiracy.

Coast Inspector Charged in Bribe

A former inspector with the Huntington Beach Public Works Department was indicted Wednesday by the Orange County Grand Jury on bribery charges filed after he allegedly accepted a $510 payoff from a contractor whose work he was inspecting.

Superior Court Judge Everett W. Dickey ordered John Frank Biondi, 32, of 1040 13th St., Huntington Beach, to face trial Sept. 8 on the allegations.

Biondi was arrested after investigation by Huntington Beach police and district attorney's investigators into allegations that he accepted the illegal payment on June 11, 1974, from a contractor engaged on a Sunset Heights sewer project.

Clemente Split Seas Proposal Wipes Out

A new attempt to divide San Clemente's T Street surfing beach between board surfers and swimmers was wiped out Wednesday by the city council.

Councilman Thomas O'Keefe proposed that lifeguards be instructed to encourage joint use of the popular surfing beach by board and body surfers and that the swimmers be moved from the area if it appeared things were becoming hazardous.

O'Keefe previously had pushed through a "split seas" plan which was rescinded two weeks ago by the council. The first plan called for board surfers to remain on one side of an imaginary line running from a buoy beyond the surfline to a flag on the beach. Swimmers and body surfers were to stay on the opposite side.

O'Keefe's new plan was defeated by a 3-2 vote with Mayor Anthony DiGiovanni and O'Keefe backing it and Councilmen Pat Lane, Charles Fox and Art Holmes against it.

In its place, the council approved unanimously a policy statement calling for the lifeguards to exercise discretion when enforcing the current law which requires board surfers to move if swimmers outnumber them.

The policy states that maximum benefit is to be made of the beach for all persons.

It is expected that the Board of Supervisors will incorporate what Scott termed the county's final offer into the pending 1975-76 budget.

While Scott refused to call the county's proposal an ultimatum, he did say that as far as he is concerned there is more room for bargaining.

It's Back To 'Officer'

After almost a year of sporadic debate about what to call Irvine policemen, the traditional title of "officer" has proved its durability.

An earlier decision to call policemen "agents" as a public relations effort was reversed after rank and file protest.

HOMES . . .

By then, he noted, technological changes in aircraft engines could make the noise problem minimal.

The condemnation specter arose when supervisors for the third time this year rejected a state-approved alternative to cutting noise by an acceptable amount to live up to this year's variance.

The option was a "preferential runway" system that would require jets departing in the early morning hours to take off to the north over the Irvine Industrial Complex and the cities of Tustin and Santa Ana.

Supervisor Ralph Clark, whose district includes most of that area, led the opposition.

"Therein lies much of the problem," Bresnahan said. "It is up to the board of supervisors to take any action and they can change their minds on anything."

Bresnahan also tried to defend recent shifts in the takeoff pattern over the Upper Bay against contentions by several audience members that, in reality, most big jets fly over heavily-populated areas.

He said the shift, which moved the centerline of the pattern 500 feet closer to the western shore, was the fifth change in recent years.

The change was designed to correct for the drifting of flights over the Eastbluff area, Bresnahan said, noting the pilots of big jets must take off on instruments because the takeoff angle is too steep to allow them to see the ground.

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Williams, who live on the west shore of the bay, said the jets have never flown down the center of the bay. They contended the planes consistently fly over populated areas.

Two Quakes Cause Panic In Italy

NAPLES, Italy (UPI) — Two earthquake shocks at midday today caused panic in cities and towns from Naples to the heel of the Italian boot.

No injuries or serious damage was reported but authorities said the shocks cracked walls in houses and public buildings, including Naples' new hospital and the baroque chapels of Troia's 18th-century Romanesque Basilica.

The worst scenes of panic were in hospitals and in schools, where final examinations were halted. At Avellino, 40 inmates of the local jail interrupted a court hearing with their screams.

Residents of Naples, Bari and smaller communities rushed into the streets by the hundreds after the first shock. Fire departments were flooded with telephone calls from people wanting to know if it was safe to return to their apartments. Brief electrical outages were reported in Caserta and parts of Puglia.

EVANGELIST WILLIAM LOWERY STANDS IN FRONT OF GOSPEL TENT

Wallace Declares He'll Be 'Involved'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama says he would be "involved" in the 1976 campaign to represent "the great gutsy middle class," but he stopped short of declaring he would seek the Democratic presidential nomination.

"My intention at this time is that I am going to be involved in 1976, because I believe the great issue of the survival of the middle class is going to need someone to forcefully express that viewpoint," said Wallace, standing before nearly 1,000 delegates to the convention of the National Federation of Independent Business.

