HOCUS-FOCUS

CAN YOU TRUST YOUR EYES? There are at least six differences in drawing details between top and bottom panels. How quickly can you find them? Check answers with those below.

Differences: 1. Cap is missing. 2. Magnifying glass is missing. 3. Hair is different. 4. Jacket is shorter. 5. Ashtray is moved. 6. Lamp base is different.

• OPEN LINES! Find a "line" associated with each person's vocation (Ex.: No. 1 — Airline): 1. Pilot: line. 2. Reporter: line. 3. Dancer: line. 4. Auto worker: line.

BOTTOM LINE

IS 20, FOLKS
While the sum of the four numbers across the bottom line of the triangle above is 20, the sum of the four numbers on the other two sides differ. Challenge:

Switch one number from the bottom line with one number on the left side, and a second number on the bottom line with a number on the right side so that the sum of all three sides is the same — 20.

Which four numbers require switching around?

HIT PLACES! Apply these colors neatly above: 1—Red. 2—Lt. blue. 3—Yellow. 4—Lt. brown. 5—Flesh. 6—Dk. green. 7—Dk. brown. 8—Lt. purple. 9—Dk. blue. 10—Dk. purple. 11—Gray. 12—Lt. green.

WILLIAMS: PUTTING THE DEE IN DYNASTY

"Hot. Steamy hot." That's how Billy Dee Williams describes his and Diahann Carroll's relationship on ABC's Dynasty this fall. "We're really great together; we'll make a strong impact on the show," he says. But Williams, who reportedly will be paid $40,000 for each of his seven appearances, doesn't know how he's going

(Was it Minute Rice that was thrown at the wedding of Michelle Phillips and Dennis Hopper, who held it together for eight excruciating days?) But Tinseltown is not without its share of long-running marriages. Witness Ray Milland and his wife, Mal, who will have been knotted 52 years next month; Danny Thomas and his wife, Rose Marie, who can boast 48 years of wedded bliss. And how about Robert and

Dorothy Mitchum (44), Charlton and Lydia Heston (40), John and Julie Forsythe (41), Jimmy and Gloria Stewart (35), Kirk and Anne Douglas (30), Steve Allen and Jayne Meadows (30), Paul Newman and Joanne Woodward (26), and Robert and Lola Redford (26)? And let's not forget those two ex-residents of Hollywood Ron and Nancy Reagan, who will celebrate their 33rd anniversary next March.

Hunk-ering down has made fistfuls of money for former Mr. Universe Arnold Schwarzenegger. There are plans for three more Conan sequels. He's just made a record for CBS called Arnold Schwarzenegger's Total Body Workout, and has written an encyclopedia of bodybuilding. He also has made some smart investments in California. "Sure, I'm a millionaire," says the 36-year-old hunk. "But I don't like to talk about money; it looks like I'm flaunting it. What's important is that I'll never have to take a role I don't want. I'm lucky that way." How about lucky in love? It would seem so. His companion of six years is Maria Shriver, daughter of Sargent Shriver, niece of Teddy Kennedy, and a correspondent for The CBS Morning News. "But," says Arnold, "she doesn't live with me, and we have no marriage plans." On the subject of politics, Shriver and the conservative Republican musclemate politely "agree to disagree."

It's time again to take note of Loni Anderson, who makes her bow as a jazz bassist on the new NBC series Partners in Crime, which also stars Lynda Carter. But there seems to be a bit of, uh, treble on the set. Seems Loni suggested to NBC Chairman Grant Tinker that she might go back to being a brunette for the series. Perish the thought! Tinker's reaction, reported by Loni, was: "Nobody wants to see you with dark hair — it would be just like NBC to spend a lot of money to get Loni Anderson and then have her be a brunette." Mr. Tinker sure can get to the root of a problem.

Dom De Luise, who stars with Burt Reynolds in Cannonball Run II, is chummy with Dinah's and Sally's and Loni's ex off the screen, too.

Well, that explains the source of this privileged glimpse into Burt's private life: "He has a king-size bed and mirrored walls and ceiling," says Dom. "Next to the bed there's a trampoline. On the other side, there's a 20-foot fish tank, with about 400 fish in it. And the amazing thing about these fish is that they all swim sideways. Why? They don't want to miss out on any of the action." Okay, who's telling fish stories?

I.B. of Odessa, Texas, writes to ask Constance Towers, the star of the CBS soap Capitol and wife of John Gavin, the U.S. ambassador to Mexico, how her life shapes her role on the show. "I can bring a realistic sensibility to political functions like receptions," Towers explains. "Once during a sequence involving a fictional ambassador, there was a discussion about the wording of an invitation that would be shown on screen, and I was not sure if the phrasing was correct. So I called Mexico, got John away from his affairs of state, and he put us straight."

to be written out when the time comes. "The production people keep the story line all mystery and intrigue," he says. A word of advice, Mr. Williams: Stay away from Alexis.

Let's face it: Some Hollywood marriages last just about as long as the 6 o'clock news.

Tony Costa

By Tom Nolan

He strides into the room, and there's that shock of recognition that always comes at meeting someone you feel you've "known" most of your life. The face — remarkably youthful at 54 — is the face you first saw live from Philadelphia back in 1957. And there's that unmistakable, soothing, modulated voice, still pleasing and familiar after 27 years' hearing — even if today the timbre is slightly nasal. Dick Clark has a cold.

"Sorry to keep you waiting, but now, today, I gotta do some radio commercials upstairs that'll play for a year," he explains as we settle down for an interview in a high-beamed meeting room inside the sprawling Dick Clark Productions complex across the street from the NBC studios in Burbank, Calif. "For a year, people all over the country will think I have a cold! And I'm trying to say, 'Guys, I can't do this Thursday, I'm gonna do it Friday.' Well we don't have Friday; Friday I'm booked to do Bloopers. Saturday I do something else, Sunday I'm doing something else. . . ."

That's another thing you notice right away about Dick Clark: Every day is carefully scheduled to accommodate the record-breaking workloads of two separate careers. All America is familiar with the seemingly ubiquitous on-the-air Dick Clark: host of the perennial teen dance program American Bandstand, a Saturday morning staple on ABC; in charge weekday mornings of CBS's game show The $25,000 Pyramid; and — to complete the triad and make him "the first personality to simultaneously host series on all three networks" — gleeful co-anchor with Ed McMahon of NBC's TV's Bloopers & Practical Jokes. For radio, there are two weekly syndicated music programs. In addition to all this, Clark runs a very active production company that keeps networks and syndicators supplied all year long with a constant flow of specials, films and series such as The American Music Awards, Dick Clark's New Year's Rockin' Eve and The Golden Globe Awards.

So there are two Dick Clarks: the performer — a perpetual innocent who asks the same naive questions of musical chart-toppers year after year, and who supervises the playing of game shows with an enthusiasm nearly equal to the players' own — and the producer, a canny judge of public taste and distributors' wants.

"He's a communicator," says an admiring Ed McMahon, "which is the key to television. You have to talk to the audience, almost on a one-on-one basis. And he has that quality." Another secret of Clark's enduring success, McMahon ventures, is his ability to stay current: "The way he presents the artists now on American Bandstand; you can see that he's just right up to the minute."

Dick Clark has been in a groove since his boisterous childhood in Mt. Vernon, N.Y. "Yeah, I was always ambitious," he says. "In those days we didn't have electric iceboxes; I'd pick ice up off the street and sell it to the neighbor lady for a penny, because she thought it was cute. Opened a restaurant in my parents' living room. I was just a crazy kid, into adventures."

Clark's father was in the cosmetics business for 25 years, but when his teenage son expressed a desire to get into broadcasting, the senior Clark went to work as a salesman for a radio station in Utica, N.Y. He did it, says Clark, "to see if someday maybe he couldn't give me a hand." Clark's first job, as a radio station mail-room boy, came about through his father, and before long he was announcing on the air. By his senior year at Syracuse University, Dick Clark was a professional disc jockey. Soon he moved into television, and by 1956, he was hosting a Philadelphia dance show called Bandstand. The program became a network show the following year, and Dick Clark has been a genial national presence ever since.

During that time, Clark has married three times and fathered two sons and a daughter. What was it like, I ask him, for his children to have grown up with a father so popular with the rest of the country's teenagers?

"I don't think they were terribly impressed by the way I made my living," he answers agreeably. "I tried to explain to them this was a most extraordinary way to make a living — not very stable, and not as glamorous as it might appear to be. They had a pretty good handle on it."

Did their own input as teenagers help keep him current in any way? He mulls it over. "Ummm, not really. I once knew a guy in the record business who played all his potential singles for his daughter, and the ones she picked, he'd release. When the daughter grew up, he lost his touch! So it's not a very good idea, professionally. . . ."

So how has he managed to stay musically current all these years? "There's no trick to it," he says. "It's very easy: by tuning yourself into what young people are interested in. It's terrific! It helps keep ya young."

What about the other side of the coin, then — did his own kids think their dad was extremely "with it"?

"I think they realized I knew a lot about the age group they were in. It's very difficult to pull something over the eyes of a father who's involved in being around kids. I guess they must figure you know what's going on."

All three children have "turned out great," he says. "They're all smart; they're all attractive. My youngest [Cindy, 19] is still in school, and she's got straight A's. My middle one [Duane, 21] graduated [from college] at 19, magna cum laude, Phi Beta Kappa. The oldest one [Richard, 27] graduated with honors." That son works at Clark's company as a television producer, while his brother works for a different Los Angeles film producer.

Another family member plays a crucial role in Clark's life: his wife since 1977, the former Kari Wigton, who serves as his personal assistant, oversees the details of his schedule and projects, and fills many of the functions of the manager and agent he does not have. An outgoing blonde, Kari says she and her husband are very different. "I'm always in a good mood, always happy and very even," she says when I speak with her later. "And he's very moody, up and down all the time — very excited if something fun is happening; very down if something goes wrong, like bad ratings on a show he's given a lot to."

Where she is socially at ease, Kari says, Dick is the opposite. "I've said to him that he's more comfortable with a television camera on him than he is at a party. He's very relaxed if he has a microphone. But making small talk is not one of the things he likes to do."

Another difference: "He doesn't like to be bothered with little things, but he likes his life very orderly. When we move or whatever, he has to have anything in order the minute we're ed; things can't be left in boxes. He his little nest, and it has to be organized, but he doesn't have patience to deal with it. I think be that's where I complement him, use I take care of that.

as far as our likes and dislikes," adds, "we're 100 percent similar." thing they both enjoy is cooking at house on the beach in Malibu.
"Dining is a big part of our lives," says. "Whatever time we stop ing, we always come home and a nice dinner — a candlelit meal wine in the dining room." When can steal time from the schedule,
Clarks travel for fun, usually in

Dri-Weave Touch Test:

1. Put a teaspoon of water on your maxi pad and one on new Always.
2. Feel them. Always absorbs it and feels drier. We bet your pad feels wet.

Cleaner and drier even on heavy-flow days, new Always gives you a kind of protection that simply didn't exist until now.

Only Always has the silky surface they call Dri-Weave. Wetness passes through the Dri-Weave and virtually all of it stays trapped inside the absorbent pad, away from you. So the surface stays drier and you feel cleaner.

And Always maxi and mini pads are flow-shaped: thicker in the middle than at the ends. So you get protection where you need it most. With the widest adhesive of any pad — to help keep it comfortably in place.

New Always. A cleaner, drier kind of protection than you ever expected from a pad.

FROZEN FANTASY: TV DINNERS GO GOURMET

By Kathleen E. Hacker

Thirty years ago in their father's downtown Omaha test kitchen, Gilbert and Clark Swanson set about preparing a meal that would change the course of American life.

The brothers Swanson placed the pre-cooked food in a compartmented aluminum tray, covered it with foil and — ah, the masterstroke — froze it. The "TV dinner" was born.

Those who fretted about the future of the nuclear family pointed to this movable feast as just another fraying fiber in the country's moral fabric. Those who cared about the national palate were equally distressed about the TV dinner. Gastronomically speaking, a gustatory delight it wasn't. Yet it caught on. For a mere dollar, give or take a few cents, Mrs. America could finally be free of her infernal stove and a sink of dirty dishes. And she thought it was high time.

Nearly three decades of jokes, aspersions and hearty sales went by. Then, ever so slowly, the frozen dinner began to fall on lean times. By the late '70s, revenues were dipping precipitously as consumers, conscious of weight and health and more attuned to fine cuisine, lost their appetite for the old standbys. Even R. Gordon McGovern, president of Campbell Soup Co., which purchased the Swanson empire in 1955, dismissed his firm's own product line as "junk food."

"What do women want?" Sigmund Freud once asked. The crisis-stricken moguls of the frozen food business came up with an answer: gourmet-quality convenience dinners and entrees.

Today, shoppers can select from such exotica as teriyaki chicken garnished with pea pods, or seafood Newburg in cream sherry wine sauce. Gone are the aluminum trays of yore; the meals are packaged on plates that often are microwavable. The brand names themselves have a certain upper-crust ring, ranging from Dinner Classics and Classic Lite (both from Armour Food Company) to Le Menu (a Campbell introduction) and Stouffer's Lean Cuisine — the current best seller. Prices are relatively premium as well, generally ranging between $2 and $4 and topping $5 for some seafood concoctions. "You can talk to working women and they will tell you they don't want to come home and spend all evening on the preparation of food," says William

Heitz, executive vice president and general manager of Armour's frozen food division. "The same is true of singles who just want to sit down and eat something they'll enjoy, without having to face leftovers the next day. They've shown us they want premium quality and convenience and that they're willing to pay for it."

The dinners and entrees are targeted at an audience primarily made up of middle-aged career women from households where income exceeds $25,000 and, to a lesser extent, singles and "empty nesters." Due to their combined demand, premium lines already account for nearly half the revenue of the $2 billion convenience-dinner industry and are being credited with spurring a 5 to 7 percent annual growth rate.

Although Stouffer's Lean Cuisine, aimed at calorie-counters, got a head start on the competition, the rest of the pack is moving up fast. Since Dinner Classics debuted in late 1979, sales have increased significantly each year, and the line has grown to 16 items. At Campbell, officials in charge of Le Menu initially pegged it as a $100 million business, but less than a year after its introduction in 1983, they altered their figures upward to $200 million. Weight Watchers reformulated its products in 1981 — "flat and tasteless," president Gerald Herrick declared of the old recipes — and case volume zoomed 80 percent.

Even the badly ailing Swanson dinner line has been beefed up. Campbell poured $8 million into a revitalization program called Project Fix, in which everything from soggy french fries to pea-and-carrot combinations to bland sauces to anachronistic packaging got the heave-ho. "Believe it or not, some of our gravies actually use wine," notes Swanson marketing manager Dan Lynn. As a result of the overhaul, he adds, customers are "coming back in droves."

Despite the competitive spirit that currently prevails, entrepreneurs agree on one thing: Premium frozen dinners and entrees are, as Le Menu marketing manager Catherine Chang puts it, "the wave of the future." Indeed, 55 percent of all women in the United States now work outside the home, and the result is more disposable income, but less time, for two-paycheck families. One out of four adult Americans is unmarried and living alone. The senior citizen population is burgeoning. All told, that's good news in the frozen-food industry.

What's more, psychological barriers are crumbling. "There's a philosophy, going back some years, that if something is frozen, it's not good," explains Armour's William Heitz. "The idea that the nutritional value is gone tends to linger in the backs of a lot of people's minds. But today, the concept is to take something at its peak of freshness, prepare it, and flash-freeze it. As soon as people understand that idea, that the food is as good, if not better, than what they could make themselves, well, we'll really take off."

Heitz, in fact, recently began stocking his 94-year-old grandmother's refrigerator with Dinner Classics. "She'd never eaten that type of food before," he says, "but she tried it because I had bought it. And guess what? She thinks it's pretty neat." PW

A Message of Inspiration

"One night a man had a dream. He dreamed he was walking along the beach with the LORD. Across the sky flashed scenes from his life. For each scene, he noticed two sets of footprints in the sand; one belonged to him and the other to the LORD.

When the last scene of his life flashed before him, he looked back at the footprints in the sand. He noticed that many times along the path of his life there was only one set of footprints. He also noticed that it happened at the very lowest and saddest times in his life.

This really bothered him and he questioned the LORD about it. "LORD, you said that once I decided to follow you, you'd walk with me all the way. But I have noticed that during the most troublesome times in my life, there is only one set of footprints. I don't understand why when I needed you most you would leave me."

The LORD replied, "My precious, precious child, I love you and would never leave you. During your times of trial and suffering, when you see only one set of footprints, it was then that I carried you."

BOON DAYS FOR "DEVIL" HYPNOSIS

By Kathleen Doheny

The day before she underwent surgery for removal of a facial tumor, Iris Crall made what she thought was an unusual request. "I told my anesthesiologist I needed to be in the right frame of mind and asked if my psychologist could come for a hypnosis session," recalls the 40-year-old Glendale, Calif., woman.

To Crall's surprise, her anesthesiologist not only agreed but offered to help. The night before the operation, Crall relaxed under hypnosis administered by her psychologist. The next day, her anesthesiologist used hypnosis to supplement mild general anesthesia.

Crall believes her relaxed, positive state of mind, achieved through hypnosis, speeded up her recovery. "Doctors told me to expect a five-day hospital stay," she says. "Instead, I had surgery on Friday, went home on Saturday and to a party on Sunday. I believe in doctors 100 percent, but it's amazing how you can also help heal yourself."

Increasing numbers of health-care professionals agree that hypnosis can be a boon. About 15,000 doctors, dentists, psychologists and other health-care workers use hypnosis in their clinical practices, estimates William F. Hoffman, executive director of the American Society of Clinical Hypnosis (ASCH), an organization with about 4,200 members that has nearly doubled in size since 1975.

Hypnosis — a relaxed state in which the subconscious is more susceptible to suggestion and in which the subject's ability to concentrate increases markedly — has lost some of its hocus-pocus image, partly because modern practitioners of the technique put it in proper perspective. "Hypnosis is a name we give to a perfectly normal process," explains Dr. Bernauer Newton, a Los Angeles psychologist who directs the Newton Center for Clinical Hypnosis and presides over the Society for Clinical and Experimental Hypnosis, an organization with about 1,200 members nationwide. "It is a process by which we alter our state of consciousness, and then apply a variety of psychological treatment procedures." But it should not be thought of as a panacea. "This form of treatment is an adjunctive form, not an alternative form," Dr. Newton cautions. "Remember, hypnosis is not a treatment in and of itself. It facilitates the efforts of the therapist and the patient to achieve what they want to achieve."

Experts point out that health-care professionals who offer hypnosis to their patients should have special training and skills in the technique and should not attempt to treat a condition with hypnosis if they are not competent to treat the same condition without it. Given those provisos, advocates of hypnosis feel that it can help patients help themselves — they can use it to motivate themselves, for example, or to reduce stress.

"Hypnosis is not magical, but it does have many practical applications," notes Dr. Harold J. Wain, director of the Consultation Liaison Psychiatry Service at Walter Reed Army Medical Center in Washington, D.C., and president of the ASCH. Dr. Wain has found that hypnosis, among its other uses, helps allergy patients to decrease lung constriction and cardiac patients to improve performance on treadmill tests. Other researchers have concluded that hypnosis is a useful adjunct in the treatment of such varied medical problems as hemophilia, burns, stroke rehabilitation, asthma, skin disorders and migraine headaches.

The American Medical Association says that hypnosis has a recognized place in medicine, but the technique has its opponents. Some conservative religious groups, says Hoffman — who receives occasional letters of protest at the Des Plaines, Ill., headquarters of the ASCH — "consider hypnosis the work of the devil." Medical experts might agree with that (though they would phrase their objections differently) in cases where hypnosis was being used irresponsibly or by inadequately trained practitioners. But when professionally administered hypnosis plays a supporting role in medical treatment, the vote of the health-care community is clear: Hypnosis can help. FW

"Prescription Drugs' Side Effects Revealed"

An Interview with Frank K. Wood, President, FC&A Publishing

(Atlanta, GA.) —

FC&A, a nearby Peachtree City, Georgia publisher, announced today the release of a new, low-priced, $3.99 book for the general public... Prescription Drugs Effects and Side Effects.

It reveals the little known side effects of over 200 of the most often prescribed drugs... side effects which are known to few people besides doctors. Read this interview with the author and publisher, Frank K. Wood.

Question: Are prescription drug side effects sometimes bad?

Answer: Yes. When you order my book you'll learn that prescription drugs can cause diarrhea, dizziness, dry mouth, sleepiness, depression, headache, insomnia, upset stomach, blurred vision, cramps, rashes, constipation, fever, stuffy nose, short breath, high blood pressure, fear, ringing sounds... and poor appetite, balance, sex or heart function.

Question: Frank, what are the good effects of prescription drugs?

Answer: You take drugs prescribed by your doctor for their good effects like relieving pain, fighting infection, birth control, aiding sleep, calming down, fighting coughs, colds or allergies, or lowering heartbeat and blood pressure.

Question: What secrets does your book reveal?

Answer: It reveals the answer to questions like these. When your busy doctor gives you a prescription, what do you, or even your doctor know about it? What's it for? Will you be allergic to it? What are its side effects and dangers. Will it affect other medicine you're taking?

It's up to YOU to keep yourself informed by reading this book. For example, on page 30 you'll learn that a drug you take for upset stomach can cause nausea... the very thing it's supposed to prevent... plus convulsions or heart attack!

Question: How can ordinary people understand medical facts and terms with your book?

Answer: It's easy to read. Facts are given in easy-to-understand words. (For example: instead of saying "urticaria", it says "hives.")

Two outstanding pharmacists have helped add newly discovered side effects to the new edition. The book describes more than 200 of the most often used drugs.

Question: Is it easy to look up and find drugs?

Answer: Yes, drugs are listed in alphabetical order for quick, dictionary-style finding.

The book lists brand names, money-saving generic names, good effects, side effects, warnings and interactions with other drugs.

It tells how to save money by using generic drugs instead of expensive brand names. It also explains drug categories.

Question: Will your book help me talk to my doctor?

Answer: Yes. According to a recent government survey, 75% of doctors don't tell their patients about drug side effects.

You can look up drugs you've taken in my book. Then you can tell your doctor if you have any possible side effects given in this book. If he thinks best, he may lower your dose, stop your medicine or switch to a different drug not having such side effects.

Question: How can readers get a copy of Prescription Drugs Effects and Side Effects?

Answer: It's easy. Simply cut out and mail the coupon today. There's a no time-limit guarantee of full satisfaction or your money back. Order this 30,000 word easy-to-understand book, edited by two pharmacists now.

Don't wait to order Prescription Drugs Effects and Side Effects. If you don't get this new book... you'll never know for sure if a drug you're taking makes you feel bad.

"Vitamin Side Effects Revealed!"

An Interview with Frank K. Wood, President, F C & A

(Atlanta, GA) —

FC&A, a nearby Peachtree City, GA, company announced today the release of a new $5.99 book, "Vitamin Side Effects Revealed".

It reveals surprising side effects and other secrets about vitamins... facts that aren't generally known by the public. Read on through this interview with FC&A President, Frank K. Wood.

Question: Can vitamins cause side effects like drugs do?

Answer: Yes, two vitamins can actually be harmful in high doses. Other vitamins can sometimes cause diarrhea, dizziness, sleepiness, depression, upset stomach, cramps, high blood pressure, fear, ringing sounds or poor heart function.

Even so, the good effects of vitamins outweigh the bad effects. But you must know what vitamins you need and how much to take. That's why you need my new book.

Question: What other vitamin secrets are revealed in this new book?

Answer:

- ▶ How you can get vitamins for free.
- ▶ Not one but two vitamins which can help fight hardening of the arteries, and coronary heart disease.
- ▶ Two minerals that help protect against cancer.
- ▶ A vitamin that helps protect against schizophrenia.
- ▶ Two minerals and a vitamin that can combat osteoporosis, which causes the collapse of the backbone in older women.
- ▶ Two minerals that can help lower high blood pressure.

- ▶ A mineral that helps regulate blood sugar levels.
- ▶ A vitamin that helps heal wounds or surgical incisions.
- ▶ A vitamin that helps increase fertility.
- ▶ A vitamin that protects against sunburn.
- ▶ A vitamin that helps fight viruses.
- ▶ A vitamin that helps prevent kidney stones.
- ▶ A mineral complex that may slow down aging.
- ▶ An amino acid that combats cold sores and Herpes infections.
- ▶ A vitamin that helps increase circulation in the legs.
- ▶ A vitamin that helps alcoholics control their drinking.
- ▶ A vitamin that helps control premenstrual tension and fights depression.

Question: What else is in the book?

Answer: Complete descriptions of every vitamin. What each does for you... How much you need to take... What foods contain different vitamins... How prescription drugs, alcohol, and smoking can destroy certain vitamins... How particular vitamins can fight many diseases... How much of each vitamin you can safely take... How long your body stores each vitamin... Deficiency symptoms for each vitamin.

Questions: How can readers get a copy of "Vitamin Side Effects Revealed"?

Answer: It's easy. Simply cut out and mail the coupon today. There's a no time-limit guarantee of full satisfaction or your money back.

Don't wait to order "Vitamin Side Effects Revealed". If you don't get this new book... you'll never know all the things different vitamins can do for you — and their side effects.

HAPPINESS IS A TWO-BATHROOM HOUSE

By John E. Gibson

TRUE OR FALSE

1. You may feel smarter and more "on the ball" when you're happy, but it's merely an illusion.
2. Unhappiness may affect a person's disposition, but it does not alter his level of self-esteem.
3. The number of bathrooms in a home has a definite effect on the happiness of the people who live there.
4. If something is making you so unhappy that you could cry, by all means do so — it can make you feel a lot better.
5. Unselfish people are not necessarily happy people.
6. There are some people you can't make happy no matter what you do.

ANSWERS

1. False. A study conducted at the University of Pennsylvania examined the influence of depressed and elated moods. It showed that happiness exerts a very positive effect on how well you think and reason, and even on your memory. When you are unhappy, you do not function as well as when you're sitting on top of the world.
2. False. The same University of Pennsylvania study showed that even a mild degree of unhappiness has an immediate effect on how an individual views himself, causing him to question his own competence and to embrace self-defeating concepts.
3. True. In a Purdue University study, 200 families were interviewed to determine how their environment affected their levels of stress, happiness and contentment. Perhaps the most interesting finding was this: "Couples living in homes with more than one bathroom perceived their dwelling to be pleasant, homey and spacious, and they felt happy, safe and contented. Those with only one bathroom rated their dwelling as noisy, confining, depressing, stressful and crowded. Couples with children felt even more stress and discomfort than did those without children." It was concluded by the investigators that the number of bathrooms in a dwelling significantly affects the family, and that adequate space for privacy has a positive effect on a family's happiness and well-being.

4. True. Studies conducted by a team of University of California sociologists have demonstrated that there's nothing like a "good cry" (screaming, yelling, or tearing your hair are dry-eyed equivalents) to make a bad situation more tolerable. There is a distinction, however, between "good cries," which serve a cathartic function and make unhappiness more bearable, and "bad cries," which merely signal the pain of distress.

5. True. A Harvard University study focused on happiness, unselfishness and popularity. On a test designed to measure altruism, women scored significantly higher than men. Unselfishness, however, was related to happiness only for men. One explanation for this was that "being unselfish might contribute to greater happiness for men by augmenting their popularity with the opposite sex." One reason this may not work the same way for women is that men might value unselfishness in others less, as suggested by their lower scores for altruism.

6. True. Some people are positively allergic to happiness. It throws them for a loss. Psychologists have a word for this — anhedonia, which is defined as "a reduction in the ability to experience pleasure." Studies by Veterans Administration behavioral specialists indicate that such individuals "appear to be lacking in energy, and to lead dull, inactive lives." FW

ASK PINOCCHIO— LYING'S NO JOKE

By Harriet Van Home

It's become a standard joke on television sitcoms: A hapless character, often a child but usually one old enough to know better, is caught telling a whopper. Is he embarrassed? Yes. Is he sorry? Not even a little bit. "OK," he shrugs, "so I lied." Loud guffaws on the laugh track.

Lying, these shows seem to be saying, is OK. Getting caught is not. "It's not OK in this house," a parent may retort in the direction of the still chuckling TV screen.

Truth, it seems, like fidelity, has entered a gray area. Why isn't Washington's cherry tree escapade a fable for our times anymore? The rules were plainer when Shakespeare wrote, "If I tell thee a lie, spit in my face!"

The habit of lying is developed early. It's the child who tells the teacher, "The dog ate my homework," who will later tell the Internal Revenue Service he bought his Mercedes-Benz with money he found in a mattress.

And speaking of government, it's not setting very good examples itself these days. John Jenrette, former representative from South Carolina, came up with the unlikely story after the ABSCAM investigation that his mother had given him the wads of money that his wife, Rita, had found stuffed in a shoe. Investigators were not impressed. Watergate set the tone for a decade of unsavory and unsettling untruths from our leaders. Some may call it politics; most would call it lying.

Why do some of us grow up to be chronic liars while others are painstakingly—sometimes painfully—honest? Psychologists say the roots of lying can be found in the emotional climate of the home. Some children lie because they feel inadequate—not bright enough, not as graceful or as pretty as a sibling. Some lie because the truth, in their experience, has earned them nothing but a sharp whack on the behind.

Once a child's ego is damaged—most commonly through lack of love at home—his self-esteem suffers. Coping with harsh discipline or with remote, uncaring parents can cause acute depression and self-hatred in a child. Inevitably, a child projects this hatred onto others, sometimes by lashing out with hurtful lies.

The lie that is simply a boast harms nobody but the teller. A smart child quickly learns that the gullibility of his peer group is limited. Wise little chums know how many laps can be swum under water, they know that the diving board is not 60 feet above the pool.

The dangers begin when the lies hurt other people ("Susie was copying from my test paper"; "I saw Mr. Smith roaring drunk!"; "Tommy stole my bike"). Such lies constitute a serious character disorder, and long-term counseling or family therapy not only may be in order but necessary.

Saddest of all, some children lie to protect failed parents. They staunchly deny evidence of abuse, of alcoholism, of all the parental frailties that create a troubled home. When emotional support is provided by a teacher, a therapist or a stable friend, the truth can come out, usually with great relief.

