Three young surfing enthusiasts head right on small break near Huntington Beach Pier, getting in a little last minute surfing before heading back to school today. Water temperature — about 56 degrees — makes wet suits mandatory except for the hardest of water sports fans. And, with water that cold, it helps if you are young. If you were old, would you be in there in the first place?

False Smog Data By AMC Charged

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California's state Air Resources Board fined American Motors $4.2 million today for marketing smog-producing cars and allegedly submitting false test reports.

The ARB also halted sales effective midnight Tuesday of all California AMC Matadors, Hornets and Gremlins equipped with V-8 engines and announced an investigation to determine if American Motors intentionally falsified test reports.

It is the strongest disciplinary action ever taken against an automobile manufacturer by the antipollution agency.

Last year the state fined Chrysler Corp. $328,200 and halted Chrysler sales temporarily.

"We have never seen so many dirty cars," said ARB chairman Tom Quinn. "But even more serious is the fact that American Motors submitted false reports to the state which indicated that their cars were actually very clean."

Quinn said AMC executives in Kenosha, Wisc., blamed violations, on neglect of test facilities.

Quinn said as an incentive, the ARB will consider waiving 75 percent of the fine if AMC promptly pays 25 percent, or $1,069,800 and commits the remaining 75 percent to improving its emission control and fuel economy programs.

Quinn said tests conducted by the state show that 85 percent of some AMC models violate California antismog standards for carbon monoxide or oxides of nitrogen emissions.

Quinn said the AMC case is "far more serious" than the violations last year by Chrysler because Chrysler reported its test results showing failure to meet antismog standards while test results submitted to the state by AMC were "totally false."

Quinn said the investigation will determine whether AMC intentionally falsified reports or "was merely guilty of gross negligence."

County's Doctors Working

By ALAN DIRKIN
Of the Daily Pilot Staff
Orange County doctors apparently continued working normal hours today, in contrast with their colleagues in Los Angeles County who are on a slowdown to protest escalating malpractice insurance premiums. Checks at Hoag Memorial Hospital, Newport Beach, and St.

EMERGENCY HOTLINES SET IN SLOWDOWN, AS

Joseph's and Childrens Hospital of Orange County in Orange, the biggest surgery center in the county, found normal schedules in effect.

Spokesmen said also that they had received no indications of a slowdown from doctors.

These checks confirmed a survey by the Orange County Medical Association (OCMA) of all hospitals in the county which found normal schedules, including elective cases, continuing as normal.

Everett Bannister, executive director of the OCMA, said, however, that there was an increase in the number of high-risk pre-natal care patients at Orange County Medical Center.

Bannister added that there was no change among physicians in treating patients at their offices. He estimated that from three to five percent of the doctors in the county—there are 2,000—were practicing without insurance coverage.

This estimate was down from reports in the press in December that 350 doctors in Orange County would practice without insurance (See DOCTORS, Page A2)

Man Saves Dog Coyote Pack Tried Attack

Louis Astler of 754 Calle Vallarta threw rocks to drive away the coyotes as they savagely bit and snapped at Buttons, a Chihuahua-terrier mix, owned by Mr. and Mrs. John Helmuth, 755 Calle Vallarta.

Mrs. Helmuth said today that she had let Buttons out Friday evening when the pack of coyotes descended out of the hills and carried the tiny dog to Astler's residence across the street.

She said Astler and his wife heard commotion in the front yard. Astler threw rocks to drive the attacking animals back into the hills, Mrs. Helmuth said.

Mrs. Helmuth said Buttons was taken to a veterinary hospital for treatment of serious puncture wounds. The pet was due to return home today.

The Helmuths' residence is located adjacent to Shorecliffs Golf Course. Several dogs and cats in the neighborhood have been carried off by coyotes and there have been numerous sightings of the wild dogs lurking in the area at night.

Serious Leg Cuts

Wolves Maul Tot In Zoo Tragedy

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — Two-year-old John Colorio screams when he wakes up in his hospital bed. He refuses to touch his favorite furry animal toys and cries "Mommy, hold me" from inside an oxygen tent.

The boy was mauled by three timber wolves when he slipped on ice and slid between the bars of their cage at the Worcester Science Center Friday.

The animals tore at his legs, pulled him further into the cage and only retreated when a man threw a railroad tie at them, enabling rescuers to pull the boy free.

John was listed in fair condition at The Memorial Hospital today following weekend surgery for serious leg cuts. He is to undergo plastic surgery in about a week.

Since the accident, he screams every time he wakes up, says his mother, Mrs. Stephen Colorio of Sutton.

"John hasn't said anything about it yet," she said. "But I brought his favorite toy, a cookie monster with fur, to the hospital and he wouldn't touch it."

"And my sister bought him a new toy that had a little bit of fur on it, and he won't touch that, either."

The wolves have been quarantined for 10 days as required by state law, to determine if the animals are infected by rabies.

Richard F. Kleber, director of the center, said he didn't think the wolves attacked the boy. Instead, he said, they may have pulled the boy into the pen in a tug-of-war game with the adults who tried to rescue John.

"We can't blame the wolves for what happened," Kleber said. "It's not their fault. If it's anyone's fault, it's mine."

But Kleber said the walkways outside the cage were as clear of ice as possible and the animal pens at the center "are as safe as or safer than any zoo in the country."

Shots Fired Into Mesan's Living Room

A Costa Mesa plumber was awakened at 2 a.m. Sunday by a volley of shots ripping through his living room.

Michael R. Cleavinger, 25, of 231 Avocado St., told police he had fallen asleep on his couch.

Police today said five shots apparently were fired. The first shot shattered a picture window, knocking a picture from the wall.

Three subsequent shots tore through Cleavinger's front door, penetrating interior walls. A fifth bullet was embedded in the stucco in the front of the apartment.

Police said they knew of no motive for the shooting. No one was injured.

Among 13 'Bookie' Areas Hit

A Balboa Island drug store and second story apartment were among 13 locations hit Sunday in a joint raid on alleged gambling establishments by the FBI, San Bernardino and Los Angeles sheriff's departments and the Los Angeles police.

Paul Quinn of the FBI confirmed that one of the raided establishments was at 302 Marine Ave.

That is the location of Leroy's Island Pharmacy, owned by Everett L. Kroesch. According to Beverly Raylinson, manager of the drug store, Kroesch has been hospitalized since Jan. 1 after suffering a heart attack.

A spokesman for Hoag Memorial Hospital said Kroesch is listed in serious condition in the hospital's intensive care unit.

Mrs. Raylinson said she was not in the store Sunday when the lawmen were there but she said she was told officers went to both the store and the second floor apartment.

Quinn said more than $7,000 in cash, gambling paraphernalia and bookmaking records were confiscated in the raids conducted throughout Southern California.

There were no arrests made during the raids.

Quinn said the FBI will turn the confiscated items over to the (See RAID, Page A2)

Funeral Scheduled For Ballet Dancer

Funeral services were scheduled today for one of two Ballet Pacifica dancers struck as they crossed South Coast Highway in Laguna Beach after leaving a ballet rehearsal Saturday.

Terri Ann Bychak, 16, of Santa Ana died of injuries received in the accident. Allison Bryant, 14, also of Santa Ana, remained today in South Coast Community Hospital's intensive care unit. She was reported in stable but guarded condition.

Rosary will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday for Miss Bychak. Mass will be at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday. Both are at Holy Family Catholic Church in Orange.

The deceased is survived by her parents Mr. and Mrs. James Bychak; brother, Kenneth; and sister, Dee Dee.

Miss Bychak was a promising young dancer with the Ballet Pacifica. She had won a scholarship to a New York ballet company and recently had returned from instruction there.

Miss Bryant has been a dancer with the company appearing in several of the Ballet Pacifica productions.

She sustained internal injuries and a broken leg in the tragic mishap.

Police are continuing an investigation of the Saturday accident.

Driver of the vehicle was identified as William H. Marriott, 66, of 17662 Ash Tree Lane, Irvine. He was not held.

Officers said Marriott was southbound in the inside lane of Coast Highway. The girls were hit as they crossed at the intersection of Pearl Street and Coast Highway.

Chutist Falls To His Death

INDIAN TOWN, Fla. (UPI) — The second parachutist in three weeks plunged to his death at this small rendezvous for parachute jump clubs.

The Martin County sheriff's office identified Sunday's victim as Dwayne Edward Stewart, 32, an unemployed journeyman lineman.

Witnesses told investigators Stewart's main parachute failed to open properly after he jumped in a free fall from 7,200 feet above an airport. He waited too long to activate his reserve chute, the witnesses reported, and when it opened it further collapsed the main shroud and hastened his descent.

Ford Urges Truce Calls for Angola Cease-fire

ST. LOUIS (AP) — President Ford called today for "an immediate cease-fire" in Angola, an end to all outside intervention and a government of national unity to stop the civil war there.

He also warned the Soviet Union that if it continues intervention in Angola "damage to our broader relations will be unavoidable."

In a speech prepared for delivery today before the American Farm Bureau Federation in St. Louis, the President promised continued U.S. efforts "diplomatic and otherwise to stabilize the military situation in Angola and promote a quick and peaceful settlement."

But he rejected the idea of using grain sales to persuade Russia to disengage in Angola.

He was to meet with Farm Bureau leaders after his speech and with area news executives before returning to Washington tonight.

Ford was met at the airport by Republican Gov. Christopher Bond and Missouri Atty Gen John Danforth.

The group of well-wishers was small and the weather chilly but sunny. The President said he was happy to be enjoying nice weather, but passed up any handshaking.

He told reporters he expected the "prestige of the United States" to help secure a peaceful settlement in Angola and reiterated that he thought a cease-fire was the best first step to such a settlement, which he said must be reached among the Angolans themselves.

On another subject, the President said he would campaign some in New Hampshire but added that the best way for him to win votes was "working in the Oval Office on presidential matters."

Ford's aides described his trip to St. Louis as nonpolitical, but Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz, who flew here with the President, told reporters Ford definitely would win the farm vote in 1976.

While former President Nixon got 70 percent of the farm vote, Butz said, Ford will get "above 60 percent." He said Nixon got a bigger vote because his opponent, Sen. George McGovern (D-S.D.), was "poison to farmers."

The President's comments followed a Soviet statement Saturday urging "termination of foreign armed intervention in Angola."

Meanwhile, recruiting and training of American mercenaries to fight in Angola has come to an abrupt halt in the United States. The Christian Science Monitor reported today.

Quoting sources close to the Central Intelligence Agency, the newspaper said the halt appeared to be the result of an article it published last week that said ex-U.S. servicemen were being trained for mercenary work in a CIA-sponsored operation at Ft. Benning, Ga.

But today's article said the center of recruitment has moved to Europe, where some African mercenaries are quietly recruiting Europeans, using American and other funds.

Administration officials have denied that American mercenaries were being used but declined direct answers when asked if foreign mercenaries were being hired.

Burglars For Birds

SAN FERNANDO (UPI) — Burglars broke into Glen's Pet Shop over the weekend and stole $3,000 worth of birds out of their cages.

The suspects made off with 100 finches, 50 canaries, 22 parakeets and two mynah birds, authorities said.

Police said the burglars broke in through a skylight.

U. S. Attorney in Los Angeles today and he will make a decision on whether to take the evidence to the federal grand jury.

Quinn declined to say what was taken from the Balboa Island location and he also declined to state whether the raid was aimed at the unidentified apartment occupant or the drug store.

A force of 50 agents and officers raided homes in Los Angeles, Fontana, Pomona, Inglewood and Hawthorne as part of a year-long investigation into illegal gambling activities, Quinn said.

He said the FBI is involved in the case under a federal law which makes it a federal crime when more than five people are involved in a conspiracy to violate state gambling laws.

He declined to say how many people are suspected of working in the alleged ring raided over the weekend, but he did note that there was at least one occupant connected to each residence raided.

Newport Beach police said they were not involved in the investigation and were not notified of Sunday's raid.

Victim Succumbs

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Alicia Precado, 24, Willowbrook, has died in a hospital from bullet wounds she suffered Dec. 26 when she was shot from a passing vehicle while talking with her boyfriend in front of her home. Her boyfriend, Bonifacio Guerrero, 23, Los Angeles, was shot in the abdomen and was in critical condition.

'Bad Mouth' Flap Ends In Shooting

A heated argument over language used in front of women patrons ended in a shooting at 12 27 a.m. Sunday at the Chug A Lug bar in Westminster.

Steven Gray 26 of Whittier was shot in the stomach with a .22 caliber pistol and is reported in stable condition today at the Orange County Medical Center.

Charged with attempted murder is William E. Bivens 43 of Garden Grove.

Westminster police Lt. Joe Woods said a skirmish broke out over the language one of the men was using but at this time officers are uncertain who was the offending party.

Police allege Bivens pulled a gun from his waistband and a struggle ensued in which Gray was shot.

Other patrons subdued Bivens and had disarmed him by the time police had arrived. Bivens was booked at Orange County Jail.

Bird Cage Sparks Fight In Newport

An argument over the placement of a bird cage ended Sunday with the arrest of a Newport Beach man on charges of beating his wife.

Police said John R. Gilmore, 57, of 1117 Back Bay Road, is being held in Newport Beach city jail in lieu of $5,000 bail.

According to police, Gilmore attacked his wife, hitting and choking her, after he complained that she had placed the bird cage between him and his television set.

After the alleged attack, Mrs. Gilmore took the bird and other unidentified family pets and went to a friend's home in Huntington Beach.

At her friend's urging, she filed the report which led to her spouse's arrest, police said.

Meanwhile, efforts to resolve the crisis are continuing. Though Orange County doctors do not appear to be on a slowdown, they are fighting Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr.'s proposed state-run malpractice insurance program on another level.

A statement issued by the association's executive committee called the program "a politically expedient answer to a most critical problem."

Local Leader Dead

A. J. McFadden, Son of Pioneer

Arthur J. McFadden, the son of an Orange County pioneer and a leader in California agriculture, was buried today in Santa Ana.

Mr. McFadden, born in Santa Ana 94 years ago, died Wednesday. He was laid to rest at Fairhaven Cemetery following private services.

Mr. McFadden was the son of Robert McFadden, one of the builders of the first commercial pier in Newport Beach. Called McFadden's landing, the pier was built in 1888 near where the Reuben E. Lee restaurant is now docked and is now a state historical landmark.

Mr. McFadden was graduated from Pomona College in 1901 and later was graduated from Harvard Law School. He established a law practice in Orange County, but abandoned it in favor of a career in agriculture.

He farmed 80 acres of family property in Orange County and additional acreage near the town of LaMont near Bakersfield.

Mr. McFadden became president of the Council of California Growers, the state Board of Agriculture, and the California Chamber of Commerce. Additionally, he served as president of the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives, the California Agricultural Probate Commission, the California Walnut

SUCCUMBS AT 94

Growers Association, and the Persimmon Growers Association.

He was presented the Distinguished Service Award of the California Farm Bureau Federation in 1967.

Mr. McFadden was a friend of James Irvine Sr. He was a director of the Irvine Company and served as its president from 1959 to 1960. He held the post on an interim basis after the death of Myford Irvine and until the appointment of Charles Thomas as president.

Mr. McFadden also served as a trustee of the James Irvine Foundation since its foundation in 1937. In 1965 he was named Man of the Year by the city of Newport Beach.

Mr. McFadden was an education leader too. While he was head of the Irvine Company, the firm donated 1,000 acres of land to the University of California for establishment of its Irvine campus.

He was a regent of the University of California or 16 years and a trustee of Pomona College for 40 years.

He was also a director of the Southern California Edison Co., Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company, Diamond Walnut Growers and the California Fruit Exchange.

Mr. McFadden is survived by his wife, Mabel, of Santa Ana; daughters Edith Lindsay of Santa Ana, Annabel Rasmussen of Irvine, and Flora Lafford of Corning; a sister, Anna Schweissenger of Eagle Rock, 15 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Historic Event Repeated

The arrival of the American Freedom Train in San Juan Capistrano on Jan. 19 will not be the first time a train carrying a patriotic display has stopped at the city's depot. As this picture shows, area residents jammed near the railroad tracks in 1917 to see the Liberty Bell which was being carried across the country to promote the purchase of liberty bonds. Dan Rios, whose picture this is, recalled that the bell was in San Juan for half a day. This year, the Freedom Bell, a replica of the Liberty Bell, will be on board the Freedom Train and in the city for a day and a half.

Prints Eyed In County Murder Case

Fingerprints taken from a body found during the weekend in Silverado Canyon are being checked with the FBI and other federal and state agencies today in a bid to determine the identity of a man listed by Orange County Sheriff's officers as a homicide victim.

Deputies said the body of the nude male was found Saturday near the top of Bedford Peak by a group of off duty Santa Ana police officers who were driving dune buggies through the rugged terrain.

Deputies said the body, that of a man believed to be in his mid-twenties, bore no wounds other than a number of scratches and bruises on both arms. Investigators believe the man may have been suffocated by unknown assailants.

Investigators have virtually ruled out a drug overdose as the possible cause of death. But a final determination will not be made until coroner's deputies have completed tests, they said.

Consistent Draw

Religion Successful Business at Knott's

The sound of religious music and impassioned "witnesses" have reverberated through Knott's Berry Farm recently and park officials say religion has proved to be good business.

On at least four occasions, religious music events have brought 20,000 persons to the park, which annually draws the third largest crowds in the country, behind Disneyland in neighboring Anaheim and Disney World in Florida.

"We've always had the freedom to make statements — be they political like my grandfather has done in the past, or religious, through the musical programs," says Darrel Anderson, one of 11 general partners and a grandson of Walter Knott, the 86-year-old founder of the park.

Right-wing political literature has been available in the amusement park for years because of Knott's interests.

Anderson, director of entertainment and merchandising, says he started the religious music programs in May 1973 and says the use of religion to draw crowds to the park is justifiable.

"We provide the business support for those who want to minister," Anderson says, but adds that the groups have to both be entertaining and "seriously involved in ministry."

One in Three Arrested

Bad Odds for Juveniles

By DOUG FRITZSCHE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Your son has one chance in three of being arrested before he is 18 years old.

Those are the cold, hard odds posed by juvenile delinquency statistics taken throughout the United States. In Orange County, juvenile arrests have increased at three times the rate of population growth.

Last year, more than 40,000 Orange County youths found themselves in police custody.

The reasons behind the upswing are as many as the youngsters arrested according to Brian Singer who coordinates the UC Irvine Youth Services Program.

The program in its third year provides counseling to youngsters who are in trouble with the law.

The UCI program seeks to take youngsters who are arrested for the first time or who have committed "status offenses" and get to the root of the problem before they become habitual delinquents.

According to the Youth Services Program statistics the process works. In the first two years of operation comparisons of treated juveniles and an untreated "control group" showed that half of those counseled did not have subsequent contact with the police.

In the control group 23 percent of the youngsters managed to stay out of trouble on their own.

The Youth Services program is one of two major services forming the groundwork of a juvenile justice program for southern Orange County.

Irvine Costa Mesa Saddleback Valley San Juan Capistrano and Laguna Beach have joined together to apply for a $300,000 grant through the Orange County Criminal Justice Council.

The goals of the program are to reduce by 50 percent the referrals into the formal juvenile justice system during the first year, reduce the number of referrals to juvenile hall by 50 percent in the first year and reduce recidivism among juvenile delinquents by 50 percent in the first year.

The other major part of the proposal will be for a residential care program operated by the County Department of Mental Health. That program will include the shelter in Laguna Beach, a six-bed shelter in Costa Mesa, a six-bed shelter in an incorporated county area and a six-bed shelter in the Saddleback Valley-San Clemente area.

Also in the proposal is a third, discretionary area of "contractual services." In that portion, the cities and county may refer youngsters on a case-by-case basis to other agencies if they feel it warranted. It would include agencies such as the Assessment and Treatment Services Center of Coastal Orange County.

The City of Newport Beach, which is in the same funding region as the other cities, has drafted a separate juvenile justice program grant proposal.

According to the Newport Beach proposal, the community is set off from the others because of the "resort nature" of the city.

Newport Beach is seeking $63,634 to hire a special consultant to train police officers in recognizing which juveniles should be counseled and which sent through the formal criminal justice system.

The primary counseling and treatment facility in the Newport Beach proposal is the Assessment and Treatment Services Center.

Final Rites Conducted for Former Mesan

Funeral services were held in Yreka recently for a former Costa Mesa man killed in a light plane crash in Northern California.

The services were for Don Nicholas Sargent, 37, a welder who had been living in Etna since leaving Costa Mesa two years ago.

Mr. Sargent was the pilot of a plane which crashed in early-morning fog in a field near Etna Monday. The only passenger in the plane, Mario Greco, a work friend of Mr. Sargent's, also was killed.

Mr. Sargent is survived by his wife Jo Anne, sons Donnie Dean, Scott Lee and David Michael, his mother Felicia Sargent of Etna, brother David of Costa Mesa, and a sister Diana Voorhees of Huntington Beach.

The Sargents lived in Laguna Beach in the 1950s, where both brothers and the sister attended Laguna Beach High School. The family moved to Costa Mesa in 1959.

Mr. Sargent and Mr. Greco were returning in a rented Cessna 150 Aerobat from a trip in the Sacramento Valley area in which they had looked at a plane to buy. They reportedly landed at Redding late at night to rent a car because of the poor weather conditions, but they were unable to do so and decided to continue by air.

Mr. Sargent received his private license several years ago and was enrolled in a commercial and instrument flying course.

Both Mr. Sargent and Mr. Greco, who had obtained a student license, had led meetings to start a flying club in the Etna area.

