What triggered slayings in Mesa?

Mesa street an unlikely murder site

By STEVE MARBLE

At first glance, Florida Circle seems an unlikely spot for murder.

A Costa Mesa police sargeant lives on one side of the quiet, nine-house cul-de-sac and an Irvine police captain lives across the street. Until recently, the Placentia police chief also lived on the block.

"You'd never think it could happen here," said Tim Holbrook. the Costa Mesa officer. "But when you've been a policeman 15 years you know that anything can happen anywhere."

By late Tuesday afternoon, the street in Costa Mesa's Mesa Verde North community was lined with neighbors who'd received word of the quadruple murder-suicide in the house at 3309 Florida Circle.

What they eventually learned was that a man who lived in the neighborhood had killed a cousin, the eight-months-pregnant woman who lived in the house and, finally, himself.

The husband of the pregnant woman was away on business at the time of the shooting.

'They were a nice, quiet couple," said James Ballone of his neighbors. "They seemed to have a lot of relatives and family over at times."

Costa Mesa police were hoping today to learn why a 53-year-old gas station owner killed two relatives, including his pregnant sister-in-law, during a family gathering Tuesday before putting the gun to his own head.

The wife of the gunman, who ran screaming from the death scene, told police her husband was distraught over marital problems but had been calm before the violent outbreak.

"We don't really know what set the whole thing off," said Lt. Jack Calnon early today.

Costa Mesa Officer Tim

Holbrook said police are considering the episode on Florida Circle a quadruple murder-suicide.

The gunman, identified as Mahmood Family, reportedly shot and killed a cousin, and his wife's sister, who was eight months pregnant and lived in the house where the shooting took place.

Paramedics spent nearly 45 minutes in an unsuccessful attempt to save the unborn baby by keeping the dead woman's body systems functioning through cardiopulmonary recusitation.

The pregnant woman's identity was not released early today. Police said they were still attempting to contact her husband, out of town on a business trip.

The other victim in the house was identified as Gholma Hossein Shamlou, 47, a a doctor from Villa Park and a cousin of the gunman.

Family's wife, identified as Shaida, escaped from the house after the shooting. She told police that just prior to the violence, her husband had squirted her in the face with a can of tear gas. She said she took refuge in a bath-

Hot winds will fade tonight

By L.P. BENET

Just when it was getting cool enough to break out the fall wardrobe, Orange County got a taste of Indian summer as Santa Ana winds fanned the area with hot, dry air the past two days.

National weather forecasters said the winds won't start to diminish until tonight. Today's temperatures in Orange County will reach highs of 94 degrees inland and 82 along the coast. Lows will be in the high 50s.

Thursday's temperatures, however, will drop to the mid-80s inland and to the upper 70s along the coast.

The unseasonably high temperatures - which hit 97 degrees in Santa Ana Tuesday and 84 in Newport Beach - can be traced to a high pressure system over the western part of the United States which is pushing hot desert air into Southern California, forecasters said.

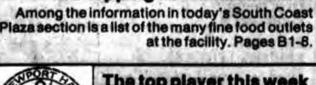

The high temperatures and strong winds forced Orange County Fire Departments Tuesday to go on a high watershed dispatch level alert — one step from a red flag alert. Orange County fire Captain Mike Reinhold said early today that no major fires have occured.

"The wind is bad and combined with high temperatures this can

It's high noon for Irvine Co.

Bren's merger forces will square off with determined heiress at Newport meeting

By STEVE MARBLE

Tucked away in the privacy of a Newport Beach board room, 12 powerful people are expected to reach a decision Friday that could dramatically change the way the billion-dollar Irvine Co. does busi-

At issue is a plan to merge the massive development firm Orange County's largest landholder — with another company formed last spring to help one man solidify his control over the local empire.

Donald Bren, a shy multi-millionaire who owns 86 percent of the Irvine Co. of which he is chairman He is trying to financially restructure the development firm through the merger. Bren wants to shift his personal $560 million stock buying debt to the company in the yers describe the merger as a common business transaction, dissident board member Joan Irvine Smith takes a different view.

"It's his loan and his damn problem. We shouldn't have to pay off his debt," said Smith, the granddaughter of company founder James Irvine and a multi-millionaire.

Smith has not attended a board meeting in five years and lives alone in seclusion in Emerald Bay. She has threatened a $1 billion lawsuit if Bren and other board members attempt the merger.

To disrupt the deal, Smith has demanded all company records and books be opened to her lawyers. As a board member and stockholder she can make the demand.

"This is my first move," said

Smith, who wants a complete audit of the company's holdings and an assessment of its worth estimated by Bren to be about $1

Smith's plan is to stall Bren by tying up the deal in court.

She hopes Bren will be forced to sell some of his stock to private investors to pay off his debts or even make the privately-held company sell stock to the public to raise cash.

"It's his move. I'm just sitting back waiting," she said, laughing as if enjoying the trouble she's created. "I don't trust him, I guess you know that.'

The merger proposal stems from Bren's purchase last April of 52 percent of the Irvine Co. stock from a consortium of Eastern shareholders. The deal was put together quickly. Bren, who used his existing Irvine Co. stock and other assets as collateral, formed his own company called Newco I Corp. to help make the deal.

According to his closest aides Bren and the banks that loaner him the millions agree the best way to pay off the stock-buying debt is by merging Newco and the

To sweeten the deal, Bren ha promised to double the stock held by minority shareholders. This would mean Smith, the largest minority stockholder, could end up owning 22 percent of the

Smith, though, wants no part of the arrangement and has charge that Bren "illegally" committee the company to the merger. She said Bren could not have receive the massive loan unless he pledged Irvine Co. assets beyond his own stock.

"You can't do that," said Smith "And they're (Irvine Co) ma because I've caught them with their hands in the cookie jar."

Bren flatly denied Smith's a

An Orange County Superior Court judge has set a Friday deadline for the International Society for Krishna Consciousness to comply fully with an appeals court order to surrender its assets to a court-appointed receiver while a $9.7 million judgment is being appealed.

Judge James Jackman agreed Tuesday that the Hare Krishna organization has not complied with the 4th District Court of Appeal directive that it tender its assets in lieu of posting a $15 million bond while the appeal is pending.

The sect is appealing a $9.7 million judgment awarded to Robin and Marcia George of Cypress who sued the sect claiming Robin had been spirited away by Krishna members during the mid-1970s and brainwashed. The two women also claimed family efforts to locate Robin contributed

The jury of six men and six woman deliberated for one day before returning with a guilty verdict. Judge Myron Brown set a Nov. 10 sentencing date. Tybert faces a 27 year-to-life sentence.

The trial was transferred to Orange County because of massive publicity in San Diego after the Feb. 20 shooting death of Police Officer Kirk Johnson.

Supervisors a-peeling orange cutups

By JEFF ADLER

Lest there be any doubt, Orange County supervisors proved they have the right stuff Tuesday - or, at least, the orange stuff.

Engaging in a rough-and-tumble contest that tested mettle, courage, practical determination and surgical finesse, four of the five members of the Board of Supervisors showed they have what it takes to make it in the kitchen should their political careers falter.

And the recipient of all the good will was Orangewood, the county's home being built in Orange for abandoned or abused children.

supervisors good-naturedly agreed to participate in the "Great Orangewood A-Peel," an orange peeling contest staged to promote an Oct. 27 one-day fund-raising drive for the home. Orangewood's directors are hoping county residents will purchase 50,000 oranges at $2 apiece that day, adding another $100,000 to the $6.6 million raised so far for the project. The goal is $7.5 million.

Although the fund-raising drive for Orangewood is still under way, construction on the home's first phase is progressing, reported Mona Hobson, the campaign's director.

She said framing for six buildings has been completed and construction workers are readying those building's roofs. The buildings should be completed sometime in mid-1984.

While supervisors have tackled weightier problems in the past, the peeling contest certainly proved to be one of the juiciest tasks they've ever encountered.

They're a competitive bunch and it was apparent that each of

Texas shooting spree ends with five dead

HEMPSTEAD, Texas - A man packing two .357-caliber Magnum pistols gave up peacefully at roadblock to end a 160-mile rampage that left five people dead and a 70-year-old woman critically wounded, authorities said today. Six other people taken hostage during the 51/2-hour spree Tuesday night were released unharmed, authorities said. A state trooper who stopped the man for a traffic violation was among those slain, said Department of Public Safety spokesman Larry Todd. It was the third mass slaying in eastern Texas in as many weeks. Law enforcement officials identified the suspect in custody today as Eliseo Hernandez Moreno, 24, of Bryan. He was seized at a roadblock outside of Houston

Sidney Jaffe set free

TORONTO - Two years after Sidney L. Jaffe was grabbed by bounty hunters while logging, hustled across the U.S. border and jailed in Florida, the Canadian businessman who became entangled in a diplomatic dispute is home and free. Jaffe arrived Tuesday night at the Toronto airport about six hours after a judge's order permitted him to walk out the door at Florida's Avon Park Correctional Institution. He had been serving time for failure to appear in court in connection with charges of unlawful landsales. Jaffe, 58, a native of New York and a naturalibed Canadian citizen, hugged his wife and daughter and told reporters he would celebrate.

Senate candidates set

Democrat Mike Lowry and popular Republican Dan Evans of Washington took aim at each other after beating out 31 candidates for nomination to fill the late Sen. Henry Jackson's seat, while a Boston nominee appealed for white votes to become the city's first black mayor. Community activist Melvin H. King will face former busing foe Raymond Flynn, a white city councilor, after both earned the right to appear on the Nov. 15 Boston mayoral ballot by leading a field of eight Tuesday. The winner in November would replace Kevin White, who has been Boston's mayor for 16 years. In Birmingham, Ala., Mayor Richard Arrington was re-elected on a wave of near-unanimous support from black voters. Defeating City Council President John Katopodis, he called it "a turning point in Birmingham's history."

Charges in casino skimming

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - A $2 million casino skimming indictment that names the reputed mob bosses of Chicago, Milwaukee and Kansas City could be the key to "destroying the structure of organized crime" throughout the Midwest, a former FBI agent says. The indictment against 15 people, the result of a five-year FBI probe code-named "Strawman," was unsealed Tuesday.

10 perish as airliner goes down in Illinois

PINCKNEYVILLE, III. (AP) - An Air Illinois plane that may have suffered mechanical failure and tried to make a forced landing during a lightning storm crashed in rural Southern Illinois, killing all 10 people aboard, officials said today.

State police said the flight manifest showed seven passengers and three crew members were aboard Flight 710 from Chicago to Carbondale when it crashed about 9:15 p.m. Tuesday about 25 miles north of its destination.

The British-made, twin-engine, Hawker Siddeley crashed in farm and strip mine land in Perry County where heavy rains were reported just before the accident.

Police sealed off the area for investigators from the National Transportation Safety Board, the Federal Aviation Administration and the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Judge finds Tanaka guilty,

TOKYO (AP) — A Japanese judge today found former Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka guilty of accepting more than $2 million in bribes to promote sales of Lockheed Corp. aircraft and sentenced him to four years in prison.

Judge Mitsunori Okada of Tokyo District Court

also found Tanaka guilty of violating foreign exchange laws and fined him the equivalent of the bribe, which Tanaka allegedly received from Lockheed's Japanese agent during his 1972-1974 tenure as prime minister.

The powerful conservative politician immediately appealed his conviction and vowed not to give up his seat in the Diet, or Parliament.

He is the first postwar Kakuei Tanaka Japanese prime minister to be given a prison term for crimes committed while in office, and the verdict could affect the political fortunes of Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone, who rose to power a year ago with Tanaka's support.

Tanaka, 65, bowed to the judge as he entered the courtroom, but stared defiantly as the verdict was read and remained standing after the other four defendants sat down.

The ruling climaxed a marathon trial that began in January 1977 and was a severe blow to the governing Liberal Democratic Party's largest faction, which Tanaka leads. There were immediate calls for his resignation.

Tanaka resigned as prime minister in 1974 in the wake of an unrelated financial scandal, but was elected to the Diet in 1980.

Power returns

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Utility crews have restored full power to a downtown area blacked out when an explosion ripped through an old utility substation, idling hundreds of workers in the central garment district for a day.

Electricity was restored about 1:45 a.m. Wednesday to the remaining 2,000 customers who were without power for more than 30 hours since an oil fire inside a 34,500-voltage regulator triggered an explosion at the Department of Water and Power substation.

The cause of the explosion is still under investigation.

But DWP inspectors at the scene Tuesday, inspecting the three-inch crack in the regulator's steel casing apparently caused by an internal oil fire, called the blast an accident.

The outage affected 8,000 customers downtown and cost millions of dollars in lost production in the garment district, authorities estimated.

Another man arrested in huge land fraud case

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES — A second man was arrested in one of the largest land frauds in U.S. history as an attorney pleaded innocent in the case in federal court, authorities said. Assistant U.S. Attorney Henry Rossbacher said the second man, Rienk Kamer of the Netherlands, was arrested Tuesday only moments after Bernard Whitney entered his plea before U.S. District Judge Richard Gadbois Jr. Whitney and Kamer were named in a 57-count federal indictment which was unsealed last Friday after Whitney's arrest. The two are accused of defrauding about 4,000 European investors out of hundreds of millions of dollars in land schemes in four states.

A fiasco ends but is not forgotten

City officials in Huntington Beach learned last week their city probably will not be required to pay off $20,413 in debts left behind by a non-profit outfit established to handle a federal job-training program for the city in 1979.

A grants officer with the federal Department of Labor recently issued what seems to be good news for the city. The officer said Huntington Beach isn't responsible for the Western Institute of Careers' debts because the outfit was a separate entity.

It was more than just separate. It was, for a brief but damaging period, virtually unnoticed. And its shoddy even criminal - management practices during that time created the kind of fiasco that bruises a city's reputation and discourages policy makers from risking public money on government jobs programs.

The Western Institute of Careers operated for only a few months before it was shut down due to misuse of funds. It was started by former city empoyees who contracted to administer federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act programs. An audit by the Orange County Manpower Commission revealed the institute inappropriately spent about $168,000, partly by spending money without federal authorization and partly by frivolous business practices such as renting unused office space and buying expensive office furniture.

According to audits, President Robert L. Cunningham bought a $1,700 desk and a $1,300 credenza for his office, and Western paid $3,000 a month to rent an office in Irvine it never used. All that was necessary to tap the job-training funds for these extras, said investigators, was a signature on a voucher — and no documentation.

Whatever the motivation, temptation must have become too great. Cunningham eventually was convicted of transferring $16,000 to his personal savings account to make payments on a house in El Toro. Records show he paid back the money before investigations began, but that didn't make his practice legal. He was discharged from a conservation camp this March after serving almost two years for embezzlement.

How did all this happen? Enough responsible parties apparently were involved, but none was investing enough attention to discover the abuse until too late. The result of this episode was another of the horror stories that buries well-intended jobs programs such as CETA.

In retrospect, it is easy to say the city and the Manpower Commission, which supervised the program, should have audited the institute more often. Indeed, the commission has increased its review procedures and has significantly reduced inappropriate claims. But it must be recognized that diligence has its price. More auditing means higher administrative overhead, leaving less funds for training people.

The $20,413 debt, meanwhile, remains a small but thorny problem. If the city doesn't have to pay it, the commission does. An appeal is likely. (City and Labor Department officials previously agreed that training expenses incurred by the city would balance the other $148,070 in unauthorized expenses.)

It will be a relief to have this ugly mess straightened out. But it will be a long time before people forget the damage that occurs when misguided administrators take advantage of trusting accounting practices.

YAHOOOOO! Go,GO! GO,

U.S. may wind up backing Iran

WASHINGTON — The Persian Gulf could erupt in an oil fire that would inflame the Middle East. To defend our access to these vital oil fields, the United States may even resort to military support, including "tactical nuclear warfare."

This is the somber warning of Dr. Robert Hunter, the former National Security Council official who helped author the "Carter Doctrine." Under that doctrine, which was proclaimed in 1980 and reaffirmed by the State Department only a few weeks ago, the United States is committed to defend the Persian Gulf "by any means necessary, including mili-

Hunter thinks our best course may be one that would have been unthinkable a couple years ago: Increase support for Iran. Such a bizarre twist in U.S. foreign policy would take a lot of explaining. Here's the background:

The Iran-Iraq war is in danger of igniting the Persian Gulf oil fields — all because of irresponsible action by the French government. France has offered to sell super-sophisticated Etendard jets to Iraq, which has been bled white by the war. Facing JACK ANDERSON military and economic collapse, Iraq has threatened to use the French warplanes for a desperate, come-from-behind victory effort: Bombing Iran's oil refineries.

In angry response, Iran's cantankerous Ayatollah Khomeini has threatened to shut down the Strait of Hormuz, which would cut off the flow of Middle East oil on which West European industry depends. He might also order retaliatory raids against the Persian Gulf oil sheikdoms, which have supported Iraq.

Massed near the Iranian border, meanwhile, are 26 Soviet divisions, which are ready to roll if the Kremlin should choose to intervene. They have already staged a mock invasion of Iran.