There are, of course, times when lying is not only OK but called for. We all tell little white lies. Thousands of them. How else are we to soften the abrasions and ease the rejections of life? Sometimes we must lie to be kind.

And so, without guilt, we smile at the giver and say we've always wanted an ashtray in the shape of a coiled snake. We tell a nephew he is drawing lovely melodies from that squeaky violin. We praise the high school play and agree warmly with the mother of the 16-year-old leading lady that "it's more professional than some of the stuff you pay $40 a ticket to see on Broadway."

OK, so you lied. Benevolent little fibs that sweetened someone's day. No kin to the whopper told in the TV sketch. No slander of the innocent, no perjury. Even the excruciatingly correct Miss Manners has noted that "what the world needs is more false cheer and less honest crabbiness."

True, up to a point; but what the world does not need are the lies that wound friends, defraud creditors, betray public trust, or savage the reputation of a neighbor. These are the lies that are altogether too fashionable lately. Dr. Karl Menninger remarks upon the trend in his book Whatever Became of Sin?: "Lying has lately seemed to be gaining respectability. It is even practiced without apology by persons in high places." Those are the lies that are slowly eroding the trust that holds society together. Perhaps a backlash is on its way. Perhaps one day soon that cynical shrug, "OK, so I lied," will draw a cold stare—and not a single chuckle. FW

Insecticide Awarded Third Patent

ROACH PRUFE, #1 in Three University Tests

The University of California and the University of Nebraska have just released two independent studies that have been published in the Entomological Society of America Journal. In the studies, thirty-one well known consumer and commercial insecticide products were tested in heavily roach infested homes and apartments. Confirming an earlier University of California published report, ROACH PRUFE's patented formula again took the #1 spot as the most effective roach killer. In the new University of California report, ROACH PRUFE was tested against the sprays and powders commonly used by the exterminators, and was the only product in the twelve-week study that showed 100% control. In the University of Nebraska study, well known consumer aerosol, fogger, and dust products were tested. Here again ROACH PRUFE provided the best results in their eight-week tests.

Disease Carriers

Odorless, Easy To Apply

Alan Brite, holder of seventeen U.S. and foreign patents, has just been awarded his third patent on ROACH PRUFE. Brite says: "Because roaches simply do not recognize ROACH PRUFE as an insecticide, they do not try to avoid it by scattering to other parts of your residence as they do with other insecticides. Plus the electrostatically charged powder sticks to the roach's body and is then carried back into the walls and spread among the other roaches. The result is you kill not only the roaches you see, but also those hiding and multiplying in the walls."

ROACH PRUFE is odorless, non-evaporating, non-staining, and non-flammable. The powder is simply applied with a teaspoon under kitchen appliances and in other hidden areas. It can be used in homes, schools, hospitals, restaurants, plus new construction.

ROACH PRUFE is available at most hardware stores or it can be ordered direct from the manufacturer by sending a check or money order for $8.90. This includes postage for the one pound container. Add tax in California. One pound covers up to a nine room residence. You'll need an extra pound for a basement or garage. Send to Copper Brite, Inc., Dept. 12 at 5147 W. Jefferson Blvd., Los Angeles, CA 90016. Copies of the 3 University tests are available by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to Copper Brite, Inc., Dept. A.

WHAT IN THE WORLD

BY MARION LONG

SHOOT THE MOO

They shoot cows, don't they? They do if "they" is Agri-Graphics Ltd. Actually, what they do is photograph cows — 10,000 just last year. That's nice, you might say, but is there a living in it?

Well, the photos are used mostly to advertise bovines in dairy trade journals. (One of the cows that Agri-Graphics founder Danny Weaver photographed last year was the first to be auctioned off for more than one million dollars.) But many of the pictures are just for the owner's wall. Either way — and especially if big bucks are riding on the photo — the task, explains Weaver, "is to try to make the animal look more correct than she actually is." How? Weaver has his little tricks. For instance, you've got to get the ears forward. "That's a nice look," he says. "Cows can't smile. Ears forward — that's a cow's smile."

What does it take to work for Agri-Graphics? Weaver has specific thoughts on the qualities of a good cow cameraman. "My photographers must be cow people first, and photographers second."

WHETHER THE WEATHER COUNTS

Next time the conversation lags, try talking about the weather. No, not the usual "Hot enough for you?" brand of chit-chat. We're talking serious weather discussion.

David M. Ludlum has penned The Weather Factor, perhaps the most complete compendium of the ways in which weather has shaped life in America. For example, on August 29, 1776, unseasonal fog on Long Island saved the forces of the Colonial army from a defeat that could have ended the Revolutionary War almost before it got going. And do you remember the 1976 baseball game that was to have been played inside the Astrodome — but was postponed because of rain? (Floods trapped the Houston Astros and the Pittsburgh Pirates in the stadium, and prevented fans from making it out to the ball park.)

Further, the Siege of Yorktown was probably won by a violent windstorm, and wet weather elected Harry Truman. With facts like these to rain down on your listeners, the conversational flow needn't ever dry up.

BUT WHAT'S FOR LUNCH?

Dr. Alan Harmon, a research chemist at McCormick & Co., has been named the Top Tongue of 1983. We'll tell you about it.

Many employees at McCormick (the spice company based in Maryland) attend tasting panels every day. When we spoke with Dr. Harmon, he was on his way to a garlic panel. Could you, we asked, give us a taste of what these meetings are like? "The purpose," he said, "is to learn how to differentiate between tastes and to learn to describe them exactly." The sessions are enjoyable enough, he continued, "unless it's tartar sauce four times a week."

Of all the tasters, Harmon was tops. His prize was a pair of red ceramic lips. Dr. Harmon, we hope that victory is sweet.

KIDDY POLL

Some things never seem to change. That can be either reassuring or frustrating, depending on your point of view. In this instance, it is at least surprising.

Harry Reis, an associate professor at the University of Rochester's Center for Community Study, tested 92 children between the ages of 3 and 5 in hopes of finding out how kids at such a tender age see masculine and feminine roles. Each child heard a behavioral trait described aloud and was asked to point to the silhouette — an adult male or female figure — that went with the characteristic.

The results — in this post-liberation age — were unexpected. Out of the mouths of babes, traits considered to be masculine were: "adventurous," "self-reliant," "messy," "owns a big store," "brags," "makes most of the rules" and "strong."

The characteristics that were pointed to as feminine were: "weak," "talkative," "fussy," "quiet and afraid," "whiny," "loving," and "well-mannered." Obviously, nobody told these kids about the 1970s.

BEDSIDE READING

Ever wonder what folks are reading before they switch out the light and retire for the night? Here are two reports.

Desi Arnaz Jr., actor, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Mr. Arnaz reports that his favorite book is The Mystic Path to Cosmic Power, by Vernon Howard, because "it has taught me that I need only flow through life like a quiet river, easily and naturally."

Christina Crawford, author, Tarzana, Calif.

A book that Ms. Crawford has referred to constantly this summer has been Earl Mindell's Vitamin Bible. She has also read Winning by Negotiation, by Tessa Warschaw. The book, she's told her husband, is going to change their lives.

Second-Hand Smoke: The Myth and The Reality.

Many non-smokers are annoyed by cigarette smoke. This is a reality that's been with us for a long time.

Lately, however, many non-smokers have come to believe that cigarette smoke in the air can actually cause disease.

But, in fact, there is little evidence—and certainly nothing which proves scientifically—that cigarette smoke causes disease in non-smokers.

We know this statement may seem biased. But it is supported by findings and views of independent scientists—including some of the tobacco industry's biggest critics.

Lawrence Garfinkel of the American Cancer Society, for example. Mr. Garfinkel, who is the Society's chief statistician, published a study in 1981 covering over 175,000 people, and reported that "passive smoking" had "very little, if any" effect on lung cancer rates among non-smokers.

You may have seen reports stating that in the course of an evening, a non-smoker could breathe in an amount of smoke equivalent to several cigarettes or more.

But a scientific study by the Harvard School of Public Health, conducted in various public places, found that non-smokers might inhale anywhere from 1/1000th to 1/100th of one filter cigarette per hour. At that rate, it would take you at least 4 days to inhale the equivalent of a single cigarette.

Often our own concerns about our health can take an unproven claim and magnify it out of all proportion; so, what begins as a misconception turns into a frightening myth.

Is "second-hand smoke" one of these myths? We hope the information we've offered will help you sort out some of the realities.

Colleges air more football

By LORENZO CARCATERRA

When Federal Judge Juan Burciaga ruled in June that the NCAA's control of college football broadcasts was in restraint of trade, the networks didn't panic. They studied the situation and found a way to make even more money than they would have under the original deal.

What Judge Burciaga's ruling did, in effect, was to allow all colleges, from Alabamba to Brown, from Big Eight to Atlantic Coast, from Big Ten to Pacific 10, to bargain for themselves.

The first to cut a deal under these new conditions were ABC and the College Football Association. They agreed, after a short period devoted to the discussion of money, that ABC would televise 20 of its games this fall, with the network holding a tight grip on the exclusive (and attention-getting) time period of 3:30 to 7 p.m. (ET). The contract takes effect Sept. 8 when Boston College butts helmets with Alabama.

Not to be outdone by its rival for the bulk of the college football peso, CBS went out and signed an $8 million agreement which allows it to televise 14 games involving Big Ten and Pac-10 teams. Again, as with the ABC deal, these games also will be televised almost exclusively from 3:30 to 7 p.m.

These two arrangements are only the beginning. College football, thanks in part to the past greed of school executives and to the present wisdom of Judge Burciaga, is about to become an even bigger business than it was before his historic ruling.

The networks will concentrate their attention on bigger, better-known schools, going for high ratings and immediate gratification.

KOCE to broadcast 'Starfest Summer' fundraising special

By PHIL SNEIDERMAN
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Perhaps you feel like attending a concert, but you don't want to hassle with tickets, traffic and parking.

If so, pull up a comfortable chair and tune in KOCE Channel 50, which will be airing musical specials during the coming week that should satisfy a range of tastes. Performers will include Johnny Mathis, Dionne Warwick, Placido Domingo, Luciano Pavarotti, Tom Jones and Willie Nelson.

The Huntington Beach-based public television station will broadcast the music shows and other special programming as part of its Starfest Summer fund-raising campaign. The station is hoping to raise $120,000 in the drive, which continues through next Sunday.

Viewers who are interested in something a bit more tranquil than the latest heavy metal MTV video will probably enjoy the Mathis and Warwick specials.

Johnny Mathis is captured at an Indiana concert marking his 25th year in show business. His career may stretch back to the 1950s, but Mathis on screen appears to be in terrific shape. More important, his voice sounds as rich and soothing as ever. Mathis is not a particularly charismatic stage performer, but his graceful, soft-spoken manner seems appropriate for his repertoire.

Without a word to the audience, he slides into a gorgeous opening rendition of "Misty." He also performs a mesmerizing "Somewhere" from "West Side Story."

Midway through the concert, Mathis showcases three hit duets he's recorded with women singers. Jane Oliver (on tape) sings "The Last Time I Felt Like This" with Mathis, and Dionne Warwick (also on tape) harmonizes on "Friends in Love." Finally, Deneice Williams steps out in person to sing with Mathis on "Too Much, Too Little, Too Late."

Later in the special, Mathis does respectable work on two up-tempo rock numbers, Kenny Loggins' "I Believe in Love" and Gloria Gaynor's "I Will Survive." But he's really at his best on the gentle ballads like "Chances Are" and "The 12th of Never."

The Mathis special airs at 8:30 p.m. Monday and repeats at 8:15 Thursday.

Dionne Warwick has a looser, more relaxed stage manner in her concert special, which was taped in Joliet, Ill. Her singing career spans more than two decades, but like Mathis she still has a fine voice. On stage, Warwick recalls a brief fill-in gig with the Shirelles in 1961 before launch into a slow version of that group's hit, "Will You Love Me Tomorrow?"

Arthur Fiedler conducts the Boston Pops on KOCE's Starfest Summer this week.

But long-time fans will probably most appreciate a "memory lane" medley of her classic Bacharach-David hits, "Walk On By," "I Say A Little Prayer" and "Do You Know the Way to San Jose?" She also performs fine renditions of her more recent chart-toppers, "Heartbreaker," "Deja Vu" and "I Know I'll Never Love This Way Again."

The Warwick special airs at 10 p.m. Wednesday.

"Tom Jones in Las Vegas" is a third KOCE special, and the title says it all. This one's mainly for Tom Jones fans and people who don't mind the excesses of a Vegas stage show. With his macho manner, hammy introductions and white shirt unbuttoned to expose a hairy chest, Jones almost comes across as a lounge lizard parody in this special.

He works up a sweat and still manages a few pelvic gyrations, but his voice sounds rather ragged. Jones clearly plays to the women in the audience, and acknowledges it with this introduction: "Good evening, ladies.... And I thank you gentlemen for bringing them here this evening."

Jones performs some recent hits by other artists, such as "She Believes in Me," "We Don't Talk Anymore" and the disco version of "Working My Way Back to You." But he also does some of his own old hits, including "She's A Lady," "Love Me Tonight" and "It's Not Unusual."

The Jones special airs at 7 p.m. Thursday.

Following are some other highlights of KOCE's Starfest Summer week:

• "Placido Domingo Celebrates Seville," an opera special, will be presented at 6:30 p.m. tonight (Sunday).

• "Luciano Pavarotti in Concert," featuring the renowned tenor performing with the San Francisco Opera, airs at 9:15 p.m. tonight.

• "Fiedler's Greatest Hits," a look at the late Boston Pops' maestro's 50-year career, is scheduled for 7 p.m. Monday. (This will be rerun at 7:45 p.m. next Sunday.)

• "Ingrid," a rebroadcast of the fine documentary about actress Ingrid Bergman, will be presented at 10 p.m. Monday.

• "Country Memories with Willie Nelson" will air at 7 p.m. Tuesday. Nelson's guests include Loretta Lynn, Merle Haggard, Janie Fricke, Emmylou Harris, B. B. King, Kris Kristofferson, Roy Orbison and Alabama.

• An encore showing of "From 'Star Wars' to 'Jedi': The Making of a Saga" is scheduled for 7 p.m. Wednesday. It examines the making of George Lucas' classic film trilogy. (The program will be broadcast again at 5 p.m. Saturday.)

• "The Greatest Adventure: The Story of Man's Voyage to the Moon," premieres at 8:45 p.m. Wednesday.

• Beverly Sills hosts "Gala of Stars 1984" at 9:15 p.m. Friday. This tribute to the performing arts features Liza Minnelli, Chita Rivera, Robert Peters and violinist Itzhak Perlman.

• Two "Survival Specials" will air Saturday. "Sharks: The Perfect Predator" will show at 7:45 p.m., followed by "Tiger, Tiger" at 9 p.m.

• Next Sunday will mark the return of the popular historical drama, "Six Wives of Henry VIII." The first of the six 90-minute episodes, "Catherine of Aragon," airs at 10:15 p.m.

Deas quits 'World Turns'

BY LYNDA HIRSCH

Justin Deas, oh-so-popular as Tom Hughes on "As the World Turns," will not be returning to the show. Deas took a leave of absence to do some movie work, but it seems the movie assignments have been piling up and he's decided not to renew his contract. (You may recall that Deas just picked up a best supporting actor daytime Emmy for his role as Tom.)

Deas is being replaced by Jason Kincaid, who was recently seen as Sam Brady on "All My Children." Kincaid's role on "Children" was always supposed to get bigger, but when Dorothy Lyman left as Opal on that show, the role of Sam really never got off the ground.

FOR YEARS we've been talking to serial actors who complain when they only have a line or two to give on a soap episode and claim that that's always the hardest part. We used to scoff, but no more. During the Olympics we had a bit part on the new soap "Santa Barbara," and the hardest thing was waiting around to say our 10 seconds' worth of dialogue. It's a wonder the actors truly don't lose their minds! So the next time we hear this complaint, we won't sit there and smirk and sigh; we'll know it's true. It's hard to keep that energy up.

The call for actors for "Santa Barbara" is 7 in the morning, and our scene didn't get under way until 3 in the afternoon. Some actors are literally there from 7 a.m. until midnight while the director and technicians are ironing out the kinks. Other actors don't get in until 3 p.m. and then leave at midnight; it just depends on what scenes you're in throughout the day.

In its first two weeks, "Santa Barbara" did not pull off the ratings coup NBC was hoping for while ABC was airing the Olympics. "Santa Barbara" pulled 3.5 its first week — lower than Match Game-Hollywood Squares was drawing — but that, of course, is not unusual for a new soap. As for ABC, all that fretting at the Alphabet network about losing viewers during the Olympics hasn't proven true at all. And the soap storylines, especially those on "All My Children" and "One Life to Live," have kept the audience glued to the set.

OVER ON "THE Young and the Restless," Randy Holland, who played Rick Daros, is back once again as actor and writer. Holland never left the writing staff, but laid off the acting for a while. We understand his storyline is going to be quite heavy come September.

Have a question about your favorite soap or soap star? Write to Lynda Hirsch, c/o News America Syndicate, P.O. Box 19620, Irvine, Calif. 92714. She will answer as many questions as she can in her column, but the volume of mail makes personal replies impossible.

VISIT US and LEARN about the "MARVELOUS" Macintosh at The Home Computer Store

Macintosh™ is the newest member of Apple's 32-bit family. Its brain is the same blindingly fast 32-bit microprocessor found in the Lisa™ Personal Computer.

You can cut information from one program and paste it into another. Or even take figures out of a spreadsheet program like Multiplan™ and turn them into a spectacular bar graph, without touching the keyboard.

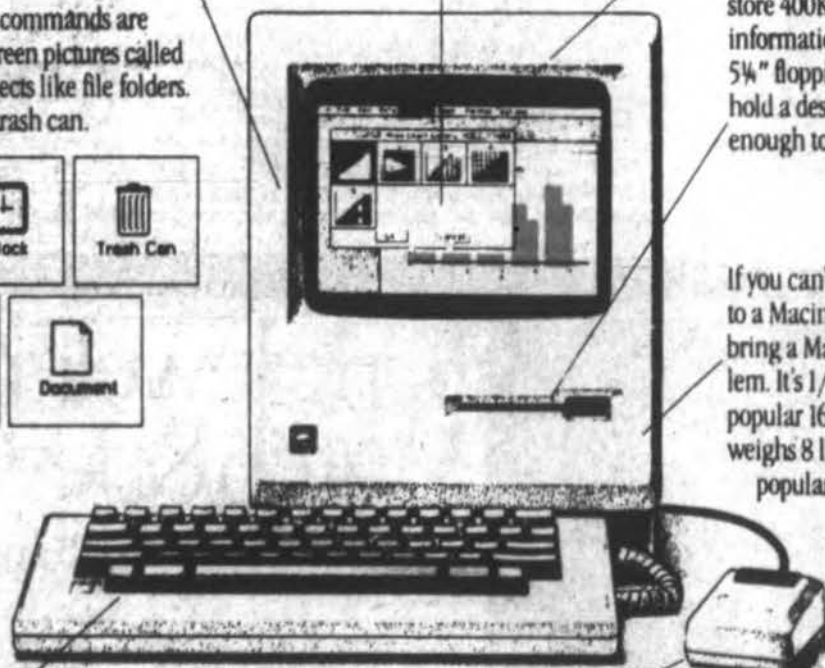

Pull down menus give you all the options you need to work with numbers, words or pictures.

Complex computer commands are replaced with on-screen pictures called icons. Common objects like file folders, Clipboards. Even a trash can.

Macintosh's built-in disk drive uses miniature 3½" disks that store 400K bytes — far more information than conventional 5¼" floppies. Big enough to hold a desk full of work. Small enough to fit in a shirt pocket.

If you can't bring the problem to a Macintosh, you can always bring a Macintosh to the problem. It's 1/3 the size of the most popular 16-bit machines. And weighs 8 lbs. less than the most popular "transportable."

Since the mouse replaces the usual confusing array of command keys, this keyboard is strictly for typing. With a full size, office-style layout. It's also detached — so you can position it anywhere that's comfortable.

This palm-sized "mouse" controller replaces typed-in computer commands with a form of communication you already understand — pointing.

Finally, you should pick a Macintosh from us. Because we can answer all your questions and provide full service and support. Come in for a demonstration, and meet Macintosh. But do it now. Before we're picked clean.

Mystery shrouds crash victim

Little is known about Air America flier or his possible involvement with CIA

Stephen Lee Sadler's life, like his death, is shrouded with mystery. Half-answered questions and terse "no comments" from the man's family and U.S. government officials obscure all but the barest details of how or why the 55-year-old Laguna Beach man and another man died in an airplane crash at a remote airstrip in South America on July 28.

Both men were reportedly buried the day after the crash by a priest in Nazareth, a Colombian village about an hour's drive from the city of Barranquilla in the northwest province of Guajira on the Caribbean Sea coast.

Two other men were injured in the crash of the twin-engine cargo plane, which had its identification numbers removed. Both are hospitalized in Barranquilla and are in the custody of Colombian officials on charges related to violations of Colombian airspace.

U.S. Embassy officials in Colombia and State Department officials here in the United States refuse to reveal the names of the injured men. Both are known to be Americans.

The aircraft crashed while taking off from a remote, unmarked airstrip, Colombian sources said.

Only the bodies, the injured men and the plane's wreckage were found by Colombian authorities when they arrived at the airstrip. No cargo was aboard.

The incident was not reported in the United States until Sadler's ex-wife sent The Daily Pilot a press release on memorial services held for her former husband on Aug. 6 in Laguna Beach.

The obituary listed a 10-year stint with Air America as part of Sadler's background. Air America is known to have close ties to the Central Intelligence Agency.

Mrs. Sadler acknowledged her ex-husband's death in a plane crash in Colombia, but refused to discuss any more details about the incident or her former husband's activities.

Sadler's son Sean, who works in the North Laguna Beach gas station formerly owned by Sadler, also acknowledged his father's ties with Air America, but denied he worked for the CIA.

He said his father went to Colombia. (Please see MYSTERY/A2)

It may rain on parade today

Forecasts anticipate scattered showers along Orange Coast

It might rain on the parade today in Newport Harbor, but spirits aren't likely to be dampened at the 34th Annual Character Boat Parade, scheduled to begin at 2 p.m. in front of the Balboa Bay Club in Newport Beach.

The National Weather Service predicted about a 30 percent chance of scattered showers and thunderstorms along the Orange Coast today, with partial cloudiness through Monday and highs between 78 and 86 along the beaches.

Light sprinkles, which fell on small crowds at Newport and Huntington beaches Saturday afternoon, are most likely to occur in the afternoon and evening today, a forecaster said.

Light to moderate rain fell intermittently throughout the day Saturday from Palm Springs to Long Beach, with the greatest amount reported in the Big Bear Lake area, where the National Weather Service said .37 inches of rain fell during the 24 hours ending at 5 p.m. Saturday.

Lows tonight along the coast were predicted to be between 68 and 75 degrees and from the mid 60s to the low 70s inland. Highs today were forecast near 80 at the beaches to the upper 80s inland.

For those hoping to escape another dreary day on the coast by taking a trip to the mountains or desert, scattered showers or thundershowers were predicted for both those areas today also.

Locally heavy showers were forecast from the San Gabriel mountains southward, with continued warmth and humidity and highs between 75 and 85. Lows were predicted in the mountains for between 50 and 65 degrees.

Rain was also expected today in the desert, with some locally heavy showers in the Mojave desert and southward. Continued humidity was forecast, with highs from 92 to 102 in all areas. Lows in the upper 60s and 70s were predicted in the upper deserts and the low to mid 80s in the low deserts and Palm Springs area.

County crashes lead to courts

If you have a crash in Orange County, plan to go to court.

Except for their counterparts in Los Angeles and San Francisco, drivers involved in accidents in Orange County are more likely than anywhere else in the state to end up in a courtroom.

Orange County is the third leading county in the state for a superior court lawsuit to be filed following a traffic collision, according to the Insurance Information Institute.

Last year, nearly 5,000 lawsuits stemming from car accidents were filed in Orange County Superior Court. The figure translates to about 240 suits for every 100,000 people living in the county, according to the Insurance Institute.

The state average is about 206 lawsuits for every 100,000 state residents. In Los Angeles, 24,133 car accident suits were filed in 1983, producing a ratio of 311 lawsuit for every 100,000 residents.

David Simmons, a spokesman for the institute, said a large population does not necessarily mean a high litigation rate. For example, San Diego County, which is third behind Los Angeles and Orange counties in population, was ranked 20th in the state on the ratio of lawsuits.

Skimming in the surf

Nick Hernandez, 19, of Laguna Beach (below) and Julian Carril, 15, of Seal Beach (left) were among the participants in the 8th annual Victoria Skimboard Contest at Aliso Beach Park in South Laguna Saturday. Skimboards are almost flat, surfboard-shaped pieces of wood or foam and fiberglass used to slide down steep slopes on thin films of water. The better riders can catch a wave just as it's breaking and ride it all the way back to the beach.

Mesans ready to renew battle

Development plans for parcel near homes deemed ill-advised

By TONY SAAVEDRA

For more than 10 years, residents in north Costa Mesa have stormed the City Council chambers in attempts to block what they believed were ill-planned developments for a 50-acre parcel near their homes.

And for more than 10 years they have been successful.

Homeowners are again preparing to pick up the gauntlet Monday during a scheduled council hearing on a controversial $500-million plan to build 300 apartments, a towering office park and a 16-tiered hotel on the Bear Street property.

"We'll try to have the (council chambers) packed," said Jon Paradis, president of the historically powerful North Costa Mesa Homeowners Association. "In past go-rounds, we've had people sitting in the aisles."

The project proposed by the Arnel Development Co. would bring a 500-room hotel, six high-rise office towers and a flood of apartments to the property bordered by Bear Street, San Leandro Lane and the San Diego Freeway.

Council members on Monday will be considering a recommendation from the Planning Commission to accept an environmental impact report on the project, increase the residential density allowed at the site and change the zoning to allow commercial development.

Arnel is seeking to build 300 apartments on a parcel of land now zoned for a maximum of 165 housing units.

The proposal was originally brought before the council Aug. 6 but was postponed at the request of the developer.

While northside homeowners are gearing up for the fight, the lavish project is not without supporters. Costa Mesa Chamber of Commerce officials voted recently to back the development for its ability to bolster local business and to generate long-term revenue for the city.

Museum remodel could be stymied

Reservations voiced over massive nature of proposed project

By DAVID BISHOP

Daily Pilot Correspondent

A review of expansion plans for the Laguna Beach Museum of Art is slated by the City Council Tuesday in the wake of an appeal over the project's narrow approval by the city's Design Review Board in July.

Expansion of the Laguna Beach Museum of Art's building at Cliff Drive and North Coast Highway will be reviewed by the City Council Tuesday following an appeal of the project's narrow approval by the city's Design Review Board in July.

Laguna Beach Mayor Dan Kenney appealed the board's approval because of his concerns with the size of the expansion proposal. In the absence of an appeal, museum officials could have proceeded without City Council review. Council members may now deny the approval.

Jack Linkletter, president of the museum's board of trustees, said the proposed addition would expand floor space from 9,000 to 15,000 square feet, including a 30-foot-by-55-foot exhibition gallery and expansive underground storage space. The cost would be "right around $1.2 million," he said.

Linkletter said the museum, which is Orange County's oldest cultural institution, requires the addition to continue its recent, rapid growth.

"We have 6,000 children coming through here each year now, but we have no adult programs because we have no place to put them," he also said the museum is "turning down collections (of artwork) because we have no room for them."

The project was barely approved by the Design Review Board, and only after one member changed his mind, reversing a 3-2 decision.

The wavering board member was architect Lance Polster, who said he changed his mind at least twice about the project prior to the meeting, and once during the meeting, prompting him to request a second polling of members so he could change his vote.

He initially liked the project, but changed his mind after seeing its size. "It looked as if it was going to be a fairly heavy, really different type of building. But then, in a way, I didn't want to slow the project down, either."

In defense of the expansion, Linkletter said, "We weren't asking for any variances, and we're way inside the building envelope." He added that landscaping will help soften the massive appearance of the project.

A major factor cited by Kenney in making the appeal, and one also mentioned by Polster, is the blank north wall of the museum, facing North Coast Highway, which will be

CHP takes dim view of shades

Illegal sunglasses? That's right. According to the California Highway Patrol, drivers caught wearing certain types of sunglasses face a fine of $20 or at least a stern warning.

The eyewear in question is the so-called "mountaineering" or "glacier" sunglasses — the type that feature a small leather flap on either side of the frame.

The glasses are popular with rock climbers and skiers because the leather flap cuts the sun's glare. But lawmen say the flap also cuts out a driver's peripheral vision.

"A driver wearing this sunglasses is a safety threat because traffic approaching from the side can't be seen," explained Capt. C.A. Lynd.

"Officers who observe such a violation will take enforcement action."

Lynd said the CHP has nothing against "mountaineering" sunglasses as long as they're not propped on the nose of the person behind the wheel of a car.

Kyle Franson of Laguna Beach models outlawed eyewear.

Warwick, Rawls delight crowd in twin Costa Mesa appearance

By CHRIS CRAWFORD
Daily Pilot correspondent

Local pop music fans got double entertainment for their money Friday evening at the Pacific Amphitheatre as star vocalists Lou Rawls and Dionne Warwick each gave full-length shows to a near-capacity crowd.

Presented as a package, Rawls and Warwick provided an artistically effective counterpoint for each other: sensual bass vs. sexy soprano, rhythm and blues vs. mainstream pop-rock. A winning combination.

Kicking off the first set promptly at 8 p.m., Rawls presented a program featuring several songs from his newest album (scheduled to be out in about two weeks), selections from his best-selling hits and a number of the standard rhythm and blues tunes that are Rawls' forte.

For his initial number, the singer launched into the fast-tempo "All Time Lover," accompanied by full orchestra and talented back-up singers Tanya Boyd and Judy Jones.

Then, in a more subdued vein, Rawls performed "My Lady Love," a ballad that showcased the singer's ability of his basso-profundo voice to handle the lowest of low registers.

One of the highlights of Rawls' show was a blues medley, which showcased the talents of back-up singers Boyd and Jones as soloists and also along with Rawls as the trio went through standard favorites "St. Louis Blues," "I've Got a Right to Sing the Blues," "Am I Blue?" and "Stormy Weather."