County Crops Surviving Cold Weather

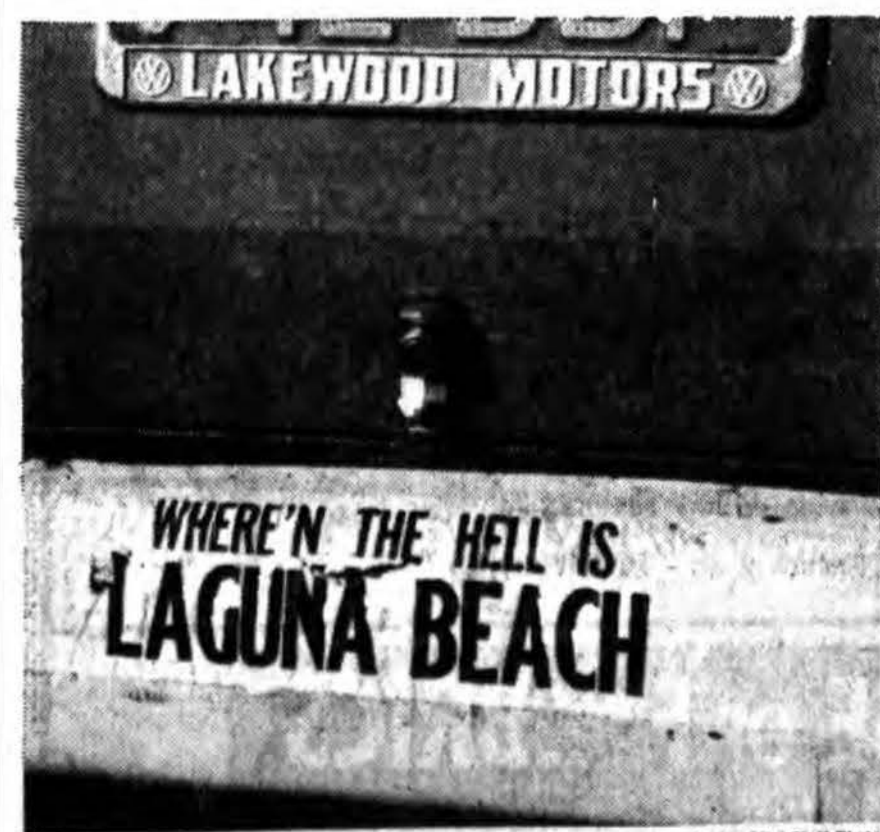

Very little damage has been done to Orange County's fruit and vegetable crops by the recent wave of overnight cold weather, a spokesman for the county agricultural center said today.

"Not all the reports have been gathered but it appears at this point that we've come through it quite well," according to Leonard Lickhus, chief deputy agricultural commissioner.

"The worst night was that of Jan. 1 and whatever damage took place then was about all we have had," he said.

Lickhus said the temperature has been cold but not quite frosty enough to do serious harm to citrus and other crops. A low of 22 degrees was recorded early Friday.

Lickhus said that the fields are protected by large wind machines that raise orchard temperatures by circulating the air. He also said a few smudge pots are still being used.

Chief Says 'Regretful' Of Killing

LONG BEACH (AP) — Police Chief Ralph G. Kortz said he is "extremely regretful" that a man attempting to surrender during a New Year's Day shootout was mistakenly shot and killed by police.

The victim, Gene Lowe, 28, was surrendering to a highway patrol officer when he was killed by a Long Beach policeman who could not see the CHP officer and thought Lowe was escaping, Kortz said.

"I'm extremely regretful that it happened," said Kortz. "There's nothing else I can say."

Kortz said police now believe that Gene Lowe's brother, Kennedy 32, acted alone in the ambush slaying of officer Gary Elkins and the subsequent shootout at the Lowe home early Thursday morning.

KENNEDY LOWE was also slain by police during the nearly two-hour gun battle that followed Elkins' death.

The chief said Gene Lowe, a law student at the University of Utah, was attempting to surrender to CHP Officer Joe Van Coutren when he was killed by a single bullet in the upper torso. Van Coutren told Kortz he asked him to put his hands above his head and walk to an opening in the back fence.

But officer J. S. Harmon could not see or hear the CHP officer and shot Lowe in the back from about 100 feet in the belief he was escaping, Kortz said.

He said no disciplinary action against Harmon is planned at present, but the investigation is continuing.

'Beach Boy' Leader Booked in Theft

MALIBU (UPI) — Dennis Wilson, leader of the popular "Beach Boys" singing group, was arrested on suspicion of battery and theft of a firearm following a fight with his girl friend, sheriff's deputies have reported.

Wilson, 31, as resident of this exclusive beach community, allegedly slapped his fiancée, Barbara Lamm, 26, then took her .38-caliber revolver.

Miss Lamm, suffering minor bruises and cuts in the incident, called sheriff's deputies, who arrested Wilson in front of his home on Pacific Coast Highway. He was released on $5,000 bail.

Emergency Hotline

Doctor Slowdown Seen

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Radio communications and telephone hotlines were hooked up and helicopters were ready today to help hospitals deal with a slowdown by doctors protesting the rising cost of malpractice insurance.

Medical spokesmen said Sunday that hospitals in the Los Angeles area formed a communications network to distribute patient loads evenly. The slowdown began Jan. 1, but the full impact was not expected to be felt until today with the end of holiday vacations.

MEANWHILE, doctors and state officials prepared to resume a meeting in Sacramento today, which ended in Los Angeles on Saturday without agreement.

"We are prepared to handle any emergencies," said Dr. John Affeldt, medical director of the Los Angeles County Department of Health Services. "We have direct radio communications to all of our hospitals and also with fire and rescue units, including paramedics and helicopter evacuation crews."

Private hospitals whose staff doctors are participating in the slowdown were referring cases to five public facilities, he said. But if too many hospitals begin referring large numbers of patients, Dr. Affeldt said the excess load would be spread among private hospitals.

THE REFERRAL figures remained small Sunday, spokesmen said.

"We have about 600 beds available to us at the present time," Dr. Affeldt said. "We have been running about 80 percent" of the total 3,700 beds in county facilities, about 15 percent of all beds available at public and private hospitals throughout the county.

The eight county-run hospitals have installed an emergency center and a telephone hotline, he added. The Los Angeles County Medical Association said it would set up a referral hotline.

The malpractice insurance situation in the Los Angeles area comes in the wake of a 32-day doctor's strike in Northern California which began last May 1 over a hike in malpractice insurance premiums by the Argonaut Insurance Co. of Menlo Park. The doctors returned to work after legislators pledged to seek permanent reforms.

Doctors in Southern California are protesting a proposed 486 percent rate hike for malpractice insurance by Travelers Insurance Companies of Hartford, Conn. Previously, doctors said they paid an average of $6,000 a year for coverage but that under the new rates they would pay up to $36,000.

San Diego Blacks Flay 'FBI Plot'

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Leaders of the San Diego black community have denounced as "definitely wrong" reported efforts by the FBI to encourage warfare between rival black groups in the city during 1969.

"As it is, many people in southeast San Diego feel they are not getting a fair shake in the American system," said Superior Court Judge Earl J. Gilliam.

"On top of that, we now learn that the FBI tried to create dissension by pitting one group against another in a situation where no criminal offense was involved. This was definitely wrong," he said.

"FBI agents take an oath to be peace officers," said city councilman Leon Williams. "They should be peace seekers."

sociate director of the FBI who testified before congressional committees on the counterintelligence effort, said the FBI's purpose was to disrupt the Black Panthers and the U.S. Organization.

Adams said the two groups were pitted against each other in an effort to prevent them from joining forces, thus reducing their effectiveness.

"Groups may disagree and this applies to whites and chicanos, but we have to try to live with each other and reach a middle ground," said the Rev. George Walker Smith, a member of the board of education.

"Certainly, it is not the function of the FBI to foment dissension. What's more, such dissension makes the situation worse for people who are already having a tough time."

Manson Follower Issues 'Warning'

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Sandra Good, a Charles Manson follower jailed for plotting to send threatening letters, has warned that injury and death await those who pollute the environment.

Miss Good, former roommate of would-be presidential assassin Lynette Fromme, released during the weekend a handwritten statement through a visitor with the intention that it be made public.

She and Manson "Family" associate Susan Murphy were charged with conspiring to mail 171 death threat letters to government officials and businessmen they consider enemies of the natural environment.

Refugee Labor Probed

POMONA (AP) — The Los Angeles County Grand Jury has been asked to investigate a gardening business that sponsored, employed and then allegedly failed to pay a group of ethnic Chinese refugees from South Vietnam, many of whom don't even speak Vietnamese.

Pomona city officials said they had asked for the investigation because the group of some 200 refugees has been reduced to penurious existence in the Pomona-Fontana area, following the failure of the gardening business devised by Gerald Martin, 37, an Oregon businessman.

LONG BEACH (AP) — State Sen. Joseph Kennick, (D-Long Beach), says he will not seek reelection to a fourth term. He thus becomes the sixth state senator to announce he'll retire this year.

Kennick, 70, said he felt his 31st District "would best be served by a new person."

Gas Payment Illegal?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. John V. Tunney has asked Atlantic-Richfield Corp. and the Southern California Gas Co. to drop a provision in their natural gas contract calling for advance payment by gas company consumers.

Tunney said Sunday he believed the agreement would be declared illegal by the Federal Power Commission.

The Political Ladder

The built-in advantage of the incumbent in almost any election is a disturbing fact of political life.

In California in 1974, an impressive 90 percent of the incumbents retained their seats in the Legislature. In the primaries, 70 percent of senators and 60 percent of assemblymen ran unopposed. Many of the rest faced only token competition.

Proponents of public campaign funding attribute this inequity to the fact that challengers more often than not are grossly under-financed. So they simply don't have the wherewithal to build up sufficient public identity to compete with that magic word "incumbent" on the ballot.

Unfortunately, no one seems to have come up with a really workable plan for public campaign funding that would help equalize the identity aspect of races.

Further, "lack of identity" often results from the simple fact that many challengers go on a ballot with little record of public service or special achievement which can attract supporters and contributors and offset the incumbent's experience.

So what can the sincerely interested, if slightly impoverished, citizen do to get his foot in on the political ladder?

One answer, as proved in many local races (city councils, school boards etc.) is lots of dedicated community involvement on a volunteer basis.

Active participation in homeowner groups, youth work, community improvement projects, and even as a consistently interested citizen participant in city council, planning commission and school board meetings can give a name and a face the public identity needed for eventual campaigning.

The reward for this sort of "dues paying" is not monetary. But it does tend to separate the wheat from the chaff in the public eye — and catch the eyes of potential campaign contributors and workers. The citizen who is willing to give time, energy and talent to involvement in community affairs can't help but score some points.

And, with new restrictions on campaign donations reducing the opportunity for special interest groups to "buy" political seats for favorite candidates by heavily underwriting their campaigns, the chance for the lesser financed challenger should improve.

Meanwhile there's always room and need on the political scene for those who are willing to start at the bottom.

Sticky Decision

Without casting aspersions at any of the personalities involved, it probably was all to the good that Orange County supervisors dropped their plan to hire ex-Congressman Richard T. Hanna as Washington lobbyist.

Hanna had proposed he represent Orange County government's interests in the nation's capital at a cost of $100,000 (later reduced to $90,000) a year. And maybe it wouldn't have been a bad deal considering the six-term connections Hanna made as a Congressman.

Still, there was element of uneasiness in the proposed pact. It could have been construed that Hanna was using the county agreement as a base for a more widespread new Washington operation.

Sticky is probably the best way to describe the situation.

It was just sticky enough that Hanna and a majority of the Board of Supervisors were wise in deciding to set the proposal aside.

"THANK HEAVEN! MAYBE NOW HE'LL STAY AWAY FROM POT."

State Tax Auditing Step-up Questioned

A substantial increase in the number of state income tax examiners is raising some eyebrows which undoubtedly will be evidenced when the legislative budget committees settle down to work next year.

It boils down to the question of how many auditors are required to keep tax-payers honest and collect the state's just dues without moving into the realm of harassment and to a point of diminishing returns.

The issue has been raised by the hiring of 156 new employees for the purpose of greatly increasing the numbers of returns audited annually. The impetus for the stepped-up examinations stems from a report early this year by the Joint Legislative Audit Committee which charged some $60 millions in revenues were being lost annually because the Franchise Tax Board was failing to make sufficient reviews.

THAT REPORT recommended the filling of 344 new permanent positions and 57 more for a three year period. This is against a staff of 2262 existing positions and a recommendation by the Legislative Analyst for more than 200 new positions just to audit the statements of lobbyists and political candidates required by the new Fair Political Practices Initiative Act adopted at the polls last year.

When one figures the costs involved in such hirings it can be seen that unless each position produces many times more than its cost there is a distinct danger of the operation becoming merely one of taking from the taxpayer for the sake of maintaining a payroll. For each auditing post costs a minimum of $20,000 a year, considering salaries, fringe benefits, payroll assessments, office space, equipment and supplies and supervision.

IN CONTRAST with the more than $3 billion collected by the board in income tax revenues the money now sought to be turned up by more intensive auditing dwarfs in importance. Even so if there is $60 millions escaping each because of too few auditors then not only is the added payroll of around $3 million justified in terms of dollars but is demanded in fairness to those who are honestly paying their share.

But the board's determination to audit 2 million individual returns seems to be overreaching if the information a hand is accurate. For such widespread auditing would account for 40 percent of all individual returns filed. That means that in just 2 1/2 years the board could review everyone's returns.

THE NECESSITY for so thorough review of the returns is questioned in the light of the knowledge that 75 percent of those returns are reporting adjusted incomes of less than $15,000. According to the report 3 1/2 million of those filing in 1972 reported incomes of $9,000 or less. Since joint incomes of married couples must exceed $8,000 to be taxable the amount to be discovered by audits of such persons must be assumed to be minuscule.

Further the report's reference to the $60 million was sweeping and included the unreported income and overstated expenses of both non-California residents and corporations as well as the failure to file returns by persons not subject to withholding taxes.

In contrast the IRS, the federal tax agency, reportedly samples less than 10 percent of taxpayer filings and seeks mostly the fat cats.

IF THE NEW personnel are used to catch those not filing or not reporting income, or those in the upper brackets wrongfully listing deductions, their employment would seem warranted. If they are also used to collect admitted but unpaid tax debts in productive amounts it will be worthwhile.

However, in view of the board's past policy of exerting efforts for the collection of unpaid taxes as small as $1 there appears to be a danger of the agency becoming bogged down in auditing exercises too petty to be productive.

Crucial Weapons Sent Abroad

U.S. Arsenal Depleted

WASHINGTON — The United States has pumped so much emergency military equipment into Vietnam and Israel that its own arsenals are dangerously depleted.

This is the conclusion of a secret audit, which claims the arms exports "adversely affected overall U.S. readiness." The explosive audit, conducted by the General Accounting Office (GAO), charges that military supplies were borrowed from active U.S. units to meet the needs of our allies.

Some critical items were rushed to Vietnam and Israel in spite of "existing shortages" within America's own armed forces. These crucial weapons allegedly were removed from U.S. bases, including strategic "pre-positioned" stocks in Europe.

"ACTIONS are currently under way to try to alleviate many of these shortages," states the audit, which was concluded last month. But it adds grimly that "for such items as tanks, production capability is limited. . . . Thus, inventories for several important items will remain depleted for a long time."

During the 1972-74 period, declares the document, "the United States programed . . . about $8.5 billion to support South Vietnam and Israel with military supplies and equipment."

On three occasions, arms were poured into Vietnam on an emergency basis. This occurred in August, 1971, and again in June, 1972.

Then, "as negotiations for a cease-fire in Southeast Asia progressed, it was anticipated that the agreement might call for a moratorium on military equipment entering Vietnam. A special project was undertaken in October, 1972, to identify and expedite delivery of all the equipment the United States wanted to get in-country before such a deadline could be established."

MOST OF these supplies were abandoned a few months later by the retreating South Vietnamese. Indeed, the loss of U.S. equipment on overseas battlefields has been staggering.

During the latest Arab-Israeli conflict in October, 1973, for example, "equipment and supplies on both sides were consumed at astonishingly high rates. The Israeli inventories were reduced to such dangerous levels that Israel requested immediate assistance from the United States."

The Defense Department, caught without a contingency plan, asked the Israelis to document their needs. But they refused "to provide some such information," the study alleges. Therefore, "U.S. authorities had no basis on which to judge the criticality of items and amounts thereof requested by the Israelis."

Defense officials, nevertheless, filled most of Israel's requests on blind faith, although this meant stripping certain U.S. units. Here are other highlights from the secret GAO report:

JACK ANDERSON

—"THE TWO principal types of tracked vehicles furnished to Vietnam and Israel in large quantities were tanks and APCs (armored personnel carriers). As of June 30, 1974, the Army had a shortage of 4,943 tanks and 1,822 APCs." This reduced the inventory of tanks, for example, 50 percent below the minimum Army requirements.

The Army keeps equipment in Europe for U.S.-based troops, who would be airlifted across the Atlantic in case of an emergency. "To respond to Israel's requirements," states the study, "the Army withdrew 368 M-60 series tanks from this stock as well as 500 APCs." This cut deeply into the stockpile that is supposed to be held in Europe for U.S. use.

Because of the shipments to Vietnam and Israel, according to the study, "the total requirements for APCs will not be satisfied until about 1980."

Tactical radio components were furnished to Israel during the Middle East war. The government auditors claim this "had the effect of further aggravating a critical shortage which had existed for several years."

THE AIR FORCE also depleted its "on-hand, available stocks" to supply Israel, thus leaving itself "far short of the computed war reserve requirements in several instances."

The Tactical Air Command, for example, "was required to withdraw 34 F-4E aircraft from its active squadrons and to furnish them to Israel, thus increasing TAC's worldwide shortage to 116 F-4 aircraft."

During the 1973 Middle East war, 400 Maverick air-to-ground missiles "were withdrawn from stock and sent to Israel." This amounted to "50 percent of the missiles on hand," charges the report.

Another air-to-ground missile, the Shrike, is used chiefly to knock out the radar systems of anti-aircraft missiles. "In October, 1973," reports the GAO, "Israel requested slightly more than 1,000 Shrike missiles. Although only 300 Shrikes were delivered to Israel, at the time the Air Force had only 22 percent of its requirements."

The U.S. has stopped producing Sparrow intercept missiles, which are used to blast enemy planes out of the sky. Although the U.S. had none to spare, the Israelis requested 180 and received 80 Sparrow missiles during the October, 1973, war.

Footnote: The Pentagon acknowledged that the GAO audit was "an impressive overview of the impact of aid to Israel and Vietnam." But Defense officials called the report "incomplete" because of an "inadequate analysis."

The Medicine Show

The Great American Medicine Show, by Spencer Klaw. (Viking, $11.95) The Superdoctors, by Roger Rapoport. (Playboy, $8.95)

Both of these books are replete with the excesses of the medical profession brought about by refined technology and advances in knowledge.

A dozen years ago it just would not have been possible for a doctor to treat 60 or 70 patients a day or for a surgeon to move from one operating room to another performing successive major operations.

The Great American Medicine Show makes serious charges against the medical system in carefully documented, highly readable prose. Among the grossest abuses is the inflation of the country's annual hospital bill by needless surgery and the unnecessary hospitalization of people with nonsurgical ailments.

DRUG prescriptions, too, are written too often without regard for their cost to the patient or their desirability. "The evidence is strong that tens of thousands of people, at the least, are being hospitalized each year because they have reacted badly to a drug they should not have been given in the first place," Klaw writes.

Klaw stresses the need for a national health security bill, despite arguments about its high cost and the probable bureaucracy of another federal bureaucracy. He reasons this is the only way to remedy the avarice, carelessness and ignorance that are downgrading the level of American medical care, despite tremendous scientific strikes in recent years.

THE SUPERDOCTORS is not

nearly as serious as Klaw's volume, but it is much more entertaining. Read at that level — for amusement — the book offers ribald stories and gossip tidbits about some of the world's most eminent physicians.

Many of the best and most dedicated doctors come off as megalomaniacs to whom medicine is an obsession. The patients get lost as human beings while the doctors devise better techniques with which to treat them.

Clergymen Can Be Puzzling

Scene: The Heavenly Real Estate Office. The Landlord is happily putting the finishing touches on another galaxy as his business agent, Mr. Gabriel, enters.

The Landlord (singing reedily): A couple of jiggers of moonlight and add a star...

Gabriel: Excuse me, sir. But I have a report from that little planet you're so unreasonably fond of — Earth. I'm afraid the tenants down there are squabbling again.

The Landlord: Oh, my, my. I suppose they're killing each other off in droves, despite my warning them time after time.

Gabriel: Quite the contrary, sir. They're squabbling over the extraordinary efforts they're making to save each other's lives.

The Landlord: How marvelously refreshing, Gabriel! I always knew they'd see the light some day. Such nobility!

ART HOPPE

Gabriel: I don't know about that, sir. I think it's more a case of cowardice versus stinginess. You see, they've invented machines that can keep an unconscious person alive indefinitely, even though there's no hope of recovery.

The Landlord: Well, that does show a reverence for life, doesn't it? It always pleases me, Gabriel, when they cherish the gift I gave them.

Gabriel: Yes, sir. Of course, the patient's family, the doctors and nurses and the lawyers and judges usually agree the machines should be turned off so the patient can "die with dignity."

The Landlord: But if these patients are unconscious, I doubt they care much about dignity.

Gabriel: Exactly, sir. However it's very expensive to keep the patient alive. It's a clear waste of the family's money and the physician's time. But while they all agree the plug should be pulled, none wants to be the one to pull it.

The Landlord: Do they fear my wrath, Gabriel?

Gabriel: Perhaps, sir. But the family fears the law, the physician fears a malpractice suit, and the judge fears the death threats he'll receive from good Christians.

The Landlord: I take it most of my clergymen are against pulling the plug in such cases.

Gabriel: Yes, sir. They say pulling the plug is your job.

The Landlord (wryly): They always were adept at foisting off unwanted tasks on me.

Gabriel: Would you care to step in and adjudicate this dispute, sir?

The Landlord (hastily): I'd love to, Gabriel, if I didn't have a black hole to patch up in the Crab Nebula. But I will say one thing about my clergymen.

Gabriel: What's that, sir?

The Landlord: For men who spend their whole lives recommending the wonderful place I run up here, they certainly are reluctant to send me any customers.

Mary Tyler Moore To Star in Special

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The greatest misnomer in entertainment today is the term "television special." It suggests a unique event. But the majority of specials are commonplace bores.

A star with too much time on his hands gathers a clique of singers, dancers and comedians to plug a network hole with an ego orgy.

SOME GET HIGH RATINGS, some end up in the pits. In any case, few are "special."

What's so singular about, say, Glen Campbell, Ike and Tina Turner, Jim Nabors and perhaps Alan King doing a turn together for a tedious hour of music and one-liners?

The really smart ones, like Mary Tyler Moore, dodge TV specials except for rare guest appearances with such friends as Dick Van Dyke.

But on Jan. 22 Mary will star in "Mary's Incredible Dream," an hour-long CBS offering which she says is "totally different from anything ever seen on television."

THIS HAS BEEN SAID before. But Mary, who stars in her own weekly comedy series, is willing to put it in writing or have it engraved on Mt. Rushmore.

"Let me put it this way," she said, "as a performer I could go to my grave happy that with this show I've accomplished everything I ever wanted to do."

