Like ethnic foods? Dishes from two dozen nations will highlight the first "Great Stuffed Cabbage Roll-off" April 23 and 24 at the Festival of Arts grounds in Laguna Beach.

Cooking competitors from throughout Southern California will crowd together at the six-acre festival site to woo judges with their dishes. Actor Buddy Ebsen as well as noted food writers and professional chefs will determine winners in a variety of categories.

Proceeds from the weekend fest will benefit the Orange County chapter of the Conference of Christians and Jews. (See CABBAGE, Page A2)

Beckman gift to hospital $5 million

Engines fired for airport growth

Not hard to tell airport 'players'

It was easy to tell who was for expanding John Wayne Airport and who wasn't during yesterday's Board of Supervisors hearing on the matter.

Those favoring expansion came garbed in the soft, pastel colors of the only airlines based at John Wayne, AirCal. Airline employees, two-thirds of whom reside in Orange County, told the board they were concerned about losing their jobs if the airport didn't grow.

And then there were those wearing the conservative three-piece suits. These were mostly businessmen who testified that enlargement of the airport would help the county to maintain its economic vitality.

Those who opposed expansion dressed differently. These were noise-weary residents of Santa Ana Heights and Newport Beach who wore the worried and sometimes angry faces of home and property owners.

They testified that noise from departing jetliners disrupted their lives and significantly lowered the value of their properties.

One Santa Ana Heights resident told the (See TESTIMONY, Page A2)

Newport vows fight to halt expansion

By STEVE MARBLE

Surprised and irritated, city leaders and residents in Newport Beach vowed today to fight the possible addition of 32 daily jet flights out of John Wayne Airport.

"I'm extremely disappointed," said Mayor Evelyn Hart of the decision to study the flight increase. "The city will never accept this level."

Councilwoman Jackie Heather called the proposal by Orange County supervisors "unrealistic."

Until yesterday's vote by supervisors to study increasing flights from the present level of 41-a-day as high as 73, Newport City leaders thought they were close to reaching a compromise with the county, which operates the airport.

Newport resident Joe Meshi, who lives under the takeoff pattern, said supervisors tried to "camouflage" their vote by mentioning a 55 flight limit with the possibility of going up to 73.

"It's time for the public to take action or to forever hold its peace," said Meshi.

"This came right out of the blue," said Mayor Hart, noting, though, she is pleased supervisors agreed to consider a legally binding agreement for an eventual freeze on daily (See NEWPORT, Page A2)

The prospect of 73 commercial jetliners taking off over Newport Beach each day roared into reality yesterday when the Orange County Board of Supervisors approved further study of a plan to increase John Wayne Airport operations to that level.

With Supervisors Thomas

- Daily jet takeoffs up to 73
- Serve 8 million passengers annually
- Increase use of Ontario Airport
- Freeze daily takeoffs at 73

Riley and Bruce Nestande dissenting, the board voted 3-2 to direct that environmental impact reports be prepared to consider increasing commercial operations at the airport to a maximum of 73 average daily departures.

The plan settled upon by the five-member board for modernizing and enlarging the airport would be undertaken in two phases. In phase one, the airport would be enlarged to accommodate 55 commercial departures per day.

Phase two, which would have to be approved by a future Board of Supervisors, would permit enlargements to handle up to 73 daily departures.

In addition, the board directed its legal staff to determine the legality of entering into a binding agreement with the City of Newport Beach to freeze airport operations at the 73-flight level.

The board also directed that (See AIRPORT, Page A2)

Kettler to resign board post

William Kettler of Huntington Beach, a Coast Community College District trustee for almost two decades, announced last night he is resigning from the college board, effective May 1.

Kettler said he is stepping down because of family and business commitments — not because he has been targeted in a recall campaign aimed at removing all five trustees from office.

"This is not because of the recall," he said in an interview this morning. "I'd made it known

Huntington doctor loses practice

Huntington Beach physician Mark Hopp, banned by a judge yesterday from practicing medicine at his drug detoxification clinic or dispensing drugs, will next face a hearing on whether that ban will be extended until state officials can complete their attempt to revoke his medical license.

Judge Robert Knox granted a temporary restraining order in Orange County Superior Court stopping Hopp's practice. The order extends only until May 2, however, when another hearing will be held to determine if a preliminary injunction should be issued against Hopp.

The restraining order was sought by representatives of the state attorney general's office, working for the state Board of Medical Quality Assurance. In a lengthy petition filed in support of the request, the state attorneys:

— Accused Hopp of gross negligence and incompetence, of furnishing dangerous drugs without medical need, of repeatedly furnishing excessive amounts of drugs and unlawfully furnishing dangerous drugs to drug addicts.

— Alleged that Hopp fabricated a diagnosis of drug addiction for an undercover narcotics investigator and fabricated symptoms of addiction so that he could supply him with (See DOCTOR, Page A2)

Trustees reject claims in scuba diving death

Wrongful death claims totaling $6 million, filed by the family of an Orange Coast College scuba diving student who died during a class trip, were rejected without comment last night by Coast Community College District trustees.

The trustees oversee Orange Coast, Golden West and Coastline colleges.

The claims were filed by the widow and children of Frank Walter Scroggs Jr., 57, of Costa Mesa, who died during a class scuba diving trip to Catalina Island on Jan. 13. The Los Angeles County Coroner's office listed the cause of death as accidental drowning.

The legal claims charge that (See SCUBA, Page A2)

donated by the Irvine Company in southern Irvine.

The 83-year-old inventor and businessman, who founded Beckman Instruments in Irvine, has pushed for a hospital in the city for more than a decade. He has often been at odds with UCI officials who have never given up plans to build a hospital on their campus.

"I'm still hopeful. I wouldn't say I'm strongly positive, but I'm hopeful we can break down this growing rift between UCI and the community and get them to work together," Beckman said yesterday.

IMC leaders believe the $5 million gift from the Arnold and Mabel Beckman Foundation is the largest ever offered in Orange County for a health care facility. Beckman said the money has no strings attached for constructing the proposed 222-bed hospital on land just north of the San Diego Freeway between Sand Canyon Avenue and the Laguna Freeway.

The medical center is estimated to cost $86 million. A feasibility study prepared by consultant Richard Slotow said from $15 to $20 million in cash must be raised from the community to keep financing costs low enough to support reasonable health care costs, Beckman said.

Beckman's pledge is contingent upon state approval to construct the medical center. IMC officials are competing with the HealthWest Foundation of Chatsworth, which is seeking to build a similar hospital at UCI.

Beckman suggested his pledge shows that IMC is moving forward with its plans and said he hoped the "cool heads" in the hospital competition could still work out a satisfactory compromise.

CCOUNCILMAN INDICTED. . .

Hodges and the others were indicted yesterday by the federal grand jury in Los Angeles following an investigation by the FBI into the alleged real estate scheme.

Hodges, 39, was accused of agreeing to verify false information on applications for bank loans, according to U.S. Atty. Daniel Broderick.

Other defendants named in the indictment were Alex Logan, 36, of Huntington Beach; Paula Fisher, 28, a real estate agent from Cypress; Donald Fisher, 35, a mortgage broker from Huntington Beach and Deborah Toler, 30, a clerk from Huntington Beach.

Hodges, who gained publicity recently in his ill-fated drive to persuade Queen Elizabeth II of Great Britain to visit his city, was unavailable today for comment.

A colleague said, however, that

Hodges appeared to be shocked when discussing the indictment over the telephone.

The FBI investigation also reportedly looked into the role played by Barclay Hodges in the real estate scheme. Barclay, the brother of Gil Hodges, was shot to death last year after a day-long drinking episode at a restaurant at John Wayne Airport.

Councilman Hodges also is being investigated by the Orange County District Attorney's office on allegations of political misconduct.

An indictment is a charge brought against a person by a grand jury. It doesn't establish guilt or innocence.

U.S. Atty. Broderick said conviction of the conspiracy charge has a maximum prison term of five years and a maximum fine of $10,000.

drugs, and that he also supplied drugs to other undercover investigators who did not indicate they were drug addicts.

— Said Hopp distributed misleading handouts on drugs for distribution to patients and encouraged patients to manipulate the state Medi-Cal program to get their visits and drugs paid for.

— Listed 10 people who are known at present to have died during the course of seeing Hopp.

The veteran trustee received a standing ovation at last night's board meeting. Kettler was too emotionally moved to read his prepared statement to the audience, so the letter was read by Board President Carol Gandy.

While claiming that the recall was not the reason he resigned, Kettler said it added to his current frustrations on the board. He also pointed to the board's loss of control to the state, which now dispenses almost all community college funding.

The recall campaign was launched early this year after the trustees approved the layoffs of more than 100 full-time teachers and administrators as a means of coping with an anticipated budget deficit.

After leaving the board, Kettler said he will continue to work against the recall of the other board members, describing the campaign as "ridiculous and immature."

every effort be made to encourage the growth and development of Ontario Airport in San Bernardino County, thus easing the pressure to expand commercial activities at John Wayne.

The compromise action was taken following a public hearing that lasted for more than four hours. The action that finally won three of the board's five votes was proposed by Supervisor Ralph Clark, who initially favored a flat expansion to 73 daily departures.

The board was to select among 13 alternatives that ranged from closing the airport to allowing as many flights as market conditions demanded.

Supervisor Thomas Riley, whose fifth supervisorial district includes the airport and Newport

Beach, opened the hearing by proposing the board settle on a 55-flight alternative, a 14-flight increase over the current 41-flight ceiling.

Riley also suggested that the county explore the possibility of freezing airport operations at the 55-flight level. That was apparently agreeable to Newport Beach city officials — long opponents of any airport expansion that would increase noise in their nearby city.

But Supervisors Harriett Wieder, Roger Stanton and Clark voted in favor of the phased-in 73 flight alternative, citing its "flexibility" and noting that the decision approved only environmental studies of the project and did not constitute their final approval for the project.

The beach city has spent most of its lobbying efforts in recent months to get supervisors to go along with a permanent cap on daily flights. Earlier this year, supervisors rejected such a concept.

"The city will try to pursue a binding agreement with the county but with the firm understanding that such an agreement would have absolute numbers considerably lower than those mentioned," Hart said.

Barbara Lichman, leader of a citizen group fighting airport expansion, expressed irritation with supervisors and called the proposed 73 flight ceiling "totally unacceptable."

U.S. Summary

Thunderstorms clobbered Mississippi with so much rain that some homes spared by last week's floods were soaked today by water gushing down the streets.

Meanwhile, a blustery storm spreading up to 11 inches of snow shut down schools and roads in the northern Plains. Firefighters blocked by floodwaters had to let a house burn down in Vicksburg, Miss., and the waist-deep flash floods caused by 5 inches of rain chased at least 500 people from their homes around Jackson.

Power lines were down and hundreds of schools were closed in Minnesota today because of wet snow flung around by winds gusting up to 53 mph. The blinding "near blizzard" forced plows off the clogged roads in some parts of the state, officials said.

Snow in Nebraska shut down public and parochial schools in Omaha, and most highways in the state were packed with ice or snow. One man was killed in a highway crash.

Up to 7 inches of snow fell on South Dakota overnight and winds up to 40 mph forced many travelers into truck stops.

As the storm in Mississippi dumped 4 inches of rain in a little more than an hour, police received at least 100 calls requesting help for evacuations.

Missing bomber found;
all seven aboard perish

By The Associated Press

LAS VEGAS — A B-52 bomber found after a two-day search through snow and rain had slammed into a southern Utah mountainside in bad weather, killing all seven crewmen aboard, officials said today.

The wreckage was discovered yesterday as clouds broke briefly over a route being retraced by a search plane, one of more than 20 involved in the hunt for the unarmed strategic bomber since it disappeared Monday afternoon.

A board of officers was being convened to investigate the accident, the Air Force said in a statement read by Lt. Col. Richard Kline of the Strategic Air Command at Offutt Air Force Base, Neb.

King Kong finally makes it

NEW YORK — The climb was a hairy one for King Kong, whose inflated 84-foot replica finally loomed from the top of the Empire State Building in a publicity stunt celebrating the golden anniversary of the ape's film debut. Six days of bad luck and bad weather delayed the 3,000-pound vinyl gorilla's rise to a spot near the top of the 102-story building, where the original Kong cavorted with actress Fay Wray before tumbling to his death in the movie's climax. Workers pumped new life into the eight-story balloon last night after nearly a week-long effort that included stuffing it into elevators.

De Lorean asks evidence hearing

LOS ANGELES — Contending a conspiracy exists to leak information to the newsmedia, John Z. De Lorean's defense team has requested an evidentiary hearing to explore alleged "improper government influences and activities" in the automaker's cocaine trafficking case. The 10-page motion by attorneys for the 57-year-old automobile industry maverick was revealed in documents released by U.S. District Judge Robert Takasugi yesterday — two days after they were filed under seal. The defense motion accused the Internal Revenue Service of having tried "at least since 1979 to arrange a prosecution of John De Lorean, reminiscent of its 'enemies list' activities in the past."

Reagan 'death' rumors circulated

LONDON — Rumors circulated today in financial markets in Europe and the Far East that President Reagan was dead, but White House spokesman Robin Gray said it was not true. The rumors prompted several telephone calls from news organizations, Gray said. The reports also caused a slight stirring in trading in currency markets in West Germany and Switzerland. In Frankfurt, West Germany, for example, the rumors slightly undercut the dollar, but the White House denial then bolstered the American currency, traders said. The dollar opened at 2.4390 West German marks, fell to 2.4350 marks after the rumors circulated, then rose to 2.4400 marks after they were denied.

By The Associated Press

Nineteen-year-old Christopher Mickle Buccina was cooling his heels in Orange County Jail after racking up $35,000 in traffic warrants on top of a much-tarnished driving record that began before he got his license.

Buccina of Mission Viejo was arrested Tuesday when a sheriff's deputy stopped a car that didn't have license plates and recognized him as he sat in the passenger's seat.

The deputy ran a warrants check on him and found he was wanted on charges ranging from petty theft to not having proper vehicle registration.

He was booked into jail on the $35,000 in traffic warrants and a $2,000 warrant on a petty theft charge, said sheriff's spokesman Lt. Wyatt Hart.

"He's known to us for his driving record," said Hart yesterday. "Obviously, he doesn't take the driver's license seriously."

"Warrants are like war bonds," he added, "they mature with age."

Buccina's convictions include speeding, hit and run, misdemeanor drunken driving and not having a license or registration, said Carol Fisher of the Department of Motor Vehicles' law enforcement division.

Buccina didn't get his license until May 2, 1980, and it was suspended on Oct. 21, 1980, when he applied to have it renewed.

But according to DMV records, Buccina was convicted of hit-and-run on Nov. 19, 1979, long before he even had his license.

Five of his 16 convictions were for not having a driver's license and three were for not having vehicle registration papers.

Coast leaders huddle with Reagan

Encouraging news reported from executive briefing of local officials

By GLENN SCOTT

Of the Daily Pilot Staff

From the Orange Coast to the White House they went. Four local officials met the president last week and then returned with encouraging, if varied, news.

Jackie Heather of Newport Beach, David Sills of Irvine, Ben Nielsen of Fountain Valley and Harriett Wieder of Huntington Beach were among 50 people invited to the executive offices for a briefing of elected leaders from the West.

A 30-minute session with Ronald Reagan was the highlight, but the one-day event included briefings with other top administrators including Interior Secretary James Watt, and Transportation Secretary Elizabeth Dole.

Since Heather, Sills and Nielsen are city council members while Wieder is an Orange County supervisor — they came back this week speaking about separate developments.