For the second half of the show, Dionne Warwick strode onstage elegantly decked out in black tuxedo pants and white, sparkling blouse and talked and joked easily with her enthusiastic audience — encouraging them to sing along or clap along.

Paying homage to a group of her best-selling hits, Warwick offered a string of crowd-pleasing numbers from her Burt Bacharach/Hal David years, including "Walk On By," "Say a Little Prayer," "Do You Know the Way to San Jose?" and "Alfie."

Returning musically to the '80s, Warwick sang "Gotta Date," a rousing rocker that she laughingly named her "Tina Turner number" as she imitated some Turner gyrations.

'Crazy drunk' man fatally shot

A Santa Ana police officer fatally shot a man described by witnesses as a "crazy drunk" Friday night after the man allegedly threatened an officer and neighbors with a knife, authorities said Saturday.

Lin Thong Panyanak, 52, of Santa Ana, died upon arrival at Western Medical Center Friday at about 9:30 p.m. after being shot four times in the upper body, said Santa Ana Sgt. J. Smith.

The incident began about 9 p.m. Friday when Officer Jim Bland responded to a report of a family fight at an apartment complex in the 1100 block of South Minnie Street, Smith said. When the officer got to the apartment complex, he was told Panyanak was armed with a large knife and had threatened to kill some of the neighbors. Bland confronted Panyanak, who began advancing toward the officer, waving the knife and making stabbing motions.

"The officer repeatedly told the suspect to drop the knife and the suspect refused," Smith noted. He said Bland fired when it became apparent his life was in "imminent danger."

Witnesses described the victim as a "crazy drunk," Smith said.

Services held for 30-year resident

Services were held Saturday for Marguerite Ellen Beene of Costa Mesa, a 30-year resident of the city who died Tuesday at her home. She was 62.

Mrs. Beene, who was born in Cement, Okla., was active in civic affairs. She was president of the Costa Mesa Republican Women's Club in 1977-78 and also was a member of the Costa Mesa Senior Citizens Club.

She is survived by her daughter, Janice Schaefer, and a granddaughter, Debbie Schaefer, both of Irvine.

Funeral arrangements were made by Pierce Brothers Bell Broadway Mortuary Chapel. Interment was private.

'Cat Xing' sign curries no favor with officials

FULLERTON (AP) — Cat owner Pat Flynn took traffic matters into his own hands after five neighborhood felines had been run over by cars — and his cat, Blanche, seemed a likely choice for number six.

Hoping to extend the life of his and other neighborhood cats, Flynn designed and put up his own sign to warn motorists.

The yellow sign bears the silhouette of a cat and the word "CAT XING" beneath it. His creativity was applauded by neighbors, but the sign was quickly removed by city officials. "They told me there was this California Traffic Division that authorizes all street signs, like cattle crossing and things like that," Flynn said. "Mine wasn't authorized, so they took it down."

He attached the sign to an eight-foot post and planted it on Tuesday near the parkway outside his home. But city took it down less than 24 hours later.

Flynn kept his CAT XING sign and said he will write the state agency that authorizes the signs for permission to reinstall it.

"I was just trying to bring about an awareness of a problem," he said.

MUSEUM ...

From A1 moved 13 feet closer to the street. "It tends to look massive," Polster said, "but Laguna is an eclectic town with all kinds of architecture. It would not be out of sync."

"The museum brings art aspects into the community on a year-round basis, not just the summer," said Polster. "Why shouldn't it be a prominent building in Laguna Beach?"

"I would sleep better knowing I voted yes and not no," Polster concluded.

Design Review Board chairman Wayne Peterson voted against the project because he fears the museum may move from its present location.

"I'm not willing to reach further for what could be a retail store or series of fast-food shops in a year," he said.

Peterson also said the "museum was making no effort to provide parking."

Plaza will temporarily house museum of art

While the Laguna Beach Museum of Art undergoes the planned remodeling of its building in Laguna Beach this fall, South Coast Plaza in Costa Mesa will provide a temporary home for the museum's exhibits.

Well-known art patron, collector and Museum of Art advisory board member Henry Segerstrom initially proposed the idea of a temporary museum in the Plaza.

C.J. Segerstrom and Sons, owners of the Plaza, have donated 3,000 square feet in the southern end of the shopping center on the Bristol Street side for three separate exhibit galleries and a museum store.

"Expansion of exhibition and education programs to another location in the region is a rare opportunity for the museum," Laguna Beach Museum of Art Director William Otton said. "The new site will enable us to provide a forum for exhibiting and discussing examples of the best historical and contemporary California art."

Although construction is not expected to begin on the Laguna Beach Museum until February 1985, plans are to begin operation of the South Coast Plaza satellite location this fall and to continue there for at least a full year.

Several museum activities and fund-raisers are being planned for the Plaza, with a major fund-raiser already scheduled for Nov. 3 under the direction of museum volunteer Nancy Carlson.

The first exhibit is entitled "Artists Quilts."

The exhibit will include the works of 10 South California artists, and is being organized by the museums' new Chief Curator, Robert McDonald.

MYSTERY SHROUDS FLIER'S LIFE...

From A1 ombia "to help a few friends... that's all I know."

Sean says another Orange County man was with his father's group in Colombia, but he declined to identify that person. It has not been determined if the unidentified man is one of the survivors or the other man killed in the plane crash.

Laguna Beach residents who knew the family said Sadler often spoke of his involvement with the CIA.

"Air America was a CIA subsidiary used for future activities throughout Asia," according to the book "Vietnam" by Stanley Karnow, published by Penguin in 1984. "American and Chinese Nationalist mercenaries piloted the planes," Karnow wrote.

"Hundreds of pilots" flew for Air America in Vietnam during the years of U.S. involvement in the war in that country, though mostly as contract employees and not as CIA agents, according to Bill Schaap, co-editor of the Covert Action Bulletin, a Washington-based publication that attempts to monitor the clandestine activities of government agencies.

According to a book published this year by Simon and Schuster titled "The Death Merchant," by Joseph C. Goulden, Air America was a "proprietary company that was the equivalent of the CIA's private airline in Asia during the Vietnam period."

"Because of their hazardous assignments, and non-governmental standing," Goulden wrote, "pilots earned up to $60,000 a year with minimal living expenses."

Sadler entered the U.S. Marine Corps in 1952 and retired as a major in 1972, according to records obtained through the military. Mrs. Sadler said he flew for Air America from 1964 until his return to the United States in 1974.

Schaap, though, said it was "highly unusual" that a pilot for Air America would also be a member of the military at the same time. But according to the information provided by Sadler's ex-wife and the military, his work for Air America coincided with the last eight years of his Marine Corps career.

The CIA's policy is to neither confirm nor deny the identity of its employees, said Kathy Pherson, a spokesman in the agency's headquarters in Virginia.

Pherson did acknowledge, however, that congressional hearings on America's involvement in the Vietnam War conducted by Idaho Sen. Frank Church in the 1970s revealed Air America was a CIA operation in Southeast Asia.

Sadler recently owned and managed a Union 76 station in North Laguna Beach, but little else is known about his activities, other than that he traveled extensively after his retirement from the Marine Corps in 1972.

Low-interest home loans spur long lines at banks

By The Associated Press

HAMMOND, La. — Banks provided food and shelter and even planned a cookout for hundreds of people who waited in line — some for at least five days — to apply for $100 million in low-interest mortgages. "It's exciting to see people who are that anxious to get into a home of their own," said Nelly Stanga, executive vice president of Firstbank Federal in Hammond. "Yesterday we gave them doughnuts and tomorrow we plan to have a cookout for them. We've offered them electricity and water, trying to make it as comfortable as can be." The starting time for applications for the 30-year, 11.15 percent home loans was 9 a.m. Monday. The Louisiana Housing Finance Authority sold $100 million in bonds to help first-time home buyers. Some of those in line said they'd been waiting since Aug. 13. The story was much the same in other Louisiana cities, where people waited in campers, buses and lawn chairs.

Hawaii suffers 10-hour blackout

HONOLULU — Parts of Hawaii's most populous island were blacked out for more than 10 hours early Saturday by an explosion at a power plant that shut off electric water pumps and forced hospitals and the heavily traveled Honolulu airport to operate on emergency generators. The blackout on Oahu, where 80 percent of Hawaii's 1.2 million people live and where tourist hotels line the beach at Waikiki, occurred at about 12:50 a.m. Hawaii Standard Time (3:50 a.m. PDT). It was Oahu's second island-wide power failure in less than 14 months.

Investigators probe transit crash

CHICAGO — Nine representatives of the National Transportation Safety Board met with Chicago Transit Authority officials Saturday morning to discuss possible causes of Friday's rush-hour collision of two commuter trains. One person was killed and 47 injured in the first fatal crash involving a CTA train in seven years. CTA chairman Michael Cardilli said the lead train's motorman apparently noticed a minor problem with the train's braking system and had stopped the train about 1,000 feet past a passenger station to investigate. Initial reports showed that the lead train rolled backward down an incline into the second train, which had stopped when the first train came to a halt in front of it.

Miracle baby conquers cancer

ORLANDO, Fla. — A 5-month-old boy whose life was threatened by a massive throat tumor that grew so rapidly it accounted for 15 percent of his body weight has come home from the hospital, and doctors say the "miracle baby" now shows no trace of cancer. The boy's only problem now, say doctors, is that he is a little underweight. "We have to get his weight back and make sure the cancer doesn't come back," Berghuis said. "We hope this will be an inspiration for others in our position. They can do wonderful things with cancer these days."

$1 million in phony Izod shirts seized

MIAMI — Customs investigators, tipped off by alligator trademarks that just didn't look right, snapped up more than $1 million worth of counterfeit shirts, in what authorities said was the largest counterfeit-merchandise case in Miami's history. The shirts, with labels indicating that they were manufactured in the Philippines, arrived from Hong Kong at the Port of Miami earlier this week, said Ms. Pryor. A routine, random inspection Thursday found them to be in violation of U.S. trademark laws, she said. No arrests have been made.

AQMD to hire "on-call" physicians

EL MONTE — An "on-call" panel of physicians will be hired by the South Coast Air Quality Management District for a one-year trial period to advise the pollution control agency on health issues, the AQMD Board of Directors decided Friday in a 9-3 vote, approving a recommendation from its citizen advisory council. The doctors' panel would have a budget of up to $10,000 a year and would be reviewed after a "maximum of one year" to see if it merits further funding.

Utility appeals to high court on Diablo

SAN LUIS OBISPO — Pacific Gas & Electric Co. appealed Saturday to the U.S. Supreme Court to overturn a lower court stay blocking full-power testing at the Diablo Canyon nuclear power plant. The Mothers For Peace, representing plant opponents, was asked to file a response to the PG&E petition by Monday, said the group's spokeswoman Nancy Culver in San Luis Obispo. The order to postpone full-power operations at Diablo at least until a hearing in November was issued Friday by a three-judge panel of the U.S. Court of Appeals. A full-power license for the plant's Unit 1 reactor was to take effect Friday.

Bomb scare closes LAX

LOS ANGELES — A $35 sculpture that looked like a bomb caused security officers to close the TWA terminal at Los Angeles International Airport on Saturday, until police determined the traveler carrying the device was simply "naive." The France-bound TWA passenger, Philippe Retif, 24, "tried to pass screening with what appeared to be an explosive device wrapped in a plastic bag," police Sgt. John Chamness said. "It was a clock with an electronic battery pack, two highway flares and wiring all taped together." In an interview with Retif, police learned "this device was made by a so-called artist" living in the Silver Lake district a few miles north of downtown Los Angeles.

Heart recipient may be rejecting pump

LOS ANGELES — Ten months after a $300,000 fund-raising drive allowed Derrick Gordon to receive a new heart, he was in the hospital in critical condition Saturday as his body appeared to reject the transplanted organ. A fund-raising drive began last year after it became known Gordon had a rare heart disease called idiopathic cardiomyopathy, an illness that also has struck several other members of his family. Black community activists launched a "Have-a-Heart" campaign and raised $300,000, including $100,000 from producer Aaron Spelling. Gordon received his new heart last October.

Fruit flies prompt call for quarantine

LOS ANGELES — County officials are seeking an 88-square-mile quarantine area from mid-Los Angeles to the coast following the discovery of female Oriental fruit flies. Ironically, the discovery, which was announced Friday, came one day after officials ended the Mexican fruit fly quarantine around Los Angeles. The discovery in the Westchester area of Oriental fruit fly females and their larvae "means the flies are reproducing and we have a problem," John Manning, chief deputy agricultural commissioner for Los Angeles County, said Friday.

Witness says Soviets devastated Panjsher

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan — Afghanistan's Panjsher Valley, once a farming region and a haven for Moslem guerrillas, is nearly devastated after a three-month Soviet offensive, a Western traveler said Saturday. Anders Fanger, who spent three months in Afghanistan with various insurgent groups, said all the villages in the upper half of the 70-mile-long gorge are in ruins. Fanger, 38, of Stockholm, Sweden, is a director of the Swedish Committee for Afghanistan.

Liz Taylor to visit Burton's family

PONTRHYDYFEN, Wales — Actress Elizabeth Taylor planned a visit today to the family of her late ex-husband, Richard Burton, in the tiny Welsh village where the actor was born, a family spokesman said. "Of course, we wanted to meet Elizabeth again," Burton's brother, Graham Jenkins, said Saturday. "We have all suffered a sad loss in the premature death of my brother. Miss Taylor, 52, stayed away from funeral and memorial services for Burton out of consideration for his fourth and last wife, Sally Hay Burton, whom he married a year ago.

Panamanian tanker hit in gulf

LONDON — A Panamanian-registered tanker was hit by a missile and set afire in the Persian Gulf off the kingdom of Qatar Saturday morning. Lloyd's of London's shipping intelligence unit reported. The tanker Endeavor was the 82nd ship to be attacked in the gulf since the Iran-Iraq War broke out four years ago, but neither Iran nor Iraq announced an attack today. The Endeavor's crew reported the fire was brought under control and the tanker was proceeding to the emirate of Dubai, a Lloyd's spokesman said.

Zaccaro to release tax returns

Mondale, Ferraro say they're pleased her husband will make returns public

NEW YORK (AP) — Geraldine Ferraro, hoping to close out a controversy that dogged the Democratic presidential ticket for a week, said Saturday her husband, John Zaccaro, has changed his mind and will make his income tax returns public on Monday.

Walter F. Mondale, campaigning in Missouri, and Ferraro, at home in Queens, both said they were "pleased" by Zaccaro's decision, disclosed in a statement.

The returns will be made public at the same time Ferraro complies with a federal disclosure law for vice presidential candidates.

Ferraro said she and her husband, a real estate developer who expressed fear that disclosing tax returns could harm his business, will release information that "goes beyond the requirements of the law."

The vice presidential nominee and her husband had spent nine hours meeting with accountants on Friday.

Republicans have been criticizing Ferraro for days over the subject, and GOP spokesman William Greener III said in Dallas, "She's honored a commitment she made to the American public and now we'll see what's in them."

In another development Saturday, Ferraro reacted angrily to an article prepared for Monday's edition of New York magazine which says the family company, now run by her husband, owned a building from 1963 to 1971 listed as a residence of a reputed organized crime figure.

The building was sold the same year her husband took over the business in the wake of his father's death, according to the article.

Shown an advance copy of the article while being filmed by a television crew, Ferraro looked at it briefly and said: "I'm outraged, absolutely outraged. You go through life suffering discrimination. You just don't think that they're going to stoop this low. To imply that my husband has any sort of connection with organized crime, I'm absolutely outraged."

The New York magazine story quoted campaign spokesman Francis O'Brien as saying, "I have decided that all these questions (asked by the magazine) have an implication. The implication is that this man has an Italian name, and therefore he has Mafia connections. I advise you this line of questions is inaccurate and wrong."

'Rigid' platform draws dissent

DALLAS (AP) — Republican moderates denounced the proposed GOP platform Saturday as regressive, rigid and right-wing but conceded they would have little chance to fight it next week at the party's convention.

"The rules really militate against the prospect of a serious floor fight," Rep. Jim Leach, R-Iowa, chairman of the Republican Mainstream Committee, said at a news conference.

Leach said he would support President Reagan but added that he thought the conservative platform recommended by the platform committee would hamper state and local GOP candidates and make it harder for Republicans to retain control of the Senate.

Mary Dent Crisp, former co-chairman of the Republican National Committee, said, "The party I worked for was progressive. I am now estranged from a party that is regressive."

Mary Louise Smith, a former chairman of the party, said the platform "is being lauded by the Moral Majority and the radical right, but it is not a document for all Republicans."

"I find it ill-conceived, rigid and inflexible, and I believe it does a disservice to all Republican candidates," Smith said.

Former Rep. John Buchanan, R-Ala., said that "pseudo-Republicans of the radical right and members of what was once considered the John Birch Society-oriented lunatic fringe have become a driving force within the Republican party, pushing it away from its historic commitment to civil rights, to women's rights, to public education, and to the public welfare."

Patriotic fervor benefits war film

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — In the wake of the Summer Olympics' flag-waving fervor, "Red Dawn," a new movie about a Soviet invasion of the United States, has drawn jeers from critics but cheers from moviegoers rooting for the film's teen-age resistance fighters.

The MGM-United Artists movie, which stars relative unknowns Patrick Swayze, C. Thomas Howell and Lea Thompson, drew unanimously unfavorable reviews but nevertheless sold $10.5 million in tickets in its first five days of release.

And even though it opened Aug. 10 when the Los Angeles Games were attracting peak television and live audiences, "Red Dawn" liquidated its big-screen competition, topping "Ghostbusters" from the No. 1 spot on the box office charts.

"The response has been overwhelming," said Chan Wood, vice president and head film buyer of Pacific Theaters.

"I have never seen an audience reach such a fever pitch," said moviegoer Joan Chadd of Anaheim. "I think it was because of the patriotism of the Olympics."

Although critics have laughed at what they term the movie's improbable plot and heavy-handed Cold War message, many in the audience apparently think they're seeing a realistic portrayal of what could happen.

"Laughing?" asked Paul Nyerick, 36, as he came out of the Sherman Oaks Cinema. "There were high moments where people were shouting 'Wolverines!' (the name of the high school football team adopted by the freedom fighters), but nobody was laughing."

Former Secretary of State Alexander Haig, an MGM-UA board member, said "Red Dawn" was "one of the most realistic and provocative films that I have ever seen."

"It captures the stresses of patriotism, the emotions of love and, above all, the futility of war," said the former NATO commander. "But against this is a clear lesson to all viewers, and that is the importance of the maintenance of American strength to protect the peace that we have enjoyed throughout history. It is in order to preclude such a scenario that the U.S. maintains its military posture."

Running against Reagan

Demonstrators participating in a Women Running Against Reagan rally run down

Dallas' Commerce Street Saturday with a banner reading "Retire Ronald Reagan."

GOP convention almost finished before it's begun

DALLAS (AP) — It's already all over but the shouting as Republican delegates — a confident, conservative chorus with hardly a dissenter in the house — gather deep in the heart of Texas this week to provide President Reagan with a rousing boost toward re-election.

"We believe in ourselves, we're hungry for any opportunity and we're up to any challenge," Reagan said Saturday, using his final pre-convention radio address to depict the nation as stronger for his leadership.

Reagan will be master of all he sees at the 33rd Republican National Convention — unchallenged leader of his party and holder of an enviable lead in the public opinion polls over Democratic rival Walter F. Mondale.

So large was the lead — 23 points in one recent survey — that party leaders said they worried about overconfidence.

The only discouraging words came from frustrated GOP moderates who complained about the party's "rigid and inflexible" platform.

The opening gavel of the convention falls Monday, giving delegates two days to sample the political rhetoric and the hospitality of the convention city before Wednesday evening's renomination of Reagan and Vice President George Bush.

The convention will be a four-day pageant combining rhetoric, rallies and filmed tribute to Reagan and his wife.

A helicopter and crane were needed to flip the world's largest pancake Saturday in Swanton, Vt.

Gigantic pancake beaten, eaten

HIGHGATE, Vt. (AP) — A 900-pound pancake was beaten in a cement mixer and flipped by helicopter before being devoured by a hungry crowd Saturday.

"The main thing is not the flipping; it's the cooking," said Jim Hilton, mastermind of the mammoth breakfast. "No one likes to eat an uncooked pancake worse than I do."

The pancake, touted as the world's largest, was cooked up at the Franklin County Field Days fair in northwest Vermont and was fed to anyone in the crowd of 2,000 with an appetite. There were about 200 takers.

Hilton, head of the recreation department in nearby St. Albans, claims to hold the title for the world's largest snowman and the biggest ice cream sundae.

But this feat may have been his trickiest yet.

Ingredients, all donated, included 500 pounds of mix and 100 gallons of milk. They were folded together in a cement mixer, placed in a 20-foot pan, cooked for 45 minutes and flipped with a helicopter.

The custom-made, 2,400-pound pan had a harness that allowed it to turn over, so the cover became the bottom of the pan and the pancake inside was turned. A helicopter and crane teamed up for the job.

"It's kind of a bizarre idea, but it's good to have something different," said Don McFeeters, organizer of the fair.

Lebanon may protest to U.N. over America's lack of action

Prime minister charges U.S. with failure to stop 'inhuman repression' by Israelis

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Prime Minister Rashid Karami charged Saturday that the United States had done nothing to stop "inhuman repression" by Israel in occupied southern Lebanon. Karami said his government may take its complaints to the U.N. Security Council.

Karami told reporters after a 1½-hour meeting with President Amin Gemayel that a final decision on lodging a complaint with the 15-nation council and seeking intervention against Israel would be made at a Cabinet meeting Wednesday.

"The United States has exercised no pressure to stop this inhuman repression" in southern Lebanon, Karami said. "So we are discussing a case at the U.N. Security Council to put things in their right course."

Local radio stations said Karami and Nabih Berri, the state minister for southern Lebanon, had appealed to the Reagan administration several times in the past two weeks to bring pressure to bear on Israel. The broadcasts said the pleas were conveyed through Reginald Bartholomew, U.S. ambassador to Lebanon.

"The message we've got is that the United States is totally indifferent," Karami said.

U.S. officials in Beirut have said that the Lebanese must work out their own solution with Israel. They have been particularly adamant about the U.S. maintaining a neutral stance.

Mao Tse-tung's widow remains unrepentant

PEKING (AP) — China's most famous prisoner, the late Chairman Mao Tse-tung's widow Jiang Qing, remains unrepentant 3½ years after going to prison for trying to overthrow the government.

"The facts are clear. She is one of the most difficult people to reform," said Lu Jian, spokesman for the Ministry of Justice. "Chairman Mao once said a few counter-revolutionaries have brains of granite."

If trying to reform the sharp-tongued, 72-year-old "empress" of the 1966-76 Cultural Revolution is difficult, there seems to be more of a chance with another famous prisoner, Wei Jingsheng, 33. Wei was sentenced in 1980 to 15 years for proposing that China introduce American-style democracy to speed its modernization.

Asked whether Wei, a former Red Guard follower of Jiang Qing, had shown signs of repentance, Lu said "yes." He added, "We still hope he will be reformed and become a useful citizen."

Repentance is necessary for a reduction in a prisoner's term. Nevertheless, unrepentant or not, Jiang Qing had her death sentence commuted to life imprisonment by the Supreme Court last January, on the somewhat negative ground that she had not "resisted reform in a flagrant way."

Official information on the circumstances of Jiang Qing's imprisonment is rare. Lu disclosed details during an interview with The Associated Press on the Chinese criminal code.

No journalist has been allowed to visit her, but Lu said she now sees unidentified members of her family. She has two daughters.

"She is healthy. But she is old, so we don't make her do labor. She cleans her own room, can watch television, listen to the radio, has her own tape recorder," Lu said. "Family members and other relatives now visit her."

He said she is in an ordinary prison outside Peking along with three former high-ranking colleagues, all lumped together in official propaganda as "the Gang of Four."

They were accused of a wide variety of crimes during the 10-year purge.

Jiang Qing

including the torture, imprisonment and execution of thousands of their critics. The other three were sentenced to terms of from 20 years to death, but the death penalties were reduced to life imprisonment at the same time as Jiang Qing's reprieve.

All four are exempted from work, but they are isolated from each other and from the common criminals of the prison, Lu said.

"There is no special program for them," he continued. "But they are told to reform themselves. Jiang Qing is treated better than other prisoners."

At the start of her sentence she dressed in prison grab, "but now she wears her own clothes. It is not true, as some Western reports say, that she has lost her hair. She eats quite good food, including pork and fish dishes. If she is sick, she is given medical treatment, just as other prisoners are."

Asked the prospect for release of the four, or their followers, Lu said, "It depends on the situation. It must have the approval of the people. They must be re-educated. Many families were broken and many people killed by them. If they show repentance, they may be released earlier."

He said several supporters of the "Gang of Four" had been freed from a Shanghai prison recently after being "re-educated." Lu did not identify the freed prisoners, but one of them is believed to be Nancy Tang, who served as President Nixon's interpreter during his 1972 visit to Peking.

Wei, an electrician with a brilliant mind and a persuasive tongue, became the hero of a post-Mao generation of dissident youths who, ironically, exploited the freedoms granted by China's new leader Deng Xiaoping in 1978, using them to criticize Deng himself.

It was a tactical mistake. Twice purged and pilloried by Jiang Qing and the Red Guards during the Cultural Revolution, Deng and the other survivors of the extremist nightmare reacted with alarm. Deng publicly said that Wei should be severely punished.

The prosecution coldly ignored Wei's insistence, in a skilled personal defense, that he had never advocated the overthrow of the socialist system.

"The people are allowed to have different political views," said Lu, "but not to oppose the government, to advocate its overthrow. They have the freedom to think. But a line has to be drawn between speech and action. Wei organized a group whose aim was to overthrow the socialist system."

In prison, Wei works eight hours, sleeps eight and spends some of the remaining time watching TV, reading the newspapers or playing sports, Lu said.

"He can get time off for good behavior. But if he continues his counter-revolutionary activities, he will be punished. It is up to him."

A number of other former Red Guards who also advocated Western style democracy in activities centered around Peking's "Democracy Wall" have been sent to prison. A message subsequently smuggled out to Western correspondents by one of them asserted that prison conditions were brutal.

Lu reflected none of this.

"Justice," he said, "is getting better and better. Now we have democracy. There is room for improvement. The legal system needs to be strengthened. But we have a bright future."

Anita Navarro (right) and a friend scavenge the Starr County garbage dump for a living, but county commissioners say the dump is unsanitary and that they'll have to stop.

Dumps' scavengers face loss of their livelihood

RIO GRANDE CITY, Texas (AP) — Anita Navarro worries more about hunger than germs as she scavenges in Starr County's landfill. But officials have called it "unsanitary" and put off limits the sole source of income for some people in the nation's fifth poorest county.

"We're responsible for the dump and we could have a tremendous lawsuit if somebody gets hurt out there," said Starr County Judge Blas Chapa. "Another thing is it's very unsanitary."

The dump, a few miles north of the Rio Grande, attracts Mexican scavengers who work beside Navarro and her half-dozen friends. Their nationality may be different, but their needs are the same.

Navarro, 30, who said she works the dump because she can't find a job, is there by dawn each day to hunt for change and recyclable aluminum cans that often bring $50 a week, her family's only source of income.

"We find clothes for our children, toys, things you can't afford to buy that someone has thrown away. Sometimes you find a little bit of change. Today I found 65 cents and right now anything you find is helpful," said the single mother of five children aged 3 to 9. "My kids need something, even if it's only rags."

Starr County commissioners, under pressure from the state, voted last week to post "No Trespassing" signs and guards, and to fine anyone caught taking trash. But until she is thrown out, Navarro said she'll continue digging through the garbage-filled hole in the barren South Texas desert, where midday temperatures reach 100 degrees.

Waiting for the next truck to arrive at the dump, she sits in the makeshift shade of a cardboard lean-to and chats with friends in Spanish. Talk often turns to the constant quest for jobs.

"Starr County always has an astronomical unemployment rate, usually the highest in the state," said John Kruse of the Texas Employment Commission. Joblessness among the county's 30,000 residents is 25.3 percent, down from 51.2 percent earlier this year.

The winter freeze, which destroyed irrigated crops grown along the river and caused massive layoffs of farm workers, aggravated an already dismal economy, Kruse said.

The county's per-capita income is $4,389, compared with the national figure of $11,100.

Navarro said scavenging in the dump, although dirty, is better than her last job in a downtown cafe, where she earned $30 a week waiting tables and washing dishes. She said her employer was "mean" and that digging in trash has more dignity.

"I still apply for jobs," she said. "I speak English and can read and write. I've worked before in bars and stuff and I just applied to Dairy Queen. But in a small town like this there just isn't any work unless you're related to somebody rich or friends with a local politician."

Judge Chapa disagreed. "If you want to work, there's work," he said. "If she came to me I'd find her a job, like clearing one of the lots I sell. It's just easier getting things out of the dump."

Navarro said she has applied for welfare but needs copies of birth certificates from another state, which cost more than she can afford. She was advised to apply for aid as a migrant farm worker, "but I'm not a migrant and don't want to say I am," she said.

State health laws require garbage to be covered with dirt, and the State of Texas recently filed a lawsuit to get the county to comply with landfill regulations.

Navarro said she doesn't understand the sudden concern, but that when the sign is posted, she'll obey — along with the two families she lives with in a three-room house near the dump.

"I guess we'll just stay home," she said, "and try to figure out how to survive."

Electrical appliances kill when used in the bathroom

CHICAGO (AP) — Until waterproof electrical appliances are developed, the author of a study on bathtub electrocutions warns that such devices should be kept away from the tub or disconnected when not in use.

Between 1979 and 1982, 95 people were electrocuted while bathing — most of them children under age 5, according to Dr. Lawrence D. Budnick, who prepared the study for the national Centers for Disease Control.

"Children younger than 5 years 'had the greatest mortality rate (3.7 per 10 million population per year),' he said in his report in the Journal of the American Medical Association this week.