Mary has a reputation for modesty. She gives the best lines in her series to Ed Asner, Ted Knight and the rest of the cast. She doesn't appear on talk shows. Hers is a low profile.

IT IS EXTRAORDINARY, then, for Mary to speak so glowingly about her special.

"This is a totally different concept from anything ever attempted on television," she went on. "There is no dialogue whatever."

"We go from song to dance to song and back again, telling a story of the eternal cycle of man. If viewers don't want to follow the story they can just enjoy the music and dancing."

"The music includes everything from Handel to Mac Davis. There's modern dancing, tap dancing and ballet."

MOREOVER, MARY'S wardrobe for the show is an actress' dream come true. Followers of her weekly series will see a great deal more of Mary's epidermis than has been displayed before.

Long a professional dancer, Mary has attended classes five days a week for many years. She worked on her song and dance routines five hours a day for four months before beginning rehearsals.

This was followed by six weeks of on-camera rehearsals and nine days of taping.

"It's the sort of dedication that will make this show literally very special," she said.

Returning

Art Carney will be reunited in 'The Honeymooners — The Second Honeymoon' in an ABC-TV special, Feb. 2.

HE CAGED BURGLARS

MILAN, Italy (UPI) — A quick-thinking apartment superintendent trapped two burglars in his building's elevator with their load of loot by switching off the electricity, police said.

Police turned it on again and arrested Salvatore Cappiello, 19, and Antonio Stallone, 23, both of Naples.

Want a Date? Deejay Airs Requests

BALTIMORE (AP) — Want a date? Try calling Baltimore's on-the-air dating service.

WFBR radio's evening announcer, "Commander" Jim Morton, takes calls between top-40 and oldie records.

Callers seeking dates range in age from 18 up. Some are young people, many are separated or divorced, or elderly persons who say they have difficulty meeting people.

CRANK CALLS ARE INFREQUENT and — unlike many talk shows — callers usually stick to the matter at hand.

Surrounded by banks of cartridge tapes, coils and tangles of cables, and a control desk covered with telephones, instrument panels and turntables, Morton takes the first calls just after he goes on the air at 7 p.m.

The affable, bearded Washington, D.C., native jokes with a teen-ager called "Chopper" who just wanted to get on the air "to show my friends" and a Libra who wants to talk to Tom whose girlfriend died.

PUSHING HIS MOP OF BROWN hair out of his eyes, he puts off a man who wants his "case" to be the first heard. The "Commander" wants a woman's "case" to be the first.

A 27-year-old junior high school physical education teacher calls; she wants to date a sensitive man. A sports writer from an afternoon newspaper calls and — although she admits she doesn't read the sports section too often — they're interested in each other.

When they continue their conversation off the air, it's up to her to decide whether to give him her telephone number.

Morton plays another record and resumes screening calls. A few regulars are told to call back later. Those under 18 are rejected and a caller with someone yelling in the background is cut off.

Congresspersons Wed

From Wire Services
The participants in the first marriage of members of Congress flew to Indiana on the first leg of their honeymoon, leaving behind a feeling in some Democratic circles that the conjugal union might end one of their political careers.

Rep. Andrew Jacobs Jr. (D-Ind.), and his new wife — still known politically as Rep. Martha Keys (D-Kan.), — said an undisclosed "warm country" was their final destination.

After their wedding in Topeka, Kan., Mrs. Keys refused to comment on talk that her loyalties now might be split between her husband in Indiana and her constituents in Kansas and that her job was in jeopardy.

Actor Robert Cummings is scheduled to stand trial March 1 on two counts of defrauding the telephone company by making free long-distance phone calls.

King County Superior Court Judge Warren Chan set the trial date. The actor's lawyer, Harry C. Wilson, told the court that he personally could guarantee that Cummings will appear when necessary at the Seattle hearing.

One of the quadruplet boys born in Quincy, Ill., died early today after failing to overcome a respiratory problem. The three other babies were reported in good condition.

A spokesman at St. Mary Hospital said Colin Kuhn, last born of the quads, succumbed at 2:30 a.m.

The boys were born to Mr. and

PEOPLE

Mrs. Eugene Kuhn, who live on a 100-acre farm near the village of Ursa, a few miles north of Quincy. Doctors said the births were unusual because the mother had not taken fertility drugs.

Dr. Karl Menninger, humanist and world renowned psychiatrist, was resting in fair condition at St. Mary Hospital in Rochester, Minn., following surgery for removal of a tumor from the back of his head.

MENNINGER

Menninger, 82, cofounder and chairman of the Menninger Foundation in Topeka, Kan., underwent more than six hours of surgery.

A spokesman for the Mayo Clinic would not comment on details of the operation or whether the tumor was benign.

A Fairmont Hotel luncheon Tuesday is expected to draw more than 1,000 persons to honor Mayor Joseph L. Alioto, whose eight years in office in San Francisco end this week.

Madlyn Day, coordinating the luncheon, said the $10-a-head gathering will be "an expression of gratitude and admiration for a man who made countless contributions to the city of his birth."

Mrs. Jean R. Goodell, wife of former U.S. Sen. Charles E. Goodell, announced she was seeking the Republican nomination for the 33rd District seat once held by her husband.

Mrs. Goodell said she was seeking her party's nomination for the seat vacated by Rep. James F. Hastings, who resigned from Congress last month to take a position with Associated Industries of New York state.

Drunk Past Pope's Help?

NORTHFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Summit County sheriff's deputies have a lenient policy toward drunks, but think a South Euclid man who was picked up on Ohio 8 went too far.

Deputy William Riley said Paul Covey, 21, was given the usual opportunity to call someone for help, but when deputies discovered that he was on the telephone talking to the Vatican in Rome they cut the connection.

The deputy said Covey and a 22-year-old companion were charged with disorderly conduct and reckless operation, and the long distance call was billed to Covey's home phone.

Small Quake Hits New Mexico

FARMINGTON, N.M. (UPI) — A small earthquake shook buildings over a wide area of northwestern New Mexico, but caused only minor damage and no injuries.

The National Earthquake Information Center at Golden, Colo., reported the center of the tremor Sunday night was located 40 miles southeast of Farmington, but the exact measurements of the tremor had not been determined.

The Caltech seismological laboratory in Pasadena said that according to its instruments the tremor was a possible 5.0 on the open-end Richter scale.

Crash Kills Six

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) — Six persons, including top executives for the single largest contractor on the Trans-Alaska pipeline, died in the crash of a Lear jet at Alaska International Airport.

The executive in overall charge of British Petroleum's portion of the pipeline, Charles Buck, 43, based in San Francisco, survived the Saturday night crash and was in fair and stable condition at the intensive care ward of Anchorage Community Hospital.

Warren T. Moore, 50, president of Alaska Constructors, and Wolfgang Pabst, 45, vice president, both of Anchorage, died in the accident, as did Victor Abadie, Houston, 50, project engineer for Brown and Root, and Gerald Dobelman, 55, Houston, a member of the Brown and Root board of directors and a senior group vice president.

Oil Prices Viewed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — America should quit complaining about the price of foreign oil, according to Ardeshtir Zahedi, Iran's ambassador to the United States.

"You do not have to buy the oil," Zahedi said in an interview published Sunday in U.S. News and World Report. "If you do not like the price, why do you not use other sources of energy?"

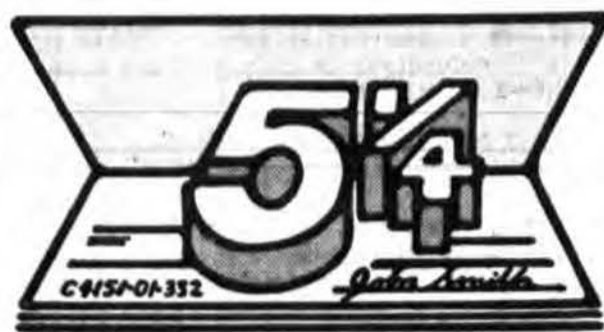

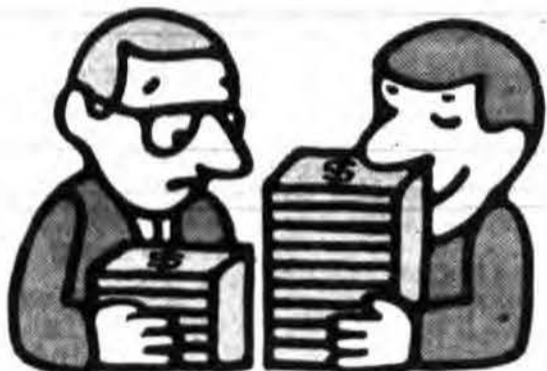

"The answer, of course, is that other sources — such as coal and nuclear power — are going to cost far more than the price of oil," he said.

Lebanon Fighting

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Christian militiamen twice turned back a food convoy to two Palestinian refugee camps controlling the northeastern approaches to Beirut, and Moslem leaders gave the Lebanese government until sundown today to end the blockade.

"Otherwise we shall have to get the desperately needed food supplies to their destination by sheer force and at any cost," said an ultimatum from Palestinian guerrilla chief Yasser Arafat and Lebanese Moslem militia commanders.

Four ways how you're better off in California Federal.

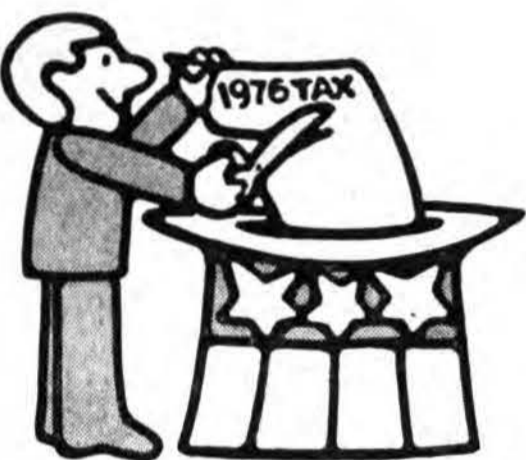

1. You can double your money in less than nine years.

Put $1,000 minimum in our 7 3/4% certificate. Leave the interest to compound, and you earn 8.06% a year. And in less than nine years you'll get $2,000.

Start with $10,000; you'll collect $20,000. We've got other plans for you, too. Short as one day. Long as ten years. And they pay you from 5 1/4% all the way up to 7 3/4%.

Things grow bigger in California Federal.

2. You can trim your 1976 tax bill.

If you're not covered by a pension plan, we've got a way you can deduct up to 15% of your income in 1976.

And defer the taxes until you retire. (You'll be in a lower bracket then, right?) Ask about our Keogh or IRA plans. Either way, you'll get a tax break quick. And a nest egg, too.

3. You can earn savings account interest on your checking account.

Our ingenious telephone transfer system puts your idle checking dollars to work. (It's not a checking account. It's better.)

Move $1,000 here. When you write a check, just phone us. We'll rush $100 or more to your bank to cover you. And you earn interest on every penny, every day it's here.

4. And that's not all.

Free travelers checks. Free money orders. Free notary service. Free safe deposit in offices with vaults. Free photo-copies of your important documents. Free trust deed note collection. If you keep $1,000 or more with us, you don't pay a cent for these services. Could save you $50. Maybe more.

*7 3/4% certificate: 6-10 year terms. Substantial interest penalty required for early withdrawal from Certificate Accounts.

Eye Circles Veto Models

No matter how pretty and well-proportioned she may be, if a girl has circles under her eyes, she almost invariably fails to get a modeling job. Those circles, in fact, are the most common reason that the ad agency execs veto applying models. Or so a study of the modeling agency records reveals.

EXHIBIT AREA

Have you read that officials in Paris intend to install along the Seine River a string of flush toilets for dogs? Such are the plans.

What you see at the Smithsonian Institution is only three percent of what's there to see. The other 97 percent is stashed. Not enough display space, that's the dilemma.

LOVE AND WAR

Q. "Where did your Love and War man get the notion that nine months was the ideal length of a matrimonial engagement?"

A. A pair of sociologists named Ernest Burgess and Paul Wallin found that out. Their extensive study of numerous married couples showed those with the best odds for a happy future to be the pairs who had been engaged just that long.

This week's favorite classified ad reads: "Notice: Due to government rulings against discrimination, Ethel's Honky Tonk henceforth will be called Ethel's Black and Honky Tonk."

Were you under the impression that overweight youngsters tend to be more intelligent than the thinner students? Neither was I. But a study at the University of Minnesota purports to prove that's the case. Chubby children are said to score about nine points higher than the underweight kids in IQ tests.

Third Basilica In State Okayed

SAN DIEGO (AP) — California Catholics now have a third basilica. The Vatican approved the designation for Mission San Diego de Alcala, first of the West Coast missions established by the Spanish in what now is the United States.

ACTUALLY, THE present mission is a rebuilt version a few miles inland of the original mission destroyed in an Indian attack in 1775.

After traveling to Rome to ask Pope Paul VI for the basilica designation, Bishop Leo T. Maher of the San Diego Diocese announced the approval.

THERE ARE 24 basilicas in the United States, named for antiquity, historical importance or other distinctions.

The others in California are Mission Dolores in San Francisco and Carmel Mission of San Carlos.

Charting Nightmares

Researcher Wires Dozers to Probe Dreams

CHICAGO (AP) — Despite today's troubled times, dream collector Lynda Tipton says she has found no increase in nightmares.

The 29-year-old associate researcher at the Behavioral Science Building on the University of Illinois Chicago campus, has been collecting dreams for two years. She now has 30 "sleep subjects" who spend their nights in soundproof rooms.

"AMONG THE HUNDREDS of dreams, we have had only one clear nightmare and that was a short one," she said. "There are bad dreams and very realistic ones, but a nightmare is something else again."

Her subjects are wired to send impulses to an electroencephalograph — EEG — monitored in the sleep lab by Ms. Tipton.

She can tell when dreams start by brain wave and eye movement patterns appearing on the EEG.

SHE SAYS DREAMS run in cycles and usually begin about 90 minutes after a person falls to sleep. During the night, five or six dream cycles occur. In between there are deep-sleep cycles.

"Some people insist they don't dream, but everyone does," says Ms. Tipton. "The difference is in recalling them."

After her volunteers dream for awhile, she awakens them gently

Taxicab Strike

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — About 300 employees of the Yellow and Greyhound Taxicab companies have gone on strike leaving Sacramento metropolitan airport without a major public transportation system to the downtown area.

over an intercom in the rooms by calling their names. As soon as the drowsiness wears off she asks them to tell what's going through their minds.

IN THE MORNINGS, she and the sleep subjects talk more thoroughly about their dreams. "Dreams seem to be about something typical going on in a subject's life and also are intergrated with the past," she said. "After two years of collecting dreams, there are some patterns established. As the night progresses, dreams have a more definitive story line and become longer — starting from a short first dream to those lasting as much as 45 minutes."

Ms. Tipton said she regards her dreams as private, like a doctor and his patient.

Horse Selected For Bicentennial

WASHINGTON (AP) — The horse won.

He beat out cats, dogs, gophers, fleas, even the nation's symbol, the bald eagle, in a race to become America's bicentennial animal.

In balloting sponsored by the Humane Society of the United States, the horse outpaced white-tailed deer, buffalo, grizzly bears, whales, wolves, cattle, coyotes, beavers, wild turkeys, passenger pigeons, mules and salmon — in that order.

THE BALLOTS WERE CAST BY 75,000 youngsters at schools, local Humane Society chapters, and even a few county fairs which set up special voting booths.

Those too young to write drew pictures of their favorite animals. The votes were counted by other youngsters, members of the Humane Society's junior membership division.

ROGER CARAS, SOCIETY VICE president, said the election was intended "to highlight the many contributions that animals have made to the development of our great nation."

The American Revolution Bicentennial Administration says it hasn't named an animal — and doesn't plan to.

The horse got 20,289 votes — 943 more than the bald eagle, whose likeness adorns the presidential seal and the currency. The turkey, which Benjamin Franklin wanted to be the national symbol, came in 11th with only 1,433 votes.

'Erratic Development'

EMA Chief Raps Toro Road Work

SANTA ANA — The chief of Orange County government's Environmental Management Agency (EMA) has sharply criticized the erratic development of El Toro Road as a county scenic highway.

In a letter to the county Board of Supervisors, EMA Director H.G. "George" Osborne said landscaping and recent improvements on the arterial road are "inconsistent in both design and degree of development."

HE SAID landscaping and other improvements shouldn't be limited to the right of way but should spill over to adjacent strips of vacant land "where existing."

Osborne will recommend to supervisors that the planning effort be coordinated by the county's Scenic Highways Advisory Board.

Niguel Group Asks Clubhouse Buy

SANTA ANA — The Laguna Niguel Homeowners Association wants Orange County government to take over its community center before the four acres of land it occupies are subdivided and developed with new homes.

The county Board of Supervisors will hear that appeal and recommendations from the county Environmental Management Agency at its regular meeting Tuesday.

EMA DIRECTOR H.G. George Osborne said there may be some merit to the county assuming ownership of the facility which is heavily used by civic organizations and clubs in Laguna Niguel.

The club is located at the corner of Crow Valley Parkway and Club House Drive.

The site is owned by AVCO Community Developers and is planned for development by Westgreen Homes.

Patriotic Benefit Planned

ANAHEIM — A two-day fund raising affair, to support a number of educational programs being sponsored by the U.S. Bicentennial Coordinating Committee of Orange County, Inc., will be held at Disneyland and the Disneyland Hotel Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 10 and 11.

The affair includes a "Family Day at Disneyland" on Saturday and a "Red, White and Blue Gala" dinner in the hotel's Grand Ballroom Sunday at 6 p.m.

The $125 per plate dinner will feature "America Is," a stage production depicting America through song and dance.

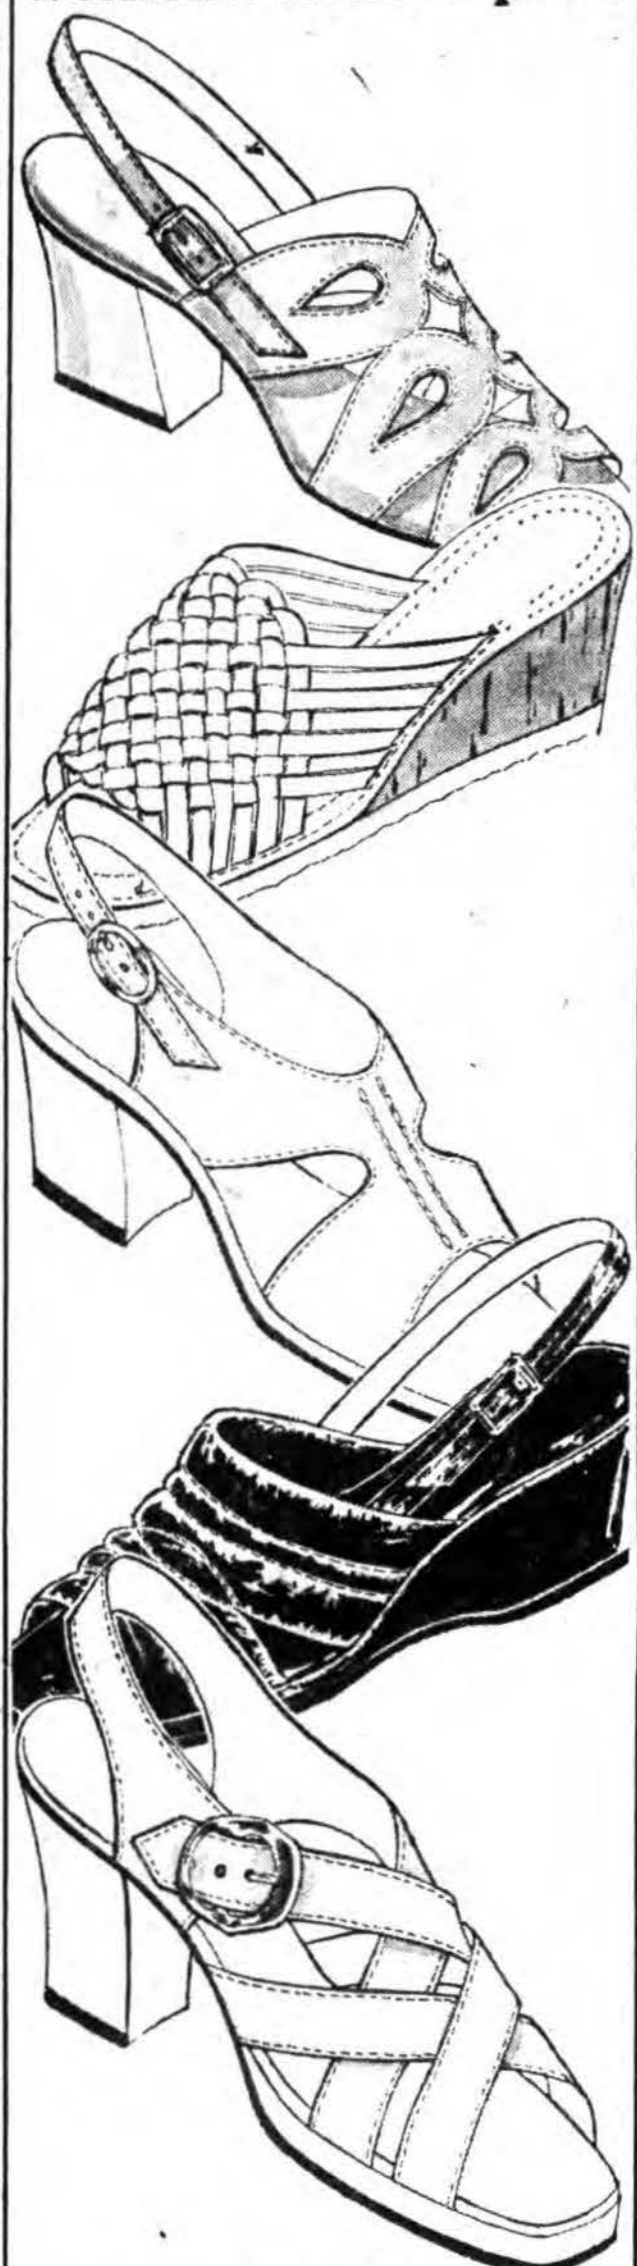

Proceeds from the event will be used to support a Bicentennial Youth Fair, parade float, paperback book called "Charter of Freedom," a documentary film on the county, a display on women's contributions to the country, a photography contest and a drama to be presented at the county schools.

Reservations may be made by calling 639-1234.

