SF State Union Profs Face Arrest, Job Loss

Strike Goes On Despite Reprisals

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Striking teachers, joined by militant students, today picketed San Francisco State College in the face of possible arrest and loss of their jobs.

For the fifth day, union faculty members paraded in front of strife-torn school with student strikers. The teachers were warned they would be considered by college administrators as having resigned and in contempt of court for defying an injunction against their strike.

"Our attorneys tell us the state cannot declare involuntary resignations," said a union leader. "We will continue to strike."

As classes resumed, a coed was arrested when her car swerved close to several policemen crossing the main intersection near the campus. Foul-smelling chemicals were poured on the floor of the library later.

The strikes and sporadic violence was reflected by diminishing attendance and growing hostility toward police efforts to maintain order.

Even acting President S. I. Hayakawa, who has previously declined to discuss attendance figures, confirmed Thursday that only about 50 percent of the school's 18,000 students are attending classes.

Members of the striking American Federation of Teachers and two militant minority groups, who have been on strike since Nov. 6, claimed the figure was much less than 50 percent.

Court Wednesday charged that "some higher power" is trying to make an example of him.

Leary, his wife Rosemary and son John were arraigned on hashish, marijuana and LSD charges with the case continued until Jan. 27 and moved to San Clemente Municipal Court.

Questioned by newsmen following the short court appearance, Leary repeated charges of harassment and police provocation he made following the trio's Laguna arrest Dec. 26 on charges of suspicion of intent to sell marijuana and hashish and possession of LSD.

Leary, 48, a former Harvard clinical psychologist said he fled the psychedelic movement was growing.

"The hippie movement is the direction of young people that don't want to fight but just make love and be happy," he suggested.

Valley State Emergency Called Off

NORTHridge, Calif. (UPI) — School officials today cancelled a state of emergency which resulted in the peaceful, mass arrests Thursday of 286 students and their supporters during an unauthorized rally at San Fernando Valley State College.

The state of emergency was called off following a meeting early today between school officials and militant Negro student leaders. The students also agreed to stage an "informational" rally off-campus instead of on the suburban campus, 20 miles northwest of downtown Los Angeles.

No one resisted arrest Thursday and some, even joked with the 75 white-helmeted policemen during the roundup. There was, however, considerable swearing and shouting at the police station.

A police sergeant said it was one of the most peaceful mass arrests he had ever seen.

Countian Killed, 2 Others Burned In Mystery Blast

A mysterious explosion in an underground storage tank at the Union Oil Co. research center in Brea Thursday afternoon killed one man and seriously burned two others.

Killed was Samuel E. Wagers Jr., 22, of 11771 Huwes St., Orange. Police said his charred and mangled body was hurled 26 feet from the tank after being blasted out through its manhole opening.

Injured were Gordon Poucher, 39, of 1332 E. Adele St., Anaheim, and Ernie A. Sturup, 55, of 401 E. Union Place, Brea. Both were taken to St. Jude Hospital in Fullerton with second degree (See BLAST, Page 2)

Lawmen from eight different agencies, including the District Attorney's office, sheriff's office, Anaheim police and Newport Beach police departments participated in the investigation and raid.

District Attorney's investigators said today that Entertainment Unlimited is charged with having staged gambling (See VICE RAID, Page 2)

Moon Landing Men Picked

WASHINGTON (AP)—A civilian and two Air Force colonels who have walked in space will fly the Apollo 11 mission, the first scheduled attempt by the United States to land men on the moon.

The civilian astronaut, Neil A. Armstrong, will command the spacecraft, tentatively set for launching in July, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Thursday, in announcing the selection of the crew.

Armstrong and Col. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. are to descend to the moon in a Lunar Module from the main spacecraft. The main spacecraft will remain in lunar orbit, piloted by Lt. Col. Michael Collins.

Armstrong, who has survived two near disasters since becoming an astronaut in 1963, is a former test pilot for the X-15 rocket plane and was a Navy combat flier during the Korean War.

In choosing the three 38-year-old space veterans for the mission, NASA passed up the Apollo 8 astronauts who made the first lunar orbital flights last month.

Apollo Astronauts Big Hit on Broadway

NEW YORK (UPI) — The three lunar astronauts, bundled against icy winter winds, rode today through dense, cheering crowds up the Broadway route of heroes in a tumultuous welcome that saw whole telephone books tossed from skyscrapers along with ticker tape and confetti.

Until only a few minutes before Frank Borman, James A. Lovell and William A. Anders started up the re-named "Apollo Way" in 23 degree temperatures laced by 20-mile gusts of wind, the turnout looked as though it would be disappointing.

But New Yorkers proved they still love a parade and this was the first Broadway welcome in three years.

They swarmed out of office buildings and stores as the sounds of sirens and martial music echoed in "the Canyon of Heroes." They packed the sidewalks solid to shout their admiration for the first explorers to circle the moon.

Tape and confetti swirled like a blizzard around the overcoated but bareheaded astronauts who rode in the raised rear seat of an open limousine. They grinned and waved gloved hands to the hundreds of thousands who paid them homage. It was a far cry from the sea of tranquility they visited on the moon.

A few of the well-wishers who crowded upper windows along the route were so carried away they forgot to shed their telephone books, a traditional parade custom. They threw them out whole instead.

Flags and signs reading "Welcome Astronauts" decorated the route and a triumphal arch formed by two fire truck towers crossed above their route where they entered City Hall Park for welcoming ceremonies by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Mayor John V. Lindsay on the steps of the historic building.

Rockefeller said "these three wonderful men have endeared themselves to the hearts and minds of all New Yorkers, all Americans, and to people throughout the world."

"They and their families and their organization (NASA) have given the world a wonderful lift at a time when we really needed it," he added.

The astronauts admitted they were deeply touched by the Broadway parade, a custom which Lindsay terminated and revived just for them.

"It's overwhelming," said Anders. "You know your friends when they come out to see you in this weather." Borman said he found the experience "overwhelming" too.

Lindsay, who wore a Russian-style fur cap, bestowed the city's gold medal on the trio, saying "Gentlemen, we salute." Seven of the astronauts' eleven children — two of Bormans, three of Anders, and four of Lovells — looked on proudly as their father's accepted the city's highest honor. NASA acting director Dr. Thomas Paine applauded his team enthusiastically.

The striking teachers were warned they faced possible five-day jail sentences and $500 fines, but there were no immediate arrests.

However, four militant students were taken into custody when another brief, but furious battle erupted between 200 police and supporters of the Black Students Union and the Third World Liberation Front.

More than 160 persons have been arrested in repeated clashes with police in the past two months. There have been scores of injuries and damage to property on the campus is estimated in the thousands of dollars.

and sex parties throughout Orange County.

Their method of operation, the DA said, included consideration of customer applications for membership, in which they conducted their own detective work into the backgrounds of those who submitted bids to join.

"They were mainly concerned with two things: whether the applicant was an undercover police officer and whether — if not — he had money," said a spokesman for the District Attorney's office.

If the applicant checked out clean, he was accepted along with whatever subsequent fees might be required and notified from time to time of the next Entertainment Unlimited party.

Those arrested at 2182 Catalpa Ave., during pre-dawn hours today included these persons and the charges on which they were booked:

—Jesse D. Placencia, 32, of that address; conspiracy to commit gambling and prostitution.

—Douglas C. Kornwolf, 28, of 12292 Lorna St., Garden Grove; the same two counts.

—Donel F. Gorman, 21, of 12292 Lorna St., Garden Grove; conspiracy to commit gambling.

—Felix F. Digman, 37, of 2295 Tustin Ave., Orange; conspiracy to commit gambling.

—Renne Y. Kelly, 44, of 416 N. Wanda Drive, Fullerton; conspiracy to commit prostitution.

—Marlene S. Goodin, 21, who refused to give her home address; conspiracy to commit prostitution.

Vice investigators said the six were booked into Anaheim City Jail, pending completion of today's continuing investigation and formal filing of complaints by the District Attorney.

Detective John Simon of the Newport Beach Police Department was one of the large investigation team, which also included men from Santa Ana, Orange, Garden Grove and Fullerton departments.

During the lengthy probe, police claimed they discovered the operation apparently supplied gambling and girls throughout Orange County.

burns on their faces, necks and wrists. They are reported in good condition today.

Sheriff's Investigators said the men were emptying the tank which contained a residue of various petroleum products when the blast took place.

"It's a total mystery. We know of nothing which could have caused the explosion," said Martin W. Gould, Union Oil safety specialist.

The cylindrical tank about 20 feet long and eight feet in diameter contained two inches of water and sediment.

Wagers was alone in the tank wearing a breathing apparatus with air supplied through a 50-foot hose. He was using a shovel and bucket lowered by Poucher and Stumph.

At first it was thought radioactive materials were involved but Gould said none of these were stored in the tank where the explosion took place.

Tip Leads Police To Home-made Bomb

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — A home-made anti-personnel bomb designed to spray bullets when it exploded was disarmed by police Thursday in the parking lot of a Hollywood church.

Bomb squad personnel responded to a telephone tip that an explosive device had been planted behind Hollywood Congregational Church. When officers arrived at the church, they found a small box placed against a concrete block retaining wall at the rear of the parking lot.

North Vietnam Given Recognition by Sweden

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Neutral Sweden extended full diplomatic recognition to North Vietnam today in what diplomats said was an effort to bolster the Communist position at the Paris talks.

Sweden is the first Western European nation to grant full recognition to Hanoi, although Britain and France maintain foreign service offices in the North Vietnamese capital.

Foreign Minister Torsten Nilsson informed his counterpart in Hanoi, Nguyen Duy Trinh, of the decision in a cable which said:

"As the negotiations in Paris are now entering a stage which, it is hoped, will be decisive for peace in Vietnam, it would appear that the time has come to establish diplomatic relations."

The cabinet decision in a meeting with King Gustav VI Adolf came as no surprise following a chill in American-Swedish relations during the last two years because of Sweden's opposition to the Vietnam War.

Meanwhile in Paris, it was announced today that Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, the chief of the American delegation, will leave his post Jan. 19, the day before Richard M. Nixon officially becomes president.

U.S. officials said Harriman's departure would come before the arrival of his successor, Henry Cabot Lodge.

Lodge, named by Nixon to succeed Harriman, is expected to leave his post as ambassador in Bonn Tuesday to return to Washington where he faces a Senate hearing on his confirmation as the new head of the American delegation in Paris.

Soviets Launch Unmanned Ship Toward Venus

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union today launched an unmanned spaceship toward the planet Venus. It was the second such launch within a week and the official news agency Tass said both would attempt soft landings.

Venus 6 launched today and Venus 5 launched Sunday indicated the Russians have switched their interest to the planet Venus rather than the moon. There have been hints in the Russian press of a possible manned flight to Venus sometime in the next decade.

Venus 6, apparently was identical with the 2,494-pound Venus 5 sent off on its 200-million mile journey earlier.

The two probes were scheduled to slide through the murky Venutian atmosphere to soft landings on the "dark side" of earth's nearest planetary neighbor about mid-May.

Soviet space scientist Kirill Kondratyev dubbed Venus "the planet of riddles" and said after the Venus 5 launch the Soviet Union wanted to learn much more about "the composition of the cloud particles, the thickness of the cloud layer, and what holds it in a constant shroud around the planet."

The Soviets also wanted to learn more about the great winds which constantly sweep the planet, at many times hurricane force, and settle the question of its surface temperature.

pattern of harassment," he claimed. Leary singled out Police Officer Neil Purcell in speaking of harassment. Purcell was the arresting officer in the Leary case.

The family was arrested when their battered station wagon caught the attention of the Laguna police officer late Dec. 26.

The vehicle was stopped in the center of the 200 block of Woodland Drive with the lights out.

Leary claimed the car was legally parked. He said that he and his wife were saying goodbye to their son.

Police alleged one pound of marijuana, some LSD and approximately two ounces of hashish were seized.

The Leary family is being represented by criminal attorney George Chula of Santa Ana. Chula represented John Leary a few months ago in Laguna Beach when the young man was charged with being under the influence of drugs in a public place.

7 Coast Residents Named To 1969 Grand Jury

Seven Orange Coast residents were selected to serve on the 1969 Orange County Grand Jury this morning as the body had its first meeting with Superior Judge Robert Gardner.

Judge Gardner named as foreman William D. Martin, former mayor of Laguna Beach and former chairman of the Local Agency Formation Commission.

Others from the coastal area are Howard E. Massie, San Clemente; Laurence K. Reynolds Laguna Beach; James Ayer, Los Alamitos; Mrs. Judy Rosener, Mrs. Robert N. Weed and Mrs. John Henry Russell, all of Newport Beach.

Comprising the balance of the 19-member panel are Charles A. Warren and Virgil Simpson, Yorba Linda; William Vannatta, Hilton Dalessi and Manuel Jurado, Fullerton; Richard Hernandez, Mrs. Pessa Klipstein and Dr. Horace Caden, Santa Ana; Warren E. Bloom, Andre R. White and Mrs. Kenneth Caines of Orange and Herman Lenz, Anaheim.

The 19 jurors' names were drawn by lot by County Clerk William St John in the morning session.

Judge Gardner told them that the jury meets at its own discretion, usually once a week with additional sessions when called to hear indictment requests by the district attorney.

of crew flight operations. Rookie astronaut Fred Haise is the third man on the backup crew.

Space agency officials did not say why Anders and Lovell were not named to the Apollo 11 mission, but the NASA practice has been to spread choice assignments among astronauts qualified for them.

The Apollo 11 launch date is July 15, but when it goes depends upon the results of the Apollo 9 and 10 missions.

Apollo 9, now set for launch Feb. 28, will be an earth orbit of the lunar module of the type in which Armstrong and Aldrin are to land on the moon.

It will be the first manned test flight of the capsule, and if all goes perfectly, NASA officials say there will be no need for Apollo 10. This test, now scheduled for May 17, would be a moon orbit of the lunar module. If it is skipped, the Apollo 11 flight may be moved up to mid-June.

Young, Angry Blacks Shatter Students' Hopes

By THOMAS FORTUNE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

The young and the angry can be brutally frank.

Well-meaning white students from Newport Harbor High School had their hopes crushed Thursday by black students from Dorsey High School in Los Angeles.

The white students expected hostility and distrust from the black visitors to the Harbor High campus. But they were prepared to overcome and disarm antagonism by a show of true concern.

What they did not expect was that their black guests would despise them, would consider them hypocrites and phonies for their purported concern. The white students were not prepared for that, and so they were upset and hurt.

"It really makes me sad. I came here hoping we could do something," reacted one white girl.

"A lot of my dreams of helping have been shattered. I know now it's going to take a long time," said another.

The student discussions involved 25 juniors and seniors from Dorsey High, 25 from Harbor High and seven from Estancia High in Costa Mesa.

Earlier in the day three black nationalist leaders spoke combatively to the students. Some white students' mouths fell open in amazement at what they heard. The black students completed the rout.

For the discussions the students got together in mixed groups of 10, chairs squeezed into close circles.

In every circle white students asked, "What can we do? How can we help?"

The answers were: "Leave us alone. Let us organize to seek redress in our own way. Then don't go against us. Give us money and let us spend it as we like."

Or, "Talk to your mommy and daddy."

Change your neighbor. Blow prejudice out of white communities. Help the whites. Don't come and try to help us."

Then came the remarks that hurt:

"But we don't expect you to take our advice. You don't really care. You're just curious. Give up the struggle. You don't have any faith in your own people. You don't think they'll change."

"We know. We're wiser than you in the ways of the world. We've learned to survive in the streets. We're hardened and realistic."

Rocked on their heels, white students asked: "Why do you hate me? What have you got against me personally?"

The usual answer: "But you don't look at us as individuals. You think, 'You're seen one nigger you've seen them all.'"

SFSC Strikers Facing Loss of Jobs

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Striking teachers, joined by militant students, today picketed San Francisco State College in the face of possible arrest and loss of their jobs.

For the fifth day, union faculty members paraded in front of strife-torn school with student strikers. The teachers were warned they would be considered by college administrators as having resigned and in contempt of court for defying an injunction against their strike.

Members of the striking American Federation of Teachers and two militant minority groups, who have been on strike since Nov. 6, claimed the figure was much less than 50 percent.

The AFT, which represents 300 of the school's 1,300 faculty members, began its strike Monday. Members continued picketing Thursday in defiance of a Superior Court injunction against the walkout.

Teens Seeking Dismissal of Trespass Rap

Five Teens for Christ withdrew innocent pleas Thursday in West Orange County Municipal Court in favor of filing a demurrer on charges of trespassing Dec. 6 at Golden West College.

A hearing on the demurrer was set for 2 p.m. Jan. 31 by Judge Walter W. Charamza of Huntington Beach.

The demurrer, filed by the public defender's office, means Judge Charamza must decide whether charges filed against the Christian revolutionaries are legally correct.

If the charges are in error, the case will be thrown out of court.

If they are correct, a new trial date will be set to determine the guilt of the young Christians.

Arrested Dec. 6, after they attempted to distribute religious pamphlets on the Golden West College campus were:

—Nancy Esther Dewar, 18, of 6271 Myrtle St., Huntington Beach.

—Jonathan Emanuel Berg, 19, of 605½ 10th St., Huntington Beach.

—Joseph N. Langford, 18, of 605 10th St., Huntington Beach.

—Douglas Gene Toerper, 19, of 605 10th St., Huntington Beach.

—James William Burke, 27, of 605½ 10th St., Huntington Beach.

Newport Lawyer Sees 'Good News' On Narco Charge

Balboa Island Attorney Richard A. Higbie predicted Thursday that "some statements will be forthcoming in the next few days that would be good news for a change" in the case linking him with an alleged marijuana smuggling conspiracy.

Higbie, who faces trial Feb. 4 on charges of conspiring to illegally transport more than a ton and one-half of marijuana from Mexico, has denied any wrongdoing.

Members of Higbie's family also said they are confident that "everything will be all right."

No one, however, would comment on anything specific concerning the bizarre case.

The former Newport Beach Planning Commissioner said he had no part "in the smuggling of marijuana personally."

He and two other men — one of them still at large — were named in a federal Grand Jury indictment issued last November as defendants in the case alleging that marijuana was flown from Guadalajara, Mexico, to Palm Springs Airport.

What arrived in the plane, however, was not marijuana, sources said, but alfalfa.

Arrested

Charles A. Tippit, 19, son of J. D. Tippit, Dallas policeman slain by presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, has been charged in Dallas with assault with intent to rape following alleged attack on 30-year-old woman in her apartment on New Year's Eve.

Half Million LA Voters Off Rolls

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The names of half a million voters have been expunged from county roles for failure to exercise their franchise. Registrar-recorder Ray E. Lee said Thursday 259,116 Democrats were dropped, along with 146,742 Republicans, 9,817 independent voters plus others from various minority parties. Total: 447,633. This leaves 2,638,329 still registered.

Valley's King Size Problem

Small Lot Requests Face Council Continuously

How many lots to allow on one acre of land is an issue continuously faced by the Fountain Valley City Council.

The city currently has a standard requirement for single-family residence (R-1) of 7,200 square feet per lot, which is about 4.1 lots per acre.

Variances, however, have already been granted to four planned development projects which have allowed up to five lots per acre.

The problem which the council again had to face Tuesday night is what development should be allowed to build smaller-than-standard lots, and under what conditions.

A request to rezone an area between Talbert and Ellis Avenues, and Newland and Magnolia Streets was approved 3 to 1 by the council, but not without some opposition remarks from Councilman Edward E. Just.

Just said he was against allowing the greater number of lots per acre because of the problems he felt would develop when the houses come up for sale a second and third time.

He added that he simply didn't feel the smaller lots were very attractive.

Councilman John Harper approved the request, but added that he would like to see the council establish a technique for handling requests to build smaller-than-standard lots.

Harper also suggested that the council should be able to inspect the precise plans of a development, even though

Armstrong, the first civilian to fly in space, was the commander of the perilous Gemini 8 flight in 1966. After he successfully linked his capsule with a rocket in orbit, the capsule spun out of control, but Armstrong guided it to a safe splashdown in the Pacific.

Last year a lunar landing training craft Armstrong was testing at Ellington Air Force Base, Fla., lost power and fell. Armstrong ejected and parachuted to earth. He was slightly injured when his parachute dragged him across the ground.

Citizens Advisory Unit Picks Committee Chiefs

Chairmen for nine subcommittees of the Citizens Advisory Committee of the Huntington Beach Union High School District were appointed by Chairman Robert E. Dingwall Thursday night.

The Recreation and School Facility Committee will be headed by George R. Walton of 5683 Nevada Drive, Huntington Beach. Faculty advisor to the committee is Lee Mosteller.

Use of Schools Committee is led by Donald E. Loeffler of 1005 California Ave., Huntington Beach. Staff adviser is Scott Flanagan.

Size of School Site Committee chairman is Helen O. Creed of 7662 Danube Drive, Huntington Beach. Dr. Ethan Fullmer represents the staff.

Home Instruction chairman is Mickey Siegel of 6752 Vista Del Sol Drive, Huntington Beach and staff member is H. W. Standard.

Population Projections chairman is Joe Halksky of 5422 Kenilworth Drive, Huntington Beach with Ernest Paoee staff member.

College Prep Vs Vocational Instruction chairman is Jerry Sapp of 8141 Wadebridge Circle, Huntington Beach, and Dr. Walter Winters represents the staff.

The Year-round School Committee is led by Elden Thayer of 5611 Pinon Drive, Huntington Beach, with Robert Martin representing the faculty.

The Programs for Culturally Deprived Students chairman is the Rev. Roger Bettsworth of 6662 Heil Ave. Dr. Lauren Moll is faculty adviser.

Each committee chairman is to recruit about 10 members of his committee. Citizens interested in serving in any of the areas in which the committees will investigate are invited to telephone the high school district headquarters at 536-9831.

A five-point program was presented to the committees by Dingwall and a timetable set up calling for final reports in April of 1970.

Santa Ana Gets Jail, Probation

A Santa Ana man arrested by Huntington Beach police on narcotics and reckless driving charges has been sentenced to 60 days in Orange County Jail and placed on three years probation. Arthur R. Sanchez, 25, was sentenced in Anaheim municipal court. He has been held in the county jail for the past 70 days.

Sanchez was booked by Huntington Beach officers last Sept. 21 and freed on bail at his first court appearance. His bail was later cancelled when he was caught booking an airline ticket to Hawaii after selling off his possessions.

Continued cool and cloudy is the unappetizing outlook for the weekend, with the mercury mired around the 60-degree mark.

Apollo Astronauts Big Hit on Broadway

NEW YORK (UPI) — The three lunar astronauts, bundled against icy winter winds, rode today through dense, cheering crowds up the Broadway route of heroes in a tumultuous welcome that saw whole telephone books tossed from skyscrapers along with flickertape and confetti.

Until only a few minutes before Frank Borman, James A. Lovell and William A. Anders started up the re-named "Apollo Way" in 23 degree temperatures iced by 20-mile gusts of wind, the turnout looked as though it would be disappointing.

But New Yorkers proved they still love a parade and this was the first Broadway welcome in three years.

They swarmed out of office buildings and stores as the sounds of sirens and martial music echoed in "the Canyon of Heroes." They packed the sidewalks solid to shout their admiration for the first explorers to circle the moon.

Tape and confetti swirled like a blizzard around the overcoated but bareheaded astronauts who rode in the raised rear seat of an open limousine. They grinned and waved gloved hands to the hundreds of thousands who paid them homage. It was a far cry from the sea of tranquility they visited on the moon.

A few of the welcomers who crowded upper windows along the route were so carried away they forgot to shed their telephone books, a traditional parade custom. They threw them out whole instead.

Flags and signs reading "Welcome Astronauts" decorated the route and a triumphal arch formed by two fire truck towers crossed above their route where they entered City Hall Park for welcoming ceremonies by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Mayor John V. Lindsay on the steps of the historic building.

Rockefeller said "these three wonderful men have endeared themselves to the hearts and minds of all New Yorkers, all Americans, and to people throughout the world."

"They and their families and their organization (NASA) have given the world a wonderful lift at a time when we really needed it," he added.

The astronauts admitted they were deeply touched by the Broadway parade, a custom which Lindsay terminated and revived just for them.

"It's overwhelming," said Anders. "You know your friends when they come out to see you in this weather." Borman

said he found the experience "overwhelming" too.

Lindsay, who wore a Russian-style fur cap, bestowed the city's gold medal on the trio, saying "Gentlemen, we salute." Seven of the astronauts' eleven children — two of Bormans, three of Anders, and four of Lovells — looked on proudly as their father's accepted the city's highest honor. NASA acting director Dr. Thomas Paine applauded his team enthusiastically.

Skull Murder Suspect Says He's Insane

One Santa Ana defendant in the grisly Railroad Canyon skull murder case uncovered by three Costa Mesans last November pleaded innocent by reason of insanity Wednesday.

Rowland J. Berry, 20, of 734 Toland St., Santa Ana, will be examined by two psychiatrists appointed after the preliminary hearing in Riverside County Superior Court.

A psychiatric report will be given Jan. 23, while Berry's murder trial was set for April 14, depending upon the outcome of the sanity hearing.

Another Orange County youth, Timothy Herron, 19, of 6012 Anthony St., Garden Grove, pleaded innocent Wednesday and Feb. 21 was set for a hearing on his motion to dismiss.

A third among four original arrestees, Robbie G. Crow, 18, of Elsinore, was released following his preliminary hearing last week, due to lack of adequate prosecution evidence.

David Charles, 15, also of Elsinore, was originally picked up for investigation of the murder of Kent D. Davis, 21, of Hayward, but he too was released.

The prosecution contends that the defendants arranged a false narcotics sale, allegedly sought by Davis on a Southland drug-purchasing trip last March or early April.

Never intending to complete the deal, the Riverside District Attorney charges, Rowland, Herron and possibly others executed Davis in the lonely canyon.

Information compiled by sheriff's investigators indicates Davis brought up to $800, believed taken by whoever put a bullet through his skull.

School District Won't Budge on Site Squabble

The Ocean View School District will continue its court fight with the Huntington Harbour Corp. after school trustees Monday night refused to accept a compromise proposal.

The legal hassle involved landscaping at Harbour View School.

When the school district bought the school site from the Huntington Harbour Corp., there was an asserted agreement that the first land fill for landscaping would be supplied by the corporation.

The school district charged that the tons of imported fill dirt was salt laden and not suitable for growing turf grass. Several attempts to grow grass failed. The school district then brought suit against the Harbour Corporation for damages to cover the costs of removal and replacement of the fill dirt.

The Harbour Corporation offered to compromise by sharing the cost with the school district for necessary methods to suitably landscape the school site.

Trustees' refusal of this compromise means the district's Supreme Court action against the Harbour Corporation is reinstated.

Leary Says 'Someone' Out to Make Example

By JACK CHAPPELL
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

LSD cultist Dr. Timothy Leary, appearing in Laguna Beach Municipal Court Thursday charged that "some higher power" is trying to make an example of him.

Leary, his wife Rosemary and son John were arraigned on hashish, marijuana and LSD charges with the case continued until Jan. 27 and moved to San Clemente Municipal Court.

Questioned by newsmen following the short court appearance, Leary repeated charges of harassment and police provocation he made following the trio's Laguna arrest Dec. 26 on charges of suspicion of intent to sell marijuana and hashish and possession of LSD.

Leary, 48, a former Harvard clinical psychologist said he felt the psychedelic movement was growing.

"The hippie movement is the direction of young people that don't want to fight but just make love and be happy," he suggested.

"In Laguna Beach, there is a definite pattern of harassment," he claimed.

me. I want to know how I'm responsible? Do you want me to slit my throat?"

"It would help me a whole lot. I'd get the money you make," a black boy from Dorsey responded.

"I know you hate me, but I don't hate you," said a white boy.

"Thanks a lot. It's very white of you to say so," sneered a black boy.

"This whole thing is sickening," said another black male. "You know what you're doing. You're putting us under a microscope. You want to know what makes us tick."

"When we got off the bus somebody starts flicking pictures. That really tripped me out," put in a black girl.

Said a black boy, "We don't have tails in our pants. I think you're the animals."

Chimed in the first black boy, "There is going to come a time when we crazy niggers are going to stop coming and talking to you."

"Don't you think that might be the problem. There's no communication," said a white boy.

"Check that. Check that," a black boy said to the other black students. Then to the white boy: "We sit down in seminars and talk and that's fine. Then you go home and listen to your soulless music and don't do anything about it. We never meet again. That's just wasting my time."

Said another: "You want to know what to do. So dig this. Talk to your neighbor."

"But this is Orange County. These guys dig racism," said the white boy.

"Recondition him. Keep blowing on him. Make it a constant thing," the black boy chided. "If you're not even going to do it in your community you make it sound like a hopeless problem. You're weaklings. I thought you were the master race."

There were recurring threats of violence.

"Put yourself in our position," said a black girl. "We keep try and trying and what happens — nothing. Sure, I'm against violence too. But if violence is going to make white America wake up, I'll do it."

"A black man with a gun is a big threat to a white man. It's a dog eat dog world," said a black boy.

"But there has to be a peaceful way," pleaded a white girl.

"Damn your peace. The labor struggle. Was that done peacefully?" snapped the black boy.

Police brutality was another recurring theme.

Said a black girl: "On Laugh In. You watch Laugh In? The man says, 'Where you going boy?' That's supposed to be funny. That happens all the time."

It was an experience white students weren't prepared for.

Concorde Flight Set

PARIS (UPI) — The Anglo-French supersonic Concorde jetliner will make its maiden flight early next month in southern France with top French test pilot Andre Turcat at the controls, aviation sources said today.

Holden President

Stephen Holden, a Huntington Beach insurance broker and member of the Huntington Beach city School District Board of Trustees, was installed Wednesday as president of the Community Chest.

He takes over from C. William Carlson, who installed the new officers at the Fisherman Restaurant Wednesday. First vice president is Robert Merriman, second vice president is Walter Young; and treasurer is C.E. "Bill" Woods.

GWC Mixes Tunes In Variety Show

Take a touch of bossa nova Brazilian style, add a French folksong and some old-time favorites on banjo and piano, mix with jazz combo and modern dance and you have the promise of Golden West College's second annual variety show Saturday.

The production, "Dimensions in Color and Sound," will be staged in the College Center with 40 performers and musicians in 15 acts starting at 8:15 p.m.

High on the program will be the premiere of a new jazz composition by Gerald Schroeder, Golden West music teacher.

Another Schroeder song, "Mr. Michelangelo," by Sylvia Martinez will be sung. Original music is the order of the evening. Robin Matthews, a student, will perform two original folk compositions, "For Sandra: A Whisper," and "The Funeral of the Unicorn."

The show also will introduce "The Rustler Folk," a singing group composed of Miss Martinez, Alice Jay, Nini Walder, Don Shields, Randy Smith, and Greg Turner with Stewart Harold on drums and Warren Peterkin at the piano.

Competing at the recent Festival of Sounds at Knotts Berry Farm, "The Rustler Folk" won two first-place awards for singing groups under 12 members. For the variety show they will sing "There's Always an Extra Potato," "Shadrack," and "What Now My Love."

Clemente Mom's Appeal Denied In Tot Slaying

Antonia Thomas' appeal against her murder conviction was denied Wednesday by justices of the Fourth District Court of Appeal in San Diego.

The three-judge panel ruled after four weeks of deliberation that there were no grounds to reverse the verdict delivered by Orange County Superior Court Judge Robert Gardner last May 3.

Los Angeles attorney Dudley Gray had argued for Mrs. Thomas of San Clemente that certain statements by Judge Gardner and prosecutor Everett Dickey had been improper and that the evidence was insufficient to sustain the conviction.

Gray said after the ruling that he will prepare a new appeal.

Mrs. Thomas, 26, was convicted of poisoning her 7-day-old son by pouring a caustic substance down his throat on July 13, 1966. James Anthony Thomas died in the hospital four days later.

VICE RAID ...

Lorna St., Garden Grove; the same two counts.

—Donel F. Gorman, 21, of 12322 Lorna St., Garden Grove; conspiracy to commit gambling.

—Felix F. Dignan, 37, of 2295 Tustin Ave., Orange; conspiracy to commit gambling.

—Renne Y. Kelly, 44, of 416 N. Wanda Drive, Fullerton; conspiracy to commit prostitution.

—Marlene S. Goodin, 21, who refused to give her home address; conspiracy to commit prostitution.

Vice investigators said the six were booked into Anaheim City Jail, pending completion of today's continuing investigation and formal filing of complaints by the District Attorney.

Detective John Simon of the Newport Beach Police Department was one of the large investigation team, which also included men from Santa Ana, Orange, Garden Grove and Fullerton departments.

Public Panting Over Fashion Trend

'Beautiful' People Don Mod Citypants

When Yves St. Laurent proposed "citypants" as the fashion look to wear everywhere, a surprised public took him at his word and the results are making fashion headlines.

Sears at South Coast Plaza sees citypants American style and presents a special collection of these wide leg trend setters in a variety of fabrics in both solids and patterns. How do you decide which pair to wear where?

Try something soft and slinky for your at-home appearances. Remember that tunic-over-pant sets provide a mini dress that goes out on the town when worn alone.

(The "beautiful people" check pants at New York's more elegant restaurants and dine a la mini dress!)

Score equal fashion points for flared sleeves or bottom cuffs, shirt style. Make flared legs a must — but sash your waist or not as the occasion dictates. Look for neckline news in modified U-shapes and exaggerated pointed collars. Note ruffled cuffs which have been elasticized for easy wear.

Although you may elect not to wear them everywhere, you are free to do so this season. The fashionables will, the trend setters will, the beautiful people will. Are you ready for citypants?

ADD FLARE TO YOUR LIFE — ... with a feminine look in citypants. Flared sleeves complement flared legs and waist tie adds comfort for at-home appearances. When venturing out remove sash and set forth in a U-necked mini dress.

That's Shoe Business

No Spiking for Heels

NEW YORK (UPI) — Round and round it goes, the shape of the shoe toe for spring.

Any remains of the pointed toe in women's footwear long since have been put away. Gone now is the blunted, squared toe of last spring. The new look is the softly rounded one with some fullness to the shoes without their being hefty.

To balance the snubbed toe, footwear designers have given more height to the back, and added the variety of heel heights from which to choose. Heels come in flats, fair to middling, even go as high as three inches.

The newest looking height, dictated by the pants in spring collections, is a bit over two inches. It's the height Roger Vivier showed originally with the Yves St. Laurent pantsuits from Paris.

The higher heels in no way resemble the spikes of the 1940s and 1950s.

The new highs are broader, set far back on the shoe and are minus the old full curve at the top.

Designers show the rounded toe in everything from daytime flats to the most glittering of evening wear, in materials from traditional kids and patents to patterned fabrics. Pair a patterned shoe with a solid dress for a change.

Delman, for instance, does a paisley patterned pump with two inch heel. And Mademoiselle shows the "Nanny" oxford, a three eyelet tie with chunky mid-high heel in a floral pattern.

Spring shoes open up, and the open look will be the most important one for summer, predicts the National Footwear Institute. The look calls for uncovering everywhere — at the front, the middle, the back. Always, the broad heel. And some manufacturers are doing thong-like sandals with ankle straps and platform soles of the 1940s.

"The pump no longer dominates the shoe scene," says Herbert Levine. He and his wife, Beth, are a well-known team in women's footwear.

"We (now) have an extraordinary variety of silhouettes and types of shoes, such as the high-riding step-ins, ties, clogs, spat shoes," Levine said. And of course boots go on into spring from winter, in pale colors and whites.

You'll hear such terms as "baby beige," "tawny ginger," "honey bear," "spiced curry," "raspberry cream," "lavender sachet," "frosted orange." To go with the patriotic sweep in all ready-to-wear, watch for red, white and blue combinations in shoes too. They look splendid in patents.

A word about shoe selection comes from Mrs. Levine.

"Don't just look down at your feet when you're trying on shoes," she said. "It's a mistake many women make. The shoe should be studied from all angles, especially the way it looks from the back, and in a mirror large enough to see the whole you, not just the feet."

PEO Sisterhood

First Century Marked

The centennial year of PEO is being marked this year, and in conjunction with the observance will be a noon luncheon meeting of the Orange Coastal Reciprocity Bureau Saturday, Jan. 18, in the Newport Inn.

Keynote will be Mrs. P. H. Lamoreau, state president who will discuss Seven Founders. Other state officers expected to attend are the Mmes. J. R. Giantvalley of San Diego, organizer; T.W. Heidner of Pasadena, second vice president, and G.C. Morgan of Long Beach, treasurer.

Also included on the program will be piano selections by Mrs. Jack Colvin and a story, "Seventh Little Sister" written by Mrs. F.W. Cleland, will be read by Mrs. Jack Steidinger, all of Huntington Beach.

PEO was founded in 1869 at the Iowa Wesleyan College, and since then the sisterhood has established and maintained three educational philanthropies.

The educational fund was founded in 1907 to make loans to young women needing help for education beyond high school; Cotley Junior College for Women has been owned and operated at Nevada, Mo. since 1927 by PEO, and foreign students have been encouraged to pursue graduate study through the International Peace Scholarship program since 1949.

In honor of the first century, the Centennial Center will be completed and dedicated in Des Moines.

All unaffiliated PEOs in the Orange Coast area are invited to attend. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. R. W. Danielson at 545-1577.

Associates Plan Music

Morrall Not Concerned With Namath's Slam

MIAMI (AP) — Earl Morrall isn't interested in Joe Namath's lip, just his arm.

Morrall, the Baltimore Colts' quarterback, said he had read Namath's reference to him as a sixth rate quarterback.

"He can express any opinion he wants," said Morrall. "That's his business."

"I don't worry about other quarterbacks. All I'm interested in is the other team's defense. That's what you have to beat. Actions speak louder than words. It's what you do on the field that counts."

Namath, quarterback of the American Football League champion New York Jets, rapped Morrall earlier this week. Namath said there were at least five quarterbacks in the AFL better than Morrall.

The 34-year-old Morrall threw 26 touchdown passes this season in leading the Colts to the National Football League championship and into Sunday's Super Bowl game against the Jets.

He was voted the NFL's player of the year and architect of the Jets' AFL championship drive. Morrall said: "I haven't seen too much of him. I've read a lot. He gets a lot of publicity. From what I've seen on television and films, he throws quick, gets back fast, gets rid of the ball."

Morrall said he couldn't recall ever putting a rap on another player.

"As I say, he can talk. It's up to each individual what he does. I don't have to believe it."

The Colts' passer said that as a team, Baltimore doesn't pay too much attention to things like this, in case Namath's blast at him was meant to be psychological.

He said there was some logic in the reasoning that Namath might be trying to bolster the Jets' confidence by downgrading him and the rest of the NFL champions.

Morrall had kind words for the man he supplanted at quarterback for the Colts, the brilliant John Unitas.

"John helped a lot. He's a great team man. We talk during the week before a game, watch films, and he gives his advice during a game."

Morrall added: "It's tough on him (Unitas). Anybody who is a competitor finds it hard to be on the sidelines. But, his arm has been bothering him. It's a great tribute to him the way he has helped me. He's done everything he can."

Morrall was a baseball and football star when he attended Michigan State University. He even had a chance for a professional baseball career.

"I saw baseball could be a long struggle," Morrall said.

"In football I would know if I could make it in nine weeks, by the end of the exhibition season. My chances in football looked a lot better. I could have drifted in baseball's minors for years."

Did the native of Michigan ever dream he would have a season like the 1968 campaign with Baltimore?

"It's a fantasy," he said.

OFF TO OREGON — UCLA coach John Wooden will be counting heavily on guard John Vallely when the Bruins open Pacific Eight play at Oregon tonight, UCLA's Saturday afternoon game at Oregon State will be televised at 2:30 over Channel 5. Vallely played at Corona del Mar High and Orange Coast College.

Pac-8 Hostilities Open; Lakers, Celtics on TV

Pacific-8 Conference basketball gets under way tonight with the beginning of the end of a fabulous era called "Alcindor."

UCLA's powerful Bruins and their towering center Lew Alcindor, now a senior, open league play at Oregon.

Tonight's Pac-8 schedule has Southern Cal at Oregon State, Stanford hosting Washington, and Cal entertaining Washington State.

The home teams switch opponents Saturday, when the feature will be UCLA at Oregon State in the afternoon.

Lakers at Boston

BOSTON — The Los Angeles Lakers battle the Boston Celtics tonight, aiming for their third straight victory without a loss against the National Basketball Association's defending champions.

The game will be televised in the Southland, Channel 5 at 6 o'clock.

Simpson, Sogge Sign

LOS ANGELES — O.J. Simpson acquired a manager and Steve Sogge acquired a baseball career Thursday.

The two stars of USC's football team appeared together at a news conference to talk about the turns in their destinies.

Simpson, whose spectacular rushing won him the Heisman trophy, said he's signed a "total management" contract with Sports Headliners, Inc., of Indianapolis.

It will handle all his affairs, including negotiations for a pro contract. Simpson is expected to be the No. 1 draft choice this year.

SHELLEY QUITS RUSTLER CAGERS

Mike Shelley, the leading scorer for Golden West last season but a reserve this year, has dropped off the Rustlers' basketball team and plans to enroll at Ball State University in Muncie, Ind., next semester.

Shelley averaged 17.4 points a game for the Rustlers last season and was scoring 10 points per contest this year as a reserve forward.

He last played for Golden West in the December Chaffey Tournament and then went to Indiana, his birthplace, for the holidays.

Sogge, Trojan quarterback, is less known as a baseball catcher. But he's a good one and the Los Angeles Dodgers signed him to play with their farm club at Spokane.

Sogge said he signed as a free agent to what he called a very fair contract. Terms were not disclosed.

Drought Ends

DETROIT — After 210 minutes and four seconds — nearly four games — of the most frustratingly barren hockey play in their history, the Los Angeles Kings finally put the puck into the net — but it wasn't nearly enough.

It was all downhill from there and the Kings got clobbered, 6-2, Thursday night.

Paterno No. 1

LOS ANGELES — Joe Paterno wound up the football season ranked a notch higher than the Penn State football team he coaches.

Penn State was No. 2 in the final Associated Press football poll.

Paterno has been picked as College Football Coach of the Year in the university division.

Stars Lose

DALLAS — For the Los Angeles Stars, there's no place like home.

The Stars proved it again Thursday night, losing 104-89 to the Mavericks in Houston.

The club has a chance to improve that road record tonight in Dallas against the Chaparrals.

Kush Changes Mind

TEMPE, Ariz. — Frank Kush was as elusive as some of his Sun Devil backs today as to why he decided to quit Pittsburgh five days after accepting the job as head football coach to remain at Arizona State University.

He was nowhere to be found Thursday when ASU athletic director Clyde Smith proudly announced that the school's winningest coach in history had decided that he wouldn't return to his native Pennsylvania, after all.

Olympic Medal Stolen

ANTIBES, France — Burglars broke into the home of France's Olympic skiing champion, Marielle Goitschel, and stole her medals and trophies as well as some household goods, police reported Thursday night.

JC Wrestlers Visit Cal Poly For Tourney

SAN LUIS OBISPO — Golden West and Orange Coast wrestling teams were competing in the Cal Poly junior college tournament today and Saturday after both teams lost dual matches.

Mt. San Antonio rallied from a 15-11 deficit Thursday to overhaul the host Rustlers, 28-20, and visiting Orange Coast lost a 31-13 decision to Fullerton on Tuesday.

OCC's Paul Robinson (137) won his eighth straight match of the season with a 9-3 win. The other Buc winner was Bob Lyle, in the 130-pound class.

Fullerton's Bob Delitoni decided Joe Randle by a 12-1 margin in the 145-pound match and then OCC's Art Brooks gained a draw with Oscar Valenzuela in the 152-pound struggle.

The Pirates' Mark Stockton lost a close 6-5 match to Mark Taul at 160 pounds. Fullerton's Ron Berenschot pinned Orange Coast's Tony Horpel (187) in the second period.

The Bucs' Ralph Cross was decisioned in the 192-pound match and heavyweight Dan Hilliard was pinned.

SUNOL, Calif. (AP) — The $50,000 Alameda County Open Golf Tournament was a guaranteed financial success today but who will grab the $10,000 winner's purse won't be known until Sunday.

