

'Bloody Shoes' Create Legal Circus in Court

By JACK BROBACK
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

A ruling which finds the county district attorney's office, in effect, in contempt of municipal court Friday became the newest act in one of the most incredible legal circuses ever to "play" Orange County.

And, to make the latest twist in the Robert E. Lee case even more unbelievable, the judge who handed down the decision — Judge Lloyd Verry — hinted he might drop the contempt charges if the DA and his men would "sincerely apologize" to the court.

District Attorney Cecil Hicks said the judge's ruling was "only one aspect of the case against Robert E. Lee."

If that isn't the understatement of the year in county jurisprudence, it will certainly make the semi-finals.

The case involving the alleged attempted murder of a La Habra woman started eight weeks ago.

The victim is still in a coma in Orange County Medical Center.

Prime evidence in the case was the shoes of the suspect, alleged to contain bloodstains. The suspect, Robert E. Lee, is fighting for his freedom.

A gaggle of courts and attorneys is fighting for possession of his shoes.

The whole tangle started with the arrest of Lee, 46, on March 9 for allegedly beating and stabbing Marie Siuro, 44, in her La Habra home.

Several continuances in the case in the North Orange County Court followed and early in April, a deputy public defender turned over a brown paper sack containing several pairs of shoes, one reportedly bloodstained, to Judge Logan Moore.

The continuing battle revolves around the legality of the district attorney's office seizing the bag of shoes.

They had been held in trust by Judge Moore in a locker in his chambers and the district attorney's men obtained a warrant authorizing them to take them.

Legality hinges on whether the shoes, originally discovered by the public defender's men when they were representing Lee in the North Orange County Court, can be used by the district attorney's office as evidence against Lee.

Following the seizure of the shoes legal fireworks shot through the courthouse almost daily.

First, Judge Moore disqualified himself from the Lee case and the public defender was removed by him because of a possible conflict of interest.

A private attorney, Robert Fraser of Anaheim, was named by the court to defend Lee. The Board of Supervisors hired an attorney to defend the public defenders who had refused to answer questions before the Grand Jury when subpoenaed by the district attorney's office.

Later, the supervisors hired an attorney to defend the North Orange County Court in the tangled legalistic spiderweb.

Named was Ron Tiday, a former (See COURT, Page 2)

LIKE A GENTLEMAN — This cat may not dig gentleman than a feline. He has other "human" Emily Post, but Topo certainly eats more like a qualities, too.

Purrfect Eater Mesa Puss Thinks He's Human

"Sit down at that table and eat your food like a gentleman."

So there he sat, like any well-mannered 4-year-old, and even handled the peas like a gentleman.

Sound familiar? It should, to any parent.

But in this case, "he" happens to be Topo, and Topo happens to be a cat. But don't let him hear you call him that.

"He does everything we do," said his owner Ray Freeman of Costa Mesa. "He goes on camping trips, fishes and surfs."

But the most astonishing fact is that Topo sits at the table and eats his food with the rest of "family." And just to prove he's a gentleman, he does it with his paws and never touches his mouth to the plate.

It may not be in Emily Post's etiquette book, but it's probably the most mannerly thing a member of his species has ever done.

"We heard about this cat in England who had to have his teeth pulled before he would eat with his paws," Freeman said. "But we just trained Topo to do that, and now he's been doing it for about three years."

That means he's "human" since he was one year old. That's a better record than most real humans have.

Laguna Starts Suit to Claim Main Beach Park

By RICHARD P. NALL
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

A condemnation suit was filed by the city of Laguna Beach Friday aimed at making a 40-year dream come true — a park along the Main Beach.

The imminent domain action filed in Superior Court by the City Attorney's Office lists 10 parcels of land from the Hotel Laguna to and including the Hotel de la Costa.

Nine of the parcels are the property of Consolidated Mortgage Co. which offered them to the city for $1.75 million. The city made a counter offer and negotiations broke off.

The other parcel, with 25 feet of frontage, is owned by Ida Keliher and splits the Consolidated Mortgage holdings.

Laguna Beach councilmen unanimously approved the condemnation action on April 3. The 10 parcels are only a part of the beach frontage Laguna seeks for its window to the sea.

"The city is also negotiating with other owners for land between the Hotel de la Costa and the Boys Club of Laguna Beach. The total frontage sought is about 1,000 feet which has been appraised at $2.65 million.

monitoring system to measure the sound produced from planes.

Each plane would have a maximum amount of noise it is allowed to make.

If it exceeded that amount, a decibel meter on a ground-based monitoring system would say so.

"The ordinance is scheduled for final hearing very soon," reported Jack Mullan, head of the Newport Beach Air Traffic Advisory Committee.

"The ordinance would call for almost maximum sound attenuation," he said. "All planes have flight recorders, and if a decibel meter showed the plane was too noisy, the pilot could be made to verify the pattern he flew by an inspection of the flight recorder on his plane."

"The general thing I have found is that everybody's for this," he said.

Mullan said the private pilots' association has endorsed the idea in principle, as well as Air Cal and Bonanza.

He said planes would achieve "maximum sound attenuation" by flying prescribed routes using formulas to keep their noise down while not compromising safety.

As the measure stands tentatively, violation of the noise ordinance would be a misdemeanor punishable by up to 6 months in jail and a $500 fine.

The subcommittee will turn its proposal over to airport commissioners, who in turn will forward a final proposed ordinance to the County Board of Supervisors for adoption.

Forcing an airplane to be quiet may seem like telling the birds not to sing, but a subcommittee of the Orange County Airport Commission thinks it knows how to hush things up.

SEALS Strike Slated Sunday

One of the amphibious assault units of the U.S. Navy, the SEALS, will strike by air, sea and land then simulate a mock attack on the Viet Cong during a special free public demonstration at 11 a.m. Sunday at Huntington State Beach, Highway 39 entrance.

The warfare demonstration is part of the California Surf Lifesaving Association surf competition program, sponsored by the California State Lifeguard Association chaired by Bruce Hopping of Laguna Beach.

Following the SEALS show there will be an 1,800-meter dory race and "Ironman" aquathlon" by lifeguards from Sgt. Clemente to Carpenteria.

84 Die on Plane Jet Crashes in Texas Countryside

DAWSON, Tex. (UPI) — A Braniff International Electra airliner exploded during a violent electrical storm Friday and crashed into a central Texas pasture, killing all 84 persons aboard.

It was the worst plane crash this year in the United States.

The plane, carrying 79 passengers and a crew of five, was en route from Houston to Dallas on a flight that would have taken it on to Tulsa, Okla., and Memphis, Tenn., when it disappeared from radar scopes at 2:41 p.m. PDT.

A witness said the Electra blew up in a "red flash" as bright as the sun. Pieces floated down through driving rain into a pasture, smashing to pieces a small building and scattering wreckage for two miles and bodies over an acre.

An 11-man federal safety team was to begin an investigation at the site today. The FBI sent its "disaster squad" to help in the identifications. An FBI spokesman in Washington said (See PLANE, Page 2)

Coast Neurotics Unite To Fight Their Hangups

By ARTHUR R. VINSEL
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

What's your problem? Do you feel depressed at times, insecure, lonely, full of anxiety?

Are you snappish, hostile and even guilty of slapping people around once in awhile?

Maybe you have a homosexual hangup?

Does it sometimes seem the world is against you?

Why shouldn't it be? You're rotten to the core and that's probably rotten too.

By now, you're probably simmering that someone sitting behind a typewriter — someone you've never met — would make such anonymous assessment of your character.

That's because you're just another neurotic, one of the 85 out of every 100 people whose personalities contain — to one degree or another — the festering burrs of misery, violence or even self-destruction.

A program new in Costa Mesa but widely accepted since its national founding in 1965, however, may be of aid. It's called Neurotics Anonymous.

"What it means, is help for the emotionally disturbed," says Lois, a victim of migraine headaches and acting spokesman for the new local chapter.

Patterned after the famous 12-step program originated by Alcoholics Anonymous, NA is open to people of all ages and many degrees of neurotic illness, so far claiming an 80 percent success rate.

"We don't put down medicine and psychiatry," says Lois, who has had therapy herself and also worked with disturbed patients. "But they are of no avail in some cases."

The Neurotics Anonymous International Liaison (NAIL) nonprofit corporation was founded three years ago by Grover, who fought his way back from neurosis and alcoholism to become a clinical psychologist.

ly drawn scientific definition of a neurotic.

To them, a neurotic is simply someone whose emotions interfere with his functioning in any way and to any degree — as recognized by the individual himself.

"We get so many phone calls, but so many people just won't help themselves," says Lois, "they have no real desire — and that's the first step."

Actually, the first step is dialing information for the NA telephone number.

And the only requirement for NA membership is a sincere desire to recover from emotional illness, which (See NEUROTIC, Page 2)

Arness Yacht Seasmoke First At Ensenada

Two catamarans raced into Ensenada harbor early Friday afternoon within a half hour of each other to beat out a former America's Cup 12-meter contender for first to finish honors in the 21st running of the Newport to Ensenada International Yacht Race.

Jim Arness' 58-foot catamaran Seasmoke from Los Angeles Yacht Club crossed the finish line at 3:10 p.m. a half hour before Ken Murphy's 46-foot Aikane from California Yacht Club, beating out the first single hull vessel, Jack Baile's Newsboy from Newport Harbor Yacht Club, which crossed the finish line at 4:25.

In a dreary, overcast race, slowed by light winds, just 30 boats had finished by 9 p.m. Friday, while an additional 44 which had started from Newport Harbor Thursday scratched themselves.

Direct race reports received by ham operator Carroll D. Hudson of 1121 Nottingham Road, Newport Beach indicated westerly winds pushed the fleet into a confused finish Friday night.

Songwriter Guilty Of Wife's Murder

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Thomas Dilbeck, a country and western music songwriter, has been convicted of first-degree murder in the courthouse slaying of his estranged wife.

Island May Sink Before It's Built

By WILLIAM REED
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Just off Bolsa Chica State Beach near Warner Avenue in Huntington Beach is a bit of sea which has been discussed all the way from the halls of Congress to the backrooms of bars where men sip beer after a day's work on an oil rig.

The stretch of water is the proposed site of the world's largest nuclear desalting and power plant. It has been the repository of the hopes and dreams of engineers for solving the water problems of the world and both the water and power problems of the Orange Coast.

Originally billed as a $444 million project and a joint venture of local, state, and national governments with private enterprise, the nuclear island and the attending equipment now carry a price tag of $765 million.

A few months ago the Orange Coast was reverberating with the toasts of the state, national and local leaders who, along with the top men in the private companies associated with the Bolsa Island nuclear project, were hailing the signing of pacts which were to insure construction of the plant on an artificial island off Huntington Beach.

Now the participating private utilities, Southern California Edison Co. and San Diego Gas and Electric Co., and the Los Angeles Department of Water and Power, are debating the advisability of building the two nuclear reactors and generators which were to have provided the electric power to meet the needs of 2 million people.

The price is up because of inflation, according to the engineers. Whether the private companies can continue to participate depends on whether they can still make a profit from the investment.

One thing seems certain — there will be little additional financial aid from the federal government. The federal government is scheduled to contribute $61 million of the construction cost.

Rep. Craig Hosmer (R-Long Beach) told the DAILY PILOT that "there is no possibility of more funds because of the fiscal condition of the country at the present time."

He added that "although the costs are up two-thirds, whether the federal government adds the additional two-thirds to its share or not should make little difference."

One of the major factors in deciding whether to go ahead and build the 40-acre island and the power and desalting plants will be whether the utilities are willing to increase their share from the $257 million they already have pledged.

Metropolitan Water District, which is to build the project, if it is ever built, is pledged to $126 million and its directors are scheduled to hear a full report and recommendation on May 14.

What the MWD decides to do likely will determine the fate of Bolsa Island and the dreams of building the pilot plant which was erected to set the pace for construction of desalting plants all over the world.

From Hosmer's viewpoint, the project could go ahead, at least in part. "If they don't build the desalting plant, the MWD should build the island as a nuclear park," he said.

"It could have several large nuclear (See ISLAND, Page 2)

2 Transplant Patients Fine; Third Critical

By United Press International

Two heart transplant patients operated on Friday were in satisfactory condition today, but a third who underwent the rare surgery a day earlier was said by doctors to be facing a "very critical period."

The three patients, all men, were the world's eighth, ninth and 10th heart transplant cases. They received their new hearts within two days at two hospitals in the United States and one in Britain.

The recipients, all of whom were given hearts of younger persons, were Everett Clare Thomas Jr., 47, a Phoenix, Ariz., accountant operated on in St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital in Houston, Tex.; an unidentified 45-year-old man who underwent "completely uneventful" surgery in London's National Heart Hospital; and Joseph Rizer, 40, who received a new heart at the Palo Alto-Stanford Hospital in California.

Dr. Norman E. Shumway, who devised the surgical techniques used in the transplants and who operated on Rizer Thursday, said his patient's lungs had weakened Friday, failing to provide sufficient oxygen for his blood.

Shumway said his patient's new heart had "confused his lungs," which had become adjusted to his old heart that had circulated blood through his system once every two minutes.

The normal rate was 20 seconds, Shumway said, and the new heart taken from an athletically inclined younger man who died of a brain hemorrhage, was circulating blood at the normal rate.

Shumway said Rizer faced a critical period in the "next few days or a week."

In London surgeons who performed the world's 10th heart transplant and Britain's first, said the condition of their patient was "entirely satisfactory."

Little information was made available about the latest transplant but medical sources said there was speculation the surgery may have been the world's first attempt at a complete heart and lung transplant.

The 18-man surgical team was headed by Dr. Donald Ross, 45, a former colleague of Dr. Christian Barnard of Cape Town, South Africa, who performed the first heart transplant Dec. 3, 1967.

In Houston, Thomas, who survived a 2½ hour operation performed by a team headed by Dr. Denton Cooley, was pronounced in "excellent condition."

Cooley, a former associate of Dr. Michael DeBakey, pioneer in the development of artificial heart pumps, said 10 hours after the surgery, "The operation may be classified as a success."

Thomas received the heart of Mrs. Charles Martin, 15, the victim of an apparently self-inflicted gunshot wound Thursday following an argument with her 18-year-old husband.

Meanwhile in Groote Schuur Hospital in Cape Town, reliable sources said Barnard was ready to undertake another transplant "at any time."

Barnard's second heart transplant patient, the only one to have survived such surgery before the latest attempts, was dentist Philip Blaiberg, now living a near-normal life in South Africa.

The first patient, Louis Washkansky, 55, died 18 days after his operation Dec. 3.

Shumway also performed the operation previously. His patient, steelworker Mike Kasperak, 53, died two weeks later.

Red Division Thrown Back

Outnumbered Marines Foil Massive N. Viet Strike

SAIGON (UPI) — Outnumbered U.S. Marines and government troops defeated a full North Vietnamese division trying to overrun the Dong Ha supply base in their biggest assault of the war, military spokesmen said today. The four-day battle cost the Communists 856 lives.

The battle was so intense at times that the Marines used captured Communist weapons when they ran low on ammunition.

"This is the first time they've pulled anything like this," said a Marine spokesman at Da Nang. "They definitely were trying to overrun Dong Ha and we've stopped them cold."

The 8,000-man division, first in the war to be massed for a single strike, moved south from the demilitarized zone (DMZ) and attacked the Dong Ha base Tuesday, the spokesmen said. In four days of fighting the allies, numbering about 5,000 men, held the division back.

Marine losses were put at 68 killed and 323 injured seriously enough for evacuation. South Vietnamese losses were described as "light."

The allies broke the back of the assault Friday when the Communists made a counterattack about five miles north of Dong Ha and then withdrew, leaving behind 67 dead.

Dong Ha is just south of the buffer strip and a few miles from the coast at the crossroads of major water and overland supply routes.

Around the capital city of Saigon spokesmen said Communist battalions and Viet Cong forces in three areas, killing nearly 200 enemy troops in a day-long clash 28 miles southwest of the city.

The troops were on a "red alert" for a possible Viet Cong attack on Saigon and they managed to block off the escape routes of a main force Viet Cong unit in the action southwest of the city.

Other allied forces battled Communist units at points northwest and northeast of the city, killing more than 50 Viet Cong in the two engagements.

Some of the most bitter fighting around Dong Ha occurred when the North Vietnamese sought to take control of the Cua Viet River, important as a supply route.

It was on the north bank of the river that a Marine unit was pinned down and ran out of ammunition. The leathernicks picked up AK47 rifles from the bodies of dead North Vietnamese and fought their way back to their base.