Noise from John Wayne Airport consumes Newport Beach. Heather said Dole offered "a real breakthrough" by suggesting the federal government will abandon efforts to pre-empt county noise standards, which are more flexible than national rules.

Heather also had a run-in with Watt over his plans to sell offshore oil drilling leases off the Orange Coast. The briefing was on the same day Watt held a press conference to mollify reaction to earlier statements opposing a concert featuring the Beach Boys at Washington Monument.

Irvine's David Sills says 'worst is over'

Some members of the band own vacation houses in Newport, Heather said.

"I privately offered to have the Beach Boys give a concert here to raise money we could pay in lieu of the lease sale," she said.

Nielsen, meanwhile, was buoyed by Watt's interest in disposing of small parcels of federal land. Nielsen said the policy could mean unused land in the center of Mile Square Park might be deeded from the Navy to his city.

Sills was encouraged by Reagan's hints that federal programs such as revenue sharing won't be cut as drastically as in the last few years.

"The president, I felt, strongly implied at least that the state and local governments are over the worst of the budget cuts," he said.

Wieder visited the briefing and also a Senate subcommittee meeting. She said the outlook was promising for the Army Corps of Engineers to receive $200,000 to prepare feasibility studies on ocean access if a marina is built at Bolsa Chica.

Sea lions set free, head back to water

By STEVE MITCHELL
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

It was nothing like the Ponderosa, but the three rehabilitated sea lions didn't seem to mind a bit as television star Lorne Greene released them from their cages.

"They're off," the silver-haired star laughed as the pups scrambled over each other in their rush to get to the ocean off Crescent Bay Beach in Laguna.

About 60 Laguna Beach High School students cheered as "Little Joe," "Hoss" and "Adam" dove under four-foot waves — the first salt-water swim in months for the former "Friends of the Sea Lions" patients.

Greene was on hand for the release of the trio, all of which suffered from malnutrition and parasites prior to their stay at the Marine Mammal Center operated by the "Friends" in Laguna Canyon.

While he was in town, the former "Bonanza" star received a plaque from a representative of the International Fund for Animal Welfare for his work in the field of animal welfare.

Greene is currently host and executive producer of a wildlife series titled "New Wilderness."

Prior to the release of the three sea lions, the TV personality chatted informally with the students about endangered species, the decay of the environment, and the role of man in that decay.

And while the youngsters listened attentively, it was apparent they were eager to watch the release of the flipped guests of honor.

The sea lions were less polite. As soon as the cages opened, they were off — without so much as a "howdy-doo" for their benefactors.

Teacher faces rap in child molesting

By GLENN SCOTT
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

A suspended third grade teacher in Irvine faces a preliminary hearing later this month to answer charges that he molested a 12-year-old boy in Santa Ana.

Bart Goodrich Jr., 34, has not been back to his classroom at Northwood Elementary School since Feb. 2, two days before he was arrested in Phoenix, Ariz., in connection with an incident on Jan. 3.

He has pleaded not guilty to charges of forcible child molestation and his preliminary hearing is scheduled for April 22 at Orange County Central Municipal Court in Santa Ana.

The Irvine Unified School District suspended Goodrich after the arrest. Superintendent A. Stanley Corey said the state Educational Code requires the teachers charged in such cases be immediately suspended.

If convicted, Goodrich would lose his job. If found innocent, he would be reinstated with back pay.

Goodrich is in his third year as a teacher in Irvine. He lives in Tustin.

Orange County Sheriff's Lt. Wyatt Hart said detectives investigated Goodrich after a 12-year-old boy identified him as the man who molested him outside Hill View Continuation School in Santa Ana.

Goodrich fled to Phoenix before detectives could arrest him, Hart said. They obtained an arrest warrant but Goodrich, after talking with his parents, agreed to surrender to Detective Fred Geller, who flew to Phoenix to make the arrest, said Hart.

Goodrich was released from Orange County Jail on his own recognizance.

BULLETIN BOARD

Newport seeking city panelists

Applicants are being sought for positions on five Newport Beach city boards and commissions, including two seats on the Planning Commission.

The deadline for filing is May 1. Applicants may file at the City Clerk's office, 3300 Newport Blvd.

In addition to the Planning Commission appointment the City Council will name persons to the Board of Library Trustees, the City Arts Commission, the Civil Service Board and the Parks, Beaches, and Recreation Commission.

• A new ticketron outlet has opened at Peer Records in Irvine.

The record store at 14210 Culver Drive became the first location in Irvine to offer the computerized ticket service late last month.

Ticketron offers services for sporting events, theater and concerts in California as well as other major cities.

Campsite reservations in California national parks also can be made through the outlet.

• The Mission Viejo Activities Committee will be hosting an open house at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Montanoso Recreation Center in Mission Viejo.

Highlighting the open house will be a slide presentation on the activities committee's events. The Montanoso Recreation Center is located at 25800 Montanoso Drive in Mission Viejo.

Residents, businesses and civic organizations residing in the Mission Viejo area are invited to attend. For further information, contact Charlie Ware at 837-6050, ext. 2308.

• Christine Wynn Okazaki, a student at Brigham Young University in Utah, is completing an internship in retail management at a department store in Denver. The daughter of Newport Beach City Manager Robert Wynn, Okazaki is a 1978 graduate of Corona del Mar High and is married to Robert Okazaki, who works with IBM in Denver.

• Costa Mesa police are seeking volunteer translators to help non-English speaking residents needing law enforcement aid.

Residents fluent in Indochinese languages are especially needed. For more information call 754-5112.

Sgt. Larry Bersch
Larry Bersch named Mesa's cop of year

Sgt. Larry Bersch, a 27-year member of the Costa Mesa Police Force, was named Policeman of the Year at a luncheon held in his honor today.

Around 100 businessmen, city officials and policemen attended the ceremony, held at the Costa Mesa Holiday Inn.

The veteran officer has received 46 commendations, most recently for his coordination of field activities during last month's flooding and storms, and does not have a complaint or a disciplinary action on his record, according to a department spokesman.

Bersch joined the department in 1957, earning $319 per month. He was promoted to sergeant in 1964 and has since served as a helicopter observer and a patrol sergeant.

He is the 20th policeman to receive the annual award, which is voted on by staff members. Winners' names are inscribed on a permanent trophy at the police department.

Lion Country bazaar flayed

Irvine officials hope to curtail weekend festivities

City officials in Irvine still are not satisfied with the new bazaar staged on weekends at Lion Country Safari and they've begun proceedings to stop it.

Community Development Director Larry Hogle said a public hearing has been scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Thursday, April 21, to consider revocation of a city permit allowing the huge parking lot bazaar.

At issue is whether Lion Country organizers are living up to the conditions established in a use permit the city granted them.

Hogle said in a letter dated April 6 to Lion Country President Harry Shuster that the bazaar still includes kinds of commercial enterprises the city Planning Commission didn't intend to allow.

"It is not the planning commission's intent to allow a general commercial use," Hogle said.

Shuster, in a recent interview, said he intended to limit items for sale at the bazaar to the kinds of things the city allowed. But so far, the items haven't been limited to the city's satisfaction.

Hogle said such things as televisions, power tools, home exterior finishes and chiropractic services are being sold contrary to the planning commission's ruling.

He said the commission expected the bazaar to limit its goods to the types sold in amusement parks and crafts fairs.

Yellowstone trip planned

An 11-day adventure tour to Yellowstone National Park will be conducted July 15-25 by Orange Coast College's Community Service Office this summer.

Other stops on the tour will include Lake Havasu and London Bridge, Grand Canyon, Bryce Canyon, Jackson Hole Country, Salt Lake City, Zion National Park, and Las Vegas.

The cost of the trip is $695. For information phone 556-5880.

Spring fest slated

Mater Dei Catholic High School will host its seventh annual Spring Fiesta April 22 to 24.

The event will feature carnival rides, game booths, food specialties and refreshments, live entertainment and hourly raffles. The fiesta will take place at the school at 1202 West Edinger Ave. The hours are from 5 to 11 p.m. on Friday, from noon to 11 p.m. on Saturday and from 1 to 10 p.m. on Sunday.

OPINION

Laguna must push Sycamore solution

For more than a dozen years, the 522-acre parcel of Laguna Canyon land known as Sycamore Hills has been something of a thorn in the sides of various Laguna Beach city councils.

Although it is remote from the city proper, the acreage was brought within the city limits to allow control of its development.

But proposal after proposal fell through and finally, in 1978, the city itself purchased the land with the idea of maintaining much of it for open space, and paying off the purchase price by selling portions to developers.

There still is no development and the city still owes $7.2 million on the property.

Now there appears to be another ray of hope for relieving the city of a major part of the huge debt. Following the collapse of one promising proposal for development of 62 acres of the land, the city sought other bidders for the parcel and received three proposals from developers.

Now the council has agreed to negotiate exclusively with one of the three, Kaufman and Broad Communities Inc., which made the best cash offer — $5.5 million for the 62 acres.

The firm proposes to construct 650 single-family attached and detached homes, mostly in the so-called "affordable" range, and to place them within a gated community which would reduce city costs for street maintenance and police patrols.

The other bidders offered slightly less money and proposed more housing, plus commercial development.

The exclusive agreement is valid for two months, with a possible 30-day extension. The city should spare no effort in negotiating seriously toward a favorable conclusion to the seemingly endless dilemma of what to do with its costly land investment. Eventual development would yield tax revenue that could help wipe out the balance of the debt.

To the Editor:

An administration with a heart — Laguna Beach once had such an administration. It was the Charlie Boyd administration in 1972-73. Charlie was a gentleman and a gentle man. His administration cared about people. They governed, they did not rule, and the winners were the citizens of Laguna Beach.

They originated the following important people issues:

1. An economic committee.
2. A social committee.
3. A cultural committee.
4. A physical environment committee.

The above committees were actually the beginning of our recent general plans.

Above all Mayor Boyd did what was necessary to protect the citizens of Laguna Beach. The Boyd administration replaced City Manager Larry Rose. (To my knowledge this was the only time a city manager was ever removed in Laguna Beach.) Is now the time to remove another City Manager, Ken Frank? Concerned citizens think so. Mayor Boyd then took personal control of the council agenda and, with clerical help, ran it properly.

The Roy Holmes administration that succeeded the Boyd administration followed the Boyd philosophy and policy, which resulted in Laguna Beach acquiring the Main Beach Park, which is a joy.

This all changed with the administrations that followed Roy Holmes. Among the greatest disappointments in Laguna Beach history were the so-called "liberal administrations" of Bellerue and Fitzpatrick. It may take years to really assess the damage done to people issues during their administrations.

The Gentry administration is now in office and it is a turning point. Hopefully it will follow the Boyd and Holmes administrations. By doing so it will make Laguna Beach a better place in which to live for our present citizens and our future generations.

ALAN E. ADAMS

Unions hurt themselves

To the Editor:

For years this nation has been plagued by ever increasing inflation and a diminishing economy. Unemployment has been on the rise, almost to the point where having a job at all is a privilege. Why is it then, that organized labor in this country, rather than cooperate with the attempts of industry and government to right the economic situation, insists on practicing its "give me more no matter what the cost" strategy when negotiating for its representatives?

I read in the Pilot about the California School Employees Association (CSEA), which represents non-faculty and clerical employees in the Newport-Mesa Unified School District, proposing a contract which offers a fair (6 percent) wage increase, but also demands a reduction in the current work week from 40 hours to 35 hours. The contract also mandates union membership or equivalent dues paid by non-members. What ever happened to a fair week's pay for a fair week's work? Mandatory union membership, which is technically illegal under current labor laws, but legal loopholes enable it to be negotiated into a contract, is a blatant violation of the rights of an individual who would choose not to join. At a time when budget cuts are beginning to affect the quality of our children's education, we the taxpayers who pay for those higher labor costs must not tolerate this kind of extortion.

And what about the Teamsters and the United Food and Clothing workers unions' attempted boycott of the Target discount stores that have moved in to fill the void left when FedMart departed? The unions are charging Target and its parent company Dayton-Hudson with "blatantly discriminatory tactics" by their refusal to hire former FedMart employees, who are represented by the Teamsters and the UFCW. I must applaud Target and Dayton-Hudson for their decision not to hire unionized workers. When FedMart was in business it was their goal to offer merchandise at a discount to the public. When their operating overhead became too expensive (i.e. overpaid union labor), they could not turn a sufficient profit and closed down. The consumer was hurt by this action. Target is attempting to again offer merchandise at a discount, but in order to be successful, they too must keep costs under control.

Give business a chance, and it will come through. What started out as a good thing earlier in this century has turned into a monopoly on the working people in this country: organized labor. No longer do we live in an environment of sweat shops and abused labor. I point out the overwhelming defeat by the employees of Knott's Berry Farm of the Teamsters bid to unionize the park last summer. That company was built on a philosophy of a fair wage for fair work, and is living proof of how management and labor do not need a go-between to work together effectively.

Of all the good that unions have brought about in the past 50 years, they are quickly on their way to negating their virtues with unchecked greed.

A Chinese visitor views U.S.

NEW YORK — If a modern Rip Van Winkle woke up after more than 30 years, what would be his first thought about America in the 1980s?

"The air is clean," said Zhao Jinglun, who wasn't asleep but who was in China since studying in the United States in the late 1940s.

"When I was a student here 30 years ago, you couldn't wear a white shirt because the pollution was so bad."

Zhao, who is 58 now, was studying economics then at Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Tenn., and at Harvard, in Cambridge, Mass. He returned home to Peking, working as an editor and English translator, with painful time out for several years labored on a pig farm during the Cultural Revolution.

HE RETURNED to America two years ago, and since then he has been traveling the country from coast to coast. He has spent time in more than half the 50 states, talking with academics, politicians and anyone else he has met along the way in preparation for a book about our people for his, the Chinese.

We talked for a couple of hours the other day. He emphasized that, while he is not a member of the Communist Party, he is not a dissident, and he plans to return home to Peking next year. He said he supports "present reform attempts" by Chinese leader Deng Xiaoping. And he emphasized, in the Chinese manner, that his conclusions about America were still tentative.

With those caveats in mind, these were some of the thoughts of visitor Zhao:

— "America is still the land of opportunity — if you work. This society has the greatest social movement in the world. Here, for instance, you do not have to succeed academically to be successful. Unlike other countries, there are many avenues to success here."

— "People say the American system is failing. It is not. Yours is a successful society of moderation and gradualism. There are no glaring injustices in the society. By that I mean that no people here are so infuriated that they must fight. There is, however, glaring inequity. You talk of all men being born equal, but blacks in America are not born equal."

— "Your foreign policy is a total contradiction. You talk of self-determination, but you do not allow it where you have the power — as in Central America. You are imperialist."

— "The noise level has increased tremendously in America. Living in Cambridge is a different experience because of trucks, sirens and jet overflights. Besides, I can't stand rock music. It is a tragedy that young people should waste their lives on such things."

— "The sex mores of America are totally different than when I was living here before."

— "THE GREATEST worry I have for America is its loss of idealism. Younger people seem to care about nothing spiritual, only their careers."

Self-interested youth aside, Zhao does not see American democracy — or capitalism — in a state of collapse. In fact, what he sees is Marxism redefining itself to incorporate many of the successes and innovations of capitalistic democracy. "The Marxists," he said, not including himself as one, "now argue that certain things are not 'capitalist' anymore — science, technology, management methods — because they benefit all classes. Soon they'll add other things to that list — checks and balances, the rule of law, the phasing out of lifetime tenure."