Bill Ogden of Tucson, Ariz., a veteran club pro who plays only in the California and Arizona tour events, shared the first round lead with Richard Martinez of Laguna Beach.

Each shaved two strokes off the Palm course par 72 Thursday. Ogden dropped three birdies and took one bogey; Martinez had four birds and two bogeys.

Sifford's Scorching 63 Tops First Day of LA Open

LOS ANGELES (AP) — There had been a parade of stars and less-than-stars into the pressroom at the Los Angeles Open . . .

There was Billy Casper to describe what he called a "scroungy" round of 69. And Arnold Palmer relating his 72, one over par for the Rancho Farm Golf Club.

There were Jimmy Walker, Jr., from Los Angeles, Terry Dill from Austin, Tex., and Bob "Watermelon" Murphy, the rotund one from Nichols, Fla., who were tied at the time at 67.

Then came a refreshing young man from Wichita, Kan., Grier Jones, a rookie pro and the 1968 national collegiate champion from Oklahoma State.

His 66 looked like it would hold up.

But on came Dave Hill, an infrequent winner from Evergreen, Colo., to tie young Jones.

Abruptly from out on the course came a report. Charlie Sifford was eight shots under par, with one hole to go.

Impossible. Everyone agreed. Sifford was only one stroke under par at the turn of Rancho's regulation 36-35-71.

Hill was on the interview platform when 48-year-old Sifford strode in. "Charlie Sifford, gentlemen. With an eight-under par 63," said his escort.

But the 63 was true. Sifford went into today's second round of play with a lead of three strokes and another bit of magic had touched a golf tournament.

Sifford has been a professional more than two decades. He is the first Negro to really make a big go of it in golf. He has played most of the major tournaments and a lot of little ones.

His one main target is to be invited to play in the famed Masters, an invitation he has never received, however.

Sifford's back nine holes were amazing. He started with a birdie deuce on No. 12. On the 526-yard 13th he took a wedge and slammed the ball into the cup from 40 yards out.

A hot driver and wedge produced four more successive birdies as he came home in 28 strokes for his round of 35-28-63.

Sifford said he has shot 64 twice in tournaments but never a 63, a course record here shared by Palmer and Phil Rodgers.

"If I can play this good with the flu I hope it don't leave me," said Sifford.

Leading scores in the first round of the Los Angeles Open:
Charlie Sifford	35-28-63
Grier Jones	32-34-66
Dave Hill	34-32-66
Jimmy Walker Jr.	32-35-67
Terry Dill	34-32-67
Bob Murphy	34-33-67
Bruce Crampton	33-35-68
Pete Brown	35-34-69
Terry Wilcox	36-33-69
Tommy Shaw	36-33-69
Mac McLendon	35-34-69
Bruce Devlin	34-35-69
George Archer	36-33-69

'Hate to Quit Track'

Matson Stays Amateur, Declines Pro Contract

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Look out world! Randy Matson wants to compete in track again.

Matson, who started in a stock brokerage training program in Houston last week, has given up the idea of playing either professional football or basketball.

"Oh, I thought about it a lot," Matson said in a telephone interview. "I don't know if I could have made it. But I'm interested in a business career and I would have to put it off until I completed professional athletics."

"I hate to quit track now. I'm just 23. I should be able to improve."

Matson, the world and Olympic record holder in the shotput, received offers from both the Dallas Chaparrals of the American Basketball Association and the Atlanta Falcons of the National Football League.

He stands 6-foot-6, weighs some 255 pounds and is quick, quick, quick.

"I had some pretty good offers," Matson said. "I really think they were higher than what I would have been worth to them. The offers were real fair, but not such as would make it worthwhile to me."

Matson has already begun workouts at the Houston downtown YMCA health club.

"I hope to compete this year in selected events," Matson said. "I hope to make as many meets as I can. It will take another month for me to get into decent shape so I could throw in competition."

"I hope to be in shape in time for the Fort Worth indoor meet in February. I would also like to go out to the West Coast for a meet or two."

Matson said his employers were "interested in my competing. This is a real good situation for me. I will go to training school in New York in July for two and one-half months and then take exams to get registered."

Matson said he would like to see the development of professional track and field.

"It would be real good for the track athlete," said Matson. "It's hard to compete as an amateur and try to hold down a job."

"It would also strengthen the overall track program. More youngsters would want to concentrate on a career in track and field instead of football and other sports."

Matson said he had given some thought to the possibility of competing in the 1972 Olympics in Munich, Germany.

"It's a long way off," Matson said.

"I'll have to take it day by day. If it gets to the point where I'm unable to compete well I'll give it up. I want to win — not just compete."

As you can see, Randy Matson is back.

UCI Post to Adams Set to Coach Baseball

Gary Adams, 29-year-old recreation sports director at UC Irvine, is expected to be named UCI's first baseball coach soon, the DAILY PILOT has learned.

Adams joined the physical education staff at Irvine last fall. Previously, he was on the baseball coaching staff at UC Riverside.

UCI will begin its baseball program in the spring of 1970. Construction is expected to begin on the university's baseball field this spring. Eventually, the baseball plant will be part of a three-part sports complex on the large field adjacent to the present UCI athletic complex.

The baseball field and a Tartan track will be divided by an intramural field.

Adams is a graduate of UCLA, where he was a baseball standout in the early 1960's. Following his graduation, he remained at UCLA as assistant varsity coach and head frosh coach. He moved on to UC Riverside in 1965.

A resident of Mission Viejo, Adams has already begun recruiting top Orange County prep and junior college baseball prospects.

Irvine athletic director Dr. Ray Thornton has indicated the search for UCI's first track coach is continuing. He is expected to make Adams' appointment official before the end of the month.

JC Transfers No Longer To Lose Year's Eligibility

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Athletes who transfer from junior colleges to four-year schools no longer must wait a year before participating in varsity athletics at their new school.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association during its meeting in Los Angeles this week ruled such transfer students can participate in varsity athletics after one quarter or semester — providing their grades are good.

An NCAA Executive Committee proposal, accepted during the meeting, sets a 2.5 or C-plus grade average as the standard.

And, it uses a formula to predict that if a student is capable of a 1.6 or C-minus grade average, but makes a 2.5 or C-plus average the first grading period, the student can represent the school in athletics.

A student with a better than 1.6 grade projection or record also is eligible if his average after the first grading period is 2.5 or better.

Essentially, the new rule won't count for football players unless they complete a quarter or semester of working during the spring or summer.

But, according to an NCAA spokesman, it would mean basketball players or athletes participating in other winter or spring sports, could put on varsity uniforms.

The predicting formula takes into consideration an athlete's academic record in high school and junior college and attempts to project the quality of his work at the four-year college.

If an athlete does not make a 2.5 average during the first grading period, he still must wait a full year before participating on a varsity team.

Lagunan Shares Open Lead

SUNOL, Calif. (AP) — The $50,000 Alameda County Open Golf Tournament was a guaranteed financial success today but who will grab the $10,000 winner's purse won't be known until Sunday.

Bill Ogden of Tucson, Ariz., a veteran club pro who plays only in the California and Arizona tour events, shared the first round lead with Richard Martinez of Laguna Beach.

Each shaved two strokes off the Palm course par 72 Thursday. Ogden dropped three birdies and took one bogey; Martinez had four birds and two bogeys.

Frank Ivaldi, owner of the 7,100 yard

Sunol Valley Country Club, said the Professional Golfers Association had guaranteed him against possible loss on the promotion.

The tournament was rather hurriedly scheduled, in conflict with this weekend's $100,000 Los Angeles Open, when the touring pros organized the rival — and short-lived — Association of Professional Golfers last fall.

It was backed by the PGA. Thursday, Lyle Wehrman, its vice president, told Ivaldi the PGA would absorb any loss.

He also said the PGA would exempt the top 10 finishers from qualifying for next week's $135,000 Kaiser Open at Silverado Country Club, Napa, Calif. Previously it had exempted only the Sunol winner.

Ogden and Martinez had Thursday's only sub par scores.

Four others shot par 72: Butch Baird, Don Whitt, Dick Lotz and Rick Jetter.

Six shared 73: Johnny Lotz, John Jacobs, Bill Tindall, Carl Lohren, Ralph Deming and Scotty MacBeath.

Bob Lunn, who won last week's Southern California Open and more than $100,000 last year, was tied at 75 with several.

Young, Angry Blacks Shatter Students' Hopes

By THOMAS FORTUNE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

The young and the angry can be brutally frank.

Well-meaning white students from Newport Harbor High School had their hopes crushed Thursday by black students from Dorsey High School in Los Angeles.

The white students expected hostility and distrust from black visitors to the Harbor High campus. But they were prepared to overcome and disarm antagonism by a show of true concern.

What they did not expect was that their black guests would despise them, would consider them hypocrites and phonies for their purported concern. The white students were not prepared for that, and so they were upset and hurt.

"It really makes me sad. I came here hoping we could do something," reacted one white girl.

"A lot of my dreams of helping have been shattered. I know now it's going to take a long time," said another.

The student discussions involved 25 juniors and seniors from Dorsey High, 25 from Harbor High and seven from Estancia High in Costa Mesa.

Earlier in the day three black nationalist leaders spoke combatively to the students. Some white students' mouths fell open in amazement at what they heard. The black students completed the rout.

For the discussions the students got together in mixed groups of 10, chairs squeezed into close circles.

In every circle white students asked, "What can we do? How can we help?"

The answers were: "Leave us alone. Let us organize to seek redress in our own way. Then don't go against us. Give us money and let us spend it as we like."

Or, "Talk to your mommy and daddy."

Change your neighbor. Blow prejudice out of white communities. Help the whites. Don't come and try to help us."

Then came the remarks that hurt:

"But we don't expect you to take our advice. You don't really care. You're just curious. Give up the struggle. You don't have any faith in your own people. You don't think they'll change."

"We know. We're wiser than you in the ways of the world. We've learned to survive in the streets. We're hardened and realistic."

Rocked on their heels, white students asked: "Why do you hate me? What have you got against me personally?"

The usual answer: "But you don't look at us as individuals. You think, 'You've seen one nigger you've seen them all.'"

SFSC Strikers Facing Loss of Jobs

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Striking teachers, joined by militant students, today picketed San Francisco State College in the face of possible arrest and loss of their jobs.

For the fifth day, union faculty members paraded in front of strife-torn school with student strikers. The teachers were warned they would be considered by college administrators as having resigned and in contempt of court for defying an injunction against their strike. "Our attorneys tell us the state cannot declare involuntary resignations," said a union leader. "We will continue to strike."

As classes resumed, a coed was arrested when her car swerved close to several policemen crossing the main intersection near the campus. Foul-smelling chemicals were poured on the floor of the library later.

The strikes and sporadic violence was reflected by diminishing attendance and growing hostility toward police efforts to maintain order.

Everett President S. I. Hayakawa, who has previously declined to discuss attendance figures, confirmed Thursday that only about 50 percent of the school's 18,000 students are attending classes.

Members of the striking American Federation of Teachers and two militant minority groups, who have been on strike since Nov. 6, claimed the figure was much less than 50 percent.

The AFT, which represents 300 of the school's 1,300 faculty members, began its strike Monday. Members continued picketing Thursday in defiance of a Superior Court injunction against the walkout.

Teens Seeking Dismissal of Trespass Rap

Five Teens for Christ withdrew innocent pleas Thursday in West Orange County Municipal Court in favor of filing a demurrer on charges of trespassing Dec. 6 at Golden West College.

A hearing on the demurrer was set for 2 p.m. Jan. 31 by Judge Walter W. Charamza of Huntington Beach.

The demurrer, filed by the public defender's office, means Judge Charamza must decide whether charges filed against the Christian revolutionaries are legally correct.

If the charges are in error, the case will be thrown out of court.

If they are correct, a new trial date will be set to determine the guilt of the young Christians.

—Nancy Esther Dewar, 18, of 6271 Myrtle St., Huntington Beach.

—Jonathan Emanuel Berg, 19, of 605½ 10th St., Huntington Beach.

—Joseph N. Langford, 18, of 605 10th St., Huntington Beach.

—Douglas Gene Toerper, 19, of 605 10th St., Huntington Beach.

—James William Burke, 27, of 605½ 10th St., Huntington Beach.

Newport Lawyer Sees 'Good News' On Narco Charge

Balboa Island Attorney Richard A. Higbie predicted Thursday that "some statements will be forthcoming in the next few days that would be good news for a change" in the case linking him with an alleged marijuana smuggling conspiracy.

Higbie, who faces trial Feb. 4 on charges of conspiring to illegally transport more than a ton and one-half of marijuana from Mexico, has denied any wrongdoing.

Members of Higbie's family also said they are confident that "everything will be all right."

No one, however, would comment on anything specific concerning the bizarre case.

The former Newport Beach Planning Commissioner said he had no part "in the smuggling of marijuana personally."

He and two other men — one of them still at large — were named in a federal Grand Jury indictment issued last November as defendants in the case alleging that marijuana was flown from Guadalajara, Mexico, to Palm Springs Airport.

What arrived in the plane, however, was not marijuana, sources said, but alfalfa.

Arrested

Charles A. Tippet, 19, son of J. D. Tippet, Dallas policeman slain by presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, has been charged in Dallas with assault with intent to rape following alleged attack on 30-year-old woman in her apartment on New Year's Eve.

Half Million LA Voters Off Rolls

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The names of half a million voters have been expunged from county rolls for failure to exercise their franchise. Registrar-recorder Ray E. Lee said Thursday 259,116 Democrats were dropped, along with 146,742 Republicans, 9,817 independent voters plus others from various minority parties. Total: 447,633. This leaves 2,638,329 still registered.

Valley's King Size Problem

Small Lot Requests Face Council Continuously

How many lots to allow on one acre of land is an issue continuously faced by the Fountain Valley City Council.

The city currently has a standard requirement for single-family residence (R-1) of 7,200 square feet per lot, which is about 4.1 lots per acre.

Variances, however, have already been granted to four planned development projects which have allowed up to five lots per acre.

The problem which the council again had to face Tuesday night is what development should be allowed to build smaller-than-standard lots, and under what conditions.

A request to rezone an area between Talbert and Ellis Avenues, and Newland and Magnolia Streets was approved 3 to 1 by the council, but not without some opposition remarks from Councilman Edward E. Just.

Just said he was against allowing the greater number of lots per acre because of the problems he felt would develop when the houses come up for sale a second and third time.

He added that he simply didn't feel the smaller lots were very attractive.

Councilman John Harper approved the request, but added that he would like to see the council establish a technique for handling requests to build smaller-than-standard lots.

Harper also suggested that the council should be able to inspect the precise plans of a development, even though

APOLLO 11 CREW HAPPY AFTER LEARNING THEY WILL BE FIRST TO ATTEMPT MOON LANDING July 1969 Mission for (from left) Edwin "Buzz" Aldrin, Neil Armstrong, Michael Collins

Moon Landing Men Picked

Veteran Spacemen Selected for Apollo 11 Mission

WASHINGTON (AP)—A civilian and two Air Force colonels who have walked in space will fly the Apollo 11 mission, the first scheduled attempt by the United States to land men on the moon.

The civilian astronaut, Neil A. Armstrong, will command the spacecraft, tentatively set for launching in July, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Thursday, in announcing the selection of the crew.

Armstrong and Col. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. are to descend to the moon in a Lunar Module from the main spacecraft. The main spacecraft will remain in lunar orbit, piloted by Lt. Col. Michael Collins.

Armstrong, who has survived two near disasters since becoming an astronaut in 1963, is a former test pilot for the X15 rocket plane and was a Navy combat flier during the Korean War.

In choosing the three 38-year-old space veterans for the mission, NASA passed up the Apollo 8 astronauts who made the first lunar orbital flights last month.

But two of these, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Lt. Col. William A. Anders, have been named to the Apollo 11 backup crew. The other, Air Force Col. Frank Borman, is being assigned to ground work at his own request. He will become deputy director of crew flight operations.

Rookie astronaut Fred Haise is the third man on the backup crew.

Space agency officials did not say why Anders and Lovell were not named to the Apollo 11 mission, but the NASA practice has been to spread choice assignments among astronauts qualified for them.

The Apollo 11 launch date is July 15, but when it goes depends upon the results of the Apollo 9 and 10 missions.

Apollo 9, now set for launch Feb. 23, will be an earth orbit of the lunar module of the type in which Armstrong and Aldrin are to land on the moon.

It will be the first manned test flight of the capsule, and if all goes perfectly, NASA officials say there will be no need for Apollo 10. This test, now scheduled for May 17, would be a moon orbit of the lunar module. If it is skipped, the Apollo 11 flight may be moved up to mid-June.

Armstrong, the first civilian to fly in space, was the commander of the perilous Gemini 8 flight in 1966. After he successfully linked his capsule with a rocket in orbit, the capsule spun out of control, but Armstrong guided it to a safe splashdown in the Pacific.

Last year a lunar landing training craft Armstrong was testing at Ellington Air Force Base, Fla., lost power and fell. Armstrong ejected and parachuted to earth. He was slightly injured when his parachute dragged him across the ground.

Citizens Advisory Unit Picks Committee Chiefs

Chairmen for nine subcommittees of the Citizens Advisory Committee of the Huntington Beach Union High School District were appointed by Chairman Robert E. Dingwall Thursday night.

The Recreation and School Facility Committee will be headed by George R. Walton of 5682 Nevada Drive, Huntington Beach. Faculty advisor to the committee is Lee Mosteller.

Use of Schools Committee is led by Donald E. Loeffler of 1005 California Ave., Huntington Beach. Staff adviser is Scott Flanagan.

Patterns of Campus Organization chairman is Richard L. Dickenson of 16430 Laura Way, Westminster. Staff member is Dr. John Venable.

Size of School Site Committee chairman is Helen O. Creed of 7662 Danube Drive, Huntington Beach. Dr. Ethan Fuller represents the staff.

Home Instruction chairman is Mickey Siegel of 6752 Vista Del Sol Drive, Huntington Beach and staff member is H. W. Standard.

Population Projections chairman is Joe Halisky of 5423 Kenilworth Drive, Huntington Beach with Ernest Paoce staff member.

College Prep Vs Vocational Instruction chairman is Jerry Sapp of 8141 Wadebridge Circle, Huntington Beach, and Dr. Walter Winters represents the staff.

The Year-round School Committee is led by Elden Thayer of 5811 Pinon Drive, Huntington Beach, with Robert Martin representing the faculty.

The Programs for Culturally Deprived Students chairman is the Rev. Roger Bettsworth of 6662 Hill Ave. Dr. Lauren Moll is faculty adviser.

Each committee chairman is to recruit about 10 members of his committee. Citizens interested in serving in any of the areas in which the committees will investigate are invited to telephone the high school district headquarters at 536-9331.

A five-point program was presented to the committees by Dingwall and a timetable set up calling for final reports in April of 1970.

Santa Ana Gets Jail, Probation

A Santa Ana man arrested by Huntington Beach police on narcotics and reckless driving charges has been sentenced to 60 days in Orange County Jail and placed on three years probation.

Arthur R. Sanchez, 25, was sentenced in Anaheim municipal court. He has been held in the county jail for the past 70 days.

Sanchez was booked by Huntington Beach officers last Sept. 21 and freed on bail at his first court appearance. His bail was later cancelled when he was caught booking an airline ticket to Hawaii after selling off his possessions.

Continued cool and cloudy is the unappetizing outlook for the week-end, with the mercury mired around the 60-degree mark.

Apollo Astronauts Big Hit on Broadway

NEW YORK (UPI) — The three lunar astronauts, bundled against icy winter winds, rode today through dense, cheering crowds up the Broadway route of heroes in a tumultuous welcome that saw whole telephone books tossed from skyscrapers along with ticker tape and confetti.

Until only a few minutes before Frank Borman, James A. Lovell and William A. Anders started up the re-named "Apollo Way" in 23 degree temperatures laced by 30-mile gusts of wind, the turnout looked as though it would be disappointing.

But New Yorkers proved they still love a parade and this was the first Broadway welcome in three years.

They swarmed out of office buildings and stores as the sounds of sirens and martial music echoed in "The Canyon of Heroes." They packed the sidewalks solid to shout their admiration for the first explorers to circle the moon.

Tape and confetti swirled like a blizzard around the overcoated but bareheaded astronauts who rode in the raised rear seat of an open limousine. They grinned and waved gloved hands to the hundreds of thousands who paid them homage. It was a far cry from the sea of tranquility they visited on the moon.

A few of the welcomers who crowded upper windows along the route, were so carried away they forgot to shed their telephone books, a traditional parade custom. They threw them out whole instead.

Flags and signs reading "Welcome Astronauts" decorated the route and a triumphal arch formed by two fire truck towers crossed above their route where they entered City Hall Park for welcoming ceremonies by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Mayor John V. Lindsay on the steps of the historic building.

Rockefeller said "these three wonderful men have endeared themselves to the hearts and minds of all New Yorkers, all Americans, and to people throughout the world."

"They and their families and their organization (NASA) have given the world a wonderful lift at a time when we really needed it," he added.

The astronauts admitted they were deeply touched by the Broadway parade, a custom which Lindsay terminated and revived just for them.

"It's overwhelming," said Anders. "You know your friends when they come out to see you in this weather." Borman

said he found the experience "overwhelming" too.

Lindsay, who wore a Russian-style fur cap, bestowed the city's gold medal on the trio, saying "Gentlemen, we salute." Seven of the astronauts' eleven children — two of Bormans, three of Anders, and four of Lovells — looked on proudly as their father's accepted the city's highest honor. NASA acting director Dr. Thomas Paine applauded his team enthusiastically.

Skull Murder Suspect Says He's Insane

One Santa Ana defendant in the grisly Railroad Canyon skull murder case uncovered by three Costa Mesans last November pleaded innocent by reason of insanity Wednesday.

Rowland J. Berry, 20, of 734 Toland St., Santa Ana, will be examined by two psychiatrists appointed after the preliminary hearing in Riverside County Superior Court.

A psychiatric report will be given Jan. 29, while Berry's murder trial was set for April 14, depending upon the outcome of the sanity hearing.

Another Orange County youth, Timothy Herron, 19, of 6012 Anthony St., Garden Grove, pleaded innocent Wednesday and Feb. 21 was set for a hearing on his motion to dismiss.

A third among four original arrestees, Robbie G. Crow, 18, of Elsinore, was released following his preliminary hearing last week, due to lack of adequate prosecution evidence.

David Charles, 15, also of Elsinore, was originally picked up for investigation of the murder of Kent D. Davis, 21, of Hayward, but he too was released.

The prosecution contends that the defendants arranged a false narcotics sale, allegedly sought by Davis on a Southland drug-purchasing trip last March or early April.

Never intending to complete the deal, the Riverside District Attorney charges, Rowland, Herron and possibly others executed Davis in the lonely canyon.

Information compiled by sheriff's investigators indicates Davis brought up to $800, believed taken by whoever put a bullet through his skull.

School District Won't Budge on Site Squabble

The Ocean View School District will continue its court fight with the Huntington Harbour Corp. after school trustees Monday night refused to accept a compromise proposal.

The legal hassle involved landscaping at Harbour View School.

When the school district bought the school site from the Huntington Harbour Corp., there was an asserted agreement that the first land fill for landscaping would be supplied by the corporation.

The school district charged that the tons of imported fill dirt was salt laden and not suitable for growing turf grass. Several attempts to grow grass failed. The school district then brought suit against the Harbour Corporation for damages to cover the costs of removal and replacement of the fill dirt.

The Harbour Corporation offered to compromise by sharing the cost with the school district for necessary methods to suitably landscape the school site.

Trustees' refusal of this compromise means the district's Supreme Court action against the Harbour Corporation is reinstated.

Leary Says 'Someone' Out to Make Example

By JACK CHAPPELL

LSD cultist Dr. Timothy Leary, appearing in Laguna Beach Municipal Court Thursday charged that "some higher power" is trying to make an example of him.

Leary, his wife Rosemary and son John were arraigned on hashish, marijuana and LSD charges with the case continued until Jan. 27 and moved to San Clemente Municipal Court.

Questioned by newsmen following the short court appearance, Leary repeated charges of harassment and police provocation he made following the trio's Laguna arrest Dec. 26 on charges of suspicion of intent to sell marijuana and hashish and possession of LSD.

Leary, 48, a former Harvard clinical psychologist said he felt the psychedelic movement was growing.

"The hippie movement is the direction of young people that don't want to fight but just make love and be happy," he suggested.

"In Laguna Beach, there is a definite pattern of harassment," he claimed.

Leary singled out Police Officer Neil Purcell in speaking of harassment. Purcell was the arresting officer in the Leary case.

The family was arrested when their battered station wagon caught the attention of the Laguna police officer late Dec. 26.

The vehicle was stopped in the center of the 200 block of Woodland Drive with the lights out.

Leary claimed the car was legally parked. He said that he and his wife were saying goodbye to their son.

Police alleged one pound of marijuana, some LSD and approximately two ounces of hashish were seized.

The Leary family is being represented by criminal attorney George Chula of Santa Ana. Chula represented John Leary a few months ago in Laguna Beach when the young man was charged with being under the influence of drugs in a public place.

Charges then were thrown out of court when it was held he was not in a public place.

The controversial Leary holds a doctorate in psychology from the University of California, Berkeley.

In 1963, he was fired from the Harvard staff for exceeding prescribed bounds in experimentation with LSD.

Following the last arrest, Leary said he has been stopped and searched 23 times in the last 13 months.

Holden President

Stephen Holden, a Huntington Beach insurance broker and member of the Huntington Beach City School District Board of Trustees, was installed Wednesday as president of the Community Chest.

He takes over from C. William Carlson, who installed the new officers at the Fisherman Restaurant Wednesday. First vice president is Robert Merriman, second vice president is Walter Young; and treasurer is C.E. "Bill" Woods.

GWC Mixes Tunes In Variety Show

Take a touch of bossa nova Brazilian style, add a French folksong and some old-time favorites on banjo and piano, mix with jazz combo and modern dance and you have the promise of Golden West College's second annual variety show Saturday.

The production, "Dimensions in Color and Sound," will be staged in the College Center with 40 performers and musicians in 15 acts starting at 8:15 p.m.

High on the program will be the premiere of a new jazz composition by Gerald Schroeder, Golden West music teacher.

Another Schroeder song, "Mr. Michelangelo," by Sylvia Martinez will be sung. Original music is the order of the evening. Robin Matthews, a student, will perform two original folk compositions, "For Sandra: A Whisper," and "The Funeral of the Unicorn."

The show also will introduce "The Rustler Folk," a singing group composed of Miss Martinez, Alice Jay, Nini Walder, Don Shields, Randy Smith, and Greg Turner with Stewart Harold on drums and Warren Peterkin at the piano.

Competing at the recent Festival of Sounds at Knotts Berry Farm, "The Rustler Folk" won two first-place awards for singing groups under 12 members. For the variety show they will sing "There's Always an Extra Potato," "Shadrack," and "What Now My Love."

BLACK STUDENTS ...

me. I want to know how I'm responsible? Do you want me to slit my throat?"

"It would help me a whole lot. I'd get the money you make," a black boy from Dorsey responded.

"I know you hate me, but I don't hate you," said a white boy.

"Thanks a lot. It's very white of you to say so," sneered a black boy.

"This whole thing is sickening," said another black male. "You know what you're doing. You're putting us under a microscope. You want to know what makes us tick."

"When we got off the bus somebody starts flicking pictures. That really tripped me out," put in a black girl.

Said a black boy, "We don't have tails in our pants. I think you're the animals."

Chimed in the first black boy. "There is going to come a time when we crazy niggers are going to stop coming and talking to you."

"Don't you think that might be the problem. There's no communication," said a white boy.

"Check that. Check that," a black boy said to the other black students. Then to the white boy: "We sit down in seminars and talk and that's fine. Then you go home and listen to your soulless music and don't do anything about it. We never meet again. That's just wasting my time."

Said another: "You want to know what to do. So dig this. Talk to your neighbor."

"But this is Orange County. These guys dig racism," said the white boy.

"Recondition him. Keep blowing on him. Make it a constant thing," the black boy chided. "If you're not even going to do it in your community you make it sound like a hopeless problem. You're weaklings. I thought you were the master race."

There were recurring threats of violence.

"Put yourself in our position," said a black girl. "We keep try and trying and what happens — nothing. Sure, I'm against violence too. But if violence is going to make white America wake up, I'll do it."

"A black man with a gun is a big threat to a white man. It's a dog eat dog world," said a black boy.

"But there has to be a peaceful way," pleaded a white girl.

"Damn your peace. The labor struggle. Was that done peacefully?" snapped the black boy.

Police brutality was another recurring theme.

Said a black girl: "On Laugh In. You watch Laugh In? The man says, 'Where you going boy?' That's supposed to be funny. That happens all the time."

It was an experience white students weren't prepared for.

Young, Angry Blacks Shatter Students' Hopes

By THOMAS FORTUNE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

The young and the angry can be brutally frank.

Well-meaning white students from Newport Harbor High School had their hopes crushed Thursday by black students from Dorsey High School in Los Angeles.

The white students expected hostility and distrust from the black visitors to the Harbor High campus. But they were prepared to overcome and disarm antagonism by a show of true concern.

What they did not expect was that their black guests would despise them, would consider them hypocrites and phonies for their purported concern. The white students were not prepared for that, and so they were upset and hurt.

"It really makes me sad. I came here hoping we could do something," reacted one white girl.

"A lot of my dreams of helping have been shattered. I know now it's going to take a long time," said another.

The student discussions involved 25 juniors and seniors from Dorsey High, 25 from Harbor High and seven from Estancia High in Costa Mesa.

Earlier in the day three black nationalist leaders spoke combatively to the students. Some white students' mouths fell open in amazement at what they heard. The black students completed the rout.

For the discussions the students got together in mixed groups of 10, chairs squeezed into close circles.

In every circle white students asked, "What can we do? How can we help?"

The answers were: "Leave us alone. Let us organize to seek redress in our own way. Then don't go against us. Give us money and let us spend it as we like."

Or, "Talk to your mommy and daddy."

Change your neighbor. Blow prejudice out of white communities. Help the whites. Don't come and try to help us."

Then came the remarks that hurt:

"But we don't expect you to take our advice. You don't really care. You're just curious. Give up the struggle. You don't have any faith in your own people. You don't think they'll change."

"We know. We're wiser than you in the ways of the world. We've learned to survive in the streets. We're hardened and realistic."

Rocked on their heels, white students asked: "Why do you hate me? What have you got against me personally?"

The usual answer: "But you don't look at us as individuals. You think, 'You've seen one nigger you've seen them all.'"

Laguna Leaders Mixed Over Economic Report

Validity Of Results Questioned

By RICHARD P. NALL
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

The preliminary socio-economic analysis which showed Laguna Beach static in tourism and leading retail sales to other communities produced mixed reactions among local officials today.

But that's not unusual in Laguna Beach.

"I was not elated," said Mayor Glenn Vedder, "but I felt it was a preliminary economic study that has shown some shadows and now maybe we will have to dig a little deeper."

Economist Alan J. Weiner, project engineer for Daniel, Mann, Johnson & Mendenhall, made the analysis as an initial report in the general plan study.

Vedder said he felt there was some over-reaction to the indication that Laguna tourism was static and the town was losing trade because of lack of general merchandise retail establishments.

He said he felt some of the people receiving the report had expected a final analysis instead of the preliminary report.

The mayor said there is a lot of additional information the city would like to have, some of which will be available and some of which probably won't.

He mentioned the question of the impact of trade by groups such as Emerald Bay and Laguna which trade in Laguna but for study purposes are reckoned as tourist or non-resident purchasers.

Vedder also said he felt economics is not a precise science and must deal in random judgments. "Maybe it was better than getting a rosy picture," he said. "Then we would have sat back blithely and said we don't have to do anything."

Councilman Richard Goldberg, a merchant, said he felt the report was premature because "all the returns" (information) weren't in.

"Here are statements by an economist that are quite definite regarding erosion of the economy, drop in tourist business and leakage in local business."

"I can't at this stage give it a lot of validity," the councilman said. "I'm willing to be shown where they are right and I am wrong but I don't think they have adequate information."

Striking SF State Profs Facing Job Loss, Arrest

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Striking teachers, joined by militant students, today picketed San Francisco State College in the face of possible arrest and loss of their jobs.

For the fifth day, union faculty members paraded in front of strife-torn school with student strikers. The teachers were warned they would be considered by college administrators as having resigned and in contempt of court for defying an injunction against their strike.

"Our attorneys tell us the state cannot declare involuntary resignations," said a union leader. "We will continue to strike."

As classes resumed, a coed was arrested when her car swerved close to several policemen crossing the main intersection near the campus. Foul-smelling chemicals were poured on the floor of the library later.

The strikes and sporadic violence was reflected by diminishing attendance and growing hostility toward police efforts to maintain order.

Even acting President S. I. Hayakawa, who has previously declined to discuss attendance figures, confirmed Thursday that only about 50 percent of the school's 18,000 students are attending classes.

Members of the striking American Federation of Teachers and two militant minority groups, who have been on strike since Nov. 6, claimed the figure was much less than 50 percent.

The AFT, which represents 300 of the school's 1,300 faculty members, began its strike Monday. Members continued picketing Thursday in defiance of a Superior Court injunction against the walkout.

The striking teachers were warned they faced possible five-day jail sentences and $500 fines, but there were no immediate arrests.

Crew Picked For Moon Landing Try

WASHINGTON (AP)—A civilian and two Air Force colonels who have walked in space will fly the Apollo 11 mission, the first scheduled attempt by the United States to land men on the moon.

The civilian astronaut, Neil A. Armstrong, will command the spacecraft, tentatively set for launching in July, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Thursday, in announcing the selection of the crew.

Armstrong and Col. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. are to descend to the moon in a Lunar Module from the main spacecraft. The main spacecraft will remain in lunar orbit, piloted by Lt. Col. Michael Collins.

Armstrong, who has survived two near disasters since becoming an astronaut in 1963, is a former test pilot for the X15 rocket plane and was a Navy combat flier during the Korean War.

In choosing the three 38-year-old space veterans for the mission, NASA passed up the Apollo 8 astronauts who made the first lunar orbital flights last month.

But two of these, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Lt. Col. William A. Anders, have been named to the Apollo 11 backup crew. The other, Air Force Col. Frank Borman, is being assigned to ground work at his own request. He will become deputy director of crew flight operations.

Rookie astronaut Fred Haise is the third man on the backup crew.

Space agency officials did not say why Anders and Lovell were not named to the Apollo 11 mission, but the NASA practice has been to spread choice assignments among astronauts qualified for them.

The Apollo 11 launch date is July 15, but when it goes depends upon the results of the Apollo 9 and 10 missions.

Apollo 9, now set for launch Feb. 28, will be an earth orbit of the lunar module of the type in which Armstrong and Aldrin are to land on the moon.

It will be the first manned test flight of the capsule, and if it goes perfectly, NASA officials say there will be no need for Apollo 10. This test, now scheduled for May 17, would be a moon orbit of the lunar module. If it is skipped, the Apollo 11 flight may be moved up to mid-June.

Gambling, Prostitution Raid Jails 6 in County

A flourishing, application-only club titled "Entertainment Unlimited" was broken up in Anaheim early today in a raid which climaxed a long, Orange County-wide probe of gambling and prostitution.

Cards, dice, chips, and a poker and crap table were seized as evidence in the raid on a private home, where four men and two women were arrested, police reports alleged.

Lawmen from eight different agencies, including the District Attorney's office, sheriff's office, Anaheim police and Newport Beach police departments participated in the investigation and raid.

District Attorney's investigators said today that Entertainment Unlimited is charged with having staged gambling and sex parties throughout Orange County.

Their method of operation, the DA said, included consideration of customer applications for membership, in which they conducted their own detective work into the backgrounds of those who submitted bids to join.

"They were mainly concerned with two things: whether the applicant was an undercover police officer and whether — if not — he had money," said a spokesman for the District Attorney's office.

If the applicant checked out clean, he was accepted along with whatever subsequent fees might be required and notified from time to time of the next Entertainment Unlimited party.

Those arrested at 2182 Catalpa Ave., during pre-dawn hours today included these persons and the charges on which they were booked:

—Jesse D. Placencia, 32, of that address; conspiracy to commit gambling and prostitution.

—Douglas C. Korawolf, 28, of 12262 Lorna St., Garden Grove; the same two counts.

—Donel F. Gorman, 21, of 12292 Lorna St., Garden Grove; conspiracy to commit gambling.

—Felix F. Digman, 37, of 2295 Tustin Ave., Orange; conspiracy to commit gambling.

—Renne Y. Kelly, 44, of 416 N. Wanda Drive, Fullerton; conspiracy to commit prostitution.

—Marlene S. Goodin, 21, who refused to give her home address; conspiracy to commit prostitution.

Vice investigators said the six were booked into Anaheim City Jail, pending completion of today's continuing investigation and formal filing of complaints by the District Attorney.

Detective John Simon of the Newport Beach Police Department was one of the large investigation team, which also included men from Santa Ana, Orange, Garden Grove and Fullerton departments.

Players Slate Annual Meeting Of Membership

The Laguna Community Players will hold their annual membership meeting Feb. 9 at 3 p.m. in the Playhouse for the election of officers and consideration of new bylaws.

The players nominating committee selected the slate of George Gade, Harriet McConnell, and Gerald Brown as nominees for the Board of Directors.

Additions to nominations may be made until Jan. 20 by members. Also under consideration is a bylaw which would increase the number of directors from nine to 12.

Monte McMillen, Tully Brown and William Harcom were nominated to those positions pending membership approval of the change.

In the event of nominations from the membership, a ballot will be mailed to all members. Otherwise the slate will be elected at the meeting by unanimous vote.

Bill Toomey Set For Laguna Talk

Laguna Beach's Olympic gold medal winner Bill Toomey will address a luncheon gathering Monday at the Laguna Elks Club of winners and contestants in a 50-mile Laguna hike held Nov. 29.

Top hikers will be awarded Alonzo Slagg fitness medals. Bryan Overton of Costa Mesa will be commended for setting a new seven-hour record in his first place finish.

The hike, a round trip twice from Laguna Beach to Leisure World, was sponsored by the Laguna Explorers Post 717 Search and Rescue Team. It was held Nov. 29 in inclement weather.

The Elks Club is located at 680 S. Coast Highway.

Bizarre Drug Case Unravels

Pilot Working for U.S. Customs as Undercover Agent

By JOHN VALTERZA
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Pilot J. W. Bagley, who figures as an undercover agent for the U.S. Customs Service in an alleged marijuana smuggling conspiracy case involving a Balboa Island attorney, is an employee of the Orange County firm of Tallmantz Aviation, Inc., it was learned today.

Bagley, who presently is flying in a movie being filmed in Mexico, apparently served as an undercover agent without the knowledge of his fellow employees, sources added.

The pilot flew a rented plane from Southern California to Guadalajara, Mexico, and back in the bizarre conspiracy case which involves the Federal Grand Jury indictment of attorney Richard A. Higbie, 37, Harbor Area attorney and former Newport Beach planning commissioner.

Bagley, described by Higbie as a "longtime acquaintance," has been employed by the Orange County Airport-based firm "for quite some time," a source said.

Another figure in the mystery-shrouded case is in Mexico too, federal authorities believe. He is Lyle Paul German, the asserted buyer of 3,600 pounds of marijuana from Mexican suppliers.

U.S. Customs Agent John Enos, who is assigned to the case, said this morning that investigators thus far have had no luck in locating the suspect, named in the indictment along with Higbie and Raymond Daniel Teeter of Orange.

Teeter was arrested near Palm Springs Airport last November after he had loaded 3,600 pounds of alfalfa into a van from the rented plane, the indictment said.

The animal fodder had been loaded into the plane to replace the marijuana confiscated by Mexican authorities in what Assistant U.S. Attorney Darrell McIntyre described as "a premature bust."

German's description, U.S. address and age have not yet been made available.

Trial in the case has been set for U.S. District Court in Los Angeles Feb. 4.

There was speculation that the trial could be postponed if German is not in custody in time. However, federal authorities could not be reached for confirmation of the possibility.

Apollo Astronauts Big Hit on Broadway

NEW YORK (UPI) — The three lunar astronauts, bundled against icy winter winds, rode today through dense, cheering crowds up the Broadway route of heroes in a tumultuous welcome that saw whole telephone books tossed from skyscrapers along with tickertape and confetti.

Until only a few minutes before Frank Borman, James A. Lovell and William A. Anders started up the re-named "Apollo Way" in 23 degree temperatures iced by 20-mile gusts of wind, the turnout looked as though it would be disappointing. But New Yorkers proved they still love a parade and this was the first Broadway welcome in three years.

They swarmed out of office buildings and stores as the sounds of sirens and martial music echoed in "the Canyon of Heroes." They packed the sidewalks solid to shout their admiration for the first explorers to circle the moon.

Tape and confetti swirled like a blizzard around the overcoated but bareheaded astronauts who rode in the raised rear seat of an open limousine. They grinned and waved gloved hands to the hundreds of thousands who paid them homage. It was a far cry from the sea of tranquility they visited on the moon.

A few of the wellcomers who crowded upper windows along the route were so carried away they forgot to shed their telephone books, a traditional parade custom. They threw them out whole instead.

Flags and signs reading "Welcome Astronauts" decorated the route and a triumphal arch formed by two fire truck towers crossed above their route where they entered City Hall Park for welcoming ceremonies by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Mayor John V. Lindsay on the steps of the historic building.

Rockefeller said "these three wonderful men have endeared themselves to the hearts and minds of all New Yorkers, all Americans, and to people throughout the world."

"They and their families and their organization (NASA) have given the world a wonderful lift at a time when we really needed it," he added.

The astronauts admitted they were deeply touched by the Broadway parade, a custom which Lindsay terminated and revived just for them.

"It's overwhelming," said Anders. "You know your friends when they come out to see you in this weather." Borman

said he found the experience "overwhelming" too.

Lindsay, who wore a Russian-style fur cap, bestowed the city's gold medal on the trio, saying "Gentlemen, we salute." Seven of the astronauts' eleven children — two of Bormans, three of Anders, and four of Lovells — looked on proudly as their father's accepted the city's highest honor. NASA acting director Dr. Thomas Paine applauded his team enthusiastically.

Skull Murder Suspect Says He's Insane

One Santa Ana defendant in the grisly Railroad Canyon skull murder case uncovered by three Costa Mesans last November pleaded innocent by reason of insanity Wednesday.

Rowland J. Berry, 20, of 734 Toland St., Santa Ana, will be examined by two psychiatrists appointed after the preliminary hearing in Riverside County Superior Court.

A psychiatric report will be given Jan. 23, while Berry's murder trial was set for April 14, depending upon the outcome of the sanity hearing.

Another Orange County youth, Timothy Herron, 19, of 6012 Anthony St., Garden Grove, pleaded innocent Wednesday and Feb. 21 was set for a hearing on his motion to dismiss.

A third among four original arrestees, Robbie G. Crow, 18, of Elsinore, was released following his preliminary hearing last week, due to lack of adequate prosecution evidence.

David Charles, 15, also of Elsinore, was originally picked up for investigation of the murder of Kent D. Davis, 21, of Hayward, but he too was released.

The prosecution contends that the defendants arranged a false narcotics sale, allegedly sought by Davis on a Southland drug-purchasing trip last March or early April.

Never intending to complete the deal, the Riverside District Attorney charges, Rowland, Herron and possibly others executed Davis in the lonely canyon.

Information compiled by sheriff's investigators indicates Davis brought up to $900, believed taken by whoever put a bullet through his skull.

Theresa Landon Rites Saturday

Mrs. Theresa M. Landon, a Laguna Beach resident for 28 years, died Tuesday at a Laguna Beach nursing home. She was 79.

Requiem Mass will be at 9:30 a.m. Saturday in St. Catherine Catholic Church, Laguna Beach. Rosary will be Friday at 7:30 p.m.

Interment will take place at Ascension Cemetery in El Toro. Arrangements are being handled by Sheffer Laguna Beach Mortuary.

Mrs. Landon is survived by cousins Mrs. Frank Streff of Laguna Beach, Dr. Paul A. Reichle of Los Angeles, William Anders of Seal Beach, Mrs. Martha Griffin of Los Angeles; a niece and nephews.