Military officials said that after the counterattack was smashed Friday U.S. jet fighter-bombers and artillery were called in to hammer at the retreating Communist force.

there was no reason to suspect foul play.

A crewman's body, his log book still beside him, was found and his cockpit instruments at the eastern end of the long, narrow strip of land where the main wreckage came to rest.

Federal officials said late Friday night they had not yet located the flight recorder, which was in the tail section, or the pilot's voice recorder, which is carried under the left rear cabin seat.

"It appears this plane exploded prior to hitting the ground inasmuch as it is scattered over a large area," said Jere Cox, Braniff public relations official at Dallas.

Ambulances carried the dead, wrapped in black plastic, sheets, blankets and pillowcases, to this little town of 500 persons where rescue workers laid them out in the high school gymnasium.

Federal officials asked the Texas National Guard to seal off the crash site, and said every piece of wreckage would be retrieved and marked for later reassembly, a task that may take 40 days.

The five crew members were identified as Capt. John R. Phillips, 46, a 22-year employe of Braniff; first officer John F. Foster, 32; second officer Donald W. Crossland, 28; and Stewardesses Jo Carol Brand, 22, and Suzanne Renz.

The four-engine turboprop Electra was a later version of the Lockheed planes which were once grounded in 1960. Three Electra crashes in 1959 and 1960 took a total of 159 lives. Two were believed attributable to a structural malfunction which Lockheed corrected at a cost of $25 million.

One of the Electra crashes, Sept. 29, 1959, was of a Braniff plane, near Buffalo, Tex. On March 17, 1960, a Northwest Electra crashed near Tell City, Indiana.

Peace Long, Hard Job, Johnson Warns Nation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson, ebullient at the prospects of preliminary talks aimed at peace in Vietnam, is nevertheless cautioning the American people that the search for an end to war will be "hard and hazardous and trying."

Although obviously in a buoyant mood following announcement that talks will start in Paris May 10 or a few days later, Johnson Friday night repeated his earlier warnings of caution about the talks.

Speaking at the dedication of the Smithsonian Institution's national collection of fine arts in its new museum, the President said:

"The days and weeks and months ahead will be hard and hazardous and trying. But with every fiber of my being, I shall try to move us from fighting to peace; from enmity to brotherhood; from destruction to common efforts on behalf of the men and women and children of all Southeast Asia."

Earlier Friday, at his nationally televised news conference, he cautioned, "This is only the very first step

There are many, many hazards and difficulties ahead.

"We hope this agreement on initial contact will prove a step forward and can represent a mutual and serious movement by all parties toward peace in Southeast Asia."

Johnson emotionally defended his own role in the quest for peace at Friday night's opening. "I have sought this moment for more days and more nights than you will ever credit — in enough places for historians to judge that we were fully credible when we said 'anytime, anyplace.'"

He was warmly applauded by a large VIP audience including such Senate "doves" as J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.). After his short speech, the President went to the Fulbrights, kissed the senator's wife and shook hands with the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

At his morning news conference, the President refused to discuss his announcement that talks would begin, maintaining it would not be "useful for public officials to confuse delicate negotiations by detailing personal views or suggestions or elaborating positions in advance."

municipal judge in the same court he now represents.

On April 26, Tiday argued before Judge Thompson that the district attorney had filed a criminal complaint against Lee before the North County Court, thus establishing that court's legal jurisdiction over the case.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Mike R. Capizzi argued that the complaint was filed for preliminary hearing and could have been heard by any type of judge, even a justice of the peace or a police judge, and the action did not establish North Orange County Court jurisdiction.

Friday, the plot thickened when the three public defender's men appeared before Judge Thompson on contempt of court charges for refusing to testify before the Grand Jury.

Representing them was attorney Dudley Gray of Torrance, who became well known to Orange County readers as the defense counsel for Antonia Thomas, who was sentenced Friday to life imprisonment for the murder of her five-day old son.

Before appearing in a new trial attempt before Judge Robert Gardner, Gray got a two-week continuance of the case.

The public defender's men — Chief Investigator John "James" Bond, and deputy defenders Bernard November and Lawrence Buckley — refused to answer questions put to them by the Grand Jury, on Gray's advice, he said.

He contends that to answer the Grand Jury's questions would have jeopardized their former client (Lee's) constitutional rights.

Meanwhile, defendant Lee got the court to appoint an additional attorney to defend him, contending that the legal battle over the shoes has caused so much publicity that a single attorney will not be able to defend his rights properly.

Superior Judge William Speirs named Ronald Owens of Santa Ana to Lee's stable of attorneys.

To sum it all up — Lee is now represented by two private attorneys, the public defender has a private attorney to defend his office, and the North Orange county municipal court has a private attorney to defend it — all at taxpayer expense.

Judge Thompson pretty well summed it up, himself, Friday when, obviously disturbed with the long parade of public officials before him, he said: "You are all officers of the court, sworn to see that justice is done. Now that Mr. Lee's shoes have been given to the Grand Jury as evidence against him, it could be impossible for the district attorney to return them to Judge Verry.

This is quite complicated. I could write a book about it, in fact, several books," the jurist sighed.

months before the matter comes to court.

But the filing, he said, fixes the date of value. "No matter what is done on the property now it can't affect the value; that's what the legal eagles tell me," said Wheaton.

Consolidated Mortgage had announced plans to build a multi-story apartment complex on its holdings if the city did not purchase them.

Twice in the past, general obligation bond elections to purchase the park have narrowly failed to gain the two-thirds necessary vote.

Learning last year that they could not legally stage a special election to see if the majority of citizens favored the acquisition, councilmen agreed to go ahead on the acquisition by lease purchase.

Funeral services will be held Monday for Aubrey St. Clair, a Laguna Beach architect since 1934.

Mr. St. Clair, 78, of 424 Jasmine St., died Thursday night at Laguna Beach Nursing Home. Services are to begin at 10 a.m. in the Laguna Beach Funeral Home.

The claim of Laguna was discovered by Mr. St. Clair's artist father, Norman B. St. Clair, around the turn of the century. The deceased architect played here as a boy in 1904 and 1905 while his father painted.

Mr. St. Clair was a charter member and past secretary of the Laguna Beach Rotary Club and a life member of American Institute of Architects.

He was the first architect to open an office in Laguna Beach. Buildings he designed or helped to design include city hall, the fire station, the library, El Morro School, the water district offices and the Laguna Federal building.

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel says a multi-nation peace which includes Red China should be held following talks between the United States and North Vietnam.

The California Republican said Friday he was "guardedly hopeful" that the May 10 Paris conference between U.S. and North Vietnamese representatives would result in peace in Southeast Asia.

"While I approve these bilateral talks, they must not be prolonged," Kuchel said. "They must be followed by meaningful multilateral negotiations. Our allies and the nations of Asia should be invited to participate."

He added that Red China should be invited to join in the multi-nation negotiations "although I doubt very much that she would participate."

along with more severe forms of mental illness, constitutes America's number one health problem.

Costa Mesa meetings are held in private homes, on the customary first-name-only basis, but donated church halls and activity rooms will be used as the NA chapter grows.

Occasionally, the sessions take the form of actual group therapy, but other methods are also used, often just outlining and discussing individual problems and insights.

The 12 steps by which the NA member lives and the 12 traditions by which the group is governed are applied in these weeknight sessions.

"I am amazed at all the emotional disturbance among young people today," says Lois, adding, "when and if the need occurs, I would like to start a teen group."

Despite guarantees which prevent even the founder's last name from being used, many people apparently fear they may be identified and ridiculed by others in the community.

"Anonymity is the spiritual foundation of all our traditions, ever reminding us to place principles before personalities," says the 12th of the dozen traditions by which NA is ruled.

Even so, being neurotic is nothing to be ashamed about, but that's the way the individual sufferer may think of it — if he is not among those who exhibit and sometimes even capitalize on their problem, as a way to get attention.

After all, what's so unusual about being one in a miserable crowd of millions?

Only the tragic fact that so many choose to remain that way.

President Johnson, who took himself out of the presidential race a month ago, still refuses to say who he hopes will succeed him.

Declining even to hint at his preference among the three leading Democrat contenders — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Sens. Robert F. Kennedy and Eugene J. McCarthy — Johnson indicated Friday he probably would not announce his choice until the party's August convention.

He also hinted that he might choose to sit on his hands during the campaign if the Democratic convention nominated a man not of his liking.

"I would not want to go into that matter at this time," Johnson said at his news conference when asked his preference. "I will be glad to visit with you about it after the convention, when we see what the situation is."

The President also continued his hands-off policy in the campaign by declining to ask candidates in both parties to declare a moratorium on discussing the Vietnam war while preliminary talks were getting underway in Paris.

His announcement that the talks would begin about May 10 brought plaudits from various candidates and a renewed suggestion from former Vice President Richard M. Nixon that a moratorium be declared on Vietnam debate whether Johnson suggests it or not.

McCarthy, campaigning in Indiana, said he is happy agreement has been reached on a talks site but added that the United States should have accepted Warsaw when it was suggested earlier.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, officially in the race for only three days, hailed Johnson's acceptance of Paris as a site as a conclusive step towards "the lasting peace the American people and the entire world are waiting for."

Negro Students Seize College's Business Office

EVANSON, Ill., (UPI) — Negro students seized the business office of swanky Northwestern University Friday demanding that school officials stamp out alleged "white racism," give blacks separate housing on campus and serve "chittins and collard greens" in the cafeteria.

A band of white students, acting in sympathy, then invaded the office of the dean of students three blocks away and vowed to remain there as long as the 110 negroes keep their shtin going in the administration building.

Both "take-over" groups said the sit-ins also were in support of student strikers at Columbia University in New York.

The 12 white sit-inners dispatched a telegram to the Columbia strike committee saying it was the intention of the Negro and white groups to "hold these buildings and offices until the requests of black students at Northwestern are satisfactorily resolved."

electric power plants serving industry and the homeowners. The electric companies can afford the investment.

William Gould, senior vice president and chairman of the project management board for Southern California Edison Co., told the DAILY PILOT that "during the last two or three months there has been a re-evaluation of the costs, of whether the project would be economical for the Edison Co."

"The decision should be reached in four to six weeks," according to Gould.

He reminded that his is a private company and that its officers are responsible to the stockholders for how money is invested and that "the Edison Co. has not attempted to ask for federal funds."

Participants exude confidence that the island plant would be a pioneering project for the benefit of mankind for ages to come.

But the steadily rising costs may drown the waterfront project long before the first rock of the island's foundation is dropped into the sea.

Old Town Fiesta Held in Newport

The third annual Old Town Newport Celebration will be held today and Sunday in West Newport, with activities for both youngsters and adults.

Programs this afternoon will include a magic show with internationally known magician Len Wayne, plus an exhibit by Newport Beach lifeguards, a treasure hunt, and an arts and crafts show at 21st Place.

At 12:30 p.m. Sunday, a hot dog eating contest will get under way at Newport Pier, followed by a bike rodeo at 1 p.m., magic show at 2, and a day-long arts and crafts exhibit.

Volleyball, soccer and horseshoes will be available all day both days.

'Mother's Pretty Fine'

Youngsters Write Essays in Hoag Contest

By JEROME F. COLLINS
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

"It is fun to go with my mother when we go to the store, to the cleaners and to the berry store and to the dairy store. Her hair is in place."

That's one of the reasons why 7-year-old Jill Freeman of Costa Mesa thinks her mom should be Hoag Memorial Hospital's "Mother of the Year."

Jill is one of a dozen finalists in the second annual Harbor Area school children's essay contest. The mother of the winning essay will win a trip to Hawaii for two.

Some 16,000 youngsters, ranging in age from 6 to 12, have participated in this year's contest. Selecting the finalists was no easy chore for contest judges.

And choosing a first place winner may be even tougher. But it'll be fun. Touching, too.

For example, here are excerpts from essays of other finalists, each of whom told "Why I think my mother should receive the 'Mother of the Year' award":

— Sherrill Weldon, 6: "When I go to bed, she gives me a kiss all the time and says, 'Goodnight, I'll see you in the morning!'"

— Debbie Taft, 8: "She makes me do things I don't want to. That's because she loves me and my family. She feeds my dad, my brother, and her and me, and sometimes takes us out. Sometimes she doesn't mind cooking."

— Jim Davis, 9: "This year my mother has to be my daddy, too. My daddy is a pilot in Thailand and will be away for a year. It's not easy to be a Mother and a Father, too."

— Liz Castro, 10: "Last year my mother did the most wonderful thing for our family. When we found out she was going to have another baby, we all started fighting. Some of us wanted another girl. Others wanted a boy, because we didn't have one. She said, 'Don't fight, I'll have one of each and make you all happy.' And she did!"

— Brian Lee Whitford, 9: "She has to put up with, clean up after, three monstrous boys... And, here 'word of honor' is as good as 24 carrot gold."

— Deborah Jane Brook, 11: "She is excellent at putting band-aids on and is great at helping our sores heal... To me she is the most fantastic, most wonderful, beautiful, lovely, kind considerate mother in the whole world!! I mean it!"

— Abbe Karges, 10: "My mother is everything that you could want. She is truly wonderful. Sometimes I get mad at her, but I know that she is right. When I ask her to buy earrings or something like that she says no, they're too old for you, but I don't argue because they are."

— Nancy Maria Sellers, 12: "She keeps a lovely house, cooks lovely meals, keeps discipline, gives love, gets love."

— Georgana Lynn Trumbull, 9: "My mother adopted me from Korea when I was a baby... We cuddle in the morning. I love my mother very much."

— Richie Fowler, 7: "My mother is special. She is good to me... Whenever I get sick she helps me get well. She does good things to everyone."

Final Judging Under Way for Mother of Year

Final judging is under way for the second annual "Mother of the Year" essay contest sponsored by Hoag Memorial Hospital.

Students from the first through sixth grades of the Newport-Mesa Unified School District contributed 16,000 essays to the contest. They all competed for a first prize of a vacation for two to Hawaii.

Twelve finalists have been selected, two from each grade level, by contest judges Albert J. Auer, Dr. Arnold O. Beckman, James Berkshire, John Macnab, Theodore Robins and Willard Voit.

The winner will be announced at the awards luncheon, May 11, the day before Mother's Day, at the Newporter Inn. Superior Judge Robert Gardner will be master of ceremonies.

Plane fare for the vacation for two will be donated by the Newport Balboa Savings and Loan Association; hotel accommodations on Oahu will be provided by Trans-Globe Travel Bureau, Costa Mesa.

The 12 finalists who with their mothers and teachers will be guests at the Awards luncheon are:

Sherrill Weldon of Woodland School and Richie Fowler of Adams School, both first grade; Jill Freeman of Killybrooke and Debbie Taft of Monte Vista School, second grade; Georgana Trumbull of Adams and Jim Davis of College Park School, third grade; Liz Castro of California and Brian Lee Whitford of Newport Heights School, fourth grade; Deborah Jane Brook, Newport Elementary and Abbe Karges of Harbor View, fifth grade; Terry Freeman, Bay View and Nancy Maria Sellers of Harbor View, sixth grade.

Coast Students Win Art Awards

Seven students from the Orange Coast area have been named national winners in the annual Scholastic Art Awards sponsored each year by Scholastic Magazines.

National winners comprise only a small percentage of the 150,000 original regional entries. Honorable mention certificates went to 457 entries. 412 entries were awarded gold medals, as well as 50 Hallmark Honor Prizes of $100 each for the best entry from each region and 12 Strathmore Awards of $50 each for the best in each two-dimensional category.

Local winners are David Dingman, Costa Mesa High School, honorable mention; Laurie Adst, honorable mention; Joan Guptill, honorable mention; Lori Heston, medal; Janis Pendleton, honorable mention; Dalynn Smith, honorable mention, all of Corona del Mar High School; and Jay Crispin, medal, Newport Harbor High School.

reminded there is no solid information in the field of early evolution — "only surmises."

He said, however, he can claim for his conclusions a high degree of plausibility.

He spoke about the origin of metabolic pathways — systems for transmitting information from nucleic acids to proteins. These pathways occur in all living organisms, animal and vegetable, he said.

These pathways were built up one genetic step at a time, he said, and didn't have to be very efficient because they could get by under the favorable conditions. Existence in the primordial soup was so assured for organic forms that consecutive mutations, steps in the evolutionary chain, were preserved.

Dr. Horowitz said his step-by-step theory of creation of life means that at each step all that had to be acquired was the capability to use a precursor molecule. These precursors, in a variety of forms, were abundant in the soup, he said.

READILY AVAILABLE

For a long time, he said, "all the good things of life were readily available in the soup and the organism only had to eat them."