State boards self-serving

Legislative Analyst William Hamm has zinged in on the state's Board of Landscape Architects, advocating it be eliminated. He based his recommendation on the record of non-activity by the board which he said proves the lack of need.

The justification for such regulatory boards is the protection of the public health and safety. Yet Hamm says in the past three years the board has taken action against only one licensee and spends most of its time chasing after unlicensed persons using the title "landscape architect."

THE BOARD came into existence a couple of decades ago as a result of an organized group of gardeners and nurserymen, seeking to upgrade themselves and build a protective barrier against competition, pressuring the Legislature into creating it.

Its establishment really changed nothing and contributes nothing to the public health or safety. As Hamm stated, it is hard to imagine how the planting of trees and shrubs can result in hazards to the public.

In any event gardeners, nurserymen, or common laborers, can do any and all of the work performed by the so-called landscape architects without any need or requirement for the state license. They just can't call themselves landscape architects.

In fighting for the continuance of the board, its executive secretary, Joe Heath, apparently gave the Legislature some misinformation.

Reportedly, Heath told legislators that the loss of state licensing for landscape architects could result in the cities and counties using architects and engineers for approval of landscape plans.

But section 5644 of the Landscape Architects Act specifically exempts from its licensing requirement not only architects and engineers, but contractors and building designers as well.

THE LANDSCAPE Architects Board is one of a conglomerate of regulatory boards, mostly in the Department of Consumer Affairs, which serve no real purpose other than to protect the licensed against the intrusion of the unlicensed, a hold the competition down sort of situation.

One of the worst abuses of the use of police powers for such purposes under the guise of protecting the public health and safety is the Board of Fabric Care, formerly known as the Board of Dry Cleaners. It, too, spends most of its time chasing down unlicensed, seldom takes any action against a licensee and provides no protection for the public against those who damage clothing taken for cleaning.

Another is the Bureau of Home Furnishings, formerly known as the Bureau of Furniture and Bedding. Its protection is largely that of guarding large manufacturers from the competition of smaller ones.

If the Legislature were to review the work of these boards it would find about half of them serve no real purpose and could be easily eliminated without any harm to the public.

Probation experts eye prison relief

GUEST COMMENT

The following is a response to a Waters/Blackburn column of March 9 regarding proposals to alleviate the prison overcrowding problem. This is an expression of the Chief Probation Officers Association's viewpoint on state/county partnerships utilizing the National Institute of Corrections offender classification and case management system.

By MICHAEL SCHUMACHER, Ph.D.
Chief Probation Officer,
Orange County

The state's problems center on prison overcrowding. One solution, new prison construction, is a bittersweet proposal. The price tag for construction alone is estimated to be $70,000 per bed. This, coupled with the fact that prison population projections show that shortly after these new facilities become available the need for them will diminish, makes facility expansion an even less viable solution.

Local government is equally concerned about both the rising state commitment rate and public safety. However, with cutbacks in staff and resources the most responsible and cost effective disposition for many offenders may be commitment to a state correctional facility. This simply increases the pressure on a prison system that is strained to the maximum. Therefore, it is in the best interest of the state to encourage and support an effective and vital local correctional system.

The solution we propose is a partnership between state and local corrections which can provide 1) long-term impact through reduction in the number entering the state prison system, and 2) some short-term relief to the prison crisis through the utilization of local facilities. Central to this proposal is a classification system which will enable early identification and treatment of those offenders with the greatest probability of becoming state prison inmates and which will result in a more effective allocation of state and local resources.

THE NATIONAL Institute for Corrections classification system (utilized in more than 50 national jurisdictions) uses a set of objective, validated criteria to determine an offender's propensity for involvement in additional illegal behavior. It defines high, moderate and low risk groups. In the highly successful Wisconsin application of this model, offenders so classified were given "prescription" services, i.e., those individuals with the highest risk were provided with the highest level of service. The result was a 52 percent decline in the number of law violations committed by this high risk offender group while on probation. Full implementation of this classification system in California, including statewide minimum standards for the delivery of services would be expected to also decrease the rate of first commitments to our state correctional facilities, over time.

IN THE MEANTIME, the other element of our proposal would provide short-term relief to the population pressures of state correctional facilities. It is estimated that 23 percent of the current state inmate population is appropriate for minimum security facilities. Many of these individuals were sentenced to state facilities due to insufficient local sentencing alternatives. Conservatively, this population represents 10 to 15 percent of the total first commitments to California Department of Corrections (CDC) and Youth Authority (YA) facilities. Significant dollar savings could accrue to the taxpayer if counties contracted with the state to provide local correctional services for these first-time commitments to YA and CDC. Currently, there are over 600 closed local juvenile beds in this state, many of which could be reopened or upgraded for use by adult and juvenile offenders.

Implementation of this proposal will require the allocation of state funds to local corrections. However, if both elements of our proposal are implemented, we believe that this outlay will result in substantial savings for the taxpayers of California — at least $300 million in five years and up to $1 billion in 10 years. While allowing both state and local correctional systems to use their energies and resources on appropriate offender populations, this proposal will also alleviate pressure on state correctional facilities without compromising the safety of our communities.

Kids 'need work' on health

While classmates learned how many push-ups they could do in one minute, Mindi Edwards had her blood pressure checked.

About 300 sixth grade pupils participated in a health fair recently at Sowers School in Huntington Beach.

They ran a mile, did some situps and stretching exercises to check on back conditions and received blood pressure tests.

An apparatus called a skinfold caliper was available to measure body fat.

The upshot of the exercise and testing was that there is room for improvement in the sixth graders' physical condition.

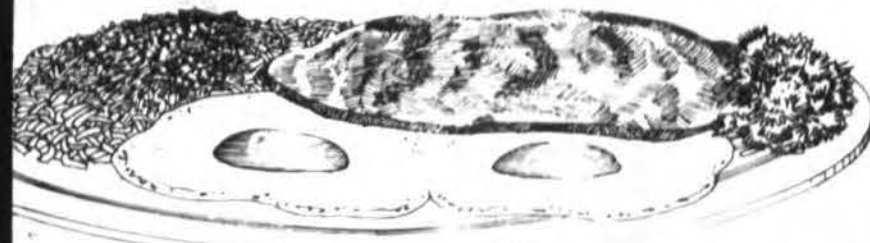

The youngsters also "had a little more body fat than they should have," according to physical education teacher Carol MacGregor.

She said conditioning might be lacking because physical education classes aren't offered until youngsters reach the sixth grade.

Some people call Target an upscale discounter. Our customers see us as a total value store, shopping us instead of department stores, specialty shops, catalog retailers and traditional discounters. We see ourselves as the best place in town to buy high quality merchandise, including brand names... at low prices...in surroundings that make shopping a pleasant experience. But judge for yourself.

19 big, bright Target stores open Sunday, April 17 at 9 am.

Come on out and look us over during our Grand Opening Sale, starting Sunday. You'll find that when Target has a sale, we really go all out. Yet, we also make every effort to have very low, very competitive shelf prices, day in and day out. Here's how we do it.

Target buys vast quantities of merchandise for 201 stores. We buy at a lower cost and pass the savings on to you.

Target sells vast quantities of merchandise. We accept a lower profit per item in return for fast turnover.

In addition to low prices, you get first quality merchandise at Target. No seconds, no irregulars. Our quality is higher than that sold by many discounters. Our fashions compare favorably with fashions sold by many of the big catalog retailers. As for kids' clothes, you can count on quality that takes a lot of wearings and washings.

You find plenty of name brands on our shelves, too. Levi's, GE, Atari, Norelco, Timex. Plus Eureka, Glidden, Mattel, Tonka, Revlon, Kodak, Polaroid, Coleman, Gillette, Panasonic, Sony, Clairol, B. F. Goodrich, Michelin, Seiko, Wrangler and more, many more.

The merchandise you see in a Target ad passes stiff testing...unless it's a proven national brand product. An independent laboratory tests these advertised items for serviceability, quality, proper sizing, etc. For safety, too. Toys sold at Target meet or exceed existing government safety standards. We make sure that we can deliver on our advertising claims.

You see new products, wanted items, hot fashions turning up at Target. Our buyers stay on top of the trends, going to the major markets to get you what you want.

You'll save time with one-stop shopping at Target...one-stop checkout lanes too. We'll ring up all your purchases in one place...from toothpaste and light bulbs to clothing for your entire family. Plus home fashions, small appliances, car care needs, toys, cameras, TV's, records, sporting goods, you name it.

At Target, you shop in a big, bright, clean store. We guarantee it will stay bright and clean...messy housekeeping is never tolerated.

You push your carts down wide aisles through convenient department locations with bold, helpful signing. There are lots of checkout lanes...with more available during big sales. Plentiful parking, too! Come see for yourself how Target differs from many self-service stores...why Target's a fun place to shop and SAVE.

At Target, you can use your MasterCard and Visa credit cards. Easy. Just say "charge it."

Everything you buy at Target is covered by our hassle-free return policy. Sometimes even tested merchandise may not perform up to your standards. Sometimes we make a mistake. If you are not satisfied with something you bought at Target, please return it. We will fix it, exchange it, make an adjustment or willingly return your money. We want you to be satisfied.

Target has been serving customers since 1962. We now have 201 stores in 21 states. We're part of Dayton Hudson Corporation, seventh largest nonfood retailer in the United States with more than 1000 stores, including several you probably know, such as Mervyn's, B. Dalton Bookseller, Diamond's and Dayton's.

Little cars that run flatout

Costa Mesa raceway draws SoCal racing buffs

They look like the real thing — bumping along, climbing hills and eating dirt. But they're not. They're models.

Radio controlled car racing is a growing fad nationwide and has reached a pitch in Southern California, the sport's birthplace.

One weekend a month, racing enthusiasts gathering at a dusty miniature raceway in Costa Mesa and compete. There are team, individual and even championship meets sponsored by Radio Controlled Hobbies, a Costa Mesa business.

The radio controlled cars — ranging from formula models to off-road vehicles — can do up to 50 mph. Kits range in price from $260 to $700.

A national championship is held annually and racing buffs are attempting to organize a world championship meet between American competitors and their counterparts in Europe, where the fad is catching on.

James Watson stands in the archway at Cambridge University where 30 years ago he shared in the discovery of the double helix.

Double helix... Super Mouse, but no Superman

By JEFF BRADLEY

Associated Press Writer

LONDON — The double helix. It was an elegant solution to how genes dictate the traits of all living things, and its discovery in 1953 brought the Nobel Prize to Chicago-born James Watson and Englishman Francis Crick.

The red-haired Watson was just 25 when he and Crick explained in the British journal "Nature" the parallel spiral structure of the DNA molecule, the basic building block of life.

That low-key article revolutionized science and opened the door for genetic engineering and the age of the Super Mouse.

"Francis kept saying I didn't see how important our work was. He was probably a little more perceptive than I," the 55-year-old Watson said in an interview.

He has returned to England for a two-day conference at Cambridge University, where 300 scientists will commemorate the 30th anniversary of the Watson-Crick breakthrough and discuss the future of molecular biology.

Hollywood Producer Laurence Bachman, meanwhile, is planning a film version of Watson's best-selling book "The Double Helix," an earthy account

'No child has to be born with sickle cell anemia. They can all be diagnosed and aborted.'

— James Watson

of the trans-Atlantic race to unravel the genetic secrets of DNA — deoxyribonucleic acid.

"Francis is enthusiastic and I always wanted a movie to be made out of my book," said Watson, tall, freckled and with a mid-Atlantic accent.

Following their discovery of how life controls itself — while working at the Cavendish Laboratory in Cambridge — the two men separated.

Watson taught at Harvard from 1956 to 1976, and is now director of Cold Spring Harbor Laboratory on Long Island, concentrating on cancer research with 100 scientists.

Crick, 66, left Cambridge in 1976 — partly to escape onerous British taxes — and now works and teaches at the Salk Institute in La Jolla. A "quirky" man, according to Watson, he has not come back for this week's conference.

"We see each other on average once a year," said the American, who entered the partnership as an inexperienced biologist with virtually no knowledge of chemistry. "I had to fight hard to keep from being overpowered."

The pair eventually interpreted X-ray pictures of DNA crystals to discover how base chemicals, locked in pairs, form the double helix. "Francis has said many times that he wouldn't have solved it without me," said Watson.

An English colleague who did some of the groundwork, Maurice Wilkins, shared the 1962 Nobel for Medicine with them.

Twenty years later, U.S. biochemists Stanley Cohen and Herbert Boyer built on their work by discovering recombinant DNA — a method of mixing genetic material by slicing DNA molecules into fine pieces and reassembling them.

"Recombinant DNA opened the way for things like Super Mouse," Watson added, referring to the recent creating of giant laboratory mice as big as rats. "By 1974 people realized that you could do almost anything in theory and maybe some of them would be too dangerous." Is there moral justification for experimenting with genes?

Watson, who was raised a Roman Catholic but said he has no religious faith, replied:

"Oh totally. I would approve of Super Man but none of us know any way to produce it. No one is ever going to produce a baby worse off than if you'd done nothing."

He welcomed the growing ability to diagnose genetic diseases.

"No child has to be born with sickle cell anemia," Watson said. "They can all be diagnosed and aborted."

Watson said couples can know their unborn baby's sex, and he sees nothing wrong with also selecting hair color and other traits.

"We've experimented with the Earth, cultivated land, changed nature. Anything that increases that quality of human life is a plus. If you can produce a drug by manipulating bacteria which will help cure a disease, fine," he said. "Or if you can produce a Super Pig or Super Cow which will take 20 percent less time to be on the range, all these things add to man's prosperity."

The menus at the Sweetzies are interesting. Steven has never eaten spaghetti any other way but al dente with medium rare meatballs. He is 15 years old and considers gelatin a beverage.

Peter has never seen a casserole without a hole in it and honestly believes limp lettuce is a "hot meal."

Len has eaten so many frozen dinners he will be dead for three years before his stomach thaws out.

Connie Sweetzer does the best she can under the circumstances. She leaves for tennis on Tuesdays at 2:30 and for golf on Thursdays at 3 and leaves the refrigerator door full of instructions on what goes where and at what temperature.

One night a couple of weeks ago, something strange occurred in the Sweetzer household. It was 6 p.m. Friday. They were all there. Len pulled a muscle and canceled his handball game. Peter had a cold and the coach sent him home. Steven's swim team lost in the semi-finals and Karla came home because they couldn't get a gym to practice in.

They all sat around a dinner table awkwardly looking at one another until Karla said, "This is weird! I thought I was an only child!"

you can shop together and get exactly the right one?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am worried sick about something and you are my only hope. I am a 17-year-old girl who has been a cheerleader for several months. We must do some very strenuous things, like cartwheels and the splits. I also have done a lot of horseback riding in the last year. As a result of all this activity I have lost my virginity.

DEAR YALIE: I might have bitten if I hadn't received three copies of the same letter — all postmarked New Haven. Obviously it was a group effort, but only one letter should have been mailed. Dummy. I'm glad to know you Yale students are still reading the column, but it is obvious that old Eli is not attracting the innovative students it once did.

DEAR ANN: Our neighbor refuses to let my husband and me have the privacy that is rightfully ours.

She is the most boring person I have every met in my entire life — and the pushiest. I cannot be in the yard five minutes before I am assaulted by that ear-splitting, "Yoo-hoo!" Then she comes galloping over and her mouth runs nonstop. Trivia, gossip, nonsense. She's repetitive and tedious beyond belief. When I say, "I really must go," she rattles on for another 15 minutes and follows me into the house.