Diseases Costly

Maintain Your Health in 1976

By SYLVIA PORTER

Item: Diseases of the heart are the predominant killer in our land, accounting for 38.6 percent of all deaths each year, and worse, their prevalence is rising. From an economic point of view alone, the cost to us of caring for heart disease is estimated at above $3 billion a year.

But the incidence of heart disease could be slashed right now by an enormous 50 percent with the use of available improved diagnostic techniques and early identification.

Item: Cancer will strike 53 million Americans (one in four) living today; at any time, more than one million persons are under treatment for cancer and a startling fact is that more school children die of cancer than of any other disease.

Again, strictly from an economic point of view, the cost to us of caring for cancer patients is estimated at $900 million a year.

BUT EARLY DETECTION and treatment could sharply reduce this cancer toll, especially certain forms of cancer—and lung cancer particularly could be greatly cut by control of smoking.

Item: The five-year survival rate for serious hypertension is less than 20 percent, a horribly low proportion.

But much can be done to control hypertension through early detection, treatment, and control of diet and smoking. Premature deaths and disability could be drastically curbed.

Having just recovered from a severe case of pneumonia, I am humbly starting my 1976 columns with a plea to you to try to avoid my painful, costly experience. What was needed in my case was not new procedures or drugs, but simply the following by me of rules long known and of proven value.*

AND THAT WILL BE true in millions of other cases—quite probably yours in 1976. For instance, some 140,000 Americans still die each year of communicable diseases; yet the means of prevention are readily at hand, if used. Respiratory diseases can be disabling and fatal; yet they can be controlled with easy changes in life styles (including non-smoking). Diabetes is easy to detect and can be controlled, and avoiding obesity can help prevent onset of the disease.

Venereal disease can kill and disable and is actually on the increase; yet VD can be eliminated with the application of known techniques, if properly used.

As for smoking, its ties to greater risks of coronary heart disease, cancer, chronic pulmonary infections, etc., need no repetition here. Suffice it to say that if smoking were eradicated, today's annual 72,000 lung cancer deaths could be cut 60 percent!

A QUARTER-CENTURY ago, insurance companies offered no coverage for preventive medicine in the absence of a disabling sickness or injury. Today, of the 18 companies writing more than half of all health insurance coverages, 14 offer coverages for the costs of preventive medicine without evidence of the presence of a disabling sickness or injury.

The shocking point, though, is that there is little buyer demand for the protection. You, whether from ignorance or apathy, are turning down a benefit that could be of such great help to you. Ask your company, your union, your own insurance agent for guidance.

Meanwhile, on this, the first working Monday of '76, help yourself by studying the following key guides to health maintenance, put together by the American Health Foundation, a non-profit organization dedicated to the concept of preventive medicine.

Crisp clear weather with moderate winds of five to eight knots Saturday and Sunday enticed scores of sailboats out for the second race of Balboa Yacht Club's Sunkist Series Saturday and Sunday.

The biggest turnout was on Sunday for the big boats racing on inside-outside courses. A colorful spinnaker parade in midafternoon was reminiscent of a summer day in the ocean near the Newport Jetty.

Fleet Queen

Boat Show Set for LA

A 28-foot Pacemaker flying bridge cruiser valued at $215,000 has been selected as queen of the 600 fleet of boats and yachts which will be on display at the 20th annual Southern California Boat Show Jan. 30 to Feb. 8 at the Los Angeles Convention Center.

Show sponsoring Southern California Marine Association officials admit they don't expect sales of the beautiful yacht to come in dozen lots, but feel it is a fitting showpiece for the nation's second largest all marine exposition.

The Pacemaker-48 combines all of the convenience demanded by the most exacting sport fisherman as well as the lavish comforts of the most fastidious housewife.

Fishermen will be impressed by the all-enclosed flying bridge with a padded rail 27 feet above the waterline along with a distinctive tuna tower.

The fisherman also has the convenience of built-in tackle boxes.

Lead Held Cape Town to Rio
By Passage Regatta Okayed

HOBART, Australia (AP) — The American yacht Windward Passage maintained the lead today, two days after it left here for Auckland, New Zealand, in the 1,517-mile Hobart-Auckland yacht race.

According to a radio message, the 72-footer was located 387 miles east of Tasman Island and 11 miles ahead of its rival U.S. yacht, Kialoa, which won the recent Sydney-Hobart race.

Twelve yachts, spreading out over 157 miles, were competing in the race which is expected to take about a week to reach the goal. They left Hobart Saturday.

BRASILIA (AP) — The Brazilian government has reversed a foreign ministry decision to block the Cape Town-Rio de Janeiro regatta in Brazil, a foreign ministry spokesman reported.

The reversal on the foreign ministry's move to bar regatta participants from Brazilian territorial waters and ports came a half hour after the South African ambassador in Brazil met with foreign ministry officials and had been informed that the regatta had been blocked by Brazil.

The ministry spokesman said the government reversed the block due to "the participation of 147 boats from 18 friendly countries in the Cape Town-Rio ocean race, and the report by the Rio de Janeiro Yacht Club which said it was a larter than normal regatta, coming from France, stopping in Cape Town and going on to Rio."

The ministry spokesman said no reasons were given for Brazil's original ban on the race, and that the reversal was an "exceptional case."

Newspaper reports from Sao Paulo speculated earlier, however, that the ban was because of South Africa's apartheid racial policies.

YOUR HEAT A LITTLE AND SAVE A LOT.

Cut heating costs up to 28%.

If you heat your home at 68° instead of 72°, you can cut your heating costs about 28%. It's one way to hold down your rising electric bill because electricity is involved in most heating systems—directly or indirectly.

Insulation also saves energy and money. Proper insulation is another way to cut heating costs. (Air conditioning, too.) Just by insulating your attic, you may reduce your heating costs as much as 40%. A 1,000-square-foot attic could be insulated for $250, based on 25 cents per square foot.

Other ways to cut heating costs. It makes sense to turn your heat off when you're away from home. However, in freezing areas a 40° setting is advisable.

- ☐ Are your doors and windows weather-stripped? Caulking small openings and seams will save energy—and money.
- ☐ Closing draperies and curtains will hold heat in—and cold out.
- ☐ So will closing your fireplace damper, and vents in rooms not in use.

☐ Are your filters clean? Perhaps they need replacing.
☐ Dirty return-air grills and warm-air ducts can drive up heating costs, too.
☐ If you have electric radiant heating, you can save by turning off thermostats in rooms not in use.

Philip Morris Announces The First Major Step Since The Filter Cigarette.

'Enriched Flavor' discovery revealed for new low tar cigarette.

Ever since filters were first introduced to cigarettes the trend has been to limit cigarette tar.

And with every new refinement in filtration, the tar levels went down.

Unfortunately, in most cases so did the taste.

Regardless of all the "low tar, good taste" claims you've read; regardless of all the fancy filters and space-age filtering systems you've tried — your own taste told you: the less tar, the less taste.

This is a report on a new kind of cigarette.

MERIT. Only 9 mg. of tar. One of the lowest tar levels in smoking today.

Yet with incredible flavor.

If you're looking to become a low tar smoker, or don't particularly enjoy the taste of the low tar brand you smoke now — you'll be interested.

Smoke Cracked: 'Enriched Flavor'

After a twelve year research effort, a team of scientists at our Richmond Research Center succeeded in isolating the "key" flavor ingredients of tobacco as they exist in cigarette smoke.

By adding only those ingredients which were of extreme high quality as flavor producers yet low tar producing as well, we're now able to pack incredible flavor into a cigarette without the usual corresponding increase in tar.

The discovery is called 'Enriched Flavor.' 'Enriched Flavor.' It's extra flavor. Natural flavor. Flavor that can't burn out, can't drop out, can't do anything but come through.

We packed 'Enriched Flavor' into the tobacco used to make MERIT.

And began an extensive series of taste tests. The results were startling.

Taste-Tested By People Like You

9 mg. tar MERIT was taste-tested against five current leading low tar cigarette brands ranging from 11 mg. to 15 mg. tar.

Thousands of filter smokers were involved, smokers like yourself, all tested at home.*

The results were conclusive:

Even if the cigarette tested had 60% more tar, a significant majority of all smokers tested reported new 'Enriched Flavor' MERIT delivered more taste.

Repeat: delivered more taste.

In similar tests against 11 mg. to 15 mg. menthol brands, 9 mg. tar MERIT MENTHOL performed strongly too, delivering as much — or more — taste than the higher tar brands tested.

You've been smoking "low tar, good taste" claims long enough. Now you've got the cigarette.

MERIT. Incredible smoking pleasure at only 9 mg. tar.

Ann Hult Crowell offers methods for women to escape no-future jobs in a business course by UCI Extension.

How to Assess Opportunities

Strategies Sharpened

By CAROL MOORE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

All things being equal, who wins and who loses?
Ann Hult Crowell is making sure women get their share of success in the business world, even though they may be new to the corporate jungle.

"Many women, single or married, simply want employment to expand their present role or help pay for increasing family expenses," she said. "There are many talented women needlessly trapped in a no-future job — or no job at all."

Ms. Crowell and 12 other female executives mapped out the strategy of their careers during a UCI Extension series that will be expanded, elaborated and retitled, The Way to the Top, for 11 Wednesdays, starting at 7 p.m. Jan. 7 in the Physical Sciences Building.

"There was an awful lot I didn't learn, even with my two majors of advertising and finance, that was critical to success, like negotiating for salary and surviving power games," she explained.

Although a top graduate from the University of Arizona, Ms. Crowell started as an underpaid employee of an international advertising firm.

PHILOSOPHY: RESULT-ORIENTED

Since 1968 when she went into business for herself and later co-founded an all-woman advertising and public relations firm in Newport Beach, her agencies have planned and executed the publicity for more than $120 million of real estate development and sales.

Part of the strategy, she explained, involved broadcast letters and proposals written well enough to get clients or raises.

One student learned that lesson so well that her new salary increase more than paid for the $77 course.

That was happy proof of Ms. Crowell's main contention that what women in business need to do most is to help each other and not be reticent about asking men for assistance.

"The people who are the most difficult to communicate with are often secretaries," she added. "It's sad to say but a fantastic or helpful response from a female to another woman is really memorable."

Ms. Crowell introduced the last speaker in the series as "my chief advisor, confidant, lover . . . and husband, Tony."

An attorney, he told the 45 students, mostly working wives, that "limited partnership" deserved more consideration as a type of business format because it provided more financial sources with less liability.

SUCCESS IS LOVABLE

The Crowells secret to success in two careers: "loving what each other does."

She added, "We're both attentive, knowledgeable and vocal although that may not work for every person's mate or goal."

Of the first enrollment, 20 women were under 30 years of age, 15 were under 40 and 10 over 40. They surveyed basic business and management practices and dealt with such real world subjects as the truth about glamour jobs and getting started when it's supposed to be all over.

Humor is the one thing most missing in women. Yet, it's a prime aspect of managerial status: making people feel good about themselves.

"Women's best attributes are perception and understanding," Ms. Crowell reiterated. "We can be the mediators who suggest improvements, new products and efficiencies."

"But just having the idea isn't adequate."
Among the weekly speakers were corporate fashion directors, a bank manager, stock broker, magazine editor, personnel programmer and supervisory assistant for Orange County government and the director of customer relations for the Balboa Bay Club.

Some will repeat during the second session that also will feature a film producer, president of a newspaper chain, boutique owner, a certified public accountant and a top ranking officer of a major cosmetics firm.

Here is a sampling of some of the first speakers:

TAKE SELVES TOO SERIOUSLY

When Valla Kolman speaks of business assets, No. 1 is a sense of humor.

"That's the one thing most missing in women," she said. "Yet, it's a prime aspect of managerial status: making people feel good about themselves."

"Plus the higher up you go, the more you need to be able to laugh at yourself to weather challenges and picky comments."

"If taking yourself lightly works so well for the disadvantaged, think of what it can do for you!"

FEDERAL RESERVE
NOTE AND PRIVATE

Ms. Kolman is fashion director of Sear's buying office for the Pacific Coast states. Her promotions over nine years have led from Cleveland to Chicago to California.

She graduated from Miami University in Ohio with emphases in political science and TV.

Starting jobs in those fields, however, didn't match her ideals. So she reverted to some contacts from childhood modeling jobs, who referred her to an ad agency, which recommended her to Sear's for corporate publicity.

Since the experience from her youth was so important, Ms. Kolman still advises teenagers to get whatever jobs they can, even without money, to have the experience for later opportunities.

Other assets she recommends for women:
— Accentuate style and softness. "These pluses work best because they haven't existed in the business world before."

— Open up with other women. "See how they've made or missed progress."

— Check with men, also, especially those who respect you. "After all, they'll be some of your sponsors, too. It's too bad most men don't have the mental relationship with their wives that they do with business associates."

— Know how upward mobility occurs in your company. "Make yourself a candidate for the next job and don't forget to ask for it."

— Show genuine happiness. "Even if someone else gets the promotion, you may be next."

— Remember your voice. "You can change it with training just as you improve your face with make-up. Strident or cutesy tones don't go over well in the office."

"Women's other failure, besides taking themselves too seriously, is not making long range plans."

"Men take jobs figuring they are going to be responsible for income from now on and aiming to improve their chances. Women usually consider employment as a momentary turn-on."

INVESTMENT DRESSING

Florence van Wagner, corporate fashion director for Robinson's, advocated investment dressing as "an outward expression of how you feel."

She defined the term as developing a core wardrobe that can be layered into a haberdashery look or constantly updated with accessories — "not just buying dresses."

The quality, she admitted, would depend on what you are able to spend vs. how long you can live with it.

"Look at the men ahead of you," she suggested. "You can tell their job status by their appearance. That's something women still have to learn, not to wear clothes that say, 'Look at me.'"

A late-comer to the job market, she banked on her talent for distinguishing trend from fad and look from influence.

"I turned my age into an advantage because I knew from my club and community roles that I could get ideas across to a cross-section of people."

"Department stores want local identification and buying is the fastest way up. You have to ask specifically for training," she said.

"Your time is never your own if you're career-minded." She goes to New York every six weeks and to Paris twice a year.

NOT-SO-SHORT BANKER'S HOURS

"The best manager of your money is yourself," advised Marie Hart, stockbroker, as she told the women how to invest their hard-earned money.

"There are plenty of books and other resources available at the brokerage. You may be heckled to death by brokers if you want to do your own research. But just turn them off like dress clerks."

As for the job itself, she estimated 70 cold calls per day with follow-up work on the weekends in the beginning. "The object is to sell and there's nothing glamorous about having the phone hang up in your face."

COUNTY EARLY DAYS RETOLD

As the nation geared up for the bicentennial last year, thought naturally turned to such well-known historical figures as Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln. But what of Dana, Martin and Flores?

Those names, relatively unknown to the rest of the nation, nevertheless, are significant to Orange County which also is celebrating the bicentennial of the founding of Mission San Juan Capistrano.

All three men had the distinction of having county landmarks named after them (Dana Point, Martin Field — now Orange County airport and Flores Peak).

Richard Henry Dana wrote "Two Years Before the Mast." Glenn Martin, pioneer aviator, broke a cross-water flight record from Balboa to Avalon. Juan Flores was an early Mexican army captain.

These men also are prominent characters in "Orange Trees,"

BENEFIT PERFORMANCE

A special performance will be at 1 p.m., Saturday, Jan. 10 at the South Coast Repertory Theater in Costa Mesa. It is sponsored by the Newport Beach chapter of the Friends of SCR to raise money for the theater.

The lively hour-long show includes song, dance, folklore, humor, mime and dramatic segments covering such historic highlights as the founding of Mission San Juan Capistrano, the explorers, missionaries, ranch days, the laying of the railroad, and other events up to the present.

The play was written last summer by Dorie Baisley, a playwright for the children's theater company at the Mark Taper Forum in Los Angeles.

It was, according to director John-David Keller, an opportunity to bring the bicentennial closer to home for county children and their families.

HISTORY LESSON

"There is a history lesson in the show," said Keller. "But we've taken a few things and twisted it, like bringing in Washington and Lincoln in one scene as a reference point."

"All the stories are true or are folk stories of the time. We do a Spanish folk story about a horse race between the Sepulvedas and Yorbas. We found that one from a painting at Bower's Museum of the horse that won."

The show, which features five original songs written by cast member Glen Barkley, has been performed 25 times since October at grammar and junior high schools.

"It's a very portable show," said Keller. "It's designed to take to the schools. We've played in cafeterias and classrooms."

The main idea in the play, said Keller, is that "people themselves make the bicentennial happen. We're trying to establish that history is a living thing."

FAMILY TREE

"The most important thing the show does is that it establishes a family tree in Orange County. They (the six cast members) go out into the audience and ask the kids where their parents came from. They can trace their family history."

In keeping with the bicentennial spirit, hostesses dressed in colonial caps and aprons, will serve traditional American refreshments "at old-fashioned prices" at the end of the performance.

Tickets, at $3 apiece, must be purchased in advance. For further information and tickets call Mrs. John C. Wells, 644-5128.

Better Late Than Never

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mrs. Mrika Mrnacaj was born when Abraham Lincoln was president. Today, she is one of the United States' newest citizens — at the age of 111.

Mrs. Mrnacaj fled Communist oppression in her native Albania six years ago.

At a special swearing-in ceremony, she told U.S. District Judge Marvin Frankel through an interpreter, "I am very grateful. Thank you very much."

"You honor us by doing this," the judge replied. "And we honor and cheer you for doing this."

Mrs. Mrnacaj, born in June, 1864, fled on foot with her husband and seven of her 13 children across the mountains to Yugoslavia in December, 1959. She applied for citizenship soon after she arrived in New York in June, 1974, to live with a son.

Rep. Mario Biaggi (D-N.Y.), learned of the application and introduced a bill in Congress to waive the five-year residency and language requirements. The bill was signed by President Ford just before Christmas.

Biaggi said after the ceremony, "Here is a wonderful woman who knows and appreciates the difference between what we have in this country and the oppression she knew in her native land."

Mrs. Mrnacaj seemed to enjoy it all. Although she walks slowly, with the help of a cane, she appeared in good health. She had a ready smile and a plentiful supply of kisses for Biaggi.

Her 55-year-old son, Marash, said his mother was examined recently by a doctor who couldn't believe her age.

"Her heart is good," Marash said.

Her husband, Nua, died in Yugoslavia in 1972 at the age of 108. Another son, Nikolla, 69, has been a political prisoner in Albania since the 1950s.

"She worked hard on a farm for most of her life," Marash said, when asked to what he attributed his mother's health at her advanced age.

"And she takes a little bit of whisky every morning with her coffee."

Hospitals Diagnosed

Harbor General Hospital, Torrance, and the Los Angeles County-USC Medical Center have been named two of the top 10 hospitals for women in the United States.

The selection was made by a panel of hospital administrators, physicians, government officials, research scientists, nursing leaders and spokesmen for consumer and women's health organizations.

According to the report, which is published in the January issue of Ladies' Home Journal, the top ten represent "not only the cream of U.S. hospitals caring for women, but also the criteria by which to measure others."

Harbor General, the report said, "approaches a compromise choice in the debate between those stressing compassionate care and those more exclusively concerned with the techniques of treating sickness and saving lives."

The hospital was commended by Ralph Nader's group for its "patients' rights" policy, which bilingually advises its Mexican-American and Samoan patients of their rights and options before any surgery and explains medical procedures in full. Harbor General also has a Johnson Foundation perinatology program which will establish a regional high-risk pregnancy program, and some of its surgeons have begun a modified breast biopsy procedure that could lead to biopsies outside hospitals.

Ring in New Year No. 54

BERKELEY (AP) — From her tower 300 feet in the sky, 81-year-old Margaret Murdock has rung in the start of her 54th year as chief bell ringer on the University of California campus here.

The frail-looking, white-haired octogenarian is the school's official carillonneur, whose job it is to play the 12 huge bell chimes atop the tower that dominates the skyline of the sprawling campus.

"You have to put your shoulder into it," said Mrs. Murdock. "I'm the only woman playing nowadays."

She plays as many as three 10-minute concerts daily on the giant bells, which she activates by leaning on large polished wooden levers. "You have to use much more strength than you think you will," she said.

Besides performing, Mrs. Murdock is in charge of maintaining and expanding the chime library of thousands of arrangements. For post-football game concerts, she plays school songs if the team wins, hymns if they lose.

Actually, Mrs. Murdock confessed, the 12 bells don't provide all the notes of a piano octave.

"That means you have to kind of fudge" when playing most tunes, she said.

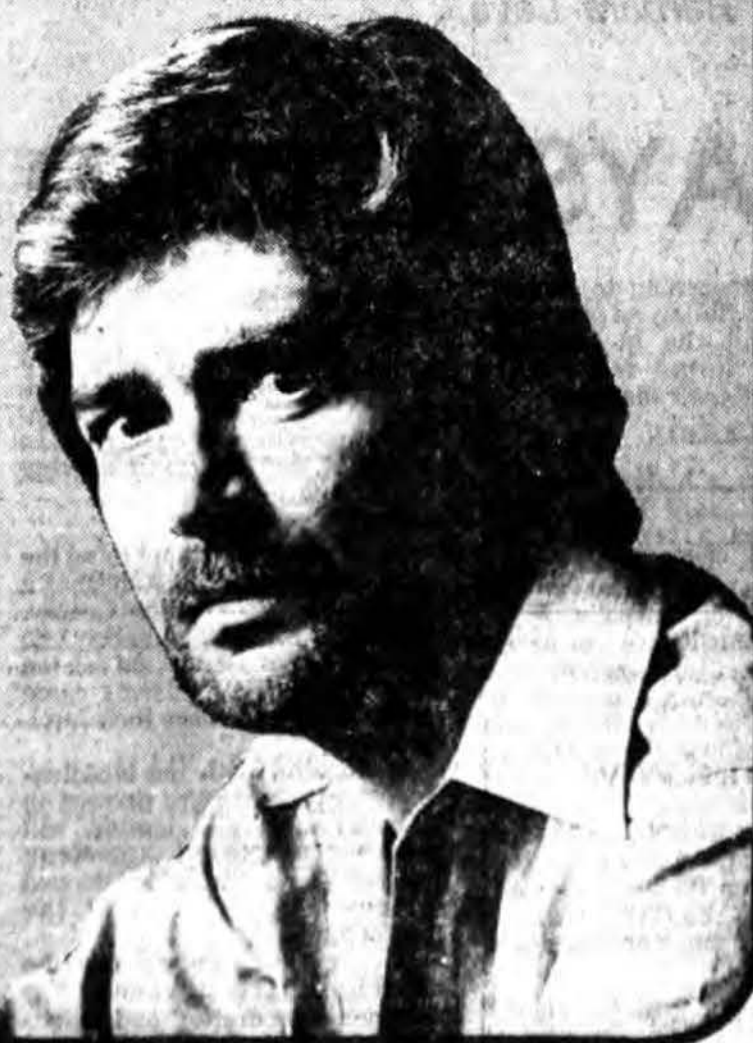

Despite the limited harmonic possibilities — a two-tone chord can be achieved by pushing one lever with each arm — composers like Sir Arthur Bliss and Leon Kirchner have written pieces specially for the tower's chimes.