"Then came a worldwide food crisis and organisms had to learn how to produce organic materials for themselves," he said.

That important step in the life evolving process, he suggested, was photosynthesis — formation of carbohydrates in plant tissue from exposure to sunlight.

"All life is grass," he observed, meaning all organisms are either plant life or feed on it.

He said science now has a fix on the earliest photosynthetic organisms. Fossils of blue green algae have been dated at 3.1 billion years old, he said. These fossils are not visible, but were revealed through electron microscopy.

A laboratory experiment supports his primordial soup theory, he said. Hydrated silicate (meteoritic material of which the earth was formed) was subjected to spark discharge (in place of radioactivity on the pristine earth) and "an abundance of biologically important compounds were produced."

Origin of Life Started With Rich Organic Soup

Life probably began in a rich organic soup on a fermenting young earth, Cal Tech biologist N. H. Horowitz said in a talk at UCL.

Dr. Horowitz said he believes "outgassing" as meteoritic material heated up to form the earth's iron core produced an atmospheric condition favorable for the start of life.

This occurred between 3.5 and 3.1 billion years ago, he said.

The primordial soup of hydrogen, methane, ammonia and oxygen he called a "Garden of Eden" because of the benign conditions for formation of life processes. There was an abundance of organic material, lots of time and no competition, he said.

Latest speaker in an "Origins of Life" symposium, Dr. Horowitz

Cranks Calling Marine Families At Pendleton

CAMP PENDLETON (UPI) — Families of Marines currently serving overseas have been receiving phone calls falsely notifying them that their loved one was killed or wounded, Camp Pendleton authorities said today.

Marine officials said communities surrounding this largest of Marine Corps bases have been plagued by numbers of such "phony" calls.

Persons receiving such calls, they said, should know that next of kin are never initially notified of deaths or injuries by telephone or telegram. An assigned "condolence call officer" in uniform always brings the news in a personal visit, they said. The visit is followed by a confirming telegram from the commandant of the Marine Corps.

If the serviceman is injured, added the officials, the serviceman may choose to have the information withheld from his family. This often happens when the wound is non-critical.

Officials said families receiving such phone calls should contact the Camp Pendleton base adjutant.

County Judge George Manerbino confiscated a paperback pocketbook from a male juror during the trial of an exotic dancer accused of violating Denver's anti-topless ordinance. "I just didn't think he should be reading that kind of a book during recesses in the trial of a morals case," the judge explained. The book was entitled "Lust at Leisure." P.S.: The dancer was acquitted.

Harvey Pepper, 20, a student at Columbia College in Hollywood, was arrested and released in Las Vegas after he allegedly posed as actor Dustin Hoffman at several Strip hotels. The charge of defrauding an inkeeper, a felony, was dropped at the request of the Thunderbird Hotel where Pepper assertedly ran up a large bill and refused to pay. Pepper told sheriff's deputies that being a celebrity got him more dates with women.

Los Banos, California, a city of 6,000 in Merced County today is without a jail. Police Chief Loris Broderick ordered the permanent closing of the facility because of (1) condemnation of the building, (2) insurance problems, (3) lack of manpower, and (4) a $150,000 lawsuit stemming from a fight in which a prisoner allegedly lost an eye.

Cattle thieves in Ojai not only slaughtered and butchered a calf over the weekend, but they also stole a barbecue on which to cook it, the sheriff's office reported.

Two sergeants from the Emeryville Police Department, near Oakland, were suspended for a 4:50 a.m. shooting spree at an Oakland apartment. One man admitted that nine shots were fired during a celebration for another policeman who had been promoted to sergeant the previous night.

Susan Smith, of Kenton, who has a "gorgeous figure and loves sunbathing in the nude," complained to the police that men from an office building overlooking her apartment were peeping as she lay soaking up the sun. The reply came from a spokesman of the firm next door. "You can't stop people from looking out of windows. After all, that's what they were put there for."

People in Grove City, Ohio, who picked any one of three horses in the same race, came up with winners at Beulah Park. For the first time in 43 years of racing at the park, three horses finished in a dead heat in the six-furlong third race. Crossing the wire together were Payola Joy, ridden by Carlos Marquez; City Market, with jockey Robert Obrecht; and Equicharge, with Ernie Retamosa up.

Kohn Appointed Reading Director

Dr. Gerhard Kohn, a licensed psychologist, has been appointed director of the Orange County Reading Development Center to succeed William Woolbright, who resigned.

The announcement was made by the board of directors of the center located at 15541 Beach Blvd., Westminster.

Dr. Kohn, director of the Gerhard Kohn School of Educational Therapy is listed in Who's Who in American Education, Who's Who in the West and the British "Dictionary of International Biography."

With CdM Freeway

New 'Veterans Highway' Soon 'Frontage Road'

Worry has been voiced in some quarters that newly-named Veterans Memorial Highway, skirting Corona del Mar, will become plain old Frontage Road sometime in the seventies.

Find some other trouble to borrow.

"Just at a guess, the new Corona del Mar Freeway will also take the name," says Milt Stark, District Seven information officer for the State Division of Highways.

MacArthur Boulevard, stretching from Pacific View Drive to Palisades Road, was recently re-designated in honor of veterans who have served their country.

Signs proclaiming the new title were unveiled at ceremonies held at the south end of the commemorative stretch of roadway last week.

The proposed Corona del Mar

Freeway, however, will follow the course of the present roadway, which will then be turned over to local jurisdiction by the state.

It will presumably remain MacArthur Boulevard, with the new freeway taking the more historic title, according to Stark.

The Corona del Mar Freeway could be under construction as early as the middle of the next decade, since traffic needs will push its priority somewhat ahead of the original schedule.

Motorists travelling east of the recently completed San Diego Freeway will then have quick and easy access to the Newport Freeway and the heart of the Harbor Area.

Completion of the San Diego Newport freeways interchange, however, leaves no off ramp to the southbound lanes of the Newport Freeway.

Refunds Slated For Gas Users

From $15 to $20 million in refunds may be made available to the Southern California customers of the Pacific Lighting System as a result of the U. S. Supreme Court's decision Wednesday approving area rate-making for natural gas producers, according to Justin M. Kennedy, spokesman for utilities of the Pacific Lighting System.

Kennedy said that because of the length of the court's decision (75 pages), it is too early to assess exactly how the refunds would be applied to the three million customers of Pacific Lighting, which includes Southern Counties Gas Company.

This would have to be worked out in meetings with the California Public Utilities Commission which must approve any refund plan, he said.

"We are pleased about the Supreme Court's action," Kennedy added. "Over the several years that this case was being processed before the Federal Power Commission and through the courts, we supported the commission, whose position the Supreme Court has now sustained."

County Airport Fund Allocation Now at Maximum

Orange County Airport has received the maximum allocation of $2,500 from the aviation gasoline tax funds, it was announced by Joseph R. Crotti, Director of Aeronautics for the state of California.

As approved by the California Aeronautics Board in its meeting of April 22, the money has been made available from the Airport Assistance Revolving Funds which were generated from the unrefunded motor vehicle tax given to aviation plus the two cents withholding tax on the aviation gas tax.

In order to participate in the fund allocation, a city, county, airport or port district must own and operate an airport, must hold a valid airport permit, must have established a "special aviation fund," and must agree to match the state allocation with local funds.

'Great Athlete' Heart Donor's Health Perfect

From Wire Services

STANFORD — Rudy F. Anderson, an avid athlete who was in excellent health and ran two miles every morning to stay that way at age 43, was the heart donor in Thursday's transplant at Palo Alto-Stanford Hospital.

Anderson, a Pacific Telephone executive of 236 Bayview Drive, San Carlos, suffered a massive brain hemorrhage Monday night and died early Thursday morning.

Shortly thereafter, Stanford surgeons transplanted his heart into Joseph Rizer, 40, of Salinas.

"Rudy took such good care of himself," said his wife, Margard (Maggie).

"I know he'd be very proud right now of what's happening at Stanford. He believed so in life."

The Andersons have two sons, Mark, 14, and Kurt, 10.

Mrs. Anderson said her husband was phoning a friend Monday night about 10 p.m. when he suddenly slumped to the floor. After their family doctor, Richard Carlson, and the neurosurgeon, Daniel Meub, told her there was no hope for her husband and suggested a heart transplant, she gave her consent.

"Rudy bowled every week in the phone company league and had a 170 average," Mrs. Anderson said. "He was a fine swimmer and loved to hike."

"He loved everything out doors and was a great competitor in everything he did. And every morning at 5:30 a.m. he got up to run two miles around the Carlmont High School track."

In addition to his personal enjoyment of good physical conditioning, Anderson, who "loved working with kids," had been a Little League manager for five years.

He was born in Oakland, and in Roosevelt and Fremont high schools there played football, basketball and was a hurdler and captain of the track team.

At Hamilton Junior High School he had been student body president.

World War II interrupted his college plans, and he served in the Coast Guard, then in the Merchant Marine for a short time. Other than a few years as a San Mateo fireman, Anderson had been with the Pacific Telephone Company since 1949 serving in Palo Alto, Redwood City, San Jose (where he was manager of the business office) and in San Francisco since 1963.

His most recent position was a results analyst in the commercial department.

He was a Mason, Scottish Rite and Shriner.

FAMILY WITH HEART — Rudy Anderson, whose heart was used in Palo Alto-Stanford Hospital transplant, is shown with his wife, Margard, and their sons, Mark, 14, and Kurt, 10.

Ministers to Debate U.S. Vietnam Policy

Opposing viewpoints on the Vietnam war will be aired in a discussion at 7:30 p.m. Sunday at the Mesa Verde Methodist Church, 1701 Baker St., Costa Mesa.

The discussion sponsored by the Church's Commission on Christian Social Concerns, will feature the Rev. J. Hugh Anwyl speaking out against the present U.S. policy on Vietnam and Navy Chaplain Sigmund C. Schade who supports United States participation.

According to Harry Polus, chairman of the event, both speakers have visited South Vietnam.

After serving nine years as a Methodist minister in Northern California, LCDR Schade became an active duty Navy chaplain in 1964. Since then he has served in many military establishments around the world, including two years in the Vietnam area while attached to the Military Sea Transportation Service.

Valley Church Presbyterians Get New Facility

The Fountain Valley Presbyterian Church will hold its first services in its new location Sunday at 9420 Talbert St. The facility is the former Talbert Community Center, a landmark dating back to the time when there was a community named Talbert.

Members and friends of the church spent the week painting, scrubbing, and replacing broken windows in the building.

"There is much to be done, and we have just started," said the pastor, the Rev. Stanley P. Allen.

Sunday school begins at 9:50 a.m. with classes for all ages, including a nursery class. At the 11 a.m. worship hour, the pastor will speak on "God's Blessings, Available to You." Special music will be by Lee Lionberger. The youth choir also will sing.

A missionary film titled "West Irian Story" will be shown at the Sunday evening service at 7:30 p.m. The film tells of the work of the missionaries of Missionary Aviation Fellowship, whose headquarters are in Fullerton.

David Hoisington, formerly of the West Orange County area, and now a missionary pilot serving under Missionary Aviation Fellowship, took many of the pictures that will be shown in the film. He and his family have just returned to West Irian for their second tour of missionary service. The Fountain Valley Presbyterian Church helps to support this couple.

The public is invited to attend the services.

PULPIT AND PEW . . .

Wednesday evening song session will be the Rev. Flickinger speaking on "Christ Mind". The program will begin at 7:30 p.m.

"Don't Let Your Home Runtown" will be the sermon subject at Harbor First Christian Church this Sunday as the observance of Christian family week gets under way. The church meets each Sunday at Harper Elementary School, 425 E. 18th St., Costa Mesa. Services begin at 9:45 with church school followed by worship and communion at 10:45 a.m. Dr. D. W. McElroy is the minister.

The First Methodist Church, 2721, 17th St., Huntington Beach, will conduct two worship services Sunday at 9:30 and 11 a.m. The Rev. G. Russell Shaw will preach on the topic, "A Time for Courage." Sunday also will be membership Sunday.

A coffee hour will be held between services. Church school will meet at 9:30 and 11 a.m. and the youth groups at 6:30 p.m.

This Sunday there will be infant baptism at both the 9 and 10:30 a.m. services at Community Methodist Church, 6662 Heil Ave., Huntington Beach. The Rev. Roger G. Betsworth will preach on "Adam and Eve." Church school classes and nursery care will be available at both services.

The adult membership training class is continuing; meeting at 9 a.m. in the pastor's study.

"Everlasting Punishment" is the subject of this week's Bible lesson to be read in all Orange County Christian Science churches this Sunday.

The golden text from Psalms will set the theme: "Unto the upright there ariseth light in the darkness. . . Surely he shall not be moved forever: the righteous shall be in everlasting remembrance."

Unitarian minister the Rev. Amos Murphy will discuss "Problems of Conscientious Objectors" during Sunday's 10:30 a.m. meeting of the Unitarian Universalist Fellowship of Laguna Beach in the Art Association Gallery.

"Christian Life is the Best Witness" is the sermon theme chosen by Dr. William R. Eller for the 8:45 and 11 a.m. worship hours

STUDENT OF JUNG
Rev. John A. Sanford

Lectures Continue

A series of lectures is being presented at St. James Episcopal Church, Newport Beach, Wednesday evenings in the parish hall, 3209 Via Lido, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The guest speaker is the Rev. John A. Sanford, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, San Diego. Fr. Sanford's talks involve the topic of the personality of Jesus as a whole and individual.

Fr. Sanford has studied under Dr. Carl Jung in Zurich and is now writing on psychiatry and religion.

The first lecture was given May 1, but three more will be presented on May 8, 15 and 22.

Sunday at the Lutheran Church of the Master, 2900 Pacific View Drive, Corona del Mar. Communion will be celebrated at both services.

The Young Adults group will meet at the parsonage at 7:30 p.m. Monday. Officers will be elected.

Evangelist Dick Mills will be the guest speaker at a special service this Sunday morning at 10:55 a.m. at the Community Bible Church, Euclid and Slater, Fountain Valley. Evangelist Mills is affiliated with the Anaheim Christian Center, pastored by Ralph Wilkerson.

"Good News for Modern Man" is the title of the sermon the Rev. Melvin V. Taylor will present at the 8:30 and 10:55 a.m. services Sunday of Fairview Baptist Church, 2525 Fairview Road, Costa Mesa. The sermon is taken from the title of the American Bible Societies' latest edition of the New Testament. Communion will be served at both services.

The Rev. H. Charles Berner of the Institute of Ability, 1862 Placentia, Costa Mesa, announced a change in schedule because of the third annual picnic held Friday and today. He said tonight's introductory courses will be postponed although regular Sunday services will be conducted at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Spiritual exercises will be conducted as usual on Monday and Thursday and the Wednesday night group discussion will remain the same, from 8 to 10 p.m.

"The Shepherd Psalm" will be the sermon theme Sunday at the 10:45 a.m. service of the First Christian Church of Laguna Beach, which meets in the American Legion building, 384 Legion. The sermon will be presented by the Rev. Bruce Cushing.

A film strip titled "Bushy the Squirrel" will be shown during the 6 p.m. service.

A number of new members will be welcomed at the monthly communion services of the First Baptist Church of Huntington Beach this Sunday. The services will be held at 9:30 a.m. at the Peek Chapel, 7801 Bolsa Ave., Westminster, and 11 a.m. at the Huntington Beach Chapel, Sixth and Orange.

Pastor Willis J. Loar will give a sermon titled "Good Grief," the second in his "Sermon on the Mount" series. He will speak on "The Greatest Book in the Old Testament" during the 7 p.m. worship.

Dr. Henry Gerhard, minister of the Laguna Beach Church of Religious Science, 20062 Laguna Canyon Road, will speak on the subject, "The Creative Power of Thought," Sunday at 9 and 11 a.m.

Leo Russell, lecturer, author, and educator, will speak at the church on Wednesday at 8 p.m. on the subject, "A Living Philosophy for Today."

Mrs. Russell is the president and managing director of the University of Science and Philosophy at Swannanoa, Waynesboro, Va., a home study university. The public is invited to the lecture.

The service will be conducted by the youth fellowship at Corona del Mar Community Church, Congregational, United Church of Christ, 611 Heliotrope Ave., this Sunday. Miss Becky Harmon, Don Dawson and Gary Godshall will present the sermon during the 10 a.m. service.

Church school will begin at 10 a.m. and child care will be provided.

Dr. Morris C. Robinson will discuss the questions "Maturity, What Is It? When Should We Achieve It? How May We Become More Mature?" at the 10 a.m. service Sunday at St. Mark Presbyterian Church, Eastbluff Drive and Jamboree Road, Newport Beach.