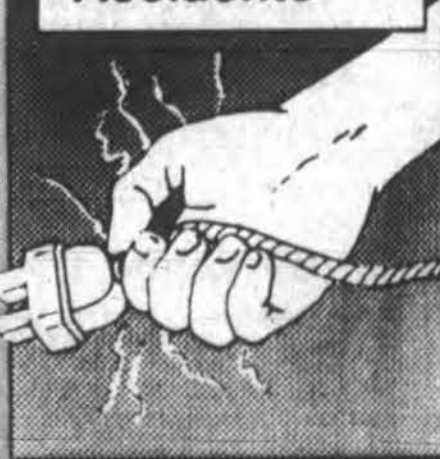

Hair dryers proved to be the most deadly appliance, causing more than half the deaths. Nearly two-thirds of the hair dryer deaths were among children under 10, the study shows.

Overall, bathtub electrocutions killed people ranging in age from 5 months to 76 years old. Among the children, four pairs of siblings were victims, Budnick said.

Television sets and electric wire and wiring systems caused the next greatest number of deaths.

Seven of the deaths were caused by lamps, one by a water heater and one by a fan, he said. Six other bathtub electrocutions lacked classification, Budnick said.

Electrocution Accidents

said. "Overall 4,662 years of potential life to age 65 years were lost" because of bathtub electrocutions, said Budnick, whose new study came from data collected by the U.S. Consumer Products Safety Commission.

"If one assumes not a single death in the bathtub involving an electric appliance should have occurred, then in this series at least 78... of the deaths were preventable," he said.

"Educational approaches directed towards parents and their children, although possibly helpful, are not the optimal solution to preventing bathtubrelated electric-current injuries and deaths," he said.

"Rather, passive methods, which protect the person automatically, regardless of individual action, are generally the most effective in preventing injuries," he said. "Such methods are being developed and investigated to reduce the incidence of deaths caused by electric products in the bathroom."

Until such devices become commonplace, Budnick said, electric appliances in the bathroom should be disconnected when not in use and kept away from children. They should never be used by people in wet bathtubs, he said.

Budnick is also the author of a toothpick study that appeared in the previous week's journal. That study showed that toothpicks injure at least 8,000 people annually in the United States. Young children suffer the most serious toothpick injuries, Budnick said.

Budnick said last week he did the toothpick study on his own time to avoid being considered for the "Golden Fleece Award," bestowed monthly by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., for government projects he considers blatantly useless or trivial.

Budnick, who now works for the public health department in Philadelphia, declined to answer repeated telephone calls this week.

State growing by leaps, bounds

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California will have nearly 12 million households by the year 2000, an increase of more than 36 percent over the 1980 total, state officials said Tuesday.

The Department of Finance's population research unit forecast that there would be 11,897,400 occupied dwelling units in the state by the turn of the century, compared to 8,672,900 four years ago. The unit said average household size was expected to drop from 2.67 persons per household to 2.59 in the year 2000, a drop of 3.4 percent.

Officials also predicted that: • Los Angeles County will have the largest number of households — 3,177,500 — at the turn of the century, while tiny Nevada County northeast of Sacramento will have the largest rate of growth, 135 percent. • Imperial County will have the biggest average household size, just over 3 people per dwelling unit, while San Francisco will have the lowest, 2.17.

• Households of people between the ages 15 and 34 are expected to decrease while the number of households with older Californians increase.

Inmates gather in a cellblock at the U.S. Penitentiary at Marion, Ill., before the current lockdown was instituted. AP Wirephoto

Warden defends prison lockdown

MARION, Ill. (AP) — The warden of the federal prison that replaced Alcatraz as the nation's toughest has no plans to lift a 10-month-old "lockdown," despite arguments that the restrictions are brutal and unnecessary.

Confining inmates to their cells is the best way to run "the worst of all prisons," said Jerry Williford, warden of the U.S. Penitentiary at Marion. He accused critics of misleading the public about prison conditions.

Williford said that of the 450,000 inmates in U.S. prisons, Marion holds the 350 deemed the most difficult to manage.

"Our adversaries portray these people as some little innocents" who are shuttled off to Marion because they spoke out about conditions at other prisons, Williford said.

"We have some that have spoken out, but that's not why they're here," Williford said. "They're here because these people are extremely aggressive ... the gang leaders, those kinds of people stabbing staff, stabbing inmates."

Jan Susler of the Marion Prisoners' Rights Project, based in Chicago, contends that the inmates are the targets of brutality.

"We've had information that beatings continue to go on and prisoners are being chained in their cages," she said. "We have a constitution that says if you're punished, it has to be justifiable and it has to be reasonable. In Marion, it seems like we have a little enclave where the Constitution does not apply."

Three guards and 24 inmates have been killed at Marion since it opened in 1963, the year before Alcatraz closed. The latest lockdown came after two guards in the highest-security cellblock were fatally stabbed and an inmate was slain.

After the slayings last October, most of Marion's 350 inmates were locked in their cells 23 hours a day, direct contact with visitors was ended, religious services halted, the dining hall closed, and exercise and recreation time stopped. Only B Cellblock, housing 48 honor prisoners, escaped the restrictions.

"We've started allowing recreation, letting them go to the gym. We've put law libraries in, put television in," Williford said. "It's being tempered as we go, but we will continue to run Marion in some form of lockdown for the majority of inmates."

Williford said that a social awareness program is being instituted for guards "so they'll look at these guys more as human beings than animals" and that 14 new guards are being hired to raise the total to 225.

Ms. Susler termed the changes "little crumbs" masking continued brutality. "They aren't changing the conditions — the forced idleness, the isolation and the dehumanization," she said.

The privately funded prisoners' rights group recently filed a lawsuit in federal court, contending there had been 90 instances since Oct. 27 in which guards beat or tortured inmates, sometimes in view of administrators.

"We're alleging the beatings are an attempt to impose control through a policy of terror and humiliation and force," said attorney Nancy Horgan. "We're also seeking an injunction to end the use of illegal rectal searches ... which the prisoners consider a form of homosexual rape."

Williford called the allegations "a slanderous attack ... an out-and-out lie," but he acknowledged that rectal searches are conducted when inmates return from court.

"It is an inhumane thing, but you only do it there there's an overriding security concern," he said. "We're successful in finding things ... in about 15 to 20 percent of the cases. And I'm not talking about hard drugs here. I'm talking about things that kill people: bullets, knives, hacksaw blades — even guns."

Williford said that Marion may not be "the best of prisons, as you would want to run one. But it allows the other ones to function much better."

"If you isolate those people out of the other prisons, you're able to ease up restrictions at those other ones," he said. "You put them here, put on tight controls, and then still try to run it as humanely as possible."

Some inmates seem content with that plan.

"Here, I'm with hard convicts, and I can handle that," said a member of the white supremacist Aryan Brotherhood, who is serving time for kidnapping and armed attempted escape. "If I go someplace else, there's a bunch of crazy young kids. Who wants that?"

Many, however, want to move: from the maximum security cellblock to the general population, from there to the honors B Cellblock, or from Marion to anywhere.

"I just had a guy who's locked down in the general population ask me if he could go to B unit," Williford said. "I looked at his jacket (file), went back to him and said, 'I just saw where you killed a staff member back in '81.' His comment was, 'How long are you going to hold that over my head?'"

The killing, in which a guard in Colorado was decapitated, was the inmate's fifth, and Williford said "it's just a question of when he kills again."

The warden acknowledged that lockdowns can be emotionally and mentally harmful and can lead to increased hostility, but he said that ending the restrictions to create a more open environment is not the answer.

"Every time we tried to, someone would get killed," he said.

Games: Less trash than was predicted

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Summer Olympics-generated 800 tons less trash than had been anticipated, but it was still two-thirds the amount Disneyland collects in a year and it will take another week to clean it all up, officials said.

"For some reason the spectators did not generate as much trash as our research showed," even though the Games attracted a record 5.8 million spectators, said John Lavender, Olympic project manager for Waste Management Inc.

Research was based on litter left by crowds at the annual Rose Bowl college football game and the Los Angeles Raiders football games.

Projections were that the litter left at Games venues and villages would be about 4,100 tons, or the equivalent of annual garbage from a city of 46,000.

"We don't know if it was the type of people attending the Games or if there was so much going on that nobody wanted to miss the action," Lavender said.

He noted that at UCLA's Pauley Pavilion, spectators watching the gymnastics competition barely left their seats.

Waste Management Inc. purchased 17 new front-loading garbage trucks worth $1.5 million, and 300 new containers. Fifty school teachers were hired as drivers to supplement the regular crew of trash collectors.

The 90,000-seat Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum averaged about 60 tons of trash each day, Lavender said.

World's deepest cave might just be in Mexico?

Cavers equipped with SCUBA gear, tons of equipment, explore tunnels

EDITOR'S NOTE: Arnold, an AP reporter who covers the entertainment industry in Los Angeles, is a cave explorer in his spare time. He recently returned from filming a caving expedition in Mexico and filed this report.

HUAUTLA DE JIMENEZ, Mexico (AP) — A multi-national team of speleologists using untried underground camping techniques and exotic diving equipment has found a miles-long labyrinth of tunnels the explorers believe will lead to the world's deepest cave.

The discovery, which makes Indiana Jones' cinematic adventures look like child's play, was made during a recent three-month expedition to a remote, jungle-covered region in the Mexican state of Oaxaca.

To probe the previously uncharted Cueva de la Pena Colorada (Cave of the Colored Wall), the explorers from the United States, Mexico and England carried full SCUBA diving gear to swim through submerged tunnels that repeatedly interrupted dry, air-filled passages.

Using powerful dive lights specially designed by the General Electric Corp., the speleologists — who prefer to be called "cavers" — navigated more than 5,000 feet of underwater tunnels as much as 50 feet in diameter.

In between the submerged passages, called "sumps," the explorers mapped nearly four miles of giant hallways while moving tons of diving gear, ropes, lights, food and camping equipment across lakes, along steep rockfalls and up and down shafts hundreds of feet deep.

The cavers spent a total of 23 days in two underground camps, probing dead ends and large chambers hundreds of feet high and advancing to a point nearly three miles from the cave's entrance. In the sumps, the cavers often groped along thin nylon safety lines in zero-visibility conditions when the waters clouded up with silt.

"It was the most technically difficult cave exploration project yet undertaken," said expedition co-leader Bill Stone, 31, of Derwood, Md. "This was the borderline. Nobody is going to be using these advanced caving techniques for the next 10 years."

The expedition was the first exploration that required all team members to be proficient cave divers in order to reach a "dry" exploration front, Stone noted. It also was the first time a caving team established long-duration underground camps beyond flooded passages.

"We did over 600 cave dives and there was not one failure that would be considered serious," Stone noted. "All this can be done safely. This is not a stunt."

The trip was not without bad moments, however. Stone's wife, Pat, said during one trip through 600-foot-long Sump 3, her air supply suddenly stopped.

"My tank bumped the ceiling and it turned off my air," she said. But the day was saved when she began "buddy-breathing" with her diving partner.

Most of the diving apparatus was built by Sherwood Selpac company of Lockport, N.Y., based on recommendations from the NASA Crew Systems Division in Houston, Texas. Dr. John Zumrick, assistant medical officer for the U.S. Navy Experimental Diving Unit in Panama City, Fla., coordinated design.

The prestigious Explorers Club of New York was the expedition's primary sponsor.

Besides the Stones and Zumrick, the team members were: co-leader Bob Jefferys of Torrington, Conn.; John Evans, Acton, Mass.; Gary Storrick, Export, Pa.; Dr. Noel Sloan, M.D., Indianapolis, Ind.; Clark Pittman, Meadowbrook, Pa.; Sergio Zambrano, Mexico City; Angel Soto Porrua, Mexico City; Robert Parker, Clifton, Bristol, Great Britain; Mark Tillman, San Diego and Jay Arnold, Glendale.

The cavers had hoped to connect their discovery to the previously known Huautla Cave System about six miles away. But survey data showed the cavers fell 3½ miles short of their goal.

A link with the Huautla system would have made a cave dozens of miles long, with a world record depth of about 5,000 feet when measuring from its highest to lowest points, Stone said.

The world's deepest cave is the 4,775-foot-deep Reseau Jean Bernard in France, Stone said.

The Huautla Cave System had been explored to a depth of 4,100 feet — the world's fifth deepest — in 1980 following a 15-year effort in which explorers using thousands of feet of rope gradually followed the cave down shaft after inky shaft through a powerful underground river to a terminal sump.

In 1981, Stone dove 940 feet into the sump to the safe limit of his compact air supply. The sump continued deep and dark beyond the beams of his dive lights.

That same year, Stone and his wife discovered the Cueva de la Pena Colorada while searching for cave entrances on the surface. Stone vowed to demonstrate that the Huautla system waters flowed into the newly discovered cave.

This year's expedition, which ended in June, was stopped by Sump 7 in Cueva de la Pena Colorada. To enter Sump 7, the cavers had to don full diving gear and then rappel on rope 190 feet down a large shaft. Sump 7 then plunged down another 140 feet underwater before leveling off in big flooded passage.

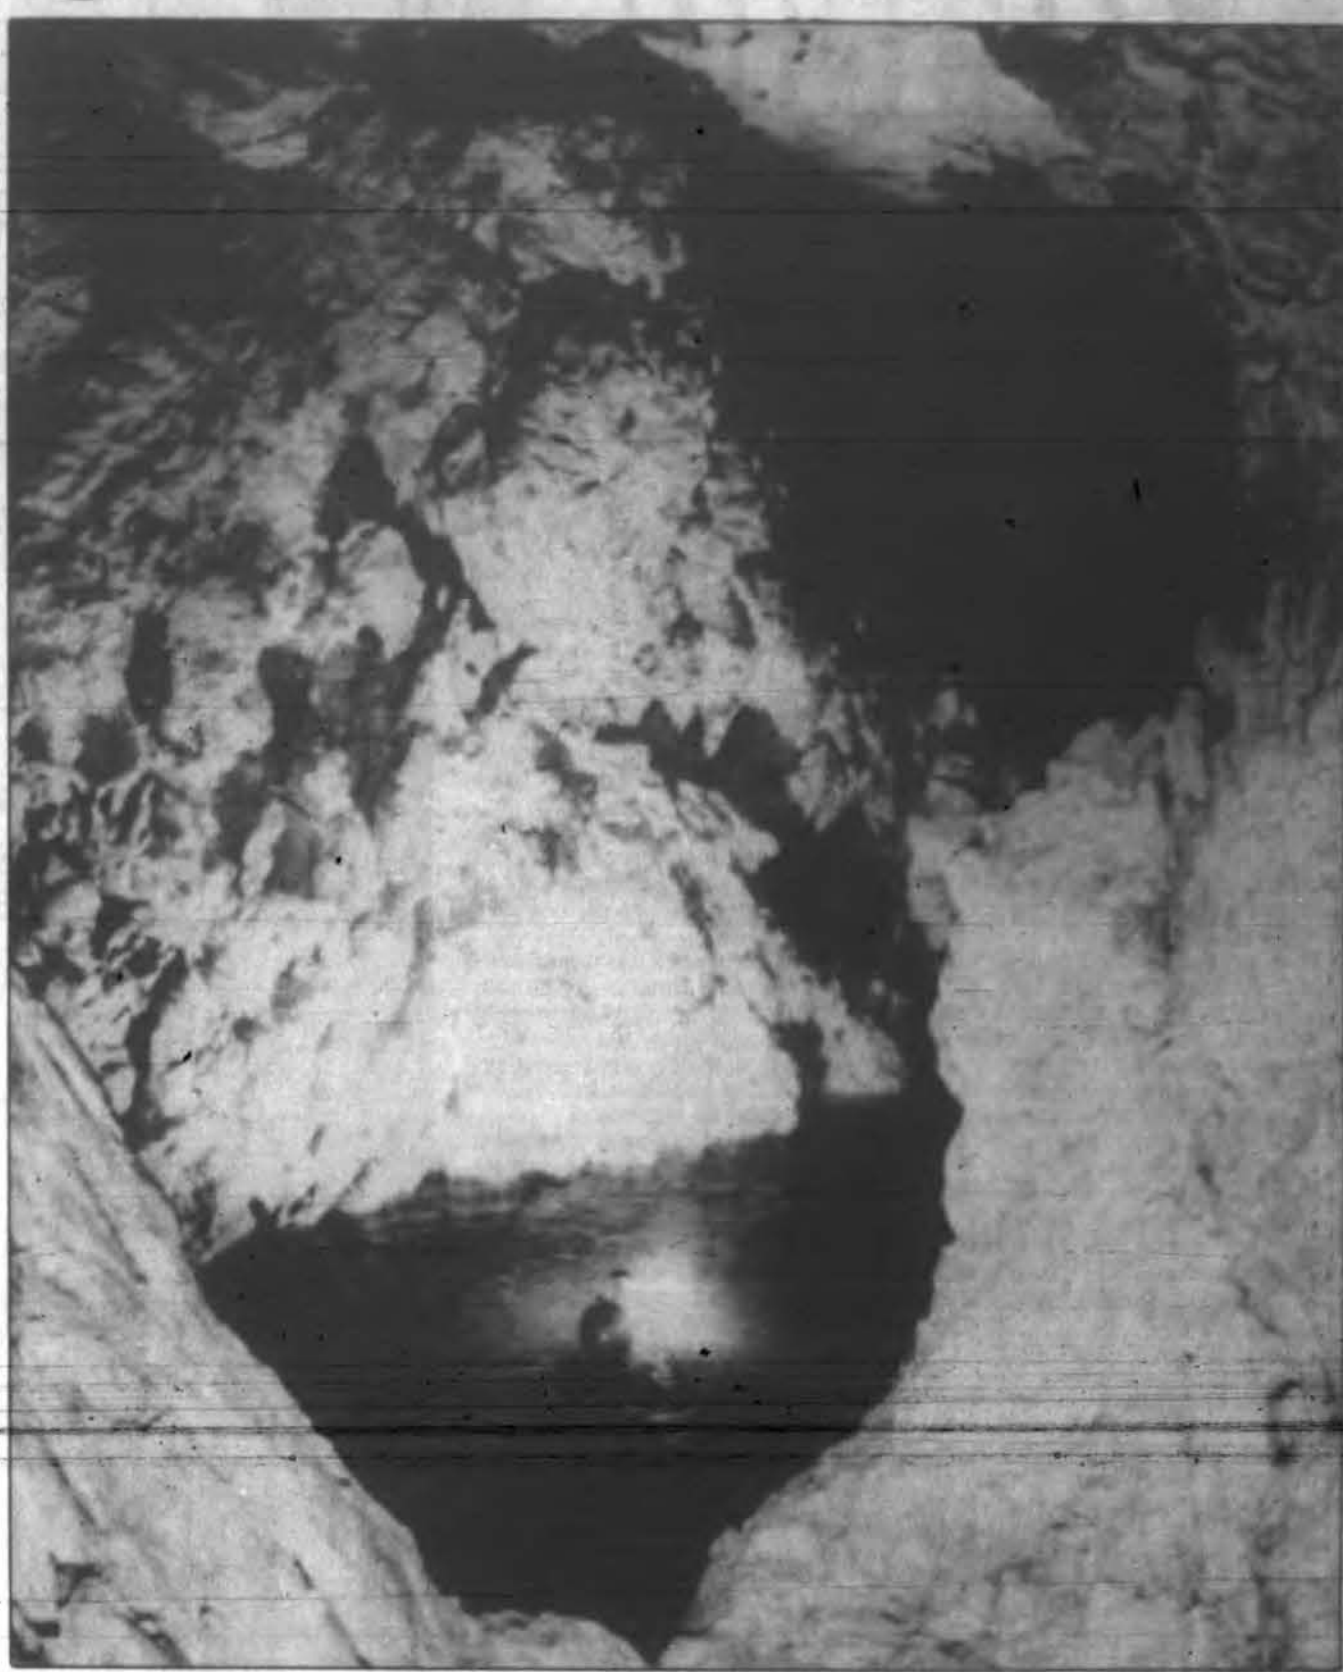

Zumrick, an expert cave diver with little climbing and rappelling experience, said he felt "pushed out to the limit" by such caving.

With their lines of supply stretched dangerously thin, the divers called it quits after probing Sump 7 for several hundred feet. The team's 72 experimental, fiberglass-composite air tanks designed by the Acurex Aeronautics company of Mountain View, Calif., had not been enough.

"Had we gone another dive beyond that, come into air and come to Sump 8, we would have had to carry 120 tanks," Stone calculated. "If we had gone to Sump 9, we would have been looking at 256 tanks."

Stone said he planned to return to NASA for advice in designing a breathable nitrogen-oxygen-helium diving system that will allow 60-hour explorations without recharging air supplies.

"We're looking at a 30-pound backpack, computer-controlled, with double backup systems," Stone said. "That (backups) is something we've got to have. After all, we're not adventurers, we're explorers. That's a misconception people often have."

Speleologist Dr. Noel Sloan illuminates a passage in miles-long labyrinth of tunnels.

Latest craze to hit the fans Moscow is pizza parlors

MOSCOW (AP) — Waiters in high-heeled Italian boots serve bottles of imported red wine in the dimly lit restaurant. Well-dressed young customers at tables covered with red-and-white checkered cloths listen to Michael Jackson's "Thriller" and enjoy Moscow's latest gastronomic craze — pizza, Soviet-style.

At least 15 pizza parlors have opened in the capital's downtown area and others are springing up in its suburbs, drawing thousands of customers daily for lunch and dinner.

Although the pizza varies in quality and occasionally is topped with Russian herring and smoked salmon in place of anchovies and other typical Italian ingredients, pizza parlors are especially popular among young Muscovites, offering an alternative to the standard fare and atmosphere of most Moscow restaurants.

Customers are willing to wait for an hour to get a table, perhaps drink Italian wine and enjoy the recorded music of Culture Club and Pink Floyd instead of the loud bands that blare Russian pop at other restaurants.

"It's difficult for young people in Moscow because there aren't a lot of bars and discos. The pizza parlors are somewhere we can go to make new friends," said one young woman in a pizza parlor a few blocks from KGB (secret-police) headquarters. She would not give her name.

Since 1980, the Rome-based company Italtrade has signed a $40,000 contract with the Soviet Ministry of Foreign Trade to supply, for 10 parlors, pizza ovens, machines to make pizza pans, dough kneaders and a course in pizza-making by an Italian chef. Several Yugoslavian and Finnish firms have opened others.

Despite their popularity, Moscow's pizza parlors suffer the same kinds of shortages other restaurants do and have trouble finding the necessary pizza ingredients, according to Maria Torrieri, spokeswoman for Italtrade.

The shortages have produced some odd combinations, prompting one Italian resident of Moscow to comment, "There really isn't much Italian left in these pizzas."

Because mozzarella cheese is not available, Soviet pizzas are made with sulguni cheese, a semi-soft white cheese from the southern republic of Georgia.

Shortages of tomato sauce and oregano sometimes force the pizza parlors to remove pizza from their menus. Instead, they offer "calzones" — large doughy popovers stuffed with cheese and bits of chicken.

Wine imported from Naples and Budapest, Hungary, is often in short supply and customers sometimes have to choose between cognac or mango juice with their pizza.

Despite the shortages and long lines, the pizza parlors are popular because of their intimate, cozy atmosphere and moderately priced menus on which four people can wine and dine for about 13 rubles, the equivalent of $15.

The better class restaurants offer meals at about 30 rubles ($36), almost one-sixth of the average monthly wage of 180 rubles.

Conversation over dinner is difficult in many Soviet restaurants because of the loud rock 'n' roll bands.

Coppertone's Miss finally loses suit

MIAMI (AP) — Little Miss Coppertone may have blushed with embarrassment but you can blame mechanical failure and not the sun for her untimely over-exposure.

Since 1960, the modest Miss and her dog have welcomed drivers to Miami who enter by Interstate 95.

Last weekend, however, the black dog surprised itself by pulling the suit out of her hand, leaving the pigtailed little girl's behind exposed to motorists.

Then again on Wednesday, the bathing suit fell out of the dog's mouth and slipped off, swinging down.

"He let go, lost his grip," said Norian Retalic, 23, the sign repairman who came to the rescue after both unprecedented pants-droppings.

The dog, jaws firmly clenched around the bathing suit, slipped off its track as a result of vibration from wind and rain Saturday night, Retalic said. Wednesday, some screws came loose, separating the bathing suit from the puppy's mouth and letting it drop, he said.

Objects to Basile choice as Coast vice chancellor

To the Editor:
Never have I read a local news story that has angered me so much as the front page article in the Friday, Aug. 3, edition, which informs us that teachers' union president Phillis Basile could very well become the next vice chancellor for human resources of the Coast College District.

No matter how much the union-backed board blares that "this is no political payoff," their early political embrassos with Ms. Basile stridently belie any such claim. I find it fascinating, too, that board member Ruiz is a union activist at the college where he is a counselor.

They say that Basile's appointment would do much to ease the tense relationship between faculty and administration. Such a spurious claim. The board already has excised the top administration or forced them elsewhere within the institution. So tensions are diminished already with last year's malcontents.

The board claims that this OCC economics instructor is ready to assume a position that pays not the $56,000 as mentioned in your article, but $63,000 very quietly approved for the position.

This brings me to another point of which the taxpayers, especially the apathetic ones, need to be aware: observers of the college district will recall the repeated claims that this new board would abolish the so-called "secret" closed sessions held by the previous board. Let it be known that this board conducts more "secret" sessions than the former board ever did, plus they are careful not to publicize their decisions. Let it be known, too, by the apathetic voters that this board often calls several "special board meetings" in an evening, so that they get paid for each rather than for just one. Though not illegal, it certainly is a serious violation of the spirit of honesty. The previous board often worked well into the night and received minimal pay for their dedication. Does the public realize, also, that the board has granted themselves healthy mileage allowances?

The true colors of this bought-and-paid-for board of trustees are emerging. And the non-voting taxpayers are the ones who provided the "crayons" for this board which seems bent on erasing all the good created by the former chancellor and board.

The new board majority consisting of Conrad Nordquist, Armando Ruiz and Nan Pollard were all in favor of the recall effort on the former board. Let me say that if Basile is appointed and they continue their secret policy-making activities, they will rapidly find themselves on the receiving end of the recall petitions as well as subjects of a Grand Jury investigation. And though I sign this letter individually, I am certainly not alone in this sentiment.

Cabbage Patch craziness

To the Editor:
I cannot believe that you gave space to the story of the "kidnapped Cabbage Patch."

I'm afraid that I, and I am sure that many others, cannot feel one bit of sympathy for "Joyce Waldschmidt." In fact I feel nothing but disgust.

It is because of people like her with her six dolls and her daughter's team captain with 28 that many people, including myself, cannot find any of them. They are the reason the Cabbage Patch dolls are being sold on the "black market" at outrageous prices.

I have been looking for almost a year for Cabbage Patch dolls for my three grandchildren. My name is on all kinds of lists, shopped every store that carries them, and still have no Cabbage Patch kids.

Joyce's statement about losing one of them was like losing her real children, is ludicrous.

It is too bad that these people trying to make a quick dollar wouldn't leave the dolls for the children and make their money some other way.

Teacher opts out as system erodes

By LINDA RENNA

Dear Board of Trustees:

I have been a teacher in the Capistrano Unified School District for 14 years. During that time I have witnessed a steady erosion of the emphasis placed on quality in our educational system. The emphasis increasingly seems to be to get the greatest number of students through the system for the least amount of money. The classroom teacher is the only person standing between the students and this trend toward mediocrity. Unfortunately, so many demands are now made of these teachers, that it becomes more difficult each year to achieve the excellence in our students that we desire.

During the last 14 years I have seen the reduction or total loss of: special education, for troubled students, classroom aides, noon supervision aides, classroom music teachers, librarians, nurses, counselors, etc. The classroom teacher has had to assume responsibility for all of these duties. At the same time, the class sizes have increased steadily. To make matters worse, the policy of staffing at a maximum number of students per teacher ratio has created an increasing need for combination classes. Although these classes make a teacher's job far more difficult, no one seems concerned about the effects combinations have on the teacher and students involved.

A typical elementary school teacher will prepare nine to fifteen different lessons each day for all the groups and subjects that the teacher deals with. A teacher of a combination will have to do even more. Is it any wonder few teachers can find the time to develop true expertise in such difficult, but vital, subject areas as math, science and computer science? This is not the fault of the teachers. The fault lies with a system that has so burdened its most valuable resource, its excellent teachers, that they are being pushed toward mediocrity. Even those teachers who would like to expand their skills are denied permission to attend productive, worthwhile workshops and conferences. To make matters worse, our veteran teachers are encouraged to leave after 12 years because of the structure of the increment scale. Their expertise leaves with them.

The state's solution of adding extra minutes and days to the school year will not stop this trend toward mediocrity because it doesn't address any of the problems facing the classroom teacher. Until these problems are dealt with, more and more excellent teachers will be faced with making a choice between these three alternatives: 1. Lighten the work load by expecting less from the students. 2. Continue with a work load that is detrimental to both physical and mental health. 3. Seek a career that does not require so much personal sacrifice.

For myself, the first alternative is unacceptable. I can no longer afford to tolerate the second alternative as I have been, so I find I have to choose the third one. Effective at the end of the '83-'84 school year, I shall terminate my teaching career.

While for myself, any changes will come too late, for the sake of our children and quality education, I sincerely hope the board will consider what I've said and address these problems before it's too late to repair the harm done.

Myriad housing violations laid at HUD official's door

Lack of hot water in rental units puts him into hot water

WASHINGTON — An official of the Department of Housing and Urban Development has an outstanding bench warrant against him that calls for his arrest in connection with housing code violations on property he formerly owned in Washington, D.C.

The bench warrant was issued in District of Columbia Superior Court last Oct. 28 when the HUD official failed to appear in court for a "status hearing" in the case. It orders the U.S. marshal "to arrest Kenneth F. Holbert and bring him forthwith to answer the information charging him" with failure to provide hot water for tenants of a seven-unit apartment building on 33 occasions from November, 1982, to April, 1983.

Holbert, 59, an attorney, earns $66,000 a year as a special assistant to HUD's general deputy assistant secretary for fair housing and equal opportunity. When my associate Tony Capaccio contacted Holbert at his $230,000 suburban Maryland home, the HUD official expressed mild interest.

"I thank you for bringing it to my attention," he said. "If someone was looking for me with a warrant, I'd be concerned." Generally, the federal marshals are too busy with more serious criminal offenses to pursue the huge backlog of outstanding bench warrants.

"All the problems I had with the property were solved" as of March 1983, Holbert said, explaining: "From that point on I was only concerned with selling the property." In fact, he said, "from 1979, after I had an agent, I wasn't involved on a day-to-day basis with the building."