Campuses to Sand Crabs County Lawmakers Submitting Bills on 'Everything'

Bills submitted by Orange County lawmakers, relating to everything from imprisoning militant campus radicals to ceasing taxes, and saving sandcrabs and sea anemones will soon be considered by the 1969 state Legislature.

Several bills identical to some of those proposed this time around were rejected last year, but their fate may now be determined differently on the basis of Senate and Assembly committee rosters to be announced later.

No action on any bills is likely for a month or more, since 30 days is required after introduction to allow public notice, unless the rules are suspended.

Sen. John G. Schmitz (R-Tustin) and Assemblyman Robert H. Burke (R-Huntington Beach) have both submitted bills which would block by 1971 scheduled elimination of required voter approval of certain school tax increases.

The complicated legislation passed in 1967 would take away voter control of school tax increases above a certain set ceiling.

Arguments for taking the final decision away from voters are that school tax overrides will continue to be defeated, while Schmitz, Burke and backers say it will mean too liberal local school board control and high taxes.

Schmitz claims he has 23 coauthors of his bill, a majority of the Senate — which also went along with it last year — but it was killed in the lower house.

The Tustin John Birch Society member also reintroduced the so-called Liberty Amendment, which calls for Congress to set a convention for the purpose of amending the U.S. Constitution.

The amendment would abolish the federal personal income tax and forbid government competition against private enterprise, a controversial package bill already approved by seven other states.

A majority of 34 states would be required to force the convention.

Schmitz is a two-time loser with the Liberty Amendment now and is going for count three.

Sen. James E. Whetmore (R-Fullerton) meanwhile introduced a stiff bill against anyone disrupting activities at state college campuses or in the University of California system.

Based on a graduated step-up of penalties upon each conviction, Whetmore's bill — if passed into law — would bring a maximum of five to 15 years in state prison for a four-time loser.

Under terms of Whetmore's bill, no court could ever suspend sentence or grant probation to a demonstrator or revolutionary activist found guilty as charged.

me. I want to know how I'm responsible? Do you want me to slit my throat?"

"It would help me a whole lot. I'd get the money you make," a black boy from Dorsey responded.

"I know you hate me, but I don't hate you," said a white boy.

"Thanks a lot. It's very white of you to say so," sneered a black boy.

"This whole thing is sickening," said another black male. "You know what you're doing. You're putting us under a microscope. You want to know what makes us tick."

"When we got off the bus somebody starts flicking pictures. That really tripped me out," put in a black girl.

Said a black boy, "We don't have tails in our pants. I think you're the animals."

Chimed in the first black boy, "There is going to come a time when we crazy niggers are going to stop coming and talking to you."

"Don't you think that might be the problem. There's no communication," said a white boy.

"Check that. Check that," a black boy said to the other black students. Then to the white boy: "We sit down in seminars and talk and that's fine. Then you go home and listen to your soulless music and don't do anything about it. We never meet again. That's just wasting my time."

Said another: "You want to know what to do. So dig this. Talk to your neighbor."

"But this is Orange County. These guys dig racism," said the white boy.

"Recondition him. Keep blowing on him. Make it a constant thing," the black boy chided. "If you're not even going to do it in your community you make it sound like a hopeless problem. You're weaklings. I thought you were the master race."

There were recurring threats of violence.

"Put yourself in our position," said a black girl. "We keep try and trying and what happens — nothing. Sure, I'm against violence too. But if violence is going to make white America wake up, I'll do it."

"A black man with a gun is a big threat to a white man. It's a dog eat dog world," said a black boy.

"But there has to be a peaceful way," pleaded a white girl.

"Damn your peace. The labor struggle. Was that done peacefully?" snapped the black boy.

Police brutality was another recurring theme.

Said a black girl: "On Laugh In. You watch Laugh In? The man says, 'Where you going boy?' That's supposed to be funny. That happens all the time."

It was an experience white students weren't prepared for.

From Page 1 ECONOMIC STUDY REACTION...

Goldberg said a recent metropolitan newspaper story showed that Laguna has the highest per capita sales tax return in Orange County.

He said he was inclined to agree that there is a leakage of local business but said there has always been a leakage. He said people will shop where they can get items and get them at comparable prices.

The businessman by example said only recently has there been a store in Laguna where bedding could be purchased. One store that formerly carried it was usually out, he said.

He said he couldn't feel that Laguna's economy was eroding too badly and mentioned that his own sales figures are up.

He suggested that the economists should make a survey of the various types of Laguna Beach business to get better information.

Questioned about the bed tax revenue from tourism, Shelby Langford, city finance officer, said the figures show that Laguna Beach was up 32.66 percent in 1968-69 over 1965-66.

The increase — adjusted for increase in bed tax from four to five percent — in 1967-68 was up 8.37 percent over the prior year, he said.

Bed tax take was $58,830 in 1965-66; $76,455 in 1966-67; and $88,106 in 1967-68 (when half the year was five percent bed tax).

Vice Mayor Joseph O'Sullivan said he felt it was unfortunate that the figures were only available for Laguna Beach and not its surrounding area. He pointed out that many Lagunans shop at Alpha Beta in South Laguna and residents of Emerald Bay which is not part of the city shop at city markets.

He said it was difficult to correlate what is local buying because of Laguna's uniqueness.

O'Sullivan said he was interested in noting that the median age of Lagunans in just six years time had dropped by eight years, although still atypically high at 40 years compared to 25 for Orange County.

Harry Lawrence, Chamber president, said he was absolutely amazed at the conclusions in the report. He felt the conclusions were premature on the basis of data gathered and said he had expected, after six months, a more final analysis.

He said much of the information was simply information available from state and county sources instead of something more concrete like a survey of the town's different type business establishments.

He said he did not think the tourism picture should have been pegged to Laguna's residential growth but rather should have been compared to past tourism in Laguna Beach.

He called the tourist dollar fresh money that on the average turns over seven times in the city. He said Laguna's tourist-resort base will always be important to the city.

Lawrence said the city's sales tax figures are "in pretty good shape."

He conceded leakage in retail general merchandise sales but said quality stores like I. Maglin and Saks have shown an interest in the town and will probably come in as the area is cleaned up.

Valley State Emergency Called Off

NORTHRIDGE (UPI) — School officials today canceled a state of emergency which resulted in the peaceful, mass arrests Thursday of 286 students and their supporters during an unauthorized rally at San Fernando Valley State College.

The state of emergency was called off following a meeting early today between school officials and militant Negro student leaders. The students also agreed to stage an "informational" rally off campus instead of on the suburban campus, 20 miles northwest of downtown Los Angeles.

No one resisted arrest Thursday and some even joked with the 75 white-helmeted policemen during the roundup. There was, however, considerable swearing and shouting at the police station.

A police sergeant said it was one of the most peaceful mass arrests he had ever seen.

Leaders of the Black Students Union are seeking establishment of a black studies program, hiring of more Negro teachers, firing of "racist" faculty members and amnesty for 28 BSU members indicted by the county grand jury.

The members were named in felony counts following the Nov. 4 takeover of the Valley State administration troubled campus, declared the state of officials and employees were held hostage — some at knifepoint — for four hours.

Dr. Delmar T. Oviatt, the academic dean who is acting as president of the troubled campus, declared the state of emergency at 7 a.m. Thursday.

He later told a news conference that police intelligence informed him militants planned to have 1,500 persons from other schools converge on the campus later in the day.

The report indicated the demonstrators had been told they "should come prepared to resist" and to "bring weapons," Oviatt said.

The roundup started about 10 a.m. when between 2,000 and 3,000 persons who attended the rally sponsored by the BSU and Students for a Democratic Society refused to obey repeated warnings to disperse.

Solon, Trainer Accused of Deal In Horse Sale

A Superior Court jury was told Wednesday that Fullerton Councilman Ralph Diedrich and racing trainer A. T. "Tommy" Doyle planned a deal that deprived Mrs. Marjorie Dye of her brilliant filly, Fourth Round.

Santa Ana attorney Arthur Hews told the panel in his closing argument that the heiress to the Post Toastie millions "didn't want to accept" the $7,000 that Doyle handed her as her share of the sale of the horse to Diedrich.

Hews recalled testimony by Mrs. Dye's employees to the effect that the Santa Monica woman made several attempts to return the money to Doyle. And he denied that the previously capricious filly's sudden return to winning form had any bearing on Mrs. Dye's rejection of Doyle's payment.

Judge H. Walter Steiner is expected to instruct the jury today. The bitterly contested trial is in its third week.

Diedrich and Doyle claim that Mrs. Dye accepted payment for Fourth Round and was glad to do so in view of what was described in court as "the pretty poor form" of the daughter of highly rated sire, Lucky Mel.

Viet Tot Makes It—Finally Goes to Surgery

By TOM BARLEY
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

It took six weeks to travel the last 500 yards of her 8,000 mile journey but frail, ailing Suzie finally reached the Childrens Hospital operating room today.

A team of surgeons was in the final stages of open heart surgery on the 2-year-old Vietnamese tot at press time. Hospital officials stated that an announcement on the child's post operative condition would not be available until tonight.

But hopes were high among Suzie's surgeons that they could successfully rebuild the faltering heart that would not have sustained life in the delicate child for very much longer. Pre-operative studies revealed little Nguyen Thi Thanh Phuong to be "in as good shape as we're going to get her," a physician commented.

No less confident is the child's mother, Li Thi Lanh, who accompanied her baby on the long flight from Da Nang. Bolstered in her long vigil today by the friendly greetings of hospital staff, the attractive Vietnamese woman said she had every confidence in the ability of the surgeons to give her only child new life.

There was little trace today of the emotion and tears that followed the third postponement earlier this week of Suzie's long awaited surgery.

Critically short blood supplies led to that decision and earlier abandonments of scheduled surgery were caused by an infection contracted by the child and Hong Kong flu contracted by one of her surgeons.

"We can only wait and hope and pray," the wife of a South Vietnamese Army officer quietly commented in her halting English. "I am sure that everything is going to be all right."

Mystery Explosion Kills Research Center Worker

A mysterious explosion in an underground storage tank at the Union Oil Co. research center in Brea Thursday afternoon killed one man and seriously burned two others.

Killed was Samuel E. Wagers Jr., 22, of 11771 Huwes St., Orange. Police said his charred and mangled body was hurled 26 feet from the tank after being blasted out through its manhole opening.

Injured were Gordon Poucher, 39, of 1232 E. Adele St., Anaheim and Ernie A. Stumph, 55, of 401 E. Union Place, Brea. Both were taken to St. Jude Hospital in Fullerton with second degree burns on their faces, necks and wrists. They are reported in good condition today.

Sheriff's investigators said the men were emptying the tank which contained a residue of various petroleum products when the blast took place.

"It's a total mystery. We know of nothing which could have caused the explosion," said Martin W. Gould, Union Oil safety specialist.

The cylindrical tank about 20 feet long and eight feet in diameter contained two inches of water and sediment.

Wagers was alone in the tank wearing a breathing apparatus with air supplied through a 50-foot hose. He was using a shovel and bucket lowered by Poucher and Stumph.

At first it was thought radioactive materials were involved but Gould said none of these were stored in the tank where the explosion took place.

Mesa Man, 50, Killed by Auto

A Costa Mesa man was killed Thursday night while walking in the northbound lanes of Pacific Coast Highway at Salt Creek Road in the Monarch Bay area of Laguna Niguel.

Dead on arrival at South Coast Community Hospital, South Laguna, was Joe Felix Rivera, 50, of 315 Ogle St.

The California Highway Patrol reported that Rivera was struck by a northbound car driven by Jerome F. Linenkugel, 46, of 515 El Bosque, Laguna Beach. Rivera's body was thrown through the air for 50 feet by the impact, officers said.

The accident occurred in darkness at 6:30 p.m. and Rivera was walking in the middle lane of the roadway, officers said. No citation was issued to Linenkugel.

Second in Week

Soviets Launch Ship to Venus

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union today launched an unmanned spaceship toward the planet Venus. It was the second such launch within a week and the official news agency Tass said both would attempt soft landings.

Venus 6 launched today and Venus 5 launched Sunday indicated the Russians have switched their interest to the planet Venus rather than the moon. There have been hints in the Russian press of a possible manned flight to Venus sometime in the next decade.

Venus 6, apparently was identical with the 2,494-pound Venus 5 sent off on its 200-million mile journey earlier.

The two probes were scheduled to slide through the murky Venutian atmosphere to soft landings on the "dark side" of earth's nearest planetary neighbor about mid-May.

Soviet space scientist Kirill Kondratyev dubbed Venus "the planet of riddles" and said after the Venus 5 launch the Soviet Union wanted to learn much more about "the composition of the cloud particles, the thickness of the cloud layer, and what holds it in a constant shroud around the planet."

The Soviets also wanted to learn more about the great winds which constantly sweep the planet, "at many times hurricane force, and settle the question of its surface temperature."

The Venus 5 and 6 probes, if successful, will put the Soviet Union far ahead of the United States in exploration of the planet.

The United States so far has not attempted to place an object on the surface of Venus. Its only probe, Mariner 5 launched in June, 1967, slid past Venus at a distance of 2,480 miles and went into orbit around the sun.

"The Venus 6 station is to make a smooth descent in the Venus atmosphere on the nightside of the planet," Tass said.

"It will conduct scientific explorations together with the Venus 5 station launched in the Soviet Union Jan. 5."

Venus 4 which landed on Venus Oct. 18, 1967, was the first spaceship to make a soft landing on the cloud-shrouded planet.

Defense Plan

Secret Questions For Sirhan Jury

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Some questioning of prospective jurors in the Sirhan Bishara Sirhan trial will be conducted behind closed doors, the defense says.

Grant B. Cooper, one of three lawyers defending the 24-year-old Jordanian charged with murdering Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, revealed plans for the secret questioning during an impromptu news conference Thursday at the end of the third day of Sirhan's trial. The trial was in recess today. Jury selection is expected to start Monday.

Cooper said Judge Herbert V. Walker wants prospective jurors cross-examined individually in the privacy of his chambers in areas "of a sensitive nature."

Cooper defined as sensitive any questioning about opinions prospective jurors might have on Sirhan's guilt or innocence — "What they may have seen on television or read in the newspaper."

But Cooper said questions about the death penalty would be asked in open court. He said the secret questioning was "unprecedented in this jurisdiction."

Sirhan appeared for the nine-minute court session, then retired to the judge's chambers with defense attorneys and prosecutors to hear private testimony from radio newsmen about publicity in the case.

The defendant was dressed in a new blue-gray suit and tie. He was accompanied by two guards.

While the judge spoke in opening the session, Sirhan turned in his chair and, eyebrows arched, searched the rear row of the courtroom for his family.

For the first time since his trial began Tuesday, his mother Mary and his brothers Adel, 29, and Munir, 21, all were absent. Sirhan appeared disappointed.

Most of the day's proceedings took place in chambers as the defense tried to show Sirhan's case was damaged by news stories and similar coverage.

Ten radio newsmen and a man who runs a private broadcast monitoring service were subpoenaed to testify in the chambers.

Each was instructed not to discuss publicly what was said — and all followed instructions.

"Boys, I've been given the warning," said Herb Humphreys, news editor for station KFWB, Los Angeles. "So hello and goodbye."

Before the jury selection begins Monday, the defense is expected to make another closed-door attempt before Walker to have the list of prospective jurors set aside.

Saigon Claims Enemy Losses 6 Times Allies'

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government claimed today 191,307 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops were killed in 1968, nearly six times allied losses.

But North Vietnam called 1968 "the best year so far in the Vietnamese people's struggle against U.S. aggression."

The Saigon government put South Vietnamese losses last year at 17,486 killed. The U.S. Command has not released official figures for the year, but American battle deaths through Dec. 28 were 14,521.

Despite its claim of heavy losses suffered by the enemy, the government in a year-end review estimated total enemy strength at 300,100 Viet Cong, North Vietnamese and political cadre. It claimed 151,000 North Vietnamese troops had infiltrated the South in 1968 — an assessment vastly different from unofficial U.S. estimates of 225,000 to 230,000 men.

The U.S. Command does not publish official estimates of enemy strength, but reliable American sources said the South Vietnamese estimate was considered "high."

In addition to those killed in action, the Saigon government said the enemy lost 21,050 men taken captive and 17,597 who defected under the "Open Arms" program. This accounted for a total enemy manpower loss of 229,954 last year, the government said.

Campus Turmoil Spreads To East Coast Colleges

From Wire Services

Student protests are disrupting classes at several East Coast colleges in addition to the troubles on California campuses.

Queens College, one of a half dozen divisions of the City University of New York, prepared to reopen today after a two-day shutdown that followed the violent takeover of some offices by Negro and Puerto Rican students.

A spokesman said, "We really don't know what will happen. We're just hopeful." About 10 percent of the 25,000 students are nonwhite.

Negro students remained in control of vital centers of two Eastern schools: Brandeis University at Waltham, Mass., and Swarthmore College, just outside of Philadelphia.

Amnesty was extended again today for militant Negro students defying a court order to vacate the Brandeis University communications center.

A delegation of the mutinous students met with President Morris B. Abram who said he was extending the 9 a.m. amnesty deadline pending outcome of the meeting.

The meeting went on under the shadow of a threat by the Negroes to burn down every building on the campus.

Approximately 200 students, mostly white, marched around the captured communications center in support of the action.

The students seized Ford Hall, which houses the university switchboard and other communications facilities, Wednesday afternoon to dramatize 10 demands for improvement of school conditions for members of their race.

Mediator Called Over AP Strike

NEW YORK (UPI) — A federal mediator met today with negotiators for the Associated Press to explore possible avenues toward a settlement of the Wire Service Guild strike against the news service.

The mediator, George Byrnes, said he would meet later today with representatives of the striking WSG and would decide after that meeting whether a joint session might prove fruitful. The strike began Thursday.

Zambia Urging African Invasion Of Rhodesia

LONDON (AP) — President Kenneth Kaunda of Zambia today urged a military invasion of Rhodesia to topple the white regime of Prime Minister Ian Smith.

Kaunda's speech represented the first open appeal at the Commonwealth Conference for the use of force.

The African leader urged that a military invasion now would mean less bloodshed in the long run.

Urging the 27 other Commonwealth members to help the African guerrillas operating in Rhodesia, he told the conference they were already receiving support from Communist countries, China in particular.

President Hastings Banda of Malawi argued earlier that force would not be practical. He was quoted as saying that if his capital was used as a base for military action against Rhodesia it would be destroyed.

Banda was the only speaker of the 21 taking part to back explicitly the British plan for a compromise with Rhodesia.

Other African leaders all said that majority rule for Rhodesia's four million Africans must remain a Commonwealth goal.

Julie Serves Dad Birthday Dinner

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. (UPI) — The President-elect and his lady have nothing but praise for Julie Nixon Eisenhower's homemaking skills.

"I'm surprised she learned to cook so well," said Richard M. Nixon, as he left the flower-bedecked Northampton apartment where his eldest daughter had just served up a birthday dinner.

"I've had the best foods around the world and I think this is up to any of them," Nixon said.

Mrs. Nixon identified the dish as chicken divan — baked with broccoli and rice.

"It's a new dish for her. She's a good cook," boasted the proud mother.

The chicken along with a jellied salad and a store-bought chocolate birthday cake, was served on a card table.

"That's her dining table," explained the future First Lady, "and we had two extra tables where she just pulled up chairs."

An aide said there were two kinds of ice cream — "red, white, and chocolate."

Nixon Assembles His Cabinet

NEW YORK (UPI) — President-elect Richard M. Nixon assembled his cabinet today for meetings with batteries of experts who have been studying the problems they will face after taking office.

Members of 22 task forces appointed by Nixon two months ago to develop programs for coping with the wide range of domestic problems are reporting their findings in two days of meetings with cabinet designates and other high-ranking officials in the Nixon administration.

Evelle J. Younger, the district attorney of Los Angeles and chairman of the crime and law enforcement task force, was scheduled to make the first report in a session with John Mitchell and Robert Finch, who will be attorney general and secretary of health, education and welfare after Nixon takes office Jan. 20.

Storm Claims Three Lives

Subzero Cold Grips Midwest and Great Lakes Region

U.S. Summary

The upper Midwest and Great Lakes region continued to lie in the grip of subzero cold today as a violent winter storm whirled across the section Thursday.

The storm claimed several lives, marooned travelers in towering snowdrifts, put a crimp in air traffic and caused the closing of hundreds of schools.

However, in contrast to the frigid northern parts of the country, Florida continued to bask in summertime weather. Relatively mild and clear conditions also persisted in the far Southwestern states.

The icy storm, which dumped heavy snows in the North Thursday, also unleashed ice-force winds, sleet and freezing rain to the south and east of the snow belt.

The Eastern Seaboard was plagued by ice while drifting snow closed mountainous areas of the Pacific Northwest.

In Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan, winds whipped up to a foot of new snow into drifts which blocked some roads.

Motels and hotels were overloaded in Montana and St. Peter, in southern Minnesota, where travelers were marooned when 45-mile-an-hour winds backed snow drifts up to five feet.

In Wisconsin, the storm was blamed at least in part for three deaths.

In Chicago, bitterly cold weather with temperatures rising no higher than 10 degrees above were forecast for today by the Weather Bureau. A mass of frigid arctic air from western Alaska was expected to govern the Midwest weather for the next four days.

All schools in three upper Michigan counties were closed Thursday and many in Wisconsin were shut down, including Northwestern College at Ashland, Wis.

Hard Times Here Again

With Christmas bills cramming the mail box and Uncle Sam hovering around the corner, it would not be entirely false to say, "hard times are here again."

Fittingly, Affiliates of Laguna Beach Art Association will mark the seasonal situation with its annual Hard Times Hobo Party Friday, Jan. 24, in Laguna Beach Art Association Gallery.

Glistening jewels, shimmering gowns and sleek coiffures will be terribly out of place at this social affair. Instead participants are being urged to follow party's theme and "Come as a Bum."

Affiliates and their guests will frolic, not in their most elegant finery, but dressed as milkmaids, tramps and traveling salesmen.

For those who can scrape together the $2 admission charge, festivities will begin at 7 p.m. During the evening party-goers will dance to band music and dine on their own food brought in a basket or knapsack.

A highlight of the evening will be the awarding of prizes to some of the "Best Dressed Bums."

Mrs. Murat Boyle is in charge of the event. Assisting are her committee members the Mmes. Zachary T. Malaby, Hovey Cox, Robert Cotterell, William Gieschen and F. R. Atcheson.

Reservations may be obtained by calling Mrs. Robert Wright, 494-3914 or Mrs. Malaby, 494-4494.

George William Bush Jr., incoming president. Installation of new officers and presentation of trophies will take place tonight in the Newport Harbor Yacht Club.

Lady Anglers Hook Awards, Officers

Women who feel comfortable wearing fishing jackets, denim, boots and the odor of anchovies will be trading them for mink, chiffon, evening slippers and perfume tonight.

The Newport Harbor Lady Anglers will take part in their 20th annual Trophy Awards and Installation of Officers Banquet which will begin with a 6:30 p.m. social hour followed by a 7:30 dinner in the Newport Harbor Yacht Club.

Outgoing president, Mrs. Olin W. Smith of South Laguna, will turn over her duties to Mrs. George William Bush Jr. Other officers will be the Mmes. H. S. Dewey, vice president; Charles Foss, treasurer, and Henry Holcomb, secretary.

Presenting the coveted Club Championship Trophy to Mrs. Robert Daisey Jr. will be Mrs. Ray Call. Donors will assist her with the 40 presentations which will include trophies to the Mmes. Fred Johnson, first marlin of the year; Louis Bellingier, first albacore of the year; Virginia Penrose, first yellowtail of the year and Ralph Fore, sportsman's trophy.

Mrs. Holcomb is hostess chairman, assisted by the Mmes. Penrose, Rosalie Daneri, Daisey, Ferd Lansdowne and Fore, who is in charge of reservations and decorations.

Master of ceremonies will be Dick Weeks, ways and means chairman for the California Council of Retarded Children. Although the club was organized in 1949 for women who enjoy fishing, it also has contributed to numerous charities with handicapped children receiving priority.

Each year, through their fund-raising projects, the anglers give a picnic for the children at Fairview State Hospital. Mrs. Frank Keeler is in charge of the event. This year the anglers have contributed to the Carl Harvey Orthopedic School, National Multiple Sclerosis Society, Orange County Medical Center and the Orange County Epilepsy Society.

Reader Needs Support When Friend Decides Shoe Fits

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A close friend has been borrowing my clothes for the past five years. Mitzi can afford to buy what she needs, but she says my taste is better than hers and when she wants to look smashing she feels more confident in my clothes than in her own.

We are exactly the same size, and Mitzi is a very neat girl but I don't care how careful a person is — it's impossible to return a dress or a pair of shoes in exactly the same condition. A seam goes here, a bead comes off there, a knitted skirt snags, a patent heel gets scratched — something is bound to happen.

Mitzi has borrowed everything from my evening bag to my wig. I have never borrowed anything from her.

Last night I went to put on my best cocktail dress and Mitzi had the shoes that match it. My husband was furious. He gave me orders never to lend her anything again. How can I say no without losing her friendship? I can't tell her my husband has given me orders, can

I? What excuse can I give? — BIG HEARTED BERT

DEAR BERT: You don't need an excuse. Just tell Mitzi you've decided not to lend your clothes any more. Leave your husband out of it. Offer to shop with her occasionally since she likes your taste. If your refusal to lend her your clothes terminates the friendship, you haven't lost much.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was interested in the letter from the woman who insisted that alcoholism "runs in families" and is therefore an inherited illness. She went on to say all her husband's brothers are drunks. The only one in the family who doesn't touch the stuff is his sister. Then she added, "Charlotte is a religious nut. A couple of drinks might improve her personality a lot."

What this world needs is fewer boozers and more religious nuts. I am sick to death of being with bright people who proceed to pickle their brains in alcohol the minute the sun goes down. It's a sad sight to witness a charming woman who suddenly talks gibberish, laughs too loud and makes a complete fool of herself. I've seen too many brilliant men become repetitious, belligerent and vulgar after three drinks. It's sickening.

The pity of it is that these people imagine liquor improves their personality when nothing could be further from the truth. At the risk of being called a Blue Nose for the millionth time, will you say it again? I can't put words together the way you can. — STAR WITNESS

DEAR STAR: Thanks for your testimony. There's nothing wrong with the way you put words together, dear. You spoke the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth.

What awaits you on the other side of the marriage veil? How can you be sure your marriage will work? Read Ann Landers' booklet "Marriage — What to Expect." Send your request to Ann Landers in care of this newspaper enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of the DAILY PILOT, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Girl Scouts Offering 'Gift of the Magi'

The three Magi, the Italian Befana, the Russian Baboushka and the Pennsylvania Dutch Belsnickle will entertain 140 Senior Girl Scouts and adults at the Senior Encampment tonight, tomorrow and Sunday at Oak Glen Pines Christian Conference Center, Yucaipa. Representing the Girl Scout Council of Orange County and San Clemente Troop 125 are (left to right) Barbara Smith, Vicky Woodard and Kate Neely. Tomorrow evening will begin with the selection of St. Lucia and skits featuring international yuletide characters will follow. The night will come to a close with the breaking of a pinata filled with candy. The girls hope that the program will foster a better understanding of foreign lands.

Assistance League

Welfare Program Evaluated

An accurate evaluation often is a forerunner of a successful program. With this in mind, members of the Assistance League's Region II will gather Tuesday, Jan. 14 in the Fullerton Assistance League House to review the league's welfare program in Orange County.

Ten regional chapter presidents will be guests of Region II Council members who will have as their discussion moderator Mrs. Alan F. Hoop, National Assistance League vice president for philanthropic projects.

On hand to greet arrivals will be Mrs. Edward A. Pellegrin, Region II chairman, Mrs. E. M. Pettis and Mrs. Melvin Rich, regional representative and alternate for the Fullerton chapter. Representatives, alternates and guests from Anaheim, Garden Grove, Huntington Beach, Laguna Beach, Newport Beach, Orange, Santa Ana, Tustin and San Diego County will be attending.

Mrs. Pellegrin will preside at the general business meeting which will take place at the same time as the evaluation. Both groups will rejoice for luncheon served by Fullerton members.

UCI Extension Courses

Three Series Outline Women's 'Liberation'

Three exciting lecture and workshop series planned to help women orient themselves in society are being sponsored by University of California Extension, Irvine.

"These new sessions are forerunners of future special programs for women," stated

Mrs. Becky Gross, program coordinator for the university. The first four-part program is entitled Woman in America: Crisis or Challenge. It presents a timely discussion of woman's liberation from many of the restrictions of the past and her becoming an independent, self-determining individual.

On four Tuesday mornings beginning next Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. in the Orange County Medical Association auditorium, Orange, medical and social experts will discuss many facets of the women's position today.

Coordinating the lectures is Mrs. Lucille Kuehn who received her BA in political science from the University of Minnesota and is at present working towards her masters degree in history at UCI. She helped organize the Orange Coast League of Women Voters and has been vice president of the South Coast Child Guidance Clinic.

Among subjects to be touched upon are: emotional growth and development; male-female relationships, and the multiple role of women in today's society.

The second series, The Dimensions of Human Potential focuses on lectures and workshops on nine Friday mornings beginning Friday, Jan. 17, at 9 in the First Congregational Church, Santa Ana.

These meetings are planned to help the woman become aware of her capabilities in human relations and in self-actualization. Lectures by psychologists and psychiatrists will be followed by two hour discussion periods led by professional leaders.

The third program is Assessment of Personal Potential which is designed to offer each individual a new assessment of her personality and capabilities. Participants in the nine-week series beginning next Thursday at 9 a.m. in Santa Ana's First Congregational Church, can assess their personal resources by means of a combination of tests.

Coordinating the Thursday and Friday seminars is Dr. Robert S. Davidson, associate clinical professor of medical psychology, California College of Medicine, UCI.

Registration for these programs may be made by calling the university's extension office at 833-5415 or by attending the sessions.

Corona del Mar Home June Plans Chosen by Newlyweds Revealed

Home in Corona del Mar following a honeymoon in Mexico are newlywed Craig C. Connell of Corona del Mar and his bride, the former Liane Buhler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Buhler of Newport Beach.

They exchanged vows and rings before the Rev. Francis Kelly in Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church, Newport Beach.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a chantilly lace over satin A-line gown with a cascading train. Her tiered illusion veil was caught to a headpiece fashioned of a white satin bow with seed pearls and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Nicholas Adams, matron of honor, wore a dark green velvet and lace gown and carried green chrysanthemums with white carnations.

Bridesmaids wore red velvet and lace gowns and carried red roses and white carnations. They are Mrs. Robert Sorenson, Mrs. Bill Griffin, Mrs. Gregory Rose and the Misses Ermal Connell, the bridegroom's sister, Barbara DuBois and Janet Culmbach.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Connell of Laguna Beach, asked Paul Lechtifuss to be his best man. Ushers were Bill Carey, Ron Chamberlain, Rick Howell, Greg Buhler, the bride's brother, Tony Montal and Richard Kenworthy.

During the reception for 350 guests in the Newport Beach Tennis Club Miss Sally Hargrave and Miss Nancy Neece circulated the guest book.

The bride is a graduate of Newport Harbor High School and attended Orange Coast College. Her husband, who is serving with the U.S. Navy, attended Corona del Mar High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond W. Thorpe Jr. of Costa Mesa have announced the engagement of their daughter, Donna Lynn Yarwood Thorpe to Terry Parker Gammell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gammell of Santa Ana.

The wedding is planned for June 14 in St. Joachim's Catholic Church, Costa Mesa.

The bride-to-be is a senior at Estancia High School. Her fiancé is a graduate of Santa Ana High School and attended Santa Ana Junior College.

A chamber orchestra of 18 players will be conducted by Daniel Lewis at the next Orange County Chamber Music Concert, Tuesday, Jan. 14.

Miss Linda Hudelson, violinist, will be soloist at the 8:30 p.m. concert in the California State College at Fullerton recital hall.

Lewis is coordinator of instrumental music at Cal State, Fullerton and is conductor of the Orange County Symphony Orchestra.

The concert will feature music by Ferrabasco, Purcell, Bach, Handel and Mayuzumi. Admission is free.

March Wedding Planned

Mr. and Mrs. H. Clifford Thorn of Balboa Island announce the engagement of their daughter, Lynn Elizabeth Thorn and Dan M. Hagin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale E. Hagin of Covina.

The bride-to-be is a graduate of Northview High School, Covina, and attended Cal Poly, Pomona and UCI. Her fiancé, also a graduate of Northview High, attended Mt. San Antonio College.

A March 1 wedding in Christ Church by the Sea in Newport Beach has been planned.

Blacks Shatter Hopes of Students

Negroes Call Harbor High Youths Hypocrites

By THOMAS FORTUNE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

The young and the angry can be brutally frank.

Well-meaning white students from Newport Harbor High School had their hopes crushed Thursday by black students from Dorsey High School in Los Angeles.

The white students expected hostility and distrust from the black visitors to the Harbor High campus. But they were prepared to overcome and disarm antagonism by a show of true concern.

What they did not expect was that their black guests would despise them, would consider them hypocrites and phonies for their purported concern. The white students were not prepared for that, and so they were upset and hurt.

"It really makes me sad, I came here hoping we could do something," reacted one white girl.

"A lot of my dreams of helping have been shattered. I know now it's going to take a long time," said another.

The student discussions involved 25 juniors and seniors from Dorsey High, 25 from Harbor High and seven from Estancia High in Costa Mesa.

Earlier in the day three black nationalist leaders spoke combatively to the students. Some white students' mouths fell open in amazement at what they heard. The black students completed the tour.

For the discussions the students got together in mixed groups of 10, chairs squeezed into close circles.

In every circle white students asked, "What can we do? How can we help?"

The answers were: "Leave us alone. Let us organize to seek redress in our own way. Then don't go against us. Give us money and let us spend it as we like."

Anaheim Club Raid Climaxes Vice Probe

A flourishing, application-only club titled "Entertainment Unlimited" was broken up in Anaheim early today in a raid which climaxed a long, Orange County-wide probe of gambling and prostitution.

Cards, dice, chips, and a poker and crap table were seized as evidence in the raid on a private home, where four men and two women were arrested, police reports alleged.

Lawmen from eight different agencies, including the District Attorney's office, sheriff's office, Anaheim police and Newport Beach police departments participated in the investigation and raid.

District Attorney's investigators said today that Entertainment Unlimited is charged with having staged gambling and sex parties throughout Orange County.

Their method of operation, the DA said, included consideration of customer applications for membership, in which they conducted their own detective work into the backgrounds of those who submitted bids to join.

"They were mainly concerned with two things: whether the applicant was an undercover police officer and whether — if not — he had money," said a spokesman for the District Attorney's office.

If the applicant checked out clean, he was accepted along with whatever subsequent fees might be required and notified from time to time of the next Entertainment Unlimited party.

Those arrested at 2182 Catalpa Ave., during pre-dawn hours today included these persons and the charges on which they were booked:

—Jesse D. Placencia, 32, of that address; conspiracy to commit gambling and prostitution.

—Douglas C. Kornwolf, 28, of 12292 Lorna St., Garden Grove; the same two counts.

—Donel F. Gorman, 21, of 12292 Lorna St., Garden Grove; conspiracy to commit gambling.

—Felix F. Digman, 37, of 2295 Tustin Ave., Orange; conspiracy to commit gambling.

—Renne Y. Kelly, 44, of 416 N. Wanda Drive, Fullerton; conspiracy to commit prostitution.

—Marlene S. Goodin, 21, who refused to give her home address; conspiracy to commit prostitution.

Vice investigators said the six were booked into Anaheim City Jail, pending completion of today's continuing investigation and formal filing of complaints by the District Attorney.

Detective John Simon of the Newport Beach Police Department was one of the large investigation team, which also included men from Santa Ana, Orange, Garden Grove and Fullerton departments.

APOLLO 11 CREW HAPPY AFTER LEARNING THEY WILL BE FIRST TO ATTEMPT MOON LANDING

Mission in July?

Civilian, Two Colonels Named Men for Moon

WASHINGTON (AP)—A civilian and two Air Force colonels who have walked in space will fly the Apollo 11 mission, the first scheduled attempt by the United States to land men on the moon.

The civilian astronaut, Neil A. Armstrong, will command the spacecraft, tentatively set for launching in July, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Thursday, in announcing the selection of the crew.

Armstrong and Col. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. are to descend to the moon in a Lunar Module from the main spacecraft. The main spacecraft will remain in lunar orbit, piloted by Lt. Col. Michael Collins.

Armstrong, who has survived two near disasters since becoming an astronaut in 1963, is a former test pilot for the X-15 rocket plane and was a Navy combat flier during the Korean War.

In choosing the three 38-year-old space veterans for the mission, NASA passed up the Apollo 8 astronauts who made the first lunar orbital flights last month.

But two of these, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Lt. Col. William A. Anders, have been named to the Apollo 11 backup crew. The other, Air Force Col. Frank Borman, is being assigned to ground work at his own request. He will become deputy director of crew flight operations.

Rookie astronaut Fred Haise is the third man on the backup crew.

Space agency officials did not say why Anders and Lovell were not named to the Apollo 11 mission, but the NASA practice has been to spread choice assignments among astronauts qualified for them.

The Apollo 11 launch date is July 15, but when it goes depends upon the results of the Apollo 9 and 10 missions.

Apollo 9, now set for launch Feb. 28, will be an earth orbit of the lunar module of the type in which Armstrong and Aldrin are to land on the moon.

Sweden Extends Full Recognition To North Vietnam

STOCKHOLM (UPI)—Neutral Sweden extended full diplomatic recognition to North Vietnam today in what diplomats said was an effort to bolster the Communist position at the Paris talks.

Sweden is the first Western European nation to grant full recognition to Hanoi, although Britain and France maintain foreign service offices in the North Vietnamese capital.

Foreign Minister Torsten Nilsson informed his counterpart in Hanoi, Nguyen Duy Trinh, of the decision in a cable which said:

"As the negotiations in Paris are now entering a stage which, it is hoped, will be decisive for peace in Vietnam, it would appear that the time has come to establish diplomatic relations."

The cabinet decision in a meeting with King Gustav VI Adolf came as no surprise following a chill in American-Swedish relations during the last two years because of Sweden's opposition to the Vietnam War.

Needs of Schools

Explained at Meeting

Fifty civic and service club leaders met for breakfast at Lincoln School this morning to hear Newport-Mesa Schools Supt. William Cunningham explain the district's need for $15.9 million in school bonds.

The community leaders then viewed portable classrooms, 40 of which will be asked for in the Feb. 11 bond election. The portables would be used to get youngsters off double sessions next fall.

Striking SF State Profs Facing Job Loss, Arrest

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Striking teachers, joined by militant students, today picketed San Francisco State College in the face of possible arrest and loss of their jobs.

For the fifth day, union faculty members paraded in front of strife-torn school with student strikers. The teachers were warned they would be considered by college administrators as having resigned and in contempt of court for defying an injunction against their strike.

"Our attorneys tell us the state cannot declare involuntary resignations," said a union leader. "We will continue to strike."

As classes resumed, a coed was arrested when her car swerved close to several policemen crossing the main intersection near the campus. Foul-smelling chemicals were poured on the floor of the library later.

The strikes and sporadic violence was reflected by diminishing attendance and growing hostility toward police efforts to maintain order.

Even acting President S. I. Hayakawa, who has previously declined to discuss attendance figures, confirmed Thursday that only about 50 percent of the school's 18,000 students are attending classes.

Members of the striking American Federation of Teachers and two militant minority groups, who have been on strike since Nov. 6, claimed the figure was much less than 50 percent.

The AFT, which represents 300 of the school's 1,300 faculty members, began its strike Monday. Members continued picketing Thursday in defiance of a Superior Court injunction against the walkout.

The striking teachers were warned they faced possible five-day jail sentences and $500 fines, but there were no immediate arrests.

However, four militant students were taken into custody when another brief, but furious battle erupted between 200 police and supporters of the Black Students Union and the Third World Liberation Front.

Mesa Police Searching For Armed Drug Suspect

A tall, slender narcotics suspect who fled Wednesday after a Costa Mesa traffic patrolman found possible heroin and LSD in the spare tire of his small van is being hunted today. Police said he may be armed.

The suspect was identified as Eric M. "Teddy" Baumer, 20, of 1531½ Orange Ave., Costa Mesa, based on a driver's license booked into evidence along with the suspected narcotics find.

Receiving permission to search the vehicle, Dye found two small plastic bags and a rubber balloon containing material thought to be heroin, plus a vial of suspected liquid LSD and a kit for administering narcotics.

The suspect dashed off, running east toward Orange Avenue at that point, and a search of several hours failed to locate him, police said.

Information gathered by police indicates the suspect bought a gun last month and could possibly be armed, as he is sought today throughout the Harbor Area.

He is described as five feet, 10 inches tall, weighing about 150 pounds, and was wearing levis and a dark red shirt at the time of his escape.

He also wore hippie-style Indian moccasins.

Bizarre Drug Case Unravels

Pilot Working for U.S. Customs as Undercover Agent

By JOHN WALTERS
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Pilot J. W. Bagley, who figures as an undercover agent for the U.S. Customs Service in an alleged marijuana smuggling conspiracy case involving a Balboa Island attorney, is an employee of the Orange County firm of Tallman Aviation, Inc., it was learned today.

Bagley, who presently is flying in a movie being filmed in Mexico, apparently served as an undercover agent without the knowledge of his fellow employees, sources added.

The pilot flew a rented plane from Southern California to Guadalajara, Mexico, and back in the bizarre conspiracy case which involves the Federal Grand Jury indictment of attorney Richard A. Higbie, 37, Harbor Area attorney and former Newport Beach planning commissioner.

Bagley, described by Higbie as a "longtime acquaintance," has been employed by the Orange County Airport-based firm "for quite some time," a source said.

Another figure in the mystery-shrouded case is in Mexico too, federal authorities believe. He is Lyle Paul German, the asserted buyer of 3,600 pounds of marijuana from Mexican suppliers.

U.S. Customs Agent John Enos, who is assigned to the case, said this morning that investigators thus far have had no luck in locating the suspect, named in the indictment along with Higbie and Raymond Daniel Teeter of Orange.

Teeter was arrested near Palm Springs Airport last November after he had loaded 3,600 pounds of alfalfa into a van from the rented plane, the indictment said.

The animal fodder had been loaded into the plane to replace the marijuana confiscated by Mexican authorities in what Assistant U.S. Attorney Darrell McIntyre described as "a premature bust."

German's description, U.S. address and age have not yet been made available.

Trial in the case has been set for U.S. District Court in Los Angeles Feb. 4.

There was speculation that the trial could be postponed if German is not in custody in time. However, federal authorities could not be reached for confirmation of the possibility.

Mesa Verde Home Owners Endorse School Bond

Mesa Verde Homeowners Association is the first community group to endorse Newport-Mesa Unified School District's $15.9 million bond election set for Feb. 11.

Directors voted this week to urge an affirmative vote recognizing, they said, that passage would increase the property tax on an average Mesa Verde home as much as $8 per year.

However, directors considered it a sound investment inasmuch as failure of the bond election, crowded classrooms and double sessions would have a negative effect on property values, said Homeowners President Norm French.

Apollo Astronauts Big Hit on Broadway

NEW YORK (UPI) — The three lunar astronauts, bundled against icy winter winds, rode today through dense, cheering crowds up the Broadway route of heroes in a tumultuous welcome that saw whole telephone books tossed from skyscrapers along with tickertape and confetti.

Until only a few minutes before Frank Borman, James A. Lovell and William A. Anders started up the re-named "Apollo Way" in 23 degree temperatures iced by 20-mile gusts of wind, the turnout looked as though it would be disappointing.

But New Yorkers proved they still love a parade and this was the first Broadway welcome in three years.

They swarmed out of office buildings and stores as the sounds of sirens and martial music echoed in "the Canyon of Heroes." They packed the sidewalks solid to about their admiration for the first explorers to circle the moon.

Tape and confetti swirled like a blizzard around the overcoated but bareheaded astronauts who rode in the raised rear seat of an open limousine. They grinned and waved gloved hands to the hundreds of thousands who paid them homage. It was a far cry from the sea of tranquility they visited on the moon.