Child care will be available and church school will be held during the 10 a.m. service.

Missionary the Rev. John R. Chambers will preach this Sunday at the 9:30 and 11 a.m. worship services at The Presbyterian Church of the Covenant, 2850 Fairview Road, Costa Mesa. His sermon topic will be "Barrow—The People, the Place, the Ministry." Following a 1 o'clock dinner at the church, the Rev. Chambers will show pictures of Alaska.

The Rev. Chambers is a former missionary-pastor-plot to the North Arctic Slope Presbyterian Mission covering 40,000 square miles of Arctic Alaska with his home base at Barrow. He served three villages and scattered families with a total population of 2,000 Eskimos and 100 Caucasians.

Temple Beth David of Orange County will conduct regular Sabbath evening services Friday, May 11, at the Community Congregational Church, Katella and Bloomfield, Los Alamitos, beginning at 8:15 p.m. Steven Brotman will be Bar Mitzvah.

The Oneg Shabbat will be hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Brotman.

Services scheduled at St. James Episcopal Church, 3209 Via Lido, Newport Beach, Sunday include eucharist at 7:30 and 11 a.m. and morning prayer at 9 o'clock.

The Sandpipers, newly organized social group sponsored by the youth church of the Huntington Beach Church of Religious Science, has elected its first slate of officers. Serving as president will be Mark DeMink; vice president, Richard Esterline; secretary, Cathy Dever; and treasurer, Stacey Turk.

The youth church and the Sandpipers' activities are open to those in the 12-to-20 age group. Youth church services are held on Sunday mornings at 11 a.m., concurrently with the adult services, at church headquarters, 420 10th St., Huntington Beach.

DEBATE . . .

LCDR Schade spent time as a roving chaplain, traveling by jeep, river boat, and helicopter to outposts throughout Vietnam. LCDR Schade is presently serving as senior Protestant chaplain at the U.S. Naval Station, Long Beach.

The Rev. Anwyl is the pastor of the Mount Hollywood Congregational Church in Los Angeles, a position he has held since 1964. He also is a member of the Public Affairs Commission of the Los Angeles Council of Churches and the Commission on Community Responsibility for the Southern California Conference of the United Church of Christ.

He is chairman of the Committee of Greater Los Angeles County Clergy and Laymen Concerned about Vietnam.

The Rev. Anwyl is a British subject, a graduate of Cambridge University, and minister of several churches in England prior to his arrival in the United States in 1961.

Last summer the Rev. Anwyl spent 22 days in South Vietnam, and visited outposts from the Mekong Delta to the Demilitarized Zone.

BISHOP OF GHANA
Rt. Rev. J. B. Arthur

Bishop Set To Visit CdM Church

The Right Rev. J. B. Arthur, the Anglican Bishop of Ghana, will visit the Church of Saint Michael and All Angels, 3233 Pacific View Drive, Corona del Mar, Sunday for the 9:30 a.m. service.

It will be his only stop in Southern California on his tour of the United States and Canada.

Bishop Arthur received his diploma in theology from London University in England with further studies at St. Augustine's College in Canterbury.

After his visit to St. Michael and All Angels, Bishop Arthur will fly to Texas to speak at several universities.

Evangelist

The Rev. C. T. Cunningham from Texas will be the guest speaker at two evangelistic services at Capistrano Valley Baptist Church, 32032 Del Obispo Road, at 7:30 tonight and Sunday evening.

Adventists To Convene

The Seventh-day Adventists of the Southeastern California Conference will hold their yearly convocation at the Anaheim Convention Center, May 10 and 11.

Friday evening, Robert H. Pierson, president of the general conference, will speak to the youth, and H. M. S. Richards Sr., speaker of the "Voice of Prophecy," will address the adults.

At the Saturday morning worship hour, Elder Pierson will be the speaker at the adult service and Elder Richards at the youth service.

Horoscope

Aquarius: You're Due for Victory

MONDAY, MAY 6

By SYDNEY OMARR

"The wise man controls his destiny." Astrology points the way.

ARIES (March 21 - April 19): Finish tasks. Don't take things for granted — get it in writing. Many are willing to guarantee results . . . in an oral sense. But get it committed to paper. Then you stand greater chance for success.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Stress the new — strive for greater independence of thought, action. Day calls for change, creative thinking. Don't be satisfied with status quo. What you need you get through enterprise.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Collect facts, information; applies especially to property, home. Study needs. Accent today on how to obtain cooperation from family. If you get backing in this area, success is assured.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Neighbors have questions and also offer gossip. Answer sincerely, but reject temptation to throw verbal stones. Be versatile. Don't be wedded to tradition. Move, expand, experiment.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Your income potential is enhanced. Key is to take initiative. Don't be shy about asking for what you deserve. If reticent, others will hesitate. If direct, people respond generously.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): What was hidden now comes to fore. Be ready to act on knowledge. Stress ability to communicate ideas. Time to speak up, spruce up. Give attention to manner of dress, appearance.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Bring together persons with dissident opinions. You can be focal point of harmony. Key is to listen, moderate and offer suggestions. Applies specifically to family members.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): If you rely too much upon what is heard at social occasion, you invite deception. Look behind the scenes, in a quiet place, where you are likely to find answers.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Tonight you could receive unusual invitation which affects business more than personal life. Means be ready for assignment, request, special duty. Don't shirk responsibility.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Many factors point to a rounding out of activities — you enlarge, expand scope. Includes view of travel, basic philosophy. Before day is finished you boast major accomplishment.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Roadblock could be removed. Your affairs proceed along smoother line, especially finances, partnerships, legal agreements. Take initiative. Get the ball rolling. You are due to win.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): You receive call or request from one who recently disputed your claim. Be gracious. Avoid know-it-all attitude. If friendly, you accomplish much — otherwise, there is greater friction. IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY musical talent appears highlighted. You love luxury and tend to spend much on home comforts. Power period due — there is more responsibility and greater reward.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for VIRGO, LIBRA. Special word to TAURUS: romance is shown tonight. Communicate thoughts, ideas to loved one.

Questions and Comment

By Randall McCardle
Realtor

I sold my house in Santa Ana. Nothing was said about my wall-to-wall carpeting and drapes. Must I leave them?

R.M.W., Santa Ana

Wall-to-wall carpeting and drapes can be classified as fixtures. Fixtures are the things permanently attached to the land or building. Upon attachment, a thing becomes real property. All that is real property goes to the buyer whether or not mentioned in the contract.

There are two tests whether something has become a fixture: (1) the method of annexation, how it is attached and (2) intention of the owner. The intent of the owner is very important.

For example, even if the carpeting was not attached in any way, but it was tailored to the premises, cut exactly to the size and shape of the floors, it is a fixture and therefore real property. See your attorney or realtor; a well drawn contract will cover the removability or nonremovability of things that may be disputed.

What is an easement?

E.L.H., Costa Mesa

An easement is a right to use and enjoy property belonging to another. A property owner may have a right to use a driveway located on an adjoining property. He could only use it for driveway purposes, however, and could not fence it or build on the easements.

I understand the importance of a realtor to a seller — but why does a buyer need a realtor?

F.T.K., Newport Beach

A good realtor is invaluable in buying real property. Before showing property he will study the buyer's needs, match several properties to them, then make an appointment with buyer. When he meets with buyer he will seldom show more than three properties. A good realtor is fully informed and will give honest counsel and advice.

How much extra does it cost me to list my home in multiple listing and have a picture and all the details sent to all the realtors in the area?

L.P.R., Costa Mesa

It costs you no more. The additional charges for this service are paid for by your realtor.

Restaurant Awarded Good Neighbor Title

Mesa Verde's "Good Neighbor of the Month" plaque for May has been presented to the new Reuben's - Coco's Restaurant, according to Jim Wood, vice president of Mesa Verde Realty, originators of the award. At the presentation, Wood commented, "Usually the plaque goes to a Mesa Verde resident who participates in civic affairs, performs a neighborly deed or does an outstanding job of improving his property. In this instance, we felt the new Reuben's and Coco's was such a welcome addition to the community that immediate recognition was in order." The new restaurant, located on Adams Avenue near Harbor Boulevard, is actually two restaurants in one — Reuben's, specializing in steaks and lobster, and Coco's, famous for its hamburgers. The building, housing both restaurants, features contemporary Spanish architecture, and is complimented with tall eucalyptus trees and lush planter areas. Extensive landscaping surrounds the building and the adjacent parking area.

Irvine's Village 2 'Handy'

The proximity of Village Two to the University of California at Irvine and the University Park Elementary School has been singled out as a primary reason for the continuing sales success at the Swartz-Linkletter Company, Ltd. on the Irvine Ranch.

In making the announcement this week, A.P. Lench, the firm's director of marketing, said many homeowners have school age children and the nearby University Park Elementary School is a deciding factor in buying a park home. He also noted that many home buyers are associated with the University and want to be close to the campus.

Residents also take into consideration the fine schools in the immediate area, according to Lench.

Rossmoor's New Tract Half Sold

More than half of the 100 manors in the 17th unit at Rossmoor Laguna Hills have been sold since sales opened approximately a month ago, reports Andrew W. Noonan, general sales manager for the Rossmoor Corporation, developers of the all-adult community in southern Orange County.

Noonan attributed the strong sales activity to the choice location the new unit occupies in the master plan, being situated close to the community shopping center, medical offices and recreational facilities.

"Warm spring weather also picks up the pace of recreational activity enjoyed by Leisure World residents which never fails to impress visitors," he said, noting that a recent survey disclosed that there were more than 327 different recreational, social and cultural activities and clubs in the community.

Furnished models of manors available in the current Laguna Hills unit are on display, ranging in size from one bedroom and bath to two bedrooms, den and two baths. Storage and garage space is included with each manor.

Rossmoor Laguna Hills is located at the El Toro Road turnoff of the Santa Ana Freeway, approximately 10 miles southeast of Santa Ana.

visitors last weekend, will be continued this weekend, according to officials of the McFarland Company, sales agents for the new Shields Development Co.'s community in Huntington Beach.

Refreshments, including roast beef sandwiches, coffee, cookies, etc., will be served to all visitors Sunday between 1 and 5 p.m. through courtesy of the Southern California Edison Co., and Gaffers and Sattler, with hostesses from both concerns on hand to assist in serving guests.

Although the development was only officially opened last week, Frank McFarland, head of the McFarland Company, pointed out that as soon as plans for the project were disclosed — and long before either the permanent sales office of the model homes were completed, interest among buyers was extremely high. As a result it was necessary to open an interim sales office in a trailer on the site to accommodate the ever-increasing stream of prospective buyers to the development.

Work was expedited on the model homes to have them completely finished and decorated in time for the grand opening. The permanent sales office was opened two weeks ago.

The reason for the public interest in this new community Shields explained, is because Yorktowne is actually the result of a series of exhaustive surveys conducted among buyers to find out preference regarding size, and stylings and price range.

Yorktowne is located on the east side of Brookhurst

Street opposite Constitution Avenue in Huntington Beach, and may be reached from the San Diego Freeway by driving south on Brookhurst. The sales office is located at 9662 Constitution Avenue and the sales and telephone number is 962-4475.

CREA Parley Slated in SF

How to make money for clients through apartment house investment will be the subject for more than half of a five-day educational conference being sponsored by the California Real Estate Association May 23-27 at the Hilton Hotel in San Francisco.

Realtors and real estate salesmen from throughout California are expected to attend, according to John Cyr of Stockton, chairman of the CREA education committee.

"Investors will find it valuable, too," he commented, "especially the first three days. They will cover analysis of apartment properties, how to increase their value, how they may be marketed, appraised and used in tax-free exchanges."

The last two days will be devoted to the techniques of sales management and administration of real estate brokerage offices.

Don Roberts of Whittier, dean of the 1968 institute, said this is one of two such conferences this year, the second scheduled for October in Los Angeles. Realtors who are outstanding successes in their fields, he said, will lecture, then conduct workshop sessions. Two subjects will be offered each day.

Full credit toward the graduate, realtors institute (GRI) certificate and professional designation will be given those who attend. Registration fees are $20 per day, $80 for the full five days.

Inflation Move

Decline Seen In Standards

Fiscal action by the Federal Reserve Board to counteract inflationary forces may inadvertently cause a serious deterioration in the nation's standard of housing, a home building industry leader has warned.

Kenneth J. Bourguignon of Encino, president of the Pacific Coast Builders Conference, asserted that the need to accelerate housing construction to meet the basic demand for shelter cannot be disregarded by the federal government as it focuses its attention on ways to deal with the threat of uncontrollable inflation.

"The standard of housing of the American people will decline rapidly if a normal level of home building is not resumed soon," he said.

Bourguignon pointed out that home building activity has been depressed throughout the Western United States since 1964, a condition that has severely disrupted building firms because of their inability to retain key executives and skilled craftsmen due to inadequate earnings.

"Builders held out high hopes for recovery and a rebuilding of their organizations in 1968 because evidence pointed to a growing need for new housing units and the mortgage financing picture appeared to be brightening," he said.

"Now, however, the action by the Federal Reserve could make it impossible to move the great mass of middle-income earners into their own homes and intensify the housing plight of lower and low-middle income groups."

A solution will be sought at the annual Conference of Western Builders which meets at the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco on June 5-7 to the problems of establishing separate federal policies so that adequate housing construction and an effective check on inflationary pressures can be maintained simultaneously, Bourguignon disclosed.

"Both problems have arrived at critical stages where corrective action must be instituted promptly," he said.

Principal speakers at the conference who are expected to express their views on the new development in the housing situation include Lloyd E. Clarke, president of the National Association of Home Builders; Raymond E. Lapin, president of the Federal National Mortgage Association; and Congressman Richard T. Hanna of Westminster, member of the House Banking and Currency Committee and its housing subcommittee.

More than 50 speakers will appear as speakers and panelists on 18 programs dealing with major facets of home building and light construction during the three-day conference. Additionally, manufacturers will exhibit new building products and services on three floors of the Fairmont Hotel.

'Mortgage Outlook' Unchanged for 1968

Gloomy predictions for the 1968 real estate picture were partially dispelled by a panel of experts at a recent Southern California Mortgage Bankers Association meeting at the Sheraton West Hotel.

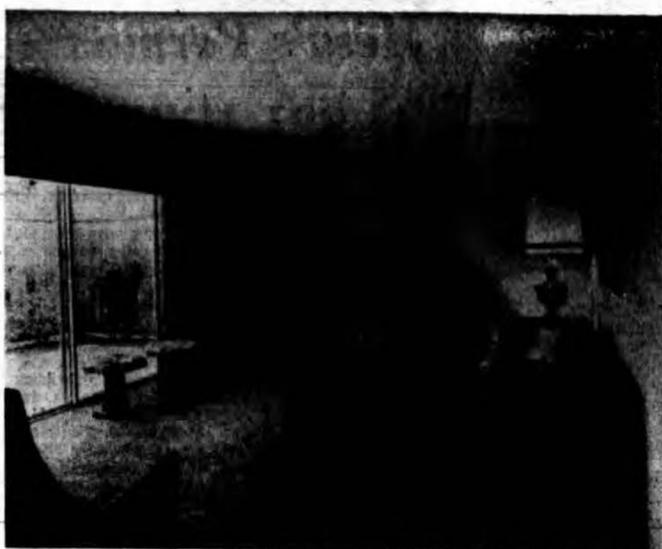

Richard B. Morey, executive vice president of Investor's Mortgage Service Co., as moderator of the panel on "The Mortgage Outlook for 1968," quoted an eastern financier as stating "1968 will be the year you'll want to forget."

Not so, according to the panelists, who see 1968 no worse than a combination of 1966 and 1967, as far as the flow of mortgage money is concerned.

The panel comprised Julian Broen, vice president, First Western Bank and Trust Co.; Rufus Freitag, regional manager, Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co.; Brent Gossage, vice president, Coast Federal Savings; William E. Murchie, newly elected president of Hurd and Co. of California; and Jack H. Grigsby, vice president in charge of loan originations, Brentwood Mortgage Corp.

Introduced by SCMBA president Floyd Cerini, vice president, Title Insurance and Trust Co., Morey's lead-in question concerned the availability of mortgage funds and how it will affect real estate lending this year.