Official documents show that Holbert sold the three-story brick building in February 1984. Since 1981, the records show, he had earned anywhere from $5,000 to $15,000 a year in rental income on the property.

The outstanding bench warrant stems from a case filed in April 1983, by the District of Columbia corporation counsel's office, alleging the 33 instances of failure to provide hot water in violation of the district's housing code. Holbert is among 28 current and former landlords listed in the "Major Violators Summary" issued by the city's housing enforcement authorities.

Holbert's current problems weren't his first run-in with housing regulations. In 1980, tenants in the building filed a petition with housing authorities charging Holbert with rent overcharges and code violations.

An independent examiner agreed with most of the tenants' allegations, and ordered Holbert to pay $2,490 in adjustments. The December 1980, decision stated that Holbert's "failure to provide the proper heating and hot water during various periods from 1978 to the present are housing code violations of such substantial nature as to significantly affect the health, safety and security of tenants."

Nine months later, another examiner concluded that Holbert had "reduced (tenant-) related services and facilities by allowing substantial housing code violations to exist over a prolonged period of time."

HUD officials were aware of Holbert's problems. In fact, they took the unusual step of holding up final approval of his last three annual financial disclosure statements until he provided evidence that numerous code violations discovered in 1980 had been corrected.

The evidence Holbert offered was a single-page check-off form from a city inspector, listing correction of 36 minor violations ranging from peeling paint to loose plaster, leaky sinks and dirty floors. The more serious charges lodged against him were not mentioned. But Holbert's disclosure forms were finally OK'd.

Marriage good for ladies' looks

Madame, did your appearance improve after you got married? When pollsters put that query to a sizable sampling of ladies nationwide, most said yes.

Most people who fly even though it scares them won't admit the fear until they step off the airplane.

A columnist in Albany, N.Y., wrote an unflattering piece about New York Gov. Mario Cuomo's dog. The Governor responded: "I read the column about Ginger, and I want you to know she thinks of you as a fire hydrant with a tie."

"The Lord's Prayer" appears vari-ously twice in the Bible, but nowhere therein is it called "The Lord's Prayer."

Q. What's the sexiest fragrance? A. Musk. Or so says a bi-opsychologist named Dr. Mary Ellen O'Connor at the University of Tulsa. In fact, says she, it's the only odor demonstrated to attract sexually.

Even if you're never sick a day in your life, your biological clocks will limit how old you can grow. And the normal top limit, medics say, is 118 years.

Pollsters have proved that the great majority of New Yorkers can't name the only state in the union that ends with the letter "k."

When seated in a public place, most any man or woman feels a mite uncomfortable when a stranger takes a seat quite close. Curiously, though, the man feels more uncomfortable when the stranger sits directly across from him, and the woman feels more uncomfortable when the stranger sits right beside her.

PATRICK BUCHANAN
columnist

Taxes can't be kept secret

Issue threatens to hurt Ferraro's credibility as veep

If President Ferraro returned from Moscow, having failed to win agreement on a mutual and verifiable nuclear freeze, would her party and nation accept the explanation: "Well, you know those Russian men?"

Likely not. If Geraldine Ferraro cannot in three weeks persuade John to make public his tax returns, how is she going to persuade that old Stalinist Andrei Gromyko to abandon the Soviet drive for strategic superiority?

What this issue of Geraldine's finances is coming down to is the issue that it should: Is this woman remotely qualified to be president of the United States?

Right now, Ferraro is attempting to have the best of two separate rolls. On the one hand, she wishes us to believe she is the tough-as-nails prosecutor who "put my share of criminals behind bars." On the other hand, she is the passive, demure wife, who cannot be expected to overrule the master of the house.

Excuse me, but the refusal of John Zaccaro to release his tax returns has the distinct aroma of Fulton Fish Market. It is simply not credible that Zaccaro would risk his wife's historic opportunity to be the first woman vice president and, perhaps, president of the United States, because disclosure might cost him a competitive advantage he enjoys in the tenement business in Chinatown and Little Italy. From the pictures of the buildings Zaccaro owns and rents, he is not running the Trump tower.

Alternately, insisting that her stubborn Italian husband will not give up the tax data, and that a few journalists and Republicans are out to get her, Ferraro told a Texas congressional delegation she was keeping a list: "I'm not going to get mad; I'm going to get even." (Given some of the tenants to whom husband John rents space, the threat has a certain credibility.) But the lady doth protest too much.

If Nelson Rockefeller and Gerald Ford can be stripped naked, financially, before being elevated to the vice presidency, then Ferraro — a great champion of equality for women — is entitled to no special exemption.

If the alleged "mob connections" of the family business of Labor Secretary Ray Donovan can have that Reaganite Cabinet member put through two years of special hell, how does Ferraro — a champion of fairness — contend her husband's business is not fair game?

The American people have a right to know if John and Geraldine are enjoying their affluent country club life — with two vacation homes and the children in private schools — because of the rent receipts from the lucrative pornography business of Sam (The Plumber) DiCavalcante and the Gambino mob.

Painful as what is coming is going to be for Walter Mondale and Ferraro, and unpleasant as it will be to witness, there is a rough justice here.

Post-Watergate, the liberal Democrats, posturing as the party of reform that had cleansed America, wrote all manner of exacting and intrusive federal regulations and laws. The purposes were twofold: To exhibit the superior morality of the progressive Democrats to Republicans, so many of whom were mired in the sordid pursuit of business and profit. Second, to serve as a permanent gallows, upon which occasionally to hoist some offender, for the most modest of infractions and transgressions. Ray Donovan, Bill Casey, Dick Allen, Ed Moses — the list goes on. The whole enterprise was about to provide Mondale with the sharpest of his cutting issues: The "sleaze" charge against the administration that lacked the requisite "sensitivity" to ethical concerns.

Now, the man who helped erect the guillotine, to behead the rich and uncaring aristocrats of the Republican Party, how does he feel today to see patriotess Geraldine herself being rudely hoisted up on one of the tumbrils for the long ride down to Revolutionary Square?

Brown's speed puts some beef in Ram victory

By CURT SEEDEN
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

It was Brown vs. Hayes Saturday night in the 58-yard dash at Anaheim Stadium.

That's Ron Brown, the Olympic sprinter who looked at home in with No. 89 on the back of his Ram uniform. But he was not racing Bob Hayes.

Rather it was Gary Hayes, a defensive back for the Green Bay Packers who couldn't keep up with the gold medal sprinter.

Used as a decoy during his first series of downs as a professional football player, Brown sprinted down the sideline leaving Hayes way behind to snatch a 58-yard pass from Jeff Kemp much to the delight of 41,185 fans in the third quarter of the Rams' 27-24 victory over the Packers.

Brown's crowd-pleasing reception quickly overshadowed a near-amazing rushing effort by teammates Eric Dickerson and Barry Redden who combined for 169 yards on just 19 carries.

Dickerson, seeing his first extensive playing time in an NFL preseason game, carried the ball 14 times for 107 yards (7.64 average) while Redden picked up 62 yards on five plays for a 12.4 average.

But the man in the spotlight was Brown — all because of one catch.

"If his production per play continues, he's going to have an outstanding rookie year," understated Ram Coach John Robinson afterward.

"Brown has only had about one-third of one day's practice," Robinson continued. "But it's time for him to go and he's off to a good start."

The Rams, you might recall, acquired the rights to negotiate with Brown on April 27 by sending their second round draft pick to the Cleveland Browns. Brown chose to remain an amateur, though, and went on to beat Carl Lewis three times during the indoor track season before joining Lewis in their Olympic glory a few weeks ago.

A defensive back-turned-wide receiver, Brown played at Arizona State and helped the Sun Devils defeat Oklahoma in the Fiesta Bowl.

But with his college days and Olympic days behind him, he will now turn his attention to leaving defensive backs behind — just as he did with Green Bay's Hayes.

"It was a good feeling," Brown

Coliseum gets thumbs up from all but...

Nobody came in on the noon balloon from Saskatoon and asked me, but...

•For all of the millions of Olympic fans raving about the beauty of the Los Angeles Coliseum, only one man knocks the joint and that is Raiders owner Al Davis who has only one small complaint... it is no good, as it is, for football.

•If you thought the consideration "undisclosed draft choice" was not the key part of the deal that sent wide receiver Preston Dennard to Buffalo, consider that corner Chris Williams did not survive the Rams' next cut.

•Quote of the year from the A's Joe Morgan, who many say will be the next manager of Oakland, "A guy hits .300 and makes a million dollars a year on a three-year contract and doesn't do anything until the third year so he can sign another one... As a manager you have to accept that, but I can't."

•What is basketball doing as an Olympic sport, anyway?... The only thing proved in the 1984 Games was that Bobby Knight, for some reason, wants to be the new Woody Hayes.

•Rams wide receiver Ron Brown, the Olympic gold medalist, says he wants to develop his own style as a receiver but he should listen to Coach Jimmy Raye who will teach him the C.T.B.A.H.O.I. system... That's "catch the ball and hang onto it."

•Second best quote of the year came from 74-year-old Gabe Paul, stepping down as club president as the Cleveland Indians changed hands, "We didn't win enough games."

•Jerry Quarry and Deacon Jones

RAIDERS, MIAMI VIE

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Miami Dolphins haven't had much success against the Los Angeles Raiders over the years, especially in games played in California. They hope to change that trend on today when the defending Super Bowl champion Raiders and defending AFC champion Dolphins will square off in a National Football League preseason game at the Coliseum at 1.

The Raiders hold a commanding 13-3-1 lead in the series against the Dolphins, including post-season games.

The Raiders are 9-0 in games played in California between the teams, including a 27-14 triumph at the Los Angeles Coliseum last Sept. 19.

Trevino holding on to 1-shot lead

Massive lead lost, but PGA's leader holds on to edge

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — From a potential rout, a romping runaway by Lee Trevino, it became a race.

The 44-year-old Trevino, playing about as well as possible, suddenly squandered two strokes of a once-commanding lead in the placid pond by the 18th green and opened the gates for a host of challengers going into today's final round of the 66th PGA National Championship.

"I hit it in the water but it didn't dampen anything," Trevino insisted Saturday after he'd salvaged a third round 67 despite the closing double bogey that trimmed his margin to one slender shot.

"That's history," Trevino said of the shot from a fairway bunker that found the pond and changed the face of the tournament.

"I got greedy," he said. "Now, with a one-shot lead, I can't be conservative. I have to keep on playing the way I've been playing all week, hitting the driver off the tee and going for the flag."

But there was no question that the closing lapse put the tournament in a different perspective.

A brilliant 30 on the front side put Trevino four shots in front of the field. And Lee, grim-faced in pursuit of his first title in three full seasons, held that margin most of the hot, humid, hazy day.

But the water shot changed things. Instead of having two players within striking distance, he now has at least seven, possibly more.

"The conditions are perfect for somebody to shoot a 65 and take the whole enchilada," said Trevino, who completed three trips over the deep, wily, punishing rough on the Shoal Creek Club course in 204, 12-under-par.

His two closest pursuers, old friend and golfing foe Gary Player, and the dangerous Lanny Wadkins, agreed.

"I'm gonna make him play tomorrow," promised Wadkins, the 1977 PGA title-holder.

"It'll take a good driving round by whoever's close to win it," said Wadkins, who chipped in for an eagle-3 on the 11th and saved par after bouncing one out of the water on the 17th on the way to his 68 and 205 total.

"Anybody within seven shots can still win," said Player, a 48-year-old

Lee Trevino

South African who ran a 50-foot putt through 15 feet of fringe and into the cup as the key shot in a round of 69 that left him two behind at 206. "The only dogleg putt I ever had," Player said.

Tommy Nakajima of Japan, now a regular on the American PGA tour, and Larry Mize were next at 207. Each had a third-round 67.

Gary Hallberg and veteran Ray Floyd, twice a winner of this title, each had a 68 and were at 208, very much within striking distance.

Seve Ballesteros of Spain, the British Open champion who has made an art-form of escape for apparent disaster, made great saves on both the 17th and 18th for a 70 that left him at 209.

Defending champion Hal Sutton, playing a couple of hours in front of Trevino, scored seven birdies and an eagle on the way to a 64 that lifted him to a 211 total, five under par but seven strokes back going into the final round.

"It could have been in the 50's," said the 1983 Player of the Year, who missed five putts of 12 feet or less. "That's about as good as I've played all year."

Jack Nicklaus, a 5-time PGA champ and the architect of this course that is being played in professional competition for the first time, had a 71 that left him at 218, two over par.

And Tom Watson found that he'll have to wait at least one more year to complete a career sweep of all the game's major titles. Watson, winner of five British Opens, two Masters

Phils rally for 6-5 win

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mike Schmidt's two-run double highlighted a four-run eighth inning to rally the Philadelphia Phillies past the Los Angeles Dodgers 6-5 Saturday night.

The Dodgers held a 3-2 lead entering the eighth. Rookie reliever Ken Howell, 2-3, gave up one-out singles to Greg Gross and Von Hayes, and Schmidt followed with his two-run double.

Jerry Reuss replaced Howell and, after walking Garry Maddox, pinch hitter John Wockenfuss singled to score Schmidt and send Maddox to third. Ozzie Virgil's sacrifice fly brought home Maddox with the fourth run of the inning.

Jerry Koosman, 13-10, earned the victory, scattering six hits over seven innings. He struck out seven and walked one.

Reliever Larry Andersen took over in the eighth and was tagged for a two-run homer by Pedro Guerrero, his 10th. Al Holland took over and recorded his 26th save.

Opening Ceremonies — Soviet Union style

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union, with thousands of its athletes on display, officially opened the international Friendship '84 Games at Lenin Stadium Saturday with a kaleidoscope of choreographed gymnasts and socialist ideology.

Girls in white leotards spun red and white beachballs in unison after a parade of Soviet athletes goose-stepped onto the field before a nearly full 103,000-seat stadium.

The games began Friday in Moscow with men's track and field events, drawing about a one-third capacity crowd for most of the day. Women's track and field competition began Thursday in Czechoslovakia and boxing was to get under way today in Cuba.

Soviet Defense Minister Dmitri F. Ustinov and Mikhail Gorbachev, considered No. 2 in the Kremlin hierarchy, were among five full Politburo members and other Soviet dignitaries attending.

President Konstantin U. Chernenko, who was reported a month ago to have left Moscow for his summer vacation, was not present for the nearly two-hour spectacle. Grigory Romanov, Vitaly Vorotnikov and Viktor Grishin, the Moscow party chief, were other full Politburo members attending.

Dozens of children in traditional costumes of the 15 Soviet republics ended one routine in the performance by rushing up to the Soviet officials' box with flowers. A smiling Gorbachev gave several of the grammar school-age girls a quick kiss in return for the gift.

Young men in blue overalls sported orange hardhats and matching barbells for one act, while another squadron of young performers waved crepe-paper wheat stalks and created a human weaving machine by ducking and turning to mesh their colored banners.

Carl Lewis: He's fourth in 300 race

LONDON (AP) — Sprinter Carl Lewis, who won four gold medals at the Los Angeles Olympics, finished fourth while fellow American Kirk Baptiste set a world record of 31.70 seconds in a 300-meter race Saturday at a Crystal Palace track meet.

Britain's Todd Bennett finished second in 32.14 and American Walter McCoy, who clocked 32.16, just beat Lewis to the tape for third place.

Lewis' time was 32.18, two hundredths of a second behind the old world mark of 32.16 set by American Mel Lattany at Gateshead, England, in July 1983.

Baptiste, a 21 year-old student from Texas, powered through to win in 31.70 seconds to break the record of 32.16 set last year at Gateshead, England, by America's Mel Lattany.

Angel Gary Pettis steals a base on Baltimore Saturday, but the Orioles prevailed, 1-0, to drop Angels to the .500 level.

O's give Angels O's

BALTIMORE (AP) — Manager Joe Altobelli of the Baltimore Orioles was almost caught on the horns of a dilemma.

But with the potential tying run on base in the Angels' ninth, Orioles starter Mike Boddicker completed his second straight game by retiring Doug DeCinces and Brian Downing as the Orioles defeated the Angels 1-0 Saturday.

The game's only run scored in the first when Mike Witt, the hard-luck loser was charged with and error on an easy tapper back to the mound.

"Downing usually hits me pretty good, but so does Lynn," Boddicker said of Fred Lynn, who had a single and drew the second of his walks with one out in the ninth.

The count on DeCinces, who has driven in 22 runs this month, reached 3-2 before he grounded out on a run-and-hit play, with Lynn moving to second.

Then Downing, who already had two hits, popped out to end the game.

Had either DeCinces or Downing reached, Altobelli would have had to decide whether to let Boddicker face the left-handed-hitting Reggie Jackson or bring in left-handed reliever Tippy Martinez.

"I definitely would have gone out to the mound," said Altobelli, who indicated he hadn't decided in advance what he would have done. "It wouldn't have been easy to take him out."

Boddicker, 15-8, allowed four hits, struck out two batters and walked three en route to his fifth straight triumph, a personal high. It was the fourth consecutive loss for the Angels.

Witt, 11-10, allowed six hits, struck out six and walked six in seven innings. He has lost three in a row to the Orioles this season without benefit of a California run, and the Angels have scored no more than two runs in eight of his losses.

Mike Young opened the Orioles' first with a double off first base and took third on a fly ball by John Shelby Witt, the American League strikeout leader, fanned Cal Ripken Jr., but he couldn't handle a bouncer by Eddie Murray. The ball skipped off the mound and ricocheted off Witt's glove. By the time he chased it down, Murray was safe and Young had scored.

Boddicker, who has allowed two or fewer runs in 17 of his 26 starts, was helped by double plays in the first two innings.

Chargers rout 49ers

San Francisco embarrassed in 35-15 setback to San Diego

SAN DIEGO — San Diego quarterbacks Dan Fouts and Ed Luther riddled the San Francisco defense with three passing touchdowns and carried the Chargers past the erring 49ers 35-15 in a National Football League exhibition Saturday night.

Pete Johnson and Jewel Thomas also rushed for touchdowns for San Diego, 2-1, which scored on three of its first four second-half possessions to put the nationally-televised game on ice.

Fouts completed 13 of 19 passes for 179 yards in slightly more than one half of play, including 15 scoring strike that Wes Chandler pulled down in the second quarter.

Chiefs 31, Browns 13

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Carlos Carson caught three touchdown passes, two in the second quarter from San Clemente High and Saddleback College product Bill Kenney, and the Kansas City defense sacked Cleveland quarterback Paul McDonald four times in the first half as the Chiefs took a 31-13 verdict from the Browns.

Kenney passed 2 yards to Theotis Brown, then connected over the middle to Carson, who outraced Cleveland defenders to the end zone on a play covering 65 yards.

Giants 20, Jets 14

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. — Phil Simms ignited the New York Giants with a 24-yard touchdown pass late in the second quarter and they went on to a 20-14 victory over the New York Jets with the help of two long-range field goals by Ali Haji-Sheikh.

Lions 17, Bills 12

ORCHARD PARK, N.Y. — A two-yard touchdown run by James Jones and an 80-yard pass play from Mike Machurek to Mark Nichols gave the Detroit Lions all the points they needed to beat the Buffalo Bills 17-12.

Both Detroit touchdowns came in the first quarter. The Lions scored again on a 25-yard field goal by Ed Murray and limited the Bills to one touchdown and a pair of field goals.

Eagles 31, Vikings 10

MINNEAPOLIS — Philadelphia quarterback Ron Jaworski hooked up with Mike Quick on eight passes for 146 yards, including a 36-yard touchdown, to carry the Eagles to their first preseason victory 31-10 over the Minnesota Vikings.

Jaworski completed 22-of-34 passes for 234 yards, including a 10-yard tie-breaking TD strike to tight end John Spagnola with 2½ minutes left in the third quarter and the bomb to Quick with 10:43 to go in the game.

Saints 31, Oilers 19

HOUSTON — New Orleans' quarterbacking trio of Ken Stabler, Richard Todd and Dave Wilson each engineered scoring drives to overcome a four-field goal performance by Houston's Florian Kempf en route to a 31-19 victory over the Oilers.

Houston, 1-2, built a 9-7 halftime lead on field goals of 41, 41 and 44 yards by Kempf, who booted three field goals a week ago.

Falcons 52, Buccaneers 21

ATLANTA — The Atlanta Falcons, led by Gerald Riggs' two touchdowns, took advantage of Tampa Bay's second-unit defense and pummeled the Bucs 52-21.

The Falcons piled up more than 500 yards in offense and six players scored as Bucs Coach John McKay benched his entire first-team defense to give the second unit a chance to play.

Broncos 31, Colts 0

DENVER — John Elway rifled three first-half touchdown passes to spark the Denver Broncos to a 31-0 rout of the Indianapolis Colts.

Elway, in his best performance of the summer and perhaps the best of his pro career, completed 18 of 29 passes for 240 yards, with no interceptions.

Bengals 25, Bears 17

CHICAGO — Veteran quarterback Ken Anderson hit Cris Collinsworth with a 59-yard touchdown pass and Jim Breech kicked three field goals to lead the Cincinnati Bengals to a 25-17 victory over the Chicago Bears.

Anderson's bomb came early in the second half after the Bengals had recovered a fumble on the Cincinnati 24-yard line. Breech hit on field goals of 53, 31 and 39 yards, the later coming with less than five minutes to play.

Eric Dickerson moves for some yardage Saturday night.

RAMS...

said of his catch. "It was an excellent way to start with the Rams."

Brown said he ran a fly pattern and there was certainly nothing fancy about it.

"My job was to beat the defensive back," he said. Asked what was going through his mind with his first opportunity, he said: "It's hard to explain. My main concern was to catch the ball."

Actually, Brown's catch eventually led to just three points as the Rams had to settle for a 25-yard field goal by Chuck Nelson with 1:34 gone in the fourth quarter.

Dickerson, meanwhile, who led the NFL in rushing with 1,808 yards on a league-record 390 carries as a rookie last season, tallied on a 35-yard run early in the first quarter and a 34-yard sprint late in the second period.

The outcome left both teams with 1-2 records in the preseason.

Dickerson had carried the ball only once in his team's first preseason game, and he didn't play in the second one because of a neck injury.

Dickerson's first TD run at 5:05 of the opening period capped a 60-yard, nine-play march by the Rams on their first possession. The Packers narrowed the gap to 7-3 on a 26-yard field goal by Eddie Garcia just 3:42 later.

Dickerson's second score, which came with 1:11 left before halftime, gave the Rams an 11-point advantage, but Green Bay's Del Rodgers returned the ensuing kickoff 95 yards for a touchdown, making it 14-10 at the intermission.

Despite the victory, Robinson still admitted there's work to be done.

"The thing we were after was a more consistent performance from our front line and I think, for the most part, we did that," noted Robinson. "I'm still concerned after seeing our second unit not do very well. It makes me wonder about our depth."

SPORTS BREAK

Marathon runner finds Soviet style includes massage

From AP dispatches

MOSCOW — New Yorker Bill Gaston said he signed up for the Moscow marathon last spring because he thought running in Russia would be glamorous.

But he was not prepared for his experiences in Saturday's race staged as part of the Friendship Games. These included a forced "vigorous massage" after he finished the race.

Gaston said he was one of eight Americans who came for the marathon individually and had their trips paid for privately just for the fun of running.

The race was first scheduled for earlier this month but was postponed to coincide with the Friendship Games. Taking part in the two-week sports festival are the 14 nations who joined the Soviet-led boycott of the Olympics and about 30 other countries.

After several delays the 25-year-old Gaston had to re-register and pay an additional $20 to enter.

"I wasted three hours doing that and then even more time when they put me on a bus with a group of Finnish runners for a tour of the course," he said. "I did not understand a single word," he said.

"I was very fatigued but they thought it was something far more serious and gave me a vigorous massage despite my pleas that I was OK and just very tired."

He did not quite beat his personal best on Saturday — perhaps because of the driving rain that fell throughout the race — but completed the 26-mile course along the Moscow River and the streets of the Soviet capital in 2:42:10, his third-best time in 12 marathons.

"I know it sounds crazy but I don't know where I placed. They never told me," he said.

Quote of the day

Oakland A's Manager Jackie Moore, commenting on the recent play of home run slugger Dave Kingman: "I thought before this year that he was an undisciplined hitter, a free-swinger, who just hits home runs. I was wrong about that."

Twins move four up on Angels

Bobby Castillo, making his first start of the season, allowed only one hit in six innings of work Saturday as Minnesota stopped Boston 3-1 for a sweep of their double-header. The Twins won the opener 6-4 by scoring three times in the ninth and the twin victories boosted Minnesota's lead in the American League West to four games over the Angels. "This is sweet," said Castillo, 1-0. "Now the team knows, and (Manager) Billy (Gardner) knows, I can help out down the stretch."

Castillo, sidelined since last August with a slight tear in his right rotator cuff, was near perfect in his 86-pitch outing. The only hit he allowed was Wade Boggs' single in the first. Vance Law singled home the go-ahead run in the eighth inning and Harold Baines cracked a pair of home runs in leading the Chicago White Sox to a 7-6 victory over Toronto Blue Jays. Kirk Gibson belted a tie-breaking three-run homer and Juan Berenguer allowed three hits over 8½ innings as Detroit posted a 4-3 victory over Seattle. Gibson's sixth-inning home run, his 20th of the season, gave him his 15th game-winning RBI, a club record. Don Baylor scored three times and drove in two runs with a home run and a single and John Montefusco and Mike Armstrong combined for a three-hitter as the New York Yankees rolled to an 8-0 victory over Oakland. Buddy Biancalana smacked his first major-league homer and had a bunt single that led to the ejection of Texas pitcher Danny Darwin as Kansas City hung on to beat Texas 5-4. Milwaukee and Cleveland were postponed because of rain. It will be made up today as part of a double-header.

Navratilova sails into finals

MAHWAH, N.J. — Top-seeded Martina Navratilova scored her 47th straight singles match victory by crushing Pam Casale 6-2, 6-3 Saturday to reach the final of a $150,000 women's tennis tournament.

Today, she meets Pam Shriver, a 6-1, 6-1 winner over Zina Garrison.

"I felt pretty good out there, and my elbow, which had been causing me trouble, seemed a lot better," Shriver said. "I'm looking forward to playing Martina, and I think I have a chance if my serve is working well."

Durham snuffs Reds' roses

Leon Durham's two-run single keyed a seven-run first inning helped by four Cincinnati errors and Rick Sutcliffe won his ninth straight game Saturday night as the Chicago Cubs held off Cincinnati 13-11. The loss was the first for the Reds under new player-manager Pete Rose, who started at first base and went 3-for-6, including a pair of RBI singles. The Reds beat the Cubs 6-4 in Rose's managerial debut Friday night with Rose getting a run-scoring single and an RBI double in four at-bats. The victory ended a four-game losing streak for the Cubs and increased their lead in the National League East to 2½ games over the New York Mets.

Elsewhere in the National League, Jeff Leonard scored on Manny Trillo's ninth-inning sacrifice fly to give San Francisco a 6-5 victory over the New York Mets. The Mets, trying to keep pace with Chicago in the East, had a 3-1 lead after six innings only to have San Francisco rally twice against New York relievers. Leonard opened the ninth with a single, was sacrificed to second, took third on a wild pitch and scored easily when Trillo hit a sinking line drive at Met left fielder George Foster. Glenn Hubbard hammered a three-run home run as Atlanta ripped St. Louis 8-3. Hubbard's ninth homer of the year keyed a four-run Atlanta uprising in the second inning off St. Louis starter Danny Cox, 6-10. The Braves rapped out 14 hits, including five by center fielder Dale Murphy, who scored four runs. Denny Walling and Jose Cruz each drove in two runs Houston extended its winning streak to eight games with a 5-0 victory over Pittsburgh.

Holmes-Coetzee to fight?

LAS VEGAS — Boxing promoter Don King revealed Saturday that he is negotiating with a downtown hotel-casino to promote the Larry Holmes-Gerry Coetzee heavyweight championship fight in early November.

King said he has been and will continue to negotiate with Steve Wynn, owner of the Golden Nugget Hotel and Casino, in hopes of staging the bout. The promoter said that while no contracts have been signed, the on-again off-again title bout is tentatively scheduled in the 18,000-seat Thomas and Mack Sports Arena on the University of Nevada Las Vegas campus.

Two new bowls for football

MONTEREY (AP) — The NCAA Executive Committee and Council approved two new bowl games, the Freedom Bowl, to be played at Anaheim, and the Cherry Bowl, to be played at the Pontiac, Mich., Silverdome Friday.

The Freedom Bowl will be played on Dec. 26 this year while the Cherry Bowl will be played Dec. 22. Both bowl games will be open to Division I schools.

"The announcement by the NCAA is a marvelous climax to a 2½-year effort by a very devoted committee," said Karl Wray, publisher of the Anaheim Bulletin and founder and current board chairman of Freedom Bowl Inc.

"This will be a tremendous annual sporting event for Anaheim which I think will bring a great deal of enjoyment for the citizens of Orange County besides extra business for Anaheim and all our neighbors in Southern California."

"We look forward to providing a first class contest for the sports-minded fans of our area."

The Freedom Bowl will be an "open bowl" meaning that the group can select the two best college football teams in the United States available for the local contest.

The Executive Committee and Council, which completed a week-long meeting, also took steps toward toughening academic eligibility requirements and instituting a drug testing program for college athletes.

Proposed language on those subjects have yet to be drawn up. The drug testing proposal will be heard at next January's convention while the academic requirement proposal will go before the University Presidents' Commission at an unannounced future date.

"The general membership will decide whether we will do it or not," John Toner, NCAA President and athletic director at the University of Connecticut, told the Monterey Peninsula Herald.

Oklahoma's Switzer remains No. 1 winner

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Oklahoma's Barry Switzer continues to be the No. 1 major-college football coach in winning percentage while Michigan's Bo Schembechler still has the most victories.

Switzer, whose record in 11 years as Oklahoma's head coach is 106-21-3 for a percentage of .827, tops the field in that category for the fourth year in a row while Schembechler's 180 victories in 21 years at Miami of Ohio and Michigan is the most of any Division I-A coach.

Penn State's Joe Paterno is second in both categories. He has 170 victories in his 18 seasons as head coach of the Nittany Lions and his record of 170-38-2 gives him a percentage of .814.