A few of the well-wishers who crowded upper windows along the route were so-carried away they forgot to shed their telephone books, a traditional parade custom. They threw them out whole instead.

Flags and signs reading "Welcome Astronauts" decorated the route and a triumphal arch formed by two fire truck towers crossed above their route where they entered City Hall Park for welcoming ceremonies by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Mayor John V. Lindsay on the steps of the historic building.

Rockefeller said "these three wonderful men have endeared themselves to the hearts and minds of all New Yorkers, all Americans, and to people throughout the world."

"They and their families and their organization (NASA) have given the world a wonderful lift at a time when we really needed it," he added.

The astronauts admitted they were deeply touched by the Broadway parade, a custom which Lindsay terminated and revived just for them.

"It's overwhelming," said Anders. "You know your friends when they come out to see you in this weather." Borman

said he found the experience "overwhelming" too.

Lindsay, who wore a Russian-style fur cap, bestowed the city's gold medal on the trio, saying "Gentlemen, we salute." Seven of the astronauts' eleven children — two of Bormans, three of Anders, and four of Lovells — looked on proudly as their father's accepted the city's highest honor. NASA acting director Dr. Thomas Paine applauded his team enthusiastically.

Woman Hurt In Crash Sues Costa Mesa

A Santa Ana woman's $25,000 claim against the city of Costa Mesa, resulting from an October traffic accident, is currently under study by the city attorney and municipal insurance carrier.

Mrs. Irma Jean M. Bishop, of 506 S. Western Ave., charges she suffered physical injury, nervous shock, damage to her car and loss of income as a result of the mishap.

A claim filed through her attorney, John A. Griffin, of Santa Ana, charges that Mrs. Bishop drove into a deep chuckhole on Fairview Road near Sunflower Ave Oct. 21, when the highway was being improved.

The complaint charges that the hole was left without a barricade or warning light.

Specifically, she seeks $2,000 in medical expenses, $1,000 for auto damage and $2,000 for estimated earnings lost during convalescence from the incident.

more than two decades, 18 of those years in Orange County.

She worked her way up through the ranks in state GOP activities by starting at the very bottom, as a precinct worker at election-time.

Mrs. Hitt's husband is public relations and management consultant Robert J. Hitt and she is the mother of grown sons by a prior marriage.

In 1956 she was co-chairman of the Orange County Nixon organization and four years later became a Republican national committee woman from California.

In 1964, Mrs. Hitt was co-chairman in charge of women's activities, of George Murphy's successful Senate campaign and in 1966 she was state co-chairman for Finch in his campaign for lieutenant governor.

Her position this year, as national co-chairman of a presidential campaign, is the first time a woman of either party has held such a post.

As head of HEW's community and field services division, Mrs. Hitt inherits a post which has traditionally held responsibility over the department's office of civil rights. However Finch said civil rights matters in the Nixon administration would be under the jurisdiction of a special assistant to the HEW secretary.

Mrs. Hitt, an attractive 5 feet 4 inches and 115 pounds, was born in Taft, Calif., where her father worked in the oil fields as a roustabout. He later made a fortune with the invention of a fluid-packed pump.

The family moved to Whittier when she was three and in 1935 she graduated from Whittier Union High School, Nixon's alma mater.

Mrs. Hitt attended the University of Southern California where she earned a degree in history, English and political science, was freshman class queen and vice-president of the college of letters, arts and sciences.

UNHAPPINESS IS A DRUG BUST
Cultist Leary With Son John

Leary Says 'Someone' Out to Make Example

By JACK CHAPPELL
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

LSD cultist Dr. Timothy Leary, appearing in Laguna Beach Municipal Court Thursday charged that "some higher power" is trying to make an example of him.

Leary, his wife Rosemary and son John were arraigned on hashish, marijuana and LSD charges with the case continued until Jan. 27 and moved to San Clemente Municipal Court.

Questioned by newsmen following the short court appearance, Leary repeated charges of harassment and police provocation he made following the trio's Laguna arrest Dec. 26 on charges of suspicion of intent to sell marijuana and hashish and possession of LSD.

Leary, 48, a former Harvard clinical psychologist, said he fled the psychedelic movement was growing.

"The hippie movement is the direction of young people that don't want to fight but just make love and be happy," he suggested.

"In Laguna Beach, there is a definite pattern of harassment," he claimed.

Leary singled out Police Officer Neil Purcell in speaking of harassment. Purcell was the arresting officer in the Leary case.

The family was arrested when their battered station wagon caught the attention of the Laguna police officer late Dec. 26.

The vehicle was stopped in the center of the 200 block of Woodland Drive with the lights out.

Leary claimed the car was legally parked. He said that he and his wife were saying goodbye to their son.

Police alleged one pound of marijuana, some LSD and approximately two ounces of hashish were seized.

The Leary family is being represented by criminal attorney George Chula of Santa Ana. Chula represented John Leary a few months ago in Laguna Beach when the young man was charged with being under the influence of drugs in a public place.

Charges then were thrown out of court when it was held he was not in a public place.

The controversial Leary holds a doctorate in psychology from the University of California, Berkeley.

In 1963, he was fired from the Harvard staff for exceeding prescribed bounds in experimentation with LSD.

Following the last arrest, Leary said he has been stopped and searched 23 times in the last 13 months.

BLACK STUDENTS ...

Change your neighbor. Blow prejudice out of white communities. Help the whites. Don't come and try to help us."

Then came the remarks that hurt: "But we don't expect you to take our advice. You don't really care. You're just curious. Give up the struggle. You don't have any faith in your own people. You don't think they'll change."

"We know. We're wiser than you in the ways of the world. We've learned to survive in the streets. We're hardened and realistic."

Rocked on their heels, white students asked: "Why do you hate me? What have you got against me personally?"

The usual answer: "But you don't look at us as individuals. You think, 'You've seen one nigger you've seen them all.'"

A Harbor High girl pleaded, "Tell me. I want to know how I'm responsible? Do you want me to slit my throat?"

"It would help me a whole lot. I'd get the money you make," a black boy from Dorsey responded.

"I know you hate me, but I don't hate you," said a white boy.

"Thanks a lot. It's very white of you to say so," sneered a black boy.

"This whole thing is sickening," said another black male. "You know what you're doing. You're putting us under a microscope. You want to know what makes us tick."

"When we got off the bus somebody starts flicking pictures. That really tripped me out," put in a black girl.

Said a black boy, "We don't have tails in our pants. I think you're the animals."

Chimed in the first black boy, "There is going to come a time when we crazy niggers are going to stop coming and talking to you."

"Don't you think that might be the problem. There's no communication," said a white boy.

"Check that. Check that," a black boy said to the other black students. Then to the white boy: "We sit down in seminars and talk and that's fine. Then you go home and listen to your soulless music and don't do anything about it. We never meet again. That's just wasting my time."

Said another: "You want to know what to do. So dig this. Talk to your neighbor."

"But this is Orange County. These guys dig racism," said the white boy.

"Recondition him. Keep blowing on him. Make it a constant thing," the black boy chided. "If you're not even going to do it in your community you make it sound like a hopeless problem. You're weaklings. I thought you were the master race."

There were recurring threats of violence.

"Put yourself in our position," said a black girl. "We keep trying and trying and what happens — nothing. Sure, I'm against violence too. But if violence is going to make white America wake up, I'll do it."

"A black man with a gun is a big threat to a white man. It's a dog eat dog world," said a black boy.

"But there has to be a peaceful way," pleaded a white girl.

"Damn your peace. The labor struggle. Was that done peacefully?" snapped the black boy.

Police brutality was another recurring theme.

Said a black girl: "On Laugh In. You watch Laugh In? The man says, 'Where you going boy?' That's supposed to be funny. That happens all the time."

It was an experience white students weren't prepared for.

Burglar Loots Elderly Patients

A rash of minor thefts from the nightstands of elderly patients of the Park Lido Convalescent Hospital over the past two weeks was reported to police Thursday.

Reports said at least seven patients and one employee of the Newport Beach hospital were victims of the thieves, who stole small amounts of currency and eyeglasses.

Value of the stolen items totaled more than $175. Most of the thefts involved cash taken from patients' nightstands while they slept, reports said.

The hospital is at 446 Flagship Road.

Harbor Clubs Benefit From UF Donations

The Newport Beach United Fund has delivered the first half of current campaign allotments to 25 agencies that benefit from the drive, UF President George Hoag II announced today.

Hoag noted that many of the agencies sharing in the first half allotment of $82,914 are Harbor Area youth groups.

Joe Hamblet, newly appointed UF executive director, also announced that the UF will hold its 14th annual Recognition Luncheon at the Irvine Coast Country Club Wednesday.

The purpose of the banquet, Hamblet said, is to present awards to outstanding contributors and workers in the 1968-69 campaign and to elect officers and directors for the 1969-70 campaign.

UF President Hoag said the funds distributed to the agencies are the highest first half shares ever distributed. These are the agencies and the amounts they received:

Boys Club of Harbor Area, $6,950; Boy Scouts of America, $13,500; Camp Fire Girls, $1,752; Community Youth Center, $2,350; Girls Club of Harbor Area, $2,500; Girl Scout Council of Orange County, $7,182; Orange Coast YMCA, $8,200; American Social Health Assn., $203.50; Children's Hospital of Los Angeles, $550;

Children's Hospital of Orange County, $619; Orthopaedic Hospital, $285.50; Mental Health Assn. of Orange County, $1,695; Child Guidance Center of Orange County, $3,575; Cerebral Palsy Assn. of Orange County, $3,750; The Villa (Orange County Alcoholic Women's Rehabilitation Center), $500; Visiting Nurses Assn. of Orange County, $1,800;

American National Red Cross, Orange County Chapter, $14,500; Catholic Welfare Services, $2,500; Protestant Welfare Fund, $1,250;

Family Service Assn. of Orange County, $2,125; Salvation Army, $3,750; Christmas Welfare Fund, $250; Travelers' Aid Assn. of America, $56; Volunteer Bureau, $2,400; and USO, $671.

Oil Drillers Hit Dry Hole But Plan to Try Again

Efforts by an Orange Coast College expert to tap oil believed deep in University of California land have failed, but drillers may give it another $75,000 college try before abandoning the project.

Still optimistic about punching their exploratory probe into a possible $353 million pool of oil just southeast of San Juan Capistrano, however the Canadian firm involved has found nothing so far but sand and a mystery.

Project geologist George L. Guthrie proclaimed Wednesday — after a test drilling was abandoned earlier at 6,057 feet — that Northlode Exploration Ltd., has a dry hole.

The geology department head says that drilling another $75,000 test hole would be advisable, depending on results of an upcoming aerial survey of the 2,000-acre leased area.

The land is almost certain to be oil-rich based on geological knowledge, but Guthrie said the first drilling may have crossed a subsurface earth fault and missed the right strata.

Flights over the area three miles southeast of San Juan Capistrano by planes equipped with electromagnetic sensor devices should detect any faults and their depth and extent.

"We found good sand, but there just wasn't any oil or gas in it at all,"

Strongarm Thief Robs Barmaid

A Costa Mesa barmaid on the job only three days was robbed of $101 Thursday night by a strongarm bandit who first asked if she was alone, then locked the tavern's back door.

Martha C. Sheeks, 50, on duty at the King's Inn, 720 Randolph Ave., was marched behind the bar with her arm twisted behind her back, but not injured.

The robbery victim told officer Bob Arnold the bandit came in about 10:30 p.m. and asked if the owner was in, then came to the point when told she was by herself.

Guthrie said. The sand is indicative of probability that a rich oil pool lies trapped in strata thousands of feet below the surface of the earth.

Northlode Exploration Ltd. has another two years before the lease runs out on their property, leased from the University of California.

The well was designated University of California Regents Well Number One and was the first well bored in more than 36 years in the southern Orange County area.

Officer's Chance Check Nabs Mesa Burglary Suspect

One suspect in the literal house-cleaning burglary of a Costa Mesa home — captured by accident while the victim was still itemizing her several hundred dollar loss — faces a Jan. 17 arraignment in Superior Court.

Walter L. Calvin, 30, of 1102 W. Second St., Santa Ana, was bound over in Harbor District Judicial Court Tuesday, but a second suspect was released and charges against him dismissed.

Ray L. Cody, 32, of 527 Center St., Costa Mesa, was arrested with Calvin when a Santa Ana officer stopped to check the trailer full of household furnishings the pair were admiring.

A records check disclosed Calvin was wanted on warrants charging him with failure to appear in court on Costa Mesa traffic citations for faulty equipment.

He was also linked to a prior burglary at the King's Inn, 720 Randolph Ave., Costa Mesa, in which someone escaped with more than $100 when the owner arrived to clean up.

Goods taken from the home of Barbara W. Crowe, 3022 College Ave., were still being listed at the time Cody and Calvin were scooped up.

LBJ Wants To Extend 10% Surtax?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen says President Johnson wants the 10 percent income surtax extended, but "he would like some company" in recommending it to Congress.

There were indications Thursday Johnson wants President-elect Nixon to join him in the recommendation so the issue would not become the political controversy it was before Congress passed the surtax, at Johnson's request, last year.

The surtax expires June 30. It was originally imposed as an anti-inflation measure.

House Minority Leader Gerald R. Ford, said he understood Johnson was prepared to make a statement about the surtax in his State of the Union message or budget request, and that Nixon would then issue a statement of his own.

House Majority Leader Carl Albert said, however, the White House had received no word from Nixon Thursday afternoon.

Dirksen told newsmen Thursday that Johnson has drawn up a tentative budget of $195 billion for the fiscal year starting July 1, an increase of $10.6 billion over current federal spending.

But the Illinois Republican said the $195 billion was a "base figure" which could be changed, depending on whether Johnson decides in favor of recommending the surtax extension.

Officer, Bar Owner Slain By Bandits

DETROIT (AP) — An off-duty Detroit policeman, who disregarded his wife's plea that he not reach for his service revolver to break up a bar holdup, was shot to death early today. The bar owner also was killed.

Patrolman Stanley Rapaski, 35, and the bar owner, Casimir A. Czarwinski, were struck by at least 11 bullets, police said. A bar customer, Frank Piotrowski, was beaten about the head by the bandits and was hospitalized.

Homicide detectives said the patrolman's wife and mother of his five children was having a quiet drink with her husband when two bandits, who had posed as customers for a few minutes, drew out pistols and announced a holdup.

The policeman, who was seated at a table, made a move towards his revolver and one of the bandits saw him and asked what he was doing.

When the patrolman replied, "I have a lot of money," the bandit took his wallet but failed to notice the gun tucked in the officer's waistband. Moments later, Rapaski reached for his gun and the shooting erupted.

The two gunmen fled.

President Puzzler

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Cambodian chief of state Prince Norodom Sihanouk said today Cambodia's anti-aircraft guns shot down a U.S. helicopter earlier this week, killing the three-man crew.

Sihanouk said the aircraft was shot down in the Cambodian province of Monduliri, nine miles inside Cambodian territory.

The death of the three airmen was the most serious incident involving Americans in several years. Sihanouk last month released 11 crewmen from six months captivity after their landing craft strayed into Cambodian territory on the Mekong River.

Sihanouk did not identify the three dead men.

He said the area where the aircraft was shot down was continually overflown by U.S. helicopters who shot up public works trucks and other vehicles. To stop this he had anti-aircraft batteries installed, he said.

Earlier in the day, Sihanouk said he hoped for a reconciliation with the United States and neighboring Thailand if they would recognize and respect Cambodia's frontiers.

The Cambodian chief of state, who broke off diplomatic relations with the United States several years ago, said he would like to see his relations improved with the two nations so long as this would not entail going against his traditional allies.

Speaking at the opening of a housing project partially financed by Communist China, Sihanouk said Cambodia was seeking "new friends" while not denying its "traditional friends."

McCarthy Mystifies Friends Again

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Once again, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy has succeeded in mystifying his friends, surprising his enemies and leaving everyone who has ever known him in a state of confusion.

He quit the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Thursday without notice, preserving a well-earned reputation as the Senate's most inscrutable man.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who is not given to expletives and most certainly not to profanity, was asked if he was perplexed. After a long draught on his pipe, he smiled, "I sure as hell was."

That seemed to sum up everyone's reaction to McCarthy's decision to relinquish his seat on the committee to Sen. Gale McGee (D-Wyo.).

McGee said he was "flabbergasted." He thought he would regain his seat on the committee, which he was forced to give up two years ago. But not that way. There was more irony. McCarthy was one of the nation's leading "doves"; McGee one of President Johnson's firmest supporters on Vietnam.

McCarthy explained his decision simply as a means of permitting McGee to regain his seat and pare the committee's size from 19 to 15 members.

But to do that, McCarthy had to give up the position where he has built his Senate career, where he has attained some seniority and which thrust him into his race for the presidency a year ago. After his defeat at the Democratic convention last August, he talked about working in the committee to accomplish the foreign policy goals of himself and his youthful followers. Now he has apparently abandoned that goal.

McCarthy's departure from the committee followed by one week another act perplexing to his followers.

Hijack: To Cuba With Love

MIAMI (UPI) — A Purdue University student with a switchblade knife flew to Cuba with "love" Thursday. Seventy-eight other persons aboard an Eastern Air Lines jet reluctantly went along for the ride.

Known only as "Ronnie," the acne-scarred, 21-year-old hijacker of the Miami-to-Nassau airliner said he was a Communist who "hates the United States and Eastern Air Lines and loves Russia and... Cuba."

The man used the knife to pull the third hijacking of the year and the second of an Eastern Air Lines plane in less than a week. The pilot, Capt. James E. Hord, radioed he was being hijacked at 1:50 p.m. The Boeing 727 landed in Havana at 2:51 and returned with six crewmembers and two passengers at 7:24 p.m.

The remaining 70 disgruntled passengers returned on an Eastern Lockheed Electra at 12:07 a.m. today.

Stewardess Joyce Ann Jernigan said the hijacker told her he was from Indianapolis and "that he went to Purdue University."

"He said he was a Communist, and that he loved his state, and that he loves Russia and he loves Cuba," she remembered.

"He made like he was sick and went into the lavatory and when he came out, I gave him a burp bag and then he sat down next to me on the jump seat on the rear of the plane," Miss Jernigan said.

"I hate to tell you this," he said, "but we're going to Cuba."

"I replied 'Oh no, we're not' and thought he was just joking."

"Oh yes, we are," he said and pulled out a switchblade seven or eight inches long which he poked into my side," she said indicating its length. "It was terrible."

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Two Super Sabre jets of the Air Force Thunderbirds acrobatic team collided in flight during practice maneuvers Thursday. One pilot was killed when his plane plummeted to the desert. The Air Force said there was no evidence that Capt. Jack Thurman, 31, Waco, Tex., tried to eject before his F100D hit the ground about 60 miles north of here.

Unsafe Bicycle Trails

The Newport Beach Parks, Beaches and Recreation (PB&R) Commission, after some two years of study, has finally developed a proposed network of bicycle trails within the city.

The plan is scheduled for presentation to the City Planning Commission Jan. 16. If approved at that stage, it will go to the City Council for final action. Its implementation would then begin.

And what would that implementation amount to — initially?

Sadly, not a great deal.

Certainly not as much as had been hoped by parents eager to get their bicycling youngsters off the streets.

The PB&R plan, in fact, does just the opposite: it puts the bicyclists on the streets, with no more protection from cars than would be afforded by hundreds of signs marking the bicycle trails.

Unfortunately, there is apparently no other way to begin a bikeways system in an already well-developed community.

As proposed by the parks board, a total of 21 miles of existing sidewalks and roadways would be posted at the outset. This constitutes the "backbone route" of the network.

The roadways to be posted include heavily traveled MacArthur Boulevard and portions of Newport Boulevard.

At some future time, according to the PB&R plan, the "backbone route" would be followed with traditional trails along flood control channels, wilderness pathways "and other areas where the serenity of the bicyclists is not violated by motorized vehicles."

These future additions, as mapped out, total another 14 miles of bikeways within the city. The entire 35-mile system would eventually be linked to similar networks in Costa Mesa and adjacent county territory.

The system of the trails beyond Newport's borders would also presumably largely utilize existing roadways.

"There are some 12,000 bicycles registered in Newport Beach," notes the PB&R report, "and the citizens have continually expressed support of a trails system that will someday identify precise locations where cyclists should ride."

There is no arguing that.

But one can wonder whether MacArthur Boulevard, Newport Boulevard and other busy streets are, in fact, "where cyclists should ride."

If the bicyclists are extremely cautious, perhaps, they are.

But young bicyclists are too seldom cautious. So the signs are in fact to urge extreme caution by motorists, too.

The hope is that the signs do some good until more trails can be blazed.

'Invisible' Street Signs

Speaking of signs, and MacArthur Boulevard, some agency — the city, the county or the state — could do motorists a favor by replacing the barely discernible street signs on roadways that intersect with MacArthur.

Pacific View Drive, Ford Road, University Drive and Palisades Road signs should be larger. They now fade much too well into the landscape. If you're traveling even at a reasonable speed, you'll miss them — unless, of course, you live there.

Signs marking streets that intersect with Jamboree Road aren't much more visible.

Surely, larger signs with, say, white lettering on green backgrounds wouldn't be too offensive to the eye. Both roads are heavily traveled by visitors.

It would be cheaper, certainly, than the alternative — which would be to equip motorists trying to find their way around town with binoculars.

Paradox of Leadership, Responsibility

Sydney Harris

It is a melancholy fact of history that revolutions take on the color of the regimes they overthrow. The French and Russian revolutions are nearly perfect examples of this: Oppression was not eliminated, it merely passed into different hands.

The new movements of revolt in American society seem not to understand that a culture can be changed only in an evolutionary way; if we get a complete bouleversment, then there is merely a transfer of power, not a sharing of power.

The real problem of power is that of authoritarian personalities, who tend to rise in any system, left, right, or center. The men who get into office, form committees, run things, engage in vanguard activities, are more similar than they are different, whatever their differing ideologies. With few exceptions, they are aggressive, sadistic and power-oriented.

BUT SOCIETY CAN no longer tolerate such people, of whatever political complexion, for the realities of the nuclear age (in which aggression may be equated with race suicide) demand personalities that are conciliatory, self-actualizing, and value-oriented.

Ever since Plato enunciated the proposition that "the only men fit to be given power are those who do not crave it," the human race has been struggling with the paradox of leadership and responsibility. The average man does not want to accept responsibility for decisions in the public area; and those who do want the responsibility usually want it for reasons that are inimicable to the long-range welfare of society.

THE PROBLEM OF the authoritarian personality cuts across the whole spectrum of political beliefs. Leaders out of power are always for "justice," for "humaneness," for "liberty," and all such virtuous abstractions; once in power, however, they increasingly find excuses and rationalizations for injustice, inhumanity and repression. Marx's noble idea was flawed by Lenin's pragmatism, and shattered by Stalin's brutal wickedness, and it could not have been otherwise.

Politics is not merely a matter of morals, as we are grudgingly beginning to recognize; it is also a matter of psychology. Movements are begun by those who like to dominate others, and even a just cause is eventually undone by the sado-aggressive personalities who take command of it.

"The scrupulous and the just," said Conrad, "the noble, humane and devoted natures; the unselfish and the intelligent may begin a movement — but it passes away from them. They are victims, not leaders, in the end."

Reds Show Nuclear Gain

WASHINGTON — With its eighth nuclear weapons test, Communist China has vaulted back ahead of France on the grim performance chart of the nuclear club.

A final appraisal of the Chinese test must await detailed analysis of the debris blasted into the atmosphere last month at the Lop Nor testing station. Certain implications already are clear, however, from available information.

In disclosing the blast on December 27, the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission estimated its yield at three megatons. The AEC announcement said the yield, equivalent to three million tons of TNT, was "about the same as the sixth Chinese test which took place on June 17, 1967."

NO MENTION was made, in the one paragraph AEC statement, of the seventh Chinese explosion in December 1967. That test, which generated a TNT equivalent of less than 20 kilotons, is widely assumed to have been a "dud" — an H-bomb in which only the atomic trigger actually exploded.

With its announced three megaton yield, there is every reason to believe that the recent Chinese blast was a thermonuclear (H-bomb) explosion. That suggests a successful test which puts Peking back on the road to a hydrogen warhead for the missiles it is developing.

U.S. experts believe the Chinese explosion took place, after an airdrop, well above ground. That is also the implication of reports from Japan that the blast has produced relatively little radioactive fall-out.

DEFEND THE FRANC — In a series of nuclear tests last summer, French scientists detonated their first thermonuclear explosion. The Chinese had done no testing since their reported dud, and there was much satisfaction for France in reaching the H-bomb plateau.

Allen-Goldsmith

Subsequently, however, in the weeks which saw a speculative attack on the stability of the franc, Gen. Charles de Gaulle announced that the French testing program would be halted as a part of an austerity program designed to protect the currency. So the French are on the sidelines for the present.

As they ponder the long-range implications of the recent Chinese test, U.S. intelligence experts face a couple of tough questions. The first, of course, is the make-up of the Chinese nuclear explosive. Much can be determined, in that regard, from the debris analysis.

A MORE DIFFICULT question, debated behind-the-scenes by China experts, is whether the cultural revolution of Mao Tse-tung has deeply disrupted Peking's drive for a nuclear striking force.

Initially, U.S. experts believed the activities of the Red Guard had set back China's missile program but left its nuclear energy program relatively free from disruptive delays. Reports last summer suggested that the testing program had also been affected.

Early reports of the recent Chinese test do not suggest that delays, if any, have seriously interfered with China's progress in atomic development.

Maximum Contact, Minimum Hurt

By GEORGE R. HOFF, Ph.D.

Much of the writing in psychology today — of yesterday, for that matter — implies that psychological defensiveness is a major obstacle to mental and emotional health. Defensiveness, so defined, means "Any psychological instrumentality by which a person automatically protects himself against unpleasantness, shame, anxiety or loss of self-esteem; it is usually (if not always) acquired unintentionally, and the person is unaware of its operation."

Therefore, one of the major goals of psychotherapy is to help people peel off various layers of psychological armor and deal with the vicissitudes in life in a nondefensive and open fashion.

THIS IS A NOBLE goal, because most people don't give themselves credit for being able to cope without unconscious and uncontrollable defense mechanisms. But, perhaps the pendulum has swung so far in the other direction that non-defensiveness is being confused with anti-defensiveness.

He Has Formula for Racial Equality

To the Editor:

I have an idea about solving the color coexistence problem in the U.S., not in the world. Not the religious differences, but simply the racial problems here. The other more worldly problems may be solved after we solve this relatively simpler problem.

LET'S CONSIDER that there have been all sorts of groups who have worked on this, to name a few recent ones: "The American Friends Service Committee Community Service Projects in Urban Affairs" that worked all last summer in Minneapolis to little avail; "Project Bridge" working in a suburb of Cleveland, Ohio; "AMEN" (All Men are Equal Now) that was scrapped because of lack of community enthusiasm; "The Project" run in St. Louis by Carleton College students; "The Uninvited Company" a play to inform and inquire about the racial problem in an attempt to action-orient people. None of these produced a simple solution.

CONFUSION, FEAR and passivity describe most of our reactions to this problem. Reversing these words to action, trust and understanding sounds too easy to be done but it can. There is the formula: One white and one brown plus action (catalyst) should produce racial equality. That is, if one white person took it upon himself to REALLY help one brown person, actively, that brown person would benefit and improve. Let's take an extreme example:

YOU CALL THE minister of a nearby church and ask the name of one Negro or Mexican man to help. He assigns you to Joe Doaks, a parolee. Joe calls you and asks for help in finding a job. You — yes you — help this man find a job and you don't give up until he obtains a job. You become his white brother (if that's what you'd like to

Everyday Problems

For example, the statement, "You're being defensive" implying that defensiveness is a "no-no." Members of what may be termed the "Antidefensive Cult" insist that a healthy person goes through life completely defenseless. Transparency is a badge of honor. Honesty, authenticity, openness, vulnerability, etc., are goals to be pursued by those who hope to arrive at the ideal state of self-actualization. Many who think they are there act "healthier than thou."

THERE CAN BE definite status in being defenseless. People admire someone who doesn't have to hide behind a barricade of rationalizations, excuses, projections, repressions, reaction formations, and such.

SHOULD THERE be a name for this action? Probably not, because it is easy to ridicule a name whereas it takes time to kill an idea that has to be explained.

'Because Papa Said So'

To the Editor:

Last night I heard men talking from above the moon and it suddenly took me back 63 years. I was 8 years old then and we lived in Wyoming.

The top barbed wire on the cattle fence was the telephone wire and a lineman was there doing some work on it. My father was talking to him and we were watching, and listening, as children do.

SAID MY FATHER, "I read that someday folks will just carry a little box around and will talk anywhere without wires."

"It can't be did," said the worker, "the voice needs electricity to carry the sound. How you gonna send electricity through the air? It just can't be did."

"What about lightning?" asked my father.

"That's different. . ."

"Well, I don't know," insisted Papa. "I think they will do it!"

WE WENT AWAY to play and I said to my 5-year-old sister, "Wouldn't it be wonderful if we had one of those little boxes? Then we could talk to our cousins back in Kansas."

She thought a minute, then bluntly, said, "I don't believe it."

"Well, I do," I staunchly cried, "because Papa said so."

Last night I wished that Papa and that lineman could have been here. Man sending pictures, and talking, to earth, from up there!

Like my sister, I ALMOST don't believe it!

Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Home is a dangerous place, probably more dangerous than where you work. Each year 19 million Americans — 106 out of every 1,000 persons — are hurt in home accidents.

Life is getting more leisurely for the average American. One hundred years ago he worked 65½ hours a week. Today, working only 40½ hours weekly, he earns enough to afford creature comforts that were unavailable to kings in the 19th century.

Blacks Shatter Hopes of Students

Negroes Call Harbor High Youths Hypocrites

By THOMAS FORTUNE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

The young and the angry can be brutally frank.

Well-meaning white students from Newport Harbor High School had their hopes crushed Thursday by black students from Dorsey High School in Los Angeles.

The white students expected hostility and distrust from the black visitors to the Harbor High campus. But they were prepared to overcome and disarm antagonism by a show of true concern.

What they did not expect was that their black guests would despise them, would consider them hypocrites and phonies for their purported concern. The white students were not prepared for that, and so they were upset and hurt.

"It really makes me sad. I came here hoping we could do something," reacted one white girl.

"A lot of my dreams of helping have been shattered. I know now it's going to take a long time," said another.

The student discussion involved 25 juniors and seniors from Dorsey High, 25 from Harbor High and seven from Estancia High in Costa Mesa.

Earlier in the day three black nationalist leaders spoke combatively to the students. Some white students' mouths fell open in amazement at what they heard. The black students completed the rout.

For the discussions the students got together in mixed groups of 10, chairs squeezed into close circles.

In every circle white students asked, "What can we do? How can we help?" The answers were: "Leave us alone. Let us organize to seek redress in our own way. Then don't go against us. Give us money and let us spend it as we like."

Anaheim Club Raid Climaxes Vice Probe

A flourishing, application-only club titled "Entertainment Unlimited" was broken up in Anaheim early today in a raid which climaxed a long, Orange County-wide probe of gambling and prostitution.

Cards, dice, chips, and a poker and crap table were seized as evidence in the raid on a private home, where four men and two women were arrested, police reports alleged.

Lawmen from eight different agencies, including the District Attorney's office, sheriff's office, Anaheim police and Newport Beach police departments participated in the investigation and raid.

District Attorney's investigators said today that Entertainment Unlimited is charged with having staged gambling and sex parties throughout Orange County.

Their method of operation, the DA said, included consideration of customer applications for membership, in which they conducted their own detective work into the backgrounds of those who submitted bids to join.

"They were mainly concerned with two things: whether the applicant was an undercover police officer and whether — if not — he had money," said a spokesman for the District Attorney's office.

If the applicant checked out clean, he was accepted along with whatever subsequent fees might be required and notified from time to time of the next Entertainment Unlimited party.

Those arrested at 2122 Catalpa Ave., during predawn hours today included these persons and the charges on which they were booked:

—Jesse D. Placencia, 32, of that address; conspiracy to commit gambling and prostitution.

—Douglas C. Kornwolf, 28, of 12292 Lorna St., Garden Grove; the same two counts.

—Donel F. Gorman, 21, of 12292 Lorna St., Garden Grove; conspiracy to commit gambling.

—Felix F. Digman, 37, of 2295 Tustin Ave., Orange; conspiracy to commit gambling.

—Renee Y. Kelly, 44, of 416 N. Wanda Drive, Fullerton; conspiracy to commit prostitution.

—Marlene S. Goodin, 21, who refused to give her home address; conspiracy to commit prostitution.

Vice investigators said the six were booked into Anaheim City Jail, pending completion of today's continuing investigation and formal filing of complaints by the District Attorney.

Detective John Simon of the Newport Beach Police Department was one of the large investigation team, which also included men from Santa Ana, Orange, Garden Grove and Fullerton departments.

Striking SF State Profs Facing Job Loss, Arrest

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Striking teachers, joined by militant students, today picketed San Francisco State College in the face of possible arrest and loss of their jobs.

For the fifth day, union faculty members paraded in front of strife-torn school with student strikers. The teachers were warned they would be considered by college administrators as having resigned and in contempt of court for defying an injunction against their strike.

"Our attorneys tell us the state cannot declare involuntary resignations," said a union leader. "We will continue to strike."

As classes resumed, a coed was arrested when her car swerved close to several policemen crossing the main intersection near the campus. Foul-smelling chemicals were poured on the floor of the library later.

The strikes and sporadic violence was reflected by diminishing attendance and growing hostility toward police efforts to maintain order.

Even acting President S. I. Hayakawa,

who has previously declined to discuss attendance figures, confirmed Thursday that only about 50 percent of the school's 18,000 students are attending classes.

Members of the striking American Federation of Teachers and two militant minority groups, who have been on strike since Nov. 6, claimed the figure was much less than 50 percent.

The AFT, which represents 300 of the school's 1,300 faculty members, began its strike Monday. Members continued picketing Thursday in defiance of a Superior Court injunction against the walkout.

The striking teachers were warned they faced possible five-day jail sentences and $500 fines, but there were no immediate arrests.

However, four militant students were taken into custody when another brief, but furious battle erupted between 200 police and supporters of the Black Students Union and the Third World Liberation Front.

Mesa Police Searching For Armed Drug Suspect

A tall, slender narcotics suspect who fled Wednesday after a Costa Mesa traffic patrolman found possible heroin and LSD in the spare tire of his small van is being hunted today. Police said he may be armed.

The suspect was identified as Eric M. "Teddy" Baumer, 20, of 1531 1/2 Orange Ave., Costa Mesa, based on a driver's license booked into evidence along with the suspected narcotics find.

Receiving permission to search the vehicle, Dye found two small plastic bags and a rubber balloon containing material thought to be heroin, plus a vial of suspected liquid LSD and a kit for administering narcotics.

The suspect dashed off, running east toward Orange Avenue at that point, and a search of several hours failed to locate him, police said.

Information gathered by police indicates the suspect bought a gun last month and could possibly be armed, as he is sought today throughout the Harbor Area.

He is described as five feet, 10 inches tall, weighing about 150 pounds, and was wearing levis and a dark red shirt at the time of his escape.

He also wore hippie-style Indian moccasins.

Bizarre Drug Case Unravels

Pilot Working for U.S. Customs as Undercover Agent

Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Pilot J. W. Bagley, who figures as an undercover agent for the U.S. Customs Service in an alleged marijuana smuggling conspiracy, case involving a Balboa Island attorney, is an employee of the Orange County firm of Tallmants Aviation, Inc., it was learned today.

Bagley, who presently is flying in a movie being filmed in Mexico, apparently served as an undercover agent without the knowledge of his fellow employees, sources added.

The pilot flew a rented plane from Southern California to Guadalajara, Mexico, and back in the bizarre conspiracy case which involves the Federal Grand Jury indictment of attorney Richard A. Higbie, 37, Harbor Area attorney and former Newport Beach planning commissioner.

Bagley, described by Higbie as a "longtime acquaintance," has been employed by the Orange County Airport-based firm "for quite some time," a source said.

Another figure in the mystery-shrouded case is in Mexico too, federal authorities believe. He is Lyle Paul German, the asserted buyer of 3,600 pounds of marijuana from Mexican suppliers.

U.S. Customs Agent John Enos, who is assigned to the case, said this morning that investigators thus far have had no luck in locating the suspect, named in the indictment along with Higbie and Raymond Daniel Teeter of Orange.

Teeter was arrested near Palm Springs Airport last November after he had loaded 3,600 pounds of alfalfa into a van from the rented plane, the indictment said.

The animal fodder had been loaded into the plane to replace the marijuana confiscated by Mexican authorities in what Assistant U.S. Attorney Darrell McIntyre described as "a premature bust."

German's description, U.S. address and age have not yet been made available.

Trial in the case has been set for U.S. District Court in Los Angeles Feb. 4.

There was speculation that the trial could be postponed if German is not in custody in time. However, federal authorities could not be reached for confirmation of the possibility.

APOLLO 11 CREW HAPPY AFTER LEARNING THEY WILL BE FIRST TO ATTEMPT MOON LANDING July 1969 Mission for (from left) Edwin "Buzz" Aldrin, Neil Armstrong, Michael Collins

Mission in July?

Civilian, Two Colonels Named Men for Moon

WASHINGTON (AP)—A civilian and two Air Force colonels who have walked in space will fly the Apollo 11 mission, the first scheduled attempt by the United States to land men on the moon.

The civilian astronaut, Neil A. Armstrong, will command the spacecraft, tentatively set for launching in July, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Thursday, in announcing the selection of the crew.

Armstrong and Col. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. are to descend to the moon in a Lunar Module from the main spacecraft. The main spacecraft will remain in lunar orbit, piloted by Lt. Col. Michael Collins.

Armstrong, who has survived two near disasters since becoming an astronaut in 1963, is a former test pilot for the X-15 rocket plane and was a Navy combat flier during the Korean War.

In choosing the three 38-year-old space veterans for the mission, NASA passed up the Apollo 8 astronauts who made the first lunar orbital flights last month.

But two of these, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Lt. Col. William A. Anders, have been named to the Apollo 11 backup crew. The other, Air Force Col. Frank Borman, is being assigned to ground work at his own request. He will become deputy director of crew flight operations.

Rookie astronaut Fred Haise is the third man on the backup crew.

Space agency officials did not say why Anders and Lovell were not named to the Apollo 11 mission, but the NASA practice has been to spread choice assignments among astronauts qualified for them.

The Apollo 11 launch date is July 15, but when it goes depends upon the results of the Apollo 9 and 10 missions. Apollo 9, now set for launch Feb. 28, will be an earth orbit of the lunar module of the type in which Armstrong and Aldrin are to land on the moon.

Sweden Extends Full Recognition To North Vietnam

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Neutral Sweden extended full diplomatic recognition to North Vietnam today in what diplomats said was an effort to bolster the Communist position at the Paris talks.

Sweden is the first Western European nation to grant full recognition to Hanoi, although Britain and France maintain foreign service offices in the North Vietnamese capital.

Foreign Minister Torsten Nilsson informed his counterpart in Hanoi, Nguyen Duy Trinh, of the decision in a cable which said:

"As the negotiations in Paris are now entering a stage which, it is hoped, will be decisive for peace in Vietnam, it would appear that the time has come to establish diplomatic relations."

The cabinet decision in a meeting with King Gustav VI Adolf came as no surprise following a chill in American-Swedish relations during the last two years because of Sweden's opposition to the Vietnam War.

Needs of Schools Explained at Meeting

Fifty civic and service club leaders met for breakfast at Lincoln School this morning to hear Newport-Mesa Schools Supt. William Cunningham explain the district's need for $15.9 million in school bonds.

The community leaders then viewed portable classrooms, 40 of which will be asked for in the Feb. 11 bond election. The portables would be used to get youngsters off double sessions next fall.

County GOP Aide Pat Hitt Named To HEW Position

A longtime family friend and instrumental organizer in Orange County Republican campaign efforts Thursday was named as the first woman to a subcabinet post in the new Richard M. Nixon administration.

Mrs. Robert (Pat) Hitt, 50, of Villa Park, was nominated as an assistant secretary of health, education and welfare, in charge of an office covering consumer protection.

President-elect Nixon ordered Mrs. Hitt's appointment announced ahead of any other woman appointees, in tribute to her friendship and support of more than 20 years.

"I am very proud to have Pat Hitt, the first woman named to the administration, on my team at HEW," said Secretary-designate Robert H. Finch.

The former California lieutenant governor made the announcement for Nixon.

The onetime Whittier College classmate of the President-elect has been active in Republican campaign work for

Mesa Verde Home Owners Endorse School Bond

Mesa Verde Homeowners Association is the first community group to endorse Newport-Mesa Unified School District's $15.9 million bond election set for Feb. 11.

Directors voted this week to urge an affirmative vote recognizing, they said, that passage would increase the property tax on an average Mesa Verde home as much as $8 per year.

However, directors considered it a sound investment inasmuch as failure of the bond election, crowded classrooms and double sessions would have a negative effect on property values, said Homeowners President Norm French.

Apollo Astronauts Big Hit on Broadway

NEW YORK (UPI) — The three lunar astronauts, bundled against icy winter winds, rode today through dense, cheering crowds up the Broadway route of heroes in a tumultuous welcome that saw whole telephone books tossed from skyscrapers along with tickertape and confetti.

Until only a few minutes before Frank Borman, James A. Lovell and William A. Anders started up the re-named "Apollo Way" in 23 degree temperatures iced by 20-mile gusts of wind, the turnout looked as though it would be disappointing.

But New Yorkers proved they still love a parade and this was the first Broadway welcome in three years.

They swarmed out of office buildings and stores as the sounds of sirens and martial music echoed in "the Canyon of Heroes." They packed the sidewalks solid to shout their admiration for the first explorers to circle the moon.

Tape and confetti swirled like a blizzard around the overcoated but bareheaded astronauts who rode in the raised rear seat of an open limousine. They grinned and waved gloved hands to the hundreds of thousands who yelped their welcome. It was a far cry from the sea of tranquility they visited on the moon.

A few of the welcomers who crowded upper windows along the route were so carried away they forgot to shed their telephone books, a traditional parade custom. They threw them out whole instead.

Flags and signs reading "Welcome Astronauts" decorated the route and a triumphal arch formed by two fire truck towers crossed above their route where they entered City Hall Park for welcoming ceremonies by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Mayor John V. Lindsay on the steps of the historic building.

Rockefeller said "these three wonderful men have endeared themselves to the hearts and minds of all New Yorkers, all Americans, and to people throughout the world."

"They and their families and their organization (NASA) have given the world a wonderful lift at a time when we really needed it," he added.

The astronauts admitted they were deeply touched by the Broadway parade, a custom which Lindsay terminated and revived just for them.

"It's overwhelming," said Anders. "You know your friends when they come out to see you in this weather." Borman

said he found the experience "overwhelming" too.

Lindsay, who wore a Russian-style fur cap, bestowed the city's gold medal on the trio, saying "Gentlemen, we salute." Seven of the astronauts' eleven children — two of Bormans, three of Anders, and four of Lovells — looked on proudly as their father's accepted the city's highest honor. NASA acting director Dr. Thomas Paine applauded his team enthusiastically.

Woman Hurt In Crash Sues Costa Mesa

A Santa Ana woman's $25,000 claim against the city of Costa Mesa, resulting from an October traffic accident, is currently under study by the city attorney and municipal insurance carrier.

Mrs. Irma Jean M. Bishop, of 506 S. Western Ave., charges she suffered physical injury, nervous shock, damage to her car and loss of income as a result of the mishap.

A claim filed through her attorney, John A. Griffin, of Santa Ana, charges that Mrs. Bishop drove into a deep chuckhole on Fairview Road near Sunflower Ave. Oct. 21, when the highway was being improved.

The complaint charges that the hole was left without a barricade or warning light.

Specifically, she seeks $2,000 in medical expenses, $1,000 for auto damage and $2,000 for estimated earnings lost during convalescence from the incident.

more than two decades, 18 of those years in Orange County.

She worked her way up through the ranks in state GOP activities by starting at the very bottom, as a precinct worker at election-time.