My husband and I are considering selling. Please advise. — AMBUSHED IN TEXAS

DEAR AM: People who haven't the courage to extricate themselves from bores and pests get no sympathy from me. If you can't replace the macaroni in your spine with a little sterner stuff, it's your own fault. To be held hostage by a motormouth clod is just plain dumb.

ERMA BOMBECK AT WIT'S END

Tonight in America, five million families will sit down to dinner at 4:30 p.m. And 5:10 p.m. And 6:15. And 7:30. And 10:50.

The same family... at all those times. It's a phenomenon in this country known as Dinner-a-la-Sports, where every member of the family is involved in some kind of organized play and eats dinner whenever the schedule permits.

As an example, let's consider the Sweetzers. Len plays handball after work on Wednesdays and Fridays and doesn't get home until 7:30, except on Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays when he jogs, at which time he eats at 6:50 unless it's winter and he runs early and gets home at 5:10.

His son, Peter, plays football in the fall and baseball in the spring so his hours to eat fall somewhere between 4:30 in the afternoon and 11 o'clock at night. It varies.

His other son, Steven, is on the swim team and must eat three hours before the meet or wait until it is over. He usually eats at 3 in the afternoon.

CBS News disputes
TV Guide charge of smear by network

By FRED ROTHENBERG

NEW YORK — Last summer, CBS News investigated CBS News to protect the integrity of CBS News. The resulting report attempted to respond to charges by TV Guide that a 1982 CBS News documentary on Gen. William Westmoreland was a "smear."

But the unusual tactic of a formal in-house investigation and the subsequent admission of some procedural mistakes by CBS News did not make the accusations go away. In fact, they resurfaced in the past two weeks.

"Our credibility is our entirety into the living rooms of America," said CBS News President Van Gordon Sauter last July, after releasing summarized findings of the Benjamin Report, the internal inquiry conducted by Burton Benjamin, CBS News' senior executive producer for hard-news broadcasts.

This same journalistic credibility, plus a $120 million libel lawsuit filed by Westmoreland against CBS News, apparently were the background forces sparking recent back-and-forth charges by CBS News and TV Guide.

CBS News had waited almost a year before it publicly attacked the TV Guide story of last May 29, entitled "Anatomy of a Smear." The story questioned the way CBS News went about proving the thesis in its "The Uncounted Enemy: A Vietnam Deception" that Westmoreland led a conspiracy to fabricate enemy troop figures during the Vietnam War.

Then last month, the story won the award for distinguished magazine reporting from Sigma Delta Chi, the Society of Professional Journalists.

"We're not attempting to tear down the article," Gene Mater, CBS News' senior vice president for communications and news practices, said Monday. "We're responding because somebody gave them an award."

In a March 28 letter to The Quill, Sigma Delta Chi's magazine, Sauter said the TV Guide story "deserves closer examination." Sauter cited three "serious errors within the article," illustrating a "shocking disregard for the truth."

The points he disputed were that:

— TV Guide quoted George Allen, a former CIA official interviewed on the program, as saying he no longer agreed with the premise of the documentary.

— TV Guide attempted to depict Sam Adams, a former CIA analyst interviewed on the program and a paid CBS News consultant on the project, as having disavowed the documentary's thesis.

— TV Guide also implied that an interview with Col. Gains Hawkins, former U.S. Army Order of Battle Chief in Vietnam, was edited to misrepresent his views on enemy manpower ceilings.

Sauter cited a June 29 letter he received from Allen, who said his remarks in TV Guide were "lifted out of context." Allen said he "did not attempt to dissuade CBS from doing the show, and I do not believe the show made a mountain out of a molehill."

Stock prices record; car makers post gain

By The Associated Press

Stock prices were mixed today after hitting record levels in the latest surge of an eight-month-old bull market.

Stocks rose yesterday over a broad front, and the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials rose 11.32 points to a record 1,156.64, easily surpassing its previous high of 1,145.90 reached March 24.

The record came amid announcements that major U.S. carmakers posted a 32.4 percent gain in early April sales and General Motors Corp. would call back 16,000 workers by midsummer to help handle increased production.

Declining auto sales in February, however, contributed to a 1.3 percent drop in overall sales by U.S. manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers, the Commerce Department said yesterday. That swelled inventories of unsold goods for the first time since last September.

Stocks extended their eight-month-old bull market yesterday by rising over a broad front on volume of 100.52 million shares.

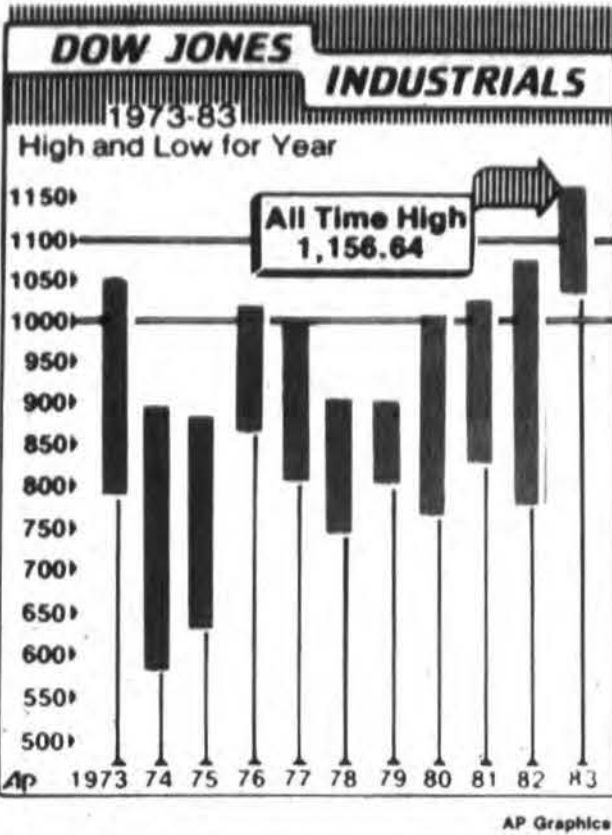

The five major U.S. automakers said they sold 157,875 cars between April 1-10, or 19,734 per day, in the same period of 1982.

Car sales in February fell 4.1 percent, the Commerce Department said. As auto inventories swelled by 5.8 percent that month, overall business inventories edged up 0.1 percent, the first increase since they rose less than 0.1 percent last September.

Economists have said one crucial signal the economic recovery might be taking hold would be the beginning of companies' efforts to rebuild inventories in anticipation of future sales. But February's gain apparently was unplanned, a result only of the weak sales which caused goods to remain on warehouse shelves and back lots.

In another economic development yesterday, negotiators for Kennecott and 14 copper workers unions reached tentative agreement on the economic components of a contract that union leaders hope will set a pattern in the economically-depressed industry. The current pact does not expire until June.

The record close yesterday on Wall Street of 1,156.64 broke the March 24 mark of 1,145.90.

Interest repeal vote nasty fight

By SYLVIA PORTER

Tomorrow the Senate will vote on repeal of a new law that mandates withholding 10 percent of the interest and/or dividends you receive from banks, corporations, other financial institutions. The repeal is tucked into an amendment attached to an export reciprocity trade bill sponsored by Sen. Bob Kasten, R-Wis.

The repeal vote is a disgrace from start to finish.

And as of now, all that can be predicted is a nasty fight, an even more messy finish, with neither side giving up gracefully.

The opposing sides are the most powerful in our nation: President Reagan, leaders of Porter both houses of Congress and the 1982 Congress itself for withholding; the banks, savings and loans and other institutions with all their money to spend on lobbying and campaigning against withholding.

Not in memory has there been a drive by the bankers and savings institutions of the United States based on such deliberate spreading of lies.

The financial institutions have tried — and with great success — to convince you that withholding is a new tax. False.

They have spent a fortune telling you that the Treasury is burdening you with extra paperwork and robbing you of money that is rightfully yours (particularly the poor). False.

The financial institutions are the ones who don't want the burden of withholding; they don't want to help uncover the tax cheaters so the honest taxpayer can pay less; they are so shamefully wrong in this instance that it makes me cringe.

But they may well win. Here are the facts:

- Interest on savings and dividends is taxable income, and has long been subject to tax. (My accountant pays my tax automatically.)
- Withholding in no way represents a new tax. Rather, it is a cost-effective way to get revenues lost from the estimated 19 million who fail to report interest or dividends on their tax returns and the 5 million who illegally don't file taxes at all.
- That, in sum, was and is the purpose of the law, scheduled to be effective July 1, unless this misinformed Congress repeals it.

- Among the poor, the fact is, too, that accounts of small savers can be exempt (at the financial institution's option). If you have an interest-bearing account that earns less than $150, your account might not be touched, if your bank exercises this choice.
- Low-income people, plus moderate-income elderly are exempt. You need sign only a simple form available at your local institution. Once you sign, nothing will be withheld.
- The financial institutions suggest that the Internal Revenue Service fails to match up the 1099 forms, sent by banks and others, with returns. But the problem is less failure to match the forms than to ensure that taxpayers actually pay. To follow up on that scale, the Treasury estimates it would cost $1 billion to $2 billion a year to recover $3 billion to $4 billion annually.
- Some in the finance industry have estimated that start-up costs will approach $3 billion, but Treasury estimates put the one-time start-up costs at $600 million to $700 million — another yawning gap.
- What's more, the costs won't be borne fully by the institutions. They get a deduction on their taxes and a 30-day float on the money withheld.

DOG EATS PHONE CORD.

Save $1 on long phone cords at Pacific Telephone Service Centers.

Your pup munching away on your phone cord is probably not the only reason to get a new one. Maybe yours is too short or maybe it's just all tattered and torn.

Whatever the reason, you can come to a Pacific Telephone Service Center during our "Stretch-A-Buck" sale and save $1 on selected long cords in various colors.*

This is just our way of introducing you to our Service Centers: your one-stop place for all your telephone needs.

At our Full Service Centers, you'll not only find cords but also the latest phones, recording and automatic dialing equipment available. Plus you can get special services like Touch-tone, Call Waiting, Call Forwarding and so on. And if you're looking for a special gift that people will use, here's where you'll find Pacific Telephone Gift Certificates.

Our Service Only Centers are designed for people who only want to return, pick up or get equipment repaired.

Visit your local Pacific Telephone Service Center today. And if for some reason you happen to need a new cord, or a new dog (just kidding), you can save a dollar from now through April 30, 1983.

PUBLIC NOTICE

K-04752
NOTICE OF DEATH OF
JOHN L. KEEFER, aka
JOHN LEO KEEFER AND
OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE NO.
A-117798.
To all heirs, beneficiaries creditors and contingent creditors of John L. Keefer and persons who may be otherwise interested in the will and/or estate:
A petition has been filed by Thomas E. Keefer in the Superior Court of Orange County requesting that Thomas E. Keefer be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of John L. Keefer Costa Mesa, CA (under the Independent Administration of Estates Act). The petition is set for hearing in Dept.
No. 3 at 700 Civic Center Dr.
West, Santa Ana, CA 92707
on May 11, 1983 at 9:30 a.m.
IF YOU OBJECT TO the granting of the petition, you should either appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court or present it to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in Section 700 of the Probate Code of California. The time for filing claims will not expire prior to four months from the date of the hearing noticed above.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are interested in the estate, you may file a request with the court to receive special notice of the

Inventory of estate assets and of the petitions, accounts and reports described in Section 1200.5 of the California Probate Code.

It's reasonably safe to assume if the Angels are going to repeat as the American League's Western Division champs, Brian Downing, Reggie Jackson and Doug DeCinces (among others) are going to have to come close to the type of season each enjoyed in 1982.

So far this season, however, the trio, for a variety of reasons, has struggled. Yet despite their problems, each possesses a respectable average and the Angels are winning.

It almost makes one wonder what's going to happen when things start going smoothly.

Downing, Jackson and DeCinces accounted for six of the Angels' 10 hits last night, four of the team's five RBI, and four of the club's six total runs scored.

As a result, Geoff Zahn and Co. coasted to an easy 6-1 victory over Seattle before 24,002 at Anaheim Stadium.

DeCinces, spurred by an uncertain future being in the final year of his contract, was the catalyst. His single in the second inning helped set up the Angels' first run. And his two-run homer in the third gave them a 4-0 cushion.

His 2-for-3 performance also raised his average to .344, which isn't bad for someone who has been hampered by a nagging groin pull through the first nine games.

"It's motivating to know I have to do well for myself," said DeCinces of his quick start. "There's no doubt it's added pressure, but it's just something I have to deal with.

"I'd like to say I don't think about it, but I can't."

Downing, who is also in his option year, has been disturbed for different reasons. Upset with himself for taking too many pitches early in the year, Downing used his final plate appearance in the first game of the Seattle series to break a mental block he had toward swinging.

"I just got tired of constantly being 0-2 or 1-2 and not having swung the bat, so my last time up in the first game I decided to swing at the first three pitches no matter where they were," he said (Downing grounded out to third after (See ANGELS, Page C2)

Sea View race has tri-leaders

It's getting tighter and tighter in the Sea View League baseball race — to the point that there is a three-way tie for the lead with Irvine, Saddleback and El Toro hooked up.

Here's how it went yesterday.

Saddleback 4, Irvine 2

In a duel of premier pitchers, Saddleback sophomore Leonard Damian had the edge over Irvine's Rod Poissant, thanks to a three-run seventh inning which was capped by Mike Baker's two-run double to left-center.

Brian Jordan slugged a solo homer in the fifth inning and he scored in the first run in the seventh after walking for Saddleback.

John Salinas had an RBI single in the fifth inning to knot the game at 1-1 and he hit an RBI single in the seventh, but the Vagueros lost it in the sixth when they were unable to score after getting runners to second and third with no out.

Damian struck out seven and walked one. Poissant struck out four and walked three.

Estancia 9, CdM 2

Jon Johnston went the distance for the Eagles, scattering six singles, while striking out five and walking three batters.

An RBI-single by Steve Johnson and a run-producing double by Jeff Graham staked Estancia to a 2-1 lead after two innings then the Eagles got three in the third and four in the sixth to put it away.

An RBI-double by Jeff Graham and run-producing singles by Collin Harrison and Jim Curtis keyed the third, then RBI hits by Steve Nichols and Kirk Stone preceded pinch-hitter Chris Mathews, who slapped a two-run single in the sixth.

Corona's brightest area was Pat Cox, who was 2-for-3.

El Toro 10, Costa Mesa 5

El Toro rallied with a six-run fifth-inning with three doubles in the 11-hit attack, including a 3-for-4 performance by Bill Wells and a 2-for-4 day with 3 RBI and 3 runs scored by Doug Stewart.

Roger Ting slugged a two-run homer for Costa Mesa to tie the game at 2 in the third inning and the Mustangs were up by a 4-2 count before El Toro exploded.

Ting finished the day with a 3-for-4 performance with 2 RBI and 2 runs scored.

Newport 19, University 14

Norm Stolzoff of University slugged a prodigious 425-foot two-run homer, but it was Newport Harbor's day, led by the batting of Vishnu Batoosingh and Louis Nigro.

Batoosingh was 4-for-4 with a double, triple and 3 RBI and Nigro was 3-for-5 with 3 RBI in the six-inning contest.

Filipek selects Waves

Marina High's Scott Filipek, the Daily Pilot's choice for Sunset League Player of the Year and an All-CIF selection, has signed a national letter of intent to play basketball at Pepperdine University.

The 6-0 point guard's decision came down to Pepperdine and Wyoming.

Ahead of him at Pepperdine is Gahr High product Mark Wilson, who will be a senior in the fall.