The best way to avoid a catastrophe in the Persian Gulf would be to persuade the French to rescind their sale of the warplanes. "It is vital," Hunter told my associate Lucette Lagnado, "for the government of France to recognize its responsibilities in not raising the risk of a broader conflict."

This could be "devastating to western interests," Hunter said. He minced no words. He called the French decision to sell the planes "stupid and irresponsible."

So far, the United States has had no success in talking the headstrong French out of the plane deal. The Iraqis are suspected of hoping to provoke a crisis that would force the United States to support their war effort. Only by making clear to the Iraqis that this won't happen, Hunter argues, can Baghdad be steered away from its reckless use of the French jets. But President Reagan may be forced to side with the irascible and unpopular Khomeini to keep the Russians from intervening. If the conflict escalates, the United States is committed to go to war, if necessary, to protect the Persian Gulf. Other sources confirmed Hunter's fear that tactical nuclear weapons might have to be used to defend the gulf.

The implications of such a move are staggering to contemplate, but the fact that the nuclear contingency has been discussed shows how seriously the White House takes the threat against the Persian Gulf. I have seldom seen the strategists in the backrooms so worried.

Meanwhile, the administration has asked our European allies to join in bringing pressure on the French to call off the plane sale.

FEUD OF THE WEEK: Federal Reserve Board Chairman Paul Volcker has privately informed Treasury Secretary Donald Regan that he will no longer consult with or even meet - Treasury Undersecretary Beryl Sprinkel. The two men just don't get along.

Sprinkel is regarded as the Treasury's "Fed watcher," serving as the administration's liaison with the secretive board and monitoring its monetary policy.

The feud has a philosophical basis of sorts: Sprinkel has made no secret of his distaste for the Fed's loose-money policy, which he fears will re-ignite inflation.

But there's personal animosity as well. Earlier this year, Sprinkel had the temerity to campaign vigorously for Volcker's job. Volcker, a more experienced political infighter, won reappointment and isn't about to let his defeated rival dictate policy now.

New politics bring UFW boycott

By THOMAS D. ELIAS

California farmers didn't know it as they bankrolled Gov. George Deukmejian's election campaign last fall, but they were bringing back the boycott.

After eight years of life under the state Agricultural Labor Relations Act, the growers may have forgotten the impact of the grape and lettuce boycotts mounted by Cesar Chavez' United Farm Workers Union. In 1975, a federal survey showed that 17 million of the nation's food shoppers had changed their habits because of the boycott.

Or the farmers may believe a boycott can't work today. "I doubt if Cesar can generate the interest today in a boycott," president Henry Voss of the California Farm Bureau Federation remarked last month.

But Deukmejian's election, his appointment of grower-approved former Republican assemblyman as general counsel of the Agricultural Labor Relations Board and his almost-30 percent cuts in the board's budget have sent Chavez back to the The changes in the farm labor board reduce the pressure on growers to renew UFW contracts they signed during the ALRA's first eight years. And while the law forbids the union to use boycotts to pressure growers into new contracts, it allows them as a bargaining tool in renewing old

"If I would have known then (when the farm labor act passed in 1975) what I know now, I never would have dismantled the boycott, even at the expense of the law," Chavez said recently.

Thus the new Chavez boycott, starting with a planned $1 million effort against Lucky Stores Inc., California's second-largest supermarket chain and No. 3 in the grown by Bruce Church Inc., which has refused to renew its labor contract. His union plans to carry on the effort against Lucky for two years if the lettuce grower doesn't give in.

So far, letters have been sent to each of 75,000 households in 15 California communities with Lucky stores. A poll paid for by the UFW found that 43 percent of those who received the letters changed their shopping habits and 21 percent were staying out of Lucky markets altogether.

Lucky says the poll is wrong or irrelevant, claiming its revenues and sales are unaffected by the new boycott.

Even it that's true, the boycott is still young. Other growers and market chains may find themselves affected if more contracts are not renewed.

For Chavez feels he has little choice because of the state's political changes. The farm labor board's general counsel will be deciding which alleged unfair labor practice cases the board will hear. Only the most flagrant illegalities now seem likely to be pursued. By contrast, the UFW could get a hearing almost anytime it wanted during the board's first eight years, when general counsels were union sympathizers. And the board itself will work more slowly on cases it does hear. The budget cuts ensure that.

Chavez predicts the new boycott will be at least as effective as the earlier ones that carried him to national prominence as a major Hispanic spokesman.

Eventually, he told his union's annual convention, this will force growers again to embrace the farm labor law as preferable to the

That may just be brave talk, for it's far too early to tell whether the new union effort will gain momentum or peter out. What's for sure is that after eight years of relative quiet, farm labor battles are about to become front-page news once again.

Thomas Elias is a Santa Monica-based columnist on state

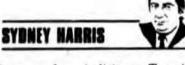

Sovereignty is a state of the past

"You'll always have war" is one of the most stupid and thoughtless statements a person could make. Because such a person has no idea what war means, historically and actually.

What such a person really is saying is that you'll always have aggression and hostility and conflict among people. There is no question of that; no utopia we can even dimly conceive would remove these unlovely traits from the human animal.

But war is a very different matter. War is a social institution, and like any institution it can be abolished -- as cannibalism was abolished, as slavery was abolished -- if enough of us want

We cannot stop people from disagreeing or from fighting over their disagreements. This is one reason every state has a police force and a judiciary: To nip conflicts in the bud and to bring the adversaries before a court with the power to resolve the

The people of Milwaukee do not go to war against the people of Chicago when the latter protest that their water supply is being contaminated by the other city. The argument is taken to the courts, and the cities agree to abide by the courts' decision.

The countries of the world, however, are unwilling to give up their sovereignty in this respect. They do not want an international police force to arrest such conflicts or a world court with the power to enforce decisions. Every country wants to be the prosecutor, judge and jury in its own case -- and to decide favorably for itself.

This is the root cause of war -not man's instinctual aggressiveness or greed or any other emotional component. If we can settle our hostilities domestically by going to law, there is no reason we cannot settle our international hostilities by going to law.

Actually, while the notion of sovereignty might have made some sense three centuries ago when the modern nation-state was emerging, the new tools of war have turned it into a dangerously obsolete concept. The only sovereignty now possessed by even the strongest nation is the power to kill the enemy 20 times over while it is being killed 10 times over. Nuclear warfare has made effective defense impossible; only retaliation remains as a threat. And even that is dubious: Enemy submarines can lob nuclear bombs upon our coastal cities and run away. Who can identify the enemy in such a covert and undeclared war? One that could be over, for all practical purposes, in 20 minutes.

 James Irvine buys out his partners and names his holdings the Irvine Ranch in 1870.

 A 1882 drought causes financial losses and forces Irvine to sell some ranch parcels to Orange County's fledgling communities. Today, the company's holdings change on a day-to-day basis as homes and lots are sold. · The senior Irvine dies at age

59 in 1886 leaving the ranch to his only son, "J.I."

 J.I. is the major force behind the company's development changing his father's grazing business into an agricultural company. J.I. plants citrus groves and other cash crops.

· James Jr., J.I.'s first son and heir dies of tuberculosis at age 42

 J.I. intended to give James Jr. control of the company. Soon after his son's death, J.I. establishes the James Irvine Foundation, a charitable non-profit corporation to which he wills control of the company. This action eventually allows others outside the family, like investor Donald Bren, to gain control of the company.

 In 1947, J.I. dies at age 80 and the foundation names his second son, Myford Irvine, president of the company.

 Myford dies in a mysterious suicide in January 1959. The foundation appoints a new president and the company begins changing its focus from agriculture to land development.

 By 1963, industry analysts estimate the company's worth at $500 million.

• The Irvine Co. builds posh Fashion Island Shopping center, Newport Beach, in 1967.

 The company is now valued at $1 billion. The Irvine Co. still holds 68,000 acres of the original 120,000 acres.

Surrogate mother

'These days it's really difficult (to adopt a baby). 'I've had clients stop people (pregnant women) on the street (and ask them if they're going to put their baby up for adoption).

By GINA DePAOLA

Costa Mesa attorney may have the answer for Orange County couples who can't bear children and who don't want to wait years to adopt one. She cautions, though, that her answer may not be, for everyone. A family law attorney, who normally handles divorce and adoption cases, Marjorie E. Edwards said she's prepared to find surrogate mothers for such couples. While she hasn't received any requests yet, Edwards said she thinks there's a real need for such a service in Orange County. "These days it's really dif-ficult (to adopt a baby)," she said.

"I've had clients stop people (pregnant women) on the street (and ask them if they're going to put their baby up for adoption)," Edwards said, explaining some couples are desperate for a child. Before she decided to handle surrogate adoptions, Edwards said she researched the matter for about six months.

"There are a number of pitfalls," she said.

What happens if the mother decides that she wants to keep the baby, Edwards asked.

Or, what if the surrogate is told during childbirth by doctors that she must undergo a tubal litigation. If that does happen and the woman has no children of her own, Edwards said it would only be fair to allow her to keep the baby. Of course, she should return a portion of the fee to the parents, Edwards said. But how much?

MARJORIE EDWARDS

While she charges $5,000 for her legal services, Orange County couples will probably find themselves with a $25,000 bill for a surrogate mother — that includes $10,000 for the natual mother and the cost of psychological examinations.

Before she will draw up a contract for a couple and their surrogate mother, Edwards said they all must be examined by a

The attorney said she doesn's have a list of prospective surrogate mothers, since couples may want to stipulate what her religious and educational backgrounds should be, as well as her race, age and physical characteristics.

But when she does start looking for surrogate mothers, Edwards said she'll probably try college campuses.

"I think college students might be a little more progressive (open to the idea)," she said.

Edwards also thinks diverged mothers may be interested in

Edwards also thinks divorced mothers may be interested in becoming a surrogate mother.

"The $10,000 (fee) could assist them in making a down payment on a house," she said.

"She misunderstands it and she hasn't been to a board meeting in five years so she doesn't even know what the company is doing," a Bren spokesman said.

Smith antagonized Bren late last month by having copies of a loan document delivered to newspapers. She said the document proves Bren did not have the financial resources to buy 52 percent of the company's stock.

Bren's aides not only challenged Smith's interpretation of the document but blasted the 50-year-old heiress for passing "confidential" material to the press. "Her reasons for making this public are really quite puzzlone company spokesman ing,

Debut III Parade of fashion

There's no business like show business...unless it's the chance to catch the spotlight as a fashion model and parade down the ramp to the applause of your friends and neighbors.

Thirty-seven poised and polished men and women from Huntington Harbour had just the opportunity Saturday at Debut III, the Huntington Harbour Cancer League's third annual fashion show and dinner dance. The black-tie fund-raiser for the American Cancer Society was held in the Anaheim Marriott Hotel's Grand Ballroom, magically transformed into Oriental splendor.

Out of the 60 ladies who auditioned for the fashion show, the following were selected as the Debut III models: Joanna Chase, Sally Fenton, Michele Gibson, Joan Lund, Julie Macklin, Melanie Neibling, Julie Prowell, Dorothy Ralphs, Joyce Sahagen, Jean Smith, Myra Stillman, Shirley Stitzinger, Pat Strehlow, Suzanne Talaric, Cathy Thomas, Joanne Tom, Marilynn Tom and

Shannon Neibling, Julie Roesch, Kathy Seay, John Ivey, David Lawson and Robert Seay.

Joining the Harbourites on the fashion ramp in the latest fall and holiday fashions from Nordstrom South Coast Plaza were celebrity models Assemblywoman Marian Bergeson, Jackie Olden (KNX News radio's food editor) and Susan Shaw (Channel 13 anchorwoman). John Robert Powers of Orange trained each of the models for their fashion debut.

Following the show, the 150 guests were feted to dinner at magnificently decorated tables, setting the evening's Oriental mood...fans, lanterns, orchids and lilies...from the creative hands of Sandra Clouse and Joyce Weiss, with help from Dick Seekins of Fiesta Floats.

One of the highlights of the evening was the sensational Home

Savings of America Orchestra. Throughout the evening, guests also bid at silent and live auctions and drawings were held for opportunity prizes.

Among the auction winners were Mike and Shirley Stitzinger, who picked up a seven-day cruise on the Cunard Princess and a weekend for two on the Queen Mary. Ruth and Ed Sunberg took home a week's stay at the Palm Desert Tennis Club, donated by the James Thompsons and Mrs. Renee Bishop. Ralph and Jayne Clave were the winners of a weekend for two at the Stanford Court in San Francisco with airfare by Pacific Express Air-

Graduation time... Attendance by her father would upset her mother

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My parents were divorced when I was 14. I don't remember much about my dad because he was hardly ever at home. My only recollections are the terrible arguments with Mom that ended up with him beating her senseless. When I begged him to stop, he hit me, Mom finally left him, and I thanked God for giving us freedom at last. We moved to Texas when I was 17 and later heard Dad had remarried.

I will be graduating from college in June. Dad's sister (whom I hardly know) has written to say he would like to attend my graduation. I don't want him here. It would upset my mother and bring back some horrible memories. As far as I am concerned, his presence would ruin my happiest

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Over the years I have read at least a dozen letters in your column about brides who were delinquent in acknowledging wedding gifts, grandchildren who were left out of wills because "they never even let us know when their Christmas checks arrived," and aunts and uncles who are tired of sending presents to young people who don't say "thank you."

I believe the problem started in early childhood. Those kids were never taught to write thank-you notes. As soon as mine were able to hold a crayon. I taught them to write "THANK YOU" and they grew up knowing it was a must - no if's, `Pygmalion'

'Straight version' of 'My Fair Lady' still sings

By TOM TITUS Of the Daily Pflot Staff

It takes a good bit of self-discipline to view George Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion" without thinking periodically, "Ah, here's where the musical numbers come in."

I mean, who can really listen to Henry Higgins say, "I find the moment I let a woman make friends with me. I become jealous, exacting, suspicious and a damn nuisance" without expecting him to add, "After all, Pickering, I'm an ordinary man..."

"Pygmalion" is one of the theater's landmark plays, but it isn't done too frequently — probably because its musical incarnation, "My Fair Lady," is done all the time. And watching the "straight version" at the Newport Harbor Actors Theater makes you realize that Lerner and Loewe didn't have to tamper too much with Shaw's basic dialogue to make their show "sing."

There is, however, one scene in "My Fair Lady" that one wishes had been included in the original the moment when Eliza blossoms from the Cockney flower girl into a reasonable facsimile of a duchess. Shaw skipped over this transitory period, which is the real heart of the musical version. In its place is an overabundance of Shavian philosophy which undoubtedly played better in the early 1900s than it does today

The Newport Harbor production is handsomely mounted by director Deborah La Vine and set designer Wally Huntoon, and the two performers who stepped into the leading roles on short notice fill their assignments adequately. But there remain some shortcomings in this area which might have been smoothed out with a full rehearsal period.

David S. Lewis interprets the Higgins role with concentrated blandness, rarely allowing the scheming spellbinder to surface. His actions often appear unmotivated and his relationships with other characters are frequently fuzzy.

His Eliza, Barbara June Dodge, functions more effectively and radiates a reservoir of stage energy. Yet she seems to be pressing too hard both for the "squashed cabbage leaf" of the opening scene and the genteel lady she becomes. Missing on both levels is a natural sense of character. Some richer, better rounded performances come in the supporting ranks — primarily from George Pelling as Higgins' crony Colonel Pickering, Burt Goodman as Eliza's dustman father, Patricia Gilchrist as Higgins' opinionated maid and Pauline Hague as his sophisticated mother.

Valerie McIlroy and Bridget Christiansen function effectively on the sidelines as mother and daughter society ladies, while Tom Dugan is fine as an upper-class ninny smitten with Eliza, Suzan Touby, Jack Holmes and Theresa Carroll round out the cast in bit roles.

An enterprising production company could borrow much from "My Fair Lady" and discard much of the more tiresome aspects of "Pygmalion" to create a fascinating hybrid. Certainly the straight play's conclusion leaves much to be desired, though the scene in which Eliza is "tested" on society is a pure

South would have been wiser to let North play three no trump. That contract would have been frigid except in the unlikely event that East were to lead a club. Four spades appeared doom ed unless hearts split 3-3.

West led the king of clubs and continued with the ace and ten. East discarded on the third club, and declarer made a fine play when he chose to rull with a high trump

Three rounds of trumps were drawn, followed by the ace of diamonds. Before drawing the last trump. declarer made another good decision by first cashing the king of hearts. East's queen brought a ray of hope - it began to look as if the distribution of the cards was going to be declarer's savior.

To test the distribution, declarer continued with the ace of hearts. East realized that ruffing would be tantamount to surrender - he would be end played and be forced to lead a diamond into dummy's KQ10. So East chose to sluff a diamond, but he was only delaying the moment of truth.

Declarer exited with his carefully preserved three of trumps. East was forced to win and return a diamond.

and declarer's two heart losers went on dummy's win

When you first looked at this hand, did you think that one of declarer's three losers was going to be a trump?

Prudential-Bache executive arrested in $5 million theft

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK - An executive of Prudential-Bache Securities Inc. and three other men have been arrested on conspiracy charges stemming from the theft of millions of dollars from the investment firm, officials say. The complaint accused John Efler, a 38-year-old manager in the company's dividend department, in connection with a missing $5 million. Another $11 million was discovered missing and company officials do not know where it went, Assistant U.S. Attorney William J. Schwartz said Tuesday. No charges have been filed in connection with that missing money.