"I DO INTEND to make a more formal announcement later," Wallace said. Although the Wallace statement was some distance from an official declaration of his candidacy, it moved him away from his previous insistence that he had not yet decided whether to make his fourth presidential effort since 1964.

Asked after the speech why he did not make a formal announcement of his candidacy, Wallace replied, "That was good enough for today."

Asked if he had a time set for formal announcement, he added: "I have other problems. It will come."

THE PARTIALLY PARALYZED governor stood for nearly 45 minutes speaking to the delegates and gave them a complete run-through of his positions on law and order, government regulation and foreign policy.

His voice was strong and he lashed out at those who questioned his health, saying: "Too many folks are talking about things they don't know anything about."

College Sets Big Trip for Mountaineers

Hardy people interested in exploring the High Sierra and earning three units of college credit as well as invited to participate in a seven-day trip sponsored by Saddleback College.

The class will give participants a good look at the geologic makeup of California's High Sierra and Mother Lode regions.

It is being offered under the course title of Biology 17 and is scheduled for July 21-27.

STUDENTS WILL EXPLORE the flora and fauna of the Sierra region and study astronomy at night.

The trip is recommended only for those in good physical condition, according to Dr. Phil Littell, a Saddleback biology instructor who will act as adviser and guide.

The trip will begin at Rock Creek and cover a 56-mile trek along a portion of the John Muir Trail and end at Pike Creek. The group will traverse steep trails up to 2,000 feet.

MULES WILL CARRY all supplies and wranglers will be on hand to accompany hikers and prepare meals. Still, Dr. Littell says the hike will be strenuous at times.

Cost of the trip is $101.50 and registration is open to all residents who have lived in the Saddleback Community College District for one year.

Those interested in joining the tour should register as soon as possible at the college's Division of Natural Science.

An orientation meeting will be conducted for all participants at 7 p.m. June 23 in Room 313 of the math-science building.

Traveling Gospel

Evangelists Pitch Tent in Costa Mesa

By ALAN DIRKIN
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Three years ago Michael Maddox, then 21, was living on a 38-acre farm in Decatur, Ill., with his wife, Deborah. They had a car, he had a steady job as a social worker, and he was pushing dope.

"We were well off but it was a hypocritical life and I hated that," Maddox recalled. "There I was working to save families during the day and at night I was peddling dope to break up families."

It all changed when an evangelical team of Christian nomads pitched their huge circus tent in Decatur. Maddox and his wife were "saved," they sold their belongings, joined the Christian community, and have been with it ever since.

THIS MONTH the community — Christ Is the Answer — is gathered in about 60 trailers, trucks, and campers on the Orange County Fairgrounds in Costa Mesa.

Their crusade involves about 100 Bible-carrying members a day taking to the streets to preach their faith. Nightly revival meetings are held in the big Gospel tent.

Christ Is the Answer Crusades, Inc., was formed in 1969 by director William Lowery, 33, following training at Central Bible College, Springfield, Mo. It has two traveling ministries, one of about 140 people in Europe, and one of 180 now in Costa Mesa, headquarters in Weldon, Ill., where its monthly newspaper New Manna is published, and another team of about 30 evangelists in Washington, D.C.

"Few people can believe in today's world that we are just trying to help without ulterior motives," Lowery said on a walking tour of the community on the fairgrounds. "But that's all we are doing. We are just trying to build a quality Christian."

THE MEMBERS of the crusade lead ascetic lives. They give up everything when they join and turn it over to the community.

The women wear long dresses to curtail sexual temptations. "Sometimes they need to wear blue jeans, but if they do they wear long baggy tops to cover the hips," Maddox said.

A newcomer to the community is on probation for six weeks. The ministry policy underlines that there must be no fellowship with the opposite sex during that time. If they have a musical instrument they must not play that or engage in any other hobby during the probation, but "seek a place of humility, meekness, and submission."

'Sometimes the women need to wear blue jeans, but if they do, they wear long baggy tops to cover the hips.'

ANY COMMUNITY member who becomes involved in "slandorous backbiting, open rebellion, sex sins, drugs, alcohol and tobacco" risks expulsion, the ministry policy warns.

The day starts at 6:30 a.m. After that there are prayer meetings and group meetings at which the day's activities are planned. Most then take to the streets carrying a sandwich and Bible tracts, while others stay behind patching the tents, repairing vehicles or clearing the grounds.

The community has a tent for single men—all belongings must fit in a foot locker—and another for women. There are many families, and they live in campers.

A SCHOOL, accredited in Texas, is run out of two mobile homes. Its principal is Frank Crabtree, who gave up a business career earlier this year to join the community with his wife,

Mollie, and their children.