Mrs. Murdock said the hardest part of her job isn't thinking up new tunes to play or fighting off the cold and wind in her musical perch. "It's the 37 steps up after the last elevator stop. They get steeper every year."

Out on a Limb If Not Twiggy?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am in a state of complete frustration and writing to you as my last hope. You print all kinds of letters and I'm hoping you will print this one.

Why do the dress manufacturers cut and style garments for models who are 5'10" and weigh 104 pounds? Don't they realize most women are shorter and plumper and not as tiny around the waist (or across the behind) as they once were?

I buy a size 20 dress and must virtually remake it to fit. With slacks and pantsuits it's worse. Complaining to the salespeople does no good. They say, "We can only sell you what they send us from New York or California."

So please, Ann, tell the manufacturers, wherever they are, that the Average American Woman is not built like Twiggy. She deserves a better break. — TIRED OF SEWING

DEAR TIRED: Your letter is the fifth this week with the same complaint. I believe there's more to the problem than styling. The manufacturers are trying to save fabric.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please tell me how certain people can appear to be perfectly O.K. when they are clearly insane?

Our sweet, innocent daughter was married last week to a mortician 12 years her senior. He courted her for over a year. One of the things that impressed her so favorably was this man's restraint and good manners. He never embraced her intimately nor did he try to talk her into sex, even after they were engaged.

Last night they were married. This morning our daughter phoned — in hysterics. It seems her wedding night was a nightmare.

Her husband asked her to take a very cold bath before coming to bed. He suggested that she soak in the tub for about half an hour. When she came to bed he asked her to close her eyes and lie perfectly still.

Then he said, "You may as well know that I am a necrophiliac as so many of my profession are. I can only make love to dead women or women who look as if they are."

Our daughter fled in panic, packed her bags and checked in to another room. She is at this moment in a state of shock and under a doctor's care. Her physician already has agreed to cooperate in an annulment.

I think the man is crazy. What do you think? — SAN FRANCISCO

DEAR MOTHER: I agree with your diagnosis. He is clearly nuts. And so is that statement about "other members of his profession." Report him to the National Funeral Directors Association at once. The address is 125 W. Wells St., Milwaukee, Wis. 53203.

Bugner Retires

LONDON — Joe Bugner, the world's fourth-ranked heavyweight, announced his retirement from boxing today, because my love for the game has gone.

The tall, blond Bugner, 25, came to Britain with his family 20 years ago as a penniless Hungarian refugee. He retires with a fortune estimated at between $1 million and $1.5 million earned from 58 fights. His career record is 49 victories, eight losses, including two to Muhammad Ali in 1973 and in 1975, and one draw.

Roscoe Tanner defeated Harold Solomon 6-2, 6-3 Sunday to win the singles crown in the second Chattanooga Tennis Classic.

Tanner was too powerful for Solomon, breaking his service three times and playing the baseline with agility and speed. Solomon could not match.

Melbourne Upset

MELBOURNE — Mark Edmondson, an unseeded 21-year-old from Sydney who painted houses and did odd jobs to support his tennis career, seems headed for a top spot in Australian tennis ranks following his stunning victories over veteran stars John Newcombe and Ken Rosewall en route to the Australian Open tennis championship.

"Mark certainly surprised everyone, and he is obviously a top prospect," Newcombe said after the relatively unknown Edmondson upset him 6-7, 6-3, 7-6, 6-1 Sunday to win the top prize of $10,200. It was the first time an unseeded player has won the Australian Open.

Saints Robbed

ST. PAUL, Minn. — The Minnesota Fighting Saints, financially troubled since failing to meet their Dec. 31 payroll, suffered another monetary setback Saturday night when two youths ripped off $250 from a box office.

Police said the two boys, believed to be about 12 years old, took the money during the Saints' 3-1 victory over the Indianapolis Racers at the St. Paul Civic Center.

Officers said one boy engaged a ticket seller in conversation at a box office window while the other youth reached through a second window and grabbed the money.

Game Review

Rams vs Cowboys: Was It for Real?

LOS ANGELES — I wondered if Rams coach Chuck Knox was confused. Did he think the game with Dallas Sunday at the Coliseum was the first exhibition tilt of the 1976 pro football campaign? But, at least he opened up the offense.

That is, he didn't call for a punt on fourth down when his Rams were a yard short of a first down at the Dallas 24. Trailing the Cowboys 7-0 at the time, Knox ordered a field goal try.

It was blocked. And the way the Rams played after that, anyone who confused that alleged game with a National Football Conference championship and an exhibition would be graciously pardoned.

Anyone who left at halftime would also be forgiven. Anyone who paid the $15 admission should have been given a refund and gas allowance for the trip to the Coliseum.

There were 6,555 no shows. They were the lucky ones. There should have been 91,038. I take that back. There should have been 91,096. Throw in the Rams team. Make it 91,097. Include Knox.

At least the Rams can't blame this playoff loss on (1) ice (2) snow (3) officiating (4) bad luck. And I can't blame it on LA quarterback James Harris.

He lasted long enough to throw two passes. The first was intercepted to set up Dallas' first touchdown in that 37-7 debacle. His second toss was badly underthrown to a wide open receiver.

Exit: Harris.

Unfortunately the rest of the team didn't leave with him.

I don't think the Rams could have caught up if they'd have been the only team on the field the last half.

That game had about as much competitiveness as a hanging. And about the same amount of crowd appeal.

LA's only touchdown was a gift when an official, perhaps conscious of the whiskey bottle episode in Minnesota, called a 34-yard pass interference penalty that put the ball at the Dallas 19. I saw no interference.

Normally under Knox's offensive explosiveness, I would have expected the Rams to get 19 yards in 53 plays. But this time they did it in only seven.

That left them behind, 34-7. Nine field goals would tie it.

diversified as life in a convent.

If a fighter performed as well as the Rams' offensive line, someone might hint that the fix was on.

No question of that here. A team taking a dive would have made a better showing.

The Rams' regular season schedule favored them. But I don't think it did them any favors. When you play the likes of San Diego, New Orleans, the 49ers, Green Bay, Chicago, Atlanta, etc., you fatten up with wins. But you don't toughen up enough to handle three tough teams in a row.

And by toughening up I don't mean chasing Roger Staubach after he has gone out of bounds or trying to rough him up near the end of the game (got that, Jack Youngblood).

One thing I'll say for the Rams Sunday, their punting excellence was in line with the rest of their efforts. When Tom Carroll hit that nifty 19-yarder that put Dallas clear back to the Rams 31, one die-hard LA lackey pointed out, "great! It's out of bounds. There was no runback."

And probably he had a point. That was just about the highlight of the day for the Rams.

Jaworski, Rams Tell Frustration

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "It was total frustration," said Los Angeles Rams quarterback Ron Jaworski of his team's 37-7 loss to Dallas Sunday in the National Football Conference Championship game.

"Our running game is our bread and butter, but they took that away from us today. We just plain could not figure what to do with them."

Jaworski, the second-year pro from Youngstown State, went into the game on the fourth Los Angeles series after starter James Harris failed to snap back from the shoulder injury which had sidelined him the past three weeks.

Coach Chuck Knox had debated whether to start Harris or Jaworski and went with the veteran who had been the starting quarterback until injured early in December.

Harris said: "My arm felt good all along this week. My first pass was an interception and the second pass had nothing on it. I realized I was coming out before I came to the sidelines."

The partisan crowd in the Los Angeles Coliseum booed after Harris failed on his only two throws, and the signal-caller

Yardage Tells Tale: Dallas 441, LA 118

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Preston Pearson, who's never really been wanted, today appears to be one of Dallas' key players in Super Bowl X after the Cowboys' 37-7 rout of the Los Angeles Rams in the National Football Conference Championship game.

"The Other Pearson," no relation to Dallas wide receiver Drew Pearson, surpassed his namesake as a pass catcher Sunday by latching on to three Roger Staubach touchdown throws covering 18, 15 and 19 yards.

Thus the muscular 6-foot-1, 205-pound running back vaulted into the spotlight as the Cowboys head for Super Bowl X against Pittsburgh, the club he was with last year when the Steelers won the NFL's title game.

The Super Bowl isn't new to Pearson, however. He will be playing in his third — all with different teams, a first in the 10 years of the game.

"I wasn't offered any scholarships at Illinois," said Pearson, who played no football as an Illinois. "I played only basketball and once I blocked a shot by Kareem Abdul-Jabbar. Yeah, I really got him. But we lost by 25 points."

The three touchdown passes came on different plays, called by Staubach in the huddle as he watched who the Rams brought in on defense.

"But while I was still in the huddle, I watched to see who the Rams brought in and I changed a lot of things depending on that," said Staubach. "We ended up making some big third down plays."

When Dallas' multifaceted offense wasn't silencing a crowd of 84,483, the defense was throwing a blanket around the Rams' top threats, running back Lawrence McCutcheon and wide receiver Harold Jackson.

"Our game plan was to control McCutcheon and Jackson," said defensive end Harvey Martin. "I looked at the stats, and saw that LA got 237 yards rushing last week against St. Louis, and McCutcheon had 202. Now, you don't win championships that way — not when three of your backs get only 35 yards."

McCutcheon wound up with 10 yards rushing in 11 carries and from Grambling admitted, "I did not like it, but the fans pay the money."

Jaworski, a Costa Mesa resident, completed 11 of 22 throws for 147 yards, but had two interceptions and was sacked for losses five times by the determined Dallas defense.

Asked to compare Dallas and Pittsburgh, the Super Bowl teams, Jaworski said, "Both are great all around teams, but I think Dallas has the better offense by a small margin."

"Still, I am shocked they beat us so easily. I don't know why." Defensive end Jack Jackson failed to catch a pass.

The 6-5, 250-pounder sacked quarterback Ron Jaworski four times and the Rams wound up with a net of 22 yards rushing.

Pearson, a 12th-round draft choice of the Baltimore Colts in 1967 who thought about quitting football when the Steelers cut him during the preseason, was the key receiver in the game.

His first of seven receptions gave Dallas a 7-0 lead in the first quarter.

The Rams' pass defense which permitted just 151 yards a game this season couldn't stop Staubach. He hit 16 of 22 tosses for 220 yards and four scores.

The Rams, trailing 34-0 early in the fourth period, took advantage of a questionable pass interference penalty to score their only touchdown, a one-yard run by John Capelletti.

The final score didn't tell how dominating the Cowboys were. Dallas outgained the Rams 441-118 and rolled up 24 first downs to just nine for Los Angeles. And the Rams had only three first downs in the entire first half. Staubach, running his club with grace, wound up gaining 54 yards, second only to Robert Newhouse's 64.

And the quarterback, running only seven times when forced to, kept the Rams defense off balance with his play selection.

Four Recoveries Key to 16-10 Win

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers wore golf gloves here against the freeze. Now they're going to the Super Bowl in Miami to tee off on the Dallas Cowboys.

"I don't think there's a team in the National Conference that can give them a game," linebacker Phil Villapiano said after his Oakland Raiders lost 16-10 here Sunday in an American Football Conference title game that was more arctic than artistic.

That remains to be seen, and the Steelers will be tested Jan. 18 by a Dallas team that crushed Los Angeles 37-7.

Many players on both sides wore golf gloves here as temperatures fell into the teens, and biting winds and snow squalls raked the field, partially frozen and slippery despite pregame covering and heating.

The National Weather Service set the wind-chill factor at 12 degrees below zero, and the hitting was as harsh as the elements, contributing to eight lost fumbles and five pass interceptions.

"The elements were a factor, the tough-hitting was a factor. Everything was a factor," said Steelers president Dan Rooney, whose team survived three interceptions in the first half and five lost fumbles in the second half.

The Raiders, whose hopes died with the final gun after Ken Stabler passed to Cliff Branch at the Pittsburgh 15-yard line, ended another successful season with final defeat.

They've been to the playoffs eight of nine seasons now, yet they still haven't realized their ultimate goal, the Super Bowl championship.

Offensively, the Steelers benefited from two second-half touchdown drives directed by Terry Bradshaw, who went into the game with a sore knee and finished with a minor concussion.

Defensively, the Steelers had four big recoveries, three by Jack Lambert on fumbles and one by Mean Joe Greene.

"I feel just fine," Greene said after playing his first full game since he was sidelined at midseason with neck and groin injuries.

"There was no problem on the field, except the people across from me. They have the best offensive line around," Greene added.

Though Bradshaw had three passes intercepted in the first half, two by safety Jack Tatum, the Steelers held a 3-0 edge at intermission.

The only first-half score came on a 36-yard field goal by Roy Gerela. It capped a drive that began when safety Mike Wagner made the first of his two interceptions off Stabler and returned it to midfield.

"The sidelines were icy. I had no footing at all," said Branch, the intended receiver in Wagner's first diving interception.

"I was too conscious of trying not to slip, and that left a clear shot for them to get to the interceptions," added the Oakland receiver, held to two catches, seven less than he had in Oakland's loss to Pittsburgh in last year's AFC title game.

Cowboys Get Huge Ovation Upon Return

DALLAS (AP) — Roars of approval from a mob of home town fans greeted the Dallas Cowboys as they returned from whipping Los Angeles, 37-7, for the National Football Conference championship.

Police estimated more than 10,000 persons assembled at Dallas Love Field, where the National Football League club's chartered airliner landed late Sunday night at the end of the flight from LA. Some waited three hours in 28-degree weather, armed with placards and banners.

In tribute to Dallas quarterback Roger Staubach who tossed four touchdown passes, one sign proclaimed, "Hail Mary, full of grace, Roger's taken us to first place." Staubach stepped to a fence holding back the crowd and shook as many hands as he could reach.

Each player, coach and other persons in the official party was introduced over a loudspeaker system to a bedlam of cheers and screams as they stepped into view.

A middle-aged woman in the crowd informed nobody in particular, "We even put our church services back 15 minutes so everyone could watch the game on television from Los Angeles. But I'm not going to tell you what church it was."

Diablos Picked to Win

South Coast Basketball Race Opens Tuesday

San Clemente was everyone's pre-season pick to win the South Coast League basketball title but Mission Viejo emerged as the team to beat when non-league play ended last weekend.

Pat Roberts' Diablos compiled a 7-2 record against mediocre opposition but played more cohesive basketball than San Clemente's Tritons which are 3-5.

Here is how the Daily Pilot views the title race (league play begins Tuesday):

1. Mission Viejo (7-2)—The Diablos have the league's best center in 6-5 Steve Sawyer, a good ballhandler in 5-6 guard John Hattrup and two capable forwards in 6-2 David Zogg and 6-0 Mitch Adams.

The Diablos success will rely on Sawyer's ability to overcome expected double-teaming. Averaging 15.6 points, Sawyer is most effective on driving layups and is a strong rebounder.

2. San Clemente (3-5)—The return of 6-5 transfer John Witherell will bolster the Tritons attack, but San Clemente has been far too inconsistent, particularly on defense.

A young team, San Clemente has only one returning starter from its 1975 championship team. He is 6-2 junior guard Tim Dunham who is scoring 17.2 points. Witherell, who has missed seven straight games with a torn hip muscle, scored 20 in the Tritons opener.

But San Clemente has the tallest players in the league—it has one 6-6 and two 6-5 starters—and could jell.

3. University (5-6)—John Driscoll's Trojans have played exceptionally well on occasions and poorly at other times.

Their front line of 6-5 Roger Poirier, 6-6 Steve Wood and 6-3 Mike McClymonds will do well in this league. Poirier, only a sophomore, is averaging 18.7 and has been in double figures every game.

The Trojans play the passing game as well as any team in the this league and utilize an aggressive man-to-man defense.

4. El Toro (3-5)—Wendell Witt's Chargers, despite having no returnees from a team that advanced to the CIF 2-A quarterfinals, have played surprisingly well so far.

They have defeated

Westminster and Los Alamitos and only lost by 12 points to Villa Park, one of Orange County's top teams.

A well-disciplined team, the Chargers have been getting nine points each game from 5-10 Bob Charles, 6-0 Mike Hill, 6-0 Mark Hill and 6-2 Marty Heim.

5. Dana Hills (2-6)—The Dolphins are better than their record indicates, having lost to five 4-A schools.

Three starters return, including 6-2 forward Jeff Paulson who scores 13 points per game. The others are 6-2 Henry Mikiewicz and 6-1 Andy Hoffman.

6. Laguna Beach (5-5)—Ed Burlingham's Artists were getting better as non-league play ended, defeating University, 44-40.

Ben Bacon, a mobile 6-5 center, is the only returnee but Burlingham, who coached the 1975 junior varsity, has gotten some excellent play from 6-2 Dusty Dvorak who is averaging 15.1. Bacon is scoring at a 13.6 clip.

Huntington No. 2

Katella Tabbed In Empire League

The 1976 Empire League basketball race will be a re-run of the 1975 version with Katella and Huntington Beach clashing in a two-team race.

That's how the Daily Pilot sports staff sees it and this time it's the Knights of Katella favored to win the championship.

The two Empire powers met twice in tourney action with each team winning once—but it was Katella which was the most impressive with its suffocating zone press.

The 1976 race:

1. Katella (10-2)—Coach Tom Danley has two All-county candidates in 6-2 gems Rick Neubauer (18.5) and Chuck Greene (20.1). Joe Rennon (9.5) also figures heavily in an offense predicated around the zone press and fast break offense.

2. Huntington Beach (8-3)—The Oilers of coach Elmer Combs have a balanced front line with Jim Spowart (15.3), Perry Harbin (15.4) and Clark Sims (14.2) leading the way.

Sims is tough on the boards and guard Kevin Karkut has shown the ability to lead the fast break.

3. Cypress (6-3)—The Centurions could be the surprise of the circuit. Rick Cromwell is averaging 17.0 per game and Fred Randel is hitting at a 17.1 clip.

4. Orange (5-5)—Forward Peter Koehnke is dangerous from any spot on the floor and 6-4 Gil Ayala provides board strength for Tony Mason's Panthers. Guard Al Amling is another leader and the Panthers are always especially tough in their own gym.

5. Kennedy (3-5)—Kennedy's major strength is with guards Robert Diaz (15.6) and Bill Blashford (12.3) and the Fighting Irish may have trouble on the boards. Usually a slow starter, Kennedy, too, could prove a spoiler.

6. Saddleback (3-5)—Three starters—Pat Rustan, Ken Taft and Don Case—have been out with injury or illness, making Saddleback's record somewhat deceiving. Will Fletcher has been the Roadrunners' top player and 6-4 Keith DeLapp is the tallest in Saddleback's arsenal.

7. Anaheim (0-8)—Larry Franklin is the only player in double figures for the winless Colonists with a 14.1 average. The Colony has little height and it would be a major upset if it finished in the upper division.

8. Foothill (0-8)—Former Costa Mesa High coach Bob Sorensen has only one senior playing (6-5 Augie Opfell) and is relying heavily on sophomores and juniors in a rebuilding era at Foothill. The Knights could finish as high as sixth—but no better.

Arnold Palmer

"ATHLETE OF THE DECADE"

AVOID "RIGHT-HAND TAKE-OVER" AT THE TOP

A common error among golfers, especially women, is allowing the right hand to take control of the club at the top of the backswing. This control then continues on the downswing and through impact.

There is no easier way to ruin a golf shot. When the right hand takes over, it often turns the hands so that the club points "across the line"—to the right of target—as in illustration #1. This misalignment of the club makes square contact difficult. Right-hand take-over also causes other mistakes... such as "hitting from the top" (pre-mature release of energy and clubhead speed) and "coming over the ball" (throwing the clubhead outside the target line during the downswing).

In the proper swing, the right hand must never assert itself more than the left. In illustration #2, I show the ideal top-of-swing position. The absence of inward bending at the back of my left wrist indicates that this hand is still in control.

Seahawks Selected To Win Hoop Title

There's little doubt the Southern California Conference is one of the best in the state — if not the best — this basketball season.

SoCal teams have won seven tournament titles this season and six of the seven schools have winning records.

LA Harbor, the defending conference champion, is picked by the Daily Pilot to win the 1976 race — but it won't be easy for the Seahawks.

Golden West, Cypress, Santa Monica, LA Southwest and possibly Rio Hondo figure to be in the thick of the race. Only Los Angeles CC is an also-ran.

Here's how the Daily Pilot handicaps the race:

1. LA Harbor (13-3) — Jim White has two of

Is Oscar Oscillating?

Heavenly

Carl Reiner got his wish — to play an angel who grants wishes to earthlings. He will star in comedy TV series for ABC network called 'Good Heavens,' playing Mr. Angel who rewards good citizens with a wish.

By BOB THOMAS
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Is Oscar facing a quality crisis as he approaches his 48th year? Academy watchers think that may be happening. With the year's end, all the Oscar hopefuls have appeared, and it is a slim field indeed.

SUCH LATE ENTRIES as "Lucky Lady," "Barry Lyndon" and "The Hindenburg," with a total cost of $35 million, have generally brought disappointing responses from the critics.

That doesn't mean that the films may not earn back their huge costs. Some of 1974's biggest grossers "Earthquake," "The Towering Inferno," "Airport 1975" drew many negative reviews.

While the critics don't always affect the box office, their opinions do influence Academy voters, who feel obliged to consider quality in their selections. They're going to have a tough time this year.

THE BIG MOVIE news of 1975 was made by "Jaws," which made all previous box office records obsolete.

"Nashville" drew raves from certain Eastern critics but many others found it flawed. "Shampoo" had its detractors, some claiming that it exploited sex.

OF THE YEAR-END attractions, only one seems to be drawing heavy — though not unanimous — praises: "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest."

Here is one observer's view of the potential nominees for best picture of 1975, more or less in declining order:

"One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest," "Jaws," "Shampoo," "Nashville," "Barry Lyndon," "The Man Who Would Be King," "Dog Day Afternoon," "Special Section," "Tommy," "The Hindenburg"

THE FIELD OF performances is sparse. Film makers seemed more intent on the total picture, with emphasis on tricks and stunts. As a result few standout performances come to mind. The white shark, of course. And Jack Nicholson.