T-bill yields up slightly

WASHINGTON - Weekly auctions brought slight increases in yields on short-term Treasury securities, marking the highest levels in three weeks. The government on Tuesday sold about $12 billion in new T-bills — half in three-month bills at an average discount rate of 8.83 percent, up from 8.72 percent last week, and half in six-month bills at an average rate of 8.97 percent, up from 8.92 percent.

Justice Dept. sides with labor

WASHINGTON - The Justice Department is siding with the labor union position in a key case being argued before the Supreme Court. A department lawyer told the court Tuesday that a company should not be permitted to enlist the help of bankruptcy courts to cancel a union contract unless the business can show its survival is at stake. The case before the Supreme Court involves Bildisco and Bildisco, an Avenel, N.J., building supply firm that declared bankruptcy in 1980 and canceled a wage increase it had negotiated with the Teamsters Union.

Lifemark Corp. seeks suitor

HOUSTON - Lifemark Corp., one of the nation's largest hospital-management companies, says it is searching for a suitor and has hired First Boston Corp., an investment banking firm, to help evaluate "possible future courses of acquisition." Lifemark stock, which jumped $2.75 a share on Friday and which soared another $7 Monday, fell $1.75 on Tuesday to close at $37 a share as the most active issue on the New York Stock Exchange. More than 2.4 million shares changed hands. In a brief statement Monday, Lifemark said it had begun preliminary talks with potential suitors.

Gulf Oil will reorganize

PITTSBURGH - Gulf Oil Corp., the nation's fifth-largest oil company, says its directors agreed to reorganize Gulf into a Delaware-based holding company, in part to prevent a possible unfriendly takeover. Gulf said it has noticed an "unusually high" amount of trading in its stock since mid-August. It also noted "published rumors that one or more persons may be accumulating substantial shares in the Japanese investments sought

KYOTO, Japan - Government and business officials from seven southeastern states — including five governors — have urged 100 top Japanese industrialists to increase investments in their region. "Florida wants business. We want jobs," Florida Gov. Bob Graham said Tuesday, echoing the sentiments of the more than 300 Americans who attended the first session of the two-day meeting. The meeting was the eighth joint session of the Southeast U.S.-Japan Association and its Japanese counterpart.

Incredibly, there are almost 103 million ways in which six 8-stud LEGO* bricks can be joined together. It seems hard to imagine. But you can see for yourself by visiting the LEGO* Exhibit now on display at South Coast Plaza through October 23.

Replicas of the Capitol Building, the Liberty Bell and the Statue of Liberty are just a few of the amazing LEGO* models featured. If you're young at heart, you'll delight in this one-of-a-kind display spectacular. See it now. Only at South Coast Plaza.

Statue of Liberty towers in recreation.

Conservative look out for the holidays

Conservative dressing thrown to the wind this holiday season. Evenings sparkle with splashes of rhinestones and glittering sequins that dazzle and bedazzle.

Luxurious fabrics in black and white are the most elegant backdrop for these lavish jeweled touches. Color, in sophisticated hues such as deep peach, brilliant blue, chocolate brown, hot pink and fuchsia, also creates a perfect foil for this glittering Hollywood shapes return. While dress fronts may sparkle, backs are elegantly exposed. Folds of soft draping frame a bared back as do gentle geometrics of deep U- and V-shapes.

Long, lean, glamorous looks in liquid fabrics of silk-like "Qiana" jersey create head-turning entrances. Bubble and tiered silhouettes feminize short evening dresses in soft rustling "Qiana" taffeta, the party fabric with practical luxury.

The word "understated" is gone this season, replaced by a new theme, "too much is not enough." You can never be too elegant or too jeweled for holiday

For more holiday fashion tips, consult your favorite South Coast Plaza store.

Monumental display at Plaza

National treasures recreated in LEGO exhibit being shown through Oct. 23

The Washington Monument, the Lincoln Memorial, the White House and many other of our national monuments will be "visiting" South Coast Plaza through Oct. 23 via the fifth annual LEGO roadshow exhibit.

In honor of the 1984 Olympic Games, the exhibit is carrying a patriotic theme. The Amrican Heritage theme is also incorporated into Mall decorations for the annual pre-season sale, which runs Friday through Sunday throughout many of the mall stores. Colorful American flags are draped in the Sears and May Co. wings.

As part of the LEGO exhibit, a 'Guess the Number of Bricks Contest" will be held during the display period. Prizes include South Coast Plaza gift certificates and LEGO building sets. Entrants can receive entry blanks from the carousel ride operator and list their guess for the number of bricks in the Liberty Bell replica. As an added bonus, every child submitting a contest entry form will receive a free ride on the carousel, compliments of South Coast Plaza.

The LEGO exhibit contains impressively accurate reproductions of our historic national buildings. These replicas are built entirely of the same LEGO brick pieces that children play with as toys.

Additional structures included in the exhibit are: the Jefferson Memorial, the Supreme Court building, a large map of the United States, the Statue of Liberty, Independence Hall, the Old North Church, and the most replica of the Capitol Building.

This display is free to the public, concentrated in the Carousel Court and also the May Company and Sears wings, and open all Mall operating hours: 10 am. to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday; 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday; Sunday, noon to 6 p.m.

Plaza mall attracts sidewalk diners

A recent search by "Vogue" magazine to find the best croissants in the nation declared La Baguette one of the top seven bakers of the popular French item.

La Baguette, one of the most recent additions to South Coast Plaza's dining arena, joins an already outstanding selection of restaurants in the Mall. Another recent addition is the Lettuce Patch, a salad/bar restaurant featuring fresh, healthful menu items. The Mall at South Coast Plaza is a haven for lovers of sidewalk cafe dining, with many of the locales allowing diners to enjoy outstanding food while viewing the passing pedestrian parade. Amato's Espresso Cafe, with cappucino, coffees and espresso, is a perfect place to lunch on one of their generous sandwiches. Back Bay Rowing & Running Club offers a unique atmosphere with superb sandwiches, omelettes, quiches and outrageous salads from its 34-foot salad bar.

Yet another European-style sidewalk cafe is Caffe Pasquini, serving continental sandwiches, salads, homemade pastries plus an excellent selection of coffees and espresso. Forty Carrots also offers a patio atmosphere and features healthy, creatively prepared food at moderate prices in its restaurant, bakery and bar.

The Magic Pan combines sidewalk cafe tables with a lush, gardenlike interior seating area, and Salmagundi's open storefront allows homemade soup lovers to view the passing scene. The popular Vie de France bakery/cafe serves hearty sandwiches, homemade soups, salads and quiches with authentic French bread and

Fine dining abounds in the Mall at such hallmarks as Twentieth Century, Ltd., an authentically-recreated railroad dining car. Pronto Ristorante, with classic Northern Italian cuisine and its accompanying Pronto Trattoria, are Italian favorites. The five-star Riviera Restaurant, serving continental cuisine wihtin its plush red interior, has been enjoyed by Plaza patrons for years.

South Coast Plaza also features a variety of prompt service restaurants with the shopper and businessperson on the run in mind. Carl's Jr., the California masterpiece of hamburger restaurants, features a salad bar, potato palace, soup bar and even build-your-own hot dog, in addition to their famous char-broiled hamburgers. Kaplan's is a full deli with hundreds of sandwiches plus breakfast and dinner, along with a take-out bakery. Lindberg's Nutrition offers breakfast, lunch or just coffee to the health-minded, with homemade soups, sandwiches and ice cream and yogurt also served.

McDonalds serves up its famous hamburgers for the family in its typical quick and courteous manner, while Del Taco caters to the lover of Mexican food. Rendezvous Cafe, situated by the Carousel, is the place for all kinds of sandwiches, hamburgers or just popcorn and

Sweet tooths will appreciate Haagen Dazs ice cream and Kron Chocolatier, which carries fine chocolates, fresh cream truffles, fresh fruit dipped and special chocolate gift items. The finest in old-fashioned chocolates and variety boxed candies can be found at

It is undoubtedly the diverse and quality restaurants at South Coast Plaza which have contributed to the Mall's reputation as fine retail and dining destination, and continue to enhance it as a truly exciting experience.

Dennis and Earlene Landesman have a wedding anniversary to remember as they board a hansom cab for a leisurely trot around South Coast Plaza, smiling from the back of their carriage.

Shopping spree highlights winners' 12th anniversary

It was not a lost weekend for the Landesmans — Dennis and Earlene — rather it was a dream come true Saturday and Sunday as they spent their 12th wedding anniversary on a shopping spree at South Coast Plaza

Before the weekend was over they shopped for $12,000 worth of merchandise from the South Coast Plaza stores. They even ate to their heart's delight, dining on delicious strawberries and champagne at I. Magnin.

The Landesmans were the highest bidders in the countywide "Bid For the Gold" auction held at the Newporter Inn to raise funds for the Olympics.

The day, Sept. 24, started with a limousine ride from their Irvine home, sippling champagne in the chauffered service of Exquistite Limousine and ended with more champagne that night in their deluxe suite at the Westin

They breakfasted at Cafe Casino in the Town Center, were chauffered back to the Mall where they were met by Mall representatives, Kathy Fick and Linda Wolfe, and made shopping stops at Jewels of Joseph, Saks Fifth Avenue, and a half dozen other stores before returning to Town center Park. The Landesmans witnessed 1,000 balloons released in their honor from a specially designed Olympic red, white and blue Olympic star before sitting down with their children Julie and Rich for a picnic in the park.

The afternoon was back to shopping. Their limo was stuffed with luggage, comforters, clothes, jewelry and all the trappings of South Coast Plaza stores.

Sunday began with an exquisite brunch at Alfredo's, followed by a horse-drawn carriage ride through Town Center Park, then back to Woodbridge in Irvine by limo, with the fun and fantasy to be continued another Saturday on Oct. 8.

Since this couple were treated to a surprise anniversary party in their hotel suite with closest friends joining in the party merriment, on Saturday night, Sept. 24, the Landesmans returned to South Coast Plaza on Oct. 8 for another day of shopping stops at Eddie Bauer for down sleeping bags, camping accessories and books from Rizzoli International Book store.

They dined at Le Premiere and took in Amadeus" at South Coast Repertory before retiring for a night cap at Copa de Oro.

Their extravaganza will also include a Western Airlines trip to Hawaii arranged by On-The-Go Travel and lodging at the Outrigger Kuhio Hotel.

auren fashion heads the list

Ralph Lauren is one of the premier names in American Fashion design. Here are some notes on Lauren and his fashions, available at several of South Coast Plaza's fine stores.

. One of the most frequently seen photographs of Raiph Lauren shows him in worn and softened blue denim shirt and leans, at least two decades old. This is the man who has become THE symbol of the well-dressed American today. Lauren's security in his own taste is almost legend. "After all," he says, and believes, 'fashion is a function of lifestyle." New vitality and luxury, injected by Lauren, daily fan the growth of his reputation.

 The first Polo banner led the "wide-tie revolution" elegant and refined fabrics, width and price extravagant, hand-made and luxurious, a symbol of the Duke of Windsor at his sartorial prime - these ties became THE status symbol of the affluent American male

plaids and long-wearing cotton knits.

*Women who saw "Annie Hall" may have found the costumes designed by Ralph Lauren outrageously masculine, but unforgettable. Today beautifully man-tailored clothing is sensual and feminine—especially for evening. The fabrics are the finest, the cut impeccable and the statement—pure Lauren.

The thoroughbred, monied, good-looking Lauren costumes for "The Great Gatsby" film are found today on New Bond Street and Madison Avenue, in Newport Beach and Southampton. Men wear pale pastel foulard or rep ties with contrasting shirts; suspenders on trousers of fine linesn show beneath beautifully tailored jacketrs. Women under the Lauren influence wear pastel cashmere, cotton or silk sweaters over linen blouses with a single strand of pearls. Lauren style transcends fashion, seasonal, sexual, and age barriers

•Ralph Lauren translated East Coast "dress for success" into a code the whole world understood and wanted to emulate. The "preppy look" prevails for men, women and children of all ages.

 Recognizing the native beauty of original, regional and native American design and color, Lauren gave thnic and country dressing a whole new dimension with colored and textured Navajo-inspired sweaters ints - all coordinated with traditional country, all

S. Coast Plaza wins Business in Arts Award

South Coast Plaza has been named recipient of the prestigious Business in the Arts Awards for their outstanding program of support to the arts in a presentation held at the Goodman Theater in Chicago, Illinois, recently.

The Seventeenth Annual Business in the Arts Awards competition was open to businesses of any size located anywhere in the U.S. which supported the arts during 1982. The 41 winning companies were chosen by nine distinguished judges representing business, the arts and government. The judges based their decisions on the impact of the business support on the community, the originality of the support program, the initiative demonstrated by the business to support the arts and the level of support provided.

A long-standing commitment to encourage a cultural, artistic presence within a business/commercial environment is a fundamental premise of South Coast Plaza, according to Henry T. Segerstrom, who received the award on behalf of C.J. Segerstrom & Sons.

"The motivation behind our

Fountain an Olympic fund-raiser

The fountain in the central promenade of the South Coast Plaza Mall has been officially designated as a source of donations to the U.S. Olympic Committee/Orange County, with South Coast Plaza stores committing to a guaranteed donation of $25,000 from the fountain.

Long known as a "wishing well" of sorts, inspiring passers-by to wish their dreams into reality, the fountain is now hallmarked by a red, white and blue klosk, which commemorates the contribution the community makes to the nation's continuing amateur athletic efforts.

initiative into public art was the recognition that when people learn to live comfortably with art, they can better enjoy their own lives — they develop a deeper understanding of each other, nature and the world," Segerstrom commented. "In a sense, public art can enhance the appreciation by individuals of their environment," he continued.

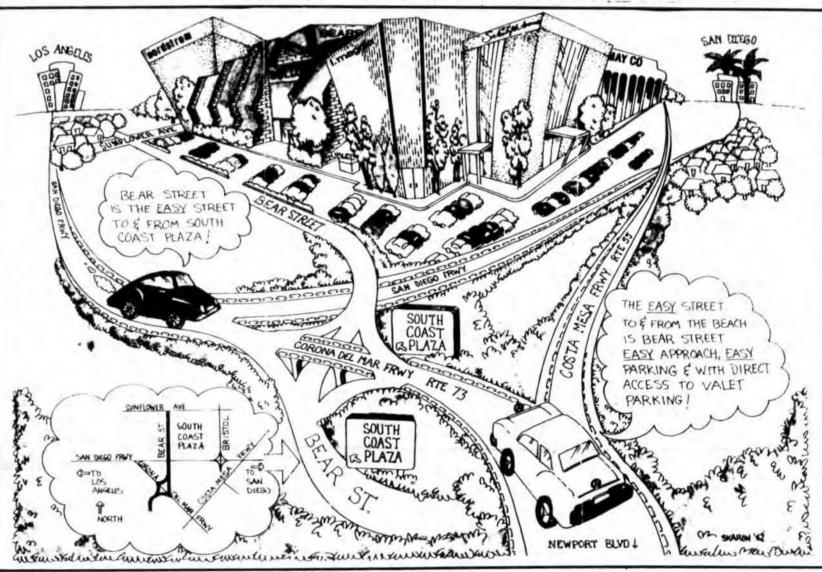

Support was wide and varied for the diverse artistic and cultural projects at South Coast Plaza, which includes the Mall, Village and business/commercial Town Center complex. Seven commissions and one acquisition can be found throughout Town Center, including Isamu Noguchi's 'California Scenario' sculpture garden.

South Coast Plaza Town
Center is the site of the South Coast Repertory Theater and the future site of the Orange County Performing Arts Center, both beneficiaries of land donations and cash contributions from C. J.
Segerstrom & Sons. It is believed that the Segerstrom organization's contribution to the Performing Arts Center is one of the nation's largest single gifts ever given to the performing arts.

"California Scenario" sculpture garden was introduced to the community during week-long celebrations hosted by four art-support organizations in May, 1982. The garden, Noguchi's first-ever major work in his native state, joins other South Coast Plaza pieces of art as "Tour Aux Jambes" by Jean Dubuffet, "Pekin" by Alexander Calder, "Nightshift" by Jim Huntington, "The Ram" by Charles O. Perry, "Constructivist Pagoda" by Doug Edge, "Un, Deux, Trois" by Sheila Hichs and "Sun Ribbon" by Claire Flakenstein.

The Business in the Arts Awards program, the first and only national program of its type, was created by the Business Committee for the Arts, Inc., in 1966. Forty-one businesses in 31 cities and 19 states have been named winners for 1982

Dramatic jewelry for holidays

Fine jewelry from Yves Saint Laurent.

Yves Saint Laurent is one of the most popular names in many of South Coast Plaza's finer stores and the newest collection of YSL jewelry offers a selection that can only be described as lavish—looking rich, spectacular and splendid. Anything but shy.

Yves Saint Laurent jewelry soars into the holiday season with the same sure sense of drama that gives his clothes instant recognition anywhere in the world.