Mrs. Hitt's husband is public relations and management consultant Robert J. Hitt and she is the mother of grown sons by a prior marriage.

In 1956 she was co-chairman of the Orange County Nixon organization and four years later became a Republican national committee woman from California.

In 1964, Mrs. Hitt was co-chairman in charge of women's activities, of George Murphy's successful Senate campaign and in 1966 she was state co-chairman for Finch in his campaign for lieutenant governor.

Her position this year, as national co-chairman of a presidential campaign, is the first time a woman of either party has held such a post.

As head of HEW's community and field services division, Mrs. Hitt inherits a post which has traditionally held responsibility over the department's office of civil rights. However Finch said civil rights matters in the Nixon administration would be under the jurisdiction of a special assistant to the HEW secretary.

Mrs. Hitt, an attractive 5 feet 4 inches and 115 pounds, was born in Taft, Calif., where her father worked in the oil fields as a roustabout. He later made a fortune with the invention of a fluid-packed pump.

The family moved to Whittier when she was three and in 1935 she graduated from Whittier Union High School, Nixon's alma mater.

Mrs. Hitt attended the University of Southern California where she earned a degree in history, English and political science, was freshman class queen and vice-president of the college of letters, arts and sciences.

UNHAPPINESS IS A DRUG BUST

Leary Says 'Someone' Out to Make Example

By JACK CHAPPELL
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

LSD cultist Dr. Timothy Leary, appearing in Laguna Beach Municipal Court Thursday charged that "some higher power" is trying to make an example of him.

Leary, his wife Rosemary and son John were arraigned on hashish, marijuana and LSD charges with the case continued until Jan. 27 and moved to San Clemente Municipal Court.

Questioned by newsmen following the short court appearance, Leary repeated charges of harassment and police provocation he made following the trio's Laguna arrest Dec. 26 on charges of suspicion of intent to sell marijuana and hashish and possession of LSD.

Leary, 48, a former Harvard clinical psychologist said he felt the psychedelic movement was growing.

"The hippie movement is the direction of young people that don't want to fight but just make love and be happy," he suggested.

"In Laguna Beach, there is a definite pattern of harassment," he claimed.

Leary singled out Police Officer Neil Purcell in speaking of harassment.

Purcell was the arresting officer in the Leary case.

The family was arrested when their battered station wagon caught the attention of the Laguna police officer late Dec. 26.

The vehicle was stopped in the center of the 200 block of Woodland Drive with the lights out.

Leary claimed the car was legally parked. He said that he and his wife were saying goodbye to their son.

Police alleged one pound of marijuana, some LSD and approximately two ounces of hashish were seized.

The Leary family is being represented by criminal attorney George Chula of Santa Ana. Chula represented John Leary a few months ago in Laguna Beach when the young man was charged with being under the influence of drugs in a public place.

Charges then were thrown out of court when it was held he was not in a public place.

The controversial Leary holds a doctorate in psychology from the University of California, Berkeley.

In 1963, he was fired from the Harvard staff for exceeding prescribed bounds in experimentation with LSD.

Following the last arrest, Leary said he has been stopped and searched 23 times in the last 13 months.

BLACK STUDENTS ...

Change your neighbor. Blow prejudice out of white communities. Help the whites. Don't come and try to help us."

Then came the remarks that hurt: "But we don't expect you to take our advice. You don't really care. You're just curious. Give up the struggle. You don't have any faith in your own people. You don't think they'll change."

"We know. We're wiser than you in the ways of the world. We've learned to survive in the streets. We're hardened and realistic."

Rocked on their heels, white students asked: "Why do you hate me? What have you got against me personally?"

The usual answer: "But you don't look at us as individuals. You think, 'You've seen one nigger you've seen them all.'"

A Harbor High girl pleaded, "Tell me. I want to know how I'm responsible? Do you want me to slit my throat?"

"It would help me a whole lot. I'd get the money you make," a black boy from Dorsey responded.

"I know you hate me, but I don't hate you," said a white boy.

"Thanks a lot. It's very white of you to say so," sneered a black boy.

"This whole thing is sickening," said another black male. "You know what you're doing. You're putting us under a microscope. You want to know what makes us tick."

"When we got off the bus somebody starts flicking pictures. That really tripped me out," put in a black girl.

Said a black boy, "We don't have tails in our pants. I think you're the animals."

Chimed in the first black boy, "There is going to come a time when we crazy niggers are going to stop coming and talking to you."

"Don't you think that might be the problem. There's no communication," said a white boy.

"Check that. Check that," a black boy said to the other black students. Then to the white boy: "We sit down in seminars and talk and that's fine. Then you go home and listen to your soulless music and don't do anything about it. We never meet again. That's just wasting my time."

Said another: "You want to know what to do. So dig this. Talk to your neighbor."

"But this is Orange County. These guys dig racism," said the white boy.

"Recondition him. Keep blowing on him. Make it a constant thing," the black boy chided. "If you're not even going to do it in your community you make it sound like a hopeless problem. You're weaklings. I thought you were the master race."

There were recurring threats of violence.

"Put yourself in our position," said a black girl. "We keep trying and trying and what happens — nothing. Sure, I'm against violence too. But if violence is going to make white America wake up, I'll do it."

"A black man with a gun is a big threat to a white man. It's a dog eat dog world," said a black boy.

"But there has to be a peaceful way," pleaded a white girl.

"Damn your peace. The labor struggle. Was that done peacefully?" snapped the black boy.

Police brutality was another recurring theme.

Said a black girl: "On Laugh In. You watch Laugh In? The man says, 'Where you going boy?' That's supposed to be funny. That happens all the time."

It was an experience white students weren't prepared for.

Burglar Loots Elderly Patients

A rash of minor thefts from the nightstands of elderly patients of the Park Lido Convalescent Hospital over the past two weeks was reported to police Thursday.

Reports said at least seven patients and one employee of the Newport Beach hospital were victims of the thieves, who stole small amounts of currency and eyeglasses.

Value of the stolen items totaled more than $175. Most of the thefts involved cash taken from patients' nightstands while they slept, reports said.

The hospital is at 446 Flagship Road.

Harbor Clubs Benefit From UF Donations

The Newport Beach United Fund has delivered the first half of current campaign allotments to 25 agencies that benefit from the drive, UF President George Hoag II announced today.

Hoag noted that many of the agencies sharing in the first half allotment of $82,914 are Harbor Area youth groups.

Joe Hamblet, newly appointed UF executive director, also announced that the UF will hold its 14th annual Recognition Luncheon at the Irvine Coast Country Club Wednesday.

The purpose of the banquet, Hamblet said, is to present awards to outstanding contributors and workers in the 1968-69 campaign and to elect officers and directors for the 1969-70 campaign.

UF President Hoag said the funds distributed to the agencies are the highest first half shares ever distributed.

These are the agencies and the amounts they received:

Boys Club of Harbor Area, $6,980; Boy Scouts of America, $13,500; Camp Fire Girls, $1,752; Community Youth Center, $2,350; Girls Club of Harbor Area, $2,500; Girl Scout Council of Orange County, $7,182; Orange Coast YMCA, $8,200; American Social Health Assn., $803.30; Children's Hospital of Los Angeles, $550;

Children's Hospital of Orange County, $619; Orthopaedic Hospital, $285.50; Mental Health Assn. of Orange County, $1,695; Child Guidance Center of Orange County, $3,575; Cerebral Palsy Assn. of Orange County, $3,750; The Villa (Orange County Alcoholic Women's Rehabilitation Center), $500; Visiting Nurses Assn. of Orange County, $1,800;

American National Red Cross, Orange County Chapter, $14,500; Catholic Welfare Services, $2,500; Protestant Welfare Fund, $1,250;

Family Service Assn. of Orange County, $2,125; Salvation Army, $3,750; Christmas Welfare Fund, $250; Travelers' Aid Assn. of America, $56; Volunteer Bureau, $2,400; and USO, $671.

Oil Drillers Hit Dry Hole But Plan to Try Again

Efforts by an Orange Coast College expert to tap oil believed deep in University of California land have failed, but drillers may give it another $75,000 college try before abandoning the project.

Still optimistic about punching their exploratory probe into a possible $353 million pool of oil just southeast of San Juan Capistrano, however the Canadian firm involved has found nothing so far but sand and a mystery.

Project geologist George L. Guthrie proclaimed Wednesday — after a test drilling was abandoned earlier at 6,057 feet — that Northlode Exploration Ltd., has a dry hole.

The geologist department head says that drilling another $75,000 test hole would be advisable, depending on results of an upcoming aerial survey of the 2,000-acre leased area.

The land is almost certain to be oil-rich based on geological knowledge, but Guthrie said the first drilling may have crossed a subsurface earth fault and missed the right strata.

Flights over the area three miles southeast of San Juan Capistrano by planes equipped with electromagnetic sensor devices should detect any faults and their depth and extent.

"We found good sand, but there just wasn't any oil or gas in it at all,"

Strongarm Thief Robs Barmaid

A Costa Mesa barmaid on the job only three days was robbed of $101 Thursday night by a strongarm bandit who first asked if she was alone, then locked the tavern's back door.

Martha C. Sheeks, 50, on duty at the King's Inn, 720 Randolph Ave., was marched behind the bar with her arm twisted behind her back, but not injured.

The robbery victim told officer Bob Arnold the bandit came in about 10:30 p.m. and asked if the owner was in, then came to the point when told she was by herself.

Guthrie said. The sand is indicative of probability that a rich oil pool lies trapped in strata thousands of feet below the surface of the earth.

Northlode Exploration Ltd. has another two years before the lease runs out on their property, leased from the University of California.

The well was designated University of California Regents Well Number One and was the first well bored in more than 36 years in the southern Orange County area.

Officer's Chance Check Nabs Mesa Burglary Suspect

One suspect in the literal house-cleaning burglary of a Costa Mesa home — captured by accident while the victim was still itemizing her several hundred dollar loss — faces a Jan. 17 arraignment in Superior Court.

Walter L. Calvin, 30, of 1102 W. Second St., Santa Ana, was bound over in Harbor District Judicial Court Tuesday, but a second suspect was released and charges against him dismissed.

Ray L. Cody, 32, of 527 Center St., Costa Mesa, was arrested with Calvin when a Santa Ana officer stopped to check the trailer full of household furnishings the pair were admiring.

A records check disclosed Calvin was wanted on warrants charging him with failure to appear in court on Costa Mesa traffic citations for faulty equipment.

He was also linked to a prior burglary at the King's Inn, 720 Randolph Ave., Costa Mesa, in which someone escaped with more than $100 when the owner arrived to clean up.

Goods taken from the home of Barbara W. Crowe, 3022 College Ave., were still being listed at the time Cody and Calvin were scooped up.

LBJ Wants To Extend 10% Surtax?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen says President Johnson wants the 10 percent income surtax extended, but "he would like some company" in recommending it to Congress.

There were indications Thursday Johnson wants President-elect Nixon to join him in the recommendation so the issue would not become the political controversy it was before Congress passed the surtax, at Johnson's request, last year.

The surtax expires June 30. It was originally imposed as an anti-inflation measure.

House Minority Leader Gerald R. Ford, said he understood Johnson was prepared to make a statement about the surtax in his State of the Union message or budget request, and that Nixon would then issue a statement of his own.

House Majority Leader Carl Albert said, however, the White House had received no word from Nixon Thursday afternoon.

Dirksen told newsmen Thursday that Johnson has drawn up a tentative budget of $195 billion for the fiscal year starting July 1, an increase of $10.6 billion over current federal spending.

But the Illinois Republican said the $195 billion was a "base figure" which could be changed, depending on whether Johnson decides in favor of recommending the surtax extension.

Officer, Bar Owner Slain By Bandits

DETROIT (AP) — An off-duty Detroit policeman, who disregarded his wife's plea that he not reach for his service revolver to break up a bar holdup, was shot to death early today. The bar owner also was killed.

Patrolman Stanley Rapaski, 35, and the bar owner, Casimir A. Czarwinski, were struck by at least 11 bullets, police said. A bar customer, Frank Piotrowski was beaten about the head by the bandits and was hospitalized.

Homicide detectives said the patrolman's wife and mother of his five children was having a quiet drink with her husband when two bandits, who had posed as customers for a few minutes, drew out pistols and announced a holdup.

The policeman, who was seated at a table, made a move towards his revolver and one of the bandits saw him and asked what he was doing.

When the patrolman replied, "I have a lot of money," the bandit took his wallet but failed to notice the gun tucked in the officer's waistband. Moments later, Rapaski reached for his gun and the shooting erupted.

The two gunmen fled.

McCarthy Mystifies Friends Again

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Once again, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy has succeeded in mystifying his friends, surprising his enemies and leaving everyone who has ever known him in a state of confusion.

He quit the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Thursday without notice, preserving a well-earned reputation as the Senate's most inscrutable man.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who is not given to expletives and most certainly not to profanity, was asked if he was perplexed. After a long draught on his pipe, he smiled, "I sure as hell was."

That seemed to sum up everyone's reaction to McCarthy's decision to relinquish his seat on the committee to Sen. Gale McGee (D-Wyo.)

McGee said he was "flabbergasted." He thought he would regain his seat on the committee, which he was forced to give up two years ago. But not that way. There was more irony. McCarthy was one of the nation's leading "doves"; McGee one of President Johnson's firmest supporters on Vietnam.

McCarthy explained his decision simply as a means of permitting McGee to regain his seat and pare the committee's size from 19 to 15 members.

But to do that, McCarthy had to give up the position where he has built his Senate career, where he has attained some seniority and which thrust him into his race for the presidency a year ago. After his defeat at the Democratic convention last August, he talked about working in the committee to accomplish the foreign policy goals of himself and his youthful followers. Now he has apparently abandoned that goal. McCarthy's departure from the committee followed by one week another act perplexing to his followers.

Hijack: To Cuba With Love

MIAMI (UPI) — A Purdue University student with a switchblade knife flew to Cuba with "love" Thursday. Seventy-eight other persons aboard an Eastern Air Lines jet reluctantly went along for the ride.

Known only as "Ronnie," the acne-scarred, 21-year-old hijacker of the Miami-to-Nassau airliner said he was a Communist who "hates the United States and Eastern Air Lines and loves Russia and Cuba."

The man used the knife to pull the third hijacking of the year and the second of an Eastern Air Lines plane in less than a week. The pilot, Capt. James E. Hord, radioed he was being hijacked at 1:30 p.m. The Boeing 727 landed in Havana at 2:51 and returned with six crewmembers and two passengers at 7:24 p.m.

The remaining 70 disgruntled passengers returned on an Eastern Lockheed Electra at 12:07 a.m. today.

Stewardess Joyce Ann Jernigan said the hijacker told her he was from Indianapolis and "that he went to Purdue University."

"He said he was a Communist, and that he loved his state, and that he loves Russia and he loves Cuba," she remembered.

"He made like he was sick and went into the lavatory and when he came out, I gave him a burp bag and then he sat down next to me on the jump seat on the rear of the plane," Miss Jernigan said.

"I hate to tell you this," he said, "but we're going to Cuba."

"I replied 'Oh no, we're not' and thought he was just joking."

"Oh yes, we are," he said and pulled out a switchblade seven or eight inches long which he poked into my side," she said indicating its length. "It was terrible."

2 Thunderbird Jets Crash; 1 Pilot Killed

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Two Super Sabre jets of the Air Force Thunderbirds acrobatic team collided in flight during practice maneuvers Thursday. One pilot was killed when his plane plummeted to the desert.

The Air Force said there was no evidence that Capt. Jack Thurman, 31, Waco, Tex., tried to eject before his F100D hit the ground about 60 miles north of here.

Uphill for Bike Trails

An intercity network of bicycle trails, planned once as a joint Costa Mesa-Newport Beach project, has hit a bit of uphill going and a topographical fork in the road.

Neither community has dropped the concept, but Newport Beach is pedalling ahead after two years' study, in which problems both local and which overlap city limits have cropped up. Newport Beach Planning Commission members will take up the question next week, but progress is slower up here on the mesa.

Traffic — a headache to any Costa Mesa motorist, cyclist, pedestrian or ricksha driver — is one of the biggest factors here, where it differs from the Newport Beach situation.

Major portions of a bikeway system must naturally coexist with established streets and highways, usually being laid along the shoulder and marked by colored lanes and directional signs.

Police officials and Costa Mesa Traffic Engineer Herb Burnham are quite understandably concerned about the potential effect on the city's many busy boulevards. Longer developed and boasting some lesser-traveled, picturesque side streets of a resort city, Newport Beach has fewer major traffic arteries with which to deal.

Costa Mesa Planning Director William L. Dunn says his colleagues are certainly not against the bikeway system, but they face a bigger job in analyzing traffic flow and controls.

"We certainly haven't forgotten about it," Dunn said. "Working out a safe, feasible bikeway network has simply hit some unforeseen uphill travel."

Money to implement the project, whatever its eventual scope, could also be a factor, just as it is in any undertaking.

An informal city committee headed by Planning Commissioner Don Hout and other specialists in the problems to be overcome, however, is still at work on the bikeways system.

Some of our fast-disappearing rural country will be included in the miles and miles of bicycle trails linking Newport Beach, Costa Mesa and nearby Orange County territory.

Hopefully, Dunn forecasts, Orange County Flood Control District channels can be included as a supplement. Useless in dry seasons, the channels are quite effectively used through various limited recreational access points elsewhere.

In any case, owners of Costa Mesa's 21,440, and Newport Beach's 12,000 registered bicycles, will soon have new and safer avenues for travel and enjoyment. It just takes longer than hoped for to do it right.

Roger Brown, Green Beret

Roger Brown, who loved to fly, came home to Costa Mesa this week after returning to America by jet transport from Vietnam.

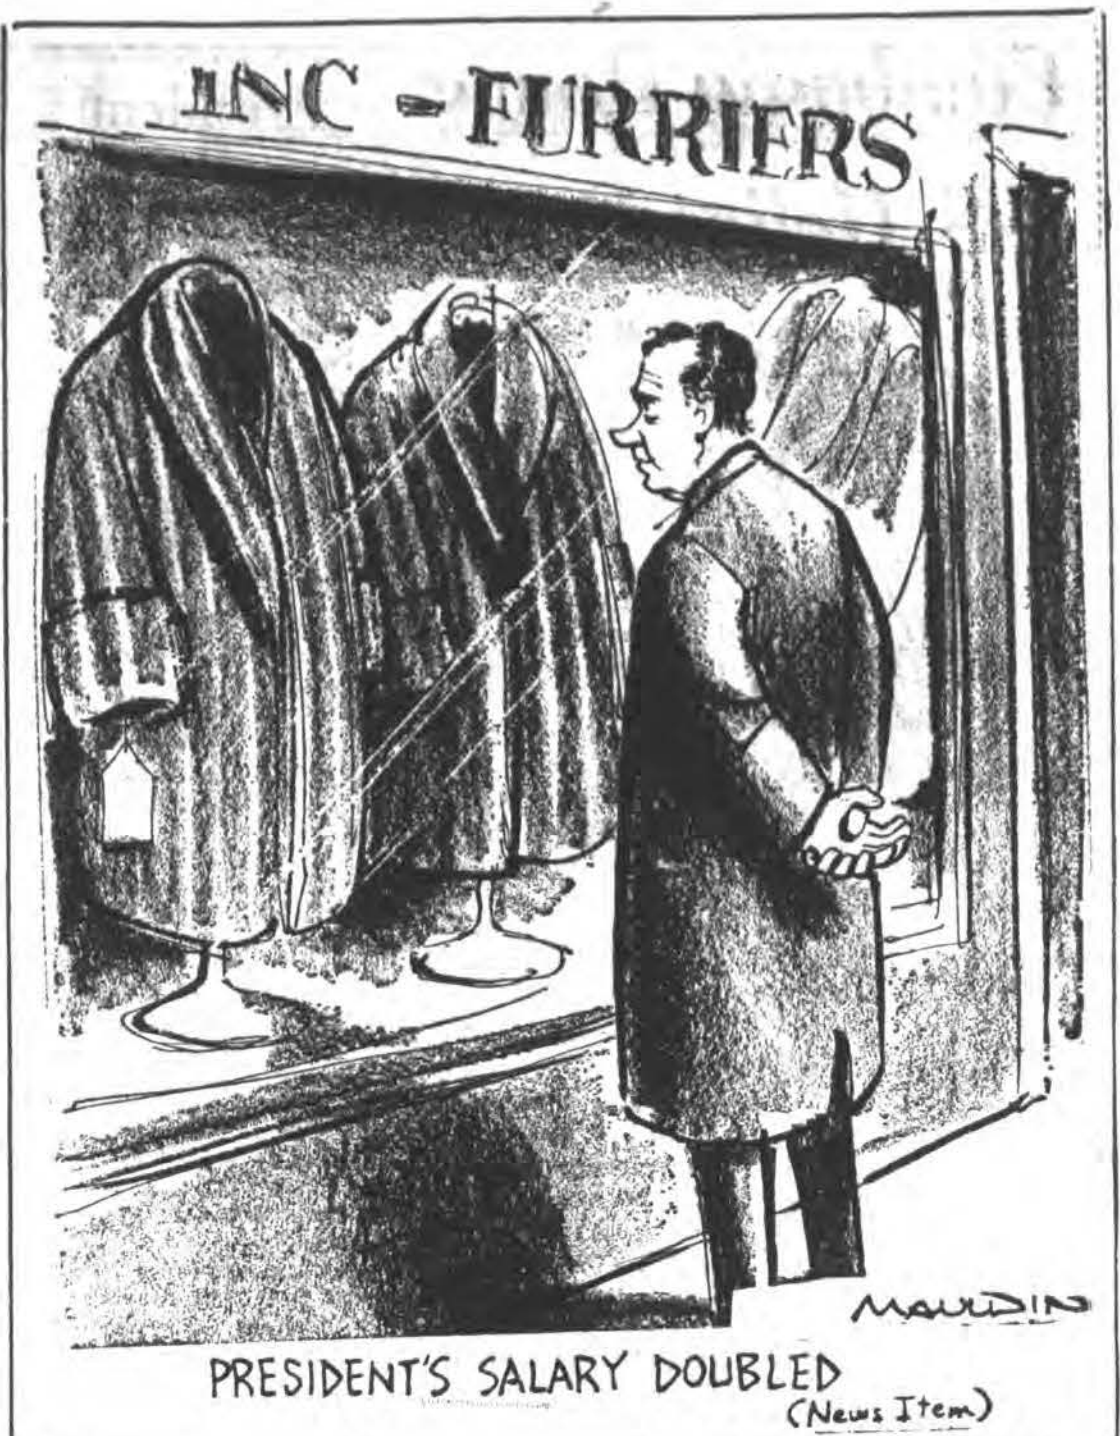

He died New Year's Day. He was 22 years old and he wanted to be a pilot. He was doing his job. Roger Brown was a Green Beret, in the crack outfit created by President John F. Kennedy.

He will be buried Saturday.

He was a specialist fifth class in the elite U.S. Army Special Forces. You could call him a tough Green Beret, but tough is a wasted word when you talk about them.

He was big — six feet-plus and 200 pounds-plus — and he died leading a company of small Oriental GIs on a mountain named Nui Cota. He was probably hit by rifle fire; maybe grenade fragments. His parents and sisters were not told. Last November, mine shrapnel scarred him.

Roger Brown did the most that can be asked of any man. He gave his life doing his duty for his country.

Paradox of Leadership, Responsibility

Sydney Harris

It is a melancholy fact of history that revolutions take on the color of the regimes they overthrow. The French and Russian revolutions are nearly perfect examples of this: Oppression was not eliminated, it merely passed into different hands.

The new movements of revolt in American society seem not to understand that a culture can be changed only in an evolutionary way; if we get a complete bouleversment, then there is merely a transfer of power, not a sharing of power.

The real problem of power is that of authoritarian personalities, who tend to rise in any system, left, right, or center. The men who get into office, form committees, run things, engage in vanguard activities, are more similar than they are different, whatever their differing ideologies. With few exceptions, they are aggressive, sadistic and power-oriented.

BUT SOCIETY can no longer tolerate such people, of whatever political complexion, for the realities of the nuclear age (in which aggression may be equated with race suicide) demand personalities that are conciliatory, self-actualizing, and value-oriented.

Ever since Plato enunciated the proposition that "the only men fit to be given power are those who do not crave it," the human race has been struggling with the paradox of leadership and responsibility. The average man does not want to accept responsibility for decisions in the public area; and those who do want the responsibility usually want it for reasons that are inimicable to the long-range welfare of society.

THE PROBLEM of the authoritarian personality cuts across the whole spectrum of political beliefs. Leaders out of power are always for "justice," for "humaneness," for "liberty," and all such virtuous abstractions; once in power, however, they increasingly find excuses and rationalizations for injustice, inhumanity and repression. Marx's noble idea was flawed by Lenin's pragmatism, and shattered by Stalin's brutal wickedness, and it could not have been otherwise.

Politics is not merely a matter of morals, as we are grudgingly beginning to recognize; it is also a matter of psychology. Movements are begun by those who like to dominate others, and even a just cause is eventually undone by the sado-aggressive personalities who take command of it.

"The scrupulous and the just," said Conrad, "the noble, humane and devoted natures; the unselfish and the intelligent may begin a movement — but it passes away from them. They are victims, not leaders, in the end."

Reds Show Nuclear Gain

WASHINGTON — With its eighth nuclear weapons test, Communist China has vaulted back ahead of France on the grim performance chart of the nuclear club.

A final appraisal of the Chinese test must await detailed analysis of the debris blasted into the atmosphere last month at the Lop Nor testing station. Certain implications already are clear, however, from available information.

In disclosing the blast on December 27, the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission estimated its yield at three megatons. The AEC announcement said the yield, equivalent to three million tons of TNT, was "about the same as the sixth Chinese test which took place on June 17, 1967."

NO MENTION was made, in the one paragraph AEC statement, of the seventh Chinese explosion in December 1967. That test, which generated a TNT equivalent of less than 20 kilotons, is widely assumed to have been a "dud" — an H-bomb in which only the atomic trigger actually exploded.

With its announced three megaton yield, there is every reason to believe that the recent Chinese blast was a thermonuclear (H-bomb) explosion. That suggests a successful test which puts Peking back on the road to a hydrogen warhead for the missiles it is developing. U.S. experts believe the Chinese explosion took place, after an airdrop, well above ground. That is also the implication of reports from Japan that the blast has produced relatively little radioactive fall-out.

DEFEND THE FRANC — In a series of nuclear tests last summer, French scientists detonated their first thermonuclear explosion. The Chinese had done no testing since their reported dud, and there was much satisfaction for France in reaching the H-bomb plateau.

Subsequently, however, in the weeks which saw a speculative attack on the stability of the franc, Gen. Charles de Gaulle announced that the French testing program would be halted as a part of an austerity program designed to protect the currency. So the French are on the sidelines for the present.

As they ponder the long-range implications of the recent Chinese test, U.S. intelligence experts face a couple of tough questions. The first, of course, is the make-up of the Chinese nuclear explosive. Much can be determined, in that regard, from the debris analysis.

A MORE DIFFICULT question, debated behind-the-scenes by China experts, is whether the cultural revolution of Mao Tse-tung has deeply disrupted Peking's drive for a nuclear striking force.

Initially, U.S. experts believed the activities of the Red Guard had set back China's missile program but left its nuclear energy program relatively free from disruptive delays. Reports last summer suggested that the testing program had also been affected.

Early reports of the recent Chinese test do not suggest that delays, if any, have seriously interfered with China's progress in atomic development.

Maximum Contact, Minimum Hurt

By GEORGE R. HOFF, Ph.D.

Much of the writing in psychology today — or, yesterday, for that matter — implies that psychological defensiveness is a major obstacle to mental and emotional health. Defensiveness, so defined, means "Any psychological instrumentality by which a person automatically protects himself against unpleasantness, shame, anxiety or loss of self-esteem; it is usually (if not always) acquired unintentionally, and the person is unaware of its operation."

Therefore, one of the major goals of psychotherapy is to help people peel off various layers of psychological armor and deal with the vicissitudes in life in a nondefensive and open fashion.

THIS IS A NOBLE goal, because most people don't give themselves credit for being able to cope without unconscious and uncontrollable defense mechanisms. But, perhaps the pendulum has swung so far in the other direction that non-defensiveness is being confused with anti-defensiveness.

Everyday Problems

For example, the statement, "You're being defensive" implying that defensiveness is a "no-no." Members of what may be termed the "Antidefensive Cult" insist that a healthy person goes through life completely defenseless. Transparency is a badge of honor. Honesty, authenticity, openness, vulnerability, etc., are goals to be pursued by those who hope to arrive at the ideal state of self-actualization. Many who think they are there act "healthier than thou."

THERE CAN BE definite status in being defenseless. People admire someone who doesn't have to hide behind a barricade of rationalizations, excuses, projections, repressions, reaction formations, and such.

But could antidefensiveness be a defense? Is it possible that someone who prides himself on being completely defenseless — "Here I am in all my vulnerable glory" — may be insulating himself from mixing it up on a person-to-person basis? How do you handle a person who throws himself on your mercy? Gently!

RESEARCH ON children has shown that one of the primary developmental tasks at each stage of growth is to maintain and facilitate personal integrity in the face of environmental demands. Unless a child establishes increasingly sophisticated psychological defenses, he remains a "babe in the woods" whose repertoire of responses is inadequate and rather pitiful compared with the complex milieu in which he is functioning.

Therefore, the primary issue in question is not "to have or to have not" defenses but, rather, which ones really help one be oneself?

SECONDARILY, when are they appropriate and when are they not?

Wentworth Dillon stated it more poetically, in his "Essay on Translated Verse," when he cautioned, Immodest words admit of no defense For want of decency is want of sense.

The fact is that everybody will use defenses as a buffer against cascading reality or mushrooming impulses, because nobody is fully equipped to lead an emotionally naked life. Moreover, the longer we wear our defensive armor, the more difficult it is to suddenly shed it and staunchly stand there, exposing pink and tender emotional skin.

IT WOULD APPEAR, then, that the sane thing to do is to conduct an inventory of those defenses which promote or detract from living life to its fullest. The promoters would be those allowing maximum contact with minimum hurt while the detractors are the ones which create hurt through lack of contact.

Ultimately, the best defense against threatening environmental, social and emotional forces is a thorough knowledge of oneself and one's world.

Arabs Destroy Instead of Creating

To the Editor:

The Middle East has been a trouble spot for at least 20 years and there is little chance that any type of peace will emerge in the near future. The two questions that have been obscured are why is there trouble in that part of the world and just what does the violence mean?

The Israeli nation was set up so that members of Judaism would once again have a homeland. Many of the original settlers immigrated from Europe and they set about with a religious zeal to transform a desert into a veritable paradise. While the Israelis were creating, the Arab leaders continued the age-old custom of intrigue so as to maintain absolute control over their regimes. There is a widespread belief that the Arab leaders are jealous of the Israelis and want to appropriate the results of years of hard work. This premise seems reasonable and yet there is very little substance to such a belief.

MOST, IF NOT ALL, of the Arab leaders who insist that Israel must be destroyed have a life and death control over their respective populations. All of the leaders have more than enough money to buy all the worldly pleasures that their appetites dictate. They are revered by the peasants as though they were gods in human form. Their only wish is that the Middle East should remain as it was in their father's time and to this end they are willing to sacrifice their wealth and the lives of their people.

The paradise that has been created by the Israelis is a threat to the status quo in the Middle East. This small nation is a threat because any Arab can look across the border and discover that what was once inhospitable desert has been transformed into fertile farm land.

By George

Dear George: You lazy bum! You rat! If you were married you wouldn't have the courage to say a man should make his wife do all the work!

FURIOUS

Dear Furious: I am married. However, I write under a pen name. (My wife thinks I'm a burglar.)

Mailbox

Letters from readers are welcome. Normally writers should convey their message in 300 words or less. The right to condense letters to fit space or eliminate libel is reserved. All letters must include signature and mailing address, but names may be withheld on request if sufficient reason is apparent.

HOW LONG do you think it would take the poor and starving peasants to wonder why they as the chosen people of Allah should suffer while the Jews live in paradise? This possibility is very apparent to the Arab leaders and they have chosen to destroy the paradise rather than create plenty for their own people.

Those of us who have a Christian background believe that one is obligated to forgive one's enemies. The inhabitants of the Middle East reward their friends while dispensing justice to their enemies. These two beliefs are so extremely opposite that what seems reasonable to an Arab or an Israeli seems incomprehensible to a Christian. Thus, if one wants to understand the violence that is accruing, one must accept the beliefs of the combatants and reject any conclusions based on Christian beliefs.

THE ARAB LEADERS have repeatedly said that they are preparing for another attempt at destroying Israel.

However, they have the present problem of focusing the eyes of their populations on the goal of conquest rather than on the poverty conditions that exist in all Arab nations.

The terrorist attacks on Israel accomplish both of these objectives and at little expense. Since the Israelis believe in dispensing justice their leaders need not justify acts of retribution.

Of course, one way of slowing down the Arab buildup is to force them to deploy troops to protect potential Israeli targets. Thus, for all practical purposes the Six Day War has turned into a war that will only end if the Arab leaders decide to become creative or until the Israeli nation and its people are destroyed.

Home Is a Dangerous Place

Hal Boyle

Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Home is a dangerous place, probably more dangerous than where you work. Each year 19 million Americans — 106 out of every 1,000 persons — are hurt in home accidents.

Life is getting more leisurely for the average American. One hundred years ago he worked 65½ hours a week. Today, working only 40½ hours weekly, he earns enough to afford creature comforts that were unavailable to kings in the 19th century.

BAGGY EYES aren't by any means an indication that one has been imbibing too much of the cup that cheers. Dr. McCarthy DeMere, a Memphis plastic surgeon, says they are often a congenital condition caused by weak membranes around the eye socket.

Where does poverty begin? Economist Leon Keyserling believes any family is deprived if it has an annual income of less than $6,000 and faces actual poverty if its income is under $4,000.

During the 1880s some 100,000 wooden Indians stood outside U.S. tobacco shops — about half the actual number of live Indians at that time.

THE ACES AND pains of age are real, not just psychological. The National Center for Health Statistics reports that five out of six persons 65 or older have one or more chronic disorders. The most common: Heart disease and arthritic ailments.

Quotable notables: "It is taken for granted that by lunch time the average man has been so beaten down by life that he will believe anything." — Christopher Morley.

Education pays off: If you are only an eighth grade graduate, you can expect to earn only $247,000 by the time you're 65, according to the U.S. Bureau of the Census. But a high school graduate will earn $341,000 by retirement time and a college graduate more than $500,000.

HEALTH TIP: Do ill-fitting dentures irritate your mouth and gum tissues? If so, better have them fixed immediately. Research in Japan has disclosed that such dentures can cause oral cancers.

Television is being used as a crime fighter in Liverpool, England. City officials installed television cameras to help police keep an eye on streets in high-crime areas. Celestial sanitation department: Rain and snow are among our best trash collectors. According to one estimate, they are responsible for cleansing the atmosphere of 80 percent of its pollutants.

WORTH REMEMBERING: "Inflation, as we understand it, is when everybody is so rich that no one can afford anything."

Reeds ... In the Wind

A young man dropped into the office this morning to tell me all about illegal drugs and why he uses them. His visit was rather unplanned and although we talked for a while I did not write down his name. Perhaps it is just as well that I did not record for posterity his identification for the reasons his words clearly reveal.

He began by pointing out that there has been much talk on the topic of drugs of all kinds. He said he would like to "do some painting on the picture of teen-age drug abuse."

"As a high school student I could tell of the campus drug usage a year ago. It's a funny thing that parents are just waking up to the facts today."

"Drug laws are the root of our problems. To begin with, legislators have been so stupid as to classify marijuana as a narcotic thereby dressing it up as a monster for the public."

"Adults are trying to force laws upon young people that are so stupid that the intelligent teenagers have to laugh at them."

"They can't believe in the drug laws today because they know more about the situation than the most up-to-date state representative. The laws don't make enough sense to hold back any teen-ager."

"Adults should be happy to note that the obviously safe drugs are the ones most commonly in use by students, such as marijuana. If parents could realize this, they might begin to grasp the idea that maybe the young people do know what they're doing and not just messing around with those 'horrible narcotics.'"

"As a young person I am proud of the fact that we have kept our parents behind a cloak of ignorance. Yet, it also bothers me. If adults continue to remain stupid our problems with the law will continue indefinitely."

"If the lawmakers would learn all the facts and then the parents, we might have a half-way decent world to live in."

These are only a few comments which the young man wanted me to pass on so that grownups could take them "seriously."

Sewer and water improvement projects in the Juarez Colony section of Fountain Valley are expected to begin Jan. 15, according to City Engineer Wayne Osborne.

Look at Reinecke Reagan Pick Called 'Vote Getter'

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Republican Gov. Reagan gains a potential running mate with proven vote-getting appeal in the crucial suburbs by choosing Rep. Ed Reinecke as lieutenant governor.

Reinecke, 45, a Republican, has won three congressional elections by increasing larger margins in his big Southern California district, despite a slight Democratic registration lead.

The district includes part of the heavily suburban and populous San Fernando Valley in the Los Angeles area. And, while they tend to be Democratic in registration, these voters have been jumping to the Republican side in recent elections.

They backed Reagan for governor in 1966 and helped deliver California to Richard M. Nixon in the presidential election this year.

YOUNG, ENERGETIC

"Young, energetic, a vote getter in the party with a future in public life," is how Reagan characterized Reinecke at a news conference.

He announced he was picking the congressman to succeed Republican Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch, designated to be the new secretary of health, welfare and education.

Reagan hinted he was considering running for a second four-year term next year, and said his choice was influenced by the help Reinecke might provide the ticket.

"This was one of the things," said Reagan. As for his own plans, he said, "I have told you before that I would be reluctant to leave a job half finished."

In his first race, in 1964, Reinecke defeated a veteran and well known Democratic assemblyman, Tom Bane, for the congressional seat by a 5,000-vote margin.

Hunt New Airport

Grand Jury Asks Curtailing Jets

By TOM BARLEY
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Orange County's 1968 Grand Jury Thursday urged the Board of Supervisors to halt the expansion of jet passenger service at Orange County Airport and take immediate action to select a site for a new regional county airport.

In a special report prefacing a 64-page resume of its year-long investigations, the jury warns that continued escalation of jet service at the county facility will project crisis into chaos.

"It could create rapid deterioration of property values in one of the most valuable residential areas of the county and mean a subsequent tax loss," the airport survey notes.

"Noise and air pollution nuisances will cause continued harassment of taxpayers and costly damage suits will follow," the report warns. "Locations (of regional airports) should take in the factor of jet smoke drift across the county, estimated at approximately 1,000 tons of pollutants per year."

And the Grand Jury report, issued by its foreman D. R. Colegrove of Newport Beach, warns "it is imperative that clear definition be made of the role of the present Orange County Airport during the next five years or longer."

"Is it going to be developed for maximum air flight use now? Or are limitations going to be established so that realistic, liveable arrangements between public use of airport facilities and use by members of the public of land under and near approach and take off areas can continue?"

The jury also urges in two subsequent ### recommendations:

"That county supervisors clarify the scope of involvement it desires of the airport commission and the role of the director of aviation regarding transmission of information to and counsel from the airport commission."

"That communications between the airport and the county's Real Property Services and Building Services be better coordinated."

The report is in marked contrast to the scathing condemnation of county functions issued by the 1967 Grand Jury. No mention is made of that earlier report, or the warning issued by the outgoing 1967 panel to the 1968 jury in the volume released today. Foreman Colegrove does, in fact, go out of his way to laud the supervisors and county officials for "the good government that exists in our county. The supervisors, the county administrative officer and most department heads are doing a good job and can take pride in the results of their efforts," Colegrove states.

The jury does, however, censure the board for what appears to be the supervisors' disregard of a Grand Jury letter issued on March 22, 1968.

That letter recommended that further leases or allocation of facilities at the Orange County Airport be withheld pending evaluation of the William L. Pereira and Associates report.

"It has come to our attention," the report states, "that administrative decisions have been made allocating additional operators and operations at the airport since our letter was received. Inquiries by the Grand Jury reveal two carriers to be operating without valid leases, increasing the present congestion at the terminal."

In other reports, the Grand Jury urges the expansion of what it calls "far from adequate" mental health facilities in the county.

"The requirements of adequate care will not be met until the same level of treatment is available for mental health patients that is provided for patients suffering from other major illness," the report warns.

This situation exists, the Grand Jury notes, "despite the efforts of dedicated groups of volunteer workers handicapped by the lack of funds and apathy of a public not yet educated to the need."

And, noting that 1,000 juvenile court cases per month involve the use of narcotics the jury urges "efforts to interest parents in developing a knowledge and awareness of the problems."

The Grand Jury endorses the exposure of juvenile narcotics problems by Superior Court Judge Bruce Sumner and Chief Probation Officer Margaret Grier through the Narcotics Council meetings recently organized by both county officials.

Recent suggestions for the creation by the Grand Jury of a public information committee which might better inform the public of the panel's deliberations were quickly rejected by the 1968 group.

"A Grand Jury Public Information Committee could prepare many releases which might be blown up to any size desired by newspaper editors," the jury icily notes.

This could result "in much publicity but not necessarily in the kind of public relations that the jury seeks to maintain throughout its term of service," the report adds.

"This panel has performed its duties earnestly," the report says. "Fanfare was not thought to be a necessary adjunct."

Mrs. Murdy Funeral Rites Held Today

Memorial services were conducted today for long time Huntington Beach resident Norma L. Murdy, wife of retired state Senator John A. Murdy Jr.

Mrs. Murdy died Tuesday at Hoag Memorial Hospital in Newport Beach at the age of 69 after an illness of several weeks.

Private burial services were held Thursday at Westminster Memorial Park.

Memorial services today were held at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Newport Beach, with the Rev. Charles H. Dierenfield officiating.

Mrs. Murdy was a native Californian and a graduate of the University of Washington.

She and the former senator, married for 45 years, divided their time between their Huntington Beach home and Sacramento until he retired. For the past several years, they made their home at 334 Via Lido Nord, Newport Beach.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Murdy's survivors include a son, John A. Murdy III of Newport Beach; two daughters, Mrs. George E. Trotter Jr. and Mrs. Willis Miller, both of Tustin; a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Hillis of Los Angeles, and 14 grandchildren.

The family has suggested that those wishing to do so may make memorial contributions to the Hoag Memorial Hospital fund.

Village View Parents Request Family Life Film

Parents of some students at Village View School in Huntington Beach have asked the Ocean View school trustees to allow the showing of a series of films on family life to the students.

The letter from 24 parents including Mrs. Robert Moorhead, president of the school's PTA, was received by the board of trustees this week.

Trustees asked district administrators to form a parents advisory committee to review the films on family life education prior to showing them at a program attended by parents and students.

Films listed in the series include "Human and Animal Beginnings," "Especially for Boys," "Boy to Man," and "A Quarter Million Teen-agers."

Beach Woman's Claim Denied

The Orange County Board of Supervisors has denied and referred to County Counsel Adrian Kyper a claim for $50,000 in damages filed with the board by La Vonne Carson of Huntington Beach.

The routine action came after the board received written charges from the woman claiming the county is to blame for an auto accident in which she was injured last Aug. 4.

Mrs. Carson, 17412 Koledo Lane, said she was driving south on Bolsa Chica Road and ran into an iron gate placed across the roadway at Los Patos Avenue. There were no warning signs, or lights, she charged.

Soccer Can Be Soggy

Soccer is an international game played in all kinds of weather, as 10-year-olds of Eastside Soccer Association, Bellevue, Wash., found out when they played scheduled game in sea of mud. Jimmy Simpkins, a defensive player, stands ankle deep in the stuff, probably hoping play won't come his way for a while. Quagmire was result of melting snow and rain.

Realtors Dinner To Be Laugh-in

Members of the Huntington Valley Board of Realtors, their guests and many civic leaders of West Orange County have been invited to the Jan. 18 installation dinner of the realtors, billed as a "wild and merry laugh-in."

The show begins about 7:30 p.m. at the Sheraton-Beach Inn. Robert Meriman, manager of a local bank, and Jim Marshall of a title company, will welcome the realtors and their guests to "beautiful downtown Huntington Beach," according to Mrs. George Galkin, entertainment committee chairman.