The message from the "Cuckoo's Nest" is loud and clear: this is the year of Jack Nicholson. His performance as the asylum ringleader is pure golden Oscar.

THERE ARE OTHERS in the race: Al Pacino in "Dog Day Afternoon"; Warren Beatty in "Shampoo"; Roger Daltrey in "Tommy"; Ryan O'Neal in "Barry Lyndon"; Walter Matthau in "The Sunshine Boys"; Sean Connery and Michael Caine in "The Man Who Would Be King".

Also, Robert Shaw, Roy Scheider and Richard Dreyfus in "Jaws"; George C. Scott in "The Hindenburg"; Gene Wilder in "Sherlock Holmes' Smarter Brother," Richard Roundtree in "Man Friday."

Sutherland Now Optimistic

UPI Telephoto

Model-actress Lauren Hutton, costumed for her role in "Welcome to L.A.," practices her hobby, photography, during a break in night location filming. Screen Extras Guild pickets, protesting producer Robert Altman's refusal to use professional extras, march in background.

Q: Actor Donald Sutherland used to be a real busy political activist. What are his thoughts about politics in this country today? — Gloomy? — Harold Knight, Pittsburgh.

A: No — groovy. "In the U.S.," Don's observed, "you get the very worst and the very best of politics. I believe strongly that the most exciting new political moves and the biggest changes for the better will eventually come out of America."

Q: Watching a talk show with a panel of showpeople yapping, one of them walked onstage wearing those high platform shoes. Whereupon another comic cracked: "Are you sure Gary Grant started this way?" Everybody, and studio audience, laughed. Will you tell me why? — C. Purcell, Minneapolis.

A: Because Gary Grant did start that way — as a still walker. Under his original name — Archie Leach. (Incidentally, did you know how busy hospital emergency clinics are patching up bones injured in falls from those platform shoes?)

Q: Why the big mystery about the identity of Tom Jones' secretary? Is she a secret romance or something? — Sonja Risman, Cincinnati.

A: No. "She's" a he — Tom's son, Mark. The

by Marilyn and Hy Gardner

17-year-old Jones is making his mark helping to handle his father's fan mail as well as some secretarial chores. Recently a gushing girl broke through the tight security in Caesar's Palace where Jones was appearing and screamed: "I want Tom Jones's baby — I want his baby!" Mark comforted her with this squelcher: "You've got him. I am his baby!"

Q: Which one of our classic TV commentators said: "Our foreign dealings are an open book, generally a checkbook"? — Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Rugby, Kent, Wash.

A: Don't blame that bon mot on a TV journalist. It was an observation made in 1923 by Will Rogers.

Send your questions to Hy Gardner, "Glad You Asked That," care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1560, Costa Mesa 92626. Marilyn and Hy Gardner will answer as many questions as they can in their column, but the volume of mail makes personal replies impossible.

County's Doctors on Normal Schedule

By ALAN DIRKIN

Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Orange County doctors apparently continued working normal hours today, in contrast with their colleagues in Los Angeles County who are on a slowdown to protest escalating malpractice insurance premiums.

Checks at Hoag Memorial Hospital, Newport Beach, and St.

Joseph's and Childrens Hospital of Orange County in Orange, the biggest surgery center in the county, found normal schedules in effect.

Spokesmen said also that they had received no indications of a slowdown from doctors.

These checks confirmed a survey by the Orange County Medical Association (OCMA) of all hospitals in the county which found surgeries, including elective cases, continuing as normal.

director of the OCMA, said, however, that there was an increase in the number of high-risk pre-natal care patients at Orange County Medical Center.

Bannister added that there was no change among physicians in treating patients at their offices. He estimated that from three to five percent of the doctors in the county—there are 2,000—were practicing without insurance coverage.

This estimate was down from reports in the press in December that 350 doctors in Orange County would practice without insurance after Jan. 1. December estimates, given as the malpractice crisis neared its Jan. 1 showdown, also said that 68 doctors had told the OCMA that they would be giving up their practices after Jan. 1.

Bannister said that he knew of a few, "about four or five," who had gone to other states, but he was not aware of any further closings of practices.

Meanwhile, efforts to resolve the crisis are continuing. Though Orange County doctors do not appear to be on a slowdown, they are fighting Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr.'s proposed state-run malpractice insurance program on another level.

A statement issued by the association's executive committee called the program "a politically. (See DOCTORS, Page A2)

Clemente Coyotes Routed

A San Clemente man, alerted by noises in his front yard, was credited today with rescuing a neighbor's dog from an attack by a pack of snarling coyotes Friday night.

Louis Astler of 754 Calle Vallarta threw rocks to drive away the coyotes as they savagely bit and snapped at Buttons, a Chihuahua-terrier mix, owned by Mr. and Mrs. John Helmuth, 755 Calle Vallarta.

Mrs. Helmuth said today that she had let Buttons out Friday evening when the pack of coyotes descended out of the hills and carried the tiny dog to Astler's residence across the street.

She said Astler and his wife heard commotion in the front yard. Astler threw rocks to drive the attacking animals back into the hills, Mrs. Helmuth said.

Mrs. Helmuth said Buttons was taken to a veterinary hospital for treatment of serious puncture wounds. The pet was due to return home today.

The Helmuths' residence is located adjacent to Shorecliffs Golf Course. Several dogs and cats in the neighborhood have been carried off by coyotes and there have been numerous sightings of the wild dogs lurking in the area at night.

Balboa Isle Pharmacy Hit By FBI Raid

A Balboa Island drug store and second story apartment were among 13 locations hit Sunday in a joint raid on alleged gambling establishments by the FBI, San Bernardino and Los Angeles sheriff's departments and the Los Angeles police.

Paul Quinn of the FBI confirmed that one of the raided establishments was at 302 Marine Ave.

That is the location of Leroy's Island Pharmacy, owned by Everett L. Kroesch. According to Beverly Raylinson, manager of the drug store, Kroesch has been hospitalized since Jan. 1 after suffering a heart attack.

A spokesman for Hoag Memorial Hospital said Kroesch is listed in serious condition in the hospital's intensive care unit.

Mrs. Raylinson said she was not in the store Sunday when the lawmen were there but she said she was told officers went to both the store and the second floor apartment.

Quinn said more than $7,000 in cash, gambling paraphernalia and bookmaking records were confiscated in the raids conducted throughout Southern California.

There were no arrests made during the raids.

Quinn said the FBI will turn the confiscated items over to the U. S. Attorney in Los Angeles today and he will make a decision (See RAID, Page A2)

Reagan Launches Campaign Swing

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — Ronald Reagan kicks off a two-week campaign swing today with a bus tour through snow-covered New Hampshire where he hopes to mount a strong challenge to President Ford in the nation's first presidential primary.

Reagan's first extensive campaign trip since he announced his candidacy Nov. 20 will take him into nearly two dozen small New Hampshire communities in three days. Then he moves on to four other primary states and returns to New Hampshire for another three-day swing Jan. 15.

Hours before Reagan's arrival, the leaders of both houses of the state legislature — both Ford supporters — attacked Reagan's proposal to cut the federal budget by $90 billion by transferring a variety of programs such as welfare and education to the states.

House Speaker George Roberts called the plan "a scheme to attract attention." He said he does not foresee how the state could maintain its current level of social services under the Reagan proposal.

Senate President Alf Jacobson said Reagan's budget plan was full of "broad generalities" and urged Reagan to explain it in detail during his visits to the state.

The former California governor has placed heavy emphasis on the New Hampshire primary Feb. 24 as he tries to demonstrate in the early elections that Ford, though an incumbent, does not have widespread electoral appeal.

Reagan plans one major town meeting appearance each night in New Hampshire with an average of about eight stops each day in such places as Dixville (See REAGAN, Page A2)

Visitor's Car Hit By Burglars in LB

The theft of $1,350 worth of cameras, lenses and Christmas presents from the trunk of a car parked in a Laguna Beach hotel's underground parking lot was reported by Leon Dusing of Colorado Springs.

Dusing discovered the theft Saturday. His car trunk had been forced open while parked at the Surf and Sand, 1555 S. Coast Highway. Police are investigating.

Laguna Council Race

Candidates Tell Worth

Planning commissioner John McDowell financially outdistances six other candidates for the Laguna Beach City Council, according to economic disclosure statements filed at City Hall.

McDowell disclosed six investments exceeding $100,000 each, including $100,000 capital stock in McDowell-Conhain and Associates, Inc., a management consulting firm based in Los Angeles.

Other holdings in which McDowell has an interest exceeding $100,000 are Tatch-A-Cleat Products Inc., Beckman Musical Instruments, Inc., and separate parcels of property in Anaheim.

Mountain Valley and Thousand Oaks.

Financial disclosure statements are required of all candidates for city council. They are not required, however, of candidates for city clerk or city treasurer.

McDowell listed a spate of other investments including in excess of $20,000 in oil exploration programs undertaken in 1969 and 1971 by McCulloch Oil.

The planning commissioner also disclosed holdings of several common and preferred stocks, including Continental Telephone Corp., Standard Oil of California, Premier Industrial Corp., Trans

Union Corp., Exxon Corp., Atlantic Richfield Company and Tenneco.

In addition, McDowell disclosed investment in public utility and educational facility construction bonds and various properties in Laguna Beach, Chula Vista and Alsea River, Ore.

McDowell's apparent runner-up is Mark Gumbiner, a Laguna Beach realtor.

Gumbiner disclosed $10,000 to $100,000 stock in his firm, Mark T. Gumbiner and Associates; in excess of $100,000 equity in his residence at 998 Meadowlark Drive; in excess of $100,000 equity in property at 1750 S. Coast (See FINANCES, Page A2)

Auto Firm Fined 'False Smog Tests' Halt Sales

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California's state Air Resources Board fined American Motors $4.2 million today for marketing smog-producing cars and allegedly submitting false test reports.

The ARB also halted sales effective midnight Tuesday of all California AMC Matadors, Hornets and Gremlins equipped with V-8 engines and announced an investigation to determine if American Motors intentionally falsified test reports.

It is the strongest disciplinary action ever taken against an automobile manufacturer by the antipollution agency.

Last year the state fined Chrysler Corp. $328,200 and halted Chrysler sales temporarily.

"We have never seen so many

"dirty cars," said ARB chairman Tom Quinn. "But even more serious is the fact that American Motors submitted false reports to the state which indicated that their cars were actually very clean."

Quinn said AMC executives in Kenosha, Wis., blamed violations, on neglect of test facilities.

Quinn said as an incentive, the ARB will consider waiving 75 percent of the fine if AMC promptly pays 25 percent, or $1,069,800 and commits the remaining 75 percent to improving its emission control and fuel economy programs.

2 Trustees Break Trust

San Clemente police may feel that they misplaced their trust after arresting two trustees for being intoxicated in a public place — the city jail.

Police said today the two ingested a drug used to tranquilize horses, PCP.

Police were attracted by a disturbance Friday night in a television viewing area reserved for prisoners who display good behavior.

An officer said one trustee apparently brought the drug into the jail when he arrived Friday evening for his regular weekend stay.

Quinn said tests conducted by the state show that 85 percent of some AMC models violate California antismog standards for carbon monoxide or oxides of nitrogen emissions.

Quinn said the AMC case is "far more serious" than the violations last year by Chrysler because Chrysler reported its test results showing failure to meet antismog standards while test results submitted to the state by AMC were "totally false."

Quinn said the investigation will determine whether AMC intentionally falsified reports or "was merely guilty of gross negligence."

American Motors executives have denied any intentional wrongdoing and attributed their problem to lack of attention, poor maintenance of test facilities and neglect, Quinn said.

State law requires auto manufacturers to test 2 percent of all cars they produce for California and submit results to the state ARB. The agency can halt sales and impose fines for failure to comply.

Peter Guptill, zone manager for American Motors' Los Angeles area, said 1,200 cars in about 100 dealerships throughout the state are involved in the violations and that the company believes it has a solution to the problem.

"We feel we have the fix well in hand," he said. "We have a car being tested in Detroit. It shouldn't take too long. I'm told (See SMOG, Page A2)

Funeral Scheduled For Ballet Dancer

Funeral services were scheduled today for one of two Ballet Pacifica dancers struck as they crossed South Coast Highway in Laguna Beach after leaving a ballet rehearsal Saturday.

Terri Ann Bychak, 16, of Santa Ana died of injuries received in the accident. Allison Bryant, 14, also of Santa Ana, remained today in South Coast Community Hospital's intensive care unit. She was reported in stable but guarded condition.

Rosary will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday for Miss Bychak. Mass will be at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday. Both are at Holy Family Catholic Church in Orange.

The deceased is survived by her parents Mr. and Mrs. James Bychak; brother, Kenneth; and sister, Dee Dee.

Miss Bychak was a promising young dancer with the Ballet Pacifica. She had won a scholarship to a New York Ballet company and recently had returned from instruction there.

Miss Bryant has been a dancer with the company appearing in several of the Ballet Pacifica productions.

She sustained internal injuries and a broken leg in the tragic mishap.

Police are continuing an investigation of the Saturday accident.

Driver of the vehicle was identified as William H. Marriott, 66, of 17662 Ash Tree Lane, Irvine. He was not held.

Officers said Marriott was southbound in the inside lane of Coast Highway. The girls were hit as they crossed at the intersection of Pearl Street and Coast Highway.

Laguna's City Hall Hours Set

Laguna Beach City Hall will be closed for lunch beginning today. From noon until 1 p.m. only the cashier will be in the city hall. All other operations will be stopped for the one-hour period.

Stan Scholl, municipal services director, said the closing was done to "better assist the citizens of Laguna Beach with the maximum quality of service."

Under the old system, the city hall workers staggered their lunches so half the staff was on duty at any particular time from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m.

"The change is to enable the public to enter city hall during working hours and have all employees available for information and questions," Scholl said.

The move for the hour-long closing was prompted by complaints from people who took business to city hall during the lunch hour and were angered because the staff member they needed to see was at lunch.

The cashier will remain open to accept payment for bills, dog licenses and the like.

$1,425 Loot In SC Jewel, Camera Theft

San Clemente police today are investigating the theft of a camera and jewelry valued at $1,425 from the residence of Michael W. Johnson, 225 W. Avenida Palizada.

Johnson told police that the items were removed from the unlocked residence late Tuesday night. He did not report the crime until Friday, however.

Police also are investigating theft of $805 in jewelry from Michael David Tindall, 209 W. Avenida Gaviota, and theft of $109 in cash from Harry Falklam's Gulf Service Station, 590 Camino de Estrella. Tindall discovered the loss Sunday morning. Falklam learned the cash was missing Saturday.

Loss $1,800 In Apartment Blaze in SC

A faulty gas heater connection touched off a fire that caused an estimated $1,800 damage Sunday at a San Clemente apartment.

Firemen were summoned at 11:37 a.m. to a unit at 523 Los Flores to subdue flames caused when a pilot light in a wall heater ignited gas escaping from a loose pipe fitting.

Fire damaged the heater, the adjacent wall and furnishings in the room.

The occupant of the apartment, Susan Dailey, was not injured, firemen said.

Reagan's most influential support comes from conservative Gov. Meldrim Thomson and arch-conservative newspaper publisher William Loeb, whose Manchester Union Leader is the state's largest and only statewide newspaper.

Seven of 13 county and local party heads recently polled by The Associated Press said party regulars in their areas favor Ford over Reagan. Only one GOP chairman said he felt party regulars would choose Reagan, and the other five said they were uncertain which way their followers were leaning.

A force of 50 agents and officers raided homes in Los Angeles, Fontana, Pomona, Inglewood and Hawthorne as part of a year-long investigation into illegal gambling activities, Quinn said.

He said the FBI is involved in the case under a federal law which makes it a federal crime when more than five people are involved in a conspiracy to violate state gambling laws.

An argument over the placement of a bird cage ended Sunday with the arrest of a Newport Beach man on charges of beating his wife.

Police said John R. Gilmore, 57, of 1117 Back Bay Road, is being held in Newport Beach city jail in lieu of $5,000 bail.

According to police, Gilmore attacked his wife, hitting and choking her, after he complained that she had placed the bird cage between him and his television set.

After the alleged attack, Mrs. Gilmore took the bird and other unidentified family pets and went to a friend's home in Huntington Beach.

At her friend's urging, she filed the report which led to her spouse's arrest, police said.

The committee was called to an emergency session to consider the governor's proposal to create a $120 million insurance pool at reduced premiums in exchange for mandatory treatment at no cost to Medi-Cal and other indigent patients.

The committee, composed of Dr. Charles Plows of Anaheim, Dr. Alan Andrews of Newport Beach, and Dr. Ed Potvin, who practices in Laguna Niguel and San Clemente, said that the governor's program was "attempting to link two critical problems facing medical care in the state as a package deal."

The statement identified the separate problems as the potential "massive increase" in health care cost due to the escalating malpractice insurance premiums and "the shambles of Medi-Cal as it has deteriorated over the last ten years."

"To whimsically toss the health and welfare of the indigent as well as the welfare of all California citizens into a promotional offering which is tantamount to extortion is simply unbelievable," the statement added. Falls in Cage

Timber Wolves Maul Boy, 2

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — Two-year-old John Colorio screams when he wakes up in his hospital bed. He refuses to touch his favorite furry animal toys and cries "Mommy, hold me" from inside an oxygen tent.

The boy was mauled by three timber wolves when he slipped on ice and slid between the bars of their cage at the Worcester Science Center Friday.

The animals tore at his legs, pulled him further into the cage and only retreated when a man threw a railroad tie at them, enabling rescuers to pull the boy free.

John was listed in fair condition at The Memorial Hospital today following weekend surgery for serious leg cuts. He is to undergo plastic surgery in about a week.

Since the accident, he screams every time he wakes up, says his mother, Mrs. Stephen Colorio of Sutton.

"John hasn't said anything about it yet," she said. "But I brought his favorite toy, a cookie monster with fur, to the hospital and he wouldn't touch it."

"And my sister bought him a new toy that had a little bit of fur on it, and he won't touch that, either."

The wolves have been quarantined for 10 days as required by state law, to determine if the animals are infected by rabies.

Richard F. Kleber, director of the center, said he didn't think the wolves attacked the boy. Instead, he said, they may have pulled the boy into the pen in a tug-of-war game with the adults who tried to rescue John.

"We can't blame the wolves for what happened," Kleber said. "It's not their fault. If it's anyone's fault, it's mine."

But Kleber said the walkways outside the cage were as clear of ice as possible and the animal pens at the center "are as safe as or safer than any zoo in the country."

He said all staff members at the center are "heartsick and concerned and want to be as helpful as possible. The situation should be analyzed and the blame put where it belongs before jumping to any conclusions. We have to find out what happened so it can be corrected."

County's Doctors on Normal Schedule

By ALAN DIRKIN
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Orange County doctors apparently continued working normal hours today, in contrast with their colleagues in Los Angeles County who are on a slowdown to protest escalating malpractice insurance premiums.

Joseph's and Childrens Hospital of Orange County in Orange, the biggest surgery center in the county, found normal schedules in effect.

Spokesmen said also that they had received no indications of a slowdown from doctors.

These checks confirmed a survey by the Orange County Medical Association (OCMA) of all hospitals in the county which found surgeries, including elective cases, continuing as normal.

Everett Bannister, executive director of the OCMA, said, however, that there was an increase in the number of high-risk pre-natal care patients at Orange County Medical Center.

Bannister added that there was no change among physicians in treating patients at their offices. He estimated that from three to five percent of the doctors in the county—there are 2,000—were practicing without insurance coverage.

This estimate was down from reports in the press in December that 350 doctors in Orange County would practice without insurance after Jan. 1. December estimates, given as the malpractice crisis neared its Jan. 1 showdown, also said that 68 doctors had told the OCMA that they would be giving up their practices after Jan. 1.

Bannister said that he knew of a few, "about four or five," who had gone to other states, but he was not aware of any further closings of practices.

Meanwhile, efforts to resolve the crisis are continuing. Though Orange County doctors do not appear to be on a slowdown, they are fighting Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr.'s proposed state-run malpractice insurance program on another level.

Override Protest Jells

Committee Includes Ex-trustees

By LAURIE KASPER
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

A committee, whose officers include two former trustees of the Saddleback Valley Unified School District, has formed in opposition of the school district's proposed 70-cent tax override which will be put before the voters on March 2.

The Committee of Saddleback Taxpayers Opposing the Proposition to Increase Taxes has submitted an opposing argument to be included in the sample ballot which will be mailed to district voters before the election.

Chairman of the committee is Joseph A. Peterson, Jr., former board president who was defeated in a reelection bid last year. Chester Briner, who also lost a bid for reelection last year, is vice chairman. Peterson's wife, Margaret, is secretary, and Mary Jo Charnisky, who worked for the passage of a previous bond election, is treasurer.

Peterson said this morning he doesn't know how many members the committee has but the group is getting larger.

He said they will probably be speaking against the tax increase during public meetings and also conduct a house-to-house campaign against it. "I think word of mouth is going to convince people," he said.

The committee's statement, which was submitted to the county registrar of voters office, charges that the present board members, who took office on April 1, "recklessly adopted" a deficit budget for the current school year.

When the board members took office, Peterson said, they had a balanced budget from his board to work from.

He objected that the board adopted the deficit budget even though they had received additional money through SB220 as well as raised the tax rate in late August.

He noted that Saddleback has the highest tax rate of any school district in the county. No other area districts, he said, are seeking a tax override.

"Other districts seem to be able to tighten up their belts and get by," he said.

Peterson said there are a number of ways the board can cut costs. Rather than suggest ways, however, he said it is the board's responsibility to see that they have a balanced budget.

Young Boy Mauled By Wolves

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP)—Two-year-old John Colorio screams when he wakes up in his hospital bed. He refuses to touch his favorite furry animal toys and cries "Mommy, hold me" from inside an oxygen tent.

The boy was mauled by three timber wolves when he slipped on ice and slid between the bars of their cage at the Worcester Science Center Friday.

The animals tore at his legs, pulled him further into the cage and only retreated when a man threw a railroad tie at them, enabling rescuers to pull the boy free.

John was listed in fair condition at The Memorial Hospital today following weekend surgery for serious leg cuts. He is to undergo plastic surgery in about a week.

Since the accident, he screams every time he wakes up, says his mother, Mrs. Stephen Colorio of Sutton.

"John hasn't said anything about it yet," she said. "But I brought his favorite toy, a cookie monster with fur, to the hospital and he wouldn't touch it."

"And my sister bought him a new toy that had a little bit of fur on it, and he won't touch that, either."