Bold gold to emblazen the tailored chic of the season's favorite coat dress. Super size, faceted colored stones flash in lengths of handsome chains; as important bar pins, necklaces, bracelets ... to dramatize a strictly tailored suit ... or draped silk. Smooth cabochons glow with the real look of sapphires, emeralds, rubies, amethyst, topaz. One of the most elegant faceted stone groups spills its splendor of Bermuda Blue in multi-cuts — diamond, oval, square, pear, octagon — into chains, cross pendants, cuff bracelets, bar and stick pins, necklaces and a selection of earrings.

Grand scale geometrics of enameled metals in darkened, subtle colorings conjure Yves Saint Laurent's favored Near East-Mediterranean mood. Octagonals, squares, over-laid abstract stars excite in combiantions of bronze, blue and red... or bronze with black. Quintessential fashion drama — a close fitting collar with octagonal enter of red and adjoining squares of blue and bronze, as it hangs from a black silken cord ... with matching drop earrings.

Yves Saint Laurent's new favorite motif, the heart, appears as variations of pins, pendants, earrings. A quadrant shaped pin of bronze enameled hearts is interspersed by "black diamonds" surrounding a great, faceted jet stone. Heart clip earrings are cnetered with a single, faceted stone. Bold and beautiful, wear your heart for all to see hung on a black silken cord as a super pendant, in bright hammered gold with black enamel Matisse-like design ... with important matching earrings, or course. And wear it on stark black as a "work of art!"

Splendid pearls ... and a new way to wear them ... as "collector antiques." Leave it to Yves Saint Laurent.

From this spectacular collection a "Signature Series" is drawn. Some of the most superb pieces, carefully edited and selected by Yves Saint Laurent, will be crafted in limited quantities, signed and numbered. Distribution is on and exclusive basis to a limited number of fine

Make favorite Mexican dishes at home

exican food is the fastest growing ethnic food in the country. For years it has been a staple in the Southwest and West, but now it is gaining popularity in the rest of the country. You see this in the growing number of Mexican restaurants and Mexican items on menus in other eating estblishments. When you start cooking Mexican dishes at home, you discover that it isn't all hot and spicy. Usually the sauce adds the heat, and you control that with hot, medium or mild varieties. Advantages of Mexican cooking, besides the delicious flavors, is that it is relatively inexpensive and nutritious. And, you never have the problem of "picky eaters" when you serve tacos or enchiladas.

Adapting Mexican food to family menus isn't difficult with the sauces, tortillas, chilies and other products available in your super-

Below are Mexican favorites which your family will enjoy.

CHIMICHANGAS

1 pound ground beef

can (10 ounce) tomatoes and green

1 envelope (11/4 ounce) taco seasoning mix

12 flour tortillas, 8-inch 3 cups shredded lettuce

2 cups (8 ounce) shredded Cheddar

¼ cup sliced green onlons 11/2 cups taco sauce

Brown ground beef in medium skillet. Drain fat. Stir in tomatoes and green chilles and seasoning mix. Simmer 5 minutes. Spoon 1/4 cup of meat mixture along one edge of tortilla. Fold nearest edge over to cover filling. Fold in both sides, envelope fashion. Roll and secure with toothpicks.

Fry in 1 inch of hot oil until golden, turning as necessary. Drain on paper towels. Keep warm while preparing others. Before serving, top each chimichanga with 1/3 cup lettuce, 1/4 cup cheese, 1 teaspoon green onions and 2 tablespoons taco sauce. Serve immediately. Makes 12 chimichangas.

Prepare ground beef according to directions on seasoning mix package. In a salad bowl, combine lettuce, olives and cheese; toss well. Top with meat mixture, tomatoes, onion, garbanzo beans, avocado slices and broken taco shells. Serve with taco sauce. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Cook-of-the-Week

She sails through cooking

By CHRISTINE DECKER

Goldie Joseph said she learned to cook by standing on her ear. What she means is 25 years ago she had to cook for a crew of hungry men while aboard a rocking and rolling racing sailboat.

"I loved the sea and I loved to cook. Back then, women were not acceptable as crew members for racing, so I learned to take over the racing galley,' said Joseph.

"At home there are places to warm or cool foods, even set them down. There is no such thing at sea. Boats are never level ... or still ... and things cannot be set down, even for a moment, without the danger of spilling," writes the Newport Beach resident in "The Racing Galley," a waterproofed how-to book for cooking sailors.

Trifle tempting

On a boat, one-dish meals from start to finish are essential. Her book contains recipes for Chicken Kiev, Cabbage Rolls and quiche. Each is made and cooked in the same pan.

The book also tells how to stock the galley for overnight or 14-day trips. Joseph also gives such hints as to how to keep pots and pans from slipping off the stove while in turbulent waters and how to plan each meal of the day. Her expertise has taken her on racing boats to Acapulco, Hawaii, the Caribbean, Florida and Scandinavia

Here she shares some of the recipes from her cookbook, which, she says, are as easy to make on a swaying boat as in a stable kitchen. It's also easy to clean up afterward, she points out.

And, she emphasizes, the recipes have been tested by quite a few famished sailors over the

Joseph said that although she owns a 461/2 foot wooden hull sailboat, she no longer goes on more than overnight races. She is the pilot and picks her own crew and she still does as much cooking on board as time and weather permits.

Stew is favorite dish among American recipe buffs

Stew, at one time was not a dish people were particularly homesick for. In fact, it was so out of favor that in 1970 the army and air force removed stew from their menus. It's back, however, and very much a collectible among American recipe buffs.

The beef stew offered here, as most basic stews, includes potatoes and carrots. Like the famed armed-services stew, this too, includes green peas.

One ingredient that tends to show up time and again in pot roasts is tomatoes. Tomatoes not only add flavor but help tenderize the meat.

Fricassee, is from the French word "fricaser," to saute. But today most everyone considers Chicken Fricassee an all-American dish. Open any community, church or regional cookbook and there'll be a recipe for this all-time favorite American main dish.

The three recipes that follow are from the recipe collection developed by home economists in the Kingsford's Test Kitchen at Best Foods. The techinque for thickening the stew, pot roast and fricassee is the same. Corn starch is stirred into the hot bubbling juices. Stir the gravy constantly until it returns to a full rolling boil.

It's easy to adjust the thickening of a corn starch gravy. If too thick, add a little liquid. If not thick enough, stir a little corn starch into a bit of cold liquid and go through the process again. When using a recipe on hand that calls for thickening with flour, convert it to corn starch by using half as much corn starch as flour and following the technique suggested

BEEF STEW

- 2 tablespoons corn oil
- 2 pounds boneless lean beef, cut in 1-inch cubes
- 1 medium onion, coarsely chopped 1 clove garlic, minced or pressed
- 4 cups water
- 1 beef flavored bouillon cube
- 11/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 teaspoon dried thyme leaves
- ¼ teaspoon pepper 1 bay leaf
- 3 cups cubed, peeled potatoes
- 4 carrots, peeled, cut into 1/2-inch slices 1 cup sliced celery
- 1 cup frozen peas
- 1/2 cup corn starch mixed with 1/3 cup water

In 5-quart dutch oven or saucepan heat corn oil over medium heat. Add beef, 1/2 at a time; brown, turning frequently, about 5 minutes. Remove beef: set aside. Add onion and garlic, stirring, cook 1 to 2 minutes or until tender. Add water, bouillon cube, salt, thyme, pepper and bay leaf. Bring to boil over high heat. Add beef.

Reduce heat to low, cover and simmer 30 minutes longer. Add peas. Cover and cook 10 minutes longer or until beef is tender. Restir corn starch and water. Stir into stew. Stirring constantly, bring to boil and boil 1 minute. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

YANKEE POT ROAST

- 2 tablespoons corn oil
- 1 (4 pound) boneless bottom round roast
- 8 small white onions, peeled 11/2 cups beef bouillon or broth
- 1 can (8 ounces) tomatoes, undrained
- 1/2 teaspoon salt 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- 1 bay leaf
- 8 medium potatoes, peeled
- 4 medium carrots, peeled, cut in 2-inch pieces 2 medium white turnips, peeled, cut in 1-inch

3 tablespoons corn starch mixed with 1/2 cup water In 5-quart dutch oven or saucepan heat corn oil over medium heat. Add roast: brown on all sides. Remove. Add onions. Stirring frequently, cook until lightly browned. Remove. Pour off excess fat. Stir in broth, tomatoes, salt, pepper, and bay leaf. Return roast to dutch oven. Bring to boil over high heat.

Reduce heat, cover and simmer 11/2 hours or until roast is almost tender. Add potatoes and carrots. Cover; cook 20 minutes longer. Add turnips and onions. Cover: cook 20 to 30 minutes longer or until roast is tender. Remove roast and vegetables to serving platter; keep warm. Restir corn starch and water. Stir in liquid in dutch oven. Stirring constantly, bring to a boil and boil 1 minute. Serve with roast and vegetables. Makes 8 servings.

CHICKEN FRICASSEE

- 2 tablespoons corn oil
- 1 broiler-fryer chicken, cut in parts
- 2 cups sliced onions
- 1/4 pound mushrooms, sliced (11/2 cups) 1 cup chicken bouillon or broth
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 3 tablespoons corn starch
- 1 cup milk

In 5-quart dutch oven or saucepan, heat corn oil over medium-high heat. Add chicken, a few pieces at a time; brown well on all sides. Remove chicken. Pour off excess fat. Add onions and mushrooms. Stirring frequently, cook 5 minutes or until just tender. Add bouillon, salt and pepper. Return chicken to saucepan. Bring to boil; reduce heat and simmer 20 to 30 minutes or until tender.

Remove chicken; keep warm. In small bowl, stir together cornstarch and milk until smooth. Stir into saucepan. Stirring constantly, bring to boil and boil 1 minute. Return chicken to sauce. If desired, serve over rice or noodles or with dumplings. Makes 4

Pies can be made with variety of fillings for any occasion

Pies are one of the few dishes that can be made with a variety of tempting fillings, each one tailored for a specific occasion. Meat pies are especially popular in England while Amerian pies are more often han not dessert pies. Fluffy chiffon pies meringue-topped cream is all-American apple ies, luscious fruit pies, ch custard pies and antalizing frozen pies e all included in the

Fish dinner custom made for two

Tired of all those leftovers when it's just the two of you for dinner? Tonight, enjoy this fish dinner, developed by the home economists at The R. T. French Company. It's custom made for two. You can easily buy "just enough" by choosing serving-size sole or flounder fillets to prepare Golden Fish Pinwheels.

Golden Fish Pinwheels deliver a kaleidoscope of taste treats in a matter of minutes. Each tender fillet wraps around a moist stuffing made from bread, shredded carrots and melted butter. Bold and spicy deli mustard sparks the stuffing with its hearty flavor - a delicious complement to the mild fish. Remember that fish cooks quickly - so cook just until the fish flakes easily with a fork.

Garnish Golden Fish Pinwheels with Potatoes for Two. These hot, creamy cheese potatoes stir up in no time when you start with instant mashed potato flakes. There's no spoilage either because you make only what you need. Cold, leftover potatoes are a worry of the past.

Complete your dinner for two with Italian style zucchini, bread, milk and pudding parfaits for dessert.

GOLDEN FISH PINWHEELS

2 tablespoons butter or margarine I slice white bread, torn or blended into crumbs

¼ cup shretided carrot 1 easpoon spicy deli mustard

Potatoes for Two (recipe follows)

1 teaspoon lemon juice 2 large filets of sole or flounder (about 34 pound)

1 tablespoon shredded Swiss cheese, if desired. Melt butter; stir in crumbs, carrot, mustard and lemon juice. Spread over fish fillets and roll up, enclosing filling. Place, seam-side down, in small baking dish. Bake at 450 degree for 10 minutes.

Meanwhile, prepare Potatoes for Two. Spoon around edge of fish. Sprinkle fish with paprika. Sprinkle potatoes with cheese. Return to oven and bake 3 to 5 minutes, until fish flakes easily when pierced with a fork. Makes 2 servings.

POTATOES FOR TWO

3/3 cup watr

I ounce cream cheese (1/3 of 3-ounce package) 1/2 teaspoon salt

3/3 cup potato flakes

Combine water, cream cheese and salt in small saucepan; heat to boiling. Remove from heat. Stir in potatoes. When liquid is absorbed, stir lightly with a fork. Use as an accompaniment for Golden Fish Pinwheels as directed in that recipe. 2

And here's toward your first purchase:

Meal-size soup can warm the tummy without adding inches to it

For super lunches and dinners, think meal-size soup. Few foods are as soothing...or as filling. There's something comforting and restorative about soup: it's so tummy-warming.

But tummy-warming needn't mean calorie-bulging. Meal-size soups can be filling without being fattening. Here are some seasonal favorites.

GREAT NORTH PEA SOUP

2 cups split peas 2 carrots, chopped or shredded 2 onions, chopped or shredded 1 cup diced Canadian-style bacon or lean fat-trimmed ham steak

2 quarts water 1/4 cup loose-packed chopped parsley

1/2 teaspoon dried thyme (or savory) Pinch of ground al-Ispice

Combine ingredients and heat to boiling. Skim foam. Uncover and simmer until soup is thick. Makes four meal-size servings, 230 calories

SAN FRANCISCO CRABARONI SOUP

Try yogurt for healthy snack time

Between school, football practice, piano lessons, scout meetings. video games and all the other activities, there's very little time in the fall for kids to sit down to three well-balanced meals

Here are a few ideas for healthy snacking that are so simple, older kids can prepare them for themselves.

Superhero Breakfast-in-a-Glass:

Put 1 cup of lemon yogurt, 1 raw egg (we promise that they won't taste it), 1 tablespoon of orange juice concentrate, 1/2 banana and 1 tablespoon of wheat germ in a blender and process until smooth.

Lunchbox Trick:

Stir up a fruit-at-the bottom flavor yogurt well and place it in the freezer overnight. Remove it before going to school. Leave at room temperature in the school locker. Yogurt will be just right to eat at noontime.

Yogurt Pops:

Mix a 6-ounce can of defrosted juice concentrate together with a cup of plain yogurt. Pour into pop molds or use paper cups and sticks (insert sticks when mixture has started to freeze). Makes 6 pops.

Indian Summer Soup: Stir a cup of plain yogurt with half a can of chilled, condensed tomato soup. Season to taste and thin with milk, if desired. Serve cold.

Ambrosia Sundae:

Slice up fresh fruit and blend into a cup of vanilla yogurt. Top with handful of nuts, raisins and/or shredded coconut.

The Smart Snack:

To 2 cups of plain yogurt add 1 packet of dry onion soup mix. Stir thoroughly and refrigerate overnight. Serve with bright, crisp vegetables.

Peanut Butter 'n Jelly:

Stir 3 tablespoons of peanut butter into a cup of strawberry yogurt.

Zebra Yogurt: Swirl chocolate syrup into a tall glass of vanilla yogurt.

Spice up your backyard barbecue recipes without being salty

It takes carefully selected ingredients to create the right sauce or glaze for barbecued chicken, spareribs or hamburgers but extra salt doesn't have to be among them.

Homemade barbecue sauces, including regular, hot and spicy and barbecue ginger sauce each rely on such readily available ingredients as catsup, onion powder or cider vinegar to flavorfully enhance barbecued meats. None of the recipes calls for extra salt added from the shaker.

If a glaze is preferred, a honey fruit glaze adds a tangy flavor to meat, while orange juice and orange peels create citrus flavor addition to the barbecue.

Salad dessert mold

Dissolve a 3-ounce package pineapple or lime-flavored gelatin in 1 cup boiling water. Stir in % cup chilled lemon-lime soda; re-frigerate until thickened.

Fold in 1/2 cup EACH small green seedless grapes and fresh blueberries and 1/3 cup medium chopped toasted California Walnuts. Chill in a 3-cup mold or 4 or 5 dessert glasses until Serve topped with sour cream and a light sprinkling of brown sugar. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

Brandy adds some zest to recipies

Here are some handy tips on how you can use brandy to turn simple fall fare into savory

·Mix Roquefort cheese and butter in equal proportions, add a generous amount of ground white pepper and a splash of cognac, and spread on crackers as an hors d'oeuvre.

·Sunday-brunch omelets and frittatas made with zucchini and other fall vegetables are given a touch of class with the addition of a couple of tablespoons of the brandy.

·Marinate fruits in cognac. Let the fruit stand several hours before serving.

•Try a dash of cognac over chocolate ice cream the flavors are especially complementary. And the calories will help keep you warm against the fall bluster.

Turkey Chanteclair

Marinate 3 pounds of small California turkey thighs for 24 hours in the refrigerator in a good California burgundy to which has been added chopped carrot, minced shallots, celery and fresh garlic.

Drain, season and saute in butter. Then stir in wine mixture (add more wine if needed) with julienne strips of bacon and soaked dried mushrooms. Cook until tender.

New taste appeal with breakfast tarts

Bacon and eggs take on a new look and taste appeal when served in a flaky tart shell. These Bacon and Egg Breakfast Tarts are a perfect selec-tion for a fall brunch yet convenient enough to serve to the family on weekdays, too.