According to Broen, the present demand for loanable funds in most commercial banks continues strong. Interest rates remain high and firm. The outlook for loans also is strong, due to demands resulting from the general economic advance, inventory accumulation, tax payments, abnormal government demands (both domestic and overseas), plus debt refunding re-

MEDITERRANEAN STYLING OFFERED AT HACIENDA HOMES

Del Cerro Preview Slated

The final homes in the popular Hacienda Series at Del Cerro in Costa Mesa will go on sale this weekend in a special preview showing at the site near South Coast

Plaza Shopping Center in the Beach City. The three and four bedroom Mediterranean styled homes are priced from $21,450 and make available both FHA and Veteran terms, the developers, George M. Holstein and Sons and Harvey A. Berger stressed.

Highlighted features at the Hacienda group are bright Florida kitchens, family rooms, block walls, landscaping, sprinklers, and wall to wall carpet.

"The choice location, the smart design, and scores of custom like features makes the home one of Orange County's outstanding values," the sales firm of Walker and Lee pointed out. Over eight percent of the homes have been sold prior to opening, the sales firm reported.

Mission Tile Feature Of La Cuesta Houses

Frank H. Ayres and Son, Inc., home builders and developers since 1905, are employing mission tile for the roofs of homes in the firm's Rancho La Cuesta-Huntington Beach development, and the tile is almost as old as the company.

Bud Frickett, sales manager of the new tract, said the tile, acquired from the roof of a government building torn down recently in West Los Angeles, is mission tile of the quality made a half century ago and is almost impossible to obtain.

"We have been able to get this tile for the roofs of Rancho La Cuesta homes, and we considered the value buyers place upon it. The mission tile is about a half century old, and it is the most beautiful and durable we've encountered."

Frickett said Ayres introduced Rancho La Cuesta with an advance 20 sales in the $2.5 million development located at Buchard and Hamilton streets in Huntington Beach. The homes, selling from $23,500 to $29,990, are near Huntington Beach State Park and designed for young couples and families.

4-story Beach Office Planned By Mercury Savings and Loan

Mercury Savings and Loan Association, an Orange County-based financial institution, will begin immediate construction of a four-story office building on Edinger Avenue near Beach Boulevard in Huntington Beach, across from Huntington Center.

Leonard Shane, president of the association, said the new facility will house the firm's executive offices. The total area of the building will be 40,000 square feet, with executive and business offices available for lease in the upper stories. Occupancy date for the million-dollar project is November, 1968.

Mercury's customer service area on the first floor will include computerized teller stations, with seating accommodations for customers during transactions. The customer facilities will feature architectural design executed in terrazzo, woods, synthetics, lush carpets, and suspended acoustical ceilings with recessed lighting. There will be vinyl and natural finish wood paneling in the administration offices.

The building will have masonry walls and projecting masonry columns of classic proportions, surrounding interior steel columns and girders.

More than ample parking, piped-in music, complete zone-controlled air conditioning, and elevator service are among special features of the Mercury Savings building. A community room with kitchen facilities and independent entrance is also included in the structure.

Leasing of the upper floor space is already in progress, under the direction of Ray W. "Bill" Krasch, manager of the Huntington Beach office of Mercury Savings and Loan.

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the building are set for 11:30 a.m., Monday. The Sheldon L. Pollack Corporation of Los Angeles is both architect and contractor for the building.

Oceanwood Curbs Sight And Sound

"At Oceanwood, months of planning and research have resulted in the elimination of sound transmission and the entire removal of visual encroachment from the residences through the construction of a unique windowless wall on one side of the lot's property line," according to Paul Bruns, marketing director for the Armour Development Co., builders of the Huntington Beach community.

Bruns says that the steel-reinforced and solid-grouted wall, standing eight-feet high and constructed of eight inch thick slumpstone, is unique in that Oceanwood is the only community utilizing this building technique in Southern California, at this time.

He reports that the wall adds $1,000 to the sales price of the home and has been more than unanimously accepted by the community as a truly remarkable innovation, adding increased privacy and expanded yard utility to each home.

Oceanwood, in employing this zero-lot line principle of placing one wall of the home flush with the side of the lot, has greatly influenced the architectural plans of many Orange County builders, Bruns claims.

"To my knowledge, several builders have already submitted plans utilizing the zero-lot line concept to various planning commissions throughout the county for similar projects," reports Bruns.

He predicts that as many as 1,000 zero-lot line homes could be constructed this year in Orange County alone.

Oceanwood's two to five bedroom homes range in price from $29,950 to $35,950, and models are open daily at Atlanta Avenue and Magnolia Street.

Appraisers' Scholarship Fund Begun

Richard B. Sullivan, president of the Los Angeles Chapter of the Society of Real Estate Appraisers, has announced that the board of directors has established a scholarship fund to be awarded to an outstanding student majoring in studies leading to a career in real estate appraising.

The fund has been named the "Col. E. W. Weeks Scholarship Fund" for Col. E. W. Weeks, immediate past international governor of the society, in recognition of his many years of service to the appraisal profession, Sullivan stated.

For the school year 1968-69, the award in the amount of $500 will be presented to a student at the University of Southern California. The fund was established on recommendation of the research committee, headed by Joseph W. Marshall.

In Sales

Walker & Lee Real Estate firm has announced at the end of the first quarter their newest office, Huntington Beach, was second in overall sales.

The new branch managed by Phil Gibilisco had a volume of over 3.5 million dollars.

Staff members of the Huntington Beach office are Rilla R. Brown, Donna Buccola, Steve Grannis, Reita and Scott Huddleston, Merrill Mathias, Toni Regnet, Lloyd Richardson, Rhea Tate, George R. Taylor and Lois Butters.

Walker & Lee is the largest real estate firm in California. Its operation includes resale home division, subdivision sales and the acreage-commercial income property division.

The firm has just completed a banner year with a record high over $117 million dollars in volume sales.

Capistrano's Floor Plans Boost Sales

The high interest shown by home-seekers in the functional and practical floor plan designs of the homes within the Capistrano Highlands development in Orange County was recently stressed by sales manager of the development, Frank Randazzo.

"Home seekers visiting the Capistrano Highlands homes show particular interest in the spaciousness and the features in the homes which accommodate the needs of a large family," stated Randazzo.

"Two models within the development offer five bedrooms, providing ample space for large families, and a formal dining area adjacent to the kitchen, which can be made into a family room. Two other models offer two downstairs bedrooms with a rumpus room which can be converted into a third bedroom.

These models also offer 180 square feet of living space which is not included in the square-footage of the home, which can be used as a study, den, sewing room or storage room.

The split-level model in the Macco Realty Company development has proven to be one of the most popular designs offered, according to the sales manager. Included in the purchase price are many luxury features that appeal to the discriminating homebuyer. A walk-in wet bar, wall-to-wall carpeting and wood-burning fireplace and three baths are some of the features of the split-level home, which is offered in three and four bedrooms.

All homes within the Capistrano Highlands development contain large linen closets and floor-to-ceiling wardrobes, which provide plenty of closet space for each member of the family.

Purchase price includes nylon wall-to-wall carpeting, modern medallion step-saving kitchens with dishwasher, disposal, double ovens, range hood with light and fan, deluxe kitchen cabinets, custom lighting fixtures and hardware, tile floors in all baths, drop-in type ceilings, motor wall-paper in end wood-burning fireplace, masonry exterior, aluminum frame windows, forced air heating, ceramic tile shower and tub wall.

Just Horsing Around Number 2 Visitors View Meadows From Surrey

If you happen to hear that famed "Oklahoma" tune, "The Surrey With the Fringe on Top" while visiting Tustin Meadows, there's a good reason:

Visitors to Tustin Meadows, new 900-home community on the Irvine Ranch in Tustin, are being treated to rides around the eight-acre park in a dashing 1903 Studebaker horse-drawn surrey, reports Clyde Wixom, project sales manager.

One of the major attractions the four points out is the public park which is the focal point of the community. Numerous green belts, picnic grounds, walkways and a central "meadow" the size of a football field are all part of the eight-acre park.

Featured in the ride is the tour of the model home area and recreational complex equipped with a swimming pool, wading pool and a clubhouse.

Tustin Meadows, being developed by Robert H. Grant and Company, calls for the construction of as many homes as feasible on sites in close proximity to the park's numerous green belts.

Priced from $21,955 to $30,995, the homes are available in six floor plans and 15 exterior stylings, with FHA and VA financing.

The model homes and park are open daily and the survey rides are offered visitors on Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. To reach Tustin Meadows take the Santa Ana Freeway south from Red Hill Avenue off ramp.

Mesa's Permits At $21 Million

Total valuation of all building permits in the city of Costa Mesa during 1967 totaled $21,221,000.00, according to Security First National Bank's new "Survey of Building and Real Estate Activity in the 14 Southern Counties of California."

O. Charles Adams, manager of Security Bank's Costa Mesa branch reported that during the past year building permits were issued for a total of 1,289 family dwelling units in the city.

Based on the survey, this figure included 530 single dwellings and 759 multiple units.

Copies of the comprehensive 40-page booklet are now available to the public, free of charge at the local branch as well as at all Security Bank branches throughout the Southern California area.

Overall, Southern California's volume of building activity in 1967 improved over the low levels recorded in 1966. The gain was due primarily to a recovery in the residential sector during the latter part of the year. This trend was supported by a continuing strong showing in the heavy engineering category, it was reported.

For the year as a whole, actual dollar volume of all building and construction in the Southland totaled $3.6 billion, up 2.4 percent from 1966.

Among the survey's highlights:

— Residential building in Southern California during 1967 was valued at $1,256,000,000. This was 7.4 percent above the 1966 level but was off more than one-half when compared to the all-time high set in 1963.

— Engineering construction expanded in 1967. Volume of engineering contracts awarded last year hit a record high of $342 million, an increase of 20 percent over the 1966 total of $701 million.

— Real estate loans, while declining slightly in number, advanced in total dollar volume. Number of loans were off 1.2 percent from 1966. Dollar volume of loans rose by $218 million or 2.9 percent.

Security Bank's study, with numerous tabulations documenting the overall Southern California construction industry, is of interest to persons in real estate, representatives of building and construction industries, architects and developers.

Why Not Try 'Camelot' for That Perfect Spot

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I married a man who likes to move around from city to city. Phoenix was too dry, Portland was too wet, Minneapolis was too cold in the winter and Miami was too hot in the summer. He always has managed to make a good living so I have never complained about the moves.

The reason I am writing is to ask you if I should put my foot down and refuse to haul around the two trunks filled with pictures, dance cards and love letters from his old girlfriends.

We have lugged these enormous foot lockers all over the U.S.A. since 1952 and I am sick of it. So far as I know my husband has never looked inside these trunks and the staff means less than nothing to him. Yet, every time we have moved I've asked him if he wants to take the 'garbage' and he has said "yes."

Next month we leave for Denver (Chicago was too windy) and I will just love to dump the junk. Should I do it and tell him later? — MINNIE

DEAR MINNIE: You've been a smart cookie for 16 years. Don't have an attack of stupidity NOW. Lug the junk until you celebrate your golden wedding anniversary if necessary. One day your husband may decide he doesn't need these little ego crutches, and when he does he'll let you know.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Several months ago our son started to date a girl of whom we did not approve. They were both well aware of our displeasure and we had many harsh words. Finally in the midst of a violent argument the couple announced they never wanted to see us again and they walked out of the house.

We never dreamed they meant it, but they did. Several weeks later we learned they had run off to another state and were married. (They were not old enough to marry without parental consent in this state.)

It has been five months since we have seen our son although he lives just a few miles away. We are heartsick about this family rift and don't want to live the rest of our lives cut off from our son and his family. Should we communicate with them and try to patch things up or would it be best to wait until they are ready to come to us? — WANT TO MAKE AMENDS

DEAR WANT TO: I doubt that time will do this situation any good. Someone must make a move, and it might as well be you. Don't wait. Go to your son and his wife and extend the olive branch.

SCR's 'Macbeth' Artistic Realism

By TOM TITUS

There are a number of reasons why "Macbeth" is South Coast Repertory's most significant artistic success in the company's three-year history, not the least of which is realism.

When Macbeth challenges, "Lay on, Macduff," in the final scene of the Shakespearean tragedy, he isn't kidding. And neither is Macduff as the two actors — Jack Davis and Clement Davidson — take after each other with clanging of swords and shields that literally cause sparks to fly through the Third Step Theater.

Attesting to the stark realism of the sequence are a pair of ugly looking scars on Davis' forehead, not from Macduff's sword but from Macbeth's own shield which clobbered him in dress rehearsal, opening a wound which required nine stitches to close.

"Those shields weigh 25 pounds," Davis remarked after one performance. "They're pretty tricky to manipulate."

This bold realistic flourish is the "clincher" of a production which demands audience involvement and will undoubtedly receive it whether the playgoer is a Bard buff or not. David Emmes' staging of the classic tragedy relates strongly to the generation of today.

ONE IMPORTANT FACET of the SCR version is Leslie Jones' interpretation of Lady Macbeth, not so much the cruel, vindictive shriek as the sensual, physical noblewoman who coaxes Macbeth's inherent lust for power to the surface.

"The Macbeths have a strong instinctive relationship," Emmes explains. "None of the intellectual brooding of Hamlet. Desire and ambition overpower intellectual morality until it's too late for them to recover their balance."

In its political implications, Emmes sees "Macbeth" as particularly relevant for today's audiences. All its characters, he declares — Duncan, Banquo and Malcolm as well as Macbeth — are implicated in political chicanery.

"Macbeth, however, becomes involved and committed to a degree resulting in tragedy," Emmes notes. "The violent consequences of such excess are witness today in the events of Dallas, Watts, Detroit and Memphis."

The repertory performers employ their consummate skill along with some jarring visual effects to drive this point home to their audience. You might even say they sock it to you.

WHILE ON THE SUBJECT of South Coast Repertory, it might be well to point out the company's next production — not "The Entertainer" as was previously scheduled, but Tennessee Williams' "A Streetcar Named Desire."

Hal Landon Jr. who, as one SCR member observed, "does the best imitation of Marlon Brando in the company," will be playing Stanley Kowalski. Newcomer Cherie Patch, who took a pair of minor roles in "The Time of Your Life" and "Macbeth," won the plum role of Blanche DuBois.

Portraying Stella will be Bonnie Gallup, a leading actress of the old Actors Circle Theater before its consolidation with the Costa Mesa company. SCR veteran Don Tuche is cast as Mitch.

Martin Benson will direct what is probably the most famous of all Williams epics (the movie version won Oscars for three of the four principals). What else could follow something like "Macbeth?"

TWO YOUNG ORANGE COUNTY actors will be picking up a lot of theatrical experience this summer when they join the Summer Repertory Musical Theater in Coeur d'Alene, Idaho.

Randall Cobb of Santa Ana and Jim Summers of San Clemente have been signed by Robert Moe, director of the troupe and a teacher at San Clemente High School. The company will stage "South Pacific," "Carousel" and "Stop the World — I Want to Get Off."

Cobb, a junior at UCI, landed the prize role of Littlechap in "Stop the World" and will play Mr. Snow in "Carousel" and a supporting role in "South Pacific."

Summers, who will graduate from San Clemente High this June, has been cast as Lieutenant Cable in "South Pacific" and Jigger in "Carousel." He'll accompany on bass for "Stop the World" as well.

The pair are among 20 young men and women from the West Coast who have signed contracts for the summer theater season in the Idaho resort city.

BACKSTAGE — Twelve-year-old Mitchell Vogel of Costa Mesa has won a featured role in the new movie "Yours, Mine and Ours" with Lucille Ball and Henry Fonda. Mitchell "turned pro" last year at Melodyland in the title role of "Tom Sawyer" and has been in three other productions at the Anaheim arena since.

Carl Schell, founder of the Dana Point International Theater, has left for Europe and has been replaced as managing director of the Schell Academy of the Performing Arts by Peter Gordon. The academy is now housed in permanent quarters at 34161 Coast Highway and offers a wider variety of courses.

EDITOR'S NOTE — Surely there's no songwriter like Irving Berlin. The popular music man has nearly 1,000 songs to his credit, including such classics as "White Christmas" and "God Bless America." In celebration of his 80th birthday, show business stars gather Sunday for a television special to pay tribute to the man and his music.

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
NEW YORK (AP) — Irving Berlin, approaching his 80th birthday, is a thousand songs and millions of dollars away from the skinny young waiter who sang for his supper in a Lower East Side saloon around the turn of the century.

A living legend, Berlin has written more popular music than any one else. Americans for six decades have sung and whistled his tunes, danced and courted to his music and been moved to patriotic fervor or laughter by the inspiration or wit of his lyrics.

Today Berlin is still a practicing "songwriter" — his word for what he does — and he remains as alert and active as a man 20 years his junior. The years have been extraordinarily kind, and Irving Berlin wears success as comfortably and casually as his favorite old fishing hat.