The rest of the area's best senior products — Corona del Mar High's Mike Hess, Newport Harbor's Joe Seager and Ocean View's Byron Ball — signed before the season began.

Hess is headed for the University of Texas, Oklahoma signed Seager and Ball went with the University of Oregon.

Scholarships didn't exactly pour in for area community college basketball players.

In fact, only one area player — Orange Coast's Leland Bruce — has been offered and accepted a firm scholarship to continue playing on the four-year level.

Bruce, a 6-3 guard who prepped at Marina High and played a year at Golden West, has received a scholarship to play at the University of Hawaii at Hilo.

Bruce averaged 14 points per game last season for the 9-17 Pirates.

Golden West sophomores Dennis James and Ed Dorham are both reportedly close to accepting scholarships.

James appears to be headed for Great Falls College in Montana, while Dorham is reportedly set on Judson Baptist College in Oregon.

Tracy Mitchell, a 6-2 sophomore guard with a 12.1 scoring average from Saddleback College, is scheduled to sign with Texas Christian today. Teammates Andy Ground and Greg Ward are set for Hawaii-Hilo and Southern California College respectively.

Both are 6-5 forwards and both averaged just under eight points per game

Julie Carpenter has fashioned an 11-1 record for Edison.

Carpenter key in Edison climb

By ROGER CARLSON
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Edison High's women's softball team may still be fighting for recognition within the Sunset League with a 1-2 record — but a 13-3 overall record has the Chargers ranked No. 1 in the CIF 4-A.

Behind all that is pitcher Julie Carpenter, a 15-year-old sophomore who belies her 5-2, 115-pound frame with some numbers which take on awesome proportions.

She has struck out 135 batters and walked just 18, given up 32 hits, including two doubles and two triples and has fashioned a sparkling 0.11 ERA on the way to an 11-1 record.

"My rise and curve are my best pitches," says the Edison pitcher, who began pitching when she was nine years old.

As a freshman she compiled a 15-5 record after stepping in as the Chargers' No. 1 pitcher in mid-season.

Fountain Valley put an end to a perfect season for Carpenter Tuesday with a 2-0 verdict, giving (See CARPENTER, Page C2)

Edison, FV Rustlers, Orange Coast stumble

Edison and Fountain Valley continue to stalk pace-setting La Quinta in the Sunset League volleyball race following last night's results.

The Chargers and Barons remained two games behind the leader following three-game triumphs last night.

Edison stopped Westminster, 15-11, 15-9, 15-6 to improve the Chargers' mark to 6-2 in league play. Edison was sparked by outside hitters Joe Krafka and Randy Hetrick.

Fountain Valley turned back Ocean View, 15-3, 15-3, 15-5 to stay even with Edison. The Barons ran their offense well, keyed by the play of setter Scott Nelson and middle blocker Brian Hanson.

Fountain Valley now takes a break from Sunset League action this Saturday when it competes in the Inglewood Tournament, an all-day affair featuring some of the top teams in Orange County and some other squads from the Los Angeles area.

La Quinta maintained a firm grip on the top spot following its 15-11, 15-9, 15-9 conquest of Huntington Beach. The Aztecs received support from their back-row performers Jeff Rosenthal and Scott Calderwood to stay unbeaten at 8-0 in the Sunset.

On the community college level, Golden West upped its South Coast Conference mark to 10-3 by easing past L.A. Harbor, 15-9, 15-2, 15-12.

The Rustlers were paced by outside hitter Keith Salaya and middle blocker John Kostv.

Raiders win suit

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A federal jury awarded damages of $11.5 million to the Los Angeles Raiders and $4.8 million to the Los Angeles Coliseum yesterday in their antitrust suit against the National Football League, with the amounts automatically trebled to about $49 million total.

Golden West's and Orange Coast's drive toward the top of the South Coast Conference baseball standings hit roadblocks yesterday, as miscues led to the Rustlers' downfall against pace-setting Santa Ana and the Bucs couldn't get their offense in gear against Cerritos.

Meanwhile, Saddleback kept rolling the Pacific Coast Conference by defeating Palomar, 7-5.

Here's what happened:

Santa Ana 8, Golden West 6

The Rustlers outhit Santa Ana by a 14-5 margin yesterday, but paid the price for eight errors as the Dons struck for three runs in the sixth inning without benefit of a hit to take the lead for good.

In all, the Dons had just one earned run, in capturing the victory.

Golden West's 14-hit attack was led by Mike Wagner's 3-for-4 performance at the plate, while five others came up with a pair of safeties for the Rustlers.

John Altobelli was 2-for-5 with a double and a run scored; Kevin Elster was 2-for-4; Bob Grandstaff was 2-for-4 with an RBI; Tim Zaharson was 2-for-4 with an RBI; and Scott Foster was 2-for-4.

Grandstaff upped his hitting streak to 10 straight games.

Cerritos 5, Orange Coast 1

The Falcons scored four times against Coast in the second inning, when after loading the bases with no outs, second baseman Brett Gordon slapped

Two runs scored on the base hit, and when the ball got by right fielder Joe Kwolek, another Cerritos runner crossed the plate.

The Pirates started a comeback in the sixth when Kwolek singled in Dave Tinoco from second base. But the rally stalled with runners on first and third, when Falcon starter Chip Dill got a strikeout.

Cerritos added another unearned run in the bottom of the inning off OCC starter Cory Collinge, who allowed only two earned runs in a complete game loss.

Jeff Garcia sparked the Pirate attack with a 2-for-5 performance. The loss dropped Orange Coast to 10-6 in South Coast Conference play and 17-7 overall.

Yeager's blast was no mystery

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Joe Niekro says the Houston Astros' losing streak is "mysterious."

But the pitch the Los Angeles Dodgers' Steve Yeager hit in the bottom of the 14th inning last night — a Frank LaCorte "mistake," he called it — was no mystery.

It went for a two-run homer, the Dodgers won, 5-3, their fourth win in a row, and it left Houston 0-9 and in the record books.

The Astros now have the dubious distinction of sharing the modern National League record for most losses at the start of a season with the 1918 Brooklyn Dodgers, 1919 Boston Braves and 1962 New York Mets.

"How can we play every game so close and lose them all?" wondered Niekro, who hurled five-hit ball for 10 innings, yet left without a decision.

Of the Astros' nine losses, three have been by one run, five by two runs and the other, opening night, 16-7, to the Dodgers, and they were in that one, too, for five innings.

"If we were playing badly, and getting blown out of games, I could understand," Niekro said. "But this is sickening. It's mysterious."

Ray Knight: "It's beyond belief."

Manager Bobby Lillis: "Our guys have nothing to be ashamed of. And, now, we'll see what everyone's made of."

Cayard regains lead in Six Meter Cup

By ALMON LOCKABEY
Daily Pilot Boating Writer

Paul Cayard of St. Francis Yacht Club, San Francisco, steered St. Francis VIII to his second win the Six Meter World Cup Regatta yesterday to regain the point lead in the best five of six race series.

St. Francis VIII apparently liked the light to moderate winds off the Santa Ana River Jetty and led the 15-boat fleet at every mark of the 15-mile course.

Finishes of 1-7-1 in three races gives St. Francis VIII 8½ points under the low scoring system, a quarter of a point ahead of NHCUSA, skippered by Andy Macdonald of Newport Harbor Yacht Club.

Yesterday's weather — about 8-12 knots — was in direct contrast to Tuesday's race which had to be aborted when the westerly whistled up to more than 30 knots, causing a collision and two dismastings. The aborted race will be sailed tomorrow.

Defending champion Pelle Petterson of Sweden moved up on the scoring scale in yesterday's race, finishing second and giving him a total of 13 points for the three races and third place in the standings.

Scoring at this stage in the series is slightly misleading as skippers will be allowed to throw out their worst race in the final scoring. Throw-outs are usually computed after the fourth race.

Argyle Campbell of Newport Harbor Yacht Club, sailing Ranger for the Fort Worth Boat Club, finished third yesterday, giving him a total of 24 points, one of which was a disqualification which he would throw out. His other good finish was fourth.

Two protests were pending after yesterday's race which could change the scoring.

Standings after three races:
1. St. Francis VIII, Paul Cayard, St. Francis YC, 8½; 2. NHCUSA, Andy Macdonald, NHC, 6½; 3. Chinook, Carl Buchan, Seattle YC, 11; 4. Irene, Pelle Petterson, Sweden, 13; 5. Nuvolari, Tony Bassani, Italy, 18; 6. Glana, Lawrie Smith, England, 19; 7. Ranger, Argyle Campbell, Fort Worth Boat Club, 24; 8. (tie) between Fransky-Hedus, William Bouras, Seattle YC, and Irene, Phil Durr, Switzerland, 25; 10. Persepolis, Gayle Post, Salt Lake YC, 31; 11. Toopoolowoo, Jon Rose Seattle YC, 233; 12. California, Don Bever, NHC, 34; 13. St. Francis V, Hank Thayer, NHC, 35; 14. Pacemaker, Ron McFarland, Seattle YC, 36; 15. Sage, Paul Longridge, British Columbia, 40.

SPORTS BREAK

A 'double-header' loss for Lakers

From AP dispatches

SAN ANTONIO, Texas — It wasn't exactly a doubleheader between the San Antonio Spurs and Los Angeles Lakers, but it was as close as one could get in the National Basketball Association.

And the Spurs came away with two victories.

"If feels good to pick up two wins in a night," said Spurs forward Mike Mitchell, who had 15 points in the second victory — a 114-109 decision over Los Angeles.

The Spurs secured a 117-114 win in the first contest, which lasted only a few moments. It was a replay of the final three seconds of a game played last Nov. 30, in which the Lakers were declared a 137-132 winner in double overtime.

Back then, at the free throw line and trailing 116-114 with only three seconds left, Los Angeles guard Norm Nixon succeeded in getting the ball back and made a shot at the buzzer that got the Lakers back into the game. This time, Nixon missed his free throw and San Antonio won the game.

Red Sox clobber Royals

Jim Rice slugged a tremendous home run. Glenn Hoffman went 5-for-6 and Boston pounded out 21 hits and took advantage of five Kansas City errors last night to record an 18-4 victory over the Royals in below-freezing temperatures. Elsewhere in the American League, Johnny Grubb doubled home the tying and go-ahead runs off New York relief ace Rich Gossage with two outs in the seventh inning, then scored on Larry Herndon's single as Detroit knocked off the Yankees, 7-5, in a game that featured a bench-clearing brawl. Dave Rozema threw a pitch that sailed well over Dave Winfield's head, and when Winfield charged the mound, both teams poured onto the field.

Bob Kearney's bases-loaded double drove in two runs in the eighth inning to lift Oakland past Minnesota, 5-4. Jesse Barfield hit a two-run homer and Garth Iorg slammed a two-run, bases-loaded double to power Toronto over Milwaukee, 7-2. Mike Hargrove doubled home Chris Bando with the tying run in the seventh inning, then scored the game-winner on a single by Bake McBride as Cleveland rallied to nip Texas, 4-3.

Slam gives Phillies win

Bo Diaz greeted Neil Allen with a grand slam with two outs in the bottom of the ninth inning last night, capping a five-run rally and powering Philadelphia to a wild 10-9 victory over the New York Mets in National League baseball action.

Elsewhere, Chris Chambliss homered twice to drive in three runs as Atlanta won its seventh straight, a 6-1 romp over Cincinnati.

Terry Kennedy singled in the go-ahead run in the fourth inning and Eric Show and Gary Lucas combined for an eight-hitter as San Diego snapped a five-game losing streak with a 2-1 win over San Francisco.

Joaquin Andujar hurled a seven-hitter to win his 12th consecutive decision over a two-season span and George Hendrick had five hits, including two homers, as St. Louis handed Pittsburgh its second straight loss, 9-1.

Quote of the day

Bill Needle, public relations man for the Atlanta Hawks, noting that Hawks guard Eddie Johnson has come back from being shot, being arrested for cocaine possession and undergoing psychiatric treatment for a manic-depressive personality. "The only thing left for Eddie to come back from is pregnancy."

Sixers held to 76 points

Rickey Sobers and Jeff Ruland scored 17 points apiece as Washington trounced Philadelphia 95-76 yesterday to highlight National Basketball Association action.

Kyle Macy pumped in 24 points as Phoenix beat Seattle 109-96 to clinch second place in the Pacific Division.

Kiki Vandeweghe scored 28 points, Dan Issel 27 and Alex English 26 as Denver stopped Houston, 131-112.

Ray Williams scored 32 points, and Eddie Johnson added 27 to lead Kansas City to a 114-103 victory over the Atlanta Braves.

Purvis Short scored 29 points to lead Golden State to a 113-92 victory over San Diego.

Kelly Tripucka and Isiah Thomas paced a last-quarter surge that carried Detroit to a 113-101 victory over Boston.

Louganis in top form

Greg Louganis, a UC Irvine product diving for the Mission Viejo Nadadores, scored a pair of 10s in his final dive last night and beat runner-up Rob Bollinger by 28 points in the one-meter finals at the opening session of the U.S. diving indoor championships in Indianapolis. Louganis, 23, led Bollinger by only seven points before his final dive, but finished with a winning margin of 633.12 to 605.25. The New York Giants yesterday traded defensive end Gary Jeter to the Rams for undisclosed draft choices in the National Football League draft April 26.

Area teams net wins

UCI, OCC, prep powers flex muscles

There were winners in every direction for area tennis teams yesterday — UC Irvine's men and women, Orange Coast College and a fistful of top-flight high schools — Corona del Mar, University, Laguna Beach, Huntington Beach and Irvine, won by overwhelming scores.

UCI's 6-3 decision at Cal State Fullerton was the closest thing to a cliff-hanger with Rob Nelson and Rob Hinkel, the Anteaters' No. 4 and 5 singles players, keying the victory. UCI is now 27-5 overall.

Linda Mallory, meanwhile, in the No. 1 singles slot for the first time, led the UCI women in a 9-0 rout of United States International University.

In community college play it was Orange Coast rolling to a 9-0 win at Cerritos, completing South Coast Conference action with a 10-2 record, a half game behind Santa Ana.

Todd Braun and Jeff Barnard combined for their 14th straight win without a defeat in doubles.

Corona del Mar tuned up for its Sea View League match with visiting University tomorrow with a 27-1 rout over Estancia with Brian Sullivan and Scott Brownsberger especially impressive in singles, in addition to the customary overpowering play of doubles stars Jeff Ewing and John Washer. Corona del Mar's 11-0 record includes a 20-8 decision over University. The latter readied itself for the rematch with a big effort against Newport Harbor, rolling to a 20-8 victory behind doubles stars George Paulson and Dennis Day and Hans Victor and Eric Oliver.

Chris Greer maintained his unbeaten record in singles play.

Laguna Beach waded past Woodbridge, 28-0, despite the absence of Wade Perry, who missed the action with a pulled stomach muscle.

Barry Beacham's four singles victories and the doubles play of Craig Knight and Mike Velasco led Irvine over Saddleback, 23-5, while Huntington Beach, in a non-league duel with previously unbeaten Diamond Bar, rolled, 24 1/2-3 1/2 behind the play of singles stars Ron Berglund and Curtis Fowler, a pair of sophomores.

missing the first two pitches).

"It's not something I recommend, but I felt I had to get the feeling of swinging again. I remember I missed the first two pitches but I hit the third one and I felt a helluva lot better."

"It sounds elementary but I have to think I'm going to swing even before a pitcher throws the ball. Now, rather than swing if a pitch is good, I've got it in my mind to be swinging unless it's bad."

Although Downing's approach is a little unusual, it's worked to the point where he has four hits in his last eight trips to the plate, upping his average in the process to .290.