Individual tart shells are easily made with pie crust mix or sticks. For time savings, they can be made ahead and frozen. Simply thaw at room temperature and fill with Canadian bacon, cheddar cheese and egg. An egg-ceptionally good

Versatile olive serves many purposes

By TOM HOGE

One of the richest heritages from ancient times is the olive, which ranks among the world's oldest fruits.

Olives and the oil they produce have a long, highly profitable history, originating in the warm countries of the Mediterranean and the Middle East.

In those lands where dairy products were scarce, olives provided the fat vital to to the human diet. The oil was a key part of the cuisine, and still is in Spain, France and Italy.

Olive trees are late starters and don't bear fruit until they are 8 years old. Thus an olive grove, which eventually becomes highly profitable, represents a considerable outlay of money at the start.

The Egyptians were among the earliest consumers of the olive, depending on both the fruit and oil as early as 3000 B.C

From one large tree, a family could obtain a year-round supply of green olives and the ripe black ones, as well as the oil. In fact, such a tree could produce as much as a half ton of oil and all the fruit a family could

The Egyptians made more extensive use of olive oil than we do today. Oil from the first pressing was used to baste meat roasts, dress vegetables and make sauces. The fruit was pressed a second time to produce an oil to moisten the skin and dress the hair. A third pressing rielded oil for lamps and uel for stoves.

Jesuit missionaries inroduced olive trees into lexico in the 17th cenury and later took them nto southern California, where they flourished.

Americans grow olives nainly for the fruit. A ood quality oil can be btained from California groves, but our liquid upply comes mainly rom France, Italy, pain and Greece.

Americans use olives nostly as a condiment, appetizer and for seasoning. Europeans are more versatile and have long used the fruit in cooking meat dishes, especially stews and meat loaves.

Bollini Chardonnay—the good Italian wine that 'got away

BETTER LATE THAN NEVER

— Readers of this column have become accustomed to reading about value wines and "Best Buys" long before they're discovered by other writers and wine specialty periodicals. That timeliness is something I pride myself on.

Once in a while I goof, letting a good one get away. That leaves me with two choices. Ignore the wine altogether and let everyone presume I didn't think the wine worthy of review, or admit I goofed and write about the wine long after it has received national recognition.

Since the occurence is so rare, I tend to admit my

About a year ago, I was invited, along with dozens of other writers, to preview a new Italian white wine. For a reason I can' recall, I missed that tasting, never got around to buying a bottle for my own edification and the next thing I know the wine is doing close to 100,000 cases a year. Since there was little advertising hype, I finally got the idea that this wine might be pretty good.

Bollini 1982 Chardonnay di Mezzocroma

($4.99 or less) Chardonnay from Italy? Yes, and a pretty darned good one, though not to be compared directly to the produce of either California or France. Interpreted in a purely Italian fashion, the wine combines recognizable Chardonnay character with a lightness, a sprightliness, so typical of so many refreshing Italian white wines. There is no oak influence at all, but a well-balanced crispness makes it ideal for accompanying food, while it is not so austere it can't be used for refreshment or cocktail time. Selling, as it does, for up to a dollar less than the suggested retail printed above, the wine is a definite "best buy.

Down Under Exporter

The Bollini wine mentioned above was discovered by a New Zealand native who married an American of Italian heritage and moved with her to Milan over a decade ago. Neal Empson is the fellow's name, and first thing he discovered upon landing was all the great wines from small winegrowing estates that never left the country. He set about forming an export company, and has been doing very nicely ever

Another Discovery Another of Empson's discoveries was a tiny producer named "Gaja" in the Piedmont region. Working primarily with the Nebbiolo grape, fourth generation winemaker Angelo Gaja is considered something of a madman in his region, for his many untraditional oenological and viticultural practices. Untraditional in his region perhaps, but sound practice in the best winegrowing regions of the Gaja prunes for very small yields, ages in small French oak barrels (everyone else in the area uses large, very old casks), and is even experimenting with plantings of Chardonnay and Cabernet Sauvignon, which he intends to produce in the style of the great vineyards of France and California.

Gaja currently produces about 20,000 cases a year, about the same as many small California estates, and will never grow beyond 25,000 cases annuall Most of the Gaja wines currently available in the U.S. are labeled "Barbaresco," and are among the best of this type you'll find anywhere. A Gaja Barbaresco has more intensity, more finesse, than Barbarescos from most producers and also a generally higher price tag. I think you'll find the price worth paying. Older Wines Available

One of the frequent complaints heard is that one just can't find older red wines at any price. There was a time when wineries and their negociants were able to hold wines while they aged, releasing them far closer to their optimum drinkability. That was in a day when interest rates were a fraction of today's double-digit percentages.

One California winery to make old wines available is Silver Oak Cellars, the Cabernet Sauvignon specialist that releases no wine until it is nearly five years old. The youngest Silver Oak Cabernet you can buy at the moment is a 1978.

At the winery in Napa Valley, small quantities of previous vintages are available dating back to 1973. You'll pay dearly for each year of age, though, with the 1973 commanding $45 the bottle, $90 the magnum. Not so bad really, when you consider the 1978 goes for $16 and is worth it. Wine in Winter

The Ahwahnee Hotel in Yosemite National Park will once again host its "Vintner's Holiday" series, with wine tastings and gourmet dinners, featuring top wine industry spokesmen, over several weeks this winter. The cost of attending is amazingly modest. I can't list the entire series of programs here, but some of the names participating include L.A. Times columnist Robert Lawrence Balzer, Wine & Spirits Buying Guide editor Gerald Boyd, and winemakers Myron Nightingale (Berlinger), Jack Davies (Schramsberg), Bob Trinchero (Sutter Home), Jim Fetzer (Fetzer Vineyards), Phil Baxter (Rutherford Hill), Bernard Portet (Clos du Val) and many, many

For the price of a room, attendance at the various seminars and tastings is included. Dinners with wines and winemaker speakers are extra, but still reasonably priced. What a way to relax just before the

Yes, I'm the guy who said not to pay any attention to the rumors that Coca Cola was willing to sell its wine division (Wine Spectrum), which includes Sterling Vineyards, the Monterey Vineyards, Taylor California Cellars, Taylor of New York and Great Western. I'm sure you've read by now that Seagram Distilleries has made an offer to buy, which Coke has accepted.

Under another administration, the government might be concerned with anti-trust questions, because combining Seagram (Paul Masson and Gold Seal) with Spectrum will create the number two wine entity, right behind Gallo. The government usually becomes involved when it is thought that competition might be restricted. Will it be in this

I don't think so, at least not in the traditional sense. Gallo's size is such that if every other winery in America joined together, there would still be competition.

From the consumer standpoint, there is one very definite negative point to this takeover. Wihe Spectrum has been the only company in the business to challenge, through the courts, all those antiquated laws and regulations that have restricted trade ever since the repeal of Prohibition. Spectrum has fought for the right to offer direct consumer discounts, advertise freely and even sponsored a model legislation study through a famous university.

Seagram on the other hand, is another member the "good old boys" fraternity that believes in making no waves and working with the system, no matter how bad it is.

It is my guess that the minute Seagram takes over, legal challenges, such as the one to assure California consumers the right to benefit from coupons and rebates, will be dropped.

Tarts great with coffee

Chocolate mousse in chocolate shells are two-bite size tarts - great with coffee for dessert.

Instead of pastry, the containers for the smooth, chocolate-orange mousse are brittle spiced-chocolate shells.

To make the shells, paint melted chocolate into paper muffin cups and chill to firm. The empty shells can be stored in the refrigerator up to 3 weeks. Fill and garnish to serve.

CHOCOLATE PASTRY TARTS

14 ounces semisweet chocolate, coarsely chopped 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon

40 to 60 paper muffin cup liners (21/2 inch size) 3 tablespoons water

2 tablespoons coffee-flavored liqueur 1/2 teaspoon grated orange peel

3 egg whites 1/4 cup sugar

1 cup whipping cream

Thin strands of orange peel Place 8 ounces of the chocolate and the ground cinnamon in the top of a double boiler set over barely simmering (not boiling) water; stir until the chocolate melts. Remove from heat. Stack 2 or 3 paper muffin cups together. With a 1/2-inch-wide brush, paint about 1 rounded teaspoon of melted chocolate into the bottom and about 1/2 inch up the sides of each set of cups. Set cups in muffin pans and refrigerate until chocolate is hard, about 1 hour. Use, or wrap airtight and chill up to 3 weeks. For the filling, combine remaining chocolate and water in the top of a double boiler. Stir over barely simmering water until chocolate melts; stir in liqueur and grated peel. Set aside to cool. Beat egg white until soft peaks form, then gradually sprinkle in sugar, beating until stiff peaks form. Whip cream until stiff and fold into chocolate; fold in beaten whites until no lumps remain. Cover; chill until cold, about 1 hour or up to 3 days.

To serve, carefully peel paper off chocolate shells; avoid touching chocolate — heat from your hands can melt it. Mound filling in shells and garnish each with a few thin strands of orange peel. Makes about 20; allow 1 or 2 for a serving.

Turkey can last for many meals

With the soaring cost of everything these days, food remains one of the few places in the family budget where it's still possible to economize. And, there's no better way to do just that than with turkey.

Economical and nutritious turkey from Calinia offers versatility and flavor as well as economy. Here, for example, a golden roast turkey is the star of a special family or company meal.

Slice off the meat that is needed and refrigerate or freeze the rest for "planned-over" dishes, such as Turkey-Macaroni-Vegetable Soup and Turkey Club

TURKEY-MACARONI-VEGETABLE SOUP

1 small onion, chopped

1/2 cup sliced celery

2 cloves fresh garlic, crushed 2 tablespoons vegetable oil

1 can (16 ounces) whole, peeled tomatoes, cut-up and undrained

1 can (7 ounces) whole kernel corn, undrained 1 can (8 ounces) cut green beans, undrained

1 cup shredded cabbage

1 cup elbow macaroni, uncooked 1 teaspoon Italian seasoning

l teaspoon instant beef bouillon

l teaspoon salt ¼ teaspoon pepper

2 cups water 1/2 cup red wine

2 cups cut-up cooked turkey

In a 3-quart Dutch oven, saute onion, celery and garlic in oil until onion is transparent. Add tomatoes, corn, green beans, cabbage, macaroni, Italian seasoning, instant beef bouillon, salt, pepper, water and red wine. Bring to a boil. Cover; reduce heat, and simmer 20 minutes, stirring often. Add turkey; simmer an additional 10 minutes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Hurried? Try it curried

Whether working in their homes or out in the business community, women are busier than ever. As a salute to these working women, the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs has set aside Oct. 16-22 to highlight their accomplishments as well as bring attention to related problems and issues.

One problem many busy women face is balancing personal activities with family responsibilities. When it comes to meal planning, do-ahead dishes are a big help. They can be made when there is a little extra time and then popped into the oven just before serving.

This Curried Chicken and Broccoli Bake is the ideal do-ahead dish. Because it uses leftover chicken, canned soup, frozen broccoli and instant mashed potatoes, the dish is quick to prepare, too. Made the night before, it goes from refrigerator to table in less than an hour.

CURRIED CHICKEN AND BROCCOLI BAKE

Instant mashed potatoes (enough for 8 servings)

1 can (10 % ounces) condensed cream of chicken

1/2 cup mayonnaise

1 teaspoon lemon juice 1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon curry powder 2 cups cut-up cooked chicken or turkey 1 package (10 ounces) frozen chopped broccoli, thawed and well drained 1/3 cup sliced almonds

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Grease square baking dish, 8x8x2 inches, or rectangular baking dish, 10x6x11/2 inches. Prepare potatoes as directed on package for 8 servings except decrease water to 2 cups and omit milk. Stir in Spread on bottom and up sides of dish. Mix soup, mayonnaise, lemon juice and curry powder in medium bowl until blended. Stir in chicken and broccoli; turn into potato crust. Bake 20 minutes; sprinkle with almonds. Bake until filling is hot and crust is light brown, about 10 minutes longer. Makes 6 servings.

Do-ahead Tip: Casserole can be covered and refrigerated up to 24 hours before baking. Bake 30 minutes; sprinkle with almonds. Bake 10 to 15 minutes longer.

Crunch bars satisfy after-school hunger

Fall means the beginning of another school year for youngsters everywhere. While lessons in reading, writing and 'rithmetic may change with each new term, there's one golden rule of school days that remains the same: When children come home from school, they're hungry

Mothers who have their own golden rule about snacking want to give their children treats that are not only tasty, but wholesome and nutritious too.

For concerned moms and hungry kids, a new snack that's sure to go to the head of the class is Chocolate-Peanut Butter Crunch Bars.

These creamy, crunchy sandwich treats are sure to satisfy after-school appetities in a delicous and mutritious way. At the heart of these bars is a lip-smacking center made richly delicious by blending the natural goodness of unflavored gelatine with milk, egg and chocolate. This creamy filling is sandwiched between crunchy outer layers of peanut butter, honey and toasted rice cereal...for healthful goodness in every bite.

Mothers will also give Chocolate-Peanut Butter Crunch Bars high marks for convenience. Because they're made in a blender with versatile unflavored gelatine, the bars need just a quick chill in the refrigerator before they're ready to be served when

CHOCOLATE-PEANUT BUTTER CRUNCH BARS

- I cup peanut butter
- 4 tablespoons honey
- 31/2 cups oven toasted rice cereal
- 1 envelope unflavored gelatine
- ¼ cup cold milk 1/2 cup milk, heated to boiling
- 1/2 cup semi-sweet chocolate chips

1/2 cup ice cubes (about 3 to 4)

Blend peanut butter with 2 tablespoons honey; stir in cereal. Press 1/2 mixture onto bottom of 8-inch baking pan; set aside.

In 5-cup blender, sprinkle unflavored gelatine over cold milk; let stand 3 to 4 minutes. Add hot milk and process at low speed until gelatine is completely dissolved, about 2 minutes. Add remaining honey, chocolate and egg; process at high speed until

Add ice cubes, one at a time; process at high speed until ice is melted. Let stand until mixture is slightly thickened, about 5 minutes. Turn into prepared pan; press remaining cereal mixture onto gelatine. Chill until firm. To serve, cut into squares. Makes 16 servings.

Learning how to cheat on your diet

You've lost five pounds on your diet and are now faced with a friend's anniversary party tomorrow night. How are you going to stay on your diet with all those hors d'oeuvres, cocktails and sweets tempting you?

"Why not cheat a little bit?" suggests Suzanne Rice, R.D., M.P.H. and a nutritional consultant with Alta California Regional Center in Sacramento.

"A diet should be an eating management plan that allows you to lose weight and maintain that loss while consuming enough nutrients to stay healthy indefinitesays Rice.

"It will allow you to 'cheat' on occasion and will teach you how to deal with food at home, in a restaurant, at a party or on vacation."

Rice suggests eating a diet based on the four food groups - milk, meat, vegetables and fruits, and breads and cereals. Following the 2-2-4-4 plan — two servings from the milk and meat groups and four servings from the vegetables and fruits and breads and cereals groups - will give you about 1,200 calories. It's an easy way to keep track of what you've eaten during the day without having to count calories. Remember to eat small portions to ensure the 1,200 calorie level, advises Rice.

"If you know you're going out to dinner or to a party, save up food-group servings during the day and eat them in the evening," she explains.

When you're at the buffet table choose cheese and crackers, and fresh fruits and vegetables as substitute servings from the four food groups. Limit fried foods and dips. If you want to indulge in something sweet, have a half piece of cake or one cookie. "Make sure to count the calories in alcohol if you drink," advises Rice. "If you allow yourself a daily glass of wine or beer in your diet plan, omit these drinks for a couple of days before the special occasion. "Allowing yourself to cheat once in awhile is a way of avoiding uncontrollable food binges and gives you a positive feeling towards yourself and your diet," says Rice. Rice encourages dieters to exercise. "Exercising allows you to eat more calories and still maintain weight loss,' she says. "A 1,400 calorie diet that includes an hour of brisk walking, aerobic dancing, or swimming each day is the same as a 1,200 calorie diet without exercise.

If you can't exercise one day, cut back your calories to compensate, says Rice.

"The key to cheating on a diet is planning around your lifestyle. A diet should be a healthy eating plan, not a short term punishment."

No matter what you're doing, your hometown newspaper The Daily Pilot fits in at room temperature for a few days. They'll give off ethylene, a natural hormone that promotes ripening, and gradually turn yellow and yield to gentle pressure. Ripe pears can be stored in the refrigerator for a day or two without deterioration in flavor or texture.

California Bartletts will be available into November, allowing the creative cook to use them

Mothers around the country are facing the daily bacon until crisp; pour off fat and crumble bacon. challenge of the carried lunch. Children 6 to 12 carry Add remaining ingredients and bacon lunch 50 percent more often than the average American does

Small children often like the comfort of eating much the same thing every day. It seems to be reassuring for them to know what is coming in the lunch box. This is one reason why soup and sandwich lunches are terrific for small fry.

Small variations in the daily soup-and-sandwich satisfy any adventuresome spirit, but the meal remains constant and familiar. Consequently it will probably be eaten - the bottom line for most mothers.