Never one to seek the limelight, Berlin submitted to a rare interview because tomorrow Ed Sullivan and CBS will present a special 90-minute tribute to the man who among many other things, wrote "God Bless America," "White Christmas" and the theater's unofficial anthem, "There's No Business Like Show Business."

Berlin, a reluctant self-publicist, is a theater pro with some 20 musicals to his credit, and he wants that show to be a hit.

The man who has been able to turn out hit tunes molded to personalities that ranged from Vernon and Irene Castle to Ethel Merman, and to match the changing moods of a nation for more than half a century believes that most of his success was a birthright.

"My talent, if I have one, is to be part of the times," he explained. "I write about how I feel personally. And if you are emotional — and I am — you become emotional about war, and about peace. You even get emotional about something that is in a script that somebody has handed you."

He enjoys, with reservations, the hit tunes of today. "There are only two kinds of music," he said. "There's good music and there's bad music. The young people writing today are more 'musically' — they've studied — and some of the songs, like the Beatles' 'Yesterday' are well constructed and have good rhythm."

WORDS AND MUSIC
Berlin feels strongly about the marriage of music and words in a song.

"If you are a professional, the music comes rather easily. But the lyrics — those are the things you must work and work over."

When he first started composing, he said, he "wrote everything that came into my head, and a lot of terrible songs came out of it."

"But along with the terrible ones there was 'Alexander's Ragtime Band' too," he continued. "But as you get older, you get more discriminating. Nowadays I write songs when there is a reason to write them — when there is a script to be filled, when I find that there is a place in a show for a ballad or novelty song."

show. "Yip, Yip, Yaphank" and was to be sung by a group of soldiers departing for the European war. At the last minute he decided it wasn't right, pulled it out and substituted "We're On Our Way to France."

The discard rested among his files and in the back of his mind until, one day in 1936, Kate Smith asked him for a patriotic song to sing on Armistice Day. He pulled the number out, made a few changes in the words, and the rest is history.

"White Christmas" in a movie called "Holiday Inn," came along in World War II when thousands of American fighting men were in the South Pacific and, although it was not Berlin's intention, it became a nostalgic lament for both the soldiers and their families at home.

Another Berlin discard, "Smile and Show Your Dimples," went into the bottom drawer — until he needed something for the musical "A S Thousands Cheer." He pulled it out, wrote some new words and "Easter Parade" was born.

"White Christmas," incidentally, still sells around 125,000 copies of sheet music each holiday time and its record sale exceeds 65 million.

'Born Yesterday' Up Next in Westminster

"Born Yesterday," Garson Kanin's comedy-drama of corruption in politics, will be the next production at the Westminster Community Theater.

Director Larry Trammell

this week announced the casting for the production, which opens June 14 for a three-weekend run.

George Haddad will portray the power-hungry Harry Brock, while Nancy Wells is cast as his empty-headed girl friend, Billie Dawn. The reporter who becomes her tutor will be played by Randy Keene.

Other cast members are Burt Warner, Harry Hammers, Sam Verdecia, Yvonne Tardy and Norma Hammers.

The play will be presented at the Westminster group's new theater, 6659 Westminster Ave. in the Westminster Center mall. Reservations may be secured by telephoning 839-0506.

More Shows For '2001'

HOLLYWOOD — To accommodate the record-breaking demand for tickets to MGM's presentation of Stanley Kubrick's "2001: A Space Odyssey," special midnight showings have been announced by the Warner Cinerama Theater. Starting this evening, May 4, and continuing up to and including Saturday, June 8, this midnight performance has been added to the regular Saturday matinee and evening schedule.

UNCLE LEN'S CORNER

...there, boys and girls, or at least what's left of it. It's mighty lonesome in Uncle Len's Corner today. You know why? Because only six of you bothered to send in your drawings and address this week. And nobody had any poems to read.

YOU think that makes a pretty seamy page to you're right. What say, boys and girls, let's get out those pens and paper and really make it to old Uncle Len next week. Like we've said many times, kids, this is your chance and it's up to you to fill it.

Next weekend will see Mother's Day coming, so it will be the theme for Saturday's art contest. A boy or girl who submits the best Mother's Day drawing will receive the Kennedy dollar.

HONORABLE mention in last week's art contest goes to Frances Jayne, 9, Corona Mar; Susan Duncan, 11, Newport Beach, and Andy Gage, 10, of Fountain Valley, who won the contest in Carol's Corner this week.

★ PRIZE WINNER ★

This week's contest winner is Diane Pratt, 8½, 416 Flower St., Costa Mesa

Any child under 12 can enter Uncle Len's Art Contest. Here's all you do: (1) Draw picture on piece of plain, white paper 5½ inches wide and 4 inches deep. Use black ink and make lines black. (2) Do not copy or trace picture. It must be your own work. (3) Put your name, age and address on back of drawing. Mail it to Uncle Len's Art Contest, Box 1500, DAILY PILOT, Costa Mesa. Winner will receive Kennedy half dollar.

Ask Andy

Send your questions to Ask Andy, c/o Orange Coast Daily Pilot, Box 1546, Costa Mesa, Calif.

Andy sends a complete 20 volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to André Rousseau, son of West Warwick, Rhode Island, for his question:

Which planet is called the earth's twin and why?

The nine planets of our Solar System differ in size and location. No two are exactly alike. But Earth and Venus resemble each other so much that they are called a pair of planetary twins.

Human twins share the same parents and the same birthday. Our Solar System was created by cosmic forces and its birth was billions of years ago. All its nine planets are children of our starry sun. Each is a round, solid body of a certain size, orbiting its own path around the sun at its own speed. Giant Jupiter is bigger than the total bulk of our eight brothers. Chilly Pluto is 100 times farther from the beaming sun than little Mercury. There are five "smallish" planets and four giants, and two of the smallish planets resemble each other more closely than any other pair in the Solar System.

Venus and Earth are the heavenly twins of our solar family. But as with human twins, each is an individual with marked differences. Their similarities are in their sizes and their positions in the Solar System. They occupy the second and the third orbits from the sun and their yearly paths are closer than those of the other planets. At times, they are separated by only 26 million miles. Venus, on the inside traffic lane, gets more light and heat from the sun than does Earth.

The greatest similarities are in their heavenly bodies. The size or volume of a planet can be figured from the length of the diameter line through its equatorial waist. Earth's diameter is merely 366 miles wider than that of Venus and the mass of the earth outweighs Venus by 18 per cent. The density of a planet is estimated by comparing its total weight with an equal amount of water. On this scale, the earth ranks first in the solar system with a density of 5.5. Venus ranks second with 4.9.

A planet's gravitational force is based on a ratio of its mass and volume. Let's borrow a 100 pound, 12-year-old girl to check this comparison. Earth's surface gravity gives her a weight of 100 pounds. But transported to the surface of Venus, our girl would weigh only 85 pounds. Compare this with Mercury, where she would weigh only 25 and giant Jupiter where her weight would be 264 pounds.

The bodies of the twin planets resemble each other, but they have very different planetary motions. Earth's average orbital speed is 66,600 miles per hour. Venus outdistances us by 6,600 miles per hour and completes its yearly orbit in under 225 earth days. Venus has no changing seasons and no 24-hour day. Its rotation remains mysterious and at present the Venusian day is estimated from 30 to 100 Earth days, or more.

Still greater differences exist on the surface of the twin planets. Venus is shrouded in a dense blanket of stifling clouds. Sunbeams fall on these clouds but do not pierce through to its parched, arid surface. Our mild, life-giving moisture and oxygen do not exist there. Earth's teeming population of living things could not survive on the surface of Venus.

Who originally settled Hawaii?

The geological story of the islands began ages ago when major volcanoes began erupting from the deep floor of the mid-Pacific. Stage by stage, masses of debris grew three miles high and rose above the waves. The bare isles may have been born when the dinosaurs roamed the continents. Winds and waves brought seeds to clothe them. Birds visited them and a few animals, carried on logs and other floating debris, arrived to populate them with wildlife. Far to the west and the southwest, there were lands populated by man — and mankind is a born explorer. Sea-going tourists sailed and rowed across the vast reaches of the Pacific long before the dawn of history.

About 1,000 years ago the Hawaiian Islands were discovered and settled by Menehune people who had voyaged far northward from their original island homes. A few generations later, voyagers from the Southern Island of Tahiti also came upon the islands. Sad to say, later arrivals ousted the original Menehunes. Captain Cook met only Tahitian settlers when he found the islands in 1778. But archeologists later unearthed many ruins of buildings erected by the original Menehune settlers of Hawaii.

PEANUTS

I HATE WINDY DAYS... WIND IS VERY IMPORTANT... WITHOUT WIND OUR WORLD WOULD BE LIFELESS! OUR OCEANS WOULD BECOME STAGNANT PONDS... CLOUDS WOULD NOT MOVE... FLAGS WOULD NOT FLY... EARS WOULD NOT FLAP!

DR. KILDARE

EASY, HUH, JENNIFER? THIS IS SUPPOSED TO BE A HOSPITAL. AND I'M SUPPOSED TO BE ECSTATIC SEEING THE MAN I LOVE. WELL, I AM!! DR. KILDARE, THIS IS JENNIFER DELON. HOW DO YOU DO, MISS DELON. HE LOOKS NICE, DAN. YOU CAN'T PROVE IT BY ME, NOW BEAT IT, WILL YOU. I'VE GOT ROUNDS TO MAKE.

GORDO

YOU'VE BEEN UP TO WIDON'S PEAK? YOU SAW HER? HUP, SHE'S JUST IN TOWN FOR A REST. THAT YOU LIVE HERE, TOO, IS INCIDENTAL. HAH! IN A PIG'S EYE! THE WICKED NEVER REST! DOG, WILL YOU TAKE A GOOD LOOK INTO MY ORB? WHY SHOULD IT BE THE RECEPTACLE OF DISBELIEF? SHUT UP AND LISTEN, PIG.

JUDGE PARKER

GLORIA? IS MR. PRIVER THERE? I GOT TO TALK TO HIM! AL WHERE ARE YOU? I JUST CALLED MR. PRIVER'S APARTMENT; THERE WAS NO ANSWER! PLEASE... GET HIM ON THE PHONE! THEY'RE AFTER ME! THEY MIGHT BE BACK ANY MINUTE! HIS CAR'S STILL HERE! I'M GOIN' BACK TO THAT APARTMENT BUILDING! YOU STAY HERE IN CASE HE COMES FOR THE CAR!

MOON MULLINS

LOOK, MOON... MY NEW MIDI-LENGTH! OH FOR... WHY GET HUNG UP ON ALL THAT FASHION BIT? YA DON'T CATCH ME DOIN' THAT, SWIVEL... WHAT'S YOUR IMPRESSION, MYNA? VERY FASHIONABLE-- BONNIE AND CLOD.

TUMBLEWEEDS

O.K. LOTSA LUCK!... CUT THE FLOWER FLINGIN'! YOU'RE MAKING BOUCOLIC BUFFALO NERVOUS! NON LIKUM FLARSI... NON LIKUM LIL MANS! FROMM WAY!

MUTT AND JEFF

COME ON, JIMMY, BOY! SLAM ONE INTO SPACE, BABY! O.K. JIMMY! YA GOT YOUR EYE ON IT, BOY! YEAAA, JIMMY! RUN, BABY! RUN!

MISS PEACH

—AND SO, I AM NOT A CANDIDATE, I HAVE NEVER BEEN A CANDIDATE, AND I DEFINITELY WILL NEVER BE A CANDIDATE. —UNLESS, OF COURSE, SOMEONE OUT THERE COUGHS OR BATS AN EYE.

DEBBIE DEERE

OH! EILEEN—YOU'RE WHITE AS A SHEET—WHAT'S WRONG? HI, SISTER, DEAR... I GOT THE JANITOR TO LET ME IN... HE BALKED AT FIRST, BUT... I'VE GOT PERSUASIVE WAYS!

Forward Pass Aims for TD in Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Fourteen of America's finest 3-year-old colts, with Calumet Farm's Forward Pass as the probable favorite, are set to start in today's 94th running of the Kentucky Derby, which is on TV, Channel 2, at 1 p.m.

The Churchill Downs handicapper figured Forward Pass, winner of the Florida Derby and Blue Grass Stakes, would be 8-5 by the start of the 1 1/4-mile classic.

Meantime, trainer Lou Cavalaris and his veterinarian, Dr. Alex Harthill, pronounced Dancer's Image fit after an early morning blowout of three-eighths of a mile in 37 seconds.

Dancer's Image is plagued with ankle trouble, but Cavalaris said the son of Native Dancer returned from the work in good shape.

Dancer's Image will start from the No. 12 slot while Forward Pass comes out of No. 13, a spot that may cut into his odds.

Only C. V. Whitney's Gleaming Sword, a 30-1 choice, starts from a position outside of Forward Pass.

Race experts say that the favorite

Lineup for the Kentucky Derby with post positions, jockeys, owners and probable odds as made by the track handicapper:

PP	Horse	Jockey	Prob. Odds
1	Iron Ruler	B. Beza	8-1
2	T.V. Commercial	H. Grant	15-1
3	Te Vega	R. Brunsard	20-1
4	Kentucky Sherry	V. Campbell	20-1
5	Trouble Brewing	B. Thornburg	20-1
6	Don B.	M. Mangano	20-1
7	Don B.	C. Pierce	20-1
8	Verbatim	A. Cordery Jr.	20-1
9	Capitan's Gig	M. Yusta	20-1
10	Francis's Hat	B. Filas	20-1
11	Proper Proof	J. Sellers	20-1
12	Dancer's Image	R. Usery	20-1
13	Forward Pass	L. Valencia	8-5
14	Gleaming Sword	E. Belmonte	30-1 will have to run two lengths more than Iron Ruler, from the October Farm, who is slated to go from the No. 1 berth.

Other starters in order from No. 2 through No. 11, are T. V. Commercial, Jig Time, Kentucky Sherry, Trouble

Brewing, Te Vega, Don B., Verbatim, Captain's Gig, Francie's Hat and Proper Proof.

With more than 12 betting interests, Kentucky Sherry, Trouble Brewing and Te Vega were lumped together as the field entry.

The weatherman said there was a 10 percent chance for showers, although there would be clouds. The track is expected to be fast.

With the 94th Derby's post time only hours away, the talk on the Churchill Downs backstretch centered around the favorite, Calumet Farm's Forward Pass.

"I'm sure glad this isn't a match race," said Lou Cavalaris, trainer of Dancer's Image.

"If it was, there wouldn't be a way in the world to beat him.

"If that big brute was against you in a match race and had his own way, I don't think there's a horse around that could beat him."

GWC's Champagne Fizzles In Bizarre Track Finish

By RAY PLUTKO
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Golden West College was all set to toast its stunning third place finish in the Eastern Conference track and field championships Friday, but someone pulled the champagne cork prematurely in a bizarre finish to the meet at the Orange Coast College oval.

Coach Tom Noon's forces apparently had third place sewed up with 68 points

Bucs Eyeing Lofty Berth In State Meet

SANTA ANA — Orange Coast is still in position for a lofty berth in the state JC swimming and diving championships, with the final action on tap at 5 this evening at the Santa Ana College pool.

Coach Jack Fullerton's mermen have amassed 65 points and seventh place after the initial two days of competition, while defending state King Foothill continues to run away from the pack with 25 1/2 markers.

Golden West garnered its initial points Friday when Craig Jorgensen finished sixth (59.1) in the 100-yard backstroke.

Picking up points for the Pirates were Bob Duke with an 11th (2:05.2) in the 200 butterfly, Dee Renfro's tie for seventh (1:49.7) in the 200 freestyle and Duke's fourth (58.0) in the 100 backstroke.

Foothill's 400-freestyle relay team set a national record with a 3:14.1 clocking — topping its own mark of 3:14.7 set in 1965.

after the final points were tallied, but suddenly the judges honored a protest that some of the hurdles were not spaced properly on the 330 intermediate race run one hour earlier.

As a result the race was run over — one hour after the scheduled ending of the meet — and Golden West had to settle for a fourth-place deadlock with Chaffey, just one point out of third.

Golden West's Jim Seymour won the initial running of the 330 intermediate hurdles in 38.0, but had to settle for runnerup in the second race and the margin of difference in the final point tally.

Fullerton won as expected on the strength of 147 markers, with second place Santa Ana a distant 75. Orange Coast placed ninth with 13 points.

EC records were set by Santa Ana's Mike Johnson in the discus (167.7), Fullerton's 440-yard relay team (41.6) and Golden West's Bill Inglehart in the two-mile run (9:09.5).

Bob Messina of Golden West scored the lone double victory, winning the mile (4:10.3) and 880 (1:54.4).