The wolves have been quarantined for 10 days as required by state law, to determine if the animals are infected by rabies.

Richard F. Kleber, director of the center, said he didn't think the wolves attacked the boy. Instead, he said, they may have pulled the boy into the pen in a tug-of-war game with the adults who tried to rescue John.

"We can't blame the wolves for what happened," Kleber said. "It's not their fault. If it's anyone's fault, it's mine."

2 Trustees Break Trust

San Clemente police may feel that they misplaced their trust after arresting two trustees for being intoxicated in a public place—the city jail.

Police said today the two "ingested a drug used to tranquilize horses, PCP."

Police were attracted by a disturbance Friday night in a television viewing area reserved for prisoners who display good behavior.

An officer said one trusty apparently brought the drug into the jail when he arrived Friday evening for his regular weekend stay.

$4.2 Million Fine

False Smog Data By AMC Charged

LOS ANGELES (AP)—California's state Air Resources Board fined American Motors $4.2 million today for marketing smog-producing cars and allegedly submitting false test reports.

The ARB also halted sales effective midnight Tuesday of all California AMC Matadors, Hornets and Gremlins equipped with V-8 engines and announced an investigation to determine if American Motors intentionally falsified test reports.

It is the strongest disciplinary action ever taken against an automobile manufacturer by the antipollution agency.

Last year the state fined Chrysler Corp. $328,200 and halted Chrysler sales temporarily.

"We have never seen so many 'dirty cars,'" said ARB chairman Tom Quinn. "But even more serious is the fact that American Motors submitted false reports to the state which indicated that their cars were actually very clean."

Quinn said AMC executives in Kenosha, Wis., blamed violations, on neglect of test facilities.

Quinn said as an incentive, the ARB will consider waiving 75 percent of the fine if AMC promptly pays 25 percent, or $1,069,800 and commits the remaining 75 percent to improving its emission control and fuel economy programs.

Quinn said tests conducted by the state show that 85 percent of some AMC models violate California antismog standards for carbon monoxide or oxides of nitrogen emissions.

Quinn said the AMC case is "far more serious" than the violations last year by Chrysler because Chrysler reported its test results showing failure to meet antismog standards while test results submitted to the state by AMC were "totally false."

Quinn said the investigation will determine whether AMC intentionally falsified reports or "was merely guilty of gross negligence."

"American Motors executives have denied any intentional (See SMOG, Page A2)

Reagan Launches Campaign Swing

CONCORD, N.H. (AP)—Ronald Reagan kicks off a two-week campaign swing today with a bus tour through snow-covered New Hampshire where he hopes to mount a strong challenge to President Ford in the nation's first presidential primary.

Reagan's first extensive campaign trip since he announced his candidacy Nov. 20 will take him into nearly two dozen small New Hampshire communities in three days. Then he moves on to four other primary states and returns to New Hampshire for another three-day swing Jan. 15.

Hours before Reagan's arrival, the leaders of both houses of the state legislature—both Ford supporters—attacked Reagan's proposal to cut the federal budget by $90 billion by transferring a variety of programs such as welfare and education to the states.

House Speaker George Roberts called the plan "a scheme to at-

Viejo School Construction Under Study

The award of a low bid of $1 million for construction of a new elementary school in Mission Viejo will be considered tonight by Capistrano Unified School District trustees.

The school board will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the cafeteria of San Juan Elementary School, 31642 El Camino Real, San Juan Capistrano.

The $1,033,000 bid for construction of the school near the intersection of Trabuco Road and Alicia Parkway was submitted by Near-Cal Corp. of Anaheim. Eleven firms bid on the project.

The low bid is about $200,000 below the amount projected for the school. Total cost of the new facility, including land, utility installation and equipment will be about $1.8 million.

School Meet Time Limit Ruled Weighed

Saddleback Valley Unified School District trustees will consider tonight rescinding a policy which requires them to end their meetings by 10 p.m. unless a continuance is approved by two-thirds of the members.

Superintendent Richard Welte has recommended that the policy be revoked on the basis that it is not in the "best interests of full and free discussion."

Trustees will also consider waiving the second semester for 89 high school seniors who have completed all their requirements and changing the school calendar to allow teachers and administrators time for their professional meetings.

The trustees' open meeting begins at 8 p.m. in the multipurpose room of Los Alisos Intermediate School, 25171 Moor Ave., Mission Viejo.

SC Man Saves Dog From Coyote Pack

A San Clemente man, alerted by noises in his front yard, was credited today with rescuing a neighbor's dog from an attack by a pack of snarling coyotes Friday night.

Louis Astler of 754 Calle Vallarta threw rocks to drive away the coyotes as they savagely bit and snapped at Buttons, a Chihuahua-terrier mix, owned by Mr. and Mrs. John Helmuth, 755 Calle Vallarta.

Mrs. Helmuth said today that she had let Buttons out Friday evening when the pack of coyotes descended out of the hills and carried the tiny dog to Astler's residence across the street.

She said Astler and his wife heard commotion in the front yard. Astler threw rocks to drive the attacking animals back into the hills, Mrs. Helmuth said.

Mrs. Helmuth said Buttons was taken to a veterinary hospital for treatment of serious puncture wounds. The pet was due to return home today.

The Helmuths' residence is located adjacent to Shorecliffs Golf Course. Several dogs and cats in the neighborhood have been carried off by coyotes and there have been numerous sightings of the wild dogs lurking in the area at night.

New Year's Toll at 386

By The Associated Press

Traffic fatalities over the four-day New Year's weekend met the estimate of the National Safety Council but remained below the total for the last four-day New Year's holiday.

The number of deaths recorded by the Associated Press reached 386 as the weekend log came to a close at midnight Sunday in each time zone.

Bal Isle Store Raided

FBI Moves On Alleged Gambling Setup

A Balboa Island drug store and second story apartment were among 13 locations hit Sunday in a joint raid on alleged gambling establishments by the FBI, San Bernardino and Los Angeles sheriff's departments and the Los Angeles police.

Paul Quinn of the FBI confirmed that one of the raided establishments was at 302 Marine Ave.

That is the location of Leroy's Island Pharmacy, owned by Everett L. Kroesch. According to Beverly Raylinson, manager of the drug store, Kroesch has been hospitalized since Jan. 1 after suffering a heart attack.

A spokesman for Hoag Memorial Hospital said Kroesch is listed in serious condition in the hospital's intensive care unit.

Mrs. Raylinson said she was not in the store Sunday when the lawmen were there but she said she was told officers went to both the store and the second floor apartment.

Quinn said more than $7,000 in cash, gambling paraphernalia and bookmaking records were confiscated in the raids conducted throughout Southern California.

There were no arrests made during the raids.

Quinn said the FBI will turn the confiscated items over to the U. S. Attorney in Los Angeles today and he will make a decision on whether to take the evidence to the federal grand jury.

Quinn declined to say what was taken from the Balboa Island location and he also declined to state whether the raid was aimed at the unidentified apartment occupant or the drug store.

A force of 50 agents and officers raided homes in Los Angeles, Fontana, Pomona, Inglewood and Hawthorne as part of a year-long investigation into illegal gambling activities, Quinn said.

Ford Urges Truce

Calls for Angola Cease-fire

ST. LOUIS (AP) — President Ford called today for "an immediate cease-fire" in Angola, an end to all outside intervention and a government of national unity to stop the civil war there.

He also warned the Soviet Union that if it continues intervention in Angola "damage to our broader relations will be unavoidable."

In a speech before the American Farm Bureau Federation in St. Louis, the President promised continued U.S. efforts "diplomatic and otherwise to stabilize the military situation in Angola and promote a quick and peaceful settlement."

But he rejected the idea of using grain sales to persuade Russia to disengage in Angola.

He was to meet with Farm Bureau leaders after his speech and with area news executives before returning to Washington tonight.

Ford was met at the airport by Republican Gov. Christopher Bond and Missouri Atty. Gen. John Danforth.

The group of well-wishers was small and the weather chilly but sunny. The President said he was happy to be enjoying nice weather, but passed up any handshaking.

He told reporters he expected the "prestige of the United States" to help secure a peaceful settlement in Angola and reiterated that he thought a cease-fire was the best first step to such a settlement, which he said must be reached among the Angolans themselves.

On another subject, the President said he would campaign some in New Hampshire but added that the best way for him to win votes was "working in the Oval Office on presidential matters."

Ford's aides described his trip to St. Louis as nonpolitical, but Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz, who flew here with the President, told reporters Ford definitely would win the farm vote in 1976.

While former President Nixon got 70 percent of the farm vote, Butz said, Ford will get "above 60 percent." He said Nixon got a bigger vote because his opponent, Sen. George McGovern (D-S.D.), was "poison to farmers."

The President's comments followed a Soviet statement Saturday urging "termination of foreign armed intervention in Angola."

Meanwhile, recruiting and training of American mercenaries to fight in Angola has come to an abrupt halt in the United States, the Christian Science Monitor reported today.

Quoting sources close to the Central Intelligence Agency, the newspaper said the halt appeared to be the result of an article it published last week that said ex-U.S. servicemen were being trained for mercenary work in a CIA-sponsored operation at Ft. Benning, Ga.

But today's article said the center of recruitment has moved to Europe, where some African embassies are quietly recruiting Europeans, using American and other funds.

Administration officials have denied that American mercenaries were being used but declined direct answers when asked if foreign mercenaries were being hired.

'Defense' Weighed In Death

An Orange county Superior Court jury was urged today to remember when it considers its verdict that Katy Ann Pennington of Westminster was twice threatened with death by her husband shortly before she killed him with a single shot from a .22-caliber rifle.

Defense attorney John Mulrooney told the panel in his opening statement that Mrs. Pennington, 48, of 8302 20th St., Westminster, was warned by her husband before he left for a nearby liquor store last Sept. 1 that he would kill her when he returned.

Mulrooney said Navy veteran James E. Pennington, 51, had been on a six-week drinking spree at the time of his death.

The Penningtons, he said, had only just returned home from a Mexican vacation during which the drinking Pennington attempted to choke his wife to death.

Pennington's first action on his return from the liquor store was to raise the newly purchased quart bottle of vodka over his head and renew his threats to kill his wife with the statement "I'm going to kill you," Mulrooney said.

Mrs. Pennington's action in firing one shot from a rifle that was loaded for her by her son was purely one of self defense, Mulrooney said.

"She had no alternative," he told the jury.

Deputy District Attorney Anthony Rackajcas conceded that Mrs. Pennington had been beaten several times by her husband and that he had threatened to kill her when she refused to bring him liquor from the nearby store.

But the prosecutor stressed that premeditation was evident in her actions last Sept. 1 by the fact that she visited a neighbor shortly before the killing and told him exactly what she intended to do.

The trial in Judge James F. Judge's courtroom is expected to last two weeks.

The committee was called to an emergency session to consider the governor's proposal to create a $120 million insurance pool at reduced premiums in exchange for mandatory treatment at no cost to Medi-Cal and other indigent patients.

The committee, composed of Dr. Charles Plowes of Anaheim, Dr. Alan Andrews of Newport Beach, and Dr. Ed Potvin, who practices in Laguna Niguel and San Clemente, said that the governor's program was "attempting to link two critical problems facing medical care in the state as a package deal."

The statement identified the separate problems as the potential "massive increase" in health care cost due to the escalating malpractice insurance premiums and "the shambles of Medi-Cal as it has deteriorated over the last ten years."

"To whimsically toss the health and welfare of the indigent as well as the welfare of all California citizens into a promotional offering which is tantamount to extortion is simply unbelievable," the statement added. "The OCMA executive committee recognizes that the Medi-Cal program has become a disaster but we insist that resolution of this problem cannot be linked to the malpractice crisis."

The governor's program also would create a Medical Peace Corps of doctors who would treat persons in areas with few physicians.

Hypnotized Driver Sticks To First Story

An Orange County Transit District bus driver did not change her version of a fatal Dec. 22 car, truck and bus collision in Irvine when she was hypnotized at the urging of police.

Bus driver Glenda Page, 55, of Garden Grove, said while under hypnosis that the driver of a pickup truck ran a red light before smashing into a compact station wagon drive by Maria Mendez, 32, of 22731 Avalon St., El Toro, according to Detective John Stoneback. Mrs. Mendez was killed in the crash.

The bus driver's version differs from the accounts of two other witnesses and police accident experts, Stoneback said.

Those accounts, Stoneback said, agree that Mrs. Mendez ran the light on University Drive before being struck by the pickup truck driven by Dale Critchfield, 18, of 530 Wilson St., Costa Mesa.

The impact disintegrated the pickup and carried it and the car across the intersection of University and Campus drives with enough violence to knock the front end of the full-size OCTD bus about eight feet, over a curb and into a guard rail.

Stoneback said the findings of Irvine police investigators were corroborated by an Anaheim police traffic investigator.

According to the county coroner, Mrs. Mendez was pregnant at the time of the collision. She is survived by her husband, Alfredo and a 3-year-old child.

tract attention." He said he does not foresee how the state could maintain its current level of social services under the Reagan proposal.

Senate President Alf Jacobson said Reagan's budget plan was full of "broad generalities" and urged Reagan to explain it in detail during his visits to the state.

The former California governor has placed heavy emphasis on the New Hampshire primary Feb. 24 as he tries to demonstrate in the early elections that Ford, though an incumbent, does not have widespread electoral appeal.

Reagan plans one major town meeting appearance each night in New Hampshire with an average of about eight stops each day in such places as Dixville Notch, Mount Cranmore and West Ossipee.

He plans a total of nine days of intense campaigning here this month sandwiched between seven days in North Carolina, Florida, Illinois and Wisconsin in his quest for the Republican presidential nomination.

The Reagan and Ford camps predict the New Hampshire race will be very close, with many political observers giving Reagan a slight edge.

Rosary will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday for Miss Bychak. Mass will be at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday. Both are at Holy Family Catholic Church in Orange.

The deceased is survived by her parents Mr. and Mrs. James Bychak; brother, Kenneth; and sister, Dee Dee.

Miss Bychak was a promising young dancer with the Ballet Pacifica. She had won a scholarship to a New York Ballet company and recently had returned from instruction there.

Miss Bryant has been a dancer with the company appearing in several of the Ballet Pacifica productions.

She sustained internal injuries and a broken leg in the tragic mishap.

Police are continuing an investigation of the Saturday accident.

Driver of the vehicle was identified as William H. Marriott, 66, of 17662 Ash Tree Lane, Irvine. He was not held.

Officers said Marriott was southbound in the inside lane of Coast Highway. The girls were hit as they crossed at the intersection of Pearl Street and Coast Highway.

TAX VOTE . . .

He predicted the override will fail because now is a time when everyone is tightening their purse strings. "Individuals have to do it," he said. "I don't see why school districts can't do it."

To pass, the tax hike would need to be approved by two-thirds of the voters. If approved, it would add $7.82 to the monthly tax bill of the average district homeowner.

District trustees and administrators say the raise, from $6.41 to $7.11 per $100 assessed valuation would bring the school district $2.3 million in the 1976-77 fiscal year.

District administrators say they face an estimated $1.4 million budget deficit next year. Additional money from the tax override, they said, will be added to their reserve account.

Administrators say the problem has been caused by inflation and the fact that the district can no longer count on funds made available through unfication.

INDIANTOWN, Fla. (UPI) — The second parachutist in three weeks plunged to his death at this small rendezvous for parachute jump clubs.

The Martin County sheriff's office identified Sunday's victim as Dwayne Edward Stewart, 32, an unemployed journeyman lineman.

Witnesses told investigators Stewart's main parachute failed to open properly after he jumped in a free fall from 7,200 feet above an airport. He waited too long to activate his reserve chute, the witnesses reported, and when it opened it further collapsed the main shroud and hastened his descent.

County's Doctors on Normal Schedule

By ALAN DIRKIN

Orange County doctors apparently continued working normal hours today, in contrast with their colleagues in Los Angeles County who are on a slowdown to protest escalating malpractice insurance premiums.

Checks at Hoag Memorial Hospital, Newport Beach, and St.

Joseph's and Childrens Hospital of Orange County in Orange, the biggest surgery center in the county, found normal schedules in effect.

Spokesmen said also that they had received no indications of a slowdown from doctors.

These checks confirmed a survey by the Orange County Medical Association (OCMA) of all hospitals in the county which found surgeries, including elective cases, continuing as normal.

Everett Bannister, executive

director of the OCMA, said, however, that there was an increase in the number of high-risk pre-natal care patients at Orange County Medical Center.

Bannister added that there was no change among physicians in treating patients at their offices. He estimated that from three to five percent of the doctors in the county—there are 2,000—were practicing without insurance coverage.

This estimate was down from reports in the press in December that 350 doctors in Orange County would practice without insurance after Jan. 1. December estimates, given as the malpractice crisis neared its Jan. 1 showdown, also said that 68 doctors had told the OCMA that they would be giving up their practices after Jan. 1.

Bannister said that he knew of a few, "about four or five," who had gone to other states, but he was not aware of any further closings of practices.

Meanwhile, efforts to resolve the crisis are continuing. Though Orange County doctors do not appear to be on a slowdown, they are fighting Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr.'s proposed state-run malpractice insurance program on another level.

A statement issued by the association's executive committee called the program "a politically (See DOCTORS, Page A2)

'False Smog Tests' Halt Sales

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California's state Air Resources Board fined American Motors $4.2 million today for marketing smog-producing cars and allegedly submitting false test reports.

The ARB also halted sales effective midnight Tuesday of all California AMC Matadors, Hornets and Gremlins equipped with V-8 engines and announced an investigation to determine if American Motors intentionally falsified test reports.

It is the strongest disciplinary action ever taken against an automobile manufacturer by the antipollution agency.

Last year the state fined Chrysler Corp. $328,200 and halted Chrysler sales temporarily.

"We have never seen so many dirty cars," said ARB chairman Tom Quinn. "But even more serious is the fact that American Motors submitted false reports to the state which indicated that their cars were actually very clean."

Quinn said AMC executives in Kenosha, Wis., blamed violations, on neglect of test facilities.

Zoo Wolves Maul Tot

Child Slips on Ice and Slides Into Cage

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — Two-year-old John Colorio screams when he wakes up in his hospital bed. He refuses to touch his favorite furry animal toys and cries "Mommy, hold me" from inside an oxygen tent.

The boy was mauled by three timber wolves when he slipped on ice and slid between the bars of their cage at the Worcester Science Center Friday.

The animals tore at his legs, pulled him further into the cage and only retreated when a man threw a railroad tie at them, enabling rescuers to pull the boy free.

John was listed in fair condition at The Memorial Hospital today following weekend surgery for serious leg cuts. He is to undergo plastic surgery in about a week.

Since the accident, he screams every time he wakes up, says his mother, Mrs. Stephen Colorio of Sutton.

"John hasn't said anything about it yet," she said. "But I brought his favorite toy, a cookie monster with fur, to the hospital and he wouldn't touch it."

"And my sister bought him a new toy that had a little bit of fur on it, and he won't touch that, either."

The wolves have been quarantined for 10 days as required by state law, to determine if the animals are infected by rabies.

Richard F. Kleber, director of the center, said he didn't think the wolves attacked the boy. Instead, he said, they may have pulled the boy into the pen in a tug-of-war game with the adults who tried to rescue John.

"We can't blame the wolves for what happened," Kleber said. "It's not their fault. If it's anyone's fault, it's mine."

Bal Isle Pharmacy Hit in FBI Raids

A Balboa Island drug store and second story apartment were among 13 locations hit Sunday in a joint raid on alleged gambling establishments by the FBI, San Bernardino and Los Angeles sheriff's departments and the Los Angeles police.

Paul Quinn of the FBI confirmed that one of the raided establishments was at 302 Marine Ave.

That is the location of Leroy's Island Pharmacy, owned by Everett L. Kroesch. According to Beverly Raylinson, manager of the drug store, Kroesch has been hospitalized since Jan. 1 after suffering a heart attack.

A spokesman for Hoag Memorial Hospital said Kroesch is listed in serious condition in the hospital's intensive care unit.

Mrs. Raylinson said she was not in the store Sunday when the lawmen were there but she said she was told officers went to both the store and the second floor apartment.

Quinn said more than $7,000 in cash, gambling paraphernalia and bookmaking records were confiscated in the raids conducted throughout Southern California.

There were no arrests made during the raids.

Quinn said the FBI will turn the confiscated items over to the U. S. Attorney in Los Angeles today and he will make a decision on whether to take the evidence to the federal grand jury.

Quinn declined to say what was taken from the Balboa Island location and he also declined to state whether the raid was aimed at the unidentified apartment occupant or the drug store.

New Year's Toll at 386

Traffic fatalities over the four-day New Year's weekend met the estimate of the National Safety Council but remained below the total for the last four-day New Year's holiday.

The number of deaths recorded by the Associated Press reached 386 as the weekend fog came to a close at midnight Sunday in each time zone.

Bus Driver Sticks To Story in Crash

An Orange County Transit District bus driver did not change her version of a fatal Dec. 22 car, truck and bus collision in Irvine when she was hypnotized at the urging of police.

Bus driver Glenda Page, 55, of Garden Grove, said while under hypnosis that the driver of a pickup truck ran a red light before smashing into a compact station wagon drive by Maria Mendez, 32, of 22731 Avalon St., El Toro, according to Detective John Stoneback. Mrs. Mendez was killed in the crash.

The bus driver's version differs from the accounts of two other witnesses and police accident experts, Stoneback said.

Those accounts, Stoneback said, agree that Mrs. Mendez ran the light on University Drive before being struck by the pickup truck driven by Dale Critchfield, 18, of 530 Wilson St., Costa Mesa.

The impact disintegrated the pickup and carried it and the car across the intersection of University and Campus drives with enough violence to knock the front end of the full-size OCTD bus about eight feet, over a curb and into a guard rail.

Stoneback said the findings of Irvine police investigators were corroborated by an Anaheim police traffic investigator.

According to the county coroner, Mrs. Mendez was pregnant at the time of the collision. She is survived by her husband, Alfredo and a 3-year-old child.

Quinn said tests conducted by the state show that 85 percent of some AMC models violate California antismog standards for carbon monoxide or oxides of nitrogen emissions.

Quinn said the AMC case is "far more serious" than the violations last year by Chrysler because Chrysler reported its test results showing failure to meet antismog standards while test results submitted to the state by AMC were "totally false."

Quinn said the investigation will determine whether AMC intentionally falsified reports or "was merely guilty of gross negligence."

American Motors executives have denied any intentional wrongdoing and attributed their problem to lack of attention, poor maintenance of test facilities and neglect. Quinn said.