Finally, there's Reggie's plight. Last night he had a single and a double, good for two RBI, to raise his average to .321. All this and he's the first to admit he's nowhere near where he wants to be at the plate.

CARPENTER...

the Barons a share of the Sunset League lead with Marina and Westminster.

One league coach, upon hearing the news Tuesday evening, said, "I don't believe that."

Edison Coach Mark Takkinen does, however. "The Sunset League is just so tough," says Takkinen. "I said at the beginning three losses would probably be good enough to win the league championship. Right now my prediction is running true to form. There are six teams capable of beating anybody."

As for his prize mound star, Takkinen says, "Julie has got great control of her pitches, but she works very hard at it and has pretty much dedicated herself to pitching."

"And, her confidence is beginning to show through."

"I feel (bleep)," he added honestly. "I see the ball, but I don't feel good. I have a stiff neck, a sore shoulder and a bruised wrist. Maybe it's a sign I'm getting old," he said with a smile.

Jackson is quick to point out he's going through a feast or famine period at the plate. "It seems like I either hit the ball or strike out," he said.

Reggie's observation was close as in 28 trips to the plate he has nine hits and 11 strikeouts.

Of course, Zahn (1-1) doesn't care how he gets his runs as long as he gets them. In spinning his gem, the left-hander pitched to only one batter over the minimum through the first eight innings, retiring 15 batters in a row at one point.

He had a shutout, too, until the Mariners pushed across a run in the ninth on two singles and a ground out.

DeCinces, Downing and Jackson should have Zahn's kind of headaches.

ANGELS NOTES — The Angels left immediately after the game for Minnesota. They expected to arrive at 5:18 a.m. The Angels will play the Twins in a brief four-game road trip before returning home for the rest of the month. Seattle starter Mike Moore was tagged with the defeat. DeCinces, incidentally, is 7-for-9 against Moore with four home runs and seven RBI over the past two years. When asked about his success against the right-hander, DeCinces replied: "It's just one of those things where you hit a guy. I don't know how to explain it. If I could pinpoint it I'd do it every time." Reggie Jackson, who failed to run out a pop fly to third during the sixth inning of Tuesday's 8-1 loss, was promptly chewed out by Manager John McNamara when he got back to the dugout. "He got on me pretty good," Reggie admitted yesterday. "He almost fined me. But I told him I honestly thought the ball was going to be foul. I lost it once it got in the air." Seattle third baseman Manny Castillo caught the ball about 10 feet in fair territory.

OCC wins; Rustlers fall

The Orange Coast College women's basketball team placed six players in double figures yesterday, as the Pirates took an easy decision from host Mt. San Antonio, 92-56.

It was a different story, however, for Golden West, as the Rustler women were stopped on Cypress' floor, 74-66.

The bidding:
West North East South
1 ♠ 1 ♣ Pass 2 ♠
4 ♠ Pass Pass 4 ♠
Pass Pass Pass
Opening lead: Ace of ♣.

There are many things a good bridge player does automatically, like giving count in crucial situations. But you shouldn't make any play without giving the situation the proper amount of attention. This hand from London's famed St. James Club is a typical example.

After North dredged up a one diamond overall, South showed his strength with a cuebid of the enemy suit. West tried to make life difficult for his opponents with a barrage bid of four clubs, but there was no denying South—his suit was good enough to introduce at the four level.

West led his ace of diamonds and then shifted to the king of clubs. The normal way for East to show that he holds a doubleton in the suit would be to start an echo by playing the higher of the two cards he holds. Had he yielded to the reflex action, declarer would have wrapped up his four spade contract, for West would surely have continued with the ace of clubs and another, and declarer would have had his ten tricks.

But East realized that he could not overruff dummy. Since he was a very good player, he followed suit with the two of clubs. Now it was West's turn to don his thinking cap.

Since East could not possibly have a trick, it was pretty obvious that the defenders would have to collect their four tricks in the minor suits. But how was West going to reach the East hand for a diamond lead?

Clubs was the only possibility. West had to hope that East's two of clubs was either a singleton or from a holding that included the nine, so at trick three he led his low club. East was rather surprised to find that his nine of clubs held the trick, but he was not so startled that he forgot to switch back to a diamond. West's ruff was the setting trick.

Barons, Marina swim past foes

The Fountain Valley High Barons and the Marina Vikings remained atop the Sunset League standings yesterday in men's swimming, as the Barons topped Edison, 104-68, and Marina downed Westminster, 101 1/2-64 1/2.

Fountain Valley (3-0, 7-1 overall) limited Edison to only three first-place finishes during the meet. Baron swimmer Steve Bentley led the way with wins in the 200 free (1:52.72) and the 100 back (1:02.31).

Marina (3-0, 5-1 overall) had two double winners in Jeff Enright and Jeff Hopkins. Enright took the 200 free (1:58.05) and the 100 fly (1:01.46), while Hopkins added a victory in the 200 indo (2:16.63) and grabbed second in the 500 free.

In Sea View League action, El Toro got by University, 92-64, Estancia captured eight of the 10 events in beating Irvine, 87-57 and Corona del Mar thumped Costa Mesa, 98-58.

Andy Carlson offset El Toro's win by taking the 200 free (1:44.94) and turned in a fine time in the 500 free (4:44.4). Carlson beat his nearest opponent by 30 seconds.

Craig Popp led El Toro, the defending Sea View champion, with wins in the 200 indo (1:59.19) and the 100 breast (1:01.73).

Estancia's Mark Wicks swam to first-place finishes in the 200 free (1:53.1) and the 500 free (5:04.38), and Peter Howe added wins in the 50 free (28.13) and the 100 breast (1:10.21) for the Eagles.

Two more victories for Estancia came from Boyd Riggs, as he won the 200 indo (2:13.26) and the 100 free (52.14).

In women's action, Amy Clark and Judy Armstrong were double winners for Fountain Valley which ran its record to 8-0 on the season with a 95-77 decision over Edison.

Clark, who just returned from the U.S. Short Course Nationals, took wins in the 200 free (2:03.60) and 500 free (5:28.42). Armstrong won the 200 indo, beating her nearest opponent by 12 seconds. She also won the 100 breast.

Amy White paced University past El Toro, 85-71, winning the 200 free (1:58.93) and 500 free (5:13.96).

Christie Pallette and Cara Brown each added victories for University, now 5-0 in Sea View meets.

Estancia's Eagles came up a loser against Irvine, 87-69, despite the winning efforts of Shannon Scholes.

Vanguards log 5-3 victory

The Southern California College baseball team took a break from its NAIA Division 3 schedule to stop visiting Claremont yesterday, 5-3, on the Vanguards' field.

Trailing 3-1, SCC rallied for three runs in the bottom of the sixth as Mike Spiers doubled, Jeff Haun singled in one run, and after an RBI-single by Dana Jacobs, Steve Kraiss brought in the go-ahead tally with a double.

Picking up the victory on the mound was the second of three Vanguard hurlers, Pat Arndt. Larnie Allen started and pitched three shutout innings, as did reliever Brian Otten.

GW's Kyler runs streak to 43

The way Tina Kyler has been throwing shutouts lately, it was only a question of when the Golden West College softball team was going to finally score to beat Santa Ana yesterday.

The Rustlers waited until the 11th inning to push over a run and come away with a 1-0 South Coast Conference victory over the host Dons.

In other community college action, Orange Coast tallied six runs in the final two frames to topple Mt. San Antonio, 7-2, and Saddleback won a Pacific Coast Conference encounter from Imperial Valley, 8-3.

In high school play, University captured its sixth Sea View League contest against one loss by rallying for a 5-2 triumph over Newport Harbor.

Golden West's Kyler ran her conference scoreless string to 43 innings and won her 19th game in 21 outings, striking out three, walking two and scattering five hits.

The Rustlers gave her the run in the 11th when Rene Cross singled, moved to second on a sacrifice, to third on an error and scored when Donna McElrea's short fly to center was misplayed for a base hit.

Jyl Tichner's two-run single in the top of the sixth broke a 1-1 tie and helped OCC win for the second straight day.

The Bucs added four insurance runs in the seventh when first baseman Sharon Brazell singled home two and winning pitcher Kim Gray knocked in the other two with a base hit.

University High countered Newport's two-run second inning with three of its own in the third and Marcia Fu blanked the Sailors the rest of the way to pick up the victory.

Fu, who struck out three and did not walk a batter, helped her own cause in the third by singling in the tying run.

Mary Touher went 2-for-4 and drove in three in Saddleback College's easy win over visiting Imperial Valley.

GWC hosts top teams

Golden West College will try to defend its tournament championship against four state powerhouses and three invading Arizona teams this week at the sixth annual Golden West Invitational softball tournament.

Glendale, Mesa and Arizona Western will represent Arizona and join the host Rustlers, Pasadena CC, Cerritos, LA Pierce and Bakersfield for the three-day, double-elimination tourney which kicks off tomorrow.

South Coast Conference rivals Golden West and Cerritos open first-round play at 1 p.m. It's the third meeting between the two teams, with Golden West sporting a pair of 1-0 victories over the Falcons.

Golden West's success should hinge on the arm of pitcher Tina Kyler, who brings a 19-2 record and a string of 43 innings without allowing an earned run in conference play into the contest.

Golden West Invitational
Tomorrow's First Round Games
1 p.m. — Golden West vs. Cerritos; Pasadena CC vs. Glendale, Ariz.
3 p.m. — Mesa, Arizona vs. LA Pierce; Bakersfield vs. Arizona Western.
7 p.m. — (Winner's bracket) Golden West-Cerritos winner vs. Pasadena-Glendale winner; (Loser's bracket) Golden West-Cerritos loser vs. Pasadena-Glendale loser.
8:30 p.m. — (Winner's bracket) Mesa, Arizona-LA Pierce winner vs. Bakersfield-Glendale winner; (Loser's bracket) Mesa, Arizona-LA Pierce loser vs. Bakersfield-Glendale loser.

Saturday's Games
Loser's bracket games at 1, 3 and 6:30 p.m. Winner's bracket game at 8:30 p.m.
Sunday's Games
10 a.m. — Consolation championship
1 p.m. — Championship
3 p.m. — Championship (if needed)

Pre-Ensenada races slated

All bows — from north and south — will be pointed toward Newport Beach this weekend as yacht clubs from San Diego and Marina del Rey schedule races that will terminate here for yachts planning to enter the Newport to Ensenada race the following weekend (April 23).

Biggest fleet will be coming from Marina del Rey in the form of the Mayor's (LA), the first race of California Yacht Club's Overton Series. The race starts at Marina del Rey Saturday and the yachts should start finishing here late Saturday or early Sunday.

Also coming from Marina del Rey will be a fleet of Performance Handicap Racing Fleet yachts out of Marina Yacht Club. The race serves as the second in MYC's Marina Series.

Most of the yachts from out of the area will be rafted up or moored at Balboa Yacht Club where they will undergo the mandatory inspection by Newport Ocean Sailing Association officials prior to the start of the Ensenada race.

In other Orange County yachting activity, Balboa Yacht Club will kick off its 66 Series Sunday and hold its Spring Regatta for outside classes Saturday; Bahia Corinthian Yacht Club will stage the second race of its Angelman Series Saturday; Newport Harbor Yacht Club will host the Jim Tyler Memorial Regatta for Lehman-12s Sunday; and Capistrano Bay Yacht Club will hold a dinghy regatta Saturday.

HOROSCOPE BY SIDNEY OMARR

Friday, April 15

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Lines of communication open — individual you aided in past will return favor. You could receive a valuable tip on stock market, special commodity or sporting event. Member of opposite sex expresses desire to communicate, wants you to articulate feelings.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): You'll be at right place at right time, needed material will be obtained and process of home remodeling could be initiated. Accent independence, creativity, willingness to invest in your own talents. Libra and another Taurus figure prominently.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Define terms, look behind scenes, be discreet in connection with clandestine meeting. Communicate with one who is temporarily confined to home or hospital. Pisces, Virgo and another Gemini play significant roles.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Relationship intensifies, responsibilities multiply and opportunities for financial gain prove valid. Emphasis on friends, hopes, wishes and contacts leading to successful business enterprise. Capricorn and another Cancer figure prominently.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Focus on promotion, production, ability to successfully present case before superiors. You gain added recognition, you'll be rid of unnecessary burden and expense. Associate asks you to participate in community project or political activity.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Highlight independence, creativity, willingness to pioneer a project. Member of opposite sex gets to heart of matters and you're asked to make decision regarding possible journey. Open lines of communication, define desires and confirm spiritual values.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Follow through on hunch-first impressions apt to be correct. Dig beneath surface — if persistent, you could strike pay dirt. Emotional involvement intensifies. Cycle highlights money and love. Cancer, Aquarius persons play key roles.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You'll have reason to celebrate — good news relates to legal process. Focus also on public relations, partnership, marriage. You'll be given opportunity for proverbial second chance. Gemini, Sagittarius natives figure prominently.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You'll have chance to rectify past mistakes. Opportunity exists to review, revise and to rebuild on a more suitable structure. Individuals who share basic concerns will dig in and make your task easier. Scorpio plays important role.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Be ready for change of scene, chance to elevate standing through written word. You'll be dealing with lively, creative people who encourage you to promote talents. Young person becomes ally, aids in boosting your morale.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Important domestic adjustment occurs — ride with tide, make intelligent concessions to loved ones. Territorial limits will be defined. You could discover new source of income. Taurus, Libra, Scorpio natives figure prominently.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Secret rendezvous lends spice to life. Someone will be whispering sweet nothings. Enjoy yourself, but don't base future security on mere promises. Trips, gifts, messages and possible visit from relative highlight scenario.

Engines fired for airport growth

Not hard to tell airport 'players'

It was easy to tell who was for expanding John Wayne Airport and who wasn't during yesterday's Board of Supervisors hearing on the matter.

Those favoring expansion came garbed in the soft, pastel colors of the only airlines based at John Wayne, AirCal. Airline employees, two-thirds of whom reside in Orange County, told the board they were concerned about losing their jobs if the airport didn't grow.

And then there were those wearing the conservative three-piece suits. These were mostly businessmen who testified that enlargement of the airport would help the county to maintain its economic vitality.

Those who opposed expansion dressed differently. These were noise-weary residents of Santa Ana Heights and Newport Beach who wore the worried and sometimes angry faces of home and property owners.

They testified that noise from departing jetliners disrupted their lives and significantly lowered the value of their properties.

One Santa Ana Heights resident told the (See TESTIMONY, Page A2)

Newport vows fight to halt expansion

By STEVE MARBLE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Surprised and irritated, city leaders and residents in Newport Beach vowed today to fight the possible addition of 32 daily jet flights out of John Wayne Airport.

"I'm extremely disappointed," said Mayor Evelyn Hart of the decision to study the flight increase. "The city will never accept this level."

Councilwoman Jackie Heather called the proposal by Orange County supervisors "unrealistic."

Until yesterday's vote by supervisors to study increasing flights from the present level of 41-a-day as high as 73, Newport City leaders thought they were close to reaching a compromise with the county, which operates the airport.

Newport resident Joe Meshi, who lives under the takeoff pattern, said supervisors tried to "camouflage" their vote by mentioning a 55 flight limit with the possibility of going up to 73.

"It's time for the public to take action or to forever hold its peace," said Meshi.

"This came right out of the blue," said Mayor Hart, noting, though, she is pleased supervisors agreed to consider a legally binding agreement for an eventual freeze on daily (See NEWPORT, Page A2)

The prospect of 73 commercial jetliners taking off over Newport Beach each day roared into reality yesterday when the Orange County Board of Supervisors approved further study of a plan to increase John Wayne Airport operations to that level.