Mrs. Crabtree teaches biology at the school. How does she feel just a few months after her switch from a suburban life to a nomadic existence? "I never cared much for camping," she admits. "But you can't always do what you want when the Lord calls you."

How long will the family remain with the crusade? "Until Jesus comes."

THE CRUSADE has been on the fairgrounds since the beginning of June and will remain until July 6. Their dealings with city officials and the Orange County Fair Board have been smooth; they are renting 33 acres from the fair board at $500 a week.

But their dealings with established churches in the area, and the attendance at the revival meetings, from 200 to 300 a night in a tent capable of holding 4,000, have been less than satisfactory.

All pastors in the area were contacted on their arrival, but only about eight have actively cooperated with the evangelists, holding congregational meetings in the big tent, and preaching to the traveling Christians.

"The other churches say they recognize us as Christian brothers, but they feel no responsibility toward us," said Lowery, admitting that the offering the previous night was only $40.

"WE HAVE EXPENSES of $200 a day," Lowery said.

Calvary Chapel has the largest established church membership in the area. Pastor Ron Wiseman summed up the church's attitude to the crusade by saying, "We don't understand why they came here."

The pastor indicated that other crusades come only with the backing of the area ministries. "We are praying for them," the pastor added. "We will be grateful if they can reach someone, because we know we can't reach everyone."

Pen Squeals Blows Whistle on Forger

MENLO PARK (UPI) — An electronic ballpoint pen which can blow a whistle when a forger uses it has been developed by the Stanford Research Institute.

The pen, wired to a computer, detects the pressure and motion of the writer as well as the lines of the signature. These pressures and angles of writing would be practically impossible for a forger to duplicate.

"It clearly separated the 'good guys' from the 'forgers' in a test of a dozen engineers at the SRI Laboratory," said Dr. Hewitt Crane, who invented the pen.

The device resembles an ordinary ballpoint and can be used in a variety of ways.

"It is potentially useful in any situation requiring signature verification: credit card purchases, travelers checks, stock exchange transactions, money orders, registered mail, voting and access to security areas," the institute said.

County Solon Helps Block Budget

By O. C. HUSTINGS

Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Richard Robinson of Santa Ana was one of the five recalcitrant Democrats who, with Assembly Republicans, held up the Legislature's $11.57 billion state budget earlier this week.

The five Democrats, in a surprise move led by Assemblyman Willie Brown of San Francisco, refused to vote on the proposed budget. This, coupled with an almost united GOP front against the budget, kept Assembly Speaker Leo McCarthy from mustering enough votes for passage. The delay came Tuesday about six hours after the Senate approved the budget on a 32-5 bipartisan vote.

The recalcitrant Brown, it will be recalled, lost a bitterly fought battle for the speakership to McCarthy last year.

Santa Ana's Robinson and the four other Democrats said there was no assurance that a full $65.2 million cost of living increase for the elderly, blind and disabled would be spent by the governor. They also complained about reductions in college economic opportunity programs.

STATE SENATOR James Whetmore (R-Buena Park) is making his future political plans abundantly clear.

"It has been my intention, it is now my intention and will be my intention when declarations of candidacy are filed in February to declare my candidacy for, to run in and to continue to represent the people of my 35th Senatorial District," Whetmore said this week in a prepared statement.

Assemblyman John Briggs (R-Fullerton) has declared an interest in Whetmore's seat and a GOP primary battle is shaping up.

CONGRESSMAN Mark Hannaford, the Long Beach Democrat who represents much of western Orange County, has introduced legislation calling for the federal government to reimburse states that spend money for the education of Vietnamese refugees.

According to Hannaford, "Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Caspar Weinberger has said HEW does not plan to reimburse states for educational services provided to the refugees."

Hannaford said he was shocked by Weinberger's statement and his bill resulted.

"The problem of the Vietnamese refugees is a national one," said the congressman, "and California taxpayers should not be expected to bear the considerable financial burden involved in integrating the refugees into the mainstream of our society."

LEGISLATION requiring the local polling place precinct board to mark off the names of the people who have voted until 6 p.m., instead of 4 p.m., has been signed into law by Governor Brown.

Assemblyman Robert H. Burke (R-Huntington Beach) author of the measure (AB 754) said, "Passage of this legislation will be a definite help to those who work in the precincts in determining who has and hasn't voted."

"The existing law which provides for the posting of the names of those who haven't cast their ballot by 4 p.m. just isn't working," he explained.

"By extending the time to 6 p.m. it will help those attempting to get out the vote to inform the people, who had failed to cast their ballot by that time, that there is still time to do so."