The annual list of "Top Twenty Coaches" has been compiled for 27 years by Elmore "Scoop" Hudgins,

McEnroe rallies to top Connors

TORONTO (AP) — John McEnroe fought off a sluggish start to edge fellow American Jimmy Connors 2-6, 6-2, 6-3 Saturday and advance to the final of the $450,000 Player's International tennis tournament.

Seeking his first Canadian Open title, McEnroe, seeded second, will meet compatriot Vitas Gerulaitis, the No. 8 seed, for the $60,000 first prize today.

Gerulaitis defeated 13th-seeded Kevin Curren of South Africa 4-6, 7-6, 7-6.

former assistant commissioner of the Southeastern Conference, later public relations director for the Hall of Fame Bowl and currently with the College Football Broadcasting Co. in Nashville.

To qualify for this year's list a coach needed at least 84 victories.

Rounding out the top 10 behind Switzer and Paterno are Nebraska's Tom Osborne, 11 years, 108-25-2—807; Schembechler, 180-48-6—782; LaVell Edwards of Brigham Young, 12 years, 105-37-1—734; Dick Crum of North Carolina, 10 years, 84-30-1—733; Vince Dooley of Georgia, 20 years, 161-60-7—721; Bobby Bowden of Florida State, 18 years, 139-59-0—702; Earle Bruce of Ohio State, 12 years, 93-47-0—664, and Lou Holtz of Minnesota, 14 years, 106-53-5—662.

Soviets dominate Friendship Games

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet victories by Oleg Protzenko in the men's triple jump and Nadezhda Ralldugina in the women's 1,500 meters Saturday bettered marks set in the Los Angeles Olympics in action following the official opening of the Friendship '84 Games.

The day saw no world records here or in the other cities hosting the Eastern Bloc's answer to the Olympics.

While Protzenko was competing in the men's track and field competition, Sergei Kopylov, also of the Soviet Union, took the 1,000-meter cycling race here. His time — one minute, 35.6 seconds — easily bettered the winning Olympic mark, but conditions at the Moscow velodrome and at the Los Angeles Olympic track are not comparable.

Elsewhere, in the women's track and field in Prague, Czechoslovakia, Ralldugina ran the year's best time of 3:56.63, leading the Soviets to a 1-2-3 sweep.

In Sofia, Bulgaria, Bulgaria's Dilyana Georgieva topped 34 athletes from 14 countries in the two-day rhythmic gymnastics meet. And Yuri Kovshov of the Soviet Union led a Soviet sweep of the equestrian competition in Kesz, Poland.

Protzenko's triple jump of 57 feet, 3 inches was followed by his compatriot Alexander Yakovlev with 57-1½ and Bulgaria's Khristo Markov, who jumped 56-8½. All three outjumped Al Joyner's 56-7½, which won the American the gold medal at Los Angeles.

No other performances topped the times and distances at the Olympics, which were boycotted by many of the nations participating in the Friendship games. Grigory Degtyarev of the Soviet Union recorded 8,523 points in the decathlon, ahead of West Germany's Sigi Wentz.

Andreas Busse of East Germany won the 1,500 meters in 3:36.65, Alexander Vasiliev took the 400-meter hurdles in 48.63 and Hungary's Gyorgy Bakos won the 110-meter hurdles in 1:35.52.

In the 200 meters, Vladimir Muraviev of the Soviet Union, with a 20.34, fell far short of Carl Lewis' Olympic mark of 19.81. Nede Dereje's marathon time of 2:10:32 would have placed him fourth at Los Angeles.

Cuban veteran Alberto Juantorena and Poland's Ryszard Ostrowski crossed the finish line in a dead heat in the 800 meters, both being timed in 1:45.68.

Meanwhile, in Prague, Ralldugina stormed across the finish line two seconds ahead of Raviya Agletdinova, another Soviet. Yekaterina Podkopayeva was third.

Ralldugina's time was nearly seven seconds faster than the 4:03.25 posted by Olympic gold medal winner Gabriela Dorio of Italy in Los Angeles. Agletdinova and Podkopayeva also were under Dorio's time, clocking 3:58.70 and 4:01.60, respectively.

It was the 11th event during the three-day meet in which Eastern bloc women scored better results than the Olympic-winning performances.

The Bulgarian team won the 400-meter relay in 42.62 after Marlies Goehr, the former 100-meter world record holder, dropped the baton, ending her team's hopes of beating the world mark.

New tax legislation a monstrosity

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second part of a six-part series on the consequences to taxpayers of the new tax legislation passed into law on July 18.)

The more I try to unravel the 1984 tax law, the more I become convinced that the Reagan administration has handed us a monstrosity — legislation loaded with hundreds of conflicting complexities. And the more I hear from outside sources the more I am astounded that weeks after the law's signing, top tax experts are still struggling to figure out what its clauses mean.

Nevertheless, with the help of Prentice-Hall, in this series I'm giving you top hints. Real estate, for instance, still emerges as a four-way tax shelter — even though the tax shelter breaks have taken on entirely new looks because of this truly astounding law.

- Depreciation. Before the new law, you could depreciate real property placed in service after 1980 over a fast, audit-proof 15 years. Under the new law, the depreciation period is 18 years for property placed in service after March 15, 1984.

A major exception is low-income housing for which the write-off period remains 15 years. It wasn't long ago that depreciation was based on a property's actual, useful life — which ranged up to 40 years for new property. So even with an 18-year write-off period, you still can write off property in less than half the time.

Effective date: property placed in service after March 15, 1984.

- Leverage. You are often able to buy income property with a low down payment — and borrow the rest. However, your tax deductions, including depreciation, are figured on the full purchase price. Result: Leverage multiplies real estate's profit potential and its tax shelter potential. The new law does not change the fundamental advantages you get with leverage.

- Tax-free swaps: If you swap business or investment property for similar property of equal value, there is no tax on the exchange. You pay the tax when you sell the new property. That basic tax-free swap technique is untouched by the new law.

But the new law does crack down on so-called deferred exchanges. Before, you could immediately transfer property to another party and specify that the other party find property suitable to you within a period of, say, five years. The deal was closed when the actual tax-free exchange was made. But effective for transfers after this law's enactment date (last month), you get tax-free treatment only if:

- the property suitable to you is identified within 45 days after you relinquish your property; and
- you take title to the property within 180 days after you relinquish your property, or by the due date of your tax return (including extensions), whichever is earlier.

TIP: When the contract is drawn, set a closing date far enough in advance so that the other party has time to locate property you want.

Effective date: In general, transfers of property after date of law's enactment. Special grace period: Where exchange property has been identified in a binding written contract entered into before June 14, 1984, the exchange property must be received before Jan. 1, 1989.

- Capital gains: If you sell real estate at a profit after you've held it long enough, all of it is low-tax capital gain if you use straight-line depreciation. If you used accelerated depreciation, though, some of your gain may be treated as fully taxed ordinary income.

Change for installment sales: It's common for you, a seller, to take back a first or second mortgage when selling a commercial or investment property. But under the new law, if a big amount of the sales price would be ordinary income, that could turn into a disaster.

You would be badly hurt with phantom income. Effective for installment sales after June 6, 1984, sales profit treated as ordinary income is taxed in full in the year of sale — whether or not you receive payments.

- Try to help your buyer get a commercial mortgage. You'll have to pay tax on ordinary income, but you'll have the cash to pay it with.

- If you must take back a mortgage, try to get as large a down payment as possible, so you're not, in effect, a lender on the building and are forced to be a borrower to pay the tax.

Effective date: Installment sales after June 6, 1984.

De Lorean car sales soar

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Demand for the car created by John Z. De Lorean "is going right through the roof," following his acquittal on drug charges, the nation's only distributor of the automobile said.

Donald L. Bowman II of Consolidated International, a Columbus company that is the sole distributor of the De Lorean, said phones began ringing off the hook Thursday afternoon after a jury in Los Angeles acquitted the automaker of eight counts of conspiracy to distribute $24 million worth of cocaine.

Within hours, Bowman said, four out-of-state customers had wired in down payments for the stainless steel-bodied, gull-winged car. Seven more cars were sold Friday morning, he said.

"I imagine we'll probably sell 20 or 25 (Friday)," Bowman said.

Bowman, general manager of Consolidated's De Lorean Division, said Consolidated has sold about 10 cars each week since taking over sales from De Lorean's company. He said about 75 cars were left for sale Friday afternoon at $22,500 apiece.

"We will not raise our price ... even though demand is going right through the roof," Bowman said.

Columbus will be the only distribution area for the De Loreans.

INTERMISSION

Three new musicals waltz onto county stages

A pair of new biographical musicals — one receiving its world premiere — and the revival of an oldie, already on the boards elsewhere locally, take center stage as the new theatrical arrivals in Orange County this week.

"Boffola," recounting the early life of comedian Jimmy Durante, opens Tuesday at the Grand Dinner Theater in Anaheim, its first production anywhere, while the Curtain Call Dinner Theater in Tustin follows Thursday with Cole Porter's "Anything Goes" (also being staged on the Pilgrim II in Dana Point). Friday marks the opening of the musical "Barnum," celebrating the career of circus impresario P.T. Barnum, at the Newport Theater Arts Center.

Veteran author Jerome Chodorov has created "Boffola," which will star Jimmy Caesar as the great Schnozzola. Ernest Sarracino is directing the show, which features music by William Lockwood and lyrics by Sid Kuller.

Performances of "Boffola" will be presented nightly except Mondays at varying curtain times through Oct. 28 at the Grand Hotel, 7 Freedman Way, Anaheim. Reservations are being taken at 772-7710.

"Anything Goes," the second local revival of the Cole Porter favorite this summer, bows in Thursday at Tustin's Curtain Call Dinner Theater under the direction of John Ferola. Joy Matthews stars as Reno Sweeney, with Michael Wren, Jonelle Goddard, Howard Patterson and J.P. Kelly heading the cast.

The musical plays through Oct. 28, running nightly except Mondays at varying curtain times at the Curtain Call, 690 El Camino Real, Call 838-1540 for ticket information.

The week's second musical biography, "Barnum," makes its first appearance in Orange County when director Eileen Fishbach raises the curtain Friday at the Newport Theater Arts Center. Craig Fleming (who's also portrayed Groucho Marx) takes the title role, with Kathy Fajardo, James Collins, Mary Sullivan, Tom Early and Marilyn Macy among the principals.

"Barnum" will be presented on an extended run of Fridays and Saturdays through Oct. 13 with an 8 p.m. curtain at the Theater Arts Center, 2501 Cliff Drive, Newport Beach. Reservations are accepted at 631-0288.

Next weekend also will find four community theater productions ringing down their respective curtains. They are:

"West Side Story" at the Huntington Beach Playhouse, Main Street at Yorktown Avenue, Huntington Beach (832-1405), with closing performances Friday and Saturday at 8:30. A matinee will be presented today at 2:30 p.m.

"Critic's Choice" at the Irvine Community Theater in Turtle Rock Community Park, Sunnyhill Road off Turtle Rock Drive, Irvine (857-5496), winding up Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. A matinee is scheduled today at 2 p.m.

"The Supporting Cast" at the Costa Mesa Civic Playhouse, 661 Hamilton St., Costa Mesa (650-5269), giving final performances Friday and Saturday at 8:30.

"Stalag 17" by Showcase Productions at Golden West College in Huntington Beach (895-8378), offering closing performances Thursday through Saturday at 8 p.m. The show also will be staged today at 3 p.m.

In addition, several other shows are continuing around the county, including:

"The Best Little Whorehouse in Texas" at the Harlequin Dinner Playhouse, 3503 S. Harbor Blvd., Santa Ana (979-5511), nightly except Mondays at varying curtain times through Sept. 23.

"Hamlet" at the Grove

Shakespeare Festival Amphitheater and "The Comedy of Errors" at the adjacent Gem Theater, 12852 Main St., Garden Grove (636-7213).

"Hamlet" plays Thursdays through Saturdays at 8:30 until Sept. 2, while "Comedy" is on stage Wednesdays through Saturdays at 8, Sundays at 7:30, until Sept. 9.

"Lavender Follies" at Sebastian's West Dinner Playhouse, 140 Ave. Pico, San Clemente (492-9950), Wednesdays through Saturdays at 8 p.m., Sundays at 1 and 7 p.m., through Sept. 9.

"Anything Goes" aboard the Pilgrim II in Dana Point Harbor (751-1344), Thursdays and Fridays at 9 p.m., Saturdays and Sundays at 7 and 9 p.m., through Sept. 9.

BACKSTAGE — Saturday will be "Mayor's Night" at the Costa Mesa Civic Playhouse as the theater honors Mayor Donn Hall with a special closing performance of its 100th production, "The Supporting Cast" — a buffet in the multi-purpose room of Rea Community Center, adjacent to the theater, will be served at 7 p.m., followed by the play at 8:30....the public is invited, but reservations are required, and information is available at 650-5269, weekdays from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m....

Two encore performances of "The Road to Damascus," Tony Monaco's contemporary musical based on the life of the disciple Paul, will be presented Saturday at 8 p.m. and Sunday at 6 p.m. at Saddleback College North, Irvine Center Drive at Jeffrey Road in Irvine....seating is limited and ticket information is available at 559-8986 or 551-5374....

'Singin' in Rain' reborn on stage

By MATT WOLF
Associated Press Writer

LONDON — Six nights a week at London's Palladium Theater, Tommy Steele dances his way through a torrential downpour of 75 gallons of water a minute.

But it's the show itself — a stage adaptation of the MGM movie musical "Singin' in the Rain" — that almost became a washout when the critics didn't like it.

"It seems that the show is gleefully trampling on the grave of the silent cinema," wrote Irving Wardle in the Times of London, when the $1.5-million production, set in Hollywood during the silent era, opened June 30, 1983.

But after 13 months, the glossy musical is one of London's hits — and neither the star nor his producer is casting too many backward glances.

"The critics missed the point," the 47-year-old Steele, who also directed the production, said recently after a Wednesday matinee. "If they came to see Gene Kelly do the stage version of 'Singin' in the Rain,' they were some 30 years too late."

The 1952 film, co-directed by Stanley Donen and Gene Kelly, starred Kelly, Donald O'Connor, and Debbie Reynolds. Among the songs that have been carried over to the stage are "Good Mornin'," "Moses Supposes" and the puddle-splashing title tune.

Harold Fielding, the show's producer, said that "I've always thought the public was the arbiter."

"What a critic wants to see is not necessarily what Mr. and Mrs. Smith are going to want to see on those one or two times a year when they come away from the TV," Fielding said.

Throughout a 25-year association with Steele that has included presenting the former pop star in "Half a Sixpence," Fielding has accepted the critics' aspersions philosophically.

"Singin' in the Rain" is a good piece of razzmatazz entertainment," he said. "I'm a great believer in spectacle, and I think that if you give the public the goods, they'll respond."

"Singin' in the Rain" bears out Fielding's assertion.

Currently booking tickets through 1985, the show has become a big tourist draw, frequently playing to a house of 60 percent overseas visitors. The 2,325-seat Palladium reaches capacity every night and at most matinees, and Fielding has leased the theater to June 1988.

That the show ever opened at all is a minor miracle. Before the premiere, both Steele, in the Gene Kelly part, and co-star Roy Castle, in Donald O'Connor's role, were injured.

In addition, Fielding said that seven costumes for the lavish Ziegfeld scene were slashed the day of the opening, a date which could not be postponed because Fielding's rights to the musical expired that evening at midnight.

Gary Frank, Patrick Duffy, Gregory Harrison and Billy Crystal in "Enola Gay: The Men, the Mission, the Atomic Bomb" tonight at 8 on NBC, Channel 4.

Carson, Brokaw return to roots

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Thirty-five years of commercial television in Omaha will be celebrated Wednesday night in a documentary featuring national TV personalities who got their start here, including comedian Johnny Carson and a host of network newsmen.

But Omaha residents won't see the show in their living rooms — at least not yet.

"Omaha Television: The Early Years" will play at the Orpheum Theater here, and many of the people who starred on Omaha programs dating from 1949 are expected to attend. Proceeds from ticket sales will go to a scholarship fund. The city's three commercial stations plan to air the program at a later date.

The emcee at the Orpheum will be Floyd Kalber of WLS-TV in Chicago, a former NBC newsmen who broke into television by working as a behind-the-scenes assistant for Carson's "Squirrels Nest" show on WOW-TV (now WOWT) in the early 1950s.

"The Early Years" was jointly sponsored by WOWT, KMTV and KETV — and the stations say that's unique in TV broadcasting.

"Nobody's ever done it, anywhere, in a television market before," WOWT General Manager Ed Zachary said.

"The Early Years" shows snippets of old local programs like "All-Star Wrestling," "TV Babysitter" and "Martha's Kitchen" interspersed with interviews with the performers. Some major newscasters who got their start here include Tom Brokaw of NBC and Steve Bell of ABC.

"I'm doing here exactly what I did in Omaha, in a sense, exactly 35 years ago," Carson says from his "Tonight Show" set in an interview with documentary producer Arlo Grafton.

"We were all kind of caught up in the idea that we were on television," Carson said. "It was exciting."

In one scene, he sits at a table and determinedly tries to wish everyone a merry Christmas. But the branch of a poinsettia plant keeps getting in his way, until he casually snaps it off. In another scene, Carson is the center of attention at a holiday table. The clip ends when one of the guests gets hit in the face with a cake.

Carson, who left Omaha in 1951, was at WOW-TV when the station started broadcasting that same year, and the city's third commercial station, KETV, began broadcasting in 1957.

When her dreams come true ...

...Bride chooses bouquet design to remember forever

Daily Pilot Style Editor

The bouquets that brides are tossing these days are taking on new shapes and exotic flowers.

"Very few copy what they see other brides carrying," said Newport Beach florist Xavier.

"They are looking for the unusual. They are getting away from the traditional, very compact bouquets — the round, oval and tear drop style bouquets are out along with the traditional flowers — white roses, leather fern, stephanotis and lily of the valley.

"The modern bride likes a free-style look that flows naturally with unset lines.

"With the imported flowers that are available today, the bride has a very wide choice. They can have almost any flower at any season. A few years ago they could not have tulips in August. I never tell them any flower is impossible to get," noted Xavier, who says brides seem to be departing from June as the traditional month for weddings.

November and December are his busiest. (Verna Huson, owner of Mon Ami Bridal and Formal, Costa Mesa, agreed that November as well as September are busy wedding months.)

"I use imported flowers because of their uniqueness, color, scents and off-season availability. Flowers can be cut in Holland on one day and they arrive in my shop the next evening."

Ribbons in bouquets are out, too, says Xavier. "Instead of ribbons, florists are using streamers of natural greenery."

"The styles of the bouquets that brides are choosing today is very challenging. You have to be creative and there are a lot of creative florists."

One of the creative innovations being seen at formal weddings, according to Xavier, is the lighted bouquet. A battery pack is attached to the back of the arrangement to provide power for twinkling pin lights scattered among the blooms.

"I set up consultations with a bride-to-be and allow an hour to an hour and a half. I ask them to have a color in mind for her flowers and a budget figure to work with. This saves a lot of time."

"They should let their minds go free when ordering flowers. There are so many ways to go — beautiful flowers to accent the bride's gown and those of her attendants."

"The wedding flowers don't have to cost a fortune," said Xavier who was in Los Angeles prior to coming to Newport Beach four years ago. "I've seen $20,000 spent on wedding flowers. That was orchids cascading from birch trees and very elaborate bouquets."

"You can get flowers for all of the wedding party including four bouquets, eight boutonnieres, flowers for two mothers, two grandmothers and guest book attendant plus flowers for table centerpieces and the cake for as little as $600. At this price they can all be in good taste, imported and flowers not commonly seen."

"I adore weddings. It's the chance to really get creative — something the bride will remember forever."

Designers give glint to evenings in Paris

Paris' top designers are concentrating on longer lines and luxury fabrics in their winter haute couture collections. And a new length, almost to the ankle, already looks appropriate.

Louis Feraud, who designed cascades of pastel beads embroidered on silk for the gala evening dress, at right, said, "I'm trying to promote a new romanticism, a kind of luxury Sicilian woman for the streets of New York."

To see what Christian Dior, Yves Saint Laurent and Jean Patou have in mind, see Page C3.

Racers drifting to key prize

The Great Reno Balloon Race, the largest such event on the West Coast, features competitions Sept. 7-9 for $10,000 in prize money.

In one event, hot-air balloonists will test their skills by maneuvering their craft near enough to a 20-foot pole to snatch a set of car keys perched on top. The winner receives a new car.

There's plenty for spectators to do at the accompanying festival described on Page C4.

Take trip up coast for Games relief

After the Olympics, tourists may choose to see a quieter side of the state — slipping away to our central coast region's getaways.

At Carmel, quaint shops and art galleries lie within walking distance of the bay and the beach. With a population of only 5,000, this friendly community is much like a country village by the sea. Notice that there are no street numbers on the houses.

The Laguna Seca historic auto races are set for Aug. 24 and 25.

For other suggested stops along the route north, see Page C4.

LOOKING GOOD

Modern maturity accents positive

The Cosmetic, Toiletry and Fragrance Association Inc. sends out a newsletter entitled "Looking Good... Feeling Good". The recent issue dealt with cosmetic and skin care of women in the 54- to 96-year-old bracket.

Psychologist Jean Ann Graham says, "It now seems likely that what we previously thought was society's negative reaction to age, is in many cases a reaction to an individual's appearance and that person's negative self-image."

She has conducted professional makeovers for a research paper and intends to show that makeup significantly improved the appearance and self-image of women 54 to 96.

Graham who is a pioneer in the field of cosmetic psychology (according to the newsletter) says the recent studies show that the stereotype about physical attractiveness — what is beautiful is good — applies to mature women as well as young.

Cosmetics are "unique," Graham says, because they allow a number of psychologically beneficial processes to be set in motion very quickly.

Following makeovers, the women studied generally saw themselves as more attractive and healthy looking. And, they saw themselves as more sociable, more confident with a more positive outlook — they looked much happier.

In addition, Graham pointed out that people responded to the women in the study better following makeovers.

I think most women in the 50 and over group (even as young as the late 20s, 30s and 40s) will agree they look and feel better with makeup.

It really doesn't take a research study to get this message across. But, anyway the newsletter includes some tips for the over-50 woman that I'm passing along.

• Apply concealing cream a shade lighter than the foundation to facial lines and shadows.

• Choose a sheer, transparent foundation close to your skin shade and place a dot of it on the forehead, nose, cheeks and chin. Blend lightly so the skin will show through. Don't try to cover every wrinkle. • Select a creamy blusher for the cheeks and the same shade brush-on blusher for the forehead to add a lift to the face, and the throat to diminish fullness. (A friend of mine calls this extra powder blush on the forehead and also a little on the chin as the "kiss of youth".)

• Do not use a heavy application of powder; this emphasizes wrinkles. (A brush is very good for a light dusting of powder). • Do not make eyebrows too dark. For darker brows, use a powdered color, slightly lighter than the real hair color. • Use an eyeliner pencil the same color or deeper than the eyeshadow, but do not extend beyond the outside corners of the eyes or the liner will look like another wrinkle. (Heaven forbid!).

• Use a pencil to outline lips. This prevents the lipstick from bleeding into the minute lines surrounding the lips. (There are also some very good creams for the lip area on the market.)

• Don't use a dark color to cover gray hair; gray hair is nature's way of compensating for your skin tone that lightens with age. (When hair begins graying and skin lightens it's a good time to consider a new foundation shade. Go lighter not darker). • Use a semi-permanent hair dye a shade lighter than your natural hair to give the effect of highlighting the gray.

• Use a moisturizer. It reduces water loss and helps maintain soft, smooth skin.

• Protect skin with a sunscreen. Exposure to the sun can increase the chance of cancer and premature aging, according to the National Cancer Institute.

BEAUTY NEWS: Andrea has a new collection and idea for its fall-winter '84 nail and eye colors. Instead of earth tones and darker shades, the company is offering a brighter, lighter palette that sweeps from pale to bold. In keeping with the brights being shown by fashion designers (purples, reds, fuchsia and teal) the collection includes Dazzling Hot Pink, Steamy Orchid and Mad Melting Mauve for the eyes and Royal Purple, Fast Fuchsia and Marathon Red for the fingers. Andrea colors are in drug, chain and variety stores.

Another way to go — Princess Marcella Borghese has created Scandalo, the notorious new colors from Milan, a collection of provocative new colors and a daring way to wear them. Princess Borghese achieves a fall face with only four products. Eyes are rimmed with intense kohl (Cobalto Blue, Smoked Perle, Iris Notte and Notte), the face is warmed by an all-over face color (Naturale or Bronzео), lips and nails are a complementary duet of lustrous earth tones intended to subtly enhance.

VIDA DEAN

Scandalo's daring new look focuses on the eyes, rimming them in intense kohl. The face is warmed by an all-over color, and lips are in an earthy tone to match the nails.

Graceful lines blossom

Xavier used free-flowing, unset lines in these bouquets created for a wedding party. The primary flowers in the bride's bouquet, far left, are day lilies, freesias, dendrobium orchids and white roses. The bridegroom's boutonniere was the same orchid combined with freesia. The honor attendant's flowers followed the same natural lines using lilies as the focal blossoms. An attendant's bouquet, at right, centers on a yellow cattleya orchid surrounded by freesias and babies breath. Greenery is used in all of the bouquets to replace the once-popular streamers.

FASHION CALENDAR

ROBINSON'S: Designer Bonnie Boerer will present her fall and early holiday sweater collection Thursday at the Newport Beach store. Informal modeling will follow the 1 p.m. fashion presentation in the sportswear department. On the same day Ralph Lauren cosmetic consultants will be available from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. for personal consultations. Appointments may be made by calling 644-2800. Red Bag, Robinson's new shop for the contemporary young woman and man, will open Friday with a week-long series of events — modeling seminars, makeup consultations and hairstyling demonstrations scheduled.

BULLOCK'S: A new updated line from Italy, Spitalnick, will be informally modeled Thursday in Town and Travel, middle level, South Coast Plaza store. A back-to-school fashion show is scheduled for 1 p.m. Saturday in Jewel Court.

SAKS FIFTH AVENUE: A Triangolo representative will be in the Children's Department of the South Coast Plaza store from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Thursday to preview holiday designs. St. John knits will be modeled from noon to 3 p.m. of Friday and Saturday.

NORDSTROM: Informal modeling of new fall styles by Norma Kamali is scheduled Saturday at the South Coast Plaza store from 3 to 6 p.m. in Savvy. Brass Rail, also on second level, will present informal modeling from 1 to 3 p.m.

Fashion trend dusts off duster

Simple cover-ups sew easy; make your own pattern and begin

CLEVELAND — The latest cover-up making its rounds in fashion circles this fall is the versatile "duster" coat.

This new fashion basic, breaking just below the knee, adds elegance and style to tailored trousers, baggy jumpsuits and classic skirts. It can be dressed up or down, layered, or worn with a belt or accessories. It is the one new piece that can update an entire wardrobe.

Plus with its simple and unstructured shape, a duster is the easiest garment to sew, even for novices, according to Grace McMahon Johnson, education director for the White Sewing Machine Co.

In fact, her adaptation of a duster cape is so easy to make she recommends that you design your own pattern instead of purchasing one. This leaves a little extra money to spend on richly textured fall fabrics in crisp linen, lightweight wool or wool knits.

The cape will require as little as two hours of sewing time, and needs only 2½ yards of 45- or 60-inch wide fabric. Purchase an extra ¼ yard for matching plaids.

Depending on whether you prefer a front opening or pull-over styling, you will be working with only two or three cut pieces. And, if you would like to add a cowl neck, that is also a simple addition.

Since you are the designer, consider your options before cutting.

Decide whether you want a pull-over version with a cowl neck or a boat neckline, which can be layered over high collar blouses and sweaters.

You can also design your cape with an open front that hooks, buttons or ties around the neck. Also decide between full-length, or three-quarter length sleeves, and a curved shirttail or straight hem.

Begin by taking several simple body measurements. With one arm outstretched to the side at shoulder height, measure from the center of your chest to your desired sleeve length. Next, measure the length from the base of your neck to a few inches below your knees, or to mid-calf if you prefer.

The basic pattern design resembles the outline of a kimono. Both front and back pieces should be cut along the fold, taking care to match plaid or striped fabric.

For the sleeve opening, draw a vertical line 10-inches deep in the lengthwise grain. Finish outlining the sleeve by drawing a 10-13-inch horizontal line back toward the fold.

Mark your side seam, according to your length measurement. Square off the bottom for a standard hem. For a shirttail hem, taper the side seam along a gradually curved angle, starting at the thigh and ending at the fold.

Cut, and use this piece as a pattern for the back, again matching striped or plaid material. For an inset cowl collar, cut a 16-inch square from a double thickness of fabric.

Begin construction with the right sides together. Sew the shoulder seams, leaving a 10-inch opening for the boat neck design. For the collar version, leave a 14¼-inch opening and sew the side seams of the collar, then sew the collar into the neck opening.

Next, sew underarm and side seams, stopping at thigh level. Overcast all seams to avoid unraveling. And press all seams as you sew for a professional look.

For the open front design, cut the front center along the fold line, finish the raw edges and make the buttonhole closure at the neck or attach snaps, ties or a purchased frog closure.

Finish your duster cape by hemming all raw edges, or bind with 1-inch single-fold bias tape. About seven yards of bias tape is required to trim around the entire cape.

Fragrances make scents to executives

Almost nine out of 10 executive women responding to a recent survey conducted by the Cosmetic Toiletry and Fragrance Association and SAVVY magazine said they consider a vast array of cosmetic items essential to their grooming for work.

Four out of five reported that they regularly wear fragrances in the office, include moisturizers as a regular part of their skincare routine and use small sample sizes of cosmetics when traveling.

The respondents also revealed that they are primarily brand-loyal, yet are open to experimentation with new products. They are not impulsive when choosing and buying makeup, and are more likely to change colors to coordinate with their outfits than the season of the year.

Their busy schedules generally require that they keep supplies of the cosmetics convenient and accessible — at home, at the office, in their purse and in a travel case.

Almost one-half of the women said they reapply makeup at some time during the day. Over two-thirds of those responding to the survey reported that they depend on magazines, product samples and special promotions for information about new products.

More than one-third of those in the survey who use manicures and hair colorings visit salons for these services.