With Supervisors Thomas

- Daily jet takeoffs up to 73
- Serve 8 million passengers annually
- Increase use of Ontario Airport
- Freeze daily takeoffs at 73

Riley and Bruce Nestande dissenting, the board voted 3-2 to direct that environmental impact reports be prepared to consider increasing commercial operations at the airport to a maximum of 73 average daily departures.

The plan settled upon by the five-member board for modernizing and enlarging the airport would be undertaken in two phases. In phase one, the airport would be enlarged to accommodate 55 commercial departures per day.

Phase two, which would have to be approved by a future Board of Supervisors, would permit enlargements to handle up to 73 daily departures.

In addition, the board directed its legal staff to determine the legality of entering into a binding agreement with the City of Newport Beach to freeze airport operations at the 73-flight level.

The board also directed that (See AIRPORT, Page A2)

Kettler to resign board post

William Kettler of Huntington Beach, a Coast Community College District trustee for almost two decades, announced last night he is resigning from the college board, effective May 1.

Kettler said he is stepping down because of family and business commitments — not because he has been targeted in a recall campaign aimed at removing all five trustees from office.

"This is not because of the recall," he said in an interview this morning. "I'd made it known

Protopappas posts bail, released

By KAREN E. KLEIN
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Costa Mesa Dentist Tony Protopappas was released on $250,000 bail from the Orange County Jail today after spending two nights in protective custody on murder charges.

Protopappas' attorneys put up equity in the dentist's property around the county to make bail for him, said Harbor Municipal Court officials.

A clerk in Judge Selim S. Franklin's court said Protopappas' attorneys produced property totaling $500,000, but the judge reduced bail nevertheless.

Orange County Deputy District Attorney James Cloninger said he stands by the fear he expressed at Protopappas' arraignment Tuesday that the dentist might flee if released on bail.

"No matter what kind of bail's posted, there's always the possibility that a suspect will flee," Cloninger said.

At the arraignment, Stanford Shaw, one of Protopappas' attorneys, said the dentist hoped to stay with family friends in Laguna Beach when he was released.

Protopappas was arrested Tuesday after he surrendered to authorities in Newport Beach. Murder charges in the deaths of three of his patients were issued against him last Friday.

Trustees reject claims in scuba diving death

Wrongful death claims totaling $6 million, filed by the family of an Orange Coast College scuba diving student who died during a class trip, were rejected without comment last night by Coast Community College District trustees.

The trustees oversee Orange Coast, Golden West and Coastline colleges.

The claims were filed by the widow and children of Frank Walter Scroggs Jr., 57, of Costa Mesa, who died during a class scuba diving trip to Catalina Island on Jan. 13. The Los Angeles County Coroner's office listed the cause of death as accidental drowning.

The legal claims charge that (See SCUBA, Page A2)

donated by the Irvine Company in southern Irvine.

The 83-year-old inventor and businessman, who founded Beckman Instruments in Irvine, has pushed for a hospital in the city for more than a decade. He has often been at odds with UCI officials who have never given up plans to build a hospital on their campus.

"I'm still hopeful. I wouldn't say I'm strongly positive, but I'm hopeful we can break down this growing rift between UCI and the community and get them to work together," Beckman said yesterday.

IMC leaders believe the $5 million gift from the Arnold and Mabel Beckman Foundation is the largest ever offered in Orange County for a health care facility. Beckman said the money has no strings attached for constructing the proposed 222-bed hospital on land just north of the San Diego Freeway between Sand Canyon Avenue and the Laguna Freeway.

The medical center is estimated to cost $86 million. A feasibility study prepared by consultant Richard Slotow said from $15 to $20 million in cash must be raised from the community to keep financing costs low enough to support reasonable health care costs, Beckman said.

Beckman's pledge is contingent upon state approval to construct the medical center. IMC officials are competing with the HealthWest Foundation of Chatsworth, which is seeking to build a similar hospital at UCI.

Beckman suggested his pledge shows that IMC is moving forward with its plans and said he hoped the "cool heads" in the hospital competition could still work out a satisfactory compromise.

David and Ruth Willett say they've reached the end of the line.

By STEVE MITCHELL

David and Ruth Willett say they've reached the end of the line.

Barring presidential intervention, their adopted Liberian son Samuel is to report to the Los Angeles immigration office tomorrow morning to be deported to his birthplace.

His family says he won't be there.

"I'm not sending him back," his mother said today.

"You'd better believe that."

The San Juan Capistrano family has been battling for nearly three years to keep their 27-year-old son in the United States.

The Willetts were Peace Corps volunteers in Liberia in 1972 when they met and later adopted Sam. They arbitrarily set the boy's age at 16, since he had no birth record.

But under the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Act, Sam was too old to be considered as an adopted child, thus ineligible to live in the United States without a special act of Congress.

He entered the United States in 1980 under a student visa which has since expired.

A half dozen bills introduced on Sam's behalf have either been turned down or expired.

Church groups and friends sent thousands of letters to Washington supporting Sam, apparently to no avail.

Now his adopted parents say they have but one way to go.

"We're going to have to seek political asylum for Sam," said Dave Willett. But the notion, he says, is ludicrous.

Samuel Willett

"We're asking a friendly Liberian to take asylum from a friendly Liberia," he said.

every effort be made to encourage the growth and development of Ontario Airport in San Bernardino County, thus easing the pressure to expand commercial activities at John Wayne.

The compromise action was taken following a public hearing that lasted for more than four hours. The action that finally won three of the board's five votes was proposed by Supervisor Ralph Clark, who initially favored a flat expansion to 73 daily departures.

The board was to select among 13 alternatives that ranged from closing the airport to allowing as many flights as market conditions demanded.

The veteran trustee received a standing ovation at last night's board meeting. Kettler was too emotionally moved to read his prepared statement to the audience, so the letter was read by Board President Carol Gandy.

While claiming that the recall was not the reason he resigned, Kettler said it added to his current frustrations on the board. He also pointed to the board's loss of control to the state, which now dispenses almost all community college funding.

The recall campaign was launched early this year after the trustees approved the layoffs of more than 100 full-time teachers and administrators as a means of coping with an anticipated budget deficit.

After leaving the board, Kettler said he will continue to work against the recall of the other board members, describing the campaign as "ridiculous and immature."

Mesa to revamp sign law

By KAREN E. KLEIN

Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Costa Mesa's new Planning Commission has voted to revamp the city's controversial sign ordinance, allowing non-conforming signs that were legal before the ordinance was passed in 1974 to remain until altered voluntarily.

Under the existing ordinance, signs which do not conform would have to be replaced or scaled down by Jan. 1, 1984.

Businessmen in the city have long contended the ordinance is unfair because it forces them to bring down signs which were legal before the ordinance.

About 20 percent of the city's 4,644 signs are considered non-conforming.

Mike Robinson, a city planner, said another reason for repealing the existing ordinance, beside its unpopularity, is the fact that a similar ordinance in San Diego was challenged and declared invalid by the Supreme Court.

Under the restructured ordinance, existing signs will be allowed to remain and only new signs will have to conform to the ordinance regulations.

Some opponents of repealing the ordinance have charged that any changes will create an unfair hardship for businesses coming into the city.

The City Council will review the matter for a final hearing on May 2, Robinson said.

On the other hand, an AirCal flight attendant who has been laid off his job commented, "We all are assets to this community, but more and more we are becoming liabilities in the unemployment line."

There also was testimony from county residents who didn't attend the long hearing. Representatives for the Community Airport Council, which endorses expansion, presented supervisors with the signatures of 11,500 persons who favor airport improvements.

COUNCILMAN INDICTED. . .

Hodges and the others were indicted yesterday by the federal grand jury in Los Angeles following an investigation by the FBI into the alleged real estate scheme.

Hodges, 39, was accused of agreeing to verify false information on applications for bank loans, according to U.S. Atty. Daniel Broderick.

Other defendants named in the indictment were Alex Logan, 36, of Huntington Beach; Paula Fisher, 28, a real estate agent from Cypress; Donald Fisher, 35, a mortgage broker from Huntington Beach and Deborah Toler, 30, a clerk from Huntington Beach.

Hodges, who gained publicity recently in his ill-fated drive to persuade Queen Elizabeth II of Great Britain to visit his city, was unavailable today for comment.

A colleague said, however, that

Hodges appeared to be shocked when discussing the indictment over the telephone.

The FBI investigation also reportedly looked into the role played by Barclay Hodges in the real estate scheme. Barclay, the brother of Gil Hodges, was shot to death last year after a day-long drinking episode at a restaurant at John Wayne Airport.

Councilman Hodges also is being investigated by the Orange County District Attorney's office on allegations of political misconduct.

An indictment is a charge brought against a person by a grand jury. It doesn't establish guilt or innocence.

U.S. Atty. Broderick said conviction of the conspiracy charge has a maximum prison term of five years and a maximum fine of $10,000.

takeoffs.

The beach city has spent most of its lobbying efforts in recent months to get supervisors to go along with a permanent cap on daily flights. Earlier this year, supervisors rejected such a concept.

"The city will try to pursue a binding agreement with the county but with the firm understanding that such an agreement would have absolute numbers considerably lower than those mentioned," Hart said.

Barbara Lichman, leader of a citizen group fighting airport expansion, expressed irritation with supervisors and called the proposed 73 flight ceiling "totally unacceptable."

CABBAGE ROLL-OFF. . .

Launching the fund-raiser will be a "King Cole Ball," scheduled April 22 at the Newporter's Plaza Ballroom with tickets costing $39.95 each. That tax-deductible ticket is also good for admission to the two-day festival.

For those not attending the ball, admission to the grounds is $2 each day.

Teams representing churches, ethnic cultural societies, social groups and schools will compete in cooking, singing and dancing, with prizes ranging from free overseas phone calls to airline tickets.

For more information about the roll-off, call Cabbage Head Quarters at 751-2169.

POLICE LOG

Huntington Beach

Female students at Edison High School told police they entered a women's rest room yesterday and encountered a man standing "stark naked," except for a blue ski mask over his face. The man then donned a red sweatshirt and green pants he had been carrying and was last seen running toward a school field.

Jewelry valued at $1,000 was reported stolen in the burglary of a home on the block of Biscayne Court. Entry was apparently made by prying open a locked rear window.

A burglar apparently used a "slim jim" tool to break into a light blue Datsun 280Z parked on the 21800 block of Brookhurst Street. The thief fled with a generator worth $430.

Fountain Valley

A radio was stolen from one car and seven gallons of unleaded gasoline were extracted from another while parked at Valley Tow, 18125 Euclid St.

A washer and dryer valued at $640 were stolen from a house in the 17000 block of La Rosa. The family was away while the house was being repaired.

Three Ford Motor wheel covers valued at $180 were taken from a car parked in the 9700 block of Mariposa.

Irvine

A woman said two people on a motorcycle — a man and woman — grabbed her briefcase as they swung by her in a parking lot at 14330 Culver Drive. The robbers matched the description of a pair on a motorcycle who stole a purse from a shopper last week.

A camera and zoom lens valued at $305 was reported stolen from a home on LaPalma last night. Police said the thief entered by unknown means.

A woman told police a jogger in burgundy colored nylon shorts exposed himself last night at Harvard Park.

A radio was reported stolen yesterday from an unlocked car parked in the McGaw Labs parking lot at 225 McGaw Ave.

U.S. Summary

Thunderstorms clobbered Mississippi with so much rain that some homes spared by last week's floods were soaked today by water gushing down the streets.

Meanwhile, a blustery storm spreading up to 11 inches of snow shut down schools and roads in the northern Plains.

Firefighters blocked by floodwaters had to let a house burn down in Vicksburg, Miss., and the, well-deep flood floods caused by 5 inches of rain chased at least 500 people from their homes around Jackson.

Power lines were down and hundreds of schools were closed in Minnesota today because of wet snow flung around by winds gusting up to 53 mph. The blinding "near blizzard" forced plows off the clogged roads in some parts of the state, officials said.

Snow in Nebraska shut down public and parochial schools in Omaha, and most highways in the state were packed with ice or snow. One man was killed in a highway crash. Up to 7 inches of snow fell on South Dakota overnight and winds up to 40 mph forced many travelers into truck stops. As the storm in Mississippi dumped 4 inches of rain in a little

all seven aboard perish

By The Associated Press

LAS VEGAS — A B-52 bomber found after a two-day search through snow and rain had slammed into a southern Utah mountainside in bad weather, killing all seven crewmen aboard, officials said today.

The wreckage was discovered yesterday as clouds broke briefly over a route being retraced by a search plane, one of more than 20 involved in the hunt for the unarmed strategic bomber since it disappeared Monday afternoon.

A board of officers was being convened to investigate the accident, the Air Force said in a statement read by Lt. Col. Richard Kline of the Strategic Air Command at Offutt Air Force Base, Neb.

King Kong finally makes it

NEW YORK — The climb was a hairy one for King Kong, whose inflated 84-foot replica finally loomed from the top of the Empire State Building in a publicity stunt celebrating the golden anniversary of the ape's film debut. Six days of bad luck and bad weather delayed the 3,000-pound vinyl gorilla's rise to a spot near the top of the 102-story building, where the original Kong cavorted with actress Fay Wray before tumbling to his death in the movie's climax. Workers pumped new life into the eight-story balloon last night after nearly a week-long effort that included stuffing it into elevators.

King Kong takes form.

De Lorean asks evidence hearing

LOS ANGELES — Contending a conspiracy exists to leak information to the newsmedia, John Z. De Lorean's defense team has requested an evidentiary hearing to explore alleged "improper government influences and activities" in the automaker's cocaine trafficking case. The 10-page motion by attorneys for the 57-year-old automobile industry maverick was revealed in documents released by U.S. District Judge Robert Takasugi yesterday — two days after they were filed under seal. The defense motion accused the Internal Revenue Service of having tried "at least since 1979 to arrange a prosecution of John De Lorean, reminiscent of its 'enemies list' activities in the past."

Belushi case extradition delayed

Cathy Smith

TORONTO — Extradition proceedings against Cathy Evelyn Smith, charged with the murder of comedian John Belushi, have been delayed until April 25 because crucial documents have not arrived from California. It was the second postponement in the case against Smith, 35, a singer indicted in Los Angeles on one charge of second-degree murder and 13 counts of supplying and administering dangerous drugs to Belushi.

Walesa's wife searched, questioned

GDANSK, Poland — Danuta Walesa, wife of Solidarity chief Lech Walesa, said she was frisked and questioned by Gdansk police for three hours today about her husband's contacts with underground union leaders. She said Walesa also was body-searched prior to nearly five hours' interrogation yesterday. She appeared in good spirits on her return home from Gdansk police headquarters and told Western reporters she had been asked about her husband's whereabouts during his absence from home between April 9-11.

Reagan 'death' rumors circulated

LONDON — Rumors circulated today in financial markets in Europe and the Far East that President Reagan was dead, but White House spokesman Robin Gray said it was not true. The rumors prompted several telephone calls from news organizations, Gray said. The reports also caused a slight stirring in trading in currency markets in West Germany and Switzerland. In Frankfurt, West Germany, for example, the rumors slightly undercut the dollar, but the White House denial then bolstered the American currency, traders said. The dollar opened at 2.4390 West German marks, fell to 2.4350 marks after the rumors circulated, then rose to 2.4400 marks after they were denied.