Seymour apparently had his double after winning the 120 high hurdles (14.6) and the intermediates, but lost the latter.

Loomer's Bat Hot Again For GWC; Pirates Lose

Shortstop Dan Loomer continued his strong bid for all-Eastern Conference honors Friday in pacing Golden West College to a 5-3 win over visiting Cypress — the second straight credit sign for the Rustlers.

Orange Coast experienced little in the way of success in its quest for a needed win at Riverside, the Pirates dropping a 3-1 decision to the host Tigers.

Loomer collected a triple and a single as he pushed his batting average near the .460 mark, while Art Spencer's clutch relief pitching also shared the spotlight for coach Fred Hoover's club.

Meanwhile, Chaffey won its first EC baseball title on record with an 11-3 decision over San Bernardino Valley.

HOT SPORTS MENU FOR WEEKEND TV

Whether it be the Kentucky Derby, soccer, track, crew, golf or baseball, weekend television sports followers have a spicy menu of activity.

The Derby gets the ball rolling this afternoon at 1 o'clock on Channel 2. An hour later Channel 11 screens the SC-UCLA track meet, Channel 5 presents the UCLA-Cal crew race and Channel 2 shows the Baltimore-Cleveland soccer tiff.

Sunday's programming includes the Angels and Tigers at 10:30 on Channel 5 and the final round of the $100,000 Houston golf tourney at 1 on Channel 7.

Parnelli Jones Resigns; U.S. In Davis Cup Lead

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — Parnelli Jones resigned Friday from the Pratt and Whitney turbine engine car in which he led most of the 1967 Indianapolis 500-mile race and won't compete in the 1968 classic.

The engine had been reduced about one-third in size under new U.S. Auto Club rules, and the veteran Torrance driver said he didn't think it had a chance in the May 30 event.

"I don't think I can win with this car except for a fluke. I won't depend on flukes. It is as simple as that," he said.

Jones, 1963 winner of the race, was stopped by a $6 bearing failure with 7 1/2 miles to go last year and A. J. Foyt Jr. moved up to win.

ST. LOUIS — Ron Schock slapped a goal past Cesare Manago to give the St. Louis Blues a 2-1 double overtime victory over Minnesota Friday night and send them into the finals of the National Hockey League Stanley Cup playoffs.

The victory sends the Blues into the finals beginning here Sunday against the East Division champion Montreal Canadiens.

RICHMOND, Va. — The United States Davis Cup team swept to a 2-0 lead over the British Caribbean in opening American Zone competition Friday on the wings of runaway victories by Arthur Ashe and Clarke Graebner.

Ashe, 24-year-old Army lieutenant and native Richmond, showed off before the homefolks by demolishing Lance Lumsden 6-1, 6-1, 6-0.

Graebner, 24, defeated the visitors' top player Richard Russell 6-1, 7-5, 6-2. So, today, the assignment of winning a United States triumph in the best-of-5 match series will fall to the doubles team of Stan Smith and Bob Lutz, who meet Russell and Lumsden.

HOUSTON — Jack Nicklaus, still looking for his first victory this year, and Dan Sikes tied for the lead after the second round Friday of the $100,000 Houston Champions International Golf Tournament.

Nicklaus fired a two-under-par 69 to go with an earlier 65, while Sikes shot 68 after a 66 in the first round. They are tied at 134, eight under par.

Nicklaus charged to nine under par through 35 holes, but bogeyed the final hole to leave an opening for the rest of the field.

ST. LOUIS — The St. Louis Globe-Democrat reported Friday night that the St. Louis Hawks of the National Basketball Association have been sold to an Atlanta group and the franchise will be moved to the Georgia city.

OAKLAND — Alex Hannum, who coached two National Basketball Association championship teams and five division winners, signed Friday to coach the Oakland Oaks who finished a dismal last in the American Association's just ended first season.

Hannum will be executive vice president and a minority stockholder as well, joining a new trend among professional basketball coaches.

LONDON — Andres Gimeno of Spain defeated former Wimbledon champion Roy Emerson of Australia 7-5, 6-2 in the quarter-finals of an international professional tennis tournament Friday night.

Southern California's track and field forces, unbeaten in dual competition this spring, engage injury-troubled UCLA in one of today's traditional intra-state meets in the Pacific 8 Conference.

Angels' Rally Knocks Tigers From Top Spot

DETROIT (AP) — The California Angels rallied for three runs in the sixth inning off Detroit's Mickey Lolich and went on to a 6-5 victory that knocked the Tigers out of first place in the American League.

The Angels got to Lolich, 1-1, for two runs in the third. Chuck Hinton drove in one run with a bases-loaded single and the other scored when Detroit third baseman Don Wert dropped Bubba Morton's two-out liner.

Lolich was knocked out in the sixth following run-scoring singles by Bob Rodgers and Bobby Knoop.

The third run came in on Paul Schaal's sacrifice fly off reliever Pat Dobson. Schaal singled in another run in the eighth.

Jack Hamilton, 3-1, who relieved starter Clyde Wright in the fourth, picked up the victory.

Tom Matchick's pinch-single in the ninth drove in Jim Northrup, who had reached first after striking out on a wild pitch, to cut California's margin to 6-5.

50,506 See LA Win, 4-3

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Luis Alcaraz climaxed a three-run rally with a tie-breaking single in the sixth inning Friday night as Los Angeles defeated Cincinnati 4-3 before a Bat Night crowd of 50,506.

Jim Brewer pitched 2 2/3 scoreless innings of relief to save the victory for starter Don Sutton, 2-0.

The Dodgers, trailing 3-1, pinned the loss on Jim Maloney, 2-1, after Jim Fairley and Zolo Versalles opened the sixth inning with singles.

Fairley scored on Willie Davis' force-out. Davis reached third on a single by Ron Fairly and scored on a single by Tom Haller. Alcaraz singled home the go-ahead run.

The Reds flubbed a chance to tie the score in the eighth after an infield hit by Alex Johnson and a two-base throwing error by Brewer put Johnson at third with none out. Vada Pinson hit a shallow fly to right and Alex Johnson was out for leaving third too soon.

A double by Tony Perez, a throwing error by Sutton and John Bench's sacrifice fly gave the Reds a run in the second inning. They went ahead 2-1 when Pinson homered in the fourth.

In the sixth, Johnson doubled and scored on Fred Whitfield's infield out.

Singles by Fairly and Haller plus a sacrifice fly by Bailey netted the first Dodger run off Maloney in the second.

Williams in Sunset Double

By GLENN WHITE

Paul Williams of Huntington Beach picked up an unprecedented double in a pair of middle-distance runs Friday night to share the individual spotlight with magnificent Isaac Curtis of Santa Ana in the Sunset League track championships at Westminster High.

The Otter ironman bagged victories in the 440 (49.8) and 880 (1:55.4), cracking a 10-year-old standard in the latter by four-tenths of a second. And he logged a 49.9 anchor leg on the third place mile relay team, despite a weakened physical condition due to a cold.

As expected, Santa Ana ran off with the varsity team championship with Curtis setting the pace for Earl Engman's mighty Saints. Anaheim bagged Bee honors and Santa Ana took the Cee title.

Curtis opened the evening with a record run in the 120 high hurdles, covering the distance in 14 seconds flat. The previous best was 14.3 set a year ago by Don Tilley of Santa Ana Valley. Tilley also improved on his former mark, recording a 14.2 for second place.

Curtis came back to run a nifty anchor leg on the 440 relay foursome as that group got into the Sunset archives with a 42.5 performance.

And he put his monicker in the record books for the third time when he breezed to a 19.0 for the 180 low obstacles, reducing the previous standard by two-tenths of a second.

Williams never trailed in the 880, cruising by the first 440 in 55.8 and covering the 660 in 1:24.3.

Other records to fall included Jim Davis of Santa Ana in the Cee 120 low hurdles, recording a 13.3; Mike Lauderbach of Anaheim, 22.8 in the Bee 220; Marv Whitaker of Santa Ana tied the varsity 220 (22.3).

Other Orange Coast area winners included Newport Harbor's Dan Moonhey, who streaked to a 9:41.1 victory in the 2-mile and Lance Powers of Newport who led an area sweep of qualifying places in the varsity shot.

He heaved the 12-pound sphere 54-9 to edge Kurt Clemens of Huntington Beach (54-7) and Dan Stark of Marina (54-4).

The first three finishers from Friday's affair will return to Westminster a week from today for the CIF preliminaries. They get under way at 11:30 a.m.

Fountain Valley Runnerup In Irvine League Spikefest

By EARL GUSTKEY

Fountain Valley pulled out all the stops Friday night but couldn't catch Loara's speedy Saxons in the Irvine League track and field meet at Valencia High School.

Loara won four running events and tied for another to put the grab on the championship trophy. The Saxons scored 58 points, Fountain Valley posted 50.

Mustangs Win, 1-0

Sea Kings Stun Loara

By ROGER CARLSON

Dave Sobolewski's third inning home run for Costa Mesa for a 1-0 verdict over Brea coupled with Corona del Mar's 4-2 shocker over Loara sent Costa Mesa into a tie for first place in the Irvine League Friday.

Other Irvine action had Fountain Valley winning its third in a row with an 8-3 decision over Estancia and Magnolia dumped Valencia, 14-2.

In Crestview hostilities, Laguna Beach dropped a 3-1 decision to Tustin.

Dave Barton, a sophomore, made Sobolewski's 325-foot four-bagger stand up - retiring the last nine in a row for his second win in league competition.

Barton fanned six while allowing only two hits to handcuff the Wildcats.

Corona del Mar's socker over Loara Friday night was wrapped up in the Sea King fifth when coach Brad Thurman's troops sent across three runs on two walks, a single and a clutch double by Kim Wilbrect - scoring the final two.

Wilbrect ended the night with a three-for-three performance, knocking in three RBIs.

His single in the fourth inning scored Dick Chaney for the first run against the Saxons.

Fountain Valley's verdict over Estancia dropped the Eagles to a 6-6 loop record while the Barons moved up to 4-8.

The Barons got all five of their hits in the fourth inning and parlayed them into five runs to sink Estancia.

Dave McDonnell was the only Lagunan to get a RBI with a single in the first inning giving the Artists a brief 1-0 lead.

Billion-Dollar Perch

Who's Richer, Getty or Howard Hughes?

From Fortune Magazine

The two richest Americans are J. Paul Getty, 75, and Howard Hughes, 62, the only ones who probably can be called billionaires. But it is impossible to say which is richer.

The issue remains in doubt because both men have substantial assets that cannot be precisely evaluated. Perhaps half of Hughes's wealth is in two privately held companies. He owns all the stock of Hughes Tool Co., while the stock of Hughes Aircraft Co. belongs to the Howard Hughes Medical Institute, a foundation he created; neither company, of course, has a quoted market value.

In addition, both Getty and Hughes own large amounts of real estate, a type of asset that also is difficult to evaluate; an estimate normally is based on the most recent sale of comparable parcels, but the actual value cannot be determined unless the real estate is placed on the market.

THERE IS, however, a market value for the bulk of Getty's wealth — his holdings in Getty Oil Co. The stock recently was selling for $62.50 a share. But it is conceivable that the company, if liquidated, would bring as much as $150 per share.

And since Getty, as either owner or trustee, controls 62 percent of the company, he is in a position to liquidate. Getty owns 4,600,917 shares of Getty Oil directly, and is an income beneficiary of the Sarah C. Getty Trust, named for his late mother, which owns 7,948,272 shares. Getty is the only trustee, but 20.7 percent of the trust is in the names of his four sons, all adults. At $62.50 a share, Getty's direct holdings were worth $379,575,652, and his interest in the trust shares was worth $519,995,825, for a total of $899,571,477.

However, if the same shares were liquidated at $150 each, his total would be $1,635,584,504, minus a capital-gains tax of perhaps $400 million, which would leave $1,235,584,504.

GETTY'S OTHER visible assets are slender by comparison. His art collection is probably worth between $20 million and $50 million. His museum in Malibu is worth between $5 million and $10 million. Other real estate is worth perhaps $30 million to $40 million. Getty also recently owned, directly and through the Sarah C. Getty Trust, $2,832,812 worth of stock in Spartan Aircraft.

This, then, is how the most conservative, and the most liberal, estimates of Getty's visible assets would look:

Assets	Conservative evaluation	Liberal evaluation
Getty Oil Co. stock	$699,571,477	$1,235,584,504
Art Museum and collection	25,000,000	60,000,000
Other real estate	30,000,000	40,000,000
Spartan Aircraft Co. stock	2,832,812	2,832,812
Total	$957,404,289	$1,338,417,316

Calculations of Hughes's wealth naturally require more guesswork. His companies, for example, do not report either sales or earnings. Hughes Aircraft has sales of about $620 million, mostly to the military and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Government contracts entail low profit margins, and the company also has been less profit-minded than other aerospace firms.

It seems fair to estimate Hughes Aircraft's actual earnings at $12,500,000; but in different hands the company might be earning $25 million. At fifteen times these two earnings figures, Hughes Aircraft would therefore be worth between $187,500,000 and $375 million.

AS FOR HUGHES Tool, the available evidence suggests a minimum hypothetical market value of $200 million, and a maximum of $300 million, excluding certain substantial investments that Howard Hughes has made in the company's name. His 75 percent interest in Trans World Airlines, for example, which he sold in May, 1966, was held in the name of Hughes Tool.

Hughes has received substantial cash proceeds from the sale of publicly held stock. The T.W.A. sale yielded $546,549,771, of which perhaps $436 million was left after payment of the capital-gains tax. Hughes also got about $11 million when he sold his interest in Northeast Airlines three years ago. He has invested about $100 million in hotels, two private airports, and land in or near Las Vegas, and some, though perhaps not all, of the money came from the sale of stock.

Hughes also owns about $20-million worth of real estate at Tucson and Phoenix, and about $125 million worth at Culver City, California. And he has

HE MADE IT IN OIL
Billionaire J. Paul Getty

a $6-million interest in the Atlas Corp. Estimates of Hughes's visible assets thus would look like this:

Assets	Conservative evaluation	Liberal evaluation
Hughes Aircraft Co.	$187,500,000	$375,000,000
Hughes Tool Co. (excluding outside investments)	200,000,000	300,000,000
Real estate	245,000,000	245,000,000
Remaining from stock sales	347,000,000	447,000,000
Atlas Corp. stock	6,000,000	6,000,000
Total	$985,500,000	$1,373,000,000

By both a conservative and a liberal evaluation, Hughes shows a slim margin over Getty when only visible assets are considered. But both may have other assets, for example cash and securities, which remain invisible. Because of this, and because of all the other imponderables, Getty and Hughes must be declared tied for the title of Richest American.

Our Man in San Francisco

Stop Before You Sneeze

By HERB CAEN

SAN FRANCISCO — Learn something every day: When you sneeze behind the wheel of a car going 70 mph you travel 330 yards dazed and half blind... Daily didacticisms: False eyelashes don't make a pretty girl any prettier. Short-necked men in turtlenecks look like their heads are screwed directly onto their shoulders. Bermuda shorts should be worn only in Bermuda... Do they still make alphabet soup? And if so, have they taken LSD out of it?

SUGGESTIONS FOR Mayor Alioto: Install a sign in Golden Gate Park pointing the way to Hippie Hill, now high on the tourist list... Hire all our talented unemployed artists to decorate freeways with psychedelic designs (now you know that's one great idea)... Swing hard for more sidewalk restaurants, especially downtown; in this miniskirted era, there are so many lovely sights to see while sipping coffee — it's a shame... Institute an annual city bus race at the beach, so our drivers can work off their frustrations. I see this as a giant slalom, with traffic signals to shoot.

MARKS OF INSECURITY: Leaving your bottom sleeve unbuttoned to show the world that your suit has button-through sleeves. Going home to change your socks before dining at a Japanese restaurant. Putting a dime in the parking meter after 5 p.m.

BEING ADDICTED to complicated puns, I salute Trudie Clow's Country Store for "Should auld and quaint things be forgot?"... Then, of course, there's the baseball story of Mel Famous, who was a winning pitcher till he got hooked on beer — and in the World Series, he walked in the winning run. Said the batter: "It was the beer that made Mel Famous walk me"... And our friend Mary Jennings claims she went to an Irish monastery that served fish 'n' chips, and wishing to compliment the chef, she asked: "Are you the fish friar?" "No," he replied, "I'm the chips monk"... Is three-dot journalism dead?