Debutantes find true colors for campus

Families fete anniversaries for Ringbloms and Salernos

Eighteen debutantes of the Newport Harbor Auxiliary of Children's Home Society watched as Jan Chandler of Color Concepts did a complete makeover on Dana Davis and Christina Rodgers. Then, they had their chance to question the color consultant on wardrobe planning.

The deb and their mothers were at the Harbor Island home of Jackie and James Rodgers for a summer luncheon.

Other hostesses besides Jackie and daughter, Christina, were Mary Davis and Dana; Janice Barto and daughter Wendy; Maralou Ingold and daughter Michelle Davis, and Hyla Berteau and daughter Baret.

As each deb and mother arrived their photos were snapped and as mementos they were presented frames to fit pictures. The group of 40 (six of the debutantes not there) dined on a variety of cold salads and then selected desserts from the bar featuring fresh fruit dipped in white chocolate, pastries and mousses.

The young women, selected for their scholastic achievements and school and community involvement will make their debut on Dec. 28.

Last Thursday afternoon Cynda Harwood, Denise Root, Susan Rumfeld, Gina Speers, Kathleen Wagenseller and Fiona Young co-hosted a Teddy Bear picnic lunch in Prentice Park, Santa Ana, where the CHS group entertained 30 children who are involved in subsidized day care. There were visits from a clown and a magician plus a Teddy Bear T-shirt to each child.

Longtime Newport Beach residents Allan and Beverly Ringblom celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary at a surprise reception hosted by their four daughters at the Reuben E. Lee restaurant.

The oldest daughter Hedy Knight of Alto Loma led the guests (including seven grandchildren) in a toast to the couple who were married in '44 in Laguna Beach. Other daughters are Christine Sherlock of Medford, N.J., Karen Flagg of Brea and Robin Best of Palm Desert.

The buffet was capped by a two-tiered wedding cake which Allan (a retired Marine Corps lieutenant colonel) and Beverly cut with his military sword.

The entrance to the reception room featured a guest book table decorated with a collage of pictures of the Ringbloms (she was Beverly Day) and their daughters. In the center was a Lladro figurine of a bride and groom, a gift from the hostesses.

On Aug. 15, 1934 in Cleveland, Ohio Albert Salerno claimed Emily DiPasquale as his bride. The Costa Mesa couple marked the occasion Wednesday with neighbors and family joining them at a party in their home.

Hosting the golden event were daughters Karen Salerno of Canoga Park and Linda Arensdorf with husband Joseph of Costa Mesa. Joining in the celebration were grandchildren Tommy, Lisa and Heather.

The Salernos came to California in 1954 and seven years ago to Costa Mesa where they were involved in three senior citizens clubs. Salerno retired 12 years ago as superintendent at Hoffman Electronics.

Laguna Beach Museum of Art is holding a benefit gala on Sept. 7 to celebrate the opening of The Dining room at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel Resort in Laguna Niguel. Anne Cusie is chairman of the fund-raiser expected to earn approximately $60,000. Fewer than 100 can be accommodated at the party and those reservations were snapped up by July 25. Honorary Chairman Phil Reilly, president of Mission Viejo Co., and wife Valley, will be flying in from Colorado for the sophisticated evening of dining, dancing, fashion presentation by Neiman-Marcus plus surprises.

When members of the OC and San Diego chapters of the National Association of Industrial and Office Parks met recently for a golf tournament, they did it for fun — and for a $1,000 prize. The prize money has been passed along to the OC Burn Association at Irvine Medical Center.

MARK YOUR CALENDARS: Members of the UCLA Club of Orange County will gather Aug. 26 at the Villa Park home of Tom and Sande Thrasher for the group's annual football kickoff party. Football stars from UCLA championship Rose Bowl teams are expected to attend (with a pep band and spirit squad awaiting), good food will be served up and prizes will be awarded. It's a fund-raiser for scholarships.

Newport/Costa Mesa branch of the American Association of University Women will hold a new member orientation coffee at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at 4639 Roxbury Road, Corona del Mar. Further information available by calling 760-0738 or 760-0515. Mastrianni Family Enterprises will be host Tuesday to Executive Women International, Orange County chapter. Members will gather at Jay's Catering in Garden Grove for a reception/tour before being bussed to Plaza Ballroom at Vista del Sol, Fullerton, for dinner. Debra Skinner may be called at 636-6045 for further information.

A mini-festival highlighting some of the county's performing arts organizations, including The Californians (OC Master Chorale), A Class Act Theatre group, South Coast Ballet, Crush, a jazz ensemble, harpsichordist, classical guitarist, classical musicians from Artists to Go, and other performers, is scheduled from 3 to 7 p.m. Aug. 26 at the Dance Connection, Costa Mesa. Arts in Orange County (an art and entertainment publication) is sponsoring the art scholarship fund-raiser.

Additionally, a special art auction is scheduled, an array of foods hosted by Pronto, Ambala Tandori, The Registry Hotel and the Whitehouse will be served with a no-host bar available.

The $25 tickets may be obtained by calling 891-5123, 549-2288 or 241-9908.

Pete Siracusa and his staff of the Rusty Pelican will again be cooking (and donating) the food for the 552 Club's eighth western barbecue on the calendar for Aug. 30 at the Arlington Amphitheater, adjacent to the Orange County Fairgrounds.

Red Dog Weber's five-piece band and two mariachi groups will provide music with the Cowboy Country Kickers scheduled to give a square dancing demonstration.

Co-chairmen Frank Mead and Ken Steelman plan to top the nearly $18,000 raised in 1983, which went toward completion of Hoag Hospital's Intensive Care Nursery. Ticket are $75 per couple; for further information, call 760-5917.

Tickets are still available for Las Conchas de Oros Western Jamboree ("Wild Oats" is the band at this one) set for Saturday to benefit Orangewood, the new facility for battered and abused children. Linda Evans may be reached at 642-1066.

Baret and Hyla Berteau, Maralou Ingold and daughter Michelle Davis hosted.

Gala garb given glitter

Evenings in Paris take on these distinctively different looks as seen at designer previews:

LEFT: Louis Feraud made up a cascade of pastel beads in fringes embroidered on silk. The pleated chiffon skirt lengthens the new evening hemline to the ankle.

RIGHT: American model Jerry Hall was dressed by Christian Dior as she presented this printed and flounced evening gown from stylist Marco Rohan.

MIDDLE: Yves Saint Laurent offered this loose, long pleated gown lightly embroidered with gold lame flower motives. The V-collared, long-sleeved blouse is belted by a ribbon.

TRAVEL

California's central coast quaint and quiet

After the excitement of Los Angeles during the Olympics, California visitors may choose to see a quieter side of the state — slipping away to the Golden State's central coast region with its quaint Pacific Ocean getaways.

Ocean breezes and secluded coves provide the perfect atmosphere for browsing the fashionable boutiques, nostalgic antique shops and art galleries that dominate places from Ventura to Cambria to Monterey. The Spanish flavor of historic Santa Barbara, the Scandinavian flair of Solvang, the peaceful midwestern ambience of San Luis Obispo and the relaxing mountain retreat of Ojai (pronounced Oh-high) all await visitors.

Fisherman's Wharf, reminiscent of a New England-style village, sets the tone for Oxnard, a smallish city just an hour's drive north of Los Angeles along Highway 101. The new attraction offers shops, restaurants and a seafood market.

Lemon groves, blanketing the valley a few miles inland, bear sweet smelling blossoms year round. At nearby Mission San Buenaventura, founded in 1782, you'll discover an interesting museum and archeological digging site. Eight miles north, Lake Casitas — an Olympic venue — offers fishing and boating.

Ventura, another seaside town a few miles north of Oxnard, affords scenic, floral vistas of poinsettias in long hedge rows of giant bushes of crimson blossoms that grow as tall as the tops of the town's single-story bungalows.

Out to sea from Oxnard and Ventura, the Channel Islands loom tantalizingly close to the coast one minute — then disappear into the ocean mists. The five islands — Anacapa, Santa Barbara, Santa Cruz, Santa Rosa, San Miguel — make up our newest national park. Boat trips to the Channel Islands, offered by Island Packers Co. (805/642/1393), originate at the Ventura Harbor.

Up the coast a bit, a beautifully landscaped stretch of freeway leads past the wooded canyons and slopes of wealthy Montecito to Santa Barbara. Discovered in 1542 by a Portuguese navigator, the old Spanish town draws its name from a second landing on the feast day of Saint Barbara in 1602.

Enhanced by upscale art galleries and trendy boutiques, Santa Barbara has developed a well-earned reputation for fine restaurants.

North and slightly inland from the coast, the San Marcos Pass opens up the Santa Ynez Valley. The town of Solvang seems to be transplanted intact from Denmark. Danish architecture predominates, with windmills and imported gas street lamps aplenty. Old Danish recipes are the source of aromatic food and pastries found here.

Nearby Lake Cachuma is Southern California's largest man-made freshwater lake, a popular spot for boating and fishing enthusiasts. Wineries offer tours and tastings. Nojiqui Falls Park, six miles south of Solvang, offers 84 acres of lush greenery, Indian lore and a flowing waterfall. And the Santa Inez Mission, founded in 1804 and one of the best preserved of California's 21 established missions, is located in Solvang.

At the seaside town of Pismo Beach, located along Route 101, visitors may want to stop at the foot of the Santa Lucia Mountain Range for a panoramic look at the countryside. San Luis Obispo itself is reminiscent of a small Midwestern town with grazing cattle and rustic, weathered barns.

Visitors may be drawn to the original paintings and sculptures inside the Mission San Luis Obispo de Tolosa. The adobe structure was built in 1772 by Chumash Indians.

An hour's drive north, Morro Bay and Cambria are filled with antique shops, art galleries and tiny, family-style eateries.

The resort colony of Cambria offers within its confines San Simeon State Beach, a refuge of campsites and picnic areas. William R. Hearst State Beach Park is lovely for daytime lounging as is nearby Shamel Park.

At San Simeon, the famous Hearst Castle invites visitors to its 123 acres of pools, gardens, terraces, guest houses and magnificent buildings. Built in 1919 by newspaper baron William Randolph Hearst, the castle boasts some of the world's finest sculpture, paintings and statuary. It would require three separate tours to view the entire premises. Hearst Castle is highly popular; plan your visit well in advance and purchase advance tickets through Ticketron.

North of San Simeon, along Highway 1, is a stretch of California's most spectacular coastline — the Big Sur region — where camping and lodging facilities abound. Follow Highway 1 north to the Monterey Peninsula — one of California's more popular resort destinations.

Drive the greens on 16 golf courses including the famous Pebble Beach course with its 18th hole on the edge of Carmel Bay. Sharpen your serve at the more than 100 tennis courts in the area. Sailing, scuba diving, deep sea fishing and other marine-oriented activities abound.

Literary fans will relish a visit to John Steinbeck's Cannery Row in Monterey where old sardine canneries still stand watch along the waterfront. Once a boomtown, later a ghost town, the area now boasts boutiques, a wine tasting room and several restaurants. An historical wax museum houses lifelike characters from Steinbeck novels as well as figures of early explorers of the region.

On Fisherman's Wharf, fresh seafood — including salmon, shrimp, calamari and sole — is special fare, along with Monterey Jack cheese and sourdough bread. Thanks to nearby Castroville, where 85 percent of the nation's artichokes are grown, these descendants of the thistle are prepared in a variety of innovative styles at the more than 200 restaurants on the peninsula.

At Carmel, quaint shops and art galleries lie within walking distance of the bay and the beach. With a population of only 5,000, this friendly community is much like a country village by the sea. Notice that there are no street numbers on the houses.

The Laguna Seca historic auto races are set for August 24-25. On the 26th, the vintage racers will be on display at The Lodge at Pebble Beach.

Of all the adventures that await visitors to the Monterey Peninsula, perhaps most fascinating is exploration of its natural wonders. The wild and rocky Big Sur coastline, with wind-sculptured cypress trees that twist into gnarled, dramatic shapes, leaves lasting impressions for every visitor.

For more information on California, write to the California Office of Tourism, 1121 "L" Street, Suite 103, Sacramento, CA 95814. Enclose a check for $1 to cover postage, and you'll receive a colorful and informative package of information.

A lone, gnarled cypress stands as a silent sentry overlooking the sea along the famed 17-mile drive between Carmel and Monterey.

Hope Valley hiking tour a walk into U.S. history

California's Gold Rush of 1848 inspired the most crazed, adventuresome and courageous migration in United States history.

Across the plains and through deserts on the Overland Trail, pioneers traveled more than 2,000 miles to face the rocky Sierras as the last barrier to the wealth of the Sacramento Valley.

Today, the remnants and scars of this migration may still be seen in the Hope Valley of Alpine County, a territory known for both its natural beauty and historic character.

Sorensen's Resort has created a leisurely hiking adventure which will lead participants across parts of the Mormon-Emigrant Trail and the early Pony Express Route used over Kit Carson Pass. This event is scheduled for the 1984 fall season, a time of year when views of the mountains are crisp and golden.

Tours can be scheduled any time between September 1 and November 15. This historic walking tour begins the night of arrival with an orientation and slide presentation at Sorensen's Cafe. After breakfast the next morning, the walking tour begins with an experienced guide who will provide leadership and historic notes to enrich the understanding and challenges faced by the early settlers to California. A picnic lunch will be provided along the way and an evening meal will be served in Sorensen's Cafe overlooking the high mountain meadows.

The total package for Sorensen's Historical Emigrant Trail Walking Tour including two nights lodging, four meals and tour guide is only $98 per person.

Jess Machado, 74, of Stockton will be the lead tour-guide for Sorensen's Resort. In 1929 Machado re-discovered the trail and was the first person to make lasting markers of the Emigrant Trail. He has chronicled the road ever since and continues to lead groups through the area pinpointing historic sights and artifacts. He has donated several hundred historic finds to museums throughout the Northern Sierra region.

Mort Testerman, Debbi Waldear and Joe and Susan Chambers, all experienced Sierra hikers and guides of Kirkwood, California will assist in the touring.

Warm fall clothing is recommended for the outing, such as a wool cap, jacket, sweater, hiking foot gear, a poncho and day pack. Hikers may also wish to bring cameras and binoculars to glimpse the changes of the fall season in the mountains, particularly of the beautiful aspens that come ablaze with color during the fall months.

Sorensen's Resort is located just East of the Highway 88/89 junction, and is itself a historic site in Alpine county. This all-season vacation settlement features 20 housekeeping cabins, plus cafe. (Point of reference: 15 miles south of Lake Tahoe).

For more information and to make tour reservations, call Sorensen's Resort at (916) 694-2203.

September time to take off on a Caribbean cruise

For many, September means the end of normal vacations and time to return to the daily grind of the work force.

For the smart traveler, however, September is the perfect time to take off for a taste of paradise in the Caribbean.

For the second consecutive year the island which VOGUE Magazine last year called "The Island of Superlatives" — St. Croix — the largest of the three U.S. Virgin Islands, will celebrate the coming of the Fall season with an island-side, month-long bonanza of savings on everything from fine Swedish crystal to local handicrafts.

But the savings start even before you reach this island, steeped in history and abundant in tropical delights to make anyone's dream of paradise come true.

American Airlines offers reduced airfares from several cities, round trip to and from St. Croix. Commuter airlines, too, are encouraging those planning St. Thomas or Puerto Rico vacations to savor St. Croix in September, with special day-tripper fares which make island-hopping affordable as well as enjoyable.

Nineteen of St. Croix's most popular hotels, inns and villas are offering additional discounts off already low summer rates. Participating hotels include the Buccaneer, King Christian, Club Comanche, Pink Fancy, King Frederick Beach, Hotel On The Cay and Tamarind Beach, to name a few.

There's something for everyone, from exclusive villas hidden up in the emerald green St. Croix hillside and condos and cottages right on the water, to small, intimate hotels located right on beautiful Christiansted Harbor.

For those seeking to escape time, Sprat Hall Plantation, (just west of Frederiksted) is restored to its original splendor from the days of France's brief rule over St. Croix.

Within an eight block radius in Christiansted Harbor, is a dazzling array of more than 100 fine shops open from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. daily except Sunday. And, because St. Croix is part of the United States Virgin Islands, your U.S. dollar needn't be converted and during the month of September will stretch further than you ever thought possible.

Long recognized as one of the best duty free ports in the Caribbean, St. Croix shops will boast savings of 20 to 50 percent more on just about everything from exquisite jewelry and English bone china to your favorite French perfume and island spirits. (September is the time to stock up on Cruzan rum in preparation for the cool winter nights ahead, with a toasty fire and a cup of hot buttered rum!)

While in St. Croix, you'll enjoy a smorgasbord of international and Caribbean food specialties, and many restaurants will offer nightly dinner specials followed by complimentary Cruzan coffee.

No trip to St. Croix is complete without a day trip to Buck Island, the only underwater national monument in the western hemisphere. The blaze of underwater color and life is truly breathtaking, with marked snorkeling trails. During September, Buck Island Charters will offer 25 percent off, including snorkeling equipment.

If golf is your bag, count on a 25 percent discount on green fees at beautiful Fountain Valley.

Throughout the month, St. Croix merchants, hoteliers, charter boat operators, taxi drivers and restaurateurs will don red, white and blue buttons saying "St. Croix. An Island of Superlatives." They're your ticket to the best buy in the Caribbean in September.

100 balloons will fly high next month during the Great Reno Balloon Race.

Great Reno Balloon Race scheduled for Sept. 7-9

The silent spectacle of 100 brightly-colored, hot-air balloons ascending en masse into clear blue Reno skies will be played out three times at The Great Reno Balloon Race Sept. 7-9.

The mass balloon ascension will take place at 7 a.m. daily from Rancho San Rafael Park, one mile north of downtown Reno.

The largest event of its kind on the West Coast, the festival features three days of ballooning competition for $10,000 in prize money. In addition to target drop and hare-and-hound contests, balloonists will test their skills in a key grab in which contestants maneuver their craft near enough to a 20-foot pole to snatch a set of car keys perched on top. The winner receives a new car.

The Race is by invitation only, and its competitors are the finest balloonists in the country.

Concessions and entertainment are included at the park from dawn to noon daily, and a "living museum" by the Nevada Historical Society of frontier crafts like quilting, weaving spinning and saddlemaking will be held from 7 a.m. to noon Sept. 8 and 9 in the park's Ranch House. All events are free to the public.

The Great Reno Balloon Race is underwritten by 23 Northern Nevada businesses, and once again Freixenet will be the Race's official champagne.

To get to Rancho San Rafael Park from Interstate 80, take the Keystone Avenue exit North, go east on Seventh Street and north on Washington Street. For more information, call (702) 788-3025.

The Race weekend is a perfect time for families to visit Reno, with the Nevada State Fair and the Virginia City Camel Races taking place concurrently in or near the city.

Tickets now available for ground transfers

Transportation Ticket Services, Inc., a new California corporation, is now selling door to door ground transportation tickets to most Los Angeles and Orange County communities from eight ticket booths at Los Angeles International Airport.

With the opening of these new door to door van ticket booths, a new dimension in ground transportation has been opened to all travelers, according to Larry Robertson, president of T.T.S. Inc.

Both international and domestic air passengers can now purchase low cost, convenient (no waiting) ground transfer tickets to hotels, residence or business.

Passengers are picked up on the outer island, just opposite each baggage claim area at the sign marked "bus stop" on the lower level.

Sample fares to popular destinations include downtown Los Angeles $15, downtown Long Beach $15, Anaheim $29, Ontario Airport $36, Whittier $28, Newport Beach $33, and Santa Ana $33. Reduced fares of $5 each for additional passengers in a group is also available.

T.T.S. ticket booths are located just outside all baggage claim areas on the lower level and are especially convenient for the corporate or convention traveler.

For additional information, call (213) 417-4055.

'What Is a Salesman?' requested by reader

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently, Paul Harvey, my favorite radio personality, read a moving piece entitled, "What Is a Salesman?" It touched me because I was married to a salesman for many years and every word mirrored my husband's life. Can you possibly get that piece and publish it in your column? — NOSTALGIC IN THE MIDWEST.

DEAR NOSTALGIC: I contacted my good friend, Paul Harvey, and asked him to send on the piece, along with permission to use it. He graciously did so and added a note saying, "Sorry we can't credit the author. It was signed 'Anonymous.'"

Here it is:
WHAT IS A SALESMAN?
A salesman is a pin on a map to the sales manager, a quota to the factory, an overloaded expense account to the auditor, a bookkeeping item called "cost-of-selling" to the treasurer, a smile and a wisecrack to the receptionist, and a purveyor of flattery to the buyer.

A salesman needs the endurance of Hercules, the brass of Barnum, the craft of Machiavelli, the tact of a diplomat, the tongue of an orator, the charm of a playboy and the brain of a computer.

He must be impervious to insult, indifference, anger, scorn, complaint and be razor-sharp, even after drinking until dawn with a customer.

He must have the stamina to sell all day, entertain all evening, drive all night to the next town and be on the job fresh at 9 a.m.

He must be good at story-telling and willing to lose at golf and cards.

He wishes his merchandise was better, his prices lower, his commissions higher, his territory smaller, his competitors more ethical, his goods more promptly delivered, his boss more sympathetic, his advertising more effective and his customers more human.

But he is a realist who accepts the fact that none of this will ever be.

But he is an optimist, so he makes the sale anyway.

He lives or dies by the daily report. He rolls his days away in a tedium of planes, trains and cars. He sleeps his nights away in cheerless hotel rooms.

Each morning he hoists onto his back the dead weight of last year's sales record and this year's quota and goes forth to do it all over again.

Yet, for all that, he is absolutely certain that tomorrow will be better and there is nothing he would rather do, anybody he would rather be — than a salesman.

DEAR ANN: Sometimes "progress" can be a drag — for example, the telephone company's service known as "call waiting."

I have had people say to me, in the middle of a sentence, "Another call is coming in. Hang on." Then I wait for anywhere from one to five minutes, twiddling my thumbs. I would rather get a busy signal than be interrupted like that. What is your opinion? — IRRITATED IN TOLEDO.

DEAR TOLEDO: Some folks welcome the interruption as an opportunity to escape from terminal boredom. The telephone can be a deadly trap, you know. Also, two lines make it possible to receive an urgent call.

Even if drinking is the "in" thing in your crowd, it needn't crowd you out. Learn the facts from Ann Landers' booklet, "Booze and You — For Teen-Agers Only." Send 50 cents and a self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Good kids seldom receive praise they well deserve

Reprinted by Request:

Every year, a child who is sick and tired of a mother showing this column into her face and shouting, "Read this! It's you!" will write and ask why I always take the parents' point of view and never the child's.

This year's writer is from Long Beach and she says, "For so long you have written about children that do things that make their parents miserable, how about a few measly words to make parents feel like maybe they have done something right?" Signed: T.H.

You're right, T.H. It must seem like there's no pleasing us. It's time for my yearly child-appreciation tribute.

Parents have done something right when they ask a child to bring them a glass of water from the kitchen and the child knows where the kitchen is.

They've done it when they get a birthday present on their birthday that their child has bought with his own money.

They've pulled it off when their child volunteers that she dropped the camera she borrowed and when the parents ask, "Have you any idea how much a camera like this cost and who is going to pay for it?" does . . . and will.

They've raised a winner when they point out to a son that his pants are ripped, his shirt is not ironed, the sole is coming off his shoe and his sweater is inside out, and he looks rotten . . . and he agrees with them.

It's a good day for any parent when their child speaks to them in public, when they put gas in the car after they've used it, ask if you're watching a TV show before they flip the dial, do dishes when it isn't their night, and thank you for anything.

It's a good time for parents when their children tell them the truth when you're gonna kill 'em for it, answer their parents without saying, "What do you want?" shut the door in the winter because it makes their Dad smile, or respect their mother's cold as they do their own.

Good kids are like sunsets. We take 'em for granted. Every morning they rise. Every evening they disappear. Most parents in a single lifetime will never imagine how hard they try to please us and how miserable they feel when they think they have failed.

Take a good look at your kids. I mean really look at them. You've done a lot better than you think you did. Now, tell them.

TRAVEL

Many Olympic visitors take to the high country

Now that the Summer Olympics have come to an end and the Los Angeles lifestyle is returning to normal, it will be partly because many of those in town for the Games will have headed for the hills.

Beach and surf may be more familiar symbols of California, but mountains are the recreational backbone of the Golden State — from the San Gabriels which dominate the Los Angeles skyline to the Sierra, the longest mountain range in the United States, north to the Cascades.

Over one million people camp in California's mountain wilderness areas each year, according to the National Park Service. Yosemite National Park alone welcomes more than 2.5 million visitors yearly, thousands of them on motorcoach tours, thousands more in cars and campers, and hundreds hiking or on horseback. And even if gambling lures the bulk of Lake Tahoe's tourists, the area's majestic mountain setting is what makes it more than just a little Las Vegas.

When Mark Twain first set eyes on Lake Tahoe he described it as "a noble sheet of blue water lifted six thousand and three hundred feet above the level of the sea and walled-in by a rim of snow-clad mountain peaks that towered aloft, full three thousand feet higher still." It hasn't changed.

In hundreds of state parks, many of them historical in theme, and nine spectacular national parks and monument lands, California has preserved a legacy of geological, wildlife, and wooded natural wonders. Even at popular Yosemite, visitors cluster in one seven-square-mile valley of the 1,200-square-mile park. Serenity is just a ridge away.

Most convenient of the mountain preserves to Los Angeles are Sequoia and Kings Canyon National Parks, adjacent areas known as the "twin parks." Their combined 879,000 acres encompass some of the world's largest and oldest trees, the giant sequoias, plus more than 1,000 glacial lakes at elevations higher than 10,000 feet, and the highest mountain in the country outside Alaska, 14,495-foot Mount Whitney.

Sequoia became the nation's second national park — in 1890 after Yellowstone — in response to public outcry over the timber rush that followed discovery of the giant redwood trees there. The trees, 35-feet in diameter, 200 feet tall and nearly 3,600 years old, many taller than 200 feet and nearly 2,000 years old, grow predominantly on the western slope of the Sierra Nevada in a belt 360 miles long and 60-80 miles wide.

Other life in the forest includes black bears (the grizzlies are long gone), fox, otter, osprey, eagle and herds of bounding deer. Do note that park rangers caution against feeding the bears or leaving food where they can find it.

How could any visitor bypass "the largest living thing on earth," the 16-story-high General Sherman Tree in Sequoia National Park? The General Grant Tree in Kings Canyon is nudging for the title at 267 feet. Both can be found along the 46-mile General's Highway that connects the parks.

The first tourist party to find Yosemite arrived in 1855, and since Abraham Lincoln proclaimed the glacier-carved area protected land in 1864, its 700 miles of roads and 750 miles of trails have become among the most popular park paths in America. The easiest way to see such major sights as Big Trees and Glacier Point is by guided bus tour, four of which operate daily from different entry points of the park.

Sculpted by the Ice Age, the granite peaks, domes, and ridges tower over flowering meadows, crystal clear streams, and more skyscraping sequoias. California's 19th century naturalist and conservationist John Muir once said, "None can escape its charm." Whether by rented bicycle, horse, river raft, or bus, visitors cannot help but feel the grandeur of nature in Yosemite — a four-and-a-half-hour drive from San Francisco and seven hours from Los Angeles.

Accommodations in all the wilderness parks range from campsites to cabins, motels to lodge-style hotels. Reservations are essential everywhere, and, requiring real advance planning — is Yosemite's historic Ahwahnee Hotel.

Listed in the National Register of Historic Places for its castle-like architecture, this hotel, named after the area's former Indians, looks out from its cathedral ceilings and huge stone hearths onto plunging waterfalls, breathtaking cliffs, and stately trees. Where most park accommodations cost $40-$60 per night, double occupancy, at the elegant Ahwahnee prices range from $114-$157.

If the Ahwahnee is fully booked, the Victorian-era Hotel Wawona built in 1876 provides an alternative trip into history for $39-$56 a night, complete with a nine-hole golf course. Yosemite Lodge, all wood and glass, ranges from $28.50-$61. And Curry Village, with its Yosemite Mountaineering School for rock climbers, has canvas tent cabins for $16.25 and cozy hotel rooms for $36.

Farther north lies the Tahoe resort area, surrounding sapphire-blue Lake Tahoe. The south shore has the action, most notably the casino hotels just across the Nevada state line, while the North shore offers easy access to 1960 Winter Olympic host Squaw Valley and the legendary Donner Pass. It was the winter of 1846-47 that decimated the Donner party emigrating west through the Sierra, and a popular state park commemorates that tragedy.

Most beautiful of all perspectives of Lake Tahoe is the high road around Emerald Bay at the southwest tip. There, the 38-room Vikingsholm, once a summer residence but now open to visitors, replicates a medieval Norse fortress in a seemingly Scandinavian setting.

Boating, waterskiing and fishing, which flourish most bountifully on roomy Lake Tahoe, also dominate the recreation in the most northern mountain area. Perhaps most unusual are the full moon cruises of Westwind Canoe in Redding, the hub of the Shasta Cascade Wonderland. A 37-foot boat glides 27 miles down the Sacramento River to a steak barbecue by moonlight with vans to shuttle everyone back. The big canoe also sails daily during the summer months and by special charter.

Little known to tourists, the northernmost mountains of California are among its most dramatic. Fanning out from 14,161-foot Mount Shasta, these beginnings of the Cascade Range embrace Lassen Volcanic National Park with its moon-like lava beds; Shasta State Historic Park with its gold mining ghost town; the primitive wilderness of the white Marble Mountains; Feather River Canyon's roaring rapids; and even Weaverville's Chinese Joss House, a delicate temple consecrated by the laborers once imported to work the northern mines.

And unlike other mountain areas, the north is dotted with quaint old towns alive in the summer with fairs, triathlons, Gold Digger Days and deep-pit barbecues. Rodeo is always popular fare, and organizers in Red Bluff say theirs is the biggest in the nation. McCloud and Graeagle, both architectural gems, stand as living monuments to the turn-of-the-century lumber company towns.

Houseboating for $600-$1,500 a week is the way to enjoy Trinity or Shasta Lakes. Those who prefer swifter waters can find countless river raft operations running currents as strong and scenic as any in America. Or take a day trip to the limestone-stalagmite Lake Shasta Caverns or a pack trip into the Trinity Alps or Marble Mountains wilderness areas.