For really finicky eaters, little added touches might make the difference. Pack a cup of sandwich filling and a dinner roll or whole-grain muffin rather than an imposing full-sized sandwich. A plastic knife or fork gives the child a chance to control the situation

For finicky eaters, trim breadcrusts before filling sandwiches — dry crusts and whirl in a blender to use later for homemade bread crumbs. Some small appetites would rather eat two quarters than half a normal sandwich. Or cut fancy shapes from bread slices with cookie cutters. It can be exciting to eat a sailboat or a camel — or even a star.

Soup lovers might like a special little plastic bowl to pour the soup into, or a favorite spoon to eat with. For dessert, homemade cookies go down very well. Cut-up fresh fruit is also popular.

Whatever you pack, be sure lunch is a balanced

Valencia oranges good produce buy Whether taken from a kitchen fruit bowl, a eating oranges, perfect for lunch boxes or after school brown paper bag or a cafeteria lunch line, fresh citrus fruits are now here in plentiful supply, ready to provide "golden" opportunities to back-to-schoolers.

Because of a record-breaking valencia orange crop this season, valencias are likely to be one of the best produce buys during the weeks ahead.

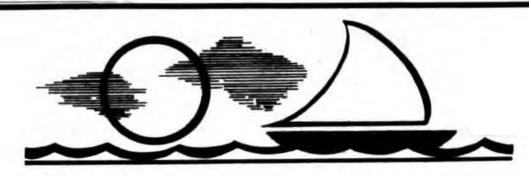

This is the most abundant valencia crop we've had since the mid-1940's. Combined with the bumper navel crop just completed, California-Arizona's orange crop is the largest ever produced in one year,' states Mark Tompkins, spokesman for Sunkist Growers Inc.

Because each valencia tree produced so much fruit this season, individual oranges just didn't develop to their usual large sizes. But these vitamin C-rich, "kid size" fruit are very good juicing and snacks.

Don't be fooled by the green that appears on the outside of some valencias. This "regreening" phenomena occurs as rhe orange hangs on the tree and its golden peel reabsorbs the green pigment. 'Regreened " oranges are fully ripe and juicy. Cutting them into easy-to-eat wedges is on way to show their beautiful interior. Wedges, wrapped in plastic, are perfect for eating anytime.

Taste tingling grapefruit, brimming with Cali-fornia sunshine and vitamin C, are perfect for waking up sleepy appetites. And this season there will be abundant supplies. But they, too, will be running slightly smaller in size than usual. However, their eating quality and beautiful appearance are unmatched.

Impressive start? Hardly But Giddings saw something in Brazas others didn't Steve Brazas' freshman year at Newport Harbor High was his first of playing organized football. And almost his last.

'I wouldn't even call it a football season. I was the worst player out there," recalled Brazas Wednesday as he sat in the bleachers at Davidson Field following the Sailors' afternoon practice.

Inexperienced, lanky and awkward, Brazas didn't play very much as a freshman and he was understandably discouraged as a

"I went to the freshman banquet that year not knowing whether I was going to play again or not," said Brazas. "I didn't even know if I could play." Someone was convinced he could, however, and at that post-season affair Mike Giddings, who was then the sophomore coach, told him so.

"He just came out and told me I was good," said Brazas as if he was still dazed by the revelation.

Giddings, who is now the Sailors' varsity coach as a hobby and a top-notch evaluator of NFL talent as his primary occupation, explained his feeling about Brazas this way:

"I remember watching him (in a freshman game) against Edison. They were losing 22-0, or something like that, and Steve just never quit. I think he ran two or three faked punts during the game and each time he dragged guys with him. He refused to go down. Plus, he seemed to like football. He would come and watch our (sophomore) practices and I figured anyone who was attentive enough to watch the sophomore coach must want to play," he added with a chuckle.

"Actually, all I did was encourage a young man to keep playing football. Maybe I saw something in him, but it wasn't anything brilliant on my part."

Brilliant or not, Giddings' encouragement paid off.

The following season Brazas helped lead the sophomores to a league championship while going undefeated. As a junior, he rushed for 1,162 yards and caught 35 passes for 450 more in leading the varsity unit into the CIF playoffs before it was finally eliminated in the quarterfinals by Fullerton, which went on to win the Central Con-

As an encore, all Brazas has done this season is help the Sailors (3-1-1) to a No. 7 Daily Pilot ranking while rushing for 543 yards, receiving for another d scoring 10 touchdowns. Defensively, although he's, played sparingly the past two games, he has a total of 29 tackles and two caused fumbles from his linebacking position.

S. Korea Old-timers 1, Birds 0 Wheezers Morgan, Maddox give Phils edge

BALTIMORE (AP) — Philadelphia's Garry Maddox and Joe Morgan found two of Scott McGregor's 83 pitches to their liking, and the resulting home runs proved decisive in the opening game of the 1983 World Series.

McGregor and winning pitcher John Denny were superb in a classic pitching duel, neither making many mistakes in the strike zone and fewer out of it in the first walkless Series game since 1967.

So sharp was McGregor that he threw about 40 fewer pitches than one could expect in an eight-inning performance. But Morgan's game-tying homer in the sixth inning and Maddox' game-winner in the eighth rendered those numbers inconsequen-

All that really mattered was that the Phillies had a 1-0 lead in the best-of-seven series on the strength of a 2-1 victory Tuesday night over the Baltimore

The Orioles, who live by the home run, scored their only run in that fashion when Jim Dwyer connected in the first inning. But Denny was clearly in control until the first hint of late trouble.

That came in the eighth, but vanished quickly when Manager Paul Owens reached into his bullpen for Al Holland. The ace Philadelphia reliever mowed down the last four Oriole hitters to nail down the victory on a rainy, windy night more suited for football than baseball.

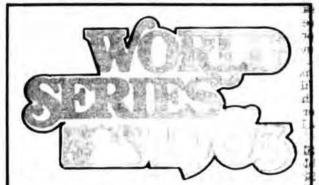

Dwyer was the Orioles' second batter of the game and he jumped on a pitch down the middle, sending it soaring over the right field fence the 18th man in history to hit a home run in his first World Series at-bat.

"I was just trying to get on base," said Dwyer, who hit just eight homers during the regular season and is not known for his power. "I knew before the game it was going to be a low-scoring contest."

"Dwyer hit his pitch," Denny decided. "It was not a good pitch to throw."

'A fastball down the middle," noted Dwyer. He didn't see any more of those, he said. It was to be Denny's only major mistake and, on this night, he could afford only one.

The run stood up through five innings as McGregor pitched airtight baseball. The Oriole left-hander had two out in the sixth and on the Phillie bench, Owens started to squirm.

Just a week ago, Owens had seen the Phillies' Mike Schmidt beat Los Angeles with a first-inning homer in the opening game of the National League Championship Series. "Honestly," he said, "I thought about it a couple of times. But I felt we would come back." Morgan was the next Phillie hitter.

"I threw him a curve," said McGregor

That seemed sensible, since the Phillies are supposed to be a fastball hitting team. It did not work, though. "I don't know if he was swinging for a fastball, but he smoked it," McGregor continued. "He was right there on it."

Most 40-year-old players watch the World Series on television.

"First I was too short to play this game," said

Morgan, who's all of 5-7. "Now I'm too old. I don't worry about that."

PCAA looks tough and so do the Anteaters

UC Irvine's 1983-84 basketball edition hasn't stepped on a gymnasium floor, hasn't taken a single jump shot or even donned practice jerseys yet, and already Coach Bill Mulligan is extremely optimistic.

But then Mulligan is always optimistic. at least until the season starts anyway.

With the official opening of the college practice season a mere four days away, Mulligan tempers his enthusiasm with a warning. Even though he feels the Anteaters are vastly improved, the rest of the Pacific Coast Athletic Association field have made tremendous strides as well.

In fact, many are predicting this is the strongest PCAA field in history. The Sporting News refers to the PCAA "as the most improved conference in the nation,' listing five teams - Fresno State, Cal State Fullerton, Utah State, Nevada Las Vegas and UCI — among the top 48 in the

So, while UCI will be better, just how the Anteaters fit into the overallpicture remains to be seen.

"I think you get excited every year," says Mulligan of his enthusiasm. "Of course, I was naive enough to think we were good last year.'

Last season the Anteaters finished 16-12 overall, 8-8 in conference play which, according to Mulligan, "wasn't too bad with the guys we had."

What the diminutive Irishman likes about this year is the fact everyone returns — and then some. To go along with Ben McDonald, Bob Thornton, George Turner, all of whom scored in double figures last year, Tod Murphy and Ronnie Grandison, the squad has added junior college transfer guards Jerome Derrick Johnson, Raymond Lankford and JC transfer James Rhodes, a forward. 'Yeah, this is the best talent I've had since I've been here," admits Mulligan, who is beginning his fourth year. "They fit more into what we want to do."

Synonymous with the word offense his first three seasons, Mulligan is bent on UCI becoming more defensive-oriented

"We have to potential to be really good. But we're going to have to play defense, he says, which doesn't mean the Anteaters are going to become a mirrored image of Fresno State (among the nation's leaders defensively the past three seasons).

"This is a team that can play defense," Mulligan adds. "We tried to do something like this three years ago but we had to hide three guys then."

Image? Capo Valley doesn't care

Something's wrong when two coaching staffs are left smoldering as they watch one league rival whip the other.

Why should they care what happens to the other one? You have enough trouble taking care of your own problems.

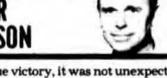

But in the case of two particular teams (Capistrano Valley and Woodbridge high schools), there are some basic values that really take a beating. Surely, there isn't a coach around who doesn't know what the next is going through, nobody exactly has it easy.

But at Capistrano Valley, where the Cougars inherited the position of gaining all of the favorable territory when the school came into existence, almost putting Allie Schaff and San Clemente out of business, there is a philosophy bent on getting every lick in. The taking of prisoners is unheard of. When Capo Valley Coach Dick Enright ordered his team to continue their almost unstoppable passing attack in the closing seconds Thursday, gaining their fifth touch-down with 36 seconds left in a 34-7 South PREP SPORTS

Coast League victory, it was not unexpected. Coaching staffs from Mission Viejo and Laguna Hills watched in silence, and I don't think even the presence of Bo Derek could have taken them out of some pretty cold

With Capo, you expect this. And, you can expect the Cougars to defend their rights to run up the score.

Afterall, they'll tell you, this is football. What makes this even tougher to stomach is the fact the Cougars dwell in what is a relatively average league (with the exception of Mission Viejo). The others aren't exactly mince meat, but they aren't powerhouses, either. They don't have the ability to stay with the Cougars on any kind of basis.

And, the Cougars know it. It's very doubtful they'll have to answer to many, or any, the next time around. The next time around it'll be another run-it-up game for

This isn't big man on big man. It's not Esperanza vs. Capistrano Valley, Edison vs. Mater Dei or St. Paul vs. Servite. It's Capistrano Valley vs. Woodbridge. . . and Laguna Hills . . . and Dana Hills . . .

There is, of course, nothing illegal about it. The game is 48 minutes long and if you want to subject your star quarterback to a potential late-game knee injury, as Woodbridge Coach Gene Noil suggested after Thursday's game, well, I guess that's the Cougars' business.

What it does do, however, is display the stark disregard and disrespect the Cougars have for teams from their own league.

What a shame Capo is burdened with this kind of reputation. They'll always carry this stigma. Frankly, I'd always like to think (See IMAGE, Page D3)

Domed stadium to be constructed in San Francisco

From AP dispatches

SAN FRANCISCO - Plans for the largest retractable-domed stadium in the United States - a 70,000-seat facility that would be the new home of baseball's San Francisco Giants and football's San Francisco 49ers - were to be announced today by Mayor Dianne Feinstein.

The stadium would cost between $120 million and $170 million dollars, according to a mayor's task force that has been working on the idea for more than a year.

Bill Strawn, the mayor's press aide, confirmed Tuesday that the mayor would endorse the idea, but the city's Board of Supervisors would have to approve legislation before construction could begin. Financing also has to be decided from several possiblities.

It also would be necessary in a referendum next June for voters to approve the sale of city-owned Candlestick Park, which Giants' owner Bob Lurie believes is no longer suitable for his team.

Lurie has threatened to move the Giants out of San Francisco after his Candlestick Park lease expires in 1994 unless a downtown stadium is available before then.

'To even consider spending any money on this place (Candlestick) is ridiculous," said Lurie, who wants his team playing in the new stadium at the start of the 1987 season.

Lurie, who complained that his team lost "many millions of dollars," said aging, windy Candlestick isn't suitable because it lacks mass transit accessibility and there are limited routes for private transportation.

Veteran golfer Billy Casper, explaining his expanding waistline at a seniors golf tournament: "Like a lot of fellows around here, I have a furniture problem. My chest has fallen into my drawers."

Studley is new Oiler coach

HOUSTON - Chuck Studley, who became defensive coordinator of the Houston Oilers in January, stepped up a notch to interim head coach Tuesday, replacing Ed Biles, who resigned

Monday in the midst of a 13-game losing streak. "I didn't look up the word 'interim' but I think it means temporary," Studley said in his first meeting with the media. "If we continue to play inconsistently, it's adios (goodbye) at the end of the season.'

Studley, getting his first pro head coaching experience, enters the job fully aware of the task that lies ahead in breaking the losing streak and the team's 0-6 record this season.

"Right now I'm wearing two hats," Studley said. "I'm still the defensive coordinator and I know what that involves plus I have the duties of "more, 5 p.m., Channel 7. the head coach and at this point I'm not sure what that involves."

Jabbar satisfied with pact

INGLEWOOD - Kareem Abdul-Jabbar confirmed Tuesday that his new contract with the Los Angeles Lakers will be of two years' duration and the 36-year-old star center commented, "I think I can give two excellent years."

He said, "I know I have that physically and mentally. I would not want to push it any further than that. I wouldn't want people to go down the line for me and then have it blow up in their faces." Abdul-Jabbar, a veteran of 14 seasons in the National Basketball Association with eight as a Laker, has signed his new contract which his agent, Tom Collins, said is worth $1.5 million annually. Earlier, Abdul-Jabbar was believed asking for a longer pact. He became a free agent after last season and his agent talked with other NBA clubs. Kareem maintained he would rather continue with Los Angeles.

He presently is second among all-time NBA scorers with 29,810 points, topped only by Wilt Chamberlain at 31,419. Should Abdul-Jabbar play all of the 1983-84 season games and average 19.6, he would pass Chamberlain. Last season, the Laker averaged 21.8.

"I'm glad to be back and I'm glad we've got that settled," said Abdul-Jabbar at a Lakers' morning practice.

Celtics romp past Lakers

INGLEWOOD — Dennis John-son, Larry Bird and Cedric Maxwell each scored 20 points to lead the Boston Celtics to a 121-103 victory over the Los Angeles Lakers in a National Basketball Association exhibition game Tuesday night at the Forum. The Celtics won their third of four pre-season games and the Lakers dropped their first exhibition contest.

The Celtics led by as many as 11 points in the first quarter, 14 in the second quarter and as many as 30 in the third quarter (97-67), before the Lakers caught up to 15 in the fourth quarter.

Scott Wedman came off the bench to score 18 points and Kevin McHale had 11. Robert Parrish did not make the trip because of a contract dispute.

Mike McGee, filling in for the traded Norm Nixon, led the Lakers with 20 points and Magic Johnson had 12 for Los Angeles.

The Lakers played without center Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, Swen Nater and the unsigned Byron Scott, newly-acquired from San Diego.

Kings stopped by Islanders

UNIONDALE, N.Y. - Anders Kallur scored a power-play goal mid-way through the second period to lead the New York Islanders to a home-opening 5-2 National Hockey League victory over the Los Angeles Kings Tuesday night. Clark Gillies scored at 3:26 of the opening period with a 15-foot shot past Los Angeles goalie Mario Lessard for a 1-0 Islanders' lead. At 6:09. Wayne Merrick fired in a 10-foot back-hander, boosting the score to 2-0.

An American institution

Some recollections of a trip to the World Series

One who would question the World Series as being among the most-beloved American institutions is reminded there is barely an element of our society without wondrous childhood memories of the Fall

I don't think I will every forget the time back home when Paddy Moran won a trip to the World Series for collecting cigar bands. Paddy was a genuine champion of the contest because he smoked every one of the ropes himself.

It would not be accurate to say Paddy was the town drunk because of the size of the town. It was so small the male adults took turns.

Paddy did take a drink, though, and was known to toast a friend on more than ordinary occasions. He drank bourbon and water for years until he discovered a drink he said was twice as good - double bourbon and water.

Anyway, when Paddy won the all-expense paid trip to the World Series, it was the bigget thing to happen to the town since they dedicated the parking

What made it more dramatic, the World Series was always held in New York in those days. Few in town had ever been beyond the county line. Sure as hell, no one had ever been to the Big Apple.

The day Paddy left for New York, they closed everything down and declared a civic holiday. They had three-legged and sack races down Main Street and a big dance in the town hall. A bunch of the local cut-ups shot off the cannon on the courthouse lawn and draped ladies' unmentionables on the sword of the general on the horse in front of City Hall.

One of the local dandies lit a giant firecracker and held it in his right hand until it exploded. I can't remember his real name, but they called him "Lefty" from then on.