Arafat wants to resume talks

PLO chief Yasser Arafat says he wants to resume talks with King Hussein despite Jordan's brusque reaction to the PLO refusal to be represented by the king in peace negotiations with Israel. Hussein has not responded to Arafat's comments, made at a news conference yesterday in Stockholm. Last Sunday, Hussein broke off his negotiations with Arafat.

Funeral held for pioneer
Lagunan

Memorial services will be held tomorrow for Olga Milligan, the unofficial "mayor" of Fairwood Walk in Laguna Beach and a pioneer member of the beach community.

Mrs. Milligan died Monday at the age of 85.

Born Benella M. Wood in Indiana, she moved from the Hoosier State 60 years ago to Eagle Rock, where her husband, O.J. "Poppa" Milligan, worked for the Los Angeles City School District.

The couple built a summer cottage in Laguna Canyon, where they and their two daughters stayed for long weekends, holidays and summer breaks.

When Milligan retired from the school district, the family moved all their belongings to the canyon house, made some improvements, and became full-time Lagunans in the Thurston Park neighborhood.

Her daughter, Dorothy J. O'Connor of El Toro, said her mother was named "mayor" of Fairwood Walk — an area within the neighborhood which is most notable for its footpaths-in-lieu-of-streets.

"Everyone came to the house for her advice, and to tell her their troubles," her daughter recalls. "She knew all the gossip in the neighborhood even though she never left the house."

During the storms and high winds of 1978, nine huge eucalyptus trees fell on the house, nearly destroying the old wood structure. Miraculously, none of the three women inside was hurt.

Widowed nearly nine years ago, Mrs. Milligan continued to live in the rural neighborhood until her death.

She is survived by Mrs. O'Connor and another daughter, Evelyn C. Crockett of Laguna Beach; five grandchildren, nine great-grandchildren and five great-great-grandchildren.

Mesa planners OK
12-story building

The Costa Mesa Planning Commission has given its approval to the final development plan for a 12-story, 258,000 square foot office building which will be located just east of South Coast Plaza Town Center.

The office will be the first of six which are planned as part of the Sakioka development, on the largest chunk of still undeveloped land in Costa Mesa.

Construction on the building is scheduled to begin in June, according to Mike Robinson, city planner. Preliminary approval for the development was granted nearly one year ago, he said.

Coast leaders huddle with Reagan

Encouraging news reported from executive briefing of local officials

By GLENN SCOTT

Of the Daily Pilot Staff

From the Orange Coast to the White House they went. Four local officials met the president last week and then returned with encouraging, if varied, news.

Jackie Heather of Newport Beach, David Sills of Irvine, Ben Nielsen of Fountain Valley and Harriett Wieder of Huntington Beach were among 50 people invited to the executive offices for a briefing of elected leaders from the West.

A 30-minute session with Ronald Reagan was the highlight, but the one-day event included briefings with other top administrators including Interior Secretary James Watt, and Transportation Secretary Elizabeth Dole.

Since Heather, Sills and Nielsen are city council members while Wieder is an Orange County supervisor — they came back this week speaking about separate developments.

Noise from John Wayne Airport consumes Newport Beach. Heather said Dole offered "a real breakthrough" by suggesting the federal government will abandon efforts to pre-empt county noise standards, which are more flexible than national rules.

Heather also had a run-in with Watt over his plans to sell offshore oil drilling leases off the Orange Coast. The briefing was on the same day Watt held a press conference to mollify reaction to earlier statements opposing a concert featuring the Beach Boys at Washington Monument.

Irvine's David Sills says 'worst is over'

Some members of the band own vacation houses in Newport, Heather said.

"I privately offered to have the Beach Boys give a concert here to raise money we could pay in lieu of the lease sale," she said.

Nielsen, meanwhile was buoyed by Watt's interest in disposing of small parcels of federal land. Nielsen said the policy could mean unused land in the center of Mile Square Park might be deeded from the Navy to his city.

Sills was encouraged by Reagan's hints that federal programs such as revenue sharing won't be cut as drastically as in the last few years.

"The president, I felt, strongly implied at least that the state and local governments are over the worst of the budget cuts," he said.

Wieder visited the briefing and also a Senate subcommittee meeting. She said the outlook was promising for the Army Corps of Engineers to receive $200,000 to prepare feasibility studies on ocean access if a marina is built at Bolsa Chica.

donated by the Irvine Company in southern Irvine.

The 83-year-old inventor and businessman, who founded Beckman Instruments in Irvine, has pushed for a hospital in the city for more than a decade. He has often been at odds with UCI officials who have never given up plans to build a hospital on their campus.

"I'm still hopeful. I wouldn't say I'm strongly positive, but I'm hopeful we can break down this growing rift between UCI and the community and get them to work together," Beckman said yesterday.

IMC leaders believe the $5 million gift from the Arnold and Mabel Beckman Foundation is the largest ever offered in Orange County for a health care facility. Beckman said the money has no strings attached for constructing the proposed 222-bed hospital on land just north of the San Diego Freeway between Sand Canyon Avenue and the Laguna Freeway.

The medical center is estimated to cost $86 million. A feasibility study prepared by consultant Richard Slotow said from $15 to $20 million in cash must be raised from the community to keep financing costs low enough to support reasonable health care costs, Beckman said.

Beckman's pledge is contingent upon state approval to construct the medical center. IMC officials are competing with the HealthWest Foundation of Chatsworth, which is seeking to build a similar hospital at UCI.

Beckman suggested his pledge shows that IMC is moving forward with its plans and said he hoped the "cool heads" in the hospital competition could still work out a satisfactory compromise.

the college did not provide proper equipment and supervision on the excursion. Attorneys for the family say they are awaiting results of tests conducted on the underwater breathing equipment used by Scroggs. The equipment was owned by the college.

By rejecting the claims, the college trustees were denying responsibility in the case. A claim must be submitted and rejected before a formal lawsuit can be filed.

Partly because of the student's death, Orange Coast College has canceled all scuba diving classes in mid-semester.

Liberian youth to resist ouster

By STEVE MITCHELL

Of the Daily Pilot Staff

David and Ruth Willett say they've reached the end of the line.

Barring presidential intervention, their adopted Liberian son Samuel is to report to the Los Angeles immigration office tomorrow morning to be deported to his birthplace.

His family says he won't be there.

"I'm not sending him back," his tearful mother said today. "You'd better believe that."

The San Juan Capistrano family has been battling for nearly three years to keep their 27-year-old son in the United States.

The Willetts were Peace Corps volunteers in Liberia in 1972 when they met and later adopted Sam. They arbitrarily set the boy's age at 16, since he had no birth record.

But under the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Act, Sam was too old to be considered as an adopted child, thus ineligible to live in the United States without a special act of Congress.

He entered the United States in 1980 under a student visa which has since expired.

A half dozen bills introduced on Sam's behalf have either been turned down or expired.

Church groups and friends sent thousands of letters to Washington supporting Sam, apparently to no avail.

Now his adopted parents say they have but one way to go.

"We're going to have to seek political asylum for Sam," said Dave Willett. But the notion, he says, is ludicrous.

Samuel Willett

"We're asking a friendly Liberian to take asylum from a friendly Liberia," he said.

The couple said they learned today that the assistant director of the INS in Los Angeles has refused to grant a stay.

Mesa to revamp sign law

By KAREN E. KLEIN

Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Costa Mesa's new Planning Commission has voted to revamp the city's controversial sign ordinance, allowing non-conforming signs that were legal before the ordinance was passed in 1974 to remain until altered voluntarily.

Under the existing ordinance, signs which do not conform would have to be replaced or scaled down by Jan. 1, 1984.

Businessmen in the city have long contended the ordinance is unfair because it forces them to bring down signs which were legal before the ordinance.

About 20 percent of the city's 4,644 signs are considered non-conforming.

Mike Robinson, a city planner, said another reason for repealing the existing ordinance, beside its unpopularity, is the fact that a similar ordinance in San Diego was challenged and declared invalid by the Supreme Court.

Under the restructured ordinance, existing signs will be allowed to remain and only new signs will have to conform to the ordinance regulations.

Some opponents of repealing the ordinance have charged that any changes will create an unfair hardship for businesses coming into the city.

The City Council will review the matter for a final hearing on May 2, Robinson said.

supervisors she felt "imprisoned by the noisy conditions" surrounding her home.

On the other hand, an AirCal flight attendant who has been laid off his job commented, "We all are assets to this community, but more and more we are becoming liabilities in the unemployment line."

There also was testimony from county residents who didn't attend the long hearing. Representatives for the Community Airport Council, which endorses expansion, presented supervisors with the signatures of 11,500 persons who favor airport improvements.

COUNCILMAN INDICTED.

Hodges and the others were indicted yesterday by the federal grand jury in Los Angeles following an investigation by the FBI into the alleged real estate scheme.

Hodges, 39, was accused of agreeing to verify false information on applications for bank loans, according to U.S. Atty. Daniel Broderick.

Other defendants named in the indictment were Alex Logan, 36, of Huntington Beach; Paula Fisher, 28, a real estate agent from Cypress; Donald Fisher, 35, a mortgage broker from Huntington Beach and Deborah Toler, 30, a clerk from Huntington Beach.

Hodges, who gained publicity recently in his ill-fated drive to persuade Queen Elizabeth II of Great Britain to visit his city, was unavailable today for comment.

A colleague said, however, that

Hodges appeared to be shocked when discussing the indictment over the telephone.

The FBI investigation also reportedly looked into the role played by Barclay Hodges in the real estate scheme. Barclay, the brother of Gil Hodges, was shot to death last year after a day-long drinking episode at a restaurant at John Wayne Airport.

Councilman Hodges also is being investigated by the Orange County District Attorney's office on allegations of political misconduct.

An indictment is a charge brought against a person by a grand jury. It doesn't establish guilt or innocence.

U.S. Atty. Broderick said conviction of the conspiracy charge has a maximum prison term of five years and a maximum fine of $10,000.

college board since 1965, including several terms as board president.

His current term expires in November. The remaining four board members are expected to appoint an interim trustee to complete Kettler's term.

The veteran trustee received a standing ovation at last night's board meeting. Kettler was too emotionally moved to read his prepared statement to the audience, so the letter was read by Board President Carol Gandy.

While claiming that the recall was not the reason he resigned, Kettler said it added to his current frustrations on the board. He also pointed to the board's loss of control to the state, which now dispenses almost all community college funding.

The recall campaign was launched early this year after the trustees approved the layoffs of more than 100 full-time teachers and administrators as a means of coping with an anticipated budget deficit.

After leaving the board, Kettler said he will continue to work against the recall of the other board members, describing the campaign as "ridiculous and immature."

Bandit hits bank in Newport heist

A man wearing a tan "Members Only" jacket and claiming to have a gun, held up a Newport Beach bank yesterday and escaped with $1,200 in cash, police reported.

The bandit, who handed a demand note to a teller, entered Bank of America, 3300 E. Coast Highway, at 10:47 a.m. and threatened to shoot the teller unless she handed over the loot.

AIRPORT EXPANSION.

every effort be made to encourage the growth and development of Ontario Airport in San Bernardino County, thus easing the pressure to expand commercial activities at John Wayne.

The compromise action was taken following a public hearing that lasted for more than four hours. The action that finally won three of the board's five votes was proposed by Supervisor Ralph Clark, who initially favored a flat expansion to 73 daily departures.

The board was to select among 13 alternatives that ranged from closing the airport to allowing as many flights as market conditions demanded.

Supervisor Thomas Riley, whose fifth supervisorial district includes the airport and Newport

Beach, opened the hearing by proposing the board settle on a 55-flight alternative, a 14-flight increase over the current 41-flight ceiling.

Riley also suggested that the county explore the possibility of freezing airport operations at the 55-flight level. That was apparently agreeable to Newport Beach city officials — long opponents of any airport expansion that would increase noise in their nearby city.

But Supervisors Harriett Wieder, Roger Stanton and Clark voted in favor of the phased-in 73 flight alternative, citing its "flexibility" and noting that the decision approved only environmental studies of the project and did not constitute their final approval for the project.

takeoffs.

The beach city has spent most of its lobbying efforts in recent months to get supervisors to go along with a permanent cap on daily flights. Earlier this year, supervisors rejected such a cap.

"The city will try to pursue a binding agreement with the county but with the firm understanding that such an agreement would have absolute numbers considerably lower than those mentioned," Hart said.

Barbara Lichman, leader of a citizen group fighting airport expansion, expressed irritation with supervisors and called the proposed 73 flight ceiling "totally unacceptable."

CABBAGE ROLL-OFF.

Launching the fund-raiser will be a "King Cole Ball," scheduled April 22 at the Newporter's Plaza Ballroom with tickets costing $39.95 each. That tax-deductible ticket is also good for admission to the two-day festival.

For those not attending the ball, admission to the grounds is $2 each day.

Teams representing churches, ethnic cultural societies, social groups and schools will compete in cooking, singing and dancing, with prizes ranging from free overseas phone calls to airline tickets.

For more information about the roll-off, call Cabbage Head Quarters at 751-2169.

POLICE LOGNewport Beach

A crook took a television set and a painting from a motel room yesterday at the Travelodge, 6802 W. Coast Highway. The loss was put at $275.

A prowler was reported in a courtyard outside Newport Convalescent Hospital, 1555 Superior Ave. in the pre-dawn hours yesterday.

A thief used a coat hanger to break in a parked Mercedes automobile in the 2500 block of Margaret Drive and took a $550 camera.

Burglars took silverware and jewelry valued at $4,000 from a house in the 120 block of Via Ebboli on Lido Isle.

Costa Mesa

About $300 was stolen from a motel on Newport Boulevard yesterday afternoon when a man walked into the front office with a gun and demanded money from the receptionist. The suspect escaped on foot with a sack of cash.

A Santa Ana man, Ruben G. Rodriguez, 18, and a juvenile were arrested yesterday for possession of stolen property and suspicion of robbery after they tried to redeem stolen gift certificates at a shoe store. The pair presented the certificates, stamped with the name and number of another store, which was robbed last month, to the clerk, who notified police.

Gordon D. Brucker, 42, was hospitalized and arrested yesterday after he was believed to be under the influence of narcotics at the poolside of the motel where he lived. Brucker, allegedly drinking a mixture of beer and PCP, was arrested on suspicion of furnishing PCP and being under the influence of PCP.

Irvine

A camera and zoom lens valued at $305 was reported stolen from a home on LaPalma last night. Police said the thief entered by unknown means.

A woman told police a jogger in burgundy colored nylon shorts exposed himself last night at Harvard Park.

First-time jobless claims down 11,000

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON — First-time claims for unemployment benefits fell by 11,000 in the week that ended April 2, the Labor Department reported today.

The Employment and Training Administration said figures adjusted for seasonal variations showed that 487,000 jobless Americans applied for unemployment compensation benefits at the various state employment offices. That compared to 498,000 such new applications in the week ended March 26.

The government's compilation of these first-time claims does not show how many applicants were either approved or declared ineligible for 26 weeks of jobless benefits.

GTE reports hefty earnings

SANTA MONICA — General Telephone of California has reported a hefty earnings increase but said it still needs a 1984 rate hike which would almost double average residential telephone charges. GTE said yesterday net income for 1982 was $187.2 million, up 57 percent from the $118.9 million reported for 1981. However, the company noted that about $25 million of the increase was a one-time tax gain. GTE President David Anderson said the corporation, the nation's largest independent telephone company, is earning less than most other independent phone companies. He said GTE is earning about 13 percent on its shareholders' equity although it is allowed a 16 percent return by the California Public Utilities Commission, (GTE serves Laguna Beach and portions of south and west Orange County.)