What do you bid now?
A.—Partner is fishing for game, and you should be happy to cooperate. You have already told him you have a minimum opening bid, but what a minimum! Excellent support for partner's suit and most of your points are prime. Failure to accept partner's invitation would be a crime. Bid four spades.

you could easily have a game. However, it might not be in hearts! Bid two spades. Partner now has the option of raising to three spades with four-card support (four spades might be your right spot), signing off in three hearts with no help in spades, or accepting your invitation by jumping to four hearts.

Q.4—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

The bidding has proceeded:

1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
1 NT Pass 2 ♠ Pass

What action do you take?
A.—We are inclined to think that many players would take this opportunity to show their spade support, but why? You have a minimum opening bid and a flat hand. Partner has not promised more than four spades, and surely has at least four clubs. You are in your best spot—pass.

Q.5—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠876 ♥AQ53 ♦J9 ♣AJ92
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♥ Pass
3 NT Pass ?

What action do you take?
A.—Partner has shown a very good balanced hand of 20 or 21 HCP. Your action should depend on whether he is a conservative or aggressive bidder. If he is conservative, we would opt for a leap to six no trump. If he is aggressive, and invitational bid of four no trump should suffice.

Q.6—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠KQ86 ♥A84 ♦Q95 ♣875
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South
1 ♥ 2 ♠ ?
What action do you take?

A.—East's overall has put you in an awkward position—it is precisely to handle this kind of hand that Alvin Roth invented the Negative Double. If you don't use that convention, we suggest you make the slight underbid of two hearts. The fact you have a point more than the minimum for that action is offset by your lack of a ruffing value. Game is doubtful unless partner can act again.

How do you choose the best opening lead? Charles Goren has the answer. For a copy of "Winning Opening Leads," send $1.85, care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 611, Palmyra, N.J. 08065. Make check payable to Newspaperbooks.

Highland Light's Plan 10 home in San Clemente is one of four plans — ranging from $200,000 to $298,000 — at the guarded community of 95 homes.

EXPERT ADVICE

Insurance firm can't sue tenant for costs attributed to negligence

By SIMON SYKES

An insurance company has been told by a California appeals court that it cannot recover damages from a tenant whose negligence caused a fire which seriously damaged a commercial rental.

The lease on the property in question required the owner to rebuild in the event of fire.

There was no requirement on the owner to carry fire insurance, but he did so anyway.

The tenant's negligence led to the fire which damaged the property.

The insurance company paid the owner's claim, and then sued the tenant to recover its losses.

The appeals court ruled the owner could not have sued the tenant under the lease.

The lease placed the burden on the owner to insure the property against negligence by either the owner or the tenant.

The court added that where the tenant was paying, through his rent, for fire insurance maintained by the owner, he should not also be required to insure himself against his own negligence.

Highland Light's homes overlook the Pacific ocean

All the stately homes aren't in England.

Some of them are on a bluff overlooking the Pacific in the community of Highland Light. It's part of the 1,000 acres known as Marblehead, under development by John D. Lusk & Son.

Behind the gates of Highland Light, terraced streets wind slowly along the bluffs, with houses placed only on one side of each street to offer maximum view possibilities of the ocean, the curving coastline, the town of San Clemente below and the surrounding hills.

Priced from $200,000 to $298,000, the homes range from 1,888 square feet to 2,752 square feet. Two of the four plans can be expanded with second floor "bonus rooms," and two include three-car garages.

Only 95 families will live in Highland Light, and 25 of the homes have been sold already.

Visitors to the Plan 10 home enter a broad hallway with a hardwood floor. From the hall, a curving oak staircase ascends to the floor above; to the right is a formal living room, its skylighted ceiling two stories tall. To the left is a formal dining room.

Another wing houses a family room, breakfast room and kitchen. Completing the first floor are a den (or fourth bedroom) with adjoining bath, a full-sized laundry room and guest closet.

On the second floor, a private master bedroom occupies one wing; two additional bedrooms and bath, linen and storage areas complete this level. The buyer can also expand the second floor with an additional room and have a library, a game room, an entertainment center or family hobby area.

The model homes and sales center are open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily. To visit Highland Light, take the Santa Ana Freeway to the Avenida Pico exit in San Clemente. Turn east on Avenida Pico and drive approximately one mile to the entrance to Marblehead, then turn left into the community and through the guarded gate to the sales center at 2117 Avenida Platinar. Information may be obtained by calling 498-0722.

Canyon Creek offers special financing rate

Special 10.5 percent financing (10.77 annual percentage rate) for the first 10 years has been introduced at the luxury-home community of Canyon Creek at Irvine.

"This rate for 80 percent loans is a full three percentage points below the best conventional mortgages available today," said Gus Orozco, assistant vice president for the developer, Financial Scene Inc., a subsidiary of Great American First Savings Bank. For the final 20 years the loan rate is established by prevailing mortgage levels, he added.

The mortgages are one-time assumable and have no prepayment penalty, Orozco noted.

Canyon Creek currently is offering its seventh and final phase of 18 homes in Irvine's Northwood community, winner of a Gold Nugget award.

Nine of the 18 homes in phase seven and a total of 119 in all have been sold in the 128-unit, gate-guarded development.

Prices range from $260,000 to $348,000 and occupancy is scheduled for November.

Designed by Cordell Ross and Associates, homes at Canyon Creek range from two bedrooms and den to five bedrooms, two to three baths and 1,750 to 2,900 square feet. Lots are sized as large as 8,500 square feet.

The textured exteriors feature cedar shingles, patterned siding, board and batten or heavy Spanish lace stucco. Red barrel tile or cedar roofs, extended eaves and overhangs, and radius details for the multi-paned windows and brick planters and trim. Even the doors of the two- and three-car garages are finished with decorative detailing.

Introduced by hand-carved, solid oak doors with solid brass locks, the homes also have stained and leaded glass side-light or inset windows at each entry and foyers with imported Italian ceramic tiles.

Design variations include interior atriums, a library loft, a skylighted hideaway and, in two of the models, downstairs den-bedrooms. Augmenting the formal living and dining rooms are nook eating areas and breakfast bars and, in four of the plans, family rooms with wood-burning fireplaces.

Circular or angled staircases, vaulted ceilings as well as clerestory windows and skylights accentuate the interior dimensions.

Other amenities include wet bars with custom-crafted wine racks and garden planters with outside drainage systems.

To visit Canyon Creek, take the Santa Ana Freeway to the Culver Drive exit and proceed north on Culver to Irvine Boulevard. Turn right on Irvine and left on Yale Avenue past Hicks Canyon Dr. The sales center and the furnished models by Carole Eichen Interiors are open daily from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., except on Mondays when hours are noon to 6. For more information, call 730-1800.

The Plan 3 model at Irvine's Canyon Creek emphasizes the massive, estate quality of the homes.

Move-ins under way at Pentridge Cove

Move-ins have begun in the final phase Encore edition of the Pentridge Cove Condominium community in Costa Mesa, presented by the M.D. Janes Co.

The remaining homes in the last increment represent an opportunity for those who want to own in the heart of the South Coast Metro center.

Prices range from $101,500 to $130,000 for the one- and two-bedroom, split-level homes. Builder-assisted financing is also available.

Standard features of the homes include marble fireplace facing, hearth, and mantle; upgraded door casings; imported ceramic tile kitchen counter tops with wood edge piece and full back splash; and recessed "down lighting."

In some plans, there are custom-finished crown moldings, vaulted ceilings and/or clerestory windows.

Other appointments include a private patio or deck, master bedroom with private dressing area and bath, two-car garage with automatic door opener and ceramic tile tub surrounds.

Kitchens offer self-cleaning oven, microwave and dishwasher, furniture-finish cabinets, hardwood-framed luminous ceiling lighting and icemaker plumbing.

Exteriors feature Cap Cod accents such as lap siding, multi-paned windows, white wood trim and decorative door moldings.

Interested purchasers can tour the model homes daily, except Thursday and Friday, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at 748 Randolph Street.

To reach the new condominiums, take the Corona del Mar or San Diego Freeway. From the Corona del Mar, exit at Bear Street, turn left onto Bear and take an immediate left onto Baker and proceed to the homes. From the San Diego, exit at Bristol and proceed south to Baker Street, then turn right.

Crest condos feature garages

Two-car garages with direct home entry are an important attraction to buyers at Landmark Homes/Crest Series, a condominium development by Signal Landmark Inc. in the hills of El Toro.

"Since a high percentage of home developments in this price range only offer detached carports, the tuck-under garages at The Crest are very popular with our buyers," said Retha Roberts, sales manager at the community.

"Anyone who has ever had to make several trips back and forth between a detached carport and a condominium unit to unload a car of groceries can tell you just how much more convenient an attached garage really is," Roberts said. "In addition, a garage provides a much stronger feeling of security, especially for female residents who arrive home after dark."

Priced from $114,500, the community features four floor plans, ranging from 1,298 to 1,420 square feet. Two plans have two bedrooms and two have three.

All homes features either a walled front patio or private rear deck, a downstairs powder room and two full upstairs baths. Three models include a family room/dining area, and the largest floor plan features both a formal dining area and separate breakfast nook. Two plans have living room fireplaces.

A model designed especially for unrelated singles purchasing together features dual master bedrooms, each with its own private bath.

Among the standard features in all plans are central air conditioning, energy-saving pilotless gas heating, ceramic tile entry flooring, carpeting in all major living areas, built-in linen storage, and deluxe hardware and lighting fixtures.

Community recreation facilities in the first phase of development include a swimming pool, tennis court and clubhouse with lounge, kitchen and shower facilities for both men and women. A second swimming pool with cabana and two additional tennis courts will be added in a later phase.

The sales office and decorated models at The Crest are open daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The development, which is between El Toro and Old El Toro Roads just east of Trabuco Road, can be reached by taking the San Diego Freeway to the El Toro Road exit and driving east on El Toro Road. More information is available by calling 859-2482.

160 Crystal Cay homes sold since its November opening

Single-level condos, two-story townhomes in Laguna Heights are priced from $89,000

"Shea Homes' Crystal Cay community has been ringing with constant buyer activity ever since the Walnut-based builder first announced plans to develop the 303-unit townhome and condominium project last July," according to Chuck Lockhart, sales manager for Coats Realty, Inc.

"With over 160 of our homes sold since the November opening, Crystal Cay's success has been almost entirely through word-of-mouth," added Lockhart.

Crystal Cay homes, located just off Crown Valley Parkway in the master-planned community of Laguna Heights, are priced from $89,000.

Designed by The Berkus Group, the single-level condominiums with one or two bedrooms and two-story townhomes, incorporating up to two bedrooms and a loft, range in size from 759 to 1,171 square feet.

Recipient of the 1984 award of merit for "The Best Affordable Attached Housing Development," Crystal Cay offers two-story living rooms with sloped ceilings, separate dining areas, draperies, interior laundry areas, skylights and private patios or terrace balconies.

Crystal Cay homes also have energy-efficient forced air heating with preparation for future air conditioning, fully insulated walls and ceilings, lightweight concrete between party floors for extra sound control, full preparation for future fireplaces and covered parking stalls with storage areas.

Recreational amenities include two swimming pools and spas, a volleyball and basketball court and a viewing gazebo.

Seven furnished model homes, decorated by Design I, and the sales office, staffed by Coats Realty, Inc., are open daily from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. For further information, call 831-8860.

Mediterranean design, functional floor plans highlight homes at Villa Mira.

Villa Mira's popularity convinces builder to release new phase early

Some 400 interested home shoppers turned out for the grand opening of Villa Mira in Laguna Niguel, a development of 80 homes by the Carma-Sandling Group.

Of those 80 homes, 48 were sold before the opening weekend, and an additional 21 were purchased by the time the weekend was over.

In fact, the condominium community has proved so popular the developer has released homes for sale in the second phase well ahead of the scheduled date.

"The momentum just hasn't let up," said E.A. "Sandy" Sandling, president of The Carma-Sandling Group. "The response to Villa Mira has been tremendous. So many buyers lined up for the opportunity to invest in a Villa Mira home that we released Phase II ahead of predicted schedules."

Prices begin at $88,000 for the single-level two- and three-bedroom residences that offer nearly 1,100 square feet of living space.

Master bedrooms have adjacent or connecting baths with decorative fixtures and dressing areas.

Exteriors of Spanish lace stucco are crowned by tile roofs to reflect the ambiance of Mediterranean villages.

Recreational amenities include two-solar assisted swimming pools and spas, a fully equipped gymnasium, a volleyball court and a clubhouse.

Sales representatives are available to assist shoppers from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily. For further information, call 643-2906.

Crystal Cay in Laguna Heights by Shea Homes offers two-story living rooms with sloped ceilings, separate dining rooms and skylights.

Sparrow Hill's second phase opens well ahead of schedule

Pacesetter Homes has opened Phase II of Sparrow Hill, a townhome community in Laguna Niguel.

"Because of the rapid sellout of Phase I, we've moved up the date of the grand opening of Phase II in order to accommodate the many buyers interested in owning a home at Sparrow Hill," said Landon M. Exley, executive vice president of the development firm.

Sparrow Hill is part of the master-planned Colinas de Capistrano community, with prices that begin at $109,995, and a financing package that includes a 10% percent adjustable rate mortgage.

The townhomes are available in four one- and two-story floor plans, each with two bedrooms and one or 1½ baths.

The single level plan offers a living room that opens onto an outdoor deck. There is a formal dining area, kitchen with pantry, full bath and private laundry area.

The two-story plans feature kitchen, family room, living room and powder room on the first level, with one plan also offering a breakfast nook. Two bedrooms, a full bath and laundry are upstairs. Some plans have walk-in closets, and the two-story homes also feature fenced rear yards with patio slabs.

The homes at Sparrow Hill have carpeting, vinyl kitchen floors, bath and service area flooring, marble pullmans, and skylights. Most plans have fireplaces with imported ceramic tile hearths and facings. Forced air heating and enclosed garages are incorporated into every building.

Sparrow Hill is situated in a park-like atmosphere with wide greenbelts and parkways surrounding the recreation center, which features pool, spa and tennis court. The recreation center, common areas and building exteriors are maintained by the homeowners association.

To reach Sparrow Hill, take the Santa Ana Freeway to Crown Valley Parkway. Drive west on Crown Valley to Greenfield. Turn left to Paseo de Colinas and right to the sales office, which is open daily from 10:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Additional information may be obtained by calling 495-3901.

Woodbridge-Parklane designs completed by Hales-Langston

The architectural firm of Hales-Langston has completed the designs for the William Lyon Co.'s Woodbridge Parklane development in Irvine.

The project will offer one- and two-story, single-family executive homes expected to sell at prices starting below $200,000, according to Brian Norkaitis, vice president for The William Lyon Co.

"The homes will be large, with floor plans ranging from 1,759 to 2,480 square feet of living space. And they'll be very well appointed with modern features and amenities," he said.

Four furnished and decorated models will be displayed in Woodbridge Parklane, expected to open sales in late summer.

Among the community features are two man-made lakes, swimming lagoons, beach clubs, tennis courts, pools, spas, and a private tennis club.

Plan One, the Savoy, will be a single-level home with two bedrooms and two baths, plus a den, designed particularly "for a professional couple or a pair of empty nesters," said Jim Langston, partner in the architectural firm.

Plan Two, the Mayfair, is a two-story design, featuring three bedrooms and 2½ baths. It will offer 1,901 square feet of living space and will be highlighted by an adult retreat from the master bedroom.

A master suite retreat also is included in Plan Three, The Windsor.

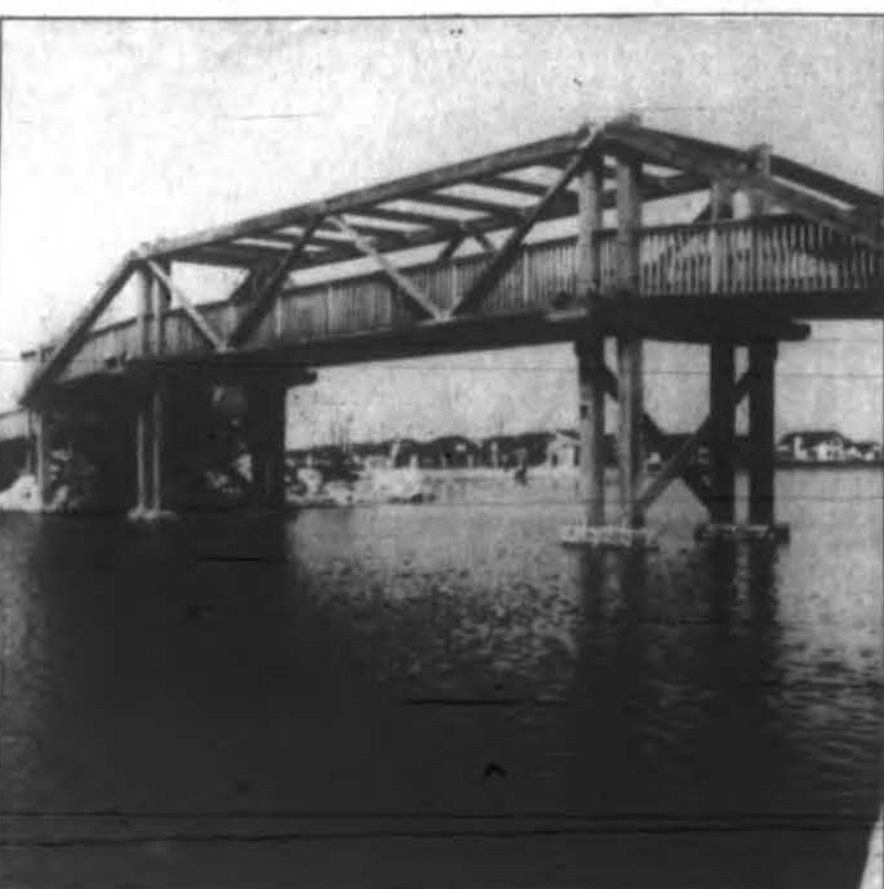

Plan Four, The Stratford, features two bedrooms, three baths and den in a two-story format of 2,310 square feet.

"Stratford will also be offered in an optional design that features a bonus room," said Langston.

The William Lyon Co. is accepting registrations for its Woodbridge Parklane Insiders' Interest List. Registrants will be kept up-to-date concerning progress of the development and will receive invitations to attend the preview opening of the model homes.

Those interested in having their names included on the list should contact The William Lyon Co. at 833-3600, or write to the firm at 19 Corporate Plaza Dr., Newport Beach, CA 92660.

Woodbridge South Lake will be within walking distance of the William Lyon Co.'s Woodbridge Parklane development.

Homebuyers can register for Seawatch lottery

Brochures and lottery registration information will be available to prospective buyers this weekend at the Seawatch condominium community in Laguna Niguel's Beacon Hill area.

A sales trailer will be open to distribute materials to those who earn up to 80 percent of the county's median income.

A development of Wilma/Shawntana/Fortune, Seawatch will offer 40 two-bedroom, 1¼-bath condominium homes priced from the mid-$50,000s. The interest rate will be 12.995 percent (13.4 percent annual percentage rate) for a 30-year fixed interest rate and a down payment as low as 5 percent.

Two lotteries will be held on Sept. 14 to determine the purchase priority for the available condominium homes. The first lottery will be for buyers whose individual or combined income does not exceed 70 percent of the projected county median for September 1984 ($26,226), while the second lottery will be for those people with an income of up to 80 percent of the projected county median for September 1984 ($29,973).

"Anyone interested in registering for the Seawatch lottery should plan to come out early to our sales trailer, which will be open daily from 10:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m., to obtain complete project and financial information and fill out a qualifying registration form," said Mark Conzelman, a principal in Shawntana Development, one of the project partners.

County's beaches are minutes away.

Residents of all Beacon Hill communities have access to many private recreation facilities, including two swimming pools and whirlpool spas, as well as tennis courts. In addition, hiking and biking trails are available at nearby Salt Creek and Laguna Niguel Parks, and South Orange

To reach the master-planned Beacon Hill residential area, take the Crown Valley Parkway exit south from the San Diego Freeway to Clubhouse Drive. Turn left on Clubhouse to Niguel Road, then right and follow the signs to Seawatch. For more information, call Shawntana Development's office at 855-1307.

Barratt's Studio Two condo displayed at Anaheim show

More than 600 exhibitors will display wares at Southern California Home & Garden Show

Visitors to George Colours Productions' 30th Anniversary Edition of the Southern California Home & Garden Show at the Anaheim Convention Center this weekend through Aug. 26 will be able to see a full-scale, fully furnished model of Barratt's Studio Two condominium.

The studio condominium represents Barratt-American's attempt to help the first time buyer break into the housing market.

The studio units are completely furnished, so buyers don't have to choose between an immediate additional cash outflow to buy furniture or making do with second-rate furniture to buy a new home.

These condos are currently available for sale in the "Country Oaks" community in Creekside, Ontario. Additional units will be available in Mission Viejo and San Diego planned communities due to open for sale in September; others are on the drawing boards for Simi Valley and Chatsworth.

The 400-square-foot Studio Two unit includes a carport, all appliances — range, oven, dishwasher, refrigerator, washer and dryer — and is furnished to create a multi-dimensional living space with a Murphy-type wall bed, shelving unit with a secretary, sofa, table, lamps, lo-boy, dining table and chairs.

The focus is on entertainment in the living/dining area, while the adjacent kitchen features a serving counter with folding doors and an area for the washer/dryer unit. The sleeping area and dressing alcove/bath form a privacy center with double wardrobes for storage. A shower/tub combination in the bath is standard.

All units in Country Oaks offer decorator selected carpeting, air conditioning, smoke detector, built-in telephone and television outlets and private patios. Other features are a water line to refrigerator space for an ice-maker, water saving toilets and hardwood kitchen cabinets.

Recreational amenities include a pool, semi-enclosed spa, cabana area and tennis courts in a green area, all maintained by the homeowners' association.

The Studio Two units range in price from $39,900 to $57,000, depending on the community in which they are located. The average price is around $50,000.

A typical down payment is 5 percent, and payments are comparable to rent.

In addition to the studio models, Country Oaks also has unfurnished one- and two-bedroom units.

Prospective homeowners who visit the Anaheim show can see more than 600 exhibitors at the Anaheim Convention Center facility, 800 W. Katella, across from Disneyland.

New for this year's show is the Antique Corner, with more than a dozen dealers offering their wares.

Hours are Monday through Thursday 2 to 10 p.m., Friday 2 to 11 p.m., Saturday noon to 11 p.m. and Sunday noon to 9 p.m.

Prices are $4.75 for adults, $3.75 for senior citizens over 60 Monday through Thursday, $2.50 for children 6-16, and free for children under six.

For further information call 999-8900.

Barratt's furnished condominium is on display at Anaheim Convention Center.

Flexible loan packages are available.

Four floor plans illustrate the progressive design philosophy of Sand Dollar Development, Inc., known for its "homes of the future."

The homes range from 1,926 to 2,700 square feet, with a choice of four bedrooms, three bedrooms plus den, four bedrooms plus den, or five bedrooms. As many as three baths are standard. Somerset Point is the only community in the area to offer three-car garages and a drive-thru garage in one plan.

Located above the Laguna Niguel Canyons, just minutes from Pacific Coast Highway and beaches, the community of Somerset Point strives to combine rural tranquility and ocean breezes within easy access of major business and financial centers of Orange County.

Features of the homes include tile or wood entries that lead to living rooms with vaulted ceilings and hand-built fireplaces, walk-in wet bars in most models, skylights or cozy window nooks.

Also featured are oak handrails on stairways, carpeting, fireplace gas outlets, textured walls and ceilings, interior laundry areas and air conditioning.

Kitchens include 11-cycle dishwashers, self-cleaning ovens, touch-control microwave ovens, icemaker plumbing and oversize pantries, along with ceramic tile counter tops, oak cabinets, oak-trimmed luminous ceilings and greenhouse windows.

Master bedrooms and baths feature oval steel tubs surrounded by ceramic tile, double sinks with antique brass fixtures, tiled showers (separate from tubs in most plans) and oak cabinets.

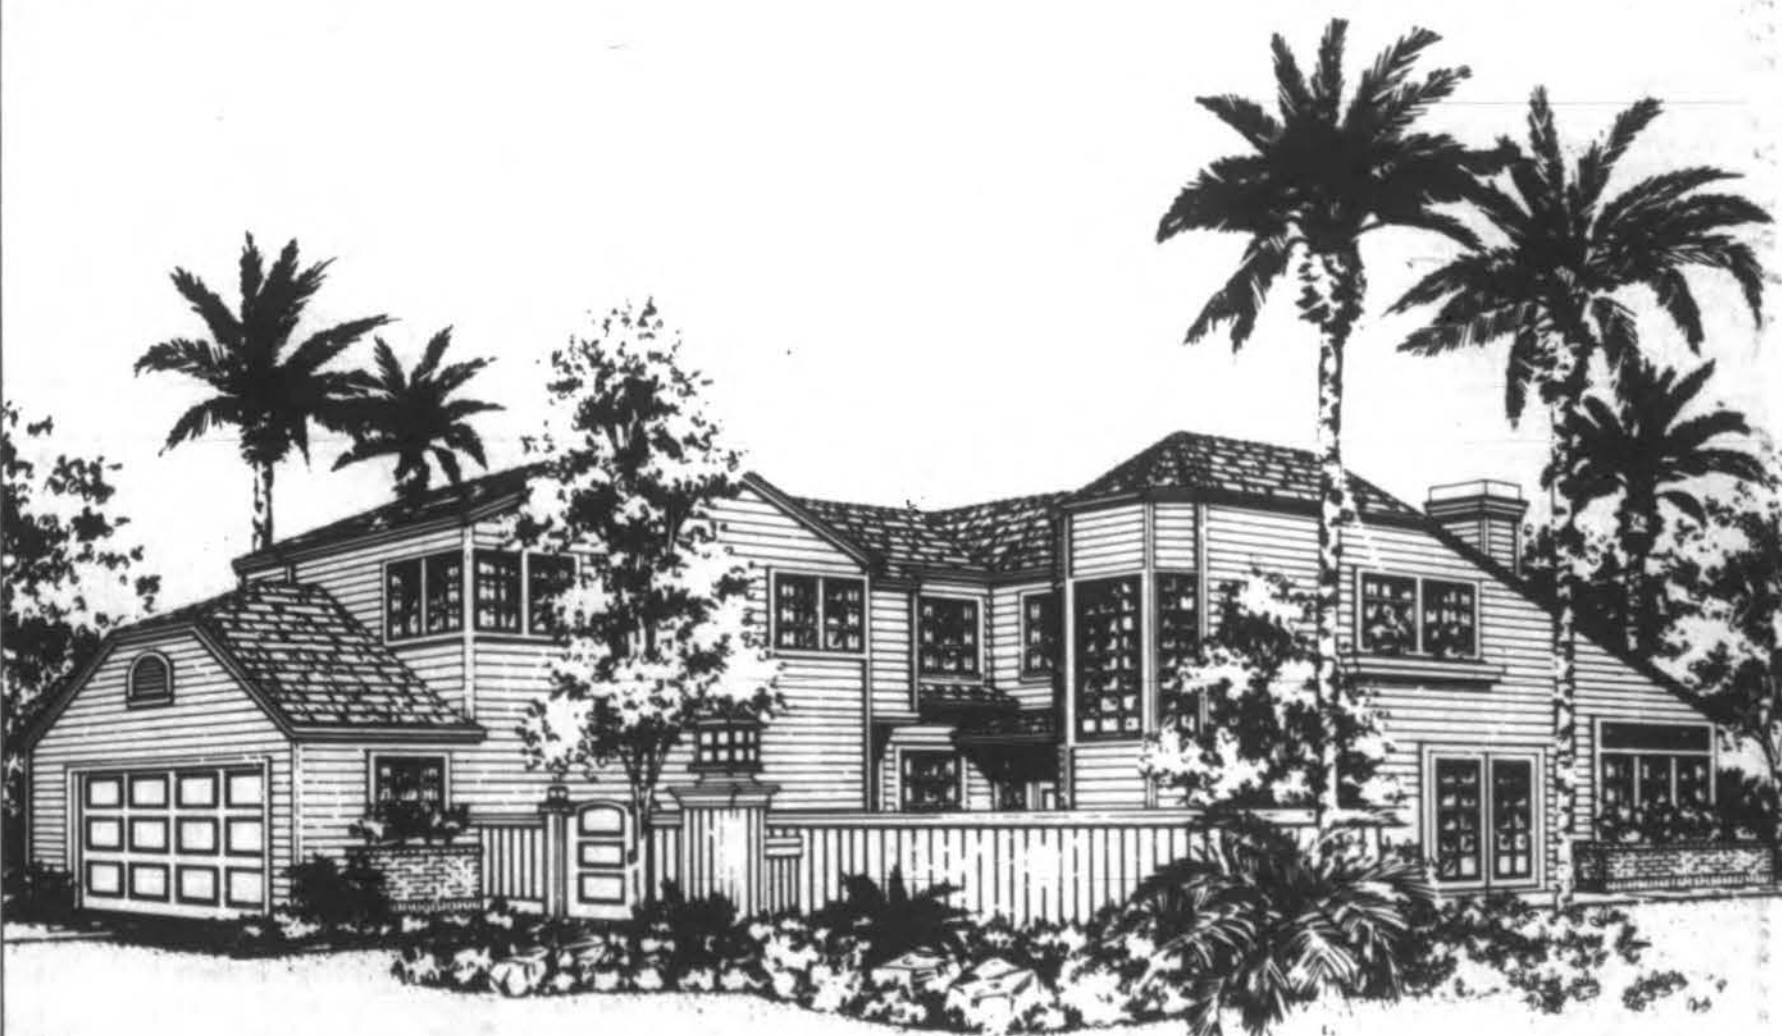

Many master bedrooms include their own fireplace as well.

The homes provide completely fenced rear yards, full width concrete driveways, fire-treated shake roofs, outdoor barbecue fittings and siding and masonry treatments.

To visit the community and tour the model homes designed by Design 1 of Los Angeles, take the Santa Ana Freeway to Crown Valley Parkway. Drive west on Crown Valley Parkway to The Street of the Golden Lantern on the left. Turn left on The Street of the Golden Lantern and follow the signs to Somerset Point.