Just before the train pulled out, the scene was

Sea Kings drop second straight

The CIF 4-A's top-ranked Corona del Mar High water polo squad has hit a snag in the road after dropping their second straight decision Tuesday, 8-7 in overtime, to visiting Sunny Hills.

The Sea Kings, who won their first 12 decisions this season, were beaten by Northern California power Bellerman Prep, 7-4, last Saturday in the championship game of the Palo Alto-San Jose Invitational Tournament in San Jose.

They appeared to be on course to righting the ship against the Lancers Tuesday, taking a 7-4 lead in the fourth period. However, Sunny Hills tallied the last three goals of regulation, the final pair coming 23 seconds apart, to force the extra session. Two minutes into the overtime, the Lancers memorable. There was Paddy standing on the observation platform, a lamp shade on his head and a horseshoe of flowers around his neck. The city council presented him with a gallon of store-bought wine, the Ladies Aid Society gave him a box lunch and some magazines, and the librarian handed him a lifetime membership card.

The commander of the local American Legion came right out then and there and stated, by God, Paddy Moran would be the grand marshall of the Fourth of July parade.

The mayor presented him with the key to the town and said Paddy was the greatest in the history of the community and promised the next spring Paddy would get to lay the cornerstone of the new jail. Of course, it would be necessary that Paddy was not in

The last thing I remember Paddy saying, "I'll drink to that." Paddy would drink to just about anything.

Getting up on the horse with the policeman in Central Park was fun, too. Paddy wondered about the desk sergeant who seemed Irish but couldn't pronounce Moran and kept calling him "Moron."

But the police were very nice, Paddy said. A couple of them insisted on going all they way to Grand Central with him and wouldn't leave until the train pulled out, a fitting farewell to the greatest trip a man every had.

Yankee Stadium? The World Series? Well, Paddy always said he was going back to take in a game or two.

I wonder if he ever did.

Rustlers prevail in overtime, 9-8

Tom Hermstad scored the game-winning goal 30 seconds into sudden-death overtime to give Golden West College a 9-8 South Coast Conference water polo victory over visiting Cerritos Tuesday.

Hermstad had earlier scored his second goal of the afternoon in the first overtime session to give the Rustlers an 8-7 advantage. But the Faicons tied the game in the second extra session with nine seconds remaining to force the sudden-death period.

Jason Crow, the Rustlers' leading scorer Tuesday with five goals, had a hand in both the overtime goals as well, getting assists on each of Hermstad's tallies.

Cerritos started quickly, building leads of 2-1 after one quarter and 5-3 at halftime before Crow tied it with a pair of goals in the third stanza.

The two teams then traded goals with Cerritos getting the final score of regulation with 2:15 remaining in the fourth period. The verdict improved the Rustlers' conference mark to 4-1 and 8-4 overall. Next on the schedule is Mt. San Antonio Friday afternoon in the Mounties' pool.

CdM takes over Sea View lead

Corona del Mar did it the hard way, coming from behind in each of its three games, but prevailed over Newport Harbor, 15-12, 16-14, 15-11, Tuesday in a Sea View League women's volleyball

The Sea Kings assumed sole possession of first place with a 7-0 loop mark, while dropping Newport into second at 6-1.

The second game was the key to the victory as CdM trailed 14-13 when Cristy Moiso preserved the game by putting the ball away on a side out. The Sea Kings then put the game away by quickly getting the next three points.

In the final game, CdM was down 11-8 before Kara McGuinness served seven straight winners to close out the match.

Brooke Harrington also played well for the Sea Kings. In another Sea View League battle, Irvine rallied for a 6-15, 15-2, 15-11, 15-7 verdict over El Toro. The win put the Vaqueros in third place at 5-2. Middle blocker

Elaina enior back-court specialist Wendy Martin played well for Irvine. Westminster maintained its grip on first place in the Sunset League, while Marina and Fountain Valley prepared themselves for Thursday's meeting for second place. Westminster outlasted Edison. 12-15, 15-6, 15-7, 6-15, 15-8 behind the play of Jackie Mendez,

Melodie Heximer and sophomore middle blocker Sabrina Dennis, who served for 25 points.

Westminster (3-0 in league play) trailed 2-0 in the decisive fifth game before going on a spurt of 12 of the following 14 points. Playing well for Edison (1-2) was setter Erin Tomblin and outside hitter Laura Engdall, who provided anexcellent serving match for the Chargers.

Marina stopped Huntington Beach, 15-10, 15-12, 3-15, 15-10, as Renee Robitaille gave the Vikings a clutch performance, especially in the late stages.

Marina led 10-1 in the final game before the Oilers came back to close the deficit to 12-10. Robitaille served the 14th point and on the final play of the match, saved a ball from going out of bounds, getting the ball back into play, and Marina eventually won the point.

Margo Kuester had 11 kills for the Vikings, despite sitting out most of the fourth game with a sore shoulder.

Fountain Valley, led by junior outside hitter Amanda Tavoularis who had seven kills, stopped Ocean View, 15-8, 15-9, 15-8.

Also instrumental in the win was junior hitter Teri Newman. Newport Christian continued its domination of the Academy League with a 15-0, 15-1, 15-4 romp over Liberty Christian. Seniors Chris Yearley and Stella Berkebile helped Newport Christian improve to 4-0 in league play and 5-0 overall NEWPORT'S BRAZAS...

And, oh yes, not to be forgotten is his performance of last week in which he rushed for 287 yards (on 22 carries) and crossed the goal line four times in Newport's 52-0 thrashing of Irvine.

Not to shabby for the one-time gangling freshman who was so unimpressive one coach told Giddings three years back: "He'll never be a football player."

Now, not only isn't the 6-3, 211 pounder a player, he has colleges drooling over him - both as a running back and linebacker.

"I don't know anybody that hasn't inquired about him," offered Giddings. "We're not going to do anything, though, or make any decisions, until after the season.'

At that time, Barzas' choice will be a difficult one.

"He's just going to have to make a decision which is going to have more impact - a linebacker or a running back. A lot will depend on how the college wants to fit him," said Giddings. "Despite the fact my business is evaluating, I'll just have to see how he goes. If it was me, I'd probably recruit him as a running back and then see how I'd do with the rest of my recruits."

Brazas is equally noncommital, although he says he's becoming more aware of his instincts as a runner.

"I'm just starting now to get a feel for defenses and how they're moving and where their weaknesses are," he said. "Last week everything seemed to click. I started doing things instinctively.

'To me, it just makes so much sense to know where the next tackler is going to be even if you don't see him. I think that's what makes a good running back."

And just where does Brazas think he fits in among those "good" running backs?

"I don't really know how d I can be, although Giddings told me awhile ago I'd be going to college on a scholarship. He told me, 'You can't do as bad as it would take not to go," he answered with a trace of a smile.

"Coach never had a doubt how good I could be. He told me once he thought I was going to be a great player . . , and that's something I never thought after my freshman year."

ANTEATERS TOUGH . . .

In other words, rather than sitting back in zone, a UCI trademark of the past, the Anteaters are going to become an extremely aggressive, overplay type of man-to-man squad. That doesn't mean we're going to pressure all over the court. And, yes, we expect to get burned at times. But I feel this is the only way we can get the tempo we want," says Mulligan. "We can't do that sitting in a zone." As for an early starting lineup, only two positions are set -McDonald's at one forward and Thornton's in the post. The other three are up for grabs with a number of competitive battles anticipated. Murphy and Grandison, both sophomores, will battle when it comes to Capo. What's the answer? Well, El Toro moves into the South Coast League in 1984, and that's a bonus. The Cougars will have to get up for two league games rather than one. Now if we could just get Ted Mullen and Foothill, Bob Lester and El Modena, Mike Giddings and Newport Harbor and Dave Holland and Corona del Mar roped in the South Coast League, too, there would, I guarantee, be no more stories about the run-it-up Cougars.

There's no such animal loose

公 公 公 STATISTIC OF THE WEEK Newport Harbor's passing game against Irvine: One completion for minus four yards in six victory for Newport Harbor.

Rhodes for the No. 2 forward, while Lee, Johnson and Lankford will take on Turner for the two guard spots. Mulligan says the latter will probably be the fiercest. It should be noted, too, that the Anteaters will have 14 players on the floor when practice opens at 10 a.m. Saturday of which only 12 will be chosen. Two players, though, are having academic problems which may solve that predicament. Rick Ciaccio, incidentally, who red-shirted last year, broke his wrist working out last week and is expected to be sidelined anywhere from one-to-three weeks.

KEVIN MAGEE UPDATE: The two-time UCI All-American, who is trying to hook on with the Phoenix Suns, is not having an easy time of things.

In the Suns' opener Saturday against Boston, Magee, in eight minutes of playing time, had two points (on 1 of 3 from the field), 3 rebounds, two fouls and four turnovers. In the team's second game Monday against the Celtics, the 6-8 forward scored 8 points (3 of 3 from the field; 2 of 2 from the free throw line), had 3 rebounds, two fouls and 0 turnovers in 10 minutes of playing time. Magee's toughest obstacle, however, is numbers. With James Edwards starting at center with Rick Robey as his backup, and Maurice Lucas starting at power forward with Alvin Adams as his backup, Magee is fighting Alvin Scott (a six-year veteran) and Charles Pittman, who spent the last half of the season with the Suns, for the fifth, and final opening between those positions. The Suns have three more road games this weekend before Coach attempts. The result? A 52-0 John MacLeod makes his final decision. Stay tuned ...

Eric Lawton, Huntington Beach

Lawton, a first team All-Sunset League quarterback in 1982, led the Oilers to a 49-35 win over Serra with a 9-for-15 performance for 164 yards and 2 TDs. He has completed 49 of 98 for 805 yards and 8 TDs in five games with just two interceptions.

Chip Rish, Marina

A junior and the fastest player in the Sunset League, Rish caught three passes for 114 yards, including a 60-yard TD reception. He has scored four touchdowns for Marina in five games, which includes 17 receptions for 420 yards.

Dave Swigart, Fountain Valley

A 185-pound junior, the Barons' tailback netted 127 yards on 30 carries in a 16-11 victory over Long Beach Poly. For the season he has 346 yards on 90 carries, in addition to 7 receptions for 96 yards.

By ALMON LOCKABEY

It is said that a boat is a large hole in the water, surrounded by wood, fiberglass or aluminum, into because we won, but because we were able to prove which you pour money.

If that be the case, there will be a larger hole in the water, surrounded by aluminum, into which a lot of money has been poured and may change the face of the already dangerous and exciting sport of offshore power boat racing when the Warmington Grand Prix gets under way Sunday.

The revolutionary new boat, labeled Popeyes Pepsi Challenger, will be seen in its fourth outing in Class I of the Bud Warmington International Grand Prix offshore power boat race starting and finishing off the Newport Pier Sunday.

In the past, offshore power boat racers have been in the 35-40-foot range and capable of speeds in the open ocean of up to 100 mph.

Popeyes is a 50-footer said to be capable of speeds of over 120 miles per hour if seas are just right. The giant craft is powered by four engines developing more than 2,800 horsepower, according to owner-driver Al Copeland.

At this year's Coral Gables Challenge Cup in the resort city of Saugatuck, Mich., Popeyes, on her maiden outing, was leading the pack only to fall back due to drivetrain problems midway through the race. More problems at the next offshore event out of Northport, Mich over the Labor Day weekend

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) Marcus Dupree, heralded before the 1983 season as a leading candidate for the Heisman Trophy, has not been seen for two days and is officially off the University of Oklahoma football team, The Associated Press learned

Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer told The AP that Dupree, a 6-3, 235-pound sophomore tailback, has not been seen or heard from since the Sooners' 28-16 loss to Texas last Saturday.

"I don't know where he is. His family doesn't know where he is. As of now, he's off the team," Switzer said. "He's probably off hiding, in seclusion somewhere with his friends. I don't know."

Dupree had been given permission to visit his family in Philadelphia, Miss., after the Texas game in Dallas, but did not return for practice Monday. His mother, Cella

Dupree Connors, said she had not heard from her son since Saturday, when he was to fly from Dallas to Mississippi. The 5-10, 175-pound defensive back had four tackles, including one at the goal line which "I don't know here he is. All I know is he's missing," Mrs. Connors said. "All I know is that he went to catch a plane and he never got on it." Mrs. Connors said she eight tackles in the Vaqueros' 52-0 setback against Newport Harbor. "He was the one kid who stood out has called police and highway patrolmen in as far as competing with Newport," said Coach Terry an effort to locate her

"We don't want to rule The 5-10, 160-pound senior wide receiver caught out the possibility that something simply has happened to him, but he definitely won't play against Oklahoma State (on Saturday)," said Mike Treps, director of sports information at Oklahoma. "As of now. he's simply off the

HOROSCOPE BY SIDNEY OMARR

Thursday, October 13

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Efforts, abilities receive special attention. Emphasis on achievement, wider appeal. Project will be moving toward successful conclusion. Financial picture is brighter than originally anticipated. Libra and another Aries figure prominently.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Excellent time for new contacts, for being introduced to books, plays and a variety of subjects. Focus on communication, possible journey and pursuit of educational project. Member of opposite sex finds you attractive and will let you know about it.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Intuition provides answers especially where money is concerned. Don't take chance on security by following get-rich-quick scheme. One who brags about "big deals" may actually be bereft of funds. Do some personal research.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Go slow, lie low, examine various aspects of subjects and do plenty of reading. Focus on partner, mate, special agreements and legal documents. You'll be in contact with restless, dynamic people who are charming and Varied duties in our Acwho encourage you to live up to potential. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Excellent for developing work habits. Emphasis on basic issues, special services, employment and ability to make necessary repairs. Focus also on revisions, reviews and possible rebuilding program. Scorpio native plays key role. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Emotions dominate logic - sweeping changes occur, scenario is highlighted by love. Imprint style, be perceptive, deal with individuals who are not bogged down with red tape, old-fashioned concepts. Another Virgo plays key role. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Emphasis on details, security, property, conclusion of sales campaign. You get what you want if persistent, aware of small print and willing to tear down for ultimate purpose of rebuilding on a more solid base. Major domestic adjustment occurs. Nov. 21): All may not be what appe surface. Orders are changed, directions could be reversed and you must take care to avoid a wild-goose chase. Member of opposite sex could be sincere but also misinformed. Know it, dance to your own tune. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): This could be your power-play day! Emphasis on responsibility, production, executive abilities and solid chance to make money and love.

You'll have more recognition, you'll be given more authority and member of opposite sex will be totally impressed. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Lunar cycle is such that you make right moves, circumstances turn in your favor, personality sparkles and you complete long-standing assignment. Individuals who formerly expressed doubt concerning your capabilities could now become vociferous allies. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Answers are found behind scenes - an ardent suitor lends spice, could help you make valuable and necessary contacts. Strive for story behind story, reject one who seeks to plant seeds of suspicion and doubt. Leo and another Aquarian figure prominently. PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Spotlight on ideals, romance, emotional fulfillment and ability to make wishes come true. Intuition is on target, you sense what people are thinking despite what they say. Telephone call results in change of direction, plans.

What triggered slayings in Mesa?

Mesa street an unlikely murder site

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1983

By STEVE MARBLE

At first glance, Florida Circle seems an unlikely spot for murder.

A Costa Mesa police sargeant lives on one side of the quiet, nine-house cul-de-sac and an Irvine police captain lives across the street. Until recently, the Placentia police chief also lived on the block.

'You'd never think it could happen here," said Tim Holbrook, the Costa Mesa officer. "But when you've been a policeman 15 years you know that anything can happen anywhere.'

By late Tuesday afternoon, the street in Costa Mesa's Mesa Verde North community was lined with neighbors who'd received word of the quadruple murder-suicide in the house at 3309 Florida Circle.

What they eventually learned was that a man who lived in the neighborhood had killed a cousin. the eight-months-pregnant woman who lived in the house and, finally, himself.

The husband of the pregnant woman was away on business at the time of the shooting.

"They were a nice, quiet couple," said James Ballone of his neighbors. "They seemed to have a lot of relatives and family over at

Killer once prisoner in Iranian conflict

By STEVE MARBLE

A 53-year-old gas station owner who killed two relatives and an unborn baby before shooting himself to death Tuesday afternoon in Costa Mesa was identified today as a former Iranian war prisoner.

"His wife said he hadn't been right since he was released from prison seven years ago," explained Costa Mesa Lt. Jack Calnon today, offering the first insight into the apparent murder-suicide that left four dead.

Police believe Mahmood Family and his wife had called together two relatives Tuesday afternoon to seek advice on their marriage. They were planning to divorce.

The couple's two teen-age children played in the neighborhood as the family meeting took place at 3309 Florida Circle, the home of the wife's sister.

Costa Mesa Police Sgt. Tim Holbrook said police suspect Family pulled out a gun and shot his wife's sister and cousin before putting the gun to his own head.

His own wife reportedly had retreated to a bathroom moments before the gunfire after being squirted in the face by Family with tear gas. When she left the bathroom, she saw the bodies and ran from the house screaming, police said.

Police identified the dead woman as Shaida Assefi, 32. Authorities said nearly 30 minutes passed after their arrival before it was discovered the woman was eight months pregnant. Efforts to save the unborn baby were unsuc-

At issue is a plan to merge the massive development firm -Orange County's largest landholder — with another company formed last spring to help one man solidify his control over the local empire.