12,000 Deaths Annually

Flame-proofing Fabrics a Must

By SYLVIA PORTER

Q: What ordinary, round-the-house product to which all of us are exposed every day, no matter what we do, takes more lives yearly than polio before development of the Salk vaccine?

A: Flammable fabrics. While most of us do not fully appreciate it, virtually all fabrics that surround us — in clothing, bedding, household furnishings — will burn readily. Untreated clothing often ignites fully in 20 to 30 seconds!

The extent of the injuries and deaths from burning fabrics is finally emerging as a result of studies by the Consumer Product Safety Commission's National Electronic Injury Surveillance System and its U.S. Household Fire Experience survey.

— OF AN ESTIMATED 5.5 million fires each year, flammable fabrics are involved in 628,000. Although clothing fires represent only about a quarter of all fabric incidents, they often are fatal (up to 12,000 deaths annually) because they cannot easily be escaped. The economic toll is enormous. Burn injuries require long hospitalization, care and repeated plastic surgery. Total medical and hospital costs of well over $10,000 are not uncommon.

The new official accident data actually understate the problem's severity because the facts are gathered from a network of hospital emergency rooms and many severe burn victims go directly to special burn centers; minor burn victims are treated by physicians in their offices, the fatality injured may go directly to morgues.

— Despite modern medicine, human suffering and disfigurement is terrible, says Dr. Abraham B. Bergman, director of Outpatient Services at Children's Orthopedic Hospital and Medical Center in Seattle, Wash.

"The treatment of burns remains completely unsatisfactory. . . The best plastic surgery still leaves terrible scars. . . If we want to do anything about burns, prevention is the only answer."

Q: WHAT, THEN, ARE we doing about prevention?

A: Much too little, much too slowly.

The Federal Flammable Fabrics Act of 1953 set standards so lenient that 99 percent of all fabrics — even some writing papers — could meet them. The Flammable Fabrics amendments of 1967 tightened the standards and extended them from the most explosively flammable clothing fabrics ("torch sweaters") to include gloves, hats, baby blankets, etc. The amended act has been enforced by the Consumer Product Safety Commission since May 1973. The CPSC can set standards, stop shipments, order recalls, seize goods, order merchandise to be brought up to standard or to be destroyed.

Standards for carpets and rugs became effective in '71; mattress flammability standards, in '73; sleepwear for infants and small children standards did not become mandatory until July 29, 1973, six years after passage of the '67 amendments calling for them.

ONLY THIS PAST May 1, 1975, did regulations covering sleepwear for children aged six through 12 (proposed in March '73) become effective. Late as it is, though, the new "Standard of Children's Sleepwear" is a big step forward. From now on, all children's new sleepwear up to size 14 and all new fabrics likely to be made into such sleepwear on home sewing machines must be flame retardant.

But sleepwear and fabrics manufactured or imported before May 1 can still be sold legally — and they may be on the shelves for years to come. SO:

(1) To protect your child, look for the required label, "Flame Resistant. U.S. Standard FF5-74."

(2) Look for and follow carefully the special washing instruction label to maintain the flame retardant treatment.

(3) Be on guard against the few stores which might try to deceive you in their efforts to unload old merchandise.

(4) If you are confused or need information or want to complain about misleading tactics, call the CPSC's toll-free Hotline (800/402937 in Maryland, and 800/638-2666 in the rest of the U.S.) the Hotline is available for safety problems or questions concerning any consumer product.

(5) ALSO ARRANGE VIA the Hotline to get fact sheets on the problem of flammable fabrics generally, and on the special dangers of flammable fabrics to the elderly, who suffer many more injuries and deaths from them than the rest of us.

PSA Given 6.5% Fare Hike Okay

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Pacific Southwest Airlines today was granted a 6.5 percent interim fare increase by the state Public Utilities Commission instead of the 16 percent PSA requested.

In a decision sharply critical of the airline's parent company, PSA, Inc., the PUC said its action will allow the airline a return of 10.1 percent, compared with the 2.1 percent on current fares.

The new fares, which will produce an additional $7 million a year more, will go into effect after five days notice to the public.

The Los Angeles-San Francisco fare will go from $20.75 to $22.10. San Diego-San Francisco from $29 to $30.90 and Los Angeles-Sacramento from $22.80 to $24.60.

IT TAKES KNOWLEDGE TO TREAT THE SICK

By TERRY GRANT, R.Ph.

Despite great advances in medical knowledge, there are still some people who depend on old-fashioned self-treatments. Some let persons with no drug or medical training advise them what medicines to take.

When door-to-door peddlers or mail order opportunists presume to tell you what to take when you are sick—be wise. In order to treat sickness a diagnosis of the cause is needed. No one but a physician has this knowledge.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.