The duo will be the Dan and Dick of the Laugh-In. Don Veitch and Pearl Wheeler, as Bonnie and Clyde, are to be caught cancelling an escrow with machine guns while Joyce Manginelli follows their instructions.

Realtor Roger Slates will be installed as new president of the board and Phillip McNamee as vice president. Ticket information may be obtained from the Board of Realtors, 847-6093.

Pair Pleads 'No Contest' To Prostitution Charges

Following the example set earlier by their employer, a pair of Costa Mesa sauna house masseuses facing prostitution charges entered no-contest pleas in court Wednesday.

The identical pleas by the wife of the owner of Elite Sauna, 2826 Newport Blvd., and two women who were set for trial in Harbor District Judicial Court Wednesday are technical admissions of guilt under the law.

Mrs. Mieke Pridgeon, 35, of 17421 Koledo Lane, Huntington Beach, was fined $150 Wednesday and placed on one year's summary probation.

Mrs. Marilyn Ball, 32, of 1745 Labrador Drive, Costa Mesa, was fined $65 and also placed on one year's summary probation.

Mrs. Tetsuko Bailey, 28, of 10272 Pua Drive, Huntington Beach, paid a $150 fine and was placed on a year's summary probation last month on charges of running a prostitution operation.

Russell Bailey, husband of the first defendant to enter a no-contest plea, applied for a required conditional use permit to conduct the sauna business after the September arrests.

Based on a recommendation by Police Chief Roger E. Neth, councilmen delayed action on the matter until disposition of one or all of the court cases.

The council denied the permit on Neth's advice Monday night, thus forcing eventual closure of the sauna, which was raided by local police and Orange County District Attorney's investigators.

Under California law, the nolo contendere, or no-contest plea, is a technical admission that original charges were true, but prohibits any civil court action against defendants, based on the initial arrest.

Pick from the low-priced three.

Bug. Comes as a sedan or convertible. Standard items: windshield washer, rear window defogger, back-up lights and anti-theft steering/ignition lock. Options include: automatic stickshift and sliding steel sunroof.

Squareback. It's a sedan with a trunk in the front and a station wagon in the back. (Fold down the back seat and capacity almost doubles.) Our beautiful Fastback version has a trunk in the front and another trunk in the back.

Standard items: electronic fuel injection (no carburetor), front wheel disc brakes, windshield washer, rear window defogger, back-up lights and steering/ignition lock. Options include: fully automatic transmission and sliding steel sunroof.

Box. Comes as a 9-seater, 7-seater or campmobile that seats 5 and sleeps 5. (The Box is only 1 1/4 feet longer than The Bug, but it holds twice as much as a normal station wagon.) Standard items: sliding side door, rear window defogger, back-up lights and steering/ignition lock. Options include: sliding steel sunroof (lets you stand up a sapling or a grandfather clock).

All of our models get along just fine without a radiator (no water to boil or freeze). They thrive on just 5 pints (not quarts) of oil. And plain old regular gas will get you up to 23 mpg (The Box). Or 27 mpg (The Bug).

Defense Plan

Secret Questions For Sirhan Jury

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Some questioning of prospective jurors in the Sirhan Bishara Sirhan trial will be conducted behind closed doors, the defense says.

Grant B. Cooper, one of three lawyers defending the 24-year-old Jordanian charged with murdering Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, revealed plans for the secret questioning during an impromptu news conference Thursday at the end of the third day of Sirhan's trial. The trial was in recess today. Jury selection is expected to start Monday.

Cooper said Judge Herbert V. Walker wants prospective jurors cross-examined individually in the privacy of his chambers in areas "of a sensitive nature."

Cooper defined as sensitive any questioning about opinions prospective jurors might have on Sirhan's guilt or innocence — "What they may have seen on television or read in the newspaper."

But Cooper said questions about the death penalty would be asked in open court. He said the secret questioning was "unprecedented in this jurisdiction."

Sirhan appeared for the nine-minute court session, then retired to the judge's chambers with defense attorneys and prosecutors to hear private testimony from radio newsmen about publicity in the case.

The defendant was dressed in a new blue-gray suit and tie. He was accompanied by two guards.

While the judge spoke in opening the session, Sirhan turned in his chair and, eyebrows arched, searched the rear row of the courtroom for his family.

For the first time since his trial began Tuesday, his mother Mary and his brothers Adel, 29, and Munir, 21, all were absent. Sirhan appeared disappointed.

Most of the day's proceedings took place in chambers as the defense tried to show Sirhan's case was damaged by news stories and similar coverage.

Ten radio newsmen and a man who runs a private broadcast monitoring service were subpoenaed to testify in the chambers.

Each was instructed not to discuss publicly what was said — and all followed instructions.

"Boys, I've been given the warning," said Herb Humphreys, news editor for station KFWB, Los Angeles. "So hello and goodbye."

Before the jury selection begins Monday, the defense is expected to make another closed-door attempt before Walker to have the list of prospective jurors set aside.

Saigon Claims Enemy Losses 6 Times Allies'

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government claimed today 191,307 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops were killed in 1968, nearly six times allied losses.

But North Vietnam called 1968 "the best year so far in the Vietnamese people's struggle against U.S. aggression."

The Saigon government put South Vietnamese losses last year at 17,466 killed. The U.S. Command has not released official figures for the year, but American battle deaths through Dec. 28 were 14,521.

Despite its claim of heavy losses suffered by the enemy, the government in a year-end review estimated total enemy strength at 300,100 Viet Cong, North Vietnamese and political cadre. It claimed 151,000 North Vietnamese troops had infiltrated the South in 1968 — an assessment vastly different from unofficial U.S. estimates of 225,000 to 230,000 men.

The U.S. Command does not publish official estimates of enemy strength, but reliable American sources said the South Vietnamese estimate was considered "high."

In addition to those killed in action, the Saigon government said the enemy lost 21,060 men taken captive and 17,597 who defected under the "Open Arms" program. This accounted for a total enemy manpower loss of 229,954 last year, the government said.

Campus Turmoil Spreads To East Coast Colleges

From Wire Services

Student protests are disrupting classes at several East Coast colleges in addition to the troubles on California campuses.

Queens College, one of a half dozen divisions of the City University of New York, prepared to reopen today after a two-day shutdown that followed the violent takeover of some offices by Negro and Puerto Rican students.

A spokesman said, "We really don't know what will happen. We're just hopeful." About 10 percent of the 25,000 students are nonwhite.

Negro students remained in control of vital centers of two Eastern schools: Brandeis University at Wallham, Mass., and Swarthmore College, just outside of Philadelphia.

Amnesty was extended again today for militant Negro students defying a court order to vacate the Brandeis University communications center.

A delegation of the mutinous students met with President Morris B. Abram who said he was extending the 9 a.m. amnesty deadline pending outcome of the meeting.

The meeting went on under the shadow of a threat by the Negroes to burn down every building on the campus.

Approximately 200 students, mostly white, marched around the captured communications center in support of the action.

The students seized Ford Hall, which houses the university switchboard and other communications facilities, Wednesday afternoon to dramatize 10 demands for improvement of school conditions for members of their race.

Mediator Called Over AP Strike

NEW YORK (UPI) — A federal mediator met today with negotiators for the Associated Press to explore possible avenues toward a settlement of the Wire Service Guild strike against the news service.

The mediator, George Byrnes, said he would meet later today with representatives of the striking WSG and would decide after that meeting whether a joint session might prove fruitful. The strike began Thursday.

Zambia Urging African Invasion Of Rhodesia

LONDON (AP) — President Kenneth Kaunda of Zambia today urged a military invasion of Rhodesia to topple the white regime of Prime Minister Ian Smith.

Kaunda's speech represented the first open appeal at the Commonwealth Conference for the use of force.

The African leader urged that a military invasion now would mean less bloodshed in the long run.

Urging the 27 other Commonwealth members to help the African guerrillas operating in Rhodesia, he told the conference they were already receiving support from Communist countries, China in particular.

President Hastings Banda of Malawi argued earlier that force would not be practical. He was quoted as saying that if his capital was used as a base for military action against Rhodesia it would be destroyed.

Banda was the only speaker of the 21 taking part to back explicitly the British plan for a compromise with Rhodesia.

Other African leaders all said that majority rule for Rhodesia's four million Africans must remain a Commonwealth goal.

Fit for President Julie Serves Dad Birthday Dinner

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. (UPI) — The President-elect and his lady have nothing but praise for Julie Nixon Eisenhower's homemaking skills.

"I'm surprised she learned to cook so well," said Richard M. Nixon, as he left the flower-bedecked Northampton apartment where his eldest daughter had just served up a birthday dinner.

"I've had the best foods around the world and I think this is up to any of them," Nixon said.

Mrs. Nixon identified the dish as chicken divan — baked with broccoli and rice.

"It's a new dish for her. She's a good cook," boasted the proud mother.

The chicken along with a jellied salad and a store-bought chocolate birthday cake, was served on a card table.

"That's her dining table," explained the future First Lady, "and we had two extra tables where she just pulled up chairs."

An aide said there were two kinds of ice cream — "red, white, and chocolate."

Nixon Assembles His Cabinet

NEW YORK (UPI) — President-elect Richard M. Nixon assembled his cabinet today for meetings with batteries of experts who have been studying the problems they will face after taking office.

Members of 22 task forces appointed by Nixon two months ago to develop programs for coping with the wide range of domestic problems are reporting their findings in two days of meetings with cabinet designates and other high-ranking officials in the Nixon administration.

Evelle J. Younger, the district attorney of Los Angeles and chairman of the crime and law enforcement task force, was scheduled to make the first report in a session with John Mitchell and Robert Finch, who will be attorney general and secretary of health, education and welfare after Nixon takes office Jan. 20.

Storm Claims Three Lives Subzero Cold Grips Midwest and Great Lakes Region

U.S. Summary

The upper Midwest and Great Lakes region continued to lie in the grip of subzero cold today as a violent winter storm swirled across the section Thursday.

The storm claimed several lives, marooned travelers in towering snowdrifts, put a crimp in air traffic and caused the closing of hundreds of schools.

However, in contrast to the frigid northern parts of the country, Florida continued to bask in summertime weather. Relatively mild and clear conditions also persisted in the far Southwestern states.

The icy storm, which dumped heavy snows in the North Thursday, also unleashed gale-force winds, sleet and freezing rain to the south and east of the snow belt.

The Eastern Seaboard was plagued by ice while drifting snow closed mountainous areas of the Pacific Northwest.

In Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan, winds whipped up to feet of new snow into drifts which blocked some roads.

Hotels and homes were overloaded in Maryland and St. Peter, in southern Minnesota, where travelers were marooned when 45-mile-an-hour winds blizzarded snow drifts up to five feet.

In Wisconsin, the storm was blamed at least in part for three deaths.

In Chicago, bitterly cold weather with temperatures falling no higher than 10 degrees above zero forecast for today by the Weather Bureau. A mass of frigid Arctic air from western Alaska was expected to govern the Midwest weather for the next four days.

All schools in three upper Michigan counties were closed Thursday and many in Wisconsin were shut down, including Northland College at Ashland, Wis.

Cambodia Downs U.S. Helicopter

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Cambodian chief of state Prince Norodom Sihanouk said today Cambodia's anti-aircraft guns shot down a U.S. helicopter earlier this week, killing the three-man crew.

Sihanouk said the aircraft was shot down in the Cambodian province of Mondulkiri, nine miles inside Cambodian territory.

The death of the three airmen was the most serious incident involving Americans in several years. Sihanouk last month released 11 crewmen from six months captivity after their landing craft strayed into Cambodian territory on the Mekong River.

Sihanouk did not identify the three dead men.

He said the area where the aircraft was shot down was continually overflown by U.S. helicopters who shot up public works trucks and other vehicles. To stop this he had anti-aircraft batteries installed, he said.

Earlier in the day, Sihanouk said he hoped for a reconciliation with the United States and neighboring Thailand if they would recognize and respect Cambodia's frontiers.

The Cambodian chief of state, who broke off diplomatic relations with the United States several years ago, said he would like to see his relations improved with the two nations so long as this would not entail going against his traditional allies.

Speaking at the opening of a housing project partially financed by Communist China, Sihanouk said Cambodia was seeking "new friends" while not denying its "traditional friends."

McCarthy Mystifies Friends Again

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Once again, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy has succeeded in mystifying his friends, surprising his enemies and leaving everyone who has ever known him in a state of confusion.

He quit the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Thursday without notice, preserving a well-earned reputation as the Senate's most inscrutable man.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who is not given to expletives and most certainly not to profanity, was asked if he was perplexed. After a long draught on his pipe, he smiled, "I sure as hell was."

That seemed to sum up everyone's reaction to McCarthy's decision to relinquish his seat on the committee to Sen. Gale McGee (D-Wyo.).

McGee said he was "flabbergasted." He thought he would regain his seat on the committee, which he was forced to give up two years ago. But not that way. There was more irony. McCarthy was one of the nation's leading "doves"; McGee one of President Johnson's firmest supporters on Vietnam.

McCarthy explained his decision simply as a means of permitting McGee to regain his seat and pare the committee's size from 19 to 15 members.

But to do that, McCarthy had to give up the position where he has built his Senate career, where he has attained some seniority and which thrust him into his race for the presidency a year ago. After his defeat at the Democratic convention last August, he talked about working in the committee to accomplish the foreign policy goals of himself and his youthful followers. Now he has apparently abandoned that goal.

McCarthy's departure from the committee followed by one week another act perplexing to his followers.

Hijack: To Cuba With Love

MIAMI (UPI) — A Purdue University student with a switchblade knife flew to Cuba with "love" Thursday. Seventy-eight other persons aboard an Eastern Air Lines jet reluctantly went along for the ride.

Known only as "Ronnie," the acne-scarred, 21-year-old hijacker of the Miami-to-Nassau airliner said he was a Communist who "hates the United States and Eastern Air Lines and loves Russia and Cuba."

The man used the knife to pull the third hijacking of the year and the second of an Eastern Air Lines plane in less than a week. The pilot, Capt. James E. Hord, radioed he was being hijacked at 1:50 p.m. The Boeing 727 landed in Havana at 2:51 and returned with six crewmembers and two passengers at 7:34 p.m.

The remaining 70 disgruntled passengers returned on an Eastern Lockheed Electra at 12:07 a.m. today.

Stewardess Joyce Ann Jernigan said the hijacker told her he was from Indianapolis and "that he went to Purdue University."

"He said he was a Communist, and that he loved his state, and that he loves Russia and he loves Cuba," she remembered.

"He made like he was sick and went into the lavatory and when he came out, I gave him a burp bag and then he sat down next to me on the jump seat on the rear of the plane," Miss Jernigan said.

"I hate to tell you this," he said, "but we're going to Cuba."

"I replied 'Oh no, we're not' and thought he was just joking."

"Oh yes, we are," he said and pulled out a switchblade seven or eight inches long which he poked into my side," she said indicating its length. "It was terrible."

LBJ Wants To Extend 10% Surtax?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen says President Johnson wants the 10 percent income surtax extended, but "he would like some company" in recommending it to Congress.

There were indications Thursday Johnson wants President-elect Nixon to join him in the recommendation so the issue would not become the political controversy it was before Congress passed the surtax, at Johnson's request, last year.

The surtax expires June 30. It was originally imposed as an anti-inflation measure.

House Minority Leader Gerald R. Ford, said he understood Johnson was prepared to make a statement about the surtax in his State of the Union message or budget request, and that Nixon would then issue a statement of his own.

House Majority Leader Carl Albert said, however, the White House had received no word from Nixon Thursday afternoon.

Dirksen told newsmen Thursday that Johnson has drawn up a tentative budget of $195 billion for the fiscal year starting July 1, an increase of $10.6 billion over current federal spending.

But the Illinois Republican said the $195 billion was a "base figure" which could be changed, depending on whether Johnson decides in favor of recommending the surtax extension.

2 Thunderbird Jets Crash; 1 Pilot Killed

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Two Super Sabre jets of the Air Force Thunderbirds acrobatic team collided in flight during practice maneuvers Thursday. One pilot was killed when his plane plummeted to the desert. The Air Force said there was no evidence that Capt. Jack Thurman, 31, Waco, Tex., tried to eject before his F100D hit the ground about 60 miles north of here.

Officer, Bar Owner Slain By Bandits

DETROIT (AP) — An off-duty Detroit policeman, who disregarded his wife's plea that he not reach for his service revolver to break up a bar holdup, was shot to death early today. The bar owner also was killed.

Patrolman Stanley Rapaski, 35, and the bar owner, Casimir A. Czarwinski, were struck by at least 11 bullets, police said. A bar customer, Frank Piotrowski was beaten about the head by the bandits and was hospitalized.

Homicide detectives said the patrolman's wife and mother of his five children were having a quiet drink with her husband when two bandits, who had posed as customers for a few minutes, drew out pistols and announced a holdup.

The policeman, who was seated at a table, made a move towards his revolver and one of the bandits saw him and asked what he was doing.

When the patrolman replied, "I have a lot of money," the bandit took his wallet but failed to notice the gun tucked in the officer's waistband. Moments later, Rapaski reached for his gun and the shooting erupted.

The two gunmen fled.

A Deadly Dead End

Almost since Edinger Avenue in Huntington Beach was extended to the county Sunset Aquatic Park, there has been little doubt that someday a major accident would occur.

It did happen on Tuesday. Robert Eslick of Long Beach was killed at the end of Edinger Avenue at the park. Unless immediate steps are taken to correct the sign problems on this highway there will be more deaths.

The road to the park — and to death for unknowing drivers — begins really at Monterey Lane where a small sign points an arrow straight west to Sunset Aquatic Park.

There is no indication that the road dead ends into Sunset Way. There is no indication that very near the end of the road the speed limit changes from the unposted, and therefore 65 miles per hour speed limit, to 25 mph in the space of 200 steps.

Driving west on the road at the legal limit for what appears to be open highway the driver goes west for about two miles. In the distance he can see the new high level bridge on Coast Highway at Seal Beach, leaving the impression that the road goes through to the coast. Even new maps show Edinger going through.

It doesn't. Just about 225 steps from the spot where this driver died the road rises suddenly at the bridge over the flood control channel. A long row of nice new gray Southern California Edison Co. poles lead on to infinity.

Just at the end of the channel bridge the emergency situation begins. At 65 to 70 miles per hour the driver has about two to five seconds to do what the traffic signs now order.

At about 225 paces from where the death occurred Tuesday there is a sign announcing that the speed limit is now 25 mph. At about 175 paces from the point of death there is a larger sign announcing that one is about to enter the park.

At 115 paces from the death point there is a black arrow pointing to the left toward Sunset Way. Less than a second away there was a barrier, a couple of warning reflectors and another black arrow.

They stand today twisted and broken, but still more warning than there is on the road for the two miles it takes to get to the park.

Just beyond the broken signs there is a scarred pole, slightly jarred from its position and standing amid disturbed earth and nearby dirt discolored with the blood of a driver who probably felt that if there had been danger ahead the street would have been marked.

Let's have the proper warning signs put up on this road before another unsuspecting driver dies.

Bill Woods Takes Over

Taking over the presidency of the Huntington Beach Chamber of Commerce for the 1969-70 year is C. E. "Bill" Woods, of Signal Oil and Gas Co.

Woods comes to the presidency from service as first vice president and veteran of many committee assignments which have helped both city and chamber.

Serving with Woods will be Bill Carlson, an attorney, president of the Community Chest and long-time director of the chamber as first vice president; Pete Horton of the McDonnell Douglas Astronautics Corp. as second vice president; and Bill Peterson, Bank of America, Five Points, as treasurer.

They take the helm of a chamber struggling with economic health, but with big plans for the future which will continue leadership of this important segment of community life.

Woods succeeds Howard "Bud" Matheny, who has guided the chamber effectively through one of its most financially critical years. He leaves the chamber stronger than it was a year ago.

Congratulations to Woods and his officers and may they carry the chamber through 1969 with the same style which has marked 1968.

Paradox of Leadership, Responsibility

Sydney Harris

It is a melancholy fact of history that revolutions take on the color of the regimes they overthrow. The French and Russian revolutions are nearly perfect examples of this: Oppression was not eliminated, it merely passed into different hands.

The new movements of revolt in American society seem not to understand that a culture can be changed only in an evolutionary way; if we get a complete bouleversment, then there is merely a transfer of power, not a sharing of power.

The real problem of power is that of authoritarian personalities, who tend to rise in any system, left, right, or center. The men who get into office, form committees, run things, engage in vanguard activities, are more similar than they are different, whatever their differing ideologies. With few exceptions, they are aggressive, sadistic and power-oriented.

BUT SOCIETY CAN no longer tolerate such people, of whatever political complexion, for the realities of the nuclear age (in which aggression may be equated with race suicide) demand personalities that are conciliatory, self-actualizing, and value-oriented.

Ever since Plato enunciated the proposition that "the only men fit to be given power are those who do not crave it," the human race has been struggling with the paradox of leadership and responsibility. The average man does not want to accept responsibility for

Dear Gloomy Gus:

I wish the whiners and grippers everywhere would take to heart that aphorism in the Huntington Beach Union High School District's "Notes and Quotes": "A good place to find a helping hand is at the end of your arm."

—F. M. F.

This feature reflects readers' views not necessarily those of the newspaper. Send your pet peeve to Gloomy Gus, Daily Pilot.

decisions in the public area; and those who do want the responsibility usually want it for reasons that are inimicable to the long-range welfare of society.

THE PROBLEM OF the authoritarian personality cuts across the whole spectrum of political beliefs. Leaders out of power are always for "justice," for "humaneness," for "liberty," and all such virtuous abstractions; once in power, however, they increasingly find excuses and rationalizations for injustice, inhumanity and repression. Marx's noble idea was flawed by Lenin's pragmatism, and shattered by Stalin's brutal wickedness, and it could not have been otherwise.

Politics is not merely a matter of morals, as we are grudgingly beginning to recognize; it is also a matter of psychology. Movements are begun by those who like to dominate others, and even a just cause is eventually undone by the sado-aggressive personalities who take command of it.

"The scrupulous and the just," said Conrad, "the noble, humane and devoted natures; the unselfish and the intelligent may begin a movement — but it passes away from them. They are victims, not leaders, in the end."

Reds Show Nuclear Gain

WASHINGTON — With its eighth nuclear weapons test, Communist China has vaulted back ahead of France on the grim performance chart of the nuclear club.

A final appraisal of the Chinese test must await detailed analysis of the debris blasted into the atmosphere last month at the Lop Nor testing station. Certain implications already are clear, however, from available information.

In disclosing the blast on December 27, the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission estimated its yield at three megatons. The AEC announcement said the yield, equivalent to three million tons of TNT, was "about the same as the sixth Chinese test which took place on June 17, 1967."

NO MENTION was made, in the one paragraph AEC statement, of the seventh Chinese explosion in December 1967. That test, which generated a TNT equivalent of less than 20 kilotons, is widely assumed to have been a "dud" — an H-bomb in which only the atomic trigger actually exploded.

With its announced three megaton yield, there is every reason to believe that the recent Chinese blast was a thermonuclear (H-bomb) explosion. That suggests a successful test which puts Peking back on the road to a hydrogen warhead for the missiles it is developing.

U.S. experts believe the Chinese explosion took place, after an airdrop, well above ground. That is also the implication of reports from Japan that the blast has produced relatively little radioactive fall-out.

DEFEND THE FRANC — In a series of nuclear tests last summer, French scientists detonated their first thermonuclear explosion. The Chinese had done no testing since their reported dud, and there was much satisfaction for France in reaching the H-bomb plateau.

Subsequently, however, in the weeks which saw a speculative attack on the stability of the franc, Gen. Charles de Gaulle announced that the French testing program would be halted as a part of an austerity program designed to protect the currency. So the French are on the sidelines for the present.

As they ponder the long-range implications of the recent Chinese test, U.S. intelligence experts face a couple of tough questions. The first, of course, is the make-up of the Chinese nuclear explosive. Much can be determined, in that regard, from the debris analysis.

A MORE DIFFICULT question, debated behind-the-scenes by China experts, is whether the cultural revolution of Mao Tse-tung has deeply disrupted Peking's drive for a nuclear striking force.

Initially, U.S. experts believed the activities of the Red Guard had set back China's missile program but left its nuclear energy program relatively free from disruptive delays. Reports last summer suggested that the testing program had also been affected.

Early reports of the recent Chinese test do not suggest that delays, if any, have seriously interfered with China's progress in atomic development.

To Promote Living Life to Its Fullest . . .

Maximum Contact, Minimum Hurt

By GEORGE R. HOFF, Ph.D.

Much of the writing in psychology today — or yesterday, for that matter — implies that psychological defensiveness is a major obstacle to mental and emotional health. Defensiveness, so defined, means "Any psychological instrumentality by which a person automatically protects himself against unpleasantness, shame, anxiety or loss of self-esteem; it is usually (if not always) acquired unintentionally, and the person is unaware of its operation."

Therefore, one of the major goals of psychotherapy is to help people peel off various layers of psychological armor and deal with the vicissitudes in life in a nondefensive and open fashion.

THIS IS A NOBLE goal, because most people don't give themselves credit for being able to cope without unconscious and uncontrollable defense mechanisms. But, perhaps the pendulum has swung so far in the other direction that non-defensiveness is being confused with anti-defensiveness.

LET'S CONSIDER that there have been all sorts of groups who have worked on this, to name a few recent ones: "The American Friends Service Committee Community Service Projects in Urban Affairs" that worked all last summer in Minneapolis to little avail; "Project Bridge" working in a suburb of Cleveland, Ohio; "AMEN" (All Men are Equal Now) that was scrapped because of lack of community enthusiasm; "The Project" run in St. Louis by Carleton College students; "The Uninvited Company" a play to inform and inquire about the racial problem in an attempt to action-orient people. None of these produced a simple solution.

CONFUSION, FEAR and passivity describe most of our reactions to this problem. Reversing these words to action, trust and understanding sounds too easy to be done but it can. There is the formula: One white and one brown plus action (catalyst) should produce racial equality. That is, if one white person took it upon himself to REALLY help one brown person, actively, that brown person would benefit and improve. Let's take an extreme example:

YOU CALL THE minister of a nearby church and ask the name of one Negro or Mexican man to help. He assigns you to Joe Doaks, a parolee. Joe calls you and asks for help in finding a job. You — yes you — help this man find a job and you don't give up until he obtains a job. You become his white

By George

Dear George: You lazy bum! You rat! If you were married you wouldn't have the courage to say a man should make his wife do all the work!

FURIOUS

Dear Furious: I am married. However, I write under a pen name. (My wife thinks I'm a burglar.)

Everyday Problems

For example, the statement, "You're being defensive" implying that defensiveness is a "no-no." Members of what may be termed the "Antidivine Cult" insist that a healthy person goes through life completely defenseless. Transparency is a badge of honor. Honesty, authenticity, openness, vulnerability, etc., are goals to be pursued by those who hope to arrive at the ideal state of self-actualization. Many who think they are there act "healthier than thou."

THERE CAN BE definite status in being defenseless. People admire someone who doesn't have to hide behind a barricade of rationalizations, excuses, projections, repressions, reaction formations, and such.

But could antidivine be a defense? Is it possible that someone who prides himself on being completely defenseless — "Here I am in all my vulnerable glory" — may be insulating himself from mixing it up on a person-to-person basis? How do you handle a person who throws himself on your mercy? Gently!

RESEARCH ON children has shown that one of the primary developmental tasks at each stage of growth is to maintain and facilitate personal integrity in the face of environmental demands. Unless a child establishes increasingly sophisticated psychological defenses, he remains a "babe in the woods" whose repertoire of responses is inadequate and rather pitiful compared with the complex milieu in which he is functioning.

Therefore, the primary issue in question is not "to have or to have not" defenses but, rather, which ones really help one be oneself?

SECONDARILY, when are they appropriate and when are they not?

Wentworth Dillon stated it more poetically, in his "Essay on Translated Verse," when he cautioned, Immodest words admit of no defense For want of decency is want of sense.

The fact is that everybody will use defenses as a buffer against cascading reality or mushrooming impulses, because nobody is fully equipped to lead an emotionally naked life. Moreover, the longer we wear our defensive armor, the more difficult it is to suddenly shed it and staunchly stand there, exposing pink and tender emotional skin.

IT WOULD APPEAR, then, that the sane thing to do is to conduct an inventory of those defenses which promote or detract from living life to its fullest. The promoters would be those allowing maximum contact with minimum hurt while the detractors are the ones which create hurt through lack of contact.

Ultimately, the best defense against threatening environmental, social and emotional forces is a thorough knowledge of oneself and one's world.

He Has Formula for Racial Equality

To the Editor:

I have an idea about solving the color coexistence problem in the U.S., not in the world. Not the religious differences, but simply the racial problems here. The other more worldly problems may be solved after we solve this relatively simpler problem.

LET'S CONSIDER that there have been all sorts of groups who have worked on this, to name a few recent ones: "The American Friends Service Committee Community Service Projects in Urban Affairs" that worked all last summer in Minneapolis to little avail; "Project Bridge" working in a suburb of Cleveland, Ohio; "AMEN" (All Men are Equal Now) that was scrapped because of lack of community enthusiasm; "The Project" run in St. Louis by Carleton College students; "The Uninvited Company" a play to inform and inquire about the racial problem in an attempt to action-orient people. None of these produced a simple solution.

Police Test 'Fiasco'

To the Editor:

On January 8 about 50 men of the Huntington Beach Police Department were given the test for sergeant.

The test was given in a room measuring 30 feet x 30 feet. In this room were two tables and some assorted chairs. There were about 10 men to each table and the rest took the examination sitting on folding chairs.

Here are men who work day and night, find time to go to college, study changing laws daily, "try" to find time for their families and when the "Big Test" they have been waiting for arrives, they decide to hold it in a "phone booth."

GOD KNOWS HOW many high schools we have that hold hundreds of children in their lunch halls, yet no one could find the appropriate place for this examination.

I feel that this exam should be void before any results are returned and the exam be given over again in a place suitable for 50 men or so. It's a shame that these men should be put through such a fiasco. I wonder what they would have to say about it?

Home Is a Dangerous Place

Hal Boyle

Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Home is a dangerous place, probably more dangerous than where you work. Each year 19 million Americans — 106 out of every 1,000 persons — are hurt in home accidents.

Life is getting more leisurely for the average American. One hundred years ago he worked 65½ hours a week. Today, working only 40½ hours weekly, he earns enough to afford creature comforts that were unavailable to kings in the 19th century.

BAGGY EYES aren't by any means an indication that one has been imbibing too much of the cup that cheers. Dr. McCarthy DeMere, a Memphis plastic surgeon, says they are often a congenital condition caused by weak membranes around the eye socket.

Where does poverty begin? Economist Leon Keyserling believes any family is deprived if it has an annual income of less than $6,000 and faces actual poverty if its income is under $4,000.

During the 1880s some 100,000 wooden Indians stood outside U.S. tobacco shops — about half the actual number of live Indians at that time.

THE ACES AND pains of age are real, not just psychological. The National Center for Health Statistics reports that five out of six persons 65 or older have one or more chronic disorders. The most common: Heart disease and arthritic ailments.

Quotable notables: "It is taken for granted that by lunch time the average man has been so beaten down by life that he will believe anything." — Christopher Morley.

Education pays off: If you are only an eighth grade graduate, you can expect to earn only $247,000 by the time you're 65, according to the U.S. Bureau of the Census. But a high school graduate will earn $341,000 by retirement time and a college graduate more than $500,000.

HEALTH TIP: Do ill-fitting dentures irritate your mouth and gum tissues? If so, better have them fixed immediately. Research in Japan has disclosed that such dentures can cause oral cancers.

Television is being used as a crime fighter in Liverpool, England. City officials installed television cameras to help police keep an eye on streets in high-crime areas.

Celestial sanitation department: Rain and snow are among our best trash collectors. According to one estimate, they are responsible for cleansing the atmosphere of 80 percent of its pollutants.

What makes life unbearable? Poverty, ill health and age are three key factors. They are blamed for the fact that men over 55 are almost four times as likely to commit suicide as younger men.

WORTH REMEMBERING: "Inflation, as we understand it, is when everybody is so rich that no one can afford anything."

Australians Have Biggest Babies

By L. M. BOYD
AM INFORMED a Pennsylvania dairyman paints "COW" in red letters two feet high on both sides of each cow in his herd at the start of every hunting season.

GIRLS CALLED MURIEL are thought to be less passionate in love than in war, theorizes our Name Game man. Hard to believe. If the gentlemen friends of any Muriels can confirm this peculiar theory, please submit data promptly.

In confidence, of course. NEXT TIME YOU hear a cricket chirp, you may, announced aloud, "That cricket is alone." The noise is a mating call. Crickets don't chirp when they're together. WHAT'S THE LONGEST name in the Bible and where is it therein? That's another one of those questions that well-intentioned clients submit to the wrong man. Mister, I just don't know.

CUSTOMER INQUIRES, "What people have the smallest babies?" The Chinese do. At birth the boys there average 6 pounds 13 ounces, the girls 6 pounds 9 ounces. As to the biggest babies, the Australians have those. There, boys average 8 pounds, girls 7 pounds 10 ounces. In the United States, as you may know, boys average 7 pounds 8 ounces, girls 7 pounds 4 ounces.

Fish Dealer Loses Fight to Sell Piranhas

LONG BEACH (UPI) — The two killers ate their usual hearty meal Thursday — unaware that a judge was sentencing them to death.

Fish dealer Frank Adams as usual fed five goldfish apiece to his two killer piranha fish, and his razor toothed pets gulped them down in a matter of seconds. The meal may have been one of the piranhas' last. Superior Court Judge John McCarthy Thursday ordered Adams to dispose of them, apparently ending the dealer's legal battle of more than three years to sell piranhas in California. Adams' plans to retail piranhas as pets have been opposed from the outset by the California Fish and Game Commission. It fears that if the killer fish were loosed in California waters the piranhas would multiply and feed on native fish with devastating effects.

The piranha, also known as the caribe, usually is less than five inches long. It is a meat eater and one of the most predatory fish known to scientists.

Traveling in schools in warm South American waters, piranhas are capable of stripping the flesh from a horse or a man in a matter of minutes.

California law forbids their importation, except for use in public aquariums and scientific laboratories.

When Adams imported 140 of them from Brazil in 1965 and made plans to retail them at $100 apiece, Fish and Game officers immediately took him to court. The case has been under litigation for four years.

Adams contended the piranhas posed no threat to

Reinecke Blasts Protests

BURBANK (UPI) — California's new lieutenant governor says he'll "have no quarter" with campus trouble makers.

"You hear a lot of things about people there (on campuses) to start making trouble for the sake of making trouble," Rep. Ed Reinecke, (R-Tijuana), said on his arrival in Burbank from Washington Thursday. "I will have no quarter with those who are there to make trouble."

Reinecke takes over as lieutenant governor as soon as Lt. Gov. Robert Finch is confirmed as secretary of health, education and welfare in the Nixon administration by the U.S. Senate.

"We have to separate those who have an honest difference and honest dissent from those that can be solved by normal grievance procedures from those who are out there to make trouble for the whole education system," Reinecke said.

Son to Run For Miller's Senate Seat

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The name of George Miller III emerged Thursday as a prime possibility as a Democratic candidate to replace his father, a state senator for 22 years who died New Year's Day.

Young Miller's name was promoted by Assemblyman John T. Knox (D-Richmond), when Knox told a news conference that he will not seek the Senate seat in a special election to be called by Gov. Reagan. Other sources indicated Miller probably would announce his candidacy soon.

Knox said Miller, a 23-year-old licensed real estate agent and law student who had worked as an aide to his father, told him he seriously is considering running for the vacancy.

Three Democrats have announced they will seek the office.

No Reprisals In Roosevelt Walkout

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The acting superintendent of Los Angeles schools says students involved in a walkout at Roosevelt High School will not be prosecuted as long as classes remain undisturbed.

An estimated 200 students refused to attend classes Wednesday, protesting an alleged insult to a Mexican-American girl by a Caucasian instructor.

Most were of Mexican-American origin, and were supported by their parents. A smaller number is believed to have left classes Thursday. The school has an enrollment of 3,300.

The walkout at Roosevelt is backed by a parent-teacher group called the Educational Issues Coordinating Council.

GOP Gets Finance Control

Burns Says Committee Power Shift Part of Deal

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The veteran Democratic chief of the State Senate, already under heavy criticism from younger Democrats, disclosed Thursday Republicans are due to gain control of the key Senate Finance Committee this legislative session.

Senate President pro tem Hugh M. Burns, (D-Fresno), said the Rules Committee is expected to give the GOP 7-6 control of finance when the committees are reconstituted next week. Democrats held an 8-5 edge last session, a margin narrowed to 7-5 by the death of Chairman George Miller Jr. on New Year's Day.

Burns said the shift in control was part of an arrangement with Senate Republicans last year that kept Burns in his post as president pro tem even though the makeup of the Senate was split 20-20 Republican-Democratic. The GOP had a potential tie-breaking vote in Republican Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch if an election vote had deadlocked 20-20.

But Burns added, in revealing the planned move to a reporter, "It was no cold-blooded deal."

Almost at the same time, Democratic Sen. George Moscone of San Francisco announced a challenge of the Senate's long-time traditional bi-partisan leadership, based strongly on seniority and friendships regardless of party.

He said he would seek re-election as Democratic floor leader during a caucus Tuesday and lead a renewed effort on behalf of younger Democratic senators to inject "a degree of partisanship" in operation of the Senate.

He said there is an "overemphasis on seniority without regard to ability." The same group backing Moscone failed in an attempt Monday to force a vote on re-election of Burns as president pro tem. Burns continued in power because of a little-noticed 1968 rule change which continued the Senate's officers in power without a new vote unless someone is able to muster the votes needed to unseat them.

Burns said the change in the Finance Committee will force the bumping of one Democrat from it. Sen. Randolph Collier, Yreka Democrat, is scheduled to take over chairmanship. Collier now is a Finance Committee member.

He will give up his long-held job as Transportation Committee chairman — where he earned the nickname "father of California highways" — and that job is expected to go to Sen. Alan Short, (D-Stockton.)

DO YOUR TEEN-AGERS UNDERSTAND YOU?

Today many teen-agers feel that anyone over the age of 30 simply doesn't know.

Rebellion sometimes seems to him to be the only way of life — the only answer.

Irresponsibility and rebellion aren't the only way of life for the teen-ager.

What is important to him as a way of life? Isn't it a deep desire to search for Truth — for meaning in his own life?

This is why young people like the Christian Science Sunday School. They get a chance to think for themselves, and to dig deep for ideas they can prove and use. They find out who they are and why they are here.

Above all, they discover the solid basis for freedom in obedience to God. This helps them understand you!

Your teen-agers are welcome at our Sunday School, any Sunday morning.

'Beard' Trio Bid Heard

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The stars and playwright of the controversial play "The Beard" asked the California Supreme Court Thursday to prevent their trial on charges of engaging in lewd and dissolute conduct.

The trio was arrested following an Aug. 8, 1966 performance of the play at San Francisco's Committee Theater. The charges were based on a simulated sex act at the conclusion of the one act play.

Actor Richard Bright, actress Billie Dixon and playwright Michael McClure were represented Thursday by attorneys from the American Civil Liberties Union. Their petition asked the high court for a hearing on a state court of appeal ruling that they must stand trial on the charges.

Airplane Models On Display

Orange County Fairgrounds' Junior Exhibit Building in Costa Mesa will take on the appearance of New York's La Guardia Airport at rush hour this weekend.

A total of 65 national and local manufacturers will have their wares on display in the Fourth Annual Model Airplane Trade Show, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. both days.

Sponsored by the Garden Grove Radio Control Club, the event is designed to stimulate interest and activity in miniature flying, according to club president James McManus.

Besides pre-built models and kits, the show will feature latest in radio control systems and accessories, plus demonstrations including aircraft, cars, boats and rockets.

Lesser Count Plea Entered

SANTA ANA — A Yorba Linda man arrested and booked on suspicion of murder pleaded guilty to reduced charges Thursday and was sentenced to six months in Orange County Jail.

Superior Court Judge Robert Gardner also ordered Earl R. Lyon, 24, to serve three years on the involuntary manslaughter count. Lyon admitted firing the shot that killed Raymond C. Ruiz, 23, of Santa Ana.

Arresting officers said the shooting of Ruiz occurred during a violent quarrel between the two men.

15 Picket In Fullerton

FULLERTON — About 15 faculty members and students set up a picket line at Cal State Fullerton Wednesday afternoon in support of San Francisco dissidents.

There were no incidents. The picketers called it an "informational" picket line and passed out leaflets.

William Linder, president of the Fullerton campus's American Federation of Teachers local, said the picketing would continue the rest of the week.

He urged a campuswide strike, but was overruled by the Faculty Council, which called instead for additional fact finding in what it called a complex situation.

BOAT BUFFS, Almon Lockaby is the only full-time boating editor working on any newspaper in Orange County. His exclusive coverage of boating and yachting news is a daily feature of the DAILY PILOT.

Position Cut Out By Board

SANTA ANA — The Board of Supervisors has reorganized its staff, eliminating the $8,500 a year post held by Mrs. Lillian Olson, secretary to the board.

The supervisors Wednesday approved the new plan which will put the executive secretary of the board chairman in charge of the office.

Mrs. Olson will be given the choice of a newly created position at her current pay or an equivalent post in another county department.

The responsibility for office management will shift each year with the executive secretary of the reigning board chairman. In charge this year will be Mrs. Carol Desmarais, secretary to Chairman William H. Hirstein.

Board Gives Assignments

SANTA ANA — Continuing their reorganization for the coming year, the Orange County Board of Supervisors Wednesday named Supervisor William J. Phillips to the post of vice chairman. He has held the position for the past year.

Other appointments made by new chairman William H. Hirstein include naming himself to the Law Library Board to succeed retiring C. M. "Cye" Featherly, the appointment of new supervisor Robert W. Battin as alternate on the Local Agency Formation Commission and the appointment of Alton E. Allen to the Sanitation Districts Board.

Named Worker, SANTA ANA — Alice L. Bush, 58, Santa Ana, has been named Orange County's Goodwill Industries Worker of the Year.

Dimes March Western Breakfast on Jan. 19

The 15th Annual March of Dimes "Cops and Cowboys" Western style breakfast and horseshow will get under way at 7 a.m., Jan. 19 at the Orange County Fairgrounds in Costa Mesa.

The benefit program is co-sponsored by the sheriff's reserve units and associated riding clubs of Orange County. Proceeds go to the March of Dimes for support of the local birth defect program.

Riders and horses from as far north as Santa Barbara and as far south as San Diego are expected to participate in the horseshow.

Also on hand will be eight-year-old Kelly Franklin of Fountain Valley, who will represent the National Foundation — March of Dimes, Kelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Franklin, 8678 La Playa Circle, Fountain Valley, is a March of Dimes poster girl.

During the past 14 years the Cops and Cowboys event has raised more than $40,000.

Tickets for this year's event may be obtained from reserve deputy sheriffs, or the March of Dimes Chapter office, 1303 South Main St., Santa Ana, or at the fairgrounds on the day of the event.

Also on hand will be eight-year-old Kelly Franklin of

Target Shooting Ban Bill Delayed

SANTA ANA — Action on a new ordinance that would outlaw target shooting in Orange County except at firing ranges has been put off until Feb. 4 by the county Board of Supervisors.

Adoption of the law is being sought by the county Fish and Game Commission. Eugene Thomas, chairman of the commission, has personally endorsed the proposed measure. Its purpose, he says, is to bring a halt to promiscuous shooting.

Thomas and fellow commissioner George Honold say they are interested in stopping the irresponsible use of firearms in mountain areas of the county before a serious shooting accident occurs.

As drafted, the ordinance prohibits shooting in unincorporated areas of the county by anyone other than a peace officer who draws his weapon in the line of duty, or a licensed hunter in lawful pursuit of game.

Exceptions are made in the case of someone using firearms to protect life or property and in the case of farmers shooting predatory animals.

Press Club Tickets Out

ANAHEIM — Tickets for the Orange County Press Club's annual awards dinner went on sale today.