State law requires auto manufacturers to test 2 percent of all cars they produce for California and submit results to the state ARB. Quinn said the violations and impose fines for failure to comply.

Peter Gupitell, zone manager for American Motors' Los Angeles area, said 1,200 cars in about 100 dealerships throughout the state are involved in the violations and that the company believes it has a solution to the problem.

Terri Ann Bychak, 16, of Santa Ana died of injuries received in the accident. Allison Bryant, 14, also of Santa Ana, remained today in South Coast Community Hospital's intensive care unit. She was reported in stable but guarded condition.

Rosary will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday for Miss Bychak. Mass will be at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday. Both are at Holy Family Catholic Church in Orange.

The deceased is survived by her parents Mr. and Mrs. James Bychak; brother, Kenneth; and sister, Dee Dee.

Miss Bychak was a promising young dancer with the Ballet Pacifica. She had won a scholarship to a New York Ballet company and recently had returned from instruction there.

Miss Bryant has been a dancer with the company appearing in several of the Ballet Pacifica productions.

She sustained internal injuries and a broken leg in the tragic mishap.

Police are continuing an investigation of the Saturday accident.

Driver of the vehicle was identified as William H. Marriott, 66, of 17662 Ash Tree Lane, Irvine. He was not held.

Officers said Marriott was southbound in the inside lane of Coast Highway. The girls were hit as they crossed at the intersection of Pearl Street and Coast Highway.

"Fighting didn't happen much. The club was for guys who liked to ride, party and have a good time."

Glen Breeden, a Des Moines truck driver, was stabbed to death when he walked into a tavern alone to arrange a truce between his club, the Grim Reapers, and a club called the Last Chapter, police said.

"I heard a scream and opened the door," John Hallock, a member of the Grim Reapers, told officers.

"He fell back into my arms. It gets a little heavy when a brother and a close friend dies in your arms," Hallock said.

Five other persons were hospitalized.

Hits Intervention

Angola Truce Urged by Ford

ST. LOUIS (AP) — President Ford called today for "an immediate cease-fire" in Angola, an end to all outside intervention and a government of national unity to stop the civil war there.

He also warned the Soviet Union that if it continues intervention in Angola "damage to our broader relations will be unavoidable."

In a speech before the American Farm Bureau Federation in St. Louis, the President promised continued U.S. efforts "diplomatic and otherwise to stabilize the military situation in Angola and promote a quick and peaceful settlement."

But he rejected the idea of using grain sales to persuade Russia to disengage in Angola.

He was to meet with Farm Bureau leaders after his speech and with area news executives before returning to Washington tonight.

Ford was met at the airport by Republican Gov. Christopher Bond and Missouri Atty. Gen. John Danforth.

The group of welcomers was small and the weather chilly but sunny. The President said he was happy to be enjoying nice weather, but passed up any handshaking.

He told reporters he expected the "prestige of the United States" to help secure a peaceful settlement in Angola and reiterated that he thought a cease-fire was the best first step to such a settlement, which he said must be reached among the Angolans themselves.

On another subject, the President said he would campaign some in New Hampshire but added that the best way for him to win votes was "working in the Oval Office on presidential matters."

The statement identified the separate problems as the potential "massive increase" in health care cost due to the escalating malpractice insurance premiums and "the shambles of Medi-Cal as it has deteriorated over the last ten years."

"To whimsically toss the health and welfare of the indigent as well as the welfare of all California citizens into a promotional offering which is tantamount to extortion is simply unbelievable," the statement added. 'Defense' Weighed In Death

An Orange county Superior Court jury was urged today to remember when it considers its verdict that Katy Ann Pennington of Westminster was twice threatened with death by her husband shortly before she killed him with a single shot from a .22-caliber rifle.

Defense attorney John Mulrooney told the panel in his opening statement that Mrs. Pennington, 48, of 8302 20th St., Westminster, was warned by her husband before he left for a nearby liquor store last Sept. 1 that he would kill her when he returned.

Mulrooney said Navy veteran James E. Pennington, 51, had been on a six-week drinking spree at the time of his death.

The Penningtons, he said, had only just returned home from a Mexican vacation during which the drinking Pennington attempted to choke his wife to death.

Pennington's first action on his return from the liquor store was to raise the newly purchased quart bottle of vodka over his head and renew his threats to kill his wife with the statement "I'm going to kill you," Mulrooney said.

Mrs. Pennington's action in firing one shot from a rifle that was loaded for her by her son was purely one of self defense, Mulrooney said.

"She had no alternative," he told the jury.

Deputy District Attorney Anthony Rackajckas conceded that Mrs. Pennington had been beaten several times by her husband and that he had threatened to kill her when she refused to bring him liquor from the nearby store.

But the prosecutor stressed that premeditation was evident in her actions last Sept. 1 by the fact that she visited a neighbor shortly before the killing and told him exactly what she intended to do.

The trial in Judge James F. Judge's courtroom is expected to last two weeks.

By ALAN DIRKIN
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Orange County doctors apparently continued working normal hours today, in contrast with their colleagues in Los Angeles County who are on a slowdown to protest escalating malpractice insurance premiums. Checks at Hoag Memorial Hospital, Newport Beach, and St.

Joseph's and Childrens Hospital of Orange County in Orange, the biggest surgery center in the county, found normal schedules in effect.

Spokesmen said also that they had received no indications of a slowdown from doctors.

These checks confirmed a survey by the Orange County Medical Association (OCMA) of all hospitals in the county which found surgeries, including elective cases, continuing as normal.

Everett Bannister, executive

director of the OCMA, said, however, that there was an increase in the number of high-risk pre-natal care patients at Orange County Medical Center.

Bannister added that there was no change among physicians in treating patients at their offices. He estimated that from three to five percent of the doctors in the county—there are 2,000—were practicing without insurance coverage.

This estimate was down from reports in the press in December that 350 doctors in Orange County would practice without insurance after Jan. 1. December estimates, given as the malpractice crisis neared its Jan. 1 showdown, also said that 68 doctors had told the OCMA that they would be giving up their practices after Jan. 1.

Bannister said that he knew of a few, "about four or five," who had gone to other states, but he was not aware of any further closings of practices.

Meanwhile, efforts to resolve the crisis are continuing. Though Orange County doctors do not appear to be on a slowdown, they are fighting Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr.'s proposed state-run malpractice insurance program on another level.

A statement issued by the association's executive committee called the program "a politically (See DOCTORS, Page A2)

SC Man Saves Dog From Coyote Pack

A San Clemente man, alerted by noises in his front yard, was credited today with rescuing a neighbor's dog from an attack by a pack of snarling coyotes Friday night.

Louis Astler of 754 Calle Vallarta threw rocks to drive away the coyotes as they savagely bit and snapped at Buttons, a Chihuahua-terrier mix, owned by Mr. and Mrs. John Helmuth, 755 Calle Vallarta.

Mrs. Helmuth said today that she had let Buttons out Friday evening when the pack of coyotes descended out of the hills and carried the tiny dog to Astler's residence across the street.

She said Astler and his wife heard commotion in the front yard. Astler threw rocks to drive the attacking animals back into the hills, Mrs. Helmuth said.

Mrs. Helmuth said Buttons was taken to a veterinary hospital for treatment of serious puncture wounds. The pet was due to return home today.

The Helmuths' residence is located adjacent to Shorecliffs Golf Course. Several dogs and cats in the neighborhood have been carried off by coyotes and there have been numerous sightings of the wild dogs lurking in the area at night.

Auto Firm Fined

'False Smog Tests' Halt Sales

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California's state Air Resources Board fined American Motors $4.2 million today for marketing smog-producing cars and allegedly submitting false test reports.

The ARB also halted sales effective midnight Tuesday of all California AMC Matadors, Hornets and Gremlins equipped with V-8 engines and announced an investigation to determine if American Motors intentionally falsified test reports.

It is the strongest disciplinary action ever taken against an automobile manufacturer by the antipollution agency.

Last year the state fined Chrysler Corp. $328,200 and halted Chrysler sales temporarily.

"We have never seen so many 'dirty cars,'" said ARB chairman Tom Quinn. "But even more serious is the fact that American Motors submitted false reports to the state which indicated that their cars were actually very clean."

Quinn said AMC executives in Kenosha, Wisc., blamed violations, on neglect of test facilities.

Quinn said as an incentive, the ARB will consider waiving 75 percent of the fine if AMC promptly pays 25 percent, or $1,069,800 and commits the remaining 75 percent to improving its emission control and fuel economy programs.

Insurance Costs Viewed In Huntington

Huntington Beach City Council members will take a look tonight at the skyrocketing cost of liability insurance that is expected to more than double in 1976.

The council meeting will start at 7 p.m. at Council chambers.

Insurance premiums have shot up to $595,000, according to City Treasurer Warren Hall. Hall said coverage last year cost the city $293,000.

Hall said the city needs $325,926 additional money from the general fund of the 1975-76 budget to cover the added charges.

City Administrator Dave Rowlands said the increase in liability insurance parallels the sharp malpractice expenses.

He said that claims against the city are becoming much more prevalent than in past years.

'BadMouth' Flap Ends In Shooting

A heated argument over language used in front of women patrons ended in a shooting at 12:27 a.m. Sunday at the Chug A-Lug bar in Westminster.

Steven Gray, 26, of Whittier was shot in the stomach with a .22-caliber pistol and is reported in stable condition today at the Orange County Medical Center.

Charged with attempted murder is William E. Bivens, 43, of Garden Grove.

Westminster police Lt. Joe Woods said a skirmish broke out over the language one of the men was using, but at this time officers are uncertain who was the offending party.

Police allege Bivens pulled a gun from his waistband and a struggle ensued in which Gray was shot.

Other patrons subdued Bivens and had disarmed him by the time police had arrived. Bivens was booked at Orange County Jail.

Police said they did not know the motive for the slayings and said they had not found the murder weapon.

Jury Views 'Self-Defense' Plea

An Orange county Superior Court jury was urged today to remember when it considers its verdict that Katy Ann Pennington of Westminster was twice threatened with death by her husband shortly before she killed him with a single shot from a .22-caliber rifle.

The committee was called to an emergency session to consider the governor's proposal to create a $120 million insurance pool at reduced premiums in exchange for mandatory treatment at no cost to Medi-Cal and other indigent patients.

The committee, composed of Dr. Charles Plows of Anaheim, Dr. Alan Andrews of Newport Beach, and Dr. Ed Potvin, who practices in Laguna Niguel and San Clemente, said that the governor's program was "attempting to link two critical problems facing medical care in the state as a package deal."

The statement identified the separate problems as the potential "massive increase" in health care cost due to the escalating malpractice insurance premiums and "the shambles of Medi-Cal as it has deteriorated over the last ten years."

"To whimsically toss the health and welfare of the indigent as well as the welfare of all California citizens into a promotional offering which is tantamount to extortion is simply unbelievable," the statement added. "The OCMA executive committee recognizes that the Medi-Cal program has become a disaster but we insist that resolution of this problem cannot be linked to the malpractice crisis."

The governor's program also would create a Medical Peace Corps of doctors who would treat persons in areas with few physicians.

some AMC models violate California antismog standards for carbon monoxide or oxides of nitrogen emissions.

Quinn said the AMC case is "far more serious" than the violations last year by Chrysler because Chrysler reported its test results showing failure to meet antismog standards while test results submitted to the state by AMC were "totally false."

Quinn said the investigation will determine whether AMC intentionally falsified reports or "was merely guilty of gross negligence."

"American Motors executives have denied any intentional wrongdoing and attributed their problem to lack of attention, poor maintenance of test facilities and neglect," Quinn said.

State law requires auto manufacturers to test 2 percent of all cars they produce for California and submit results to the state ARB. The agency can halt sales and impose fines for failure to comply.

Peter Guptill, zone manager for American Motors' Los Angeles area, said 1,200 cars in about 100 dealerships throughout the state are involved in the violations and that the company believes it has a solution to the problem.

"We feel we have the fix well in hand," he said. "We have a car being tested in Detroit. It shouldn't take too long. I'm told we'll be back to normal by Feb. 1."

On another subject, the President said he would campaign some in New Hampshire but added that the best way for him to win votes was "working in the Oval Office on presidential matters."

Ford's aides described his trip to St. Louis as nonpolitical, but Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz, who flew here with the President, told reporters Ford definitely would win the farm vote in 1976.

While former President Nixon got 70 percent of the farm vote, Butz said, Ford will get "above 60 percent." He said Nixon got a bigger vote because his opponent, Sen. George McGovern (D-S.D.), was "poison to farmers."

The President's comments followed a Soviet statement Saturday urging "termination of foreign armed intervention in Angola."

Meanwhile, recruiting and training of American mercenaries to fight in Angola has come to an abrupt halt in the United States, the Christian Science Monitor reported today.

Quoting sources close to the Central Intelligence Agency, the newspaper said the halt appeared to be the result of an article it published last week that said ex-U.S. servicemen were being trained for mercenary work in a CIA-sponsored operation at Ft. Benning, Ga.

But today's article said the center of recruitment has moved to Europe, where some African embassies are quietly recruiting Europeans, using American and other funds.

Administration officials have denied that American mercenaries were being used but declined direct answers when asked if foreign mercenaries were being hired.

swung Jan. 15.

Hours before Reagan's arrival, the leaders of both houses of the state legislature — both Ford supporters — attacked Reagan's proposal to cut the federal budget by $90 billion by transferring a variety of programs such as welfare and education to the states.

House Speaker George Roberts called the plan "a scheme to attract attention." He said he does not foresee how the state could maintain its current level of social services under the Reagan proposal.

Wolves Maul Boy, 2
Youth Slips on Ice and Falls Into Cage

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — Two-year-old John Colorio screams when he wakes up in his hospital bed. He refuses to touch his favorite furry animal toys and cries "Mommy, hold me" from inside an oxygen tent.

The boy was mauled by three timber wolves when he slipped on ice and slid between the bars of their cage at the Worcester Science Center Friday.

The animals tore at his legs, pulled him further into the cage and only retreated when a man threw a railroad tie at them, enabling rescuers to pull the boy free.

John was listed in fair condition at The Memorial Hospital today following weekend surgery for serious leg cuts. He is to undergo plastic surgery in about a week.

Since the accident, he screams every time he wakes up, says his mother, Mrs. Stephen Colorio of Sutton.

"John hasn't said anything about it yet," she said. "But he brought his favorite toy, a cookie monster with fur, to the hospital and he wouldn't touch it."

"And my sister brought him a new toy that had a little bit of fur on it, and he won't touch that, either."

The wolves have been quarantined for 10 days as required by state law, to determine if the animals are infected by rabies.

Richard F. Kleber, director of the center, said he didn't think the wolves attacked the boy. Instead, he said, they may have pulled the boy into the pen in a tug-of-war game with the adults who tried to rescue John.

"We can't blame the wolves for what happened," Kleber said. "It's not their fault. If it's anyone's fault, it's mine."

But Kleber said the walkways outside the cage were as clear of ice as possible and the animal pens at the center "are as safe as or safer than any zoo in the country."

He said all staff members at the center are "heart sick and concerned and want to be as helpful as possible. The situation should be analyzed and the blame put where it belongs before jumping to any conclusions. We have to find out what happened so it can be corrected."

Bal Isle Pharmacy Hit in FBI Raids

A Balboa Island drug store and second story apartment were among 13 locations hit Sunday in a joint raid on alleged gambling establishments by the FBI, San Bernardino and Los Angeles sheriff's departments and the Los Angeles police.

Paul Quinn of the FBI confirmed that one of the raided establishments was at 302 Marine Ave.

That is the location of Leroy's Island Pharmacy, owned by Everett L. Kroesch. According to Beverly Raylinson, manager of the drug store, Kroesch has been hospitalized since Jan. 1 after suffering a heart attack.

A spokesman for Hoag Memorial Hospital said Kroesch is listed in serious condition in the hospital's intensive care unit.

Mrs. Raylinson said she was not in the store Sunday when the lawmen were there but she said she was told officers went to both the store and the second floor apartment.

Quinn said more than $7,000 in cash, gambling paraphernalia and bookmaking records were confiscated in the raids conducted throughout Southern California.

There were no arrests made during the raids.

Quinn said the FBI will turn the confiscated items over to the U. S. Attorney in Los Angeles to decide whether to make a decision on whether to take the evidence to the federal grand jury.

Quinn declined to say what was taken from the Balboa Island location and he also declined to state whether the raid was aimed at the unidentified apartment occupant or the drug store.

A force of 50 agents and officers raided homes in Los Angeles, Fontana, Pomona, Inglewood and Hawthorne as part of a year-long investigation into illegal gambling activities, Quinn said.

He said the FBI is involved in the case under a federal law which makes it a federal crime when more than five people are involved in a conspiracy to violate state gambling laws.

County's Doctors on Normal Schedule

By ALAN DIRKIN
On the Daily Pilot Staff

Orange County doctors apparently continued working normal hours today, in contrast with their colleagues in Los Angeles County who are on a slowdown to protest escalating malpractice insurance premiums.

Checks at Hoag Memorial Hospital, Newport Beach, and St.

Joseph's and Childrens Hospital of Orange County in Orange, the biggest surgery center in the county, found normal schedules in effect.

Spokesmen said also that they had received no indications of a slowdown from doctors.

These checks confirmed a survey by the Orange County Medical Association (OCMA) of all hospitals in the county which found surgeries, including elective cases, continuing as normal.

Everett Bannister, executive director of the OCMA, said, however, that there was an increase in the number of high-risk pre-natal care patients at Orange County Medical Center.

Bannister added that there was no change among physicians in treating patients at their offices. He estimated that from three to five percent of the doctors in the county—there are 2,000—were practicing without insurance coverage.

This estimate was down from reports in the press in December that 350 doctors in Orange County would practice without insurance after Jan. 1. December estimates, given as the malpractice crisis neared its Jan. 1 showdown, also said that 68 doctors had told the OCMA that they would be giving up their practices after Jan. 1.

Bannister said that he knew of a few, "about four or five," who had gone to other states, but he was not aware of any further closings of practices.

Meanwhile, efforts to resolve the crisis are continuing. Though Orange County doctors do not appear to be on a slowdown, they are fighting Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr.'s proposed state-run malpractice insurance program on another level.

A statement issued by the association's executive committee called the program "a politically (See DOCTORS, Page A2)

Angola Truce Sought

ST. LOUIS (AP) — President Ford called today for "an immediate cease-fire" in Angola, an end to all outside intervention and a government of national unity to stop the civil war there.

He also warned the Soviet Union that if it continues intervention in Angola "damage to our broader relations will be unavoidable."

In a speech before the American Farm Bureau Federation in St. Louis, the President promised continued U.S. efforts "diplomatic and otherwise to stabilize the military situation in Angola and promote a quick and peaceful settlement."

But he rejected the idea of using grain sales to persuade Russia to disengage in Angola.

He was to meet with Farm Bureau leaders after his speech and with area news executives before returning to Washington tonight.

Ford was met at the airport by Republican Gov. Christopher Bond and Missouri Atty. Gen. John Danforth.

The group of welcomers was small and the weather chilly but sunny. The President said he was happy to be enjoying nice weather, but passed up any handshaking.

He told reporters he expected the "prestige of the United States" to help secure a peaceful settlement in Angola and reiterated that he thought a cease-fire was the best first step to such a settlement, which he said must be reached among the Angolans themselves.

On another subject, the President said he would campaign some in New Hampshire but added that the best way for him to win votes was "working in the Oval Office on presidential matters."

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market closed sharply and broadly higher today in heavy trading on the New York Stock Exchange in bargain hunting aided by a cheery news background.

Sale Halt On AMC Cars Due

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California's state Air Resources Board fined American Motors $4.2 million today for marketing smog-producing cars and allegedly submitting false test reports.

The ARB also halted sales effective midnight Tuesday of all California AMC Matadors, Hornets and Gremlins equipped with V-8 engines and announced an investigation to determine if American Motors intentionally falsified test reports.

It is the strongest disciplinary action ever taken against an automobile manufacturer by the antipollution agency.

Last year the state fined Chrysler Corp. $328,200 and halted Chrysler sales temporarily.

"We have never seen so many dirty cars," said ARB chairman Tom Quinn. "But even more serious is the fact that American Motors submitted false reports to the state which indicated that their cars were actually very clean."

Quinn said AMC executives in Kenosha, Wis., blamed violations, on neglect of test facilities.

Quinn said as an incentive, the ARB will consider waiving 75 percent of the fine if AMC promptly pays 25 percent, or $1,069,800 and commits the remaining 75 percent to improving its emission control and fuel economy programs.

Quinn said tests conducted by the state show that 85 percent of some AMC models violate California antismog standards for carbon monoxide or oxides of nitrogen emissions.

Quinn said the AMC case is "far more serious" than the violations last year by Chrysler because Chrysler reported its test results showing failure to meet antismog standards while test results submitted to the state by AMC were "totally false."

Quinn said the investigation will determine whether AMC intentionally falsified reports or "was merely guilty of gross negligence."

Reagan Sets Campaign

Mounts First Big Challenge to Ford in East

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — Ronald Reagan kicks off a two-week campaign swing today with a bus tour through snow-covered New Hampshire where he hopes to mount a strong challenge to President Ford in the nation's first presidential primary.

Reagan's first extensive campaign trip since he announced his candidacy Nov. 20 will take him into nearly two dozen small New Hampshire communities in three days. Then he moves on to four other primary states and returns to New Hampshire for another three-day swing Jan. 15.

Hours before Reagan's arrival, the leaders of both houses of the state legislature — both Ford supporters — attacked Reagan's proposal to cut the federal budget by $90 billion by transferring a variety of programs such as welfare and education to the states.

House Speaker George Roberts called the plan "a scheme to attract attention." He said he does not foresee how the state could maintain its current level of social services under the Reagan proposal.

Senate President Alf Jacobson said Reagan's budget plan was full of "broad generalities" and urged Reagan to explain it in detail during his visits to the state.

The former California governor has placed heavy emphasis on the New Hampshire primary Feb. 24 as he tries to demonstrate in the early elections that Ford, though an incumbent, does not have widespread electoral appeal.

Reagan plans one major town meeting appearance each night in New Hampshire with an average of about eight stops each day in such places as Dixville Notch, Mount Cranmore and West Ossipee.

He plans a total of nine days of intense campaigning here this month sandwiched between seven days in North Carolina, Florida, Illinois and Wisconsin in his quest for the Republican presidential nomination.

The Reagan and Ford camps predict the New Hampshire race will be very close, with many political observers giving Reagan a slight edge.