YOU KNOW about this? Lots of people — including some of our Very Finest — mail in their income tax returns on time but "forget" to include their check. This gives them a 60-90-day breather until the Govt. sends them a reminder, at 6 percent interest. Shrugs a socialite: "If I borrow to pay my tax, which I do, the bank charges seven or eight percent. Every buck counts. Especially if you're rich."

AH, YES: Bill Pomeroy, who made millions in the heavy construction business, has cut all his ties with S. F. and is making the Seychelle Isles (in the Indian Ocean) his permanent home. He lives in a big house with 11 servants who cost him $55 a month all told, and makes "a tidy living" selling copra and cinnamon... One slight drawback might be that the Seychelles are overrun with exotic bugs, as Noel Coward discovered when he stayed there in a small hotel. When he checked out, scratching assiduously, the mgr. asked: "May I post a sign reading 'Noel Coward Slept Here'?" "Certainly," nodded Noel, "if you'll add one word — 'fitfully'."

THE NOW & FUTURE GENERATION: Atty. Frank Winn was driving his 10-yr.-old dgtr., Theresa, to school the other morn when he noticed some apparently garbled letters painted on one of her hands. "What's that?" he asked. "Well," explained Theresa, "when my friend and I put our hands side by side, it spells 'Peace and Love'..." Kiddie korner: Mrs. Jo Smith, the former nat'l mag model, was coming out of a restaurant with her handsome six-yr.-old son, Colin, when our Little Old Lady gushed over him: "Where EVER did you get those beautiful brown eyes?" Colin: "They came with my head." Next question.

BOBBY KENNEDY, campaigning here recently, ran into an unexpected problem on his way to a speaking engagement. He boarded the elevator on the 23rd floor of the Fairmont Hotel Tower — and found himself standing next to a pretty mini-skirted girl who gasped "Bobby Kennedy!" A quick thinker, this girl: she then pressed every floor button to make the trip down last longer — and at the main floor, she boxed him in till the door closed again, at which she pressed 23. At first amused and at last annoyed, Kennedy finally escaped from the elevator, saying icily: "Young lady, I feel like I've spent an entire weekend with you — without any of the customary benefits."

IF THE REPUBLICANS go for Rockefeller and Reagan, it would mark the first time in U.S. politics that two divorced men ran on the same ticket — a point nobody has raised yet. Maybe we're making progress.

He-men, Deviates and the Art World

By DOUGLAS M. DAVIS

When I was a kid we thought all writers and artists were hard-drinking, hard-living he-men. It was an image admirably supported by the private lives of Faulkner, Hemingway, Scott Fitzgerald, and Picasso, and by countless Hollywood epics, the latest in my memory being Some Came Running with Frank Sinatra as the rogue-lover-writer par excellence. Now the image has changed, at least in some quarters. Several sensationalized exposures in the press, together with a spate of plays and films dealing with the homosexual "problem," as the critics say, seem to be spreading the notion that homosexuality is rampant in the arts — that, in the words of one journal, a "Homointern" flourishes, particularly in the New York art world, dictating the success of this or that artist according to his sexual habits. We apparently cannot let artists alone. We cannot think of them as human beings; but as aberrants of one extreme or another.

IT IS SURELY past time to debunk this foolishness. I have spent a great deal of time in the company of artists, from my early days in art school to the present. Thanks to the benefits of journalism, I have also spent a great deal of time with politicians, business tycoons, and professional athletes. Thanks to the necessities of marriage and family, finally, I have put in plenty of time with plain, square urbanites, suburbanites, and urbanites. There are more similarities among these groups than you might imagine, and many of the differences, at least in life style, are superficial. Very few artists, for example, work 9-to-5 days, but most of them put in longer than average hours and commit more of themselves to their work than does the average man to his job.

There is one fairly profound difference, however, which surely accounts for our recurrent tendency to link artists as a group with aberrant sexual behavior. They are, in the main, far more open about their sexual habits than any sector of society

I've yet encountered. Homosexuality openly indulged by a teacher, a businessman, or a politician is likely to ruin his — or her — career. The art world, since time immemorial, has been more tolerant, largely because the economic pressure to keep "face" is less severe.

AN ARTIST LIVES or dies on the basis of his work, and our respect for the Sistine Chapel is hardly diminished because Michelangelo was apparently himself homosexual; occasionally, indeed, a breath of scandal helps rather than hurts the artist. John Gerassi's The Boys From Boise, published in 1966, documents the truly profound shock that swept across the town of Boise, Idaho, when it discovered in 1955 that a homosexual "ring," involving its business and professional mainstream, existed in its midst. We would be less surprised if such a "ring" were suddenly discovered in the art world, chiefly because artists have rarely felt the need to keep their private selves underground.

The idea that homosexuals are innately more creative than heterosexuals is another notion prevalent today, and one that surely deserves some kind of study. Dr. Hendrik Ruitenbeek, in his new book, Homosexuality and Creative Genius, states that "the connection is certainly disputable... (There) is no sufficient proof of a definite association between creative genius and homosexuality." But, he also points out, we know very little about the subject. It is only in the past 20 years, after all, that sexual behavior has been openly studied and analyzed in public journals, and homosexuality, being the touchiest of subjects, invites the wildest kind of speculation and discourages calm discussion.

WE KNOW, of course, that it was openly practiced among the Greeks and in many primitive societies. Kinsey made a few tentative attempts to collect statistical data, some of which provide surprises (he found the greatest incidence of homosexuality among persons of little education, the least incidence among the college group). We also know that a number of past literary giants were homosexuals, or seemed to be — Oscar Wilde, Marcel Proust, and Andre Gide among them. But it is a pitiful handful of facts to go on, so pitiful that it surely accounts for the mixed dread and curiosity that makes homosexuality, at least for now, the "fad" theme in countless movies, plays, and books. In time, this, too, shall pass.

Is there a "Homintern" in the arts, which rigorously excludes heterosexuals? Gallery dealers who take only homosexual artists? Critics who praise only homosexual painters? Museum officials who behave likewise? I can only speak from personal experience, of course, but to me the notion is wholly preposterous. There are homosexual artists, yes, as there are homosexual mechanics, baseball players, and politicians. Their number does include a great many superior talents. The reverse is equally true, however, and in far larger quantity.

BUT THE BEST direction we can take, it seems to me, is away from all this snooperly, little of which is provable either by scholars or by lawyers (I've yet to see any assaults on the "Homintern" mention a single name). In the long run, it makes no difference what kind of sex life any artist leads: The only thing that counts in time, is his achievement or lack of same. I don't mean to say that works reflecting a homosexual point of view — particularly films, novels, and plays — don't exist, along with works reflecting every other kind of view under the rainbow. I do mean to say that we can only discover that point of view in the work, period. It makes as much sense to impute this or that sexual practice to this or that playwright, for example, as it does to impute monarchism to Shakespeare because he wrote Julius Caesar. At the last, in all such controversies, we are always left with the work of art alone — which is where we should want to be.

How to Rate Your Own California Earthquake

From the Associated Press' Editors' Log

The Richter Scale, devised a couple of decades ago by Dr. Charles Richter of Caltech, Pasadena, is now in general use throughout the world. It is the ONLY scale which indicates the energy released by an earthquake. It has nothing whatever to do with the amount of physical damage.

A major shock in an unpopulated area might do little damage; a small shock in a populous spot could cause extensive damage and casualties.

All previous scales were based on observation of damage, such as buildings sway, dishes rattle, walls collapse, etc. Obviously unscientific, they have been discarded by most seismologists, although you occasionally may see one from some distant land.

THE RICHTER SCALE indicates the ENERGY-released. It has NO top limit. For purposes of comparison, however, the San Francisco quake of April 18, 1906, was later rated at 8.25. That in Alaska in 1964 rated 8.4, and there have been several 8.5 quakes. The heaviest in recent times was 8.6 in Assam in 1960.

The great Assam shock changed the shapes of mountains and river valleys but did no damage to the works of man because it occurred in a wilderness.

The Richter Scale goes by logarithmic progression, so the energy release rises rapidly with each hundredths of a point. A reading of 4 (a minor quake) releases about 3,730 horsepower-hours of energy, while 4.5 releases 37,300 horsepower-hours — 10 times as much — and 5 releases 373,000 — one hundred times as much as 4.

A READING OF 6 is one hundred times as much as 5 and TEN THOUSAND TIMES as much as 4.

The reading can be calculated from seismographic logs long after the event. Rechecking often results in a more accurate figure than the one you get from a seismologist at the moment.

Seismology is complicated, and we should NOT try to teach it in a news story. However, most readers in the Far West have a general idea of the Richter Scale, and the reading should be included in all California earthquake stories. One or two sentences of explanation will suffice. Truly big quakes merit a separate explanatory feature.

Remember that the Richter Scale has no top limit, but that anything from about 7.5 upward is a rough shock.

WEEK PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

SUNDAY

- 4:00 7 17 3 SPECIAL Pursuit of Excellence: Vienna Choir Boys. A repeat broadcast, focusing on an Austrian boy's training to become a chorister with the world-famous Vienna Choir Boys. Written and produced by Ernest Pendrell, the program follows 12-year-old Rainhardt Tilly from the time of his acceptance as a candidate for the renowned choral group to the day when he is accepted—or rejected—for the Vienna Choir Boys. It is also the story of the rapport that develops between the red-haired, freckle-faced youngster and his teacher, Professor Ferdinand Grossman, who has been associated with the choir for 30 years.
- 5:30 4 23 6 G.E. Fantasy Hour: "Smokey the Bear." James Cagney is heard again as narrator of this animated color musical about the symbol of the U.S. Forest Service's fire prevention campaign. Johnny Marks noted writer of many Christmas songs including "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer," composed the original tunes for the animagic special that captivated audiences and critics alike when it was originally colorcast in November of 1966.
- 7:30 2 29 8 The Ed Sullivan Hour: Ed gains another thirty minutes this evening and devotes the full 90-minute program to a salute to Irving Berlin on his 80th birthday. Guests honoring Berlin include Bing Crosby, Ethel Merman, Diana Ross and The Supremes and Fred Waring and His Glee Club. Peter Gennaro dances and provides the choreography. Berlin, whose friendship with Sullivan has spanned several decades, makes one of his rare television appearances for the event. He is writing a new song for the occasion and introduces it on the program.

TUESDAY

- 10:00 2 29 8 Campaign '68: "The Indiana Primary." Walter Cronkite is anchorman for this report on the results of the Indiana primary, the first confrontation between Democrats Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York and Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota. The program originates in New York, with Eric Sevareid and Joseph Benti assisting Cronkite. Remote reports from the candidates' headquarters are handled by John Hart (assigned to Kennedy) and David Schoumacher (regularly covers McCarthy). CBS news utilizes its Vote Profile Analysis system to provide early projection of winners and their percentages in the Indiana primary.

WEDNESDAY

- 9:00 4 23 6 SPECIAL The Best on Record: The Grammy Show. Mississippi-born Bobbie Gentry, singer of "Ode to Billy Joe," and country stylist Glen Campbell are just two of the 1967 Grammy Award winners who participate in tonight's color special. The Grammy Awards are bestowed annually by the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences (NARAS) for outstanding artistic performances on record. Other guests include Lalo Schifrin, Jack Jones, Chet Atkins and The 5th Dimension.

FRIDAY

- 10:00 4 23 6 American Profile: "Somehow It Works." NBC news calls this one an "affectionate, playful review of American political campaign techniques." Stuart Schulberg produced and directed, and Edwin Newman is writer and on-camera reporter. The special explores the roots of campaign techniques that do not exist anywhere else in the world. Schulberg forecasts the future of campaigns (getting more expensive each year). He also filmed the current campaigns but avoided the current issues. The special uses historic (black and white) film going back as far as the turn of the century—old prints and other memorabilia—that document campaign phenomena like buttons, banners, baby-kissing, marching bands and fancy hats.

SATURDAY

- 9:30 7 17 3 SPECIAL The Singers: A behind-the-scenes and center stage profile of two female vocalists—one on the threshold of stardom and the other at the peak of her career. The program throws the spotlight on the dynamic rise and personal and professional dissimilarities of beautiful and talented Gloria Loring and the number one female vocalist in the pop field, Aretha Franklin, voted female vocalist of the year by the major trade publications. The broadcast follows the girls to rehearsals, to skull sessions with their friends and advisors, shows them performing in front of packed audiences and at home relaxing. Writer-producer Steve Fleischman said Aretha and Gloria pursue the same goal—success. But their philosophies, ways of life and routes to stardom are as dissimilar as their singing styles.

Switch to Color Wrecks Handicapper

Want to know what horses win the most races? According to one handicapper, who shall be nameless, they're the darker ones. At least that's what he confided by letter to KNXT Reporter Gil Stratton, who provides film features and interviews on the Hollywood Park Feature Race broadcasts (5:00 to 5:30 PM) live on Saturdays.

Said letter writer, according to Stratton, made an extensive survey of KNXT's feature race broadcasts in 1967 and discovered that the darker horses usually won—and they show up "blacker" on television. His system was then to eliminate all the lighter shade horses and then handicap the dark ones. For example, picking one horse from four instead of one from eight.

However, his system went right down the tube when he happened to see, at a neighbor's house, the Hollywood Park Feature Race for the first time in color and he wrote to Gil Stratton to complain that, even though he didn't bet the horses, his system was destroyed.

He is probably the only one to complain about color television but he certainly isn't the only one to write to Gil, who gets all kinds of letters from all kinds of people.

The producer of NBC's daytime game show Concentration, Norm Blumenthal, has come up with a new idea to supplement the standard "APPLAUSE" sign in the studio which houses his show. It's an illuminated sign which flashes the message "SMILE!" Blumenthal explained: "During the middle break on Concentration we turn a camera around and pan the audience. Watching the show from the control room I found that members of the audience would applaud, stamp their feet, whistle—everything but smile. Thus, the sign!"

Channel 2 ends the News Curfew!

Now "Eleven O'Clock Report" on KNXT doesn't end just because it's 11:30 pm! There's too much happening. Everywhere. And it doesn't happen by the clock.

Monday through Friday, "Eleven O'Clock Report" is the only late evening news broadcast that regularly takes all the time the news needs.

"Eleven O'Clock Report" starts at 11:00 pm- and ends whenever the significant news of the day has been fully reported. There's more for the watching on Channel 2 every weeknight!

The Best on Record: The Grammy Awards Show, a one-hour special featuring performances by several of this year's winners of the recording industry's Grammy Awards, airs on NBC, Wednesday at 9 PM.

The Grammys, the recording industry's most coveted awards, are bestowed annually by the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences for outstanding artistic performance on records. This is the 10th consecutive year NARAS has honored its own with Grammys.

Many of the 1967 winners—made last February at simultaneous NARAS Chapter dinners in Los Angeles, New York, Chicago and Nashville—repeat their award-winning performances for this special.

Bobbie Gentry repeats her song, "Ode to Billy Joe," that has sold almost three million records and has been recorded 32 times. Miss Gentry garnered four Grammys: Best Vocal Performance, Female; Best New Artist; Best Contemporary Female Solo Vocal Performance (for "Ode to Billy Joe"); Best Arrangement Accompanying Vocalist or Instrumentalist ("Ode to Billy Joe"—stranger, funnier Hall).

The Grammy Awards are presented in 48 different categories, including Record of the Year—"Up, Up and Away," by The 5th Dimension; Album of the Year—"Sgt. Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band," by The Beatles; Best Comedy Recording—Bill Cosby for "Beverage"; Best Vocal Performance, Male—Glen Campbell for "By the Time I Get to Phoenix"; and Best Original Score, Picture or TV—"Mission: Impossible," theme by Lalo Schifrin.

From The Peyton Place Clarion

For four successful years over ABC, Peyton Place boasted a reigning queen in the person of Dorothy Malone, who appeared as Constance Carson.

With Miss Malone's departure from the ever-popular series, executive producer Paul Monash has cast Barbara Rush, an actress who possesses king-sized amounts of talent and beauty, to enact the role of Marsha Russell.

In Monash's own words, "Every community has its 'great lady' and Miss Rush's characterization of Marsha Russell fills that void instantly."

Miss Rush, familiar to both television viewers and movie audiences alike, has played great ladies to some of Hollywood's biggest boxoffice names, including Frank Sinatra, Paul Newman, Fredric March and Rock Hudson on the motion picture side of the business. She is equally at home in television, having appeared in such diversified dramas and variety shows as Batman, The Fugitive, Dr. Kildare and The Bob Hope Theatre.

As Marsha Russell, a recent divorcee with a teenage daughter (portrayed by Tippy Walker), Miss Rush will debut in Peyton Place on Thursday night, May 23, appearing in first run episodes every Monday and Thursday throughout the summer.