The dinner honoring county newsmen for outstanding achievements in 1968 is scheduled for Jan. 25 in the Anaheim Room of the Anaheim Convention Center.

Tickets are priced at $7.50 each. Reservations can be made through Wayne Clark, press club ticket chairman, P.O. Box 4224, Irvine, Calif. 92664, telephone 833-6922.

Tea Steeped By Mermaids

"Mermaids" from the Little Mermaid Guild of Huntington Beach will be singing their siren's song on solid ground instead of a traditional rock when they invite area women to a membership tea Thursday, Jan. 16.

Prospective members will be welcomed between 2 and 4 p.m. in the home of Mrs. James Ridenour, membership chairman.

Also on hand to greet guests and explain the work carried on by Children's Hospital of Orange County and the supporting guilds will be William Spurgeon III, Sister Frances Dunn, Sister Rheta Fredette, Mrs. Leah Marnell, guild coordinator for the hospital, and Mrs. C. Robert Hubbard, guild president.

Also assisting will be members of Mrs. Ridenour's committee, the Mmes. Charles Heller, Andrew Holtz, Charles Bauer, Joseph Irvine and Frank Hagler.

Little Mermaid is one of the 13 county organizations which help to support the medical facility through volunteer services and contributions of funds.

Selecting its name from a Hans Christian Andersen story because of the group's proximity to the sea, the Huntington Beach guild was chartered in 1963.

Three classes of membership are available including active, sustaining and associate, and all members cooperate in fostering community interest in the hospital which treats children with leukemia or other forms of cancer, birth deformities, heart or brain surgery.

All area women interested in the organization are invited to call Mrs. Ridenour at 847-6943.

women during a membership tea taking place Thursday, Jan. 16, in the Ridenour home. The group is one of the 13 Orange County guilds which provides volunteer assistance and funds for Children's Hospital.

League Praises Community Aid

By JODEAN HASTINGS

OFFERING THEIR congratulations to the community for a job well done are members of the Assistance League of Huntington Beach, who once again played their part in making the annual Operation Merry Christmas a success.

Mrs. Norman (Joan) Warner, has announced that more than 86 families were able to enjoy a happier holiday due to the efforts of the many involved people in service and civic groups, organizations, schools, Boy and Girl Scout troops, and just private citizens who contributed to the project.

Also lauded by Mrs. Warner was Mrs. Melvin Penhall, chairman, and her committee who devoted long hours coordinating Operation Merry Christmas for the community.

AFFILIATING with Delta Sigma Phi, national fraternity, is Gordon Pitts. The 1965 Huntington Beach High School graduate is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Pitts of Fountain Valley, and is attending California State College at Fullerton, where he is a political science major and a member of the Alpha pledge class.

"THIS IS what it's all about," says Liz (Mrs. Edward) Casey, who has just returned from a cross-country trip with husband and children.

The Caseys heartily recommend the trip to everyone as a reminder of the beauty and grandeur to be found in this country.

Relatives didn't know the Caseys were driving back for the holidays, and to surprise her mother, Ed dressed in a Santa suit (complete with beard) and so disguised, delivered their daughter Caroline in a big package to her delighted grandmother.

ABSORBING SUNSHINE in Acapulco are Pat and Will Romine of Fountain Valley. Pat is taking a vacation from her duties as vice president of Tamara School's PTO and third vice president and membership chairman of Fountain Valley Woman's Club. Will is a pilot with American Airlines.

HOME AGAIN after a visit to Nampa, Idaho, to visit family and friends are Mr. and Mrs. James Hughes of Huntington Beach. It was a pleasant trip in spite of the fact that someone was sick with flu or its variations during the whole time the family was gone.

Harmonious Past Reviewed

Past presidents will be honored guests during the next meeting of the Woman's Club of Huntington Beach at noon on Tuesday, Jan. 14, in the clubhouse, 420 10th St. Among those planning to attend are (left to right) Mrs. Frank Catching, Mrs. David Todd and Mrs. Vernon Largenbeck. Rene, the puppeteer, will be presented by program chairman Mrs. LeRoy Benson, and serving as luncheon chairman will be Mrs. Harry Bowman. Mrs. Arnold Podsade will preside during the business portion of the meeting.

Public Invited

Soroptimists View Needs of Community

What Are the Civic Needs of Huntington Beach? This will be the topic when the Soroptimist Club sponsors a Star Scope Town Hall meeting on Tuesday, Jan. 28.

Open to the public, the meeting will begin with a social hour at 6:30 p.m. followed by dinner at 7:15 p.m. in the Town and Country Inn, 18582 Beach Blvd.

Panel members who will be discussing what the needs of the community are and how involved citizens in general and Soroptimist Club members specifically can help their city and country will include Mayor Al Coen; city administrator Doyle Miller; Chamber of Commerce manager Dale Dunn; president of the League of Women Voters, Mrs. Kenneth Martyn; assistant superintendent of Educational Service and Personnel, Scott Flanagan, and vice president of the Woman's Division, Chamber of Commerce, Mrs. Edward Casey.

Dinner reservations may be made until Monday, Jan. 13, by sending a check or money order for $3.50 to the club, P.O. Box 336.

Additional information regarding the dinner or the program may be obtained by calling Mrs. Robert Sharkey, 962-2905; Mrs. George Galkin, 842-5011, or Mrs. Woodrow W. Hill, 536-9084.

Stocks Discussed

Market Examined

Women's Role in the Stock Market will be disclosed during the next meeting of the Women's Division, Huntington Beach Chamber of Commerce.

Speaking to members and guests at 11 a.m. Wednesday, Jan. 15, in the new chamber offices, will be Jack Phillips, district manager of the Diversified Planning Corp.

Following the business meeting there will be a no host cocktail hour and luncheon in the Town and Country Inn.

Other activities which will be discussed will be the group's participation in the Star Scope Town Hall meeting being sponsored by the Soroptimist Club, and Mrs. Jake Stewart and Mrs. Edward Casey, president and vice president of the women's group, have been invited to participate in the second Community Congress taking place March 22.

C. E. "Bill" Woods, new president of the men's chamber, will present the club's February program.

Reader Needs Support When Friend Decides Shoe Fits

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A close friend has been borrowing my clothes for the past five years. Miltzi can afford to buy what she needs, but she says my taste is better than hers and when she wants to look smashing she feels more confident in my clothes than in her own.

We are exactly the same size, and Miltzi is a very neat girl but I don't care how careful a person is — it's impossible to return a dress or a pair of shoes in exactly the same condition. I see a seam here, a bead comes off there, a knitted skirt snags, a patent heel gets scratched — something is bound to happen.

Miltzi has borrowed everything from my evening bag to my wig. I have never borrowed anything from her.

Last night I went to put on my best cocktail dress and Miltzi had the shoes that match it. My husband was furious. He gave me orders never to lend her anything again. How can I say no without losing her friendship? I can't tell her my husband has given me orders, can

I? What excuse can I give? — BIG HEARTED BERT

DEAR BERT: You don't need an excuse. Just tell Miltzi you've decided not to lend your clothes any more. Leave your husband out of it. Offer to shop with her occasionally since she likes your taste. If your refusal to lend her your clothes terminates the friendship, you haven't lost much.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was interested in the letter from the woman who insisted that alcoholism "runs in families" and is therefore an inherited illness. She went on to say all her husband's brothers are drunks. The only one in the family who doesn't touch the stuff is his sister. Then she added, "Charlotte is a religious nut. A couple of drinks might improve her personality a lot."

What this world needs is fewer boozers and more religious nuts. I am sick to death of being with bright people who proceed to pickle their brains in alcohol the minute the sun goes down. It's a sad sight to witness a charming woman who suddenly talks gibberish, laughs too loud and makes a complete fool of herself. I've seen too many brilliant men become repetitious, belligerent and vulgar after three drinks. It's sickening.

The pity of it is that these people imagine liquor improves their personality when nothing could be further from the truth. At the risk of being called a Blue Nose for the millionth time, will you say it again? I can't put words together the way you can. — STAR WITNESS testimony. There's nothing wrong with the way you put words together, dear. You spoke the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth.

What awaits you on the other side of the marriage veil? How can you be sure your marriage will work? Read Ann Landers' booklet "Marriage — What to Expect." Send your request to Ann Landers in care of this newspaper enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of the DAILY PILOT, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Public Panting Over Fashion Trend

'Beautiful' People Don Mod Citypants

When Yves St. Laurent proposed "city pants" as the fashion look to wear everywhere, a surprised public took him at his word and the results are making fashion headlines.

Sears at South Coast Plaza sees city pants American style and presents a special collection of these wide leg trend setters in a variety of fabrics in both solids and patterns. How do you decide which pair to wear where?

Try something soft and slinky for your at-home appearances. Remember that tunic-over-pant sets provide a mini dress that goes out on the town when worn alone.

(The "beautiful people" check pants at New York's more elegant restaurants and dine a la mini dress!)

Score equal fashion points for flared sleeves or bottom cuffs, shirt style. Make flared legs a must — but sash your waist or not as the occasion dictates. Look for neckline news in modified U-shapes and exaggerated pointed collars. Note ruffled cuffs which have been elasticized for easy wear.

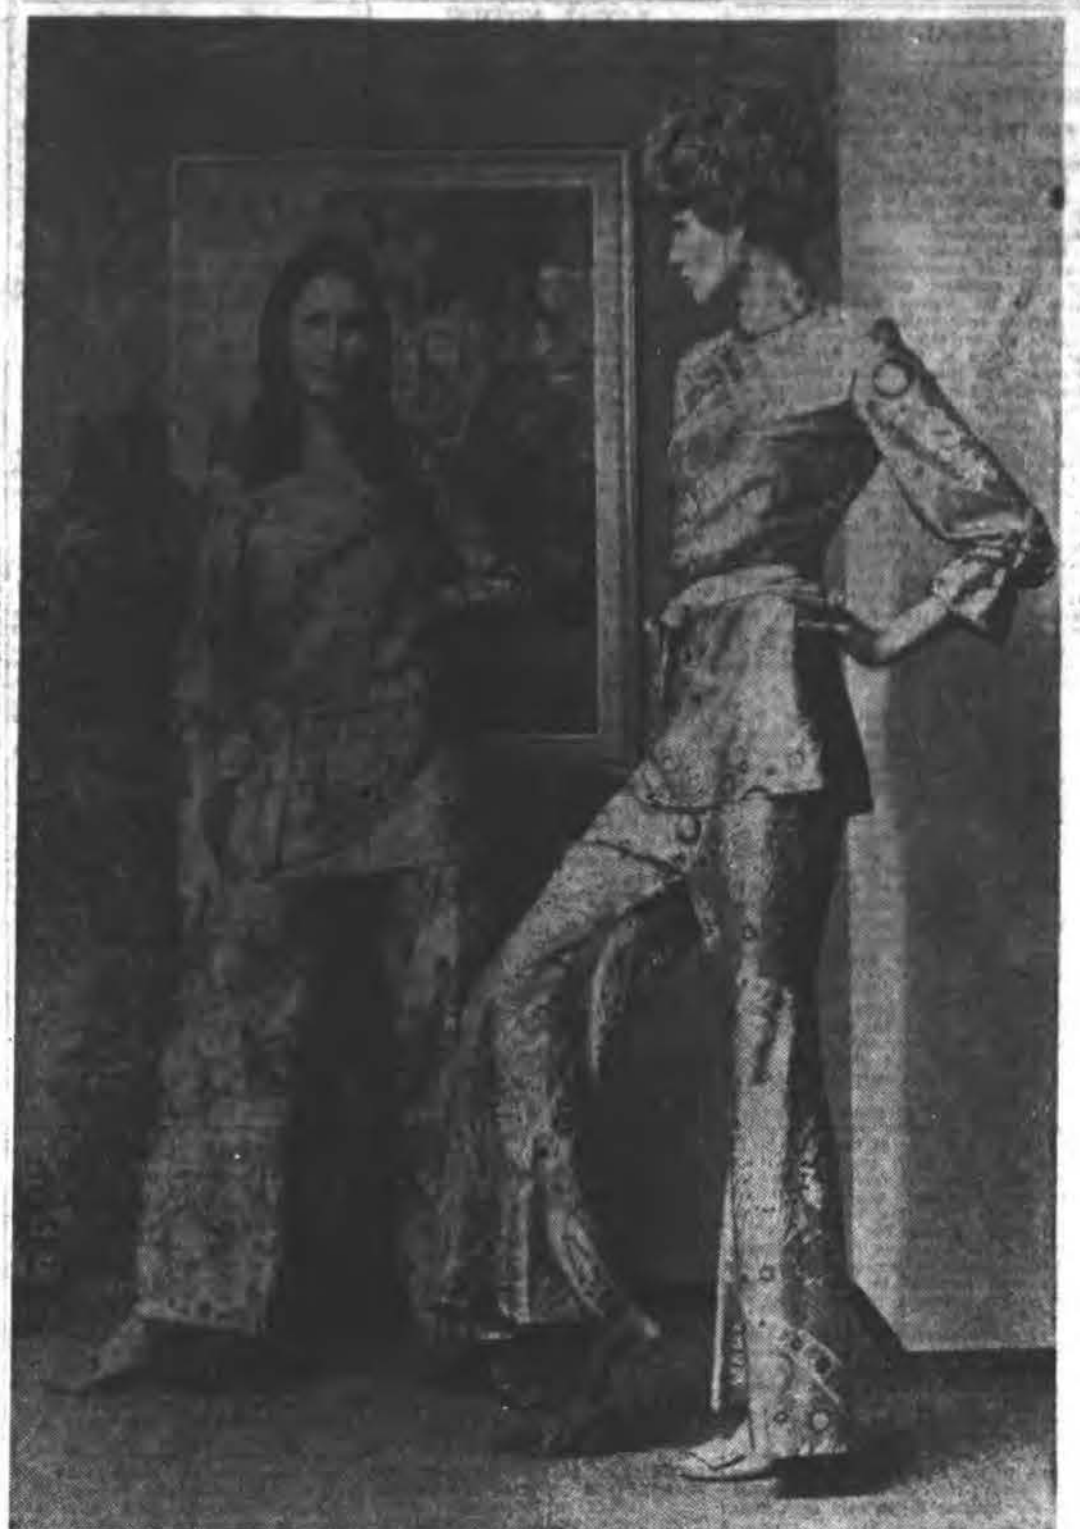

Although you may elect not to wear them everywhere, you are free to do so this season. The fashionables will, the trend setters will, the beautiful people will. Are you ready for city pants?

ADD FLARE TO YOUR LIFE — ... with a feminine look in city pants. Flared sleeves complement flared legs and waist tie adds comfort for at-home appearances. When venturing out remove sash and set forth in a U-necked mini dress.

SEE YOURSELF IN SEPARATES — At left is a black or brown velveteen set featuring a double-buttoned vest and wide pant set. The turtle collar, wide cuffed sleeve and shirt adds color and fabric contrast in white satin. On the right, a satin bush shirt in the perfect topper for grey, wide leg moire pants.

MAKE HEADLINES IN PRINT — Designed with your versatile self in mind, either set will make you a fashion pacesetter in your home. The set at left has three-button shirt cuffs and jewel neckline and the outfit at right features elasticized ruffle cuffs and a turtle neck collar.

That's Shoe Business

No Spiking for Heels

NEW YORK (UPI) — Round and round it goes, the shape of the shoe toe for spring.

Any remains of the pointed toe in women's footwear long since have been put away. Gone now is the blunted, squared toe of last spring. The new look is the softly rounded one with some fullness to the shoes without their being hefty.

To balance the snubbed toe, footwear designers have given more height to the back, and added the variety of heel heights from which to choose. Heels come in flats, fair to middling, even go as high as three inches.

The newest looking height, dictated by the pants in spring collections, is a bit over two inches. It's the height Roger Vivier showed originally with the Yves St. Laurent pantsuits from Paris.

The higher heels in no way resemble the spikes of the 1940s and 1950s.

The new heels are broader, set far back on the shoe and are minus the old full curve at the top.

Designers show the rounded toe in everything from daytime flats to the most glittering of evening wear, in materials from traditional kids and patents to patterned fabrics. Pair a patterned shoe with a solid dress for a change.

Delman, for instance, does a paisley patterned pump with two inch heel. And Mademoiselle shows the "Nanny" oxford, a three eyelet tie with chunky mid-high heel in a floral pattern.

Spring shoes open up, and the open look will be the most important one for summer, predicts the National Footwear Institute. The look calls for uncovering everywhere — at the front, the middle, the back. Always, the broad heel. And some manufacturers are doing thong-like sandals with ankle straps and platform soles of the 1940s.

"The pump no longer dominates the shoe scene," says Herbert Levine. He and his wife, Beth, are a well-known team in women's footwear.

"We (now) have an extraordinary variety of silhouettes and types of shoes, such as the high-riding step-ins, ties, clogs, spat shoes," Levine said. And of course boots go on into spring from winter, in pale colors and whites.

You'll hear such terms as "baby beige," "tawny ginger," "honey bear," "spiced curry," "raspberry cream," "lavender sachet," "frosting orange." To go with the patriotic sweep in all ready-to-wear, watch for red, white and blue combinations in shoes too. They look splendid in patents.

A word about shoe selection comes from Mrs. Levine.

"Don't just look down at your feet when you're trying on shoes," she said. "It's a mistake many women make. The shoe should be studied from all angles, especially the way it looks from the back, and in a mirror large enough to see the whole you, not just the feet."

Mesa Rebekah

Every first and third Tuesday of the month members of Mesa Rebekah Lodge assemble in Odd Fellows Hall, Costa Mesa, at 8 p.m.

PEO Sisterhood

First Century Marked

The centennial year of PEO is being marked this year, and in conjunction with the observance will be a noon luncheon meeting of the Orange Coast Reciprocity Bureau Saturday, Jan. 18, in the Newport Inn.

Keynoter will be Mrs. P. H. Lamoreau, state president who will discuss Seven Founders. Other state officers expected to attend are the Mmes. J. R. Giantvalley of San Diego, organizer; T.W. Heindner of Pasadena, second vice president; and G.C. Morgan of Long Beach, treasurer.

Also included on the program will be piano selections by Mrs. Jack Colvin and a story, "Seventh Little Sister" written by Mrs. F.W. Cleland, will be read by Mrs. Jack Steidinger, all of Huntington Beach.

PEO was founded in 1869 at the Iowa Wesleyan College, and since then the sisterhood has established and maintained three educational philanthropies.

The educational fund was founded in 1907 to make loans to young women needing help for education beyond high school; Cottey Junior College for Women has been owned and operated at Nevada, Mo. since 1927 by PEO, and foreign students have been encouraged to pursue graduate study through the International Peace Scholarship program since 1949.

In honor of the first century, the Centennial Center will be completed and dedicated in Des Moines.

Medical Group

Morrall Not Concerned With Namath's Slam

MIAMI (AP) — Earl Morrall isn't interested in Joe Namath's lip, just his arm.

Morrall, the Baltimore Colts' quarterback, said he had read Namath's reference to him as a sixth rate quarterback.

"He can express any opinion he wants," said Morrall. "That's his business."

"I don't worry about other quarterbacks. All I'm interested in is the other team's defense. That's what you have to beat. Actions speak louder than words. It's what you do on the field that counts."

Namath, quarterback of the American Football League champion New York Jets, rapped Morrall earlier this week. Namath said there were at least five quarterbacks in the AFL better than Morrall.

The 34-year-old Morrall threw 26 touchdowns passes this season in leading the Colts to the National Football League championship and into Sunday's Super Bowl game against the Jets.

He was voted the NFL's player of the year and architect of the Jets' AFL championship drive. Morrall said: "I haven't seen too much of him. I've read a lot. He gets a lot of publicity. From what I've seen on television and films, he throws quick, gets back fast, gets rid of the ball."

Morrall said he couldn't recall ever putting a rap on another player. "As I say, he can talk. It's up to each individual what he does. I don't have to believe it."

The Colts' passer said that as a team, Baltimore doesn't pay too much attention to things like this, in case Namath's blast at him was meant to be psychological.

He said there was some logic in the reasoning that Namath might be trying to bolster the Jets' confidence, by downgrading him and the rest of the NFL champions.

Morrall had kind words for the man he supplanted at quarterback for the Colts, the brilliant John Unitas.

"John helped a lot. He's a great team man. We talk during the week before a game, watch films, and he gives his advice during a game."

Morrall added: "It's tough on him (Unitas). Anybody who is a competitor finds it hard to be on the sidelines. But, his arm has been bothering him. It's a great tribute to him the way he has helped me. He's done everything he can."

Morrall was a baseball and football star when he attended Michigan State University. He even had a chance for a professional baseball career.

"I saw baseball could be a long struggle," Morrall said.

"In football I would know if I could make it in nine weeks, by the end of the exhibition season. My chances in football looked a lot better. I could have drifted in baseball's minors for years."

Did the native of Michigan ever dream he would have a season like the 1968 campaign with Baltimore? "It's a fantasy," he said.

OFF TO OREGON — UCLA coach John Wooden will be counting heavily on guard John Vallely when the Bruins open Pacific Eight play at Oregon tonight. UCLA's Saturday afternoon game at Oregon State will be televised at 2:30 over Channel 5. Vallely played at Corona del Mar High and Orange Coast College.

Jones, Hill Fire 66s

Sifford's Scorching 63 Tops First Day of LA Open

LOS ANGELES (AP) — There had been a parade of stars and less-than-stars into the pressroom at the Los Angeles Open . . .

There was Billy Casper to describe what he called a "scroungy" round of 69. And Arnold Palmer relating his 72, one over par for the Rancho Farm Golf Club.

There were Jimmy Walker, Jr., from Los Angeles, Terry Dill from Austin, Tex., and Bob "Watermelon" Murphy, the round one from Nichols, Fla., who were tied at the time at 67.

Then came a refreshing young man from Wichita, Kan., Grier Jones, a rookie pro and the 1968 national collegiate champion from Oklahoma State.

His 66 looked like it would hold up.

But on came Dave Hill, an infrequent winner from Evergreen, Colo., to tie young Jones.

Abruptly from out on the course came a report. Charlie Sifford was eight shots under par, with one hole to go.

Impossible. Everyone agreed. Sifford was only one stroke under par at the turn of Rancho's regulation 36-35-71.

Hill was on the interview platform when 48-year-old Sifford strode in. "Charlie Sifford, gentlemen. With an eight-under par 63," said his escort.

But the 63 was true. Sifford went into today's second round of play with a lead of three strokes and another bit of magic had touched a golf tournament.

Sifford has been a professional more than two decades. He is the first Negro to really make a big go of it in golf. He has played most of the major tournaments and a lot of little ones.

His one main target is to be invited to play in the famed Masters, an invitation he has never received, however.

Sifford's back nine holes were amazing. He started with a birdie deuce on No. 12. On the 526-yard 13th he took a wedge and slammed the ball into the cup from 40 yards out.

A hot driver and wedge produced four more successive birdies as he came home in 28 strokes for his round of 35-28-63.

Sifford said he has shot 64 twice in tournaments but never a 63, a course record here shared by Palmer and Phil Rodgers.

"If I can play this good with the flu I hope it don't leave me," said Sifford.

Leading scores in the first round of the Los Angeles Open:
Charlie Sifford	35-28-63
Grier Jones	32-34-66
Dave Hill	34-32-66
Jimmy Walker Jr.	37-35-72
Terry Dill	34-32-67
Bob Murphy	34-33-67
Bruce Crampton	35-34-69
Pete Brown	36-33-69
Terry Wilcox	36-33-69
Tommy Shaw	36-33-69
Mac McLendon	36-34-69
Bruce Devlin	36-34-69
George Archer	36-34-69
Gay Brewer	36-34-69
Billy Casper	36-34-69
Bob Duden	36-34-69

'Hate to Quit Track'

Matson Stays Amateur, Declines Pro Contract

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Look out world! Randy Matson wants to compete in track again.

Matson, who started in a stock brokerage training program in Houston last week, has given up the idea of playing either professional football or basketball.

"Oh, I thought about it a lot," Matson said in a telephone interview. "I don't know if I could have made it. But I'm interested in a business career and I would have to put it off until I completed professional athletics."

"I hate to quit track now. I'm just 23. I should be able to improve."

Matson, the world and Olympic record holder in the shotput, received offers from both the Dallas Chaparrals of the American Basketball Association and the Atlanta Falcons of the National Football League.

He stands 6-foot-6, weighs some 255 pounds and is quick, quick, quick.

"I had some pretty good offers," Matson said. "I really think they were higher than what I would have been worth to them. The offers were real fair, but not such as would make it worthwhile to me."

Matson has already begun workouts at the Houston downtown YMCA health club.

"I hope to compete this year in selected events," Matson said. "I hope to make as many meets as I can. It will take another month for me to get into decent shape so I could throw in competition."

"I hope to be in shape in time for the Fort Worth indoor meet in February. I would also like to go out to the West Coast for a meet or two."

Matson said his employers were "interested in my competing. This is a real good situation for me. I will go to training school in New York in July for two and one-half months and then take exams to get registered."

Matson said he would like to see the development of professional track and field.

"It would be real good for the track athlete," said Matson. "It's hard to compete as an amateur and try to hold down a job."

"It would also strengthen the overall track program. More youngsters would want to concentrate on a career in track and field instead of football and other sports."

Matson said he had given some thought to the possibility of competing in the 1972 Olympics in Munich, Germany.

"It's a long way off," Matson said.

"I'll have to take it day by day. If it gets to the point where I'm unable to compete well I'll give it up. I want to win — not just compete."

As you can see, Randy Matson is back.

Pac-8 Hostilities Open; Lakers, Celtics on TV

Pacific-8 Conference basketball gets under way tonight with the beginning of the end of a fabulous era called "Alcindor."

UCLA's powerful Bruins and their towering center Lew Alcindor, now a senior, open league play at Oregon.

Tonight's Pac-8 schedule has Southern Cal at Oregon State, Stanford hosting Washington, and Cal entertaining Washington State.

The home teams switch opponents Saturday, when the feature will be UCLA at Oregon State in the afternoon.

Lakers at Boston

BOSTON — The Los Angeles Lakers battle the Boston Celtics tonight, aiming for their third straight victory without a loss against the National Basketball Association's defending champions.

The game will be televised in the Southland, Channel 5 at 6 o'clock.

Simpson, Sogge Sign

LOS ANGELES — O.J. Simpson acquired a manager and Steve Sogge acquired a baseball career Thursday.

The two stars of USC's football team appeared together at a news conference to talk about the turns in their destinies.

Simpson, whose spectacular rushing won him the Heisman trophy, said he's signed a "total management" contract with Sports Headliners, Inc., of Indianapolis.

It will handle all his affairs, including negotiations for a pro contract. Simpson is expected to be the No. 1 draft choice this year.

SHELLEY QUILTS RUSTLER CAGERS

Mike Shelley, the leading scorer for Golden West last season but a reserve this year, has dropped off the Rustlers' basketball team and plans to enroll at Ball State University in Muncie, Ind., next semester.

Shelley averaged 17.4 points a game for the Rustlers last season and was scoring 10 points per contest this year as a reserve forward.

He last played for Golden West in the December Chaffey Tournament and then went to Indiana, his birthplace, for the holidays.

JC Wrestlers Visit Cal Poly For Tourney

SAN LUIS OBISPO — Golden West and Orange Coast wrestling teams were competing in the Cal Poly junior college tournament today and Saturday after both teams lost dual matches.

Mt. San Antonio rallied from a 15-11 deficit Thursday to overhaul the host Rustlers, 28-20, and visiting Orange Coast lost a 31-13 decision to Fullerton on Tuesday.

OCC's Paul Robinson (137) won his eighth straight match of the season with a 9-3 win. The other Buc winner was Bob Lyle, in the 130-pound class.

Fullerton's Bob Delitoni decisioned Joe Randle by a 12-1 margin in the 145-pound match and then OCC's Art Brooks gained a draw with Oscar Valenzuela in the 152-pound struggle.

The Pirates' Mark Stockton lost a close 6-5 match to Mark Taul at 160 pounds. Fullerton's Ron Berenschot pinned Orange Coast's Tony Horpel (167) in the second period.

The Bucs' Ralph Cross was decisioned in the 192-pound match and heavyweight Dan Hilliard was pinned.

Drought Ends

DETROIT — After 210 minutes and four seconds — nearly four games — of the most frustratingly barren hockey play in their history, the Los Angeles Kings finally put the puck into the net — but it wasn't nearly enough.

It was all downhill from there and the Kings got clobbered, 6-2, Thursday night.

Paterno No. 1

LOS ANGELES — Joe Paterno wound up the football season ranked a notch higher than the Penn State football team he coaches.

Penn State was No. 2 in the final Associated Press football poll. Paterno has been picked as College Football Coach of the Year in the university division.

Stars Lose

DALLAS — For the Los Angeles Stars, there's no place like home.

The Stars proved it again Thursday night, losing 104-89 to the Mavericks in Houston.

The club has a chance to improve that road record tonight in Dallas against the Chaparrals.

Kush Changes Mind

TEMPE, Ariz. — Frank Kush was as elusive as some of his Sun Devil backs today as to why he decided to quit Pittsburgh five days after accepting the job as head football coach to remain at Arizona State University.

He was nowhere to be found Thursday when ASU athletic director Clyde Smith proudly announced that the school's winningest coach in history had decided that he wouldn't return to his native Pennsylvania, after all.

Olympic Medal Stolen

ANTIBES, France — Burglars broke into the home of France's Olympic skiing champion, Marielle Goitschel, and stole her medals and trophies as well as some household goods, police reported Thursday night.

Sports Calendar

Saturday

Lagunan Shares Open Lead

SUNOL, Calif. (AP) — The $50,000 Alameda County Open Golf Tournament was a guaranteed financial success today but who will grab the $10,000 winner's purse won't be known until Sunday.

Bill Ogden of Tucson, Ariz., a veteran club pro who plays only in the California and Arizona tour events, shared the first round lead with Richard Martinez of Laguna Beach.

Each shaved two strokes off the Palm course par 72 Thursday. Ogden dropped three birdies and took one bogey; Martinez had four birds and two bogeys.

Frank Ivaldi, owner of the 7,100 yard

Sunol Valley Country Club, said the Professional Golfers Association had guaranteed him against possible loss on the promotion.

The tournament was rather hurriedly scheduled, in conflict with this weekend's $100,000 Los Angeles Open, when the touring pros organized the rival — and short-lived — Association of Professional Golfers last fall.

It was backed by the PGA. Thursday, Lyle Wehrman, its vice president, told Ivaldi the PGA would absorb any loss.

He also said the PGA would exempt the top 10 finishers from qualifying for next week's $135,000 Kaiser Open at Silverado Country Club, Napa, Calif. Previously it had exempted only the Sunol winner.

Ogden and Martinez had Thursday's only sub par scores.

Four others shot par 72: Butch Baird, Don Whit, Dick Lotz and Rick Jetter.

Six shared 73: Johnny Lotz, John Jacobs, Bill Tindall, Carl Lohren, Ralph Deming and Scotty MacBeath.

UCI Post to Adams Set to Coach Baseball

Gary Adams, 29-year-old recreation sports director at UC Irvine, is expected to be named UCI's first baseball coach soon, the DAILY PILOT has learned.

Adams joined the physical education staff at Irvine last fall. Previously, he was on the baseball coaching staff at UC Riverside.

UCI will begin its baseball program in the spring of 1970. Construction is expected to begin on the university's baseball field this spring. Eventually, the baseball plant will be part of a three-part sports complex on the large field adjacent to the present UCI athletic complex. The baseball field and a Tartan track will be divided by an intramural field.

Adams is a graduate of UCLA, where he was a baseball standout in the early 1960's. Following his graduation, he remained at UCLA as assistant varsity coach and head frosh coach. He moved on to UC Riverside in 1965.

A resident of Mission Viejo, Adams has already begun recruiting top Orange County prep and junior college baseball prospects.

Irvine athletic director Dr. Ray Thornton has indicated the search for UCI's first track coach is continuing. He is expected to make Adams' appointment official before the end of the month.

JC Transfers No Longer To Lose Year's Eligibility

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Athletes who transfer from junior colleges to four-year schools no longer must wait a year before participating in varsity athletics at their new school.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association during its meeting in Los Angeles this week ruled such transfer students can participate in varsity athletics after one quarter or semester — providing their grades are good.

An NCAA Executive Committee proposal, accepted during the meeting, sets a 2.5 or C-plus grade average as the standard.

And, it uses a formula to predict that if a student is capable of a 1.5 or C-minus grade average, but makes a 2.5 or C-plus average the first grading period, the student can represent the school in athletics.

A student with a better than 1.5 grade projection or record also is eligible if his average after the first grading period is 2.5 or better.

Essentially, the new rule won't count for football players unless they complete a quarter or semester of working during the spring or summer.

But, according to an NCAA spokesman, it would mean basketball players or athletes participating in other winter or spring sports, could put on varsity uniforms.

The predicting formula takes into consideration an athlete's academic record in high school and junior college and attempts to project the quality of his work at the four-year college.

If an athlete does not make a 2.5 average during the first grading period, he still must wait a full year before participating on a varsity team.

CdM Duels County's No. 1 Team

By ROGER CARLSON
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

A nifty double header at Corona del Mar High tips off a heavy schedule of basketball action tonight for Orange Coast area high school teams.

The non-league feature at CdM has defensive-minded Corona del Mar throwing its weight at Garden Grove, the top ranked team in Orange County and the CIF's AAA division.

That battle is due at 8, following the 6:30 half of the double bill which puts Long Beach Millikan against Costa Mesa.

Also tonight:

Marina faces Anaheim (11-1) at the Vikes' court in the second round of Sunset action with hopes of upping its record to 1-1 while Westminster is in the same boat, looking for its first win of the loop campaign against Huntington Beach.

Newport Harbor seeks its second league win with a test at Santa Ana Valley.

The Crestview League lead is up for grabs at Foothill where the Knights entertain Mission Viejo, winner of four straight including its opening league test. Laguna Beach (1-0) hopes to keep its winning ways going with a game at Tustin while San Clemente and Orange battle for their first loop victory at the latter's court.

All games are at 8 except the Mesa clash.

Other Irvine teams continue non-league battles in preparation for loop-openers a week hence.

Estancia entertains Santiago in a battle of young teams and Fountain Valley seeks its fourth win in a row with a showdown at La Quinta.

Mission Viejo comes back Saturday for its third Crestview test, hosting Orange at 8.

Corona del Mar, which has already met such powers as Compton, Muir, Long Beach Poly and up-and-down Magnolia, has shown itself capable of staying with anyone.

The Garden Grove battle is expected to be a defensive gem from both sides of the court.

Costa Mesa has won three of its last four outings and could give Millikan all it can handle.

Sunset League crucials are on tap with Westminster's and Marina's backs to the wall.

UCI, Big 8 Set Games Next Season

UC Irvine, trying to upgrade its independent basketball schedule, will play the universities of Colorado and Nebraska December back in the Midwest.

Definite dates for the two games are not yet set, but basketball coach Dick Davis said the Anteaters probably would play the two Big 8 schools in the opening week of the 1969-70 season.

Davis said there is no provision in the contract with the two schools for a home and home series, which would bring Colorado and Nebraska to California the following year.

At present, UCI only has five or six games definitely on its schedule for next season and the final schedule probably won't be worked out until after the NCAA championships in March.

Davis talked with basketball officials at Providence College on the Anteaters' recent Eastern swing and the Rhode Island school was interested in playing UCI again.

However, Providence's schedule for the next two years has been filled so the earliest rematch possible would be in the 1971-72 season.

LIONS HONOR SUNSET CHAMPS

Several outstanding football players were individually honored Thursday night at the Westminster High School awards banquet held at the Knotts Berry Farm Steak House.

Named captain of the undefeated Sunset League champions was Rully Membria while Ron Shepherd was capturing the most valuable player award.

Chuck Suter copped the scholar-athlete award and Darryl Berg was named as the best football player in a field of outstanding athletes for coach Bill Boswell's 1968 juggernaut.

Eddie Bane was named most inspirational back and the same award for a lineman went to Greg McCants.

Most improved back was Greg Newhouse and John McLaughlin was named as most improved lineman.

Ray Strotman was lauded as the best conditioned player on the squad.

To Play Basketball Rustlers, Saddleback Have Total Dedication

It takes more than the usual amount of dedication to play basketball at Golden West and Saddleback junior colleges.

If you're the type that likes to wake up at the 5:30 a.m. reveille at El Toro or work out until 10 at night check out a jersey from Dick Stricklin or Roy Stevens.

Both coaches are attempting to operate on the intercollegiate level without a home gymnasium — Stricklin for the third year and Stevens for the first.

Golden West's Stricklin has one advantage over Stevens — he can use the Orange Coast College gym. But, Orange Coast naturally has first call on its own floor and uses it during the afternoon.

That means Stricklin and his team

work out at night, 7-10, five times a week, at a gym 10 miles from the Golden West campus.

After three years without a gym Stricklin has grown philosophical.

"I really don't mind except it keeps me away from my family at night. The players like it because they can study before our workout instead of going home tired after an afternoon practice and then having to hit the books."

"At the beginning of the year the team voted between afternoon workouts at a local high school and night session at Orange Coast. The players, themselves, went for the night workouts."

Stevens hasn't been as fortunate. He doesn't have another junior college in the same district to use its facilities.

So the Gauchos have been forced to improvise. First they practiced at Mission Viejo High School for two weeks.

But a $250 rental fee sent them looking for another site. It turned out to be El Toro Marine Air Station, but Saddleback had to practice early in the morning, thus the 5:30 a.m. turnout.

*****
Stevens and his players couldn't take that so they moved over to the gym at old San Juan Capistrano High School, their present campaign camp.

This time Stevens had to alter the class schedules of some of his players to conform with his new workout time — noon to 3 p.m.

The Gauchos have to be out of the gym at 3 o'clock because that's when the San Clemente High School Bee team moves in for its drills and the Bees have first call on the gym.

The natural solution to these odd workout hours is simply for Golden West and Saddleback to build their own gyms. Both have facilities in various stages of planning, but neither will have a gym before the start of the 1970-71 caje season.

Architects are now working on drawings for a 2,000-seat gym at Golden West with hopes it will be up by fall 1970.

Saddleback, which doesn't have any permanent buildings yet, has a five-year $14 million building program outlined on paper, including a $1.1 million gym, but right now it isn't scheduled for completion until 1972 or 1973.

Cost, of course, is an important factor in both colleges' plans.

Orange Coast's plant, which seats 2,700 and was completed in 1962, cost $775,000.

Building costs increase 5-8 percent each year and added necessary furnishings like backboards (OCC's clear one's cost $300 each) and a scoreboard (OCC's huge ones, the best in Orange County, are priced at $1,330 each) can raise the price tag considerably.

So until the two colleges build plants of their own, Stricklin and Stevens will have to put up with strange hours and continue to beg, borrow and share facilities. A basketball program without permanent facilities is better than no program at all.

Newport, FV, CdM, Estancia Post Victories

In final pre-league wrestling tuneups during the week, Fountain Valley thumped Villa Park, 49-8, Wednesday afternoon, while Newport Harbor took apart San Clemente, 56-6, and Estancia squeezed by Long Beach Wilson, 25-20, the same night.

In Thursday mat action Corona del Mar downed Long Beach Poly, 37-14.

The Estancia contest provided a dramatic finish as heavyweight Bob Raymond pinned his opponent in 1:40 of the second round to break a 20-20 deadlock and give his teammates the victory.

Television Wrapup

Super Bowl Sets Pace For Big TV Weekend

Super Sunday starts at 11:30 a.m. with the warmup show for the Miami Super Bowl game. NBC carries the game in color.

The TV announcers for the New York-Baltimore titanic will be Curt Gowdy, Kyle Rote and Al De Rogatis. The men on NBC radio (KFI, 640) will be Charlie Jones, George Ratterman and Pat Summerall.

The preview show will feature film clips of both league champs and how they reached the Orange Bowl.

Slated Saturday are:

The UCLA-Oregon State game from Corvallis will be telecast on Channel 5 at 2:30 p.m. The Pepperdine-UC Santa Barbara game will be carried by Channel 13 at 3 p.m. from the Sports Arena.

Bowling followers have one of their rare major moments on TV with the $45,000 LA Open on Channel 7 at 3:30 p.m.

Tom Harmon and Dick Enberg call the LA Open golf tournament over Channel 5 at 4 p.m.

NO. 1 SUPER STOCK — Bill Bagshaw's 133 mph superstock Dodge Dart from North Hollywood is rated the national record holder. His car will compete against some 30 other drivers at the first event of the $14,000 NHRA super stock series Sunday at Orange County International Raceway. Note the distortion the sudden acceleration created on Bagshaw's rear tire.

SCC Tourney Opens Tonight

Southern California College's Vanguards shoot for their seventh victory in 13 starts when they duel Cal Baptist tonight in the nightcap of the four-team New Year's basketball tournament at the Costa Mesa college's gym.

Tipoff is set for 9 with Biola (6-3) going against Los Angeles Baptist (5-3) in the 7 o'clock struggle.

The winners of tonight's matches return to SCC Saturday at 9 for the tournament title while the losers play at 7 for third place.

This afternoon's competition matched junior varsity entries from the four participating school with Biola against Cal Baptist and SoCal against Los Angeles Baptist.

Title game for that section is Saturday at 5 with third place to be settled at 3.

Woman Driver Entered Super Stock Circuit Under Way at OCIR

The National Hot Rod Association starts its 1969 $14,000 super stock racing circuit Sunday at Orange County International Raceway.

The 10-race schedule will alternate between Northern and Southern California drag strips. Qualifying Sunday starts at 10 a.m. and eliminations commence at 2 p.m.

Two Orange County drivers are in the field. One of them, Tom Stafford of Fullerton, holds the national record in the super stock class in his Cobra Jet Mustang. The other county entrant is Jim Baker of Santa Ana in a Camaro.

The nation's fastest superstock, Bill Bagshaw's Dodge Dart out of North Hollywood, is also entered. The machine has hit 133 mph.

Shirley Shahan of Tulare is the day's only woman competitor. She'll drive a Dodge Hemi Dart.

The other half of the racing program will include an A/gas super-charged field.

Rangers Set For UCLA

Soccer's sizzling rivalry between the Coast Rangers and UCLA will resume a week from tonight when the two forces do battle at Newport Beach High School.

Action begins at 8. Ticket prices are $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. A 7 o'clock preliminary matches Orange County junior all-stars.

This year's game—the sixth in the annual rivalry—could be the most outstanding of the series, which shows the Bruins from Westwood holding a slight edge, 2-1-2.

UCLA, under new coach Dennis Storer, is 12-1-1 for the season while coach Brian McCaughey's Rangers sport a 9-0-1 mark. A tie with Temple City is the only blemish on the Ranger record.

This weekend the Rangers will face Bellflower at Newport Beach's Mariners Park at 2:30 p.m. Sunday. In the 12:30 prelim it'll be Ranger Reserves against Bellflower subs.

All But 4 Out Manzanillo Race Canceled by Flu

South Shore Sailing Club announced this week that the Newport to Manzanillo yacht race has been canceled due to the epidemic of Hong Kong flu.

Race officials said skippers and/or crews of 14 of the 18 entries have withdrawn from the race because of ailments which have prevented them getting their boats ready for the scheduled Feb. 2 start.

The race was to have been the third edition of the Manzanillo affair which has been scheduled on a biennial basis.

Race officials said the start is definitely off for this year and that a determination would be made later when it would be resumed.

It would probably be two years from now inasmuch as the Long Beach to La Paz race is scheduled next November and the San Diego to Acapulco race in February of 1970.

A later date this spring would throw the race in conflict with the Honolulu race scheduled to start July 4.

Newport Sailors Win Many College Races

Southern California collegiate sailors — several of them from Newport Beach — won the plums in 1968 major competitions sponsored or sanctioned by the Intercollegiate Yacht Racing Association of North America and its member district associations.

Even so, the dominance of California sailors was a little less than in 1967.

The resumption of the IYRA-NA publication, "Winners", reveals that San Diego State succeeded USC as the North American collegiate dinghy champions (Morris Trophy) and Aztec skippers Ed Butler and Thomas McLaughlin captured the Robert M. Allan trophies for the best individual skipper performances.