While Bren, his associates, company financial advisers and lawyers describe the merger as a common business transaction, dissident board member Joan Irvine Smith takes a different view.

estimated by Bren to be about $1 billion. Smith's plan is to stall Bren by tying up the deal in court.

She hopes Bren will be forced to sell some of his stock to private investors to pay off his debts or even make the privately-held company sell stock to the public to raise cash.

"It's his move. I'm just sitting back waiting," she said, laughing as if enjoying the trouble she's created. "I don't trust him, I guess you know that."

The merger proposal stems from Bren's purchase last April of 52 percent of the Irvine Co. stock from a consortium of Eastern shareholders. The deal was put together quickly. Bren, who used his existing Irvine Co. stock and other assets as collateral, formed his own company called Newco I Corp. to help make the deal.

According to his closest aides, Bren and the banks that loaned him the millions agree the best way to pay off the stock-buying debt is by merging Newco and the Irvine Co.

To sweeten the deal, Bren has promised to double the stock held by minority shareholders. This would mean Smith, the largest minority stockholder, could end up owning 22 percent of the

Smith, though, wants no part of the arrangement and has charged that Bren "illegally" committed the company to the merger. She said Bren could not have received the massive loan unless he'd pledged Irvine Co. assets beyond his own stock.

'You can't do that," said Smith. 'And they're (Irvine Co) mad because I've caught them with their hands in the cookie jar." Bren flatly denied Smith's as-

sertions. (See IRVINE CO., Page A7)

Adoptive parents to accept study

By L.P. BENET

Despite calling a congressional demand to submit to a home environment study as "harassment," the adoptive parents of Sam Willett agreed to the inspection if it would help keep their 28-year-old Liberian son from being deported.

"It's ridiculous," said Ruth Willett, Sam's mother. "He hasn't lived at home for six months and he's 28 years old. But we'll do it." The study would cost the family $300 to $500, Willett said.

A House immigration subcommittee has requested the study before a hearing can be set on a private immigration bill in-troduced on behalf of Willett by Rep. Robert Badham R-Newport Beach.

Hot winds will fade tonight

By L.P. BENET

Just when it was getting cool enough to break out the fall wardrobe, Orange County got a taste of Indian summer as Santa Ana winds fanned the area with hot, dry air the past two days.

National weather forecasters said the winds won't start to diminish until tonight. Today's temperatures in Orange County will reach highs of 94 degrees inland and 82 along the coast. Lows will be in the high 50s.

Thursday's temperatures, however, will drop to the mid-80s inland and to the upper 70s along the coast.

The unseasonably high temperatures — which hit 97 degrees in Santa Ana Tuesday and 84 in Newport Beach - can be traced to a high pressure system over the western part of the United States which is pushing hot desert air into Southern California, forecasters said.

The high temperatures and strong winds forced Orange County Fire Departments Tuesday to go on a high watershed dispatch level alert — one step from a red flag alert. Orange County fire Captain Mike Reinhold said early today that no major fires have occured.

"The wind is bad and combined with high temperatures this can create dangerous conditions," Reinhold said.

The Santa Ana winds began blowing at 15 knots at noon Tuesday, forcing John Wayne Airport air traffic controllers to reverse takeoff and landing patterns for six hours. If winds keep up, controllers may change the patterns later today, an airport spokesman said.

"We only use runway one about (See HOT WINDS, Page A2)

Airline will get bill for firefighting

Newport Beach council to ask Republic to pay cost of putting out fires caused by jet would be interested in partici-The city expects a complete

Newport Beach City Council members voted unanimously to ask Republic Airlines to pay the expense of fighting fires caused when a Republic jet rained hot engine parts on a Dover Shores neighborhood Sept. 27.

The vote followed a brief closed session by the council Tuesday

Newport mayor Evelyn Hart said preliminary estimates place the cost of putting out about 20 roof and grass fire caused by the jet at between $4,000 and $5,000.

"We want to recoup our losses."

report detailing the costs will be finished by the fire department sometime this week.

The matter may go to litigation. It depends whether Republic pays off our claim," City Attorney Robert Burnham said.

In a related matter, the president of a local homeowner's association said his group is petitioning the National Transportation Safety Board to hold a public hearing in Newport Beach on the jet mishap. Hart said she believed the city pating if a hearing is held.

Thomas Edwards, president of the Mariners Community Association, told the council his group is also asking the safety board to hold hearings on the takeoff and landing patterns at John Wayne Airport and on whether the airport can safely be expanded.

We need to know if we have to clear a two-mile stretch (underneath the flight path) from the airport to the ocean," said Edwards, who said his organization represents 2,000 homeowners.

But the chances of a local hearing are probably remote, said NTSB spokesman Bob Buckhorn.

"I know of no plans to hold a hearing at this time. It would take a decision by the five-member board," Buckhorn said.

While NTSB hearings are open for public viewing, they are not open for public comment, he said The board invites industry experts and incident witnesses to testify and does not accept consment from the general public.

Hearings are usually held near the site of the incident, he said.

Krishna order given weight

An Orange County Superior Court judge has set a Friday deadline for the International Society for Krishna Consciousness to comply fully with an appeals court order to surrender its assets to a court-appointed receiver while a $9.7 million judgment is being appealed.

Judge James Jackman agreed Tuesday that the Hare Krishna organization has not complied with the 4th District Court of Appeal directive that it tender its assets in lieu of posting a $15 million bond while the appeal is pending.

The sect is appealing a $9.7 million judgment awarded to Robin and Marcia George of Cypress who sued the sect claiming Robin had been spirited away by Krishna members during the mid-1970s and brainwashed. The two women also claimed family efforts to locate Robin contributed to the death of her father, Jim George.

Following five months of testi-mony in a Santa Ana courtroom, the jury awarded the Georges $32 million. That sum later was reduced to $9.7 million by Jackman, who presided over the trial.

Attorneys representing the Georges were back in court arguing that the sect had not complied with the appellate court order because it had reserved title to its property listed in an inventory

Ham radio class set in Newport

A ham radio class for sailors, taught by Gordon West of Costa Mesa, will be offered at Shark Island Yacht Club, 1099 Bayside Drive, Newport Beach, starting at 7 p.m. today.

The class will give mariners fast, non-technical instruction enabling them to pass both novice and technician class license examinations given by the FCC, according to West, head of the West Coast Amateur Radio School. Emphasis of the nine-week course will be on ham radio installation aboard power and sailboats.

Guilty verdict returned in Tyberg trial

Charles Tyberg — a 17-year-old San Diego youth, charged in the shooting death of a San Diego police officer - was convicted of first degree murder today by an Orange County Superior Court

The jury of six men and six woman deliberated for one day before returning with a guilty verdict. Judge Myron Brown set a Nov. 10 sentencing date. Tybert faces a 27 year-to-life sentence.

The trial was transferred to Orange County because of massive publicity in San Diego after the Feb. 20 shooting death of Police Officer Kirk Johnson.

Partricia Johnson, the slain lawman's widow, called the jury decision "a giant step" for police departments everywhere. "This decision is important to every officer on the street," she tearfully

Tyberg, wearing a blue sweater, jeans and sneakers, showed no emotion as the verdict was read. A court bailiff was assigned to sit beside the defendant's parents.

Striking a blow for quality education

Academic Excellence Conference in Costa Mesa reflects renewed public interest

By KAREN E. KLEIN

A large turnout at the 1983 Academic Excellence Conference in Costa Mesa Tuesday proved that renewed public interest in education is good, even if that interest is painfully critical, said teachers and administrators attending the conference.

The day-long seminar was primarily "an honest quest for ways to respond to society, new legislation and some of the criticism" educators are facing today, said Dean Waldfogel, assistant superintendent of the Irvine Unified School District.

More than 500 teachers, principals, superintendents and district administrators from Orange, Los Angeles, San Bernardino and San Diego counties attended the conference at the Westin South Coast

State Sen. Gary Hart, D-Santa Barbara, told attendees he is concerned about how California's new education reform law will be funded next year.

Gov. George Deukmejian vetoed second-year funding for the law, saying he wanted to see how the reforms work the first year before guaranteeing a second

"It will be very difficult" in such a short time, to show that the law is working, Hart said.

He also said he is committed to providing better support-systems for teachers, and better self-esteem. "We're going to ask teachers to be more accountable We'll be asking more of them,' Hart said. "But we're likely not to succeed if we don't give them greater status and recognition."

Attendees also heard from three other speakers and participated in small groupworkshops, Waldfogel said.

Another large portion of the conference was devoted to new technology in the classroom, Waldfogel said.

Richard Byrne, a professor from USC's Annenburg School of Communications, told attendees that children who learn computer technology need a big dose of ethics and morality along with it.

"Breaking into a data base like 'WarGames' - is like breaking into a house and ruining a valuable stamp collection," Byrne said. "It's not a challenge or a triumph."

He also said the fear some teachers have of computers is not based on their reluctance to learn something new, but their reluctance to give up some skill they think they will lose if they learn computers. 'I was afraid because I thought I was a humanist — an artist, a musician. I thought I'd lost my humanism and become a technologist if I learned computers," Byrne said. "For teachers, (conquering computer phobia) is not a matter of breaking a barrier but a matter of letting go of an anchor."

Cops probe two reports of rapes

Police in Huntington Beach and Fountain Valley are investigating two rapes that occurred this week during early morning hours. It was not immediately known whether the incidents were re-

The more recent attack occurred shortly before 4 a.m. today on the 4400 block of Fir Drive in Huntington Beach. Police said a man entered the home through a front sliding window and awoke a 30-year-old woman living there.

Police said the man, armed with a handgun and a knife, forced the woman to disrobe before raping her. The intruder was described as a 30-year-old black man, 5-feet 9 inches tall, weighing 180 pounds.

The victim was examined at Humana Hospital Huntington Beach and released, police said.

In the Fountain Valley attack, an intruder climbed to a second-story balcony in the 10,000 block of Warner Avenue and entered the victim's master bedroom through an unlocked sliding glass door.

Police are searching for four armed men who invaded a Huntington Beach home early today and robbed a woman.

Police Lt. Barry Price said the four entered a home on the 8,800 block of Dorsett Drive through a kitchen window at 4:25 a.m.

Price said the intruders, described only as young Orientals, fled with cash and jewelry valued at $15,000. He said the resident was not injured in the incident.

Supervisors are real cutups

Orange slicers a-peel for county's new Orangewood shelter

By JEFF ADLER

Lest there be any doubt, Orange County supervisors proved they have the right stuff Tuesday - or, at least, the orange stuff.

Engaging i n rough-and-tumble contest that tested mettle, courage, practical determination and surgical finesse, four of the five members of the Board of Supervisors showed they have what it takes to make it in the kitchen should their political careers falter.

And the recipient of all the good will was Orangewood, the county's home being built in Orange for abandoned or abused children.

The supervisors good-naturedly agreed to participate in the "Great Orangewood A-Peel," an orange peeling contest staged to promote an Oct. 27 one-day fund-raising drive for the Orangewood's directors are hoping county residents will purchase 50,000 oranges at $2 apiece that day, adding another $100,000 to the $6.6 million raised so far for the project. The goal is $7.5 million.

Although the fund-raising drive for Orangewood is still under way, construction on the home's first phase is progressing, reported Mona Hobson, the campaign's director.

She said framing for six buildings has been completed and construction workers are readying those building's roofs. The buildings should be completed sometime in mid-1984.

While supervisors have tackled weightier problems in the past, the peeling contest certainly proved to be one of the juiciest tasks they've ever encountered.

They're a competitive bunch and it was apparent that each of the four who participated clearly was seeking the "a-peeling" title. It also was politically revealing to watch how each supervisor approached the county's first fruit.

Supervisor Bruce Nestande attacked his orange as if it were a political opponent or a tough problem in the Third Supervisorial District. He clawed, teared and pulled the peel from his orange, showing no mercy. He

Supervisor Thomas Riley mounted his campaign with the time-tested method one would expect of a Marine Corps general. He attacked it from land, sea and air, stripping the peel around and around. He, too, lost.

Supervisor Harriett Wieder tried a different approach. A problem solver, Wiederattempted to quantify her problem and then solve it. She quartered the orange peel and then tried to pull if off. Obviously, she didn't win either.

The winner was Supervisor Ralph Clark who went about his orange peeling business the same way he approaches politics quietly and assuredly. He peeled his orange by deftly slicing the peel, round and round.

Chairman Roger Stanton failed to make it to the contest, telephoning in his regrets at the last minute. An aide said he was ill.

Niguel crash victim, 73, dies

Long-time Laguna Niguel resi-dent Virginia Beckenbaugh died Tuesday at South Coast Medical Center as the result of a traffic accident that occured in Dana Point a week ago. She was 73.

Visitation will be Thursday from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. at McCormick's Mortuary on Laguna Canyon Road in Laguna Beach. Funeral services will be Friday at 11 a.m. at the United Methodist Church on Wesley Drive in South Laguna.

She was married for 51 years to Don Beckenbaugh, co-owner of Laguna Niguel Realty, a past president of the local Rotary Club and chairman of the board of United Methodist Church.

Mrs. Beckenbaugh was active with the South Coast Medical Center Auxiliary and the South Laguna hospital's Silver and Gold chapter. She was former treasurer of the center's gift shop as well as treasurer for the auxiliary.

She was born in Fort Wayne, Ind., and moved to California with her husband 16 years ago, taking up residence in Laguna Niguel. The couple met in 1929 in Racine, Wis., where she worked with her father in his retail shoe business. Her husband-to-be was an accountant with a farm machinery firm. The couple met at a Methodist church and were married three years later.

Laguna council OKs two swimming pools

Rejecting a city staff recommendation to build a single community pool on the Laguna Beach High School campus, the Laguna Beach City Council unanimously authorized city and local school district officials to begin planning the construction of two pools on the edge of the high school baseball field.

However, council members, considering the city's uncertain financial status, only committed $375,000 to the construction of the pools, which will cost about $750,000 if built this year, according to a report prepared by the aquatic task force which was set up last year to study the community pool project.

Council members decided that the school district and the community must raise the rest of the money for the facility.

Before a standing-room-only crowd — many of them members of high school water polo and swim teams - council members listened for more than an hour to several speakers before debating the pool proposals.

Carl Schwarz, task force chairman and a member of the Laguna Beach Unified School District Governing Board, argued that a city proposed "L" shaped pool wouldn't accommodate senior citizens because the water temperature would have to be kept below 82 degrees for athletic use. Citing several surveys, Schwarz added said the "L" pool would not be large enough to meet public demand.

City Manager Ken Frank recommended a single pool costing between $750,000 and $1 million, noting that a second pool could cost another $240,000.

"I don't think there's anyway they can build two pools for $750,000." Frank said, referring to the task force estimate.

The city and the school district still have a number details to work, including the financial obligation of renovating the El Morro Elementry School field into a regulation size baseball field.

Prudential-Bache executive arrested in $5 million theft

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK - An executive of Prudential-Bache Securities Inc. and three other men have been arrested on conspiracy charges stemming from the theft of millions of dollars from the investment firm, officials say. The complaint accused John Efler, a 38-year-old manager in the company's dividend department, in connection with a missing $5 million. Another $11 million was discovered missing and company officials do not know where it went, Assistant U.S. Attorney William J. Schwartz said Tuesday. No charges have been filed in connection with that missing money.

T-bill yields up slightly

WASHINGTON - Weekly auctions brought slight increases in yields on short-term Treasury securities, marking the highest levels in three weeks. The government on Tuesday sold about $12 billion in new T-bills — half in three-month bills at an average discount rate of 8.83 percent, up from 8.72 percent last week, and half in six-month bills at an average rate of 8.97 percent, up from 8.92 percent.

Justice Dept. sides with labor

WASHINGTON - The Justice Department is siding with the labor union position in a key case being argued before the Supreme Court. A department lawyer told the court Tuesday that a company should not be permitted to enlist the help of bankruptcy courts to cancel a union contract unless the business can show its survival is at stake. The case before the Supreme Court involves Bildisco and Bildisco, an Avenel, N.J., building supply firm that declared bankruptcy in 1980 and canceled a wage increase it had negotiated with the Teamsters Union.

Lifemark Corp. seeks suitor

HOUSTON - Lifemark Corp., one of the nation's largest hospital-management companies, says it is searching for a suitor and has hired First Boston Corp., an investment banking firm, to help evaluate "possible future courses of acquisition." Lifemark stock, which jumped $2.75 a share on Friday and which soared another $7 Monday, fell $1.75 on Tuesday to close at $37 a share as the most active issue on the New York Stock Exchange. More than 2.4 million shares changed hands. In a brief statement Monday, Lifemark said it had begun preliminary talks with potential suitors.

Gulf Oil will reorganize

PITTSBURGH - Gulf Oil Corp., the nation's fifth-largest oil company, says its directors agreed to reorganize Gulf into a Delaware-based holding company, in part to prevent a possible unfriendly takeover. Gulf said it has noticed an "unusually high" amount of trading in its stock since mid-August. It also noted "published rumors that one or more persons may be accumulating substantial shares in the company.