The Pacific Coast IYRA team made a successful defense of the Wood Trophy for interdistrict team racing, and Stanford turned the same trick with a second straight Kennedy Memorial Trophy victory on the helmsmanship of Tom McCarthy in Naval Academy yaws.

Although the USC Trojans lost the Morris Trophy to San Diego State, they had notable consolation. In June, Scott Allan of Newport was named the first winner of the Everett B. Morris Trophy as college yachting's outstanding sailor.

Later in the year, Tim Hogan and Argyle Campbell, both from Newport, plucked the Douglas Cup for USC, and Hogan teamed with Bill Symes to relieve the University of Michigan of the Angsten Trophy in the Midwest Thanksgiving Intercollegiate at Chicago.

RETURNS EAST

The Foster Trophy for the IYRA-NA single-handed championship returned to the East Coast with the triumph of Ensign Fred Minson of the U.S. Coast Guard Academy, whose dinghy team vied with Yale (New England) and Ivy League champions for spring honors in the New England area as MIT moved to the forefront in the fall.

New York State University's Maritime College was Middle Atlantic ISA's most successful team with Navy coming on fast in the fall and Pennsylvania and Princeton also enjoyed some successes. In the Midwest, Michigan and Notre Dame were rated best with the Irish taking the dinghy crown and the Wolverines scoring several notable wins.

TULANE THIRD

Tulane, with a third in the dinghy finals — best ever for a southern school — was tops in the Southeast District where Florida and Florida State had good records.

Clemson and The Citadel were the South Atlantic's outstanding teams. Washington, Western Washington and British Columbia stood out in the Northwest — the area which will host to the IYRA-NA's major championships in June of this year.

Bertram Continues Dominance

History repeated itself in ocean powerboat racing in 1968 as Bertram hulls, the boats that won nearly every major offshore race in the world in the 1950s, again dominated the sport in the Western Hemisphere.

Bertram hulls won three and placed second in five of the eight key U.S. and Bahamas events in 1968.

The company which pioneered the modern concept of the deep-vee hull in the days of the colorful Sam Griffith, who used them to capture four of the six Miami-Nassau races, edged out its major rivals, Maritime — which also won three races but had no runner-up spots — and Magnum with two wins and two seconds.

All of the victorious Bertram hulls were 31 footers and were powered by twin 482 cubic inch Mercruiser engines rated at 475 horsepower each. In July, Bill Sirolis set a new world competition record of 62.7 mph in winning the 253-mile Hennessy New York Grand Prix in Sternwinder, a 31-foot Bertram.

The same boat, since purchased by Italy's world champion Vincenzo Balestrieri and renamed Yellow Tornado, came back to win the 180-mile Hennessy Miami-Key West race in November with Balestrieri's mechanic Don Pruet driving.

LAUNCHING NEARS — Reversed, transom, gracefully curved bow and high aspect ratio are characteristics of the new Columbia-57 soon to be launched by Columbia Yacht Corp of Costa Mesa. Five of the new yachts have already been sold—the first to John Hall of Newport Harbor Yacht Club.

Starts Tuesday Boating Course Set By Power Squadron

A 12-week course on safe boating offered by the U. S. Power Squadron starts Tuesday at 7:15 p.m. at Richard Henry Dana school, 2424 La Cresta Drive, Dana Point.

The lecture sessions will include small group discussions and a final examination. Charting, piloting, seamanship, rules of the road, safety afloat and government regulations will be studied.

Registration for the free class will take place the first night. Classes will be on Tuesdays.

The United States Power Squadron is the largest nationwide educational organization for boatmen in the world.

New Yacht Planned Columbia Flagship Details Announced

Columbia Yacht Corp. of Costa Mesa has announced details of its proposed new flagship, the Columbia-57, scheduled for launching in time for the 1969 Transpac race to Honolulu.

First of the Columbia-57s is reportedly scheduled for John Hall of Newport Harbor Yacht Club who has been campaigning in the Columbia-50 Intermezzo.

Classified as a moderate displacement (42,000 pounds) the Columbia-57 is the largest production fiberglass sailboat.

The yacht was designed by William Tripp, noted for other famed racing-cruising yachts, including the Columbia-50.

Tripp said the new yacht will have a long waterline length and high aspect ratio, typical of several other of his racing designs.

Maximum speed is derived from the high prismatic coefficient hull design, Tripp explained. Wetted surface is at an absolute minimum, and her dual-surface steering systems swings a keel-mounted trim tab in addition to the balanced spade rudder located at the extreme aft of the waterline.

The lofty sail rig measures 65 feet above the deck and carries 1,293 feet of sail. The "J" measurement of 22 feet gives her an extra large foretriangle for a boat of her size.

Besides being an able racing boat, the new Columbia-57 will be a comfortable cruising yacht with sleeping accommodations for nine in three staterooms and two spacious "head" compartments. Galley appointments include a three-burner gas range with a 300 pound ice box.

Coast Man Takes Photo

The color photo was taken by George West, Newport Beach crewman aboard Norman McCarvill's 57-foot yawl Spirit during last summer's trans-Atlantic race from Bermuda to Travemunde, Germany.

The photo depicts Mik Beatle and Tony Shepherd, both of Sausalito, wrestling with the wheel of Spirit as she plunged through heavy seas in gale force winds.

Balestrieri New Power Boat Champ

Diminutive Vincenzo Balestrieri of Italy made offshore powerboat racing history when he broke a four-year hold by Americans on the sport's world championship when he received the Sam Griffith Memorial Trophy at a special ceremony in New York Dec. 10.

Balestrieri, a wealthy Italian land developer, is scarcely more than five feet tall and weighs about 100 pounds with full racing gear. His co-driver and mechanic is strapping Don Pruet, a 6 feet 3 inch Texan.

The diminutive Italian opened up the world circuit in February of 1968 by winning the Sam Griffith Memorial Race in Florida in his 27-foot Magnum, Tornado. His next points came in the Wills International in England four months later in which he placed second. July saw Balestrieri come home first in both Italy's world championship points races — the Naples Trophy and the Viareggio-Bastia-Viareggio events.

The following month fighting Roman's Tornado roared across the finish line in the lead in France's Dauphine d'Or race — a feat which he would duplicate only seven days later in Sweden's national offshore battle.

BEAUTY AND FRIENDS — Grete Borgen, blonde beautiful Norwegian National Skating Champion stars in "The Pooch Parade" sequence of Holiday on Ice at the Forum in Inglewood through Sunday.

Jan. 12. Grete is the first skater from the land of the midnight sun to shine brightly as a star in the United States since her famous countryman, Sonja Henie.

Newport Skater Stars at Forum

The world of Broadway and Hollywood, the stage and motion pictures, provide the basic themes for the 1969 Holiday on Ice show featuring Ronnie Robertson, a Newport Beach resident when he isn't travelling.

The creative artistry of many people molded the new show. A new production team, headed by Donn Arden who created, staged and directed, the opus, has put together two hours and thirty minutes of wonderful skating, gorgeous costumes, beautiful music, exquisite lighting effects and hilarious comedy. It will run through Sunday, January 12 at the Forum in Inglewood.

The titles of the production sequences cue the theme of this year's Holiday. There are seven of them: "Hello, New York," "The Pooch Parade," "Junglerero," "Astaire Time," "Rockin' Happy," "The Gates of Granada" and "Star Time."

"Hello, New York" is set in three scenes: "Remember Rector's," "Crystal Palace Gaities" and "The New York of the Cohans and the Castles." Starred are Helga and Jorge Valle, Alice Quessy and the brilliant young team of Juanita Percelly and Tommy Allen.

"The Pooch Parade" presents an outlandish array of skating canines from a Toy Poodle to the St. Bernard, Miss Puppy Pacesetter is the glittering Norwegian, Grete Borgen. The star pooch of them all is the "Ole Houn' Dawg," with Alfredo Mendoza and John LaDue.

The company goes to Africa for "Junglerero," with the tribal chiefs, the jungle queens, and the witch doctors. The Glamour-Icers and Ice-Squires are featured, with the principal excitement being provided by the sensational young Italian star Anna Galmarini, and the pair skating of Jorge and Helga Valle.

Ronnie Robertson stars in the first half finale, a salute to Fred Astaire appropriately called "Astaire Time." It's a skating tribute to the famed dancer and features Ronnie Robertson, Alice Quessy, Marei Langenbein, and Tommy Allen and Juanita Percelly.

Anna Galmarini takes the spotlight in "Rockin' Time" as a Happy, Crazy Clown. The Glamour-Icers and Ice-Squires add the peppy, pretty and precise background, assisted by Grete Borgen.

Ronnie Robertson has a Spanish background for his second starring role in the production "The Gates of Granada." The rhythms of Old Spain provide the setting. Featured with Ronnie is the German import Marei Langenbein and the Ice-Squires and Glamour-Icers.

The entire company hits the ice in "Star Time," it features the movie marquee favorites of all time. Presented in five sequences by Donn Arden who has titled the scenes "Silent Picture Daze," "A Man and his Cane" with a Chaplin ballet, "The Perils of Pauline," "Motion Pictures that Talk" and "Super Colossal Hollywood," that crazy tinsel town. The sequences include impersonations on skates of famed motion picture stars.

Breaking into the production numbers is an avalanche of sparkling comedy with a corps of effervescent funmakers. Paul Andre, one of the great eccentric skaters heads the list. He is assisted by Johnny Leech, a very funny Englishman, and Alfredo Mendoza.

A newcomer to the comic scene is "Little Lito," a talented performer from the Argentine. A pantomimist, he was a night club entertainer when the desire to skate led him to transfer his laugh making to the ice. His real name is Esteban Italiano and his impressions of famed comedians are wonderful.

Other newcomers to American audiences are Werner Muller and his famed skating chimpanzees, featuring "Johnny Holiday." These chimps are good skaters; they play hockey, do acrobatic stunts and generally raise the roof.

Freddie Witkop, one of the world's great costume designers whose recent Broadway triumph was the creating of the costumes for the musical hits "George M" and "The Happy Time" and who has many successes to his credit, including "Hello Dolly," is once again the genius behind the colorful and splendid wardrobe of the 1969 Holiday on Ice. John Finley is Director of Production and Ben Stabler is again the Musical Director.

Hollywood Back Stage

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD — When Robert Redford proposed a movie about skiing, he was told by a film executive: "Two hours of all that snow? It'll never sell. The audience would get too cold."

As Hollywood has learned, Redford is a strong-willed actor, and he wouldn't be dissuaded. He starts production in Switzerland this week on "Downhill," which he says will be the first authentic view of the skiing life.

Redford told about the inception of the project:

"I've always wanted to make a picture about the life of a professional athlete. I don't think there ever has been one that really depicted the mean, hard life that most athletes must lead. 'The Hustler' came close, but then, pool isn't really very athletic, is it?"

"I was an athlete myself, and I saw what went on. Like when a football coach is under pressure from the alumni to have a fourth winning season after he's already had three. And he produces — or else."

The actor naturally turned to skiing for a film subject. He owns a home in the ski country of Utah, recently bought a ski lodge in Colorado, and spends as much of his nonworking, nonsleeping time as possible on skis. He turned down an offer to star in "Ski Bum" because "it wasn't about skiing." Instead he decided to develop his own story.

But in trying to sell his project to Paramount, he ran into snowblocks, such as the one from the bigwig who worried about frigid audiences. Redford persisted. But then he fell out with Paramount by walking out on a Western, "Blue." He claimed he gave the studio plenty of notice; Paramount claimed he didn't and filed suit for a few hundred thousand.

"Blue" turned out to be one of the larger bombs of 1968, and Redford figures that was the turning point for him. His judgment was vindicated, and corporation head Charles Bluhorn sent for him.

"Why make all those pictures about the poor economy of England or problems in Czechoslovakia?" the actor argued. "Why not make some pictures about what's going on in America? That's what audiences want to see."

Redford's pitch succeeded, and Bluhorn gave him the go-ahead on "Downhill" — for a price. The price was a million dollars, which is pretty small change for a major movie nowadays.

"We had to pinch pennies," said Redford. "I couldn't send a big camera crew over to the Olympics at Grenoble. I got a half-dozen of my friends together — ski bums and photographers — told them the situation and they agreed to help me out."

Redford and his illicit band spent two weeks dodging gendarmes and Olympic officials while they unofficially photographed the action on the French Alps. He himself posed as a reporter for Sports Illustrated, and one of his photographers, Dick Fairbanks, wore a fake nose as a disguise. They came home with the footage Redford needed.

Now he is returning to Europe to finish the major scenes for "Downhill"; he began the picture the day after he finished "Butch Cassidy and Sundance Kid," in which he plays the latter to Paul Newman's Butch.

Weekend Highlights

EXPERIMENTAL THEATER — Two evenings of experimental theater will be presented by the Newport Harbor Art Museum tonight and Saturday night at the Balboa Pavilion, 400 Main St., Balboa. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. for both plays with the first, titled "The Trial of Annie Opie Wehrer and Unknown Accomplices for Crimes Against Humanity" and the second, tomorrow night, "The Wolfman Motor City Review," complete with a light show, rock, folk and country music.

PIANO CONCERT — Leonard Pennario will appear in concert at UCI on Jan. 16 at 8:30 p.m. Master pianist Pennario, who has performed with virtually every major symphony orchestra in the United States and Europe, also is a recording artist for RCA Victor and Capitol Records. His concert program will include selections by Haydn, Chopin, Prokofiev, Schumann and Liszt.

WASHDAY MUSEUM — Washing machines from the turn of the century along with over 500 different kinds of hand irons and many other ancient laundry devices will be on display tomorrow and Sunday, Jan. 12, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Rancho California Plaza. It is located on Highway 395 one mile north of Temecula, midway between Riverside and San Diego. No admission charge.

Family Fun Trip

Attraction in Our Backyard

An interesting and relaxing day for parents and children can be spent among the historic relics of early Indians and California Padres at Mission San Juan Capistrano. In addition to hosting the oldest standing building in California, the mission offers charming gardens, a lovely chapel, museums and an opportunity to watch an archeological excavation and restoration of buildings in progress. Children may buy small sacks of treats to feed to the pigeons.

The nests of the famous swallows which traditionally return to the Mission each St. Joseph's Day in the spring are an interesting sidelight.

The most scenic route from Orange County is to follow Pacific Coast Highway through Dana Point and about one mile beyond turn inland on Del Obispo Street. This street will lead directly to the Mission, about three miles away in San Juan Capistrano.

Admission is 50c for adults, children under 12 admitted free.

ROD SERLING — THE INTENSITY REMAINS

Intermission Serling: Costs Killed TV Drama

By TOM TITUS

The death of original television drama, in the view of its most noted practitioner, is not due to changing American tastes or critical unacceptability; it's simply a matter of dollars and cents.

Rod Serling, who led the medium through its "golden age" of the early 1950's with scripts unmatched in quality to this day on such prime series as Playhouse 90, lists production costs as the factor which dealt these shows the killing blow.

"Original drama is too expensive to produce, and it's too tough to buy prime time," explains Serling, who visited the UC Irvine campus Wednesday night for a lecture to the Orange Coast chapter of the American Association of University Women. "It simply became impossible to maintain a high level of dramatic content on a weekly basis."

"Then there's the problem of casting. It's too difficult to get the big name stars because today most of them want a piece of the action. And you can't do that on a one-shot show."

Serling, deeply tanned from five days on location at Zuma Beach where he's scripting the pilot film for a proposed new series, blames the problem of "saleability" for the decline of quality material such as that screened on Playhouse 90 and its contemporaries, Studio One, the U.S. Steel Hour, Kraft Television Theater, etc.

"The policy of the networks," he notes wryly, is, "We don't want it good, we want it Thursday."

Serling was lured back to television last year when he wrote a script for NBC, "Certain Honorable Men," but he doesn't see this type of program, and the critically acclaimed CBS Playhouse, as any harbinger of a return to that "golden age" when the medium was first flexing its muscles.

Admitting that "the kick is gone" out of doing original teleplays, he leads today a decidedly more relaxed pace than during the 1959-63 period when he was producing, hosting and writing most of the scripts for "The Twilight Zone," which gained him nationwide recognition not only for his writing, but for his face and his voice.

Today he does it for money, and you can even catch the famous Serling tones on an occasional commercial — a rather ironic situation considering his bitter words of the past against the station break pill pushers. He grins as he tells of his newly purchased black Cadillac ("My wife calls it a Gauche 8").

If the creative zest had faded, one definite Serling trait remains — his intensity. The teeth-gritting manner that introduced so many, "Twilight Zones" is still a part of his physical makeup, but now it is aimed in a new direction, that of social injustice.

"We suffer from a shortage of values," Serling told his Irvine audience. "We are in an era of confrontation all over the globe and on our college campuses. The cost to us in the alienation of 10 million black Americans can only be guessed."

An emphatic opponent of the Vietnam war, he accuses the country of exercising "selective morality" in its alliances around the world. He speaks of the "desperation which turns students into mobs when moderate dissent produced nothing." He pleads for the country to consider the causes of student and black militancy.

"Students are not all wrong in their demands, although they are desperately wrong in some of the ways they implement them," Serling believes. "Accommodation must be made on both sides."

Why, then, hasn't he penned a TV drama bringing out this viewpoint. The wry grin begins to form. "Too controversial," he says. "The networks just won't buy anything smacking of controversy."

Thus Rod Serling remains a curious paradox — a man deeply concerned about his fellow man, but unable to use his art form to make a statement in that direction. He is undoubtedly America's most successful television dramatist, but he measures his accomplishments in that area in which he has failed.

World Travel

With Stan Deleplene

Rabat, Morocco: The airlines and travel people have made attractive price packages of Portugal-Spain-Morocco. Robin Kinkead flew Pan American's New York-Rabat direct flight for us to report:

"THE BOGART and Boyer movies led us astray on Casablanca. It's a modern high-rise commercial port city. The Morocco you want is in the four Imperial Cities: Rabat and Marrakech, Fez and Meknes."

"Rabat is a white city on the Atlantic just beyond the Straits of Gibraltar. New Rabat Hilton, $18-a-day double for marble lobbies, Moroccan rugs, swimming pool and French cooking."

"Climate is dry and sunny. Streets so narrow taxis wait while you shop — but cost only $2.40 an hour. Shopping is cheap. Leather goods, Arab guns (like in the movies), Rugs from the Atlas mountain Berbers. Bargaining brings prices down about 50 percent."

"Since not all of us can afford Europe, do you have suggestions for the American States?"

The Delta Queen is running on the Mississippi, the Ohio and the Missouri again this year. I was on this last-of-the-paddle wheel steamers a few years ago. Quarters were good. Food was good. And much fun to nudge into the bank at small river towns. A most attractive folder explains it if you write to Greene Line Steamers, Public Landing, Cincinnati, Ohio.

THE SMALLER river trips are better than the run down the Mississippi to New Orleans. When you get on the big river, it's so big and the levees so high, you really don't see much.

Mexico is still cheap. There are three trailer caravans going down — if you like that. Greyhound takes a very good, all-expense tour of 21 days. There are some rail tours — your pullman is parked and used like a hotel.

I still like to drive in Mexico. Despite rent cars that clunk out on me. Even though highways marked "open" are full of road repair equipment. Motel bathrooms with handles stuck on with Scotch tape. "In Mexico, one runs into the unexpected," said a travel brochure. And you can say that again, Pedro. That's the fun of it.

Friends of mine trailering in Mexico write me: "Our daily costs for two this month have averaged $8.30 a day. Add to this the hidden cost of $2.50 a day insurance."

"Our mileage was 1876. We bought in supermarkets. Canned goods are high, but other food is cheap. Beef is a little on the tough side. Ham, veal and chicken are excellent. Bacardi Ron Palmas (rum) at $3.12 a half gallon is the best buy, and beer is ten cents a bottle."

"We have read about some untouched islands off Honduras . . ."

That's the Bay of Islands, and you fly it from San Pedro Sula. (There are flights to San Pedro Sula from New Orleans and Miami.) A letter to me says: Coxen's Hole on the island of Roatan was a disappointment — two couples returned to San Pedro Sula on the earliest flight.

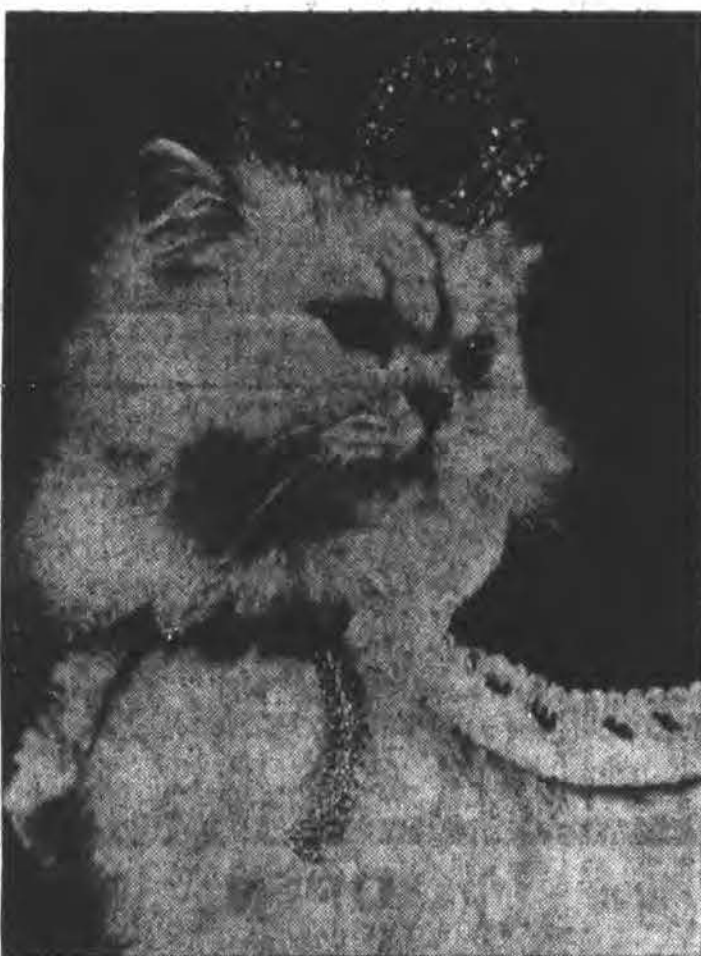

"Finally, four of us got rooms at Merlee's Island Inn (a two-hour boat ride). It was no Hilton but a pleasant place to enjoy a tropical island vacation without crowds of tourists. Rate was reasonable."

I have an idea that it's like Tahiti before the jet strip. And Tahiti at that time was a paradise if you don't mind your paradise with rather buggy rooms, one restaurant, truck transportation.

"Do you think Tahiti is 'spoiled'? Or is there a better island?"

I counted fifteen traffic lights between the airport and the end of Papeete. (There were none ten years ago.) But no, I don't think it's spoiled. It's in the inbetween stage. Getting more comfortable, but the outer districts are old Tahiti.

If Papeete gets too much, it's a short boat ride over to Moorea. That's a rural Polynesian island and one of the most beautiful in the South Pacific. Two good hotels and the Club Mediterranee.

Her Feline Majesty

All decked out in Royal crown and robe, "Dear Tina," a Grand Premier Chinchilla Silver Persian, will be queen of the Cat Show set for Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 18-19, in the Arena of the Anaheim Convention Center. The event will be the largest show of its kind to be held on the west coast with about 500 feline entries in competition.

Now Machines Run Broadway Sales Biz

Computicket, the computerized ticket selling system, is offering for sale tickets to Broadway's biggest new hit, David Merrick's "Promises, Promises," and 15 other top Broadway and off-Broadway shows at its 20 computerized outlets in the Los Angeles area.

In addition to "Promises, Promises," Los Angeles residents will be able to purchase tickets to: "Hello, Dolly," "Fiddler on the Roof," "Plaza Suite," "George M," "Mame," "The Man in the Glass Booth," "Maggie Flynn," "You Know I Can't Hear You When the Water's Running," "Man of La Mancha," "The Price," "We Bombed in New Haven" and "The Golden Rainbow," all on Broadway. Off-Broadway hits available through Computicket will be "The Fantasticks," "Charlie Brown" and "Jacques Brel is Alive and Well and Living in Paris."

The 13 Computicket outlets are located in branches of Ralphs Supermarkets, Bullocks Department Stores and Wallichs Music City stores. Travelers from Los Angeles to New York will be able to leave with tickets to the shows of their choice purchased with the ease of a loaf of bread.

Computicket terminals, which are connected by telephone lines to a central computer, are being installed at all branches of Ralphs, Bullocks and Wallichs and a network of over 100 terminals will soon be operating in the Los Angeles area.

Computicket in Los Angeles also offers tickets to a variety of local entertainment and sporting events including,

"Love Match" at the Ahmanson Theater, the Los Angeles Invitational Track and Field Meet, the Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament, all University of Southern California Basketball games and the Los Angeles Stars professional basketball games.

THANK GOD WE'RE NOT IN GERMANY!

My daughter, who was recently married, writes from Germany that they have 24 inches of snow, zero temperatures, limited conveniences, and long for NEWPORT PRODUCE! She hasn't had a navel orange, or any of the fancy fruits that we all take for granted! So, buy your produce here and thank God we are all in California! The only thing she says they have is Belgium Endive, 10c lb. We have to retail it at $1.39!

OUT 'N' ABOUT

By NORM STANLEY

ORANGE COUNTY'S RESTAURANT, NIGHT CLUB AND ENTERTAINMENT SCENE

No Diet Needed

Two weeks later and 10 pounds lighter your out 'n' abouter has elatedly roused the uninvited guest from Hong Kong. But there's a firm awareness the visit was by no means unique.

If it's true that misery loves company, we're experiencing history's largest gathering of the bed-fast. No housebreaking by the Oriental monster at your domicile can only mean divine providence encircles your house.

NEW PERSPECTIVE

Days and nights of a diet of nothing—followed by the first feeble sipping of beef broth—puts a new perspective on healthier times of dining and winning. Comes moments approaching delirium of the eating pleasures one is missing.

Finally, recovery is at hand and the determination to go on a gastronomical bender replaces all other resolutions made for calendar 1969. Having lost all that weight is the only justification necessary to compile the list of restaurants and entrees for enjoyment as never before.

SOME SUGGESTIONS

As a starter for the next couple of months, a sample compilation might run something along these lines:

Bob Burns, Fashion Island, roast Long Island duckling, sauce bigarde, wild rice.

The Merrymac, Corona del Mar, roast prime rib of choice eastern beef, au Jus.

Newporter Inn Marine Room, cannelloni a la Bolognese.

House of Hyun, Laguna Beach, almond duck with plum sauce.

Chez Cary, Orange, breast of capon in creamed curry sauce.

Stuff Shirt, Newport Beach, tenderloin of beef a la L'Oscar.

Ben Brown's, Laguna Beach Country Club, boneless butterflied rainbow trout.

Sheraton Beach Inn, Huntington Beach, breast of chicken a la Kiev.

Dry Dock, Newport Beach, filet of Mahi Mahi, Kamehameha.

White Horse Inn, Newport Beach, crackling rack of lamb, mint sauce.

Stag Chinese Casino, Newport Beach, Chinese pea chow yuk.

Villa Marina, Newport Beach, seafood treasure chest (for 2).

Ancient Mariner, Newport Beach, Teriyaki top sirloin.

Dick Church's, Costa Mesa or Santa Ana, country fried chicken.

Newport Grotto, Newport Beach, lobster.

Coral Reef, Costa Mesa, Wiki Wiki steak, Wahine.

Josef's, Corona del Mar, prime New York pepper steak.

Villa Roma, Newport Beach, veal Rôlantine a la Margarine.

The Fisherman, Huntington Beach, sautéed frog legs, Provencale.

With some restraint these should carry us through Washington's Birthday when we can start our next list. Keep a few nights open, too, for any first time around favorites missing above.

Riviera Restaurant

There is no permissible excuse for delaying the earliest possible outing to the Riviera Restaurant, South Coast Plaza, Costa Mesa. And the well-deserving popularity of this superb establishment virtually makes it mandatory to have reservations for luncheon or dinner.

Food, service and decor add up to a restaurant that will match the fabled "favorite" of friends or relatives in any city from New York to San Francisco.

INTERNATIONAL FLAVOR

Call it cosmopolitan, continental or what you will, the atmosphere here is one of such intimacy and comfort it's easy to imagine you've settled into a bistro of international renown. A host of regulars already credit it with such status in their word of mouth praise.

The Riviera's trio of owners, Rene Bouscary, Andre Porro and Bernard Rigolet, leave absolutely no detail unchecked in their efforts to assure patrons maximum dining enjoyment. And the results are reflected in the pervading conviviality of each booth's occupants.

LUNCHEON IS SERVED

Luncheon is served from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. with a menu that leaves nothing unrecommended. Whether you finally select from the salads and cold buffet, luncheon specials, combinations or entrees, don't bypass the French onion soup gratinee. Its superior isn't to be found.

Dinner, served from 5 to 11 p.m., should be started with any one of nine outstanding hors d'oeuvres — be it from a low of $1.00 for pate Maison to a high of $4.50 for Beluga caviar.

ENTREE SELECTIONS

Among the entrees — all served with choice of soup du jour or salad — are: Riviera, vegetable and potatoes or rice — taste sensations include filet of sole, Portuguese (tomatoes, onions cooked in Chablis white wine) $3.25; scampi Riviera (large shrimp rolled in Italian Prosciutto ham sautéed in garlic butter, tomatoes and sherry wine) $4.25; tournedos

Rossini (two small filet mignon sautéed, pate, Madeira sauce) $5.25.

The European school of tartare steak fans will marvel endlessly over the raw ground sirloin, egg yolk, capers, anchovies and seasoning, prepared at their table, $4.95.

Treat yourself first at the Riviera but also make it that special place for the out-of-town visitors who took you to their city's preferred restaurant.

Mr. Steak's New Look

Major changes on several counts have resulted in a totally different kind of operation at the Mr. Steak Restaurant, 2287 Fairview, Costa Mesa.

Hank Schierhold, the new owner-manager calls the conversion an "extensive image transition." He also claims the exterior remodeling is "nothing compared to what has been altered as far as the management of the restaurant is concerned."

Mr. Steak has 117 restaurants from coast to coast with basically the same appearance and format. The Costa Mesa location, however, is the first to change the standard pattern in a controlled experiment.

DIFFERENT MENU

One top innovation is the introduction of a different menu, featuring the addition of a number of new dishes. These include Ipswich clams, golden shrimp and fish pieces served as a seafood combination plate, an Italian Hoagie sandwich, fish 'n chips, veal parmesan, spaghetti and meat balls and a complete selection of choice steak dinners.

PATRONS SPECIAL

Schierhold also indicated that with the change in management there's a companion change in philosophy of service as well. He said that under this policy "we will treat our patrons in the same manner one would treat a guest in his home."

Home office of Mr. Steak, Inc., is in Englewood, Colorado, a suburb of Denver. After finishing a market survey of all areas of the country in which their restaurants are located, the company concluded that Southern California has many unique opin-

CALIFORNIANS ARE DIFFERENT

In light of these survey results in California, new concepts in restaurant service and menu will be used for the first time anywhere. The Costa Mesa operation is the initial Mr. Steak to offer them.

From all indications, better round up the family and drop in to partake of the new image and bill of fare.

Entertainment Musts

Two highly-talented groups opened extended engagements this week to provide out 'n' abouters with paramount entertainment, dancing and listening diversion.

To catch the first, head Huntington Beach way to the Sheraton-Beach Inn. Vocalist Johnny Vanelli and the Jack Lawrence Trio are on stage for what has to be a long and loudly-applauded run. Their playing and singing guarantees a not-soon-to-be-forgotten evening.

On the next night out, ditto the same nocturnal remembrance by hitting Ben Brown's Restaurant at the Laguna Beach Country Club for the Tops Trio. Tops is the precisely appropriate moniker for this new musical aggregation — as well as the only adjective to delineate the quality of their artistry.

New Sizzler Entree

Those always in vogue Sizzler Family Steak Houses in Costa Mesa and Huntington Beach have come up with a new entree winner. It's a brochette of beef for the bargain rate of $1.39.

Served on a skewer over a bed of rice pilaff, tender and juicy pieces of prime beef are interlaced with chunks of succulent pineapple, seed onions, green peppers and mushrooms. And, as with the Sizzlers' popular top sirloin and New York steak offerings, the price includes roll and butter.

In Huntington Beach you can savor your brochette at 18552 Beach Blvd. In Costa Mesa go to the corner of E. 17th Street and Santa Ana.

BUDDY RHONER — The piano stylings of Buddy Rhoner may be heard nightly at the Dry Dock in Newport Beach on the Coast Highway. It's pretty dreamy stuff what with the fine food and grog, Buddy's playing and the fantastic view of the bay. Try it.

Shrine Program

Series of Operas Opening March 1

The Music Center Opera Association in conjunction with the San Francisco Opera Association, Kurt Herbert Adler general director, announces a four-series season ticket plan for 10 productions in 18 performances of grand opera in Shrine Auditorium from March 1 through 30.

The season opens Saturday evening, March 1, with Puccini's "Turandot" (in Italian), directed by Paul Hager, with Amy Shuard, Jane Marsh, Ludovic Spiess and Delme Bryn-Jones in the principal roles, Giuseppe Patane conducting. Opening night is on Series B.

The four-series season subscription plan offers savings up to 20 percent. Series A of four operas is a Friday night series, and includes:

"Turandot" on March 7 with the same cast as on opening night; Verdi's "Ernani" (in Italian) on March 14, directed by Dino Yampopoulos, with Leontyne Price, Renato Cioni, Peter Glossop and Giorgio Tozzi, Patane conducting; Berlioz's "Les Troyens" (in French) on March 21, directed by Louis Erlo, with Regine Crespin, Margarita Lilova and Guy Chauvet, Jean Perisson conducting; and Wagner's "Das Rheingold" (in German) on March 28, directed by P. Hager, with Lilova, Sona Cervenka, Franz Mazura and Bryn-Jones, Horst Stein conducting.

Series B of five operas is a Saturday evening series, and includes:

"Turandot" on opening night, March 1, as indicated above; Donizetti's "Lucia di Lammermoor" (in Italian) on March 8, directed by Yampopoulos, with Margherita Rinaldi, Cioni and Bryn-Jones, Patane conducting; Rossini's "Il Barbiere di Siviglia" (in Italian) on March 15, directed by Ghita Hager, with Mary Costa, Pietro Bottazzo, Enzo Sordello, Nicola Rossi-Lemeni and Ramon Vinay, Aldo Faldi conducting; Mozart's "Don Giovanni" (in Italian) on March 22, directed by P. Hager, with Enriqueta Tarres, Teresa Zylis-Gara, Jeanette Pilou, Cesare Siepi, William Holley and Ugo Trama, Stein conducting; and Wagner's "Die Walkure" (in German) on March 29, directed by P. Hager, with Crespin, Nadezda Kniplova, Lilova, Jon Vickers, David Ward and William Wildermann, Leopold Ludwig conducting.

Series C of five operas is a Sunday matinee series, and includes:

"Il Barbiere di Siviglia" on March 2 with the same cast as in Series B; Verdi's "Il Trovatore" (in Italian) on March 9, directed by P. Hager, with Radmila Bakocevic, Lilova, Robert Ilosfalvy and Victor Conrad Braun, Patane conducting; "Don Giovanni" on March 16 with the same cast as in Series B; "Lucia di Lammermoor" on March 23 with the same cast as in Series B; and Puccini's "Madama Butterfly" (in Italian) on March 30, directed by Matthew Farruggio, with Dorothy Kirsten, Nicholas Di Virgilio and Bryn-Jones, Faldi conducting.

Series D of four operas is a Wednesday evening series and includes:

"Il Trovatore" on March 5 with the same cast as in Series C; "Madama Butterfly" on March 12 with Pilou, Di Virgilio and Bryn-Jones, Faldi conducting; "Ernani" on March 19 with the same cast as in Series A; and "Die Walkure" on March 26 with the same cast as in Series B.

All evening performances begin at 8 p.m., with the exception of "Die Walkure," which begins at 7:30 p.m. on March 26 and 29. The Sunday matinees (Series C) begin at 3 p.m.

Season brochures for ready series ticket ordering at a variety of prices ranging from $12.60 to $38.00 (includes all operas on series) are available at The Music Center, 135 North Grand Avenue, Los Angeles 90012. Single ticket prices and order form are included in the brochure. Those who purchase single tickets when ordering in conjunction with series tickets will receive preferential seating for their single ticket purchases. For additional season ticket information, call (213) 626-5781. For special group rates, call (213) 849-1428.

'The Fixer' Premieres Saturday

MGM's "The Fixer" opens Saturday at the Fox Lido Theater in Los Angeles with its gala West Coast invitation premiere.

Stars of the film, Alan Bates, who flew in from London, Dirk Bogarde, Georgia Brown and Carol White will attend, in addition to social and civic leaders as well as other colorful Hollywood personalities.

Based on the Pulitzer Prize winning novel by Bernard Malamud, "The Fixer" is directed by John Frankenheimer and was filmed in Budapest, Hungary.

Television coverage of the premiere will air over KCOP-TV (Channel 13) Sunday evening from 9:30 to 10:30 p.m., with Alan Sloan and Army Archerd as masters of ceremonies.

A Strange Thing for a Restaurant to Say:

WE HOPE YOU'RE NOT FED UP!

Like any restaurant, we want our customers to be well fed but not fed up. When we came to Costa Mesa, we meant to bring you the Mr. Steak concept and all that it means in 116 other Mr. Steak restaurants in 39 states across the country. That means a FAMILY style restaurant with a varied menu, attractive surroundings and good service, staffed by people who consider it a pleasure to serve you, people who have an investment in your community.

We've changed our staff completely. We've also changed our building inside and out and we've even changed our menu completely to include those dishes that our market survey indicates that you people of Costa Mesa prefer. This is the only time in our history that we have made an individual departure from our standard menu in use in all our 117 restaurants. We want to earn your praise as a good neighbor.

Whether or not you've eaten with us before, we think you'll be pleasantly surprised with the changes we've made. We're still open from 11 to 9 every day. Come see us soon!

Don't Let The Name Fool You

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Don't let the name Claude Jade fool you.

It doesn't belong to a Slovenian soccer player, a Swiss ski champion or a Fortinosan general. It isn't the property of a man at all.

Claude Jade (pronounced Clode Jahd) is Alfred Hitchcock's newest discovery.

She is a 20-year-old French beauty who has joined that particular Hitchcock suspense sorority, youngest of the look-alike sisterhood the portly director has favored in almost all his thrillers.

It's almost unnecessary to describe Claude. Just picture Hitchcock's past leading ladies: Grace Kelly, Ingrid Bergman, Julie Andrews, Vera Miles, Tippi Hedren, Eva Marie Saint and Kim Novak. They are all fair, mostly blue eyed, stylized goddesses.

If there is anything Hitch doesn't dig, it's fiery, hysterical females running around in his pictures.

Claude (that name!) is a natural selection for Hitchcock's feminine lead in "Topaz." She would maintain her glacial cool in the finale of an Italian opera in a burning theater.

Seated quietly at Universal, Claude said she was shocked when Hitch beckoned her for the role. "I have very little experience," she explained. "Only two movies. But one of them was 'Stolen Kisses' which Francois Truffaut directed."

"Mr. Hitchcock saw me in Paris. We talked for an hour about travel, cooking and movies. Later, I was told I had the role. I haven't tried to improve my English because he wanted to keep me just as I am. I suppose I am physically the type he likes for his films. The ones I have seen are quiet and dignified. There is no vulgarity about them. I like that."

"He looks for a normal girl and places her in an abnormal situation. That makes for the drama, no?"

It also makes for the stardom, yes?

Claude has signed a seven-year contract with Universal on the strength of "Topaz," the Leon Uris best seller.

Claude has been in Hollywood a month and is resigned to explaining her name. "In France, it is a name for both men and women," she said. "Truffaut wanted me to change it because of Claude Lelouch, Claude Dauphin and others. But I refused."

'Hurrah for War'

Top Awards In Films

'For Shame'

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Society of Film Critics Monday gave three of its eight annual awards for 1968 to "Shame," a contemporary fable about war written and directed by Swedish director Ingmar Bergman.

"Shame" won the society's best film award, Liv Ullmann, one of the film's stars, was named best actress, and Bergman was cited as best director.

It was the second straight year a Bergman film had won three awards from the society, composed of film critics of national weeklies and monthlies.

In 1967, his film "Persona," its star, Bibi Andersson, and Bergman were similarly honored.

"Shame" beat out John Cassavetes' "Faces" and Jean-Luc Godard's "Weekend" for the best film award.

Old Country Scores Hit

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The mother country sent us a Welshman Thursday night. Tom Jones, the pop singer, arrived on ABC-TV in an hour musical-variety special taped in London, a preview of his series that begins on the network Feb. 7. The introductory hour was strictly a heavyweight show business production.

In fact, one wonders whether Jones' series can live up to Thursday night's special, or whether he has anything left over of a substantial encore. If he does, he and his show may be a force to be reckoned with on American television, for his special expended many of his hit songs, among them:

"DELILAH," "It's Not Unusual," "Hard to Handle," "My Elusive Dreams," "Bright Lights and You Girl," "Good News," "I Can't Stop Loving You" and "Land of a Thousand Dreams."

Jones also had superior backing all around, from the high-powered look of the production itself, to the excellent musical support of the Jack Parnell orchestra, the Squires group and the Mike Sammes singers, to the exceptional performances turned in by all his guest stars. These guests were Dick Cavett, the Fifth Dimension, Juliet Prowse and French chanteuse Mireille Mathieu.

Cavett was in truly rare form, and registered with more impact than is usually expected of his quiet style. The added punch was highly welcome and may be just what is needed to get people off the dime about him.

NOT SINCE Jack Paar has an American television humorist seemed so naturally at home in Britain. Cavett's material was slyly and attractively tailored to his visit to London. Among other things, he noted that he got cheated in paying 150 pounds for a drawing by Rembrandt — the only one he ever drew with a ballpoint.

The Fifth Dimension was also flying high Thursday. The group sang "Up, Up and Away" and "Shake Your Tambourine," and was purely delightful. So, too, was Miss Prowse in a colorful dance production. And Miss Mathieu is a showstopper in the manner of Edith Piaf. Her face has a simple, breathtaking beauty, and her songs can send a chill through you and bring a tear to the eye.

JONES HIMSELF is something of a curiosity. Though a Welshman, many of his songs are done in what is essentially a black American style. This makes him, at once, not at all particularly British, yet definitely international in appeal.

He has a big, pleasant voice, and his youthful, darkhaired appearance projects an animal magnetism that occasionally borders on the slight vulgarity sometimes associated with mass-oriented pop singers. Yet he is not at all arrogant, and he works hard to be pleasing, so he is basically likeable.

His way with lines was not impressive, but he is clearly a fast study. He will learn quickly not to laugh so often at his own remarks. Out on the stage, though, performing before a crowd, he makes clear he is a highly professional, knowledgeable practitioner of his business. He moves well. The empty-faced dames in his cast and in the audience seemed enthralled by him, a sure sign of well-oiled pop success.

THIS MATTERHORN

IS NO DISNEYLAND

Yes, you're right. There's nothing really funny about a fractured leg. But — pardon the pun — it does give our friend, here, at least one break. He has time to thoroughly enjoy the DAILY PILOT as he takes a leisurely meal at the outdoor restaurant in Zermatt, Switzerland, in the shadow of the real Matterhorn.

But you don't have to break a leg, go to the Matterhorn — or even to Disneyland, for that matter—to share our friend's enjoyment. We're happy to deliver the Orange Coast's finest hometown daily newspaper to thousands of homes full of whole-limbed readers every day. If it turns out this season you're not as great a ski whiz as you thought you were, turn a bad break into a good break. Take time to get even better acquainted with the . . .

CLEARANCE - ENGLISH FORDS

NEVER HAVE SO MANY PAID
SO LITTLE FOR SO MUCH . . .

Never before has Ford Corolla offered so much sensible transportation for so little. Never before has it been so popular. In fact, it's doing so well in Britain, that it's their number one seller. It's the most exciting English transportation since Lady Godiva's horse. The British obviously think the new Corolla is a good idea. You will too—when you drive out in your new English Ford from Theodore Robins Ford.
